Wins Close Popular Vote by Sweeping Key Industrial States

In one of the closest national elections ever, Sen. John F. Kennedy of Mass., became the first Catholic president of the United States Tuesday. The 43-year-old senator also established another record by becoming the youngest elected president and will be the second youngest to serve since Theodore Roosevelt took office back in 1908, when he takes office in January.

Early Lead

Kennedy built up an early popular and electoral vote lead and at one point led his Republican opponent,

KENNEDY

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, by 1,800,000 votes. However, as the hours passed Nixon slowly closed the gap and by 6 a.m. Wednesday (C.S.T.) Kennedy was leading by less than one million votes. About the same time Hawaii, which had been pulling for Nixon most of the night, went over to the Kennedy column and gave him the necessary 269-plus electoral votes to win. By then Kennedy led with 32,000,000 votes to more than 31,000,000 for Nixon, the closest race since 1916.

However, California, Minnesota and Illinois had not been definitely Leopoldville, Congo — American Jazz "Ambassador" Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong arrived on his State department sponsored tour here Friday and was greeted by the throb of jungle drums and cheering Congolese wearing white clay, monkey skins and feathered headdresses. Leesburg, Fla.—Walter Lee Irvin, 32, serving a life sentence for the rape of a 17-year-old white housewife, published a newspaper ad Oct. 27 announcing he will ask for a pardon. The rape case stirred racial violence in central Florida in 1949.

Dr. L. C. Jones, Piney Woods School Founder, Will Be Honored by Chicago Alumni

Chicago, Ill.—In Chicago on Nov. 25 Dr. Lawrence C. Jones will be honored in a banquet at the Sheraton-Blackstone Hotel celebrating his 75th birthday and the 50th anniversary of the school he founded. Dr. Jones, a tireless worker and educator, founded the Piney Woods Country School at Piney Woods, Mississippi, 50 years ago. He gained national attention on "This Is Your Life" back in 1954.

Sponsors

The combined birthday-anniversary banquet is being sponsored by friends and former students of the school. Many of them live in Chicago and have devoted much time and energy to helping Dr. Jones keep Piney Woods alive. These are grateful "alumni" who remember clearly their own trying days in the Mississippi Deltas and the chance Piney Woods gave them for a brighter future. Piney Woods is supported chiefly by private gifts. Tuitions run as low as "nothing" for boys and girls who have absolutely no means of support. And it might be added that the vast majority of the students are in this category.

Present Day

The school has grown since the days of the old sheep barn class room where Dr. Jones first started his dream 50 years ago. The campus is now composed of a contemporary brick dormitory, class room building, shops, gym and administration offices. Dr. Jones came to Mississippi in 1909 fresh from the academic life and learning of the University of Iowa. He has returned to Iowa and Des Moines on frequent trips. Dr. Jones was once asked how he came to be in Mississippi. His answer was that God must have directed him for it could not have been a rational choice on his part. Once there Dr. Jones found a serious need for improved educational opportunities among the Negroes. At that time educational opportunities for Negroes in Mississippi were non-existent except for private instructions a few might have received.

Vital Need

Since the vital need for the Negro to become better trained was apparent Dr. Jones launched his country school project. A simple log beneath a Cedar Tree was his first class with one curious boy in attendance. Rapid expansion led to the acquisition of a sheep barn. The barn and 40 acres of land were

Adam Powell-Hazel Scott Planning a Mexican Divorce

New York—Declaring that there is no bitterness and that they are on the "most friendly terms," Representative Adam Clayton Powell (Dem., N. Y.) and his pianist wife Hazel Scott are reportedly working out terms for a Mexican divorce.

The fact that Miss Scott is scheduled to go to Mexico for the divorce has led the public to believe that one or the other may be contemplating another marriage, but neither principal commented.

Estranged 4 Years

The famous couple has been estranged for the past four years with Miss Scott living in Paris a great deal of this time with their 14-year-old son, Skippy, who is now in an exclusive Riverside school.

Powell, 51, who inherited the pastorate of the Abyssinian Baptist church in New York from his father, created quite a stir when he married the pianist-actress. Later, however, she became popular with the congregation.

Son's Support

Miss Scott, now staying at an Eastside apartment house, is filling night club engagements while awaiting the re-writing of Langston Hughes' "Tambourines to Glory," in which she stars.

Friends of the couple say that they had arranged a financial agreement as far back as 1956. They doubt that Miss Scott will seek a large financial settlement but may request full support for their son.

1st Negro on County Level; Miller, Erbe Lead Iown in Solid Republican Sweep

In a record total vote, a Negro won an elective office in Polk county for the first time in history. Robert A. Jackson, secretary-treasurer of the laborer's union, and a Democrat, won a six-year term as hospital trustee, becoming the first of his race elected to the board. Another Negro, Gil Randle, (Rep.) was defeated for District court clerk by incumbent Michael Doyle, (Dem.) It also marked the first time that a Negro has sought an elective post on the county levels.

Heavy Voting

On the state level The Republicans took other state offices including lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state auditor state treasurer and attorney general.

Iowa — a staunch Republican stronghold—fell back onto tradition Tuesday—and swept state Republican candidates in the major gubernatorial races with Jack Miller defeating Herschel Loveless (Dem.) in a close race for U. S. senator and Norman Erbe winning as Iowa's next governor over Edward J. McManus, (D), by over 30,000 votes.

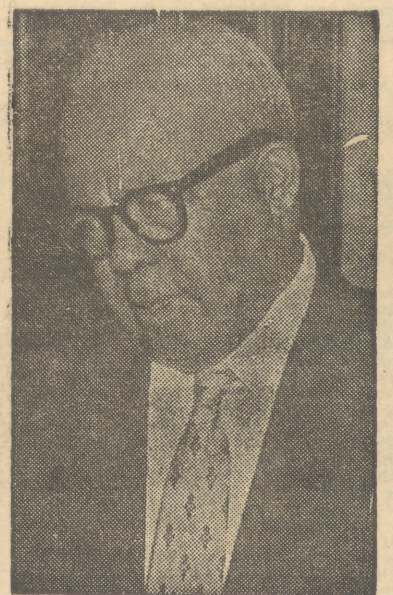

Hildreth

However, in other Polk county races the Democrats retained their power with incumbent Wilbert T. Hildreth leading the ticket and winning handily over Al Couppee (Rep.) for his fourth term as county sheriff. Neal Smith was re-elected to his Fifth District congressional seat. Democrats Harry Perkins, Jr. won as county attorney, Ray Hanrahan

After 3 Years in Jail, 83 Year Old Woman Is Not Bitter

New York—83 year old Mrs. Hatie Gibson Hollowell is not bitter—despite her three years in jail even though she was innocent of any crime.

The little old lady was sent to jail in '57 by a court order because she refused to give an accounting of a $2,000 estate left by her daughter who died without leaving a will. Then Mrs. Hollowell was forgotten even by her own lawyers.

She herself never lost hope. "I knew somebody would love me enough to get me out—somebody would have heart." And that's how she's not bitter after the three years in jail. Clad in her black fur coat and two heavy knit shawls, she accompanied her son Richard, 62, who says, "She's going home to rest."

Helping in her release was Queens Surrogate Anthony O. Savarese who had originally ordered her imprisonment and Miss Mary Mule, President of the Queens County Women's Bar Association.

decided although Kennedy was lead in all of them. Kennedy's victory in the big industrial cities and states told the story. Six key states, according to newsmen (Texas, California, Illinois, New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio) all went to Kennedy with the exception of Ohio which surprisingly voted for Nixon.

Nixon in Iowa
In Iowa Nixon led the state over Kennedy by some 125,000 votes thus winning the state's 10 electoral votes. Shortly after midnight (Iowa time) Nixon appeared for a nation-wide brief speech in which he conditionally conceded the presidential race by saying, "If the trends continue, Sen. Kennedy will be the next president of the United States . . ."
However, at 9 a.m. Iowa time, Wednesday neither candidate had officially conceded defeat or claim victory.

Supreme Court to Hear Case Involving Free Speech Rights

Washington, D. C.—The U. S. Supreme Court will hear the appeal of Carl Braden, Southern integration worker, on Wednesday, Nov. 16. The case involves important questions of free speech and association as they pertain to civil rights and integration.

Braden is under a year's sentence for contempt because he refused to cooperate with the U. S. House Committee on Un-American Activities at a hearing in Atlanta, Ga., in 1958.

200 Protest

The hearing was protested by more than 200 Southern Negro leaders, who felt that the committee was holding the hearing for the purpose of discrediting persons working for civil rights.

Braden, a resident of Louisville, Ky., told the committee it was attacking integrationists like himself under the pretext of looking for "subversives." He refused to answer committee questions under the First Amendment to the U. S. Constitution, which guarantees freedom of speech, press, religion, assembly, and petition.

2nd Sentence

Mr. Russell Lasley, vice president of the U.P.W.A. and former Waterloian will be among the guests attending the Stewards' banquet to be held, Mon., Nov. 14 at the President Hotel.

has received in recent years as a result of his activities in behalf of integration. He served 8 months of a 15-year sentence imposed in Kentucky after he and his wife Ann helped a Negro family buy a home in a so-called white suburb of Louisville.

Former Copy Editor

Braden is a former copy editor for The Louisville Courier-Journal, which fired him after the house episode. He is now a field secretary and editor for the Southern Conference Educational Fund, New Orleans, a Southwide organization dedicated to ending segregation and discrimination.

The case of Frank Wilkinson, a Los Angeles civil liberties worker who was sentenced with Braden, will be argued before the Supreme Court on the same day. Wilkinson is now secretary of the National Committee to Abolish the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

WITH DELORES CALVIN

New York—Lonnie Sattin Gets 13 More Weeks on TV... Suave Lonnie Sattin, who has made a hit on Saturday night on New York's Channel 7, got the thrill of having his contract renewed for 13 more weeks. Lonnie heads the show for Schaefer Beer, in which he not only sings, dances a little, but does a slick commercial on Schaefer Beer in the best Madison Avenue tradition.

Barbara McNair

With his contract renewed for another big stint, Lonnie is proving he's a talent that sells. His leading lady has been changed since Pert Barbara McNair is going on Broadway with Nat King Cole. Luscious Sallie Blair is certainly no let-down for Lonnie. She takes over Nov. 12.

Sammy Davis

Sammy Davis, Jr. is sure riding his romance to marriage with May Britt to the limit. Every shred of publicity that can be milked from the pair is being produced. Latest is May Britt's exchange on Walter Winchell's TV show for some more palaver from the prospective bride's point of view. When these two finally get married it will probably be because they ran out of anything else to say for the public.

Owner of Atlanta's Pickrick Restaurant suggests that "before resort-

BELAFONTE'S NEW TV

New York—"Belafonte New York 19," the new Harry Belafonte Revlon special which will be seen over the CBS-TV network Sunday, Nov. 20, derives its unusual title from the postal zone number in Manhattan in which people of many racial and cultural backgrounds reside. The show consists of a musical study of the area, which also includes such cultural "land marks" as Birdland, one of the foremost centers of jazz; Carnegie Hall, the mecca of fine music, theaters, the modern museum of Art and other groupings of cultural life in America.

ing to integration of eating facilities and rest rooms, it would be a good time for such affected merchants to eliminate their problem by getting out of the food business." And he had to pay to pass this suggestion via Atlanta's daily newspapers!

Fats Domino

Fats Domino is in Washington, D. C. at the venerable Howard Theater... Louis Armstrong making the headlines in the Congo and Harry Belafonte working hard for Kennedy as Jackie Robinson makes the rounds with Governor Nelson Rockefeller for Nixon.

Links Focus Search For Talented Child

Washington, D. C.—The "Search for the Academically Talented Child," a nation-wide program of the Links, Inc., loomed into sharper focus here last week at a two-day meeting of the National Project Committee.

Bernice Munce, Trenton, N. J. Committee Chairman, stated that 67 of the 87 chapters of the national women's service organization had initiated the plan of discovering and guiding academically talented and gifted youths. She said, "We adopted the program in 1953 with the idea of making our contribution to 'Educating For Democracy'." Our local chapters go into their communities and seek the aid of teachers, students, counselors, administrators, parents and other selected leaders. The most commonly used bases are need and competitive examinations.

The 12 member Committee decided on a comprehensive informational activity and selected from a "brain storming" session several ideas of action for regional Link conferences.

Xmas Cards

Pauline Weeden, Lynchburg, Va., National President, announced that renewed interest had begun in the "Links Xmas Card Fund." She stated each chapter and every American interested in helping the student sit-in protest is being asked to send the amount one usually spends for Christmas cards to: NAACP, "Links Xmas Card Fund," 20 West 40th Street, New York, New York.

Sammy Davis, Jr. Plagued by Bigots

Hollywood, Calif.—The racial bigots haven't let up on Sammy Davis, Jr. Three men pickets wearing swastikas paraded up and down before the Huntington-Hartford Theater where Sammy did great business with a winning show.

Signs on the pickets read: "Purity for All Nations" and "We Will Protect the Purity of the Nordic Race." Of course all of this is projected against Sammy's forthcoming marriage to white actress, May Britt.

Rights Commission Slates Hearing in Dec

Washington—The U.S. Commission on Civil Rights will hold a hearing in Detroit on Dec. 14-15 on Government-related employment, housing, the administration of justice, and public education, Gordon M. Tiffany, Commission Staff Director, announced today.

The purpose of the hearing, Tiffany said, is: (1) to establish facts of discrimination, if they exist in Detroit; and (2) to study and appraise the measures applied by the Federal, State and local governments in the area of civil rights as they pertain to Detroit. Dr. John A. Hannah, Chairman of the six-man bipartisan Commission and president of Michigan State University, will preside at the hearing.

No Great Problems

Tiffany emphasized that "the Commission is not going to Detroit because the city presents any great problem in civil rights. On the contrary, there is abundant evidence that public opinion in Detroit favors fair treatment of minority groups."

He added that "the people of Detroit and their public officials are aware of the problems that do exist; we only wish to see how the city has handled these problems, which exist in all fast-growing metropolises."

11th Time

The Detroit hearing will be the 11th time the Commission has met for hearings or conferences on civil rights problems. Five of these hearings have been held in the South. The Detroit hearing will be the Commission's first in a large Midwestern industrial center.

The pickets wore sun-tan uniforms without insignias. When Los Angeles police checked them out, it was discovered that two of the three men have records of arrest for a wide variety of crimes—burglary, using narcotics, assault with a deadly weapon and grand theft. Unknown callers plague Sammy with phone calls saying, "Hell Hitler, we're going to blow up the place." Police, though, have failed yet to find any evidence of a bomb.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Poison Time Bomb

Your three-year-old may be eating something now which can make him seriously sick next summer. That "something" is lead. Children under five often take in a good deal of lead, with no symptoms that mother notices for months. For some reason which nobody clearly understands yet, the youngsters develop obvious symptoms mostly after they have been exposed to hot sunlight.

Little Lead

Most modern indoor paint contains very little lead. But if your house is twenty years old or so, there may be many under-layers of lead-containing paint on woodwork, walls and ceiling. Many children eat crumbling pieces of plaster and flakes of peeling paint, and chew the paint off window sills.

Outdoor Paint

Though you can buy indoor paint with little or no lead in it, outdoor paint is still lead-loaded. So don't ever be tempted to use exterior paint for an interior job. Repair crumbling plaster, scrape and repaint flaking surfaces. And try to stop baby from chewing on the woodwork. It is not harmless, as many parents seem to think.

Permanent Damage

If lead poisoning is discovered too late, it can mean death or permanent damage to the brain and nervous system. Watch for such symptoms as lack of appetite, abdominal cramps, vomiting, pallor, irritability, drowsiness, lack of coordination. Take the baby to a doctor immediately if any of these signs appear. Lead poisoning can be cured only if it is discovered early and treated by an expert.

WATCH FOR SIGNS OF HEARING LOSS

Jimmy came in the house one day crying and very unhappy because the other children would not play with him.

This situation has happened to every child at one time or another. Upon closer examination of this picture, however, we see that Jimmy is a little boy who is hard of hearing.

Jimmy wants to be like the other children, but he is left out because of his hearing difficulty. He is one out of 1,500,000 children in the U.S. who have some degree of hearing loss.

Signs

Studies show that there are certain signs which may warn adults about possible hearing losses in children. Some of these signs are:

1. The child's attention may wander.
2. He may fail to respond to questions.
3. He may frequently ask to have words or sentences repeated.
4. He may appear to be listless.
5. He may fail to mingle with other children.
6. He may become belligerent.
7. He may complain of ear aches, tenderness, etc., in the ear.

Parents and other adults should heed these as possible warning signs. If there is any doubt at all concerning a child's hearing, a hearing test should be given as soon as possible.

Negro Children Total 79 Per Cent of All Students in Washington, D. C. Schools

Washington, D. C.—Negro children have so increased in the Nation's Capital and white children have decreased that the Negro children now number 79 per cent of all pupils, School Supt. Carl F. Hansen reports. The number of Negro children has risen more than 3 per cent since the last report, two years ago.

By Race

In a breakdown by race, it was reported that 97,897 children are Negro as against 24,982 whites attending the public school system of the District. The reason for the increase is given at the fact that more Negro students are coming to the District school system while more white students are moving out. There are exactly 2,499 less white students than before.

All Levels

More Negro children are at school on all levels. The elementary schools have an increase as well as the Junior High and Senior High Schools. The biggest increase is in

Would you throw something valuable away? That's exactly what you'll be doing if you're eligible to vote and fail to do so.

Literally millions of persons in the world are denied a chance to vote. They know what we all should — the right to vote is one of our most valuable possessions.

How important is your one vote? Do you know that in 1941 ONE vote saved the Selective Service system — just 12 weeks before Pearl Harbor? And, in 1876 ONE electoral vote put Rutherford Hayes in the White House.

Our high standard of living and our family income is the result of the American system of free enterprise. A vote on November 8th is a vote of confidence in this system and a vote of thanksgiving for the benefits it has given us. Don't throw away your valuable vote. Cast your ballot for the candidates of your choice.

Now the excitement shared with millions and millions of fellow Americans is dying down, hope you too are able to return to your regular routine of life, whether the candidate of your choice won or lost. It has been many years since a national election copped such interest even long before election day, as this 1960 election. And in the closing days and hours of the campaigns many residents were doing little else but working, sleeping, eating and watching the election 'polls' if you could call them that. For the first time the so-called nationally authoritative polls came out with an edge here and there for one of the candidates, as if the poll takers were feeling their way and did not wish to put themselves in for a humiliating "wrong" guess as they did in the 1948 election.

On the local scene there were few parties and get-togethers prior to election day; Miss Charlene Wharton, who had her cast removed from her leg last week, told us that it was hard to schedule a club meeting or any kind of get-together for the center, when usually representatives are calling without aid of prodding or reminder. People were just too busy working for the party of their choice or just plain waiting for election night.

We tried to find out if many election night parties were scheduled, and unless we called the wrong people, there didn't seem to be any. One was being held by unmarried young ladies at the YW; an election coffee was being held at Willkie House until midnight and members of the Puella Legaotes club were serving coffee, but other than that, we could learn of nothing else. Perhaps some will be reported in next week's news.

Like myself, many probably decided to go solo in front of their TV sets and watch the national state and county results. As you can tell we are writing this prior to election returns so naturally any comment on that score will have to wait until later.

For those who might be emotionally bruised by the election, there is no better remedy than to attend the second annual Ebony Fashion Fair that will appear here Tuesday evening at Hoyt Sherman place. The show promises to be much, much bigger and more spectacular than last year. For those of you with TV, you can catch a preview of some of the beauty that will appear on the show, by watching Don Soloday's TV show at 12 noon on KRNT-TV Tuesday, Nov. 15. Some of the models will be guests on the show.

It seems that North High school sends their lists of grads out earlier each year. We have had the list for mid-year for over a month now. Among the students scheduled to walk down the aisles for diplomas are Ronald A. Dixon, Richard F. Duncan, Travis Fowler, Edward Holt, Sharon R. Lighon, Paula Propes, Ronald Shade, Harry Stewart, Marguerite Taylor, Sharon Western and Justina Whiteside.

We want to remind all prospective graduates that we will be publishing the annual page of mid-year graduates around February 1. More details will be published later and letters will be sent to all grads.

POOR URBAN RENEWAL
FOR THE DISPOSSESSED

It is most unfortunate that the Urban Renewal project in Des Moines is in process of development without the aid of federal low cost housing.

Most people don't appreciate the predicament of those who are being dispossessed to make room for the project. The people who are moving today are going into better homes but much more expensive—more than the average family is able to pay. Most of these homes are old, run-down and present expensive upkeep at once.

Like the apartment and room situation following World War II, many are crowding into over populated quarters which give little relief from the conditions they left.

And of course as is the desire of the real estate monopolies they get no subsidy which would serve to make their monthly payments smaller.

True, the city has appropriated $10,000 per year to help subsidize those moving into the east side building project, but because of limited facilities, all will not be able to move there. And we doubt whether these people are being sufficiently informed of what they may expect in order to take advantage of the little subsidy the city offers.

Frankly, there is not sufficient contact with the dispossessed people so as to have them take the best advantage of what the program offers.

CLOSE ELECTION;
WHERE DO WE GO?

America has just completed a general election. It has been predicted all along that the vote would be close. And of course this is just about what happened.

Most people are glad the election is over because on a national level in particular, the campaign had degenerated almost to a mere name calling controversy. And while foreign affairs constituted a prominent issue, some candidates acted as information bureaus for Russia.

But now that the election is over, there remains the opportunity for America to urge itself toward the job of continuing our upsurging to greater heights.

It is apparent from early returns that Negroes, North and South, voted Democratic. This vote was predicted upon President-elect Kennedy's promises with respect to the fulfillment of the Democratic platform on civil rights; much to the late Franklin D. Roosevelt, much to the help given Dr. Martin Luther King by Kennedy. The Bystander hopes that the President-elect can make good on his promises. He has, of course the millstone of Senators Eastland, Russell, Talmadge, et al, around his neck.

TEACHERS SHOULD
REFRAIN FROM STRIKING

New York has been plagued by a strike of many teachers in its public school system. And while doors were not closed, much inconvenience resulted.

Of all the people to strike, school teachers should be the last. Generally speaking, strikes indicate the inability of opposite sides to negotiate peacefully and a reckless disregard for the people's business in this instance.

Fortunately, a majority of the teachers remained on the job. School authorities announced that the strikers would be fired. This should be done for a simple threat without carrying it into execution would simply make these teachers more reckless in their conduct toward the children and the public.

Striking against the public carries things—rights—just to far.

DETERGENT SERVES

As an aid to health, detergents can do more than just keep you clean. Now surfactants—the part of detergent formulations that gives cleansing power—play a role in heart surgery, too! A special non-ionic surfactant is being used for analysis of blood specimens from open heart surgery and cardiac catheterization. The technique was developed at the Swedish Hospital in Seattle, Washington.

Iowa Bystander, 223½ Locust St. Des Moines, Iowa

We know a fellow who is a firm believer in what might be called the laws of balancing fortune. Your good breaks come back to haunt you in the form of bad ones, and likewise your bad breaks return as good ones. Well, every good break Iowa has ever got in those first six games came back to haunt the Hawks at Minneapolis last Saturday. The warning signs had been there all season; the fumbles missed, assignments and the desperate last half struggles to hold off teams. But you care for warning signs when you are winning?

Minnesota

The Minnesota line play was a throwback to the line play of "The Thirties" when tackles and guards didn't try to get around their opponents, simply ran over them or knocked them back into the play. That is just what the steamed up Gophers did. In fact, the only thing lacking to really make us nostalgic was the sight of an end picking up a small blocker and literally throwing him back onto the ball carrier. But, maybe that would be illegal now. It was certainly done, way back when.

Incident

We doubt if any team in the country could have stood up to that raging Gopher line Saturday. And yet, but for their mistakes, the Hawks would have been in the battle and might have won.

An amusing incident took place in Katz Drug store the day after the game. A Negro sat there drinking coffee and one of the customers said that he guessed those colored boys weren't sure able to do anything with those big Scandinavians up there. The Negro looked at the guy and asked, "Did you see the game at KRNT?" "No," the fellow replied.

"Have you followed the Big Ten teams much this year?" he asked. "No, only Iowa," was the reply. "Well," said the Negro, "about four of those Scandinavians sure were untanned." The fellow gasped, "You mean Minnesota had some Negroes?"

"Yep, two starters and two more who were in and out." The man was flabbergasted. "Well, ain't that something. Say, who doesn't have Negroes this year?"

"Oh, Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia, Louisiana and they probably wish they had some."

tributed by an ex-slave named Ed Taylor.

White Citizens

Many prominent white citizens in the area have been helpful in making it possible for Dr. Jones to expand his operation. Land was donated or bought for use by the school. A miracle has taken place and this lone educator had raised from the Mississippi Deltas one of the few institutions in the South equipped to fill at least part of the educational needs of its neglected Negro citizens.

TV Plea

Today more than 500 boys and girls, in the grade school to high school level, are housed, fed and learn trades and useful vocations at Piney Woods. The appearance of Laurence C. Jones on the Ralph Edwards show "This Is Your Life" in 1954 was a God send. Much needed money came in as a result of a plea made by Mr. Edwards to his vast TV audience. Dr. Jones and his entire staff are eternally grateful for those generous contributions.

Chicago Alumni

It is obvious today's standards of education and the requirements of modern living, even if they are more applied than academic in nature, are costly. The Chicago alumni, which is officially known as the Chicago Volunteer Workers for Piney Woods Country Life School, are aware of this. It is for this reason that the group has organized this banquet as much as it is to pay honor and show appreciation to Dr. Jones. Donations are set at $10.00 per plate for the Nov. 25 banquet.

Minnesota Destroys Iowa in 27-10 Holocaust;
Divest Exciting Hawks of Glories and Laurels

By Staff Writer

Minneapolis, Minn.—Minnesota set Iowa on fire Saturday!

It was a fire that the Golden Gophers had kindled for weeks and years and then ignited, like a ton of incendiary bombs, into a roaring inferno that roasted the highly vaunted Hawkeyes 27-10 and in the process burned and destroyed the treasure chest of glories that once was theirs.

The fire of desire that was the Minnesota players and fans alike was of such blazing intensity that Iowans could feel the heat of impending danger long before the contest got under way.

Holocaust

In the holocaust that annihilated the Hawkeyes the Minnesotans used a potent fuel mixture of a mighty defense, a capable offense and a special additive of Hawkeye miscues.

The Gophers won the toss and chose to kick rather than receive. This maneuver forecast the fact that they were ready to play rough on defense. This held true as the Iowans were forced to punt. With suddenness the Hawks miscued. Center Van Buren, playing in front of all-American candidate Tom Brown, centered the ball over kicking quarterback John Calhoun's head and had to race back to the Gopher's ten yard line to retrieve it. He ran it back to the 14 where he was smothered by a host of tacklers. Minnesota took the ball and in three plays rampaged over for a TD. The PAT was good and in less than five minutes of the first quarter the Gophers had Iowa in a 7-0 hole.

Show Rigors

Dr. Jones is beginning to show the rigors of his hard and dedicated life. However, this does not stop him. He is still willing to travel anywhere to help interest people in the school and secure more support for it. Dr. Jones is surprisingly alert and keen witted. He is that breed of man that is characterized by his Christian faith, dedication and ability to work tirelessly for what he believes. Dr. Jones symbolizes an American type in a way we do not often see in these times.

"Big Daddy" Lipscomb
Improves Lot With
Baltimore Colts

Philadelphia, Pa.—More than a change of scenery has been involved in Eugene (Big Daddy) Lipscomb's improved play with the Baltimore Colts. Changing his ways has had a lot to do with it, too.

The six foot, six inch, 283-pound All-Pro tackle frankly admits, in the current (Nov. 12) issue of The Saturday Evening Post, that he didn't set the world on fire at Los Angeles.

His article, "I'm Still Scared," written in collaboration with Robert G. Deindorfer, tells that back in 1956 he wasn't sure where he stood with the Rams.

Didn't Play Much

They didn't play him much, he explains, then used him full-time in the final game of the season. When he was expecting congratulations from Coach Sid Gillman, he got the other Hawkeye errors that totaled up to three recovered fumbles and an intercepted pass.

It seemed later that the Hawks were about geared to quench the fire that engulfed them when early in the second quarter they took the ball on their own 25 yard line and utilizing their famous razzle dazzle offense moved the ball 70 yards to the Gopher six when Brown the Gopher's leading fire bug, rammed Iowa guard, Bill DeCindio into Quarterback, Wilburn Hollis, on a third and six situation losing five yards in the mishap. Respecting Minnesota's belligerent line the Hawks chose to go for the field goal. Tom Moore's boot was good and Iowa had a 7-3 deficit at half time.

Second Half

In the young minutes of the third quarter Iowa caught fire themselves as they forced the Gophers to punt and blazed 55 yards on a 12-yard burst by fullback Eugene Mosley, a 19-yard sprint by shifty halfback Larry Furgeson and a powerful plunge through the line for twenty yards and a TD by rugged fullback Joe Williams.

Iowa captured the lead for the first time in the contest and led 10-7. This move by the Hawks served only to add fuel to the already intense flames of the Gophers. Minnesota began to use the offensive power no one conceived they possessed and moved to another touchdown that made the score 13-10.

Wall Caves In

The fourth quarter was when the wall really caved in on the Hawks. A vicious tackle tore Iowa halfback, Sammie Harris loose from the ball news that he had been waived to Baltimore.

"I thought Gillman gave me a raw deal, especially in making me work the full game knowing I wasn't Los Angeles property any more," Lipscomb says. "I still think so."

Bad Habits

In the Post article, Lipscomb re-habits with him to Baltimore. Then Coach Buddy Young took him in tow.

Since then, Big Daddy says, he has found that the more he has worked at football the less he has missed his old way of life.

He reports he hasn't gambled or stayed out all night or fought or played roughneck football, except once, when he slugged a Detroit player for using the word "nigger."

Scared Lot

Meanwhile, the Colts have won two straight titles and the players "accepted" the improved Big Daddy, who says he has been scared most of his life.

Things have gotten better, he says, mostly because of the nice things football has brought him.

THE QUIET ONES

The quiet ones, who rest, and wait, until St. Peter opens the gate; are they aware, and can they see; what happens here, to you and me? If that can be, if that is true, should we reform, what should we do? Are loving spirits standing by to guide our steps until we die? We who have made our pact with God have naught to fear as on we plod, if, through the night the spirits stroll, they're only playing out their role. Each one of us who lives apart with God's great love, deep in our heart, has naught to fear, no thing to dread, from living souls or waiting dead. Let us praise, and say a prayer, for the patient ones, who are waiting there, whose earthly husks await the call; that will some day come, to reach us all. That time of peace for which we pray, when they call our names on the judgment day. When we cut the ties to this earthly sod, and are taken home to be with God. Through-out this world the millions plead, for surcease in their pain-fraught need. Some reach for poison or for guns, in their haste to join the quiet ones. For you and me, that should not be, our eyes are clear, and we clearly see; so that when that day of reck'ning comes, we will go with joy with the quiet ones.

Thoughts for Today

A man has generally the good or ill qualities which he attributes to mankind.—Shenstone.

What the man who has everything needs is help with the payments—Maurice Seitter.

The trouble with many hands that rock the cradle today is they are hired hands.—O. A. Battista.

Laugh Lines

A visiting clergyman occupied the pulpit. The organist wanted to make an impression, so he wrote a note to the old sexton, who had been a little slack in his work in pimping enough air for the organ. She handed him the note just before the service started. Making a natural mistake, the sexton handed it to the visiting minister, who opened it and read, "Keep blowing away until I give the signal to stop."

Cyclones Beat Okla.;
First Win in 29 Years

By Staff Writer

Ames, Ia.—A last minute Tom Watkins touchdown, a 38-yard third quarter field goal by Sophomore end Larry Schrieber, Dave Hoppman's 162 yards in 29 tries plus hard-nosed defensive football by an Iowa State team totaled a 10-6 victory for the Cyclones that gave them their first win over the Oklahoma Sooners in 29 years.

At the beginning, observers knew from the way the Cyclones were playing, that Oklahoma was in for one of its staunchest tests. This win for Iowa State put their Big Eight conference mark at 3-3.

The Sooners got their only tally on a 71-yard drive using 18 split-T plays. This was only the third Big Eight conference defeat for Oklahoma Coach Bud Wilkinson since 1947.

Ashes of Hope

And so the Hawkeyes were left smoldering with nothing left but the ashes of hope that they will be capable of taking just as formidable a foe as Minnesota, Ohio State, whom they encounter Saturday at Iowa City. Hoping, too, that Purdue or Wisconsin will cool Minnesota's fire of desire enough to defeat them and thus give the exciting Hawks a chance at the Big Ten title and perhaps rebuild some of their demolished glory.
