Court Says City Acts Violate Civil Rights

Washington, D. C.—Tuskegee, Ala., Negroes who had been victims of gerrymandering by the Alabama legislature in 1957, won their appeal case Monday when the highest court in the land ruled in their favor.

In a unanimous decision the United States Supreme court ruled that federal courts can consider complaints by Negroes against Tuskegee, Ala., boundary changes that put almost all Negro voters outside the city. The decision wrote by Justice Felix Frankfurter overturned lower court rulings that the matter was not within federal jurisdiction. The suit was brought by 12 Negroes.

Take Evidence

The high tribunal directed that the U. S. district court in Montgomery, Ala., take evidence and determine whether the Alabama legislature violated U. S. Constitutional guarantees when it chopped up Tuskegee's city lines.

Frankfurter said the Tuskegee case was not one involving political gerrymandering—that is, the cutting up of a political division to the advantage of one party or group—but was in "the conventional sphere of constitutional litigation."

Racial Minority

Frankfurter asserted that when a legislature "singles out a readily isolated segment of a racial minority for special discriminatory treatment" it violates the Fifteenth amendment. That amendment provides that neither the United States nor the states shall deny anyone the right to vote because of race, color or creed.

28-Sided City

Tuskegee was once a square with a population of 5,397 Negroes and 1,310 whites. It had 1,000 qualified electors, including 400 Negroes. In 1957 the legislature reduced the area of Tuskegee and fixed its new boundaries in an irregular shape with 28 sides.

The change excluded from the city all Negro neighborhoods, including the Tuskegee Institute for Negroes. No white residents or voters were removed.

Name Drake Committee to Investigate Reports of Bias In Off-Campus Housing

Word-of-mouth reports of discrimination in off-campus housing, which had been circulated around Drake university in the past few weeks, precipitated the first formal action on the matter Monday, when the president of the Drake University student-faculty council appointed a five-member committee to investigate.

Lyle Middleton, council president and a senior from Jefferson, said Friday there is "concern on the part of some persons" that discrimination exists. He added, that the job of the committee named last Wednesday, is to look into the facts, make progress reports, and give a final recommendation.

Resolution

Prior to Monday's action, Gary Cook, a Postville senior, and one of four students named to the committee, had introduced a resolution at an Oct. 26 meeting calling for the university administration to "take a definite stand on the issue of racial and religious discrimination in off-campus housing."

Middleton said Cook later withdrew the resolution agreeing that "it wasn't worded properly" and that a more extensive check of conditions was needed.

Named to Group

Besides Cook, others named to the committee are Michael Meyers, a Chicago, Ill., senior; Dennis Forbes, a Des Moines junior; Marilyn Treman, a Rockwell City junior; and Dr. Dale Miller, associate professor of religion.

Dean

Dr. Paul A. Bloland, Drake dean of students was appointed as consultant. Dr. Bloland said his office has received no complaints from students that they were unable to obtain housing because of discrimination. He estimated that "several hundred" Drake students rent living quarters in off-campus locations. He also said that Drake presently has no anti-discrimination clause in its standards for university-approved off-campus housing.

GREET YOUR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS IN THE IOWA BYSTANDER CHRISTMAS ISSUE.

NEWS In A Nutshell

New York—Charges against the State University of College of Education were declared unfounded last week by the State Commission Against Discrimination, following investigation when Dr. Thomas L. Blari, Negro assistant professor of sociology complained of an "arbitrary act of reprisal."

Detroit, Mich.—During the national election day Michigan elected a Negro as its auditor general, one of the state's top eight administrative jobs. He is Otis M. Smith, 38, a Democrat, and a Flint lawyer, appointed in 1959 by Gov. G. Mennen Williams. He had to stand for election and polled a majority of more than 130,000 votes.

New York—Internationally famed folk singer Harry Belafonte will offer a change of pace on his forthcoming television special for Revlon, "Belafonte: New York 19", to be seen Sunday, Nov. 19 by singing popular tunes for the first time.

Nashville, Tenn. — Integration forces won another victory last Thursday when the Davidson County School Board decided to fall in line with the city school desegregation program and admit Negro pupils to the first four grades of 27 county schools.

New York—A so called "light skinned Negro" whose home is in Los Angeles is at large in New York after being deported from England where he had been convicted of brutally assaulting a woman.

Washington, D. C.—A mild sensation was created here Nov. 8 when a group of Negro leaders, headed by the Rev. O. M. Hoover of Cleveland, Ohio, openly accused Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., of participating in a "clear-cut, unholy, diabolic conspiracy" to give "aid and comfort" to the Democratic party. The group said Rev. King, a leader of the integration movement, accepted help from Sen. John F. Kennedy to get him out of a Georgia prison when he could have done so without obligating himself to anyone.

New York—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt was honored with the 1960 Mary McLeod Bethune Human Rights award here from the National Council of Negro Women last week.

Detroit—The Michigan Fair Employment practices commission last Thursday ordered a suburban Detroit school board to hire two Negro teachers who said they were denied jobs because of their race.

Memphis, Tenn.—Mrs. Ida Lee Rogers, 38, was arrested on charges that she stabbed her 15-year-old daughter who refused to go to school. Police said the mother told them her daughter had not attended school for over a week and had been spending her days with a boy friend.

Miami, Fla.—Metro police said last week Catherine Mae Wildgoose, 39, has admitted the fatal stabbing of her common-law husband, Eliza Porter, 39. Booked on first degree murder she said that the couple argued over a chicken. She claimed the chicken belonged to her and that Porter had cooked and eaten it.

U. S. Marshals Escorted Four Little Negro Girls to Classes as Crowds Jeer

New Orleans, La.—Diehard segregationists in Louisiana led by their governor, Jimmie H. Davis and the state legislature, who had refused to heed the integration handwriting on the wall, Monday were defeated when four Negro girls integrated two public schools in the biggest city in the deep South—New Orleans.

There was no physical violence—only screams, jeers and shouted threats from a crowd of 400 outside the two schools. The girls, escorted by U. S. marshals to and from school, had not been identified and the designated schools were not identified prior to Monday's school opening.

Screaming Jeers

However, the day of integration in New Orleans was accomplished against the background of screaming, stubborn segregationists in the legislature who were contemplating last ditch maneuvers to by-pass the federal courts.

Maneuvers

It had been a weekend of wrangling and maneuvers and counter maneuvers by the state legislature and the federal court led by Federal Judge J. Skelly Wright who had issued a restraining order blocking a state legislature committee that had seized control of the 95,000 pupil school system.

New Orleans Board

The New Orleans school board climaxed the legal hubbub with its dramatic announcement that it had approved integration of the city's public school and would allow five Negro girls to enter on Monday.

Holiday

In a last minute maneuver a statewide public school holiday had been announced Saturday night by State Superintendent of Education Shelby M. Jackson. Lloyd J. Rittner, president of the Orleans parish school board said schools would be open Monday and they were, despite the efforts of state troopers sent to the schools to enforce the "holiday".

Contempt Action

Thurgood Marshall, attorney for the NAACP, representing the Negro children, began federal contempt action against Jackson Sunday. Jackson accepted service of the warrant Sunday night. Jackson was ordered to show cause Friday, Nov. 18 why he should not be judged guilty of contempt of court on grounds he was "wilfully, contemptuously, deliberately" attempting to block integration.

Underlining the court orders, William Rogers, U. S. Attorney General, announced in Washington he would use the full power of the federal government.

Says Rights Loomed Higher In Election Than Ever Before

Atlantic City, N. J.—Opinion that the Negro voter figured heavily in the 1960 elections mounted steadily this week with NAACP Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins declaring here today that "the race relations question came to the force as never before in national politics."

There were indications early in the returns, he said, "that Negro voters in and out of the South figured decisively in the contest on the national level, and in the North, in contests on the state and local levels as well."

He then said: "Negro citizens will expect the new administration in Washington to address itself to civil rights and race relations as well as to other matters that had a place in the platforms and in the election campaign itself."

Change Rules

Wilkins alluded to the responsibility resting on the new Democratic administration and to the overwhelmingly Democratic Congress, after observing that "both parties adopted the best civil rights platforms in their history and all four candidates promised to stand on their platforms."

The very first item before the new Congress, he said, "must be an effort to change the Senate and House rules so that filibusters can be handled and the autocracy of the House replaced with democratic legislative procedures. He called upon the heads of the new administration to support these moves with all their influence and prestige.

Piece-Meal

"It must be clear," he said, "that a piece-meal approach to protecting civil rights will not be adequate to cope with the hostile climate of opinion that has been indicated, or with the maze of legislative obstructions and extra-legal practices that confront the Negro population daily.

Secretary Wilkins was addressing the annual convention here on Nov. 10 of the New Jersey Education Association.

Mr. Wilkins' remarks sounded anew the Association's prediction that a strong package of civil rights legislation will be introduced early in the next session of Congress and he urged speedy action on these measures.

Executive Order

The Association also takes the position that certain constitutional guarantees can be enforced under existing legislation by executive order of the new President.

Among these the NAACP cites the need for executive action ending (1) segregation or other forms of discrimination in all federal or federally-aided housing programs and establishing a commission with sufficient funds and authority to implement the order; (2) direct all departments and agencies administering federal assistance programs to condition such assistance upon proof that the funds will be used in compliance with the equal protection clause of the Fourteenth Amendment; (3) insure equal job opportunity in all employment resulting from federal grants, loans, subsidies, contracts and licenses; (4) insure equal access to all facilities and services.

Waterloo, Iowa

BY BETTY HACKETT

Sunday, at 3:30 p.m. Atty. William W. Parker preached his trial sermon at Antioch Baptist Church. The good-will and faith of the community was evidenced by the capacity crowd attending the service. The Gospel Choir's selection of songs, "Lead Me, Guide Me", "My Faith Looks Up To Thee", and others made the audience fully aware of the significance of the afternoon's meeting.

In his introduction, the Rev. D. O. Bell commended the audience as he stated: "Your presence here shows your interest in the progress of Christianity."

The theme of Atty. Parker's sermon was "The Will of God." Your columnist watched the many faces who seemed spellbound by the directness and sincerity of this man who has been called to speak for God just as enthusiastically as he has done numerous times in the courtroom in the interest of his clients. As he stated in his sermon: "Never has the will of God meant so much as now."

At the conclusion of Atty. Parker's sermon, comments were received by the Deacon Board and congratulatory telegrams were read. Following a motion by the Deacon Board, it was announced that Atty. Parker will receive his license.

Marble-Pattern Bath

FOR a bathroom decor that is attractively different, walls may be covered with distinctive marble-pattern paneling of hard-board with baked plastic finish. Marble paneling offers a choice of five imported marble patterns in authentic reproductions that provide the beauty of the luxurious stone at a fraction of its cost.

Large four-foot-wide panels cover walls more quickly than do materials fabricated in small units. The paneling's smooth, hard baked surfaces, resistant to moisture and soiling, is easily wiped clean. It has a durable and serviceable base of Masonite tempered hardboard. Matching moldings are available for the panels, as are waterproof adhesive and joint-sealing compounds.

The paneling also is made in plain colors and wood grain patterns.

CITY APPOINTMENTS

The City Council has approved two new appointments to commissions made by Mayor Ed Jochumsen. Mr. Herbert Cox, 806 Beech St., has been appointed to the Fair Employment Practices Commission. Mr. Cox, well known radio disc jockey, succeeds the late Rev. Samuel Davis.

Atty. William W. Parker, 914 Beech St., has been appointed to the Waterloo Recreation Commission. Both men are known for their interest in the development of a better community.

SYMPATHY CLUB

The Sympathy Club, one of our oldest clubs, now needs the support of our community. This club is familiar throughout the state for the service it renders to bereaved families. Club members meet at the home preceding the funeral, prepare a meal, and serve it following the funeral. Sometimes the meals have been prepared and served at the particular church in which the funeral was held thus bringing more to partake of the meals.

All food is donated by club members. At times, this club has served as many as three families in one day.

In order to build a well drained treasury, the Sympathy Club is sponsoring a Turkey Raffle with tickets being sold at $1.00. The drawing will be Nov. 19 at the Masonic Hall, 830 Mobile St.

Although many of us will be unable to attend the drawing, we can certainly place a dollar in an envelope and mail it to the club president, Mrs. Roy Baker, 425 Sumner St., for this club really deserves not only praise but the cooperation of every resident.

PEOPLE MAKE IOWA GREAT

...the corn grower

Iowa is certainly a state of champions. But, none has done more for our reputation and prosperity than the corn grower.

For years, Iowa has been the champion corn-producing area of the world. Today, we raise 17% of all the corn produced in this country . . . a steady and continuing source of new wealth flowing into our state.

In sustaining this steady income, one of the nation's top buyers of corn is the brewing industry. Last year the industry purchased over $250,000,000.00 worth of farm products for use in making beer. And, more corn was bought than any other grain, except barley.

For Iowa's corn growers, and for so many others of us, too, there's just no question . . .

New York—Sammy Davis, Jr. Makes His Mark on Concert Stage . . . Sammy Davis, Jr. had one more media to conquer prior to October 25th. He hadn't made it on the concert stage, though he had on every other possible outlet. But then in his usual efficiency he took over the concert stage with a great show.

Will Mastin Trio

Behind him were 23 musicians, 10 dancers, a good comic and the Will Mastin Trio. Sammy did 20 songs, a half-dozen dances and impersonations plus five night club acts—making it all a well-balanced show. And the audience—how they loved it. So Sammy has proved on the Huntington-Hartford Theater stage that he knows his way around concert-wise as well as by radio, movies, TV, night clubs, etc.

AGGIES GAIN FIRST PLACE IN CIAA WITH 20-7 WIN OVER VA. STATE

Greensboro, N. C.—The A&T College Aggies yesterday came from behind to whip up a fired-up band of Virginia State College Trojans, 20-7, in a CIAA football game here at Memorial Stadium.

With the victory the Aggies rode into first place in conference standings and appeared favorites to cop the CIAA championship, their third in a row. The Aggies will have to pass N. C. College on Thanksgiving Day to clinch the title.

Big Jim Mitchell, the A&T quarterback, was the big gun in the attack, he scored the first TD, engineered the second with a 94-yard drive and passed for the third.

Erroll Garner is going on his own for recordings. This guy is full of surprises this year. Garner's company is called Octave Records and he will proceed soon to sign up artists for his group. Politics

Politics Dept. . . It's already predicted that Negroes will vote 2.2 to 1 in favor of Kennedy. The Jews will vote 5 to 1 and the Catholics will vote 3.5 to 1—all for Kennedy. We'll know soon if the pollsters can judge this accurately.

Five Senators didn't have to enlist outside money for their campaign. You guessed it, they were from the south, where the vote is in the bag after so much orating. The five were Richard Russell of Georgia, Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, James Eastland of Mississippi, Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana and Estes Kefauver of Tennessee. We were surprised to see Kefauver on the list.

100,000 NEGRO FARMERS

While the number of Negro cotton farmers has been declining rapidly, the number growing tobacco has shown an increase. These latter farmers have helped produce tobacco for this year's record output of some 512 billion cigarettes, or 25.6 billion packs of 20. Between 1940 and 1954, the number of Negro tobacco farmers in the flue-cured area of Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, and Florida increased from 86,000 to 96,000. During the same period, the number of Negro farmers growing other crops, mainly cotton, dropped from 590,000 to 370,000.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Now or Never!

There's a killer loose, and if we don't nail him quickly, we may never get him. The killer is the tuberculosis germ. We have the weapons—modern drugs. We must use them now or we may not have another chance.

Why the rush? Drugs that fight disease when they're first used fail to work after a while because the germs develop defensive tactics. If that happens with the TB germ before the thousands of people with active disease are found and treated, we shall have lost our opportunity to wipe out this dread disease. Remember that TB is infectious. One person who has it can give it to many others, who in turn infect still more people.

Crucial

The TB problem is so crucial right now that the U. S. Public Health Service and the National Tubercu-

"TOO MANY NEGROES ON THE GIANTS" DOESN'T BOTHER NEW MANAGER

San Francisco, Calif.—The charge of the know-it-alls that what's wrong with the San Francisco Giants is "too many Negroes" doesn't bother their new manager, Alvin Dark.

"I've never had any trouble at all with any kind of prejudice," says Dark . . . "Ability is what I'm looking for, nothing else. When a bunch of boys lose, it can't be any race's fault. What difference is it, if you've got half-white and half-colored players or all-white or all-colored? It seems like when a team loses, somebody's always got to find an excuse."

The Giants were certainly highly rated at the beginning of the baseball season. Many in fact picked them to win the pennant. Their sorry showing has caused this race charge in an undercurrent campaign.

CORNER SINK

A stainless steel corner sink with two contour bowls is an excellent choice for a small kitchen. The right-angled placement of the "wells" saves valuable space, and provides counter surfaces on both sides as well as in the rear. Wonderful for either left- or right-handed homemakers, this compact twin sink permits sudsing in one bowl, and then rinsing conveniently in the other.

losis Association held a conference at Arden House in Harriman, New York, to find ways of dealing with it. They recommended an all-out country-wide community effort to find all people with active TB and treat them with modern drugs until they are no longer infectious. You may be called upon to help. Don't hesitate. TB is everybody's problem.

Pineapple Prune Bread is Versatile

An "Extra" that fits into every eating occasion. Fruit bread sandwiches are always welcome lunch box fare—and a perfect partner for a luncheon fruit plate. The bread should be sliced thin, of course, and requires only the simplest of fillings such as a bland cream cheese.

A new approach to the fruit bread category is demonstrated in the recipe suggested here. Crushed pineapple, chopped prunes and walnuts combine to make a deliciously different and taste-appealing bread.

Here's the easy technique for making Pineapple Prune Bread—good to the last morsel!

PINEAPPLE PRUNE BREAD

1 cup boiling water	2 tablespoons salad oil
1 cup uncooked, dried prunes, pitted and chopped	1 cup sugar
2 teaspoons soda	1 egg
1 cup pineapple tidbits	1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup syrup from pineapple and water	4 cups flour
	2 teaspoons baking powder
	1 teaspoon salt
	1 cup chopped walnuts or pecans

Four boiling water over chopped uncooked prunes; add soda. Drain pineapple tidbits thoroughly and add enough water to syrup to make 1 cup; pour over prunes. Allow to stand while mixing batter.

Combine salad oil, sugar and egg thoroughly. Stir in vanilla. Sift flour, measure and sift again with baking powder and salt. Add to creamed mixture alternately with liquid from prunes and pineapple.

Then add prunes, pineapple tidbits and nuts. Spoon into two 5 x 9-inch loaf pans and bake in a slow oven (300 degrees) for one hour. Makes 2 loaves.

Added Energy for Football Players

EVERY FOOTBALL TEAM HAS SUBSTITUTES . . . but there's no substitute for a good breakfast for providing energy and stamina needed by football players—young and old. So, if your son hasn't made the team this year, it may be that he isn't eating fruit, crisp, ready-to-eat cereal, bread, butter and a beverage each morning.

When he makes that first string team, celebrate by baking a batch of these flavorful Gingerbread Pennants. Made from a simple, wholesome recipe developed in the test kitchens of the Kellogg Company.

GINGERBREAD PENNANTS

1/4 cup butter or margarine	1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1/4 cup sugar	1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1 egg	1/4 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 cup molasses	1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup Kellogg's All-Bran (ready-to-eat bran)	1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 cup cold strong coffee	1/4 teaspoon cloves
	1/4 teaspoon ginger

2 cups confectioners' sugar 3 tablespoons hot milk 1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Blend butter and sugar thoroughly; add egg and beat until light and fluffy. Stir in molasses, All-Bran and coffee. Sift together flour, baking powder, soda, salt and spices; stir into first mixture. Spread in greased 13 x 9-inch pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) about 30 minutes. While cake is still warm, cut into pennant shapes.

Combine sugar with milk; add vanilla and beat well. Letter pennants with icing.

Yield: about 2 dozen pennants. (ANS)

UNDERSTANDING IOWA CHILDREN

SPONSORED BY THE IOWA CHILD WELFARE RESEARCH STATION

Written by May P. Youtz, SUI Associate Professor

LET'S TRY TO GET OUR CHILDREN'S VIEWPOINT

"Now, I want to talk," blurted four-year-old Barbara. Her big family realized all at once that Barbara had been trying for several minutes to say something. Listened to, she had something to say.

Not to be heard frustrates us at any age—but at four, it's maddening.

Cooperation

Observe your child at play with other children. Sit nearby, busy with your knitting or mending. You will get your child's viewpoint in relation to other children. You may find that with his playmates he is cooperative and plays happily. If he doesn't act the same way in the family circle, do some thinking and observing to find out why.

Ignored

Maybe, like Barbara, he is ignored in the family. Getting his viewpoint is important. Spend time talking to your child.

"My, look at those big daisies!" small Judy remarked the other day.

"Why, Judy, those aren't big daisies," I replied.

"Yes, yes, they are!" Then I remembered that Judy was only two and one-half. I got down with my eyes on a level with hers. They were big daisies.

Getting the child's point of view isn't easy. How can we do it? Well, it helps to listen.

Unique

Each child is unique. His viewpoint really measures his inner life. His personality depends on his integrity and this in turn depends on how adequately we get his point of view and stand by him as we interpret life to him.

The stakes are uncommonly high in this matter of getting a child's viewpoint. They include acceptance to you as a guide as well as a friend, a sense of security, and a feeling of being loved for his own sake.

Fruit with Cereal and Milk Adds Variety to Reducing-Diet Breakfast

Nutritionists recommend that dieters divide the day's caloric intake into three meals of equal size, starting with breakfast. A good breakfast is the key to successful weight-reduction plans. If you skip breakfast, you are more apt to resort to between-meal snacks or to overeat at the other two meals of the day.

Research at the State University of Iowa has demonstrated that young and old alike not only felt better, but they performed better, especially in the late morning hours, if they had eaten an adequate breakfast. To ensure an adequate breakfast, doctors and dietitians recommend a basic breakfast pattern of fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter. This breakfast pattern provides $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ of the daily nutritional requirements for most people. It is also the basis for an adequate breakfast in a reducing diet. Here is a 400-calorie breakfast which is $\frac{1}{2}$ of a 1200-calorie diet commonly recommended in weight-reduction programs.

400-Calorie Breakfast
Corn Flakes (1 ounce) with Sliced Bananas,
Blueberries, or Apricots
Milk, nonfat, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup for cereal
Toast, 1 slice, with Butter, 1 teaspoon
Milk, nonfat, 1 cup for beverage
Coffee, black

Wide variety is possible in the fruit, cereal, and milk serving. There are more than two dozen varieties of breakfast cereals, hot and ready to eat, both regular and pre-sweetened types, available at your grocery store. Fresh fruits will soon be in season in quantity. You will find that a breakfast planned according to a 400-calorie basic breakfast pattern is satisfying, inexpensive, and offers variety in your reducing diet.

1960 fast slipping away with Thanksgiving only a week away. Families, friends and acquaintances getting ready for get-togethers and parties and students prepare for their first vacation away from school—will also make their first trip of the school year home if they are not too far away. Hunters still stalking the prairies for wary feathered creatures to stock their holiday tables. And Ole Man Sol warming the plains with plenty of sunshine and Indian summer as if to make up for what's ahead in the long months to come.

Last week we received a very nice and interesting letter from a former Des Moines resident and one who is keeping up with the things back in Des Moines through the Bystander. We know there are many of you here who are interested in Mr. and Mrs. James Saunders and family and how they are doing in Los Angeles, Calif., so we will share the letter from Mrs. Saunders with you:

"We are receiving the Bystander regularly and it is good to read the news from Iowa. We have met a lot of old friends out here—Colen Scales, Barbara Branch Alcorn, Lenna Reeves Ewings, Robert Ewing, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fant, Mrs. Betty Forrester Matthews and many others we haven't seen as yet, but know they are living here.

"We appreciate your thoughtfulness in mentioning us in your column, however, the issue of Nov. 3 caused us some dismay. It is true that Jim was not certain of immediate employment which was expected. He was unemployed for three weeks then got a job as assistant manager of a service station. He is now clerking in the Los Angeles post office.

"As for my father being sick in Los Angeles, that was incorrect, because my father lives in Des Moines. Perhaps you were thinking of my grandfather, who is 80 years old and in perfect health. Also, we do not live with him, but have an apartment in Leimert park. We expect to buy a home as soon as we learn more of the city, possibly after the New Year. We thought it best to write and explain our situation.

"We find Los Angeles a very nice city. The children are in a very good school and progressing well. We've enjoyed the beach and have been to Pacific Ocean park, which is a huge amusement park located on the beach. We've been thru Beverly Hills, Hollywood, and we have seen where "77 Sunset Strip" is filmed. (Dino's).

"We've driven to several other surrounding cities, which are very beautiful. The weather here is beautiful, sunshine everyday. All in all we think we've made a very wise decision in making California our home. Of course, I miss my family and friends but we will always come home to visit.

"Tell Pete that Jim says hello and asks that he give his regards to all the fellows at the post office."

We would like to extend our apologies to the Saunders family and add that our youngsters think that Friday nights are nothing without viewing "77 Sunset Strip."

We tried to get a complete list of models who appeared for the Cosmetists Clubs annual benefit show and dance at the Val Air ballroom recently. If the following list is not complete we stand to be corrected. They were Marietta Cooper, Eva Dixon, Lillie Forbes, Verberna Sloan, Willya Mae Oneal, Mary Ann Taylor, Barbara Newton, Norma Willis, Laura Murri, Shirley Davis, Mary Dean McCracken, Mary Alice Hunter and Morris Claytor.

Beauticians attending from out of town we omitted in previous write-ups, included Agnes Lewis and Lucille Farrington, of Sioux City, Ia.; and Mary Williams, Massie Brown, Dorothy Carter and Virginia Walker of Davenport, Ia. Barbers attending were Gilbert Russell, Elbert Brewer, Walter Murray, R. Hardaway, and Edward Morton.

Please, don't forget that next week is a holiday—Thanksgiving. The Bystander will be going to press one day earlier than usual. Monday noon will be the deadline for all church, social and club news. Tuesday noon will be the deadline for advertising. To make sure your news is published next week, phone, or bring your news in before the deadline date.

Name Models Parade High Fashion Designs Of World's Couturiers

By Frances Hawthorne

A capacity audience spent two delightful hours in a rainbow paradise of beautiful clothes, enhanced by stunningly lovely models, and designed by some of the world's leading couturiers of high fashions. Twelve hundred patrons filled the Hoyt Sherman Place Tuesday evening, at the second annual presentation of Ebony Fashion Fair in Des Moines.

Duke Ellington Music

Thirteen hundred came, they saw, and they were conquered by the charming, whimsical narration of veteran producer, Mrs. Freda C. DeKnight, by the "Name" models who had met and conquered the most critical modeling judges of this era.

We said patrons spent two hours; actually a whole "week" was crowded into 120 minutes, made possible by the theme, of the days of week, threaded together by the beautiful mood musical creations of the great Duke Ellington, played artfully by Dave Rievera, New York City jazz pianist and assisted by the Spates Combo.

Star Models

The dazzling, rainbow-hued show was star studded with name models that made the nation's headlines during 1960. Led by the lovely La Juene Hundly, who topped international beauties by being crowned "Miss Cannes Festival in Paris, France," they included Corinne Huff, "Miss Ohio," the first Negro to represent her state in the "Miss Universe" contest; Nancy Streets, "Miss Indiana University; Ann Porter, "Miss Subway of New York; and of course, Terri Springer, who nearly stopped the show again with her "million dollar walk. A spontaneous hands clapping of recognition greeted her.

Male Models

Models led off the show with a "symphony of Fashions in blue on 'Monday' (lue Day) and shortly after the show got underway Hal DeWindt, sophisticated king of high fashions for men, nearly stopped the show as the audience "ooohed" and "aahed," and loud murmurs rippled through the auditorium like an ocean surf. He was attired in navy top coat and double breasted suit.

Rainbow Hues

On "Tuesday" it was "Good News Day" with bright views of earth colors—reds, greens, and whites. Fashions from deep purple to delicate pink were shown on "Wednesday" and "Black, Brown and Beige," was modeled on "Thursday." After intermission the audience went shopping on "Friday and of course enjoyed "Play day on "Saturday" and ended the "week" with "Prelude to a Kiss" on Sunday which was climaxed by the "Satin Doll" wedding.

Patrons were wowed by every kind of material from airy chiffon, soft wools, satins and velvets, made up into fabulous designs or elegant simplicity.

Unusual

For the unusual there was a levander leather sleeveless blouse, black pood dress, red raincoat with white lamb lining, soft pink satin negligee trimmed with white ermine, a gold and white metallic embossed wedding suit, and a red coat worn over a glittering metallic gown modeled by Ann Porter which nearly stopped the show minutes before it was scheduled to end.

Intermission

Monday, the White Citizens Council in Tuskegee, Ala. was dealt a stunning blow by the U. S. Supreme Court which ruled that a city may fix its boundaries as it chooses, but in so doing the city must not so fix its boundaries as to deny a citizen his constitutional rights. In this case, the boundary was fixed so as to deny citizens in Tuskegee a chance to vote.

In Louisiana, federal Judge Wright has balked every effort by public officials, led by the governor and the legislature, to prevent desegregation in the public schools. The school board in New Orleans has stood its ground by going ahead with the desegregation plan worked out with the approval of the Judge Wright and protection seems to be available to prevent some of the nasty things which occurred in Little Rock.

Thus same lawabiding people are winning the struggle for integration, for placing the practical side of our ideals of democracy in line with legal pronouncements and the organic law of the land.

There are those who are fool-hardy enough to believe that they can rob citizens of their constitutional rights forever. Well, those days are gone. Government can't go on with such policies and the government is the people.

People everywhere are on the march today. Former subservient countries are becoming free. Men no longer are willing to permit their rights and privileges to be jeopardized and don't mind fighting for them.

Here in America, there is an orderly fashion—resort to the courts and public opinion. The record shows that the battle is being won.

THANKS FOR LIFE;
THANKS FOR PEACE

Thanksgiving is one of the many observances which has come about because of special events in history. It is a season which draws attention to a period of history when life was not only a question of maintaining their existence as against the rigors of the weather and the Indians, but also whether sufficient food was available to keep body and soul together.

And when the time came when these things became pretty well assured, the people not only enjoyed them but gave thanks to Him for the blessings that had come as a result of toil and sacrifice.

Fortunately today, most of the things for which the early settlers gave thanks are available plus many more due to great progress in machines and the sciences. Houses are warm in winter and may be made cool in summer. Much of the drudgery attendant upon carrying on ordinary duties in the home, on the farm and the factories has been eliminated by inventions and scientific research. For all of them, we give hearty thanks.

But America's greatest good fortune today is that we are not at war and that we have made a tremendous contribution to the cause of peace among other nations. And while disturbances go on in many parts of the globe and some avaricious leaders attempt to stir hate and distrust here and elsewhere, the principle of the golden rule slowly but surely prevails among most civilized men.

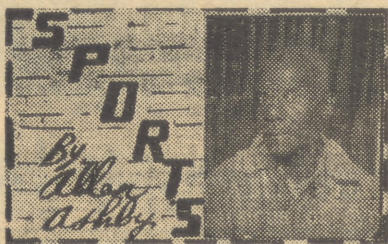

Everybody does not have all he wishes but by and large America is a pretty comfortable nation. Knowingly, nobody suffers from hunger, lack of clothing or shelter. So like the Pilgrims who conquered the enemy and provided for their wants, Americans today are doing likewise. Its citizens should be thankful.

SPEAK UP NOW,
KENNEDY AND EISENHOWER

Laws and courts operate with more satisfaction and better results when the people back them. If ever the support for law and order is needed it prevails in Louisiana. Here the federal courts and local officials want to obey the law. The people and politicians oppose.

Here too is a more propitious time for President-elect Kennedy to appeal to the people of Louisiana to abide by the law than when he made the special effort in behalf of Dr. Martin Luther King. The only difference is that he is not running for office now.

And in view of the experience with Little Rock, President Eisenhower would do a real service, and his duty, by appealing to the people of Louisiana to abide by the law and thus help keep the finger of scorn from being pointed at us by other nations.

You had to see it to believe it. In fact you really ought to have seen both games in order to really appreciate the difference between Iowa in the Minnesota and Ohio State football games. We have argued for years that football success is a combination of any two of three ingredients, desire, luck and ability. Given any two of these and you don't need the third. But, with all three going for your side you are unbeatable.

Buckeyes

The Hawks had all those going for them Saturday. They had tremendous desire and the breaks just seemed to come at the right time. Then there was the ability that has never been lacking. The Buckeyes had the desire and at times showed great ability but were up against a triple combination.

Ohio's Ferguson

There has been loads of stuff written about Iowa's men, so we looked over Ohio's Bob Ferguson to see why he is so tough. Well sir, the guy is big, 210 on the program and our guess would be 220 or 230. Fast, also. We looked at his hands and you could see why he never fumbled. Those hands resemble small suit cases and he ought to be able to wrap one of them around a ball. Seldom was the Buckeyes stopped by one man alone.

Matte

Most of the time he would be the center of a group of from three to five men and they would all be standing up. Yep, this Ohio State Fergusson was tough. The other half of the one-two punch, Matte, a quarterback didn't roll out like most of them do. Instead, he went out and then cut back across the middle and was usually there alone.

When the Minnesota-Purdue score was announced one might have heard the yell back in Des Moines.

We watched the battle and enjoyed watching the antics of a kid to whom we lent our binoculars. The fun of watching him exceeded the pleasure of watching the game.

Something else the experts missed. The biggest man on the field all day was the Dad of Felton Rodgers. The fellow was nine feet tall and four feet wide. Bet, he was proud of that 89 on his son's shirt.

Chamberlain, the NBA scoring champion last year, netted 33 points to top all scorers.

It was "Dad's Day" at the State University of Iowa Saturday, and during halftime ceremonies on the Hawkeye gridiron, Father Nicholas Wegner, head of Boys Town in Nebraska, is shown above standing beside Wilburn Hollis, quarterback. Hollis went to Boys Town when he was 10 years old and was a high school football star there. To the delight of Dads and fans alike, the Hawkeyes beat their Big Ten opponent, Ohio State 35-12, to insure themselves a share of the Big Ten Conference title.—Photo courtesy of Des Moines Sunday Register.

Iowa Hawkeyes Smack Ohio State 35-12
Assured of Share of Big Ten Title

By Staff Writer

In inspired fashion the amazing and exciting Iowa Hawkeyes catapulted out of the bleak, dark dungeon of last week's defeat by Minnesota in the light of the inspired day, sought and found stalwart Ohio State's vulnerable spots and proceeded to smack them with paralyzing effectiveness 35-12; to win at least a share of the Big Ten title and retrieve some of their lost prestige and glory, before a Dad's Day crowd of 57,900.

Joe Williams

With desire bursting out all over, their offense razor sharp and their defense alert and almost impenetrable the Hawks showed the Buckeyes what good football players are made of in the waning minutes of the first quarter when fullback Joe Williams found the door open for him in the middle of the line and scooted 48 yards for an Iowa tally. The stage had been set in preceding plays for this run by Quarterback Wilburn Hollis, when he threw a 13-yard aerial to end Bill Whisler and ran 16-yards on one of his famous roll-outs.

Talented Hollis

This tally gave the Hawks the impetus and momentum they needed. The next time the Iowans got the ball they marched 65 yards in 8 plays, with talented Hollis leading the brigade. With his launcher in working order he orbited a 15-yard pass to senior fullback Eugene Mosley and ran for seven and nine yards himself to the Ohio State 12. Then the versatile quarterback sailed around right end to the sidelines and stepped over the goal line for Iowa's second TD. Surefooted Tom Moore booted the extra point and Iowa had 14 points. Moore never missed all day.

Offense Not Satiated

Their offense not satiated yet, however, the Hawks continued to roll. This time Matt Szykowny spelled Hollis at quarterback and engineered his charges toward pay dirt and another touchdown.

Larry Ferguson

Fleet, shifty halfback Larry Ferguson was the mainstay in this drive. He had run the punt back 24 yards, and zoomed again for 25. Onward they marched to the Buckeye one. Iowa had 21 points now as Szykowny quarterback-sneaked for another tally.

With a minute 15 seconds remaining in the first half of the contest, the Hawks, accustomed to utilizing every second, moved the ball 64 yards across the Buckeye goal. Rugged fullback Williams smashed through from the Iowa two. At the

FLICKERING CANDLES

Forbidden is the light of life
Suppressed, the healing word,
Starvation bred from brutal strife
Where no warm voice is heard.
They sweat beneath the stinging lash
Applied by fiends from hell,
The soil receives their martyred ash
For dead lips can not tell!
Prayer candles in a cave
May their beams reach high above,
Redeem the soul of some poor slave
Who craves Thy touch of love.
Flickering candles, millions burn,
In some hidden, sacred shrine,
Placed by burdened souls that yearn,
For the light of God to shine.

Joe Brown is NBA
Boxer-of-the-Month

Lightweight champion Joe Brown, who scored a unanimous 15 round decision over Cisco Andrade in a title bout October 28 in Los Angeles, California, was named Boxer-of-the-Month in the National Boxing Association's month rating last Thursday.

The boxing master, Brown, set a record of lightweight title defense—his ninth, when he defeated Andrade. He also kayoed "Batling" Torres earlier in the month (October) in a non-title affair in Houston, Texas.

Half Time

At intermission time Iowa led 28-6. In the opening minutes of the second half, realizing their dangerous situation, the Buckeyes pulled a sleeper play out of their offensive bag of tricks, catching Iowa napping. The play took the Ohioans down to the Iowa 25. Matte took over from there, and rolled out and scooted over for the TD. The try for the 2-point conversion was unsuccessful.

Camp for Sugar

Hollywood—Anxious to "rough it," middleweight champ Sugar Ray Robinson passed up an opportunity to train at the swank Arrowhead Springs training camp in California. He chose to return to San Vicente, his former training camp, and left this week to start training there for his December bout with middleweight champion Gene Fullmer.

An automatic dryer saves lugging 3 tons of wet clothes a year!

You'll save work with an automatic dryer. No lifting and lugging tons of clothes hundreds of steps during the year. No stooping, stretching and hanging those tons on the line. No chapped hands, either.

You'll save time with an automatic dryer. No rearranging busy schedules to fit "drying weather." You wash and dry at your convenience. Fast, too. Loading the drier and folding take only 1/6 the time that hanging and folding did the old-fashioned way.

And you'll do a better job with an automatic dryer. White things dry white. Colored things don't fade as they do in sunlight. Choose from dry or damp-dry-for-ironing... with push-button ease. Get towels more than 50% fluffier. Get clothes tumbled dry, not whipped and frayed on the line. So see your appliance dealer.
