U.S. Seeks Court Order to Bar Tenant Evictions

Haywood County Negroes Tell Stories Of Voter Intimidation

Memphis, Tenn.—A court order seeking to prevent 39 Haywood county, Tenn., landowners from evicting some 300 Negroes who registered to vote in the recent national election, was sought by a U. S. Civil rights attorney here last Thursday, Dec. 1.

Federal District Judge Marion S. Boyd refused the request by John Doar, attorney for the civil rights division of the justice department, but set Dec. 19 as the hearing date on a plea for a preliminary injunction.

Labeled Emergency

Doar, terming the racial situation in the west Tennessee county a real emergency, presented 53 affidavits from Negroes and 28 eviction letters mailed to them by landowners. Doar said 22 of the letters were received in an 18-day period in June after the registration books were opened to Negroes for probably the first time this century.

300 Negroes

More than 300 Negroes are threatened with eviction by the end of December or the end of the crop season, said Doar. He added, "they face eviction because they chose to exercise their constitutional right to vote."

FORMER WAC LEADS DAUGHTER TO NEW ORLEANS INTEGRATED SCHOOL

New Orleans, La.—It takes the stouthearted to face a mob and Mrs. Daisey Josephine Gabrielle with a Spanish accent, feels her WAC training is helping her to brave the irate band before the newly integrated William Frantz School.

"I feel very, very sorry for them. I don't hate or dislike them. When you walk with truth, you don't stain it with ugly feelings," she remarked.

39 Landowners Strike Back at Farmers Who Voted in Tennessee

Somerville, Tenn.—Here is the situation in West Tennessee as winter closes in and Christmas approaches.

1. Over 300 Negro farmers have been ordered off the land because they registered and voted in Haywood and Fayette Counties this year. They will follow hundreds of others who have been driven into exile or into living in tents because they dared to exercise their rights as citizens of the U.S.A.

2. John McFerren, a leader in the registration drive in Fayette County, won his battle for gasoline last summer, but another Negro leader in the county is unable to stock his service station or his grocery. This cuts off fuel and supplies to farmers in a wide area.

Scott Franklin, Route 2, Moscow, Tenn., said that Amoco took up his gasoline pumps about the same time that McFerren's fuel supply was stopped. Nationwide protests forced the oil companies to supply McFerren again, but Franklin is still deprived.

Grocery Closes

3. O'Dell Sanders, Negro leader in Haywood County, has been forced to close his grocery at the corner of Jefferson and Jackson in Brownsville. Thirty salesmen once called upon him but they all quit within a two-week period under pressure from the white landowners.

6 Small Children

Sanders has lived in Haywood County all of his 46 years, except when he served 3½ years in the

Judge Slater Under Fire of Critics Again

Chicago—Judge Fred W. (Duke) Slater, highest ranking Negro judge in Chicago, is under fire again, this time for his decision in freeing five defendants in a slum fire case in which five children died.

Slater, a former University of Iowa football All-American, recently freed the owners, rent collectors and janitor of the building where the fatal fire occurred June 17, 1959. Slater said there was not sufficient evidence to convict the defendants of manslaughter, but after the trial was quoted as saying the building "should have been condemned as unfit for human habitation."

State Rep. Albert Hachmeister (R., Chicago) said he will fight any legislation to increase the number of judges in Chicago. He made a personal attack on Slater when he called attention to the case involving the fire.

Earlier Slater was under fire for a decision which freed a Chicago man involved in narcotics traffic. He was attacked by State's Atty. Benjamin Adamowski for his decision in this case.

Notables Attend Silver Anniversary

New York, N. Y.—Dorothy I. Height, (L.), president of the National Council of Negro Women, talks with John Sengstacke, publisher of the Chicago Defender Enterprises and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt during the Silver Anniversary convention of the council held in New York's Commodore hotel. At a later ceremony, Mrs. Roosevelt received the first Mary McLeod Bethune Human Relations Award from the council.

Wanted! Adoptive Parents To Make Toddlers Happy--

Somewhere in Iowa, are there a dozen Negro homes where a lone-some child might find a welcome?

The Lutheran Welfare Society of Iowa has notified the Iowa Bystander that it has a number of children who would fit into such homes, and who urgently need a family circle.

For various reasons, these children's own parents cannot take care of them, and have released them for adoption.

There is nothing the matter with these children, except that they need loving, both by a mother and father. Older brothers and sisters would help, too. So far, the right people have not been found.

Parents Attitude

The attitude of the parents is more important than the physical condition of the home. Lutheran Welfare Society—like other professional adoptive agencies—is most concerned about finding families, where a child will be loved and learn to love; where he will be brought up to be a good citizen; where he will have people to depend on, as he meets the problems of all growing children.

There Is Joe

Joe is a good example. Now six months old, he is a healthy boy with big shining eyes—quite a handsome child.

Joe is half white, half Negro. Is there a family who can help him find a good future?

And another family, for another child? And another? And another?

Lutheran Welfare has branch offices in five Iowa cities. Any one of them will be glad to hear from Negro couples who are interested. You may write, telephone, or stop in to talk about it.

The offices are: Northwest Branch Office, 212 Insurance Exchange Building, Sioux City, Iowa, Phone: 57788; North Central Branch Office, 19½ First Street N.E., Mason City, Iowa, Phone: GA 3-6313; Northeast Branch, Community Services Building, Waterloo, Iowa, Phone: AD 4-1511 Extension 29; Southwest Branch Office, 2302 University, Des Moines, Iowa, Phone: CR 7-4476; Southeast Branch, 119½ East College, Iowa City, Iowa, Phone: 5131.

ELKS ADD LEADERS OF SITIN MOVEMENT IN 5 STATES TO ITS SCHOLARSHIP ROLL

Forty-nine students are now on Elks Scholarship roll for 1960-61. Among them are Ezzell A. Blair, Lonnie C. King, Kenneth Frazier, Virgilus Bray Thronton III, Mary Ann Smith and Edgar M. Young—sit-in leaders from North Carolina, Alabama, Georgia, Virginia, and Tennessee and also two African students from Ghana, Rev. Matei Margwei and Addei A. Kwabana.

Original Case

Scholarships were given to all five of the children who served as plaintiffs in the original Supreme Court case. Spotswood Bolling still remains on our roll, together with the nine Little Rock children.

Lt. George W. Lee, Grand Commissioner of Education in collaboration with Grand Exalted Ruler, Hobson R. Reynolds, have launched a $100,000 drive to extend these scholarships to carry out the Elks Department of Education's program, which is, "If you integrate them, the Elks will educate them."

New Technique

Lt. Lee in reviewing the situation involving the sit-ins said, "The manner in which young Negroes are now organizing in the south reveals a purpose and a technique that cannot be withstood. The authorities have filled the jailhouse and there have been near race riots, but the right for equality still goes on.

Faith in Future

world prominence in 1951 as Chilton, "What is the driving power behind this new Negro?" An answer is given, "It leaps from every bosom; it is spoken in rich moving tones of gratitude and faith in a future out of which a democratic way of life may come into being. It is spoken with pride in native lands and a love of country, which amid the shock of a bitter and ceaseless struggle against heavy, uneven odds remains undisturbed."

NEWS In A Nutshell

Chicago, Ill.—Lafayette N. Doss, 70, the only Negro midget to appear in Midget village during the 1933 Century of Progress World's Fair was buried here last week. He was less than four feet tall and had been hired by Ringling Brothers-Barnum and Bailey circus for a long period.

Pine Bluffs, Ark.—A fire destroyed a $134,000 junior-senior high school for Negroes in the Watson Chapel school district last week. It serves 558 students. Firemen said no evidence of arson was found.

Washington, D. C.—The National Genealogical society, which concerns itself with family trees, has voted against admitting Negroes to membership.

Chicago, Ill.—Lynn Cooper of Riverside, Ill., last week modeled a pert and patriotic chapeau designed for President-elect John F. Kennedy's wife, Jacqueline, in honor of the birth of their new baby, John F. Kennedy II. The 300-flag creation was especially designed by Artie Wiggins, famed Negro designer and co-owner of Chicago's Salon des Chapeaux.

Little Rock, Ark.—Governor Orval E. Faubus last week called the New Orleans integration situation a "judicial dictatorship that resembles the actions of Hitler's judges in Nazi Germany."

Chicago—The woman who gained world prominence in 1951 as Chicago's "Deep Freeze Girl" is now seeking happiness in a second marriage. Dorothy Mae Stevens, 33, has faced heart-breaking tragedies throughout most of her life, became Mrs. William H. Carter in quiet ceremonies last week at a Chicago church.

Atlanta, Ga.—Mrs. Juanita Wyatt, an attractive 30-year old fashion model was found guilty of voluntary manslaughter in the pistol death of her wealthy, estranged husband last week and ordered to serve nine to 20 years in state prison.

Big Cypress, Fla.—The Seminole Indians who are, theoretically at least, still at war with the United States, don't go along with the federal government and the Supreme court on the matter of school integration. The Seminoles object to sending their children to school with children of Texas-Mexican migrant farm workers, not because of social or racial prejudice but because most of the Texas-Mexican children speak Spanish more than English.

Miami, Fla.—A Negro cadet last week was reported among the top five students in Miami's first integrated police training class. Moses M. McMillian, 25, was second among 160 applicants on the entrance exams and never had scored less than 92 on tests.

Tuesday, Fred Capalonga, a freshmen wrestler at ISU, pleaded innocent also to the same charge.

They are no longer students at the school since neither registered for the winter quarter.

On Center Street; Dense Smoke Covers Downtown; Fire Chief Rescues Tenant

An early morning fire gutted a key club, and adjoining storeroom and four apartments in the 1100 block on Center Street here Tuesday causing an estimated $8,500 damage.

Victims of the three-alarm fire at 4:30 a.m. Tuesday was the 1112 Vets Club at 1112 Center Street, an adjoining storeroom and four apartments on the second floor. At one point flames shot high into the sky through the roof and dense smoke covered the downtown area. Parts of the building was gutted and the roof over the 1112 Vets club fell in.

Patrons of the key club escaped unharmed and while firemen battled the blaze, huddled in a laundromat across the street from the building. One man, John White, was overcome by smoke in one of the apartments and was rescued by District Fire Chief Lee Williams. White was taken to the police station and charged with intoxication.

Three other occupants of other apartments escaped the flames unaided. They were Jess Turner, 65, John Campbell, 44 and Lawrence Flakes, 38. All four lost their personal belongings.

When contacted, Willard R. Sanders of 1755 Walker Street, owner of the building, reported that $6,500 of the loss was covered by the insurance. Sanders said he believed that the fire started from a cigarette in one of the apartments.

Firemen are still investigating to determine the cause of the blaze.

Boycott Weakens in One School as Integration Battle Rages Down in New Orleans

New Orleans, La.—The "battle of New Orleans" over school integration continued to rage this week but the battle lines sustained by white women who tried to clamp down a boycott of classes, continued to weaken at one school, but remained a totality at another.

Twenty-nine white children attended classes with one Negro first grader Tuesday as more white parents defied the "Cheerleaders" and brought their children to school, running the verbal gauntlet of jeering, name calling and the risk of being hit by angry fists or thrown stones and eggs.

Arrest Order

However, Wednesday, an order went out that any woman throwing stones or eggs at another white woman, would be arrested by the police, who are doing their job, whether they support or dislike the school integration. Vandals also were plaguing the homes of parents who are sending their youngsters to school, especially a young minister, the Rev. Floyd Freeman, who began the drive to "exercise his right as a parent."

Legislators

In the background, but prominently, there is the battle between the federal courts and the Louisiana legislature, who continue to seek ways of bypassing integration even though they are under court order to desist. School funds are still frozen because banks have been warned of dire financial consequences if they loan money to the besieged school boards and teachers continue to do their duty, without pay or little thanks.

At the other integrated school the boycott remained complete with only the three little Negro girls attending each day.

Richard Wright, Writer, Dies in Paris Home at 52

Paris, France—Richard Wright, one of the first great and nationally known Negro authors of the century died of a heart attack Monday, Nov. 28. The Mississippi-born writer, a long-time resident of Paris, was best known for his novels, "Black Boy," and "The Outsider," dealing with the problems of the Negro in America.

Latest Work

A 1932 Spingarn medalist bestowed annually by the NAACP, Wright had suffered recently from intestinal trouble, and was hospitalized several days before his death for treatment. The heart attack was unexpected.

His latest work, published a few weeks ago, dealt with a theme he spent a lifetime exploring. Titled "Fishbelly," the book traces the impact of American racial attitudes upon the Negro.

Mississippians

Wright was born near Natchez, Miss. He attended a Seventh-day Adventist school near his home but quit and went to work in Memphis, Tenn., at 15. From Memphis, Wright drifted to Chicago, where he worked at odd jobs. He did his first writing during the depression under the auspices of the federal writers project in the 1930's.

New York—Paul Robeson Plays to Excited Crowds in Australia . . . Paul Robeson, the noted baritone, is hitting his stride once again. Now in Australia, the veteran singer and actor is having a whirlwind success as critics and audiences alike are acclaiming him. He's playing to capacity audiences, too.

In his debut, the audience is reported to have cheered. Though this acclaim is usually reserved to teenagers, the older people in the audience yelled out for Robeson. He sang Beethoven, Schubert, Negro Spirituals and sections of "Othello."

TUBERCULOSIS DEATH RATES BY STATE (1955-1956 1957 AVERAGE)

Tuberculosis may hit some areas harder than others but still recognizes no boundaries. This is indicated by the map shown above. States shown in white report up to 5.5 TB deaths each year for every 100,000 people; those in light dots, 5.6 to 8.4; heavy dots, 8.4 to 11.2; and those in black, 11.3 and up. Christmas Seal funds help local tuberculosis associations reduce these figures. In the whole country there now are 8.4 deaths per 100,000.

1300 Pay Tribute to Hammerstein, L. Horne

New York—A total of 1,030 NAACP and friends paid tribute to Lena Horne and Oscar Hammerstein, in memoriam, here this week at the Association's fourth annual Freedom Fund Dinner.

Miss Horne was cited for the "warmth, charm and dignity with which she has graced the world of contemporary entertainment." The beautiful star of stage and screen was also recognized for the "steadfastness with which she has seen and fulfilled her obligations in the fight for justice for her fellow human beings."

Cherish

Miss Horne responded saying, "I shall always cherish this scroll and shall consider it, for my part, as a pledge of my continued wholehearted support in the future." She called for "an even more determined effort, so that we may be rid of racial discrimination in all its aspects during our own lifetimes."

"Let us not leave it as unfinished business for our children," Miss Horne concluded.

Hailed in Memory

Mr. Hammerstein was hailed "in memory of his great talent and of the matchless lyric legacy which it has left to us." The handsome scroll noted "the compassionate spirit," in which Mr. Hammerstein, "labored tirelessly in the service of both art and principle."

Cited 5 Steps

NAACP Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins outlined five major developments of world-wide significance to people of color that took place during the past year. These included: the sit-ins; increased political sophistication, as evidenced by the political platforms of both major parties and the key role of Negro voters in the Nov. 8 elections.

Secretary Wilkins also cited the emerging nations of Africa and their importance to the American Negro, our importance to them as well as the importance of both to the United States.

Die-Hards

He mentioned the die-hard opposition to school integration and wondered how the future of the white race could be threatened by four little Negro girls in New Orleans.

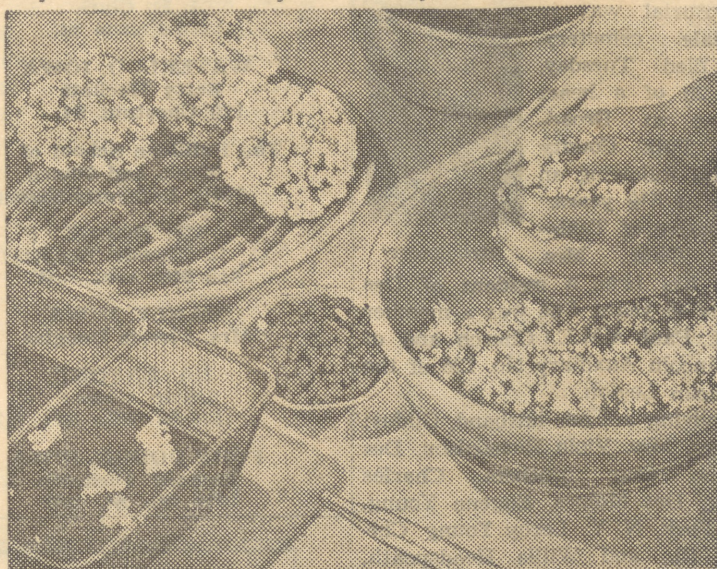

Wilkins concluded by bestowing high praise on Olympic track stars Wilma Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn., and Ralph Boston of Laurel, Miss. Miss Rudolph was a special guest at the gala $100-per-couple affair. Wilkins presented her a check to the order of Tennessee A. I. State College. It is to be applied to Miss Rudolph's account for incidental expenses not covered by her scholarship.

Special Holiday Treat for the Children

IT'S A CONSTANT SOURCE OF AMAZEMENT to see the small fry pack away a gigantic holiday dinner . . . and then tackle extra treats like these popcorn balls. Here's an easy recipe that makes a big hit:

MOLASSES CHOCOLATE STUDDED POPCORN BALLS
3 quarts popped corn 2 teaspoons cider vinegar
1 cups real New Orleans molasses ½ teaspoon vanilla extract
¼ cup sugar ½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup water 5 tablespoons shortening
Chocolate bits

Pick over popped corn; discarding all hard kernels. Combine real New Orleans molasses, sugar, water, vinegar and salt; cook slowly, stirring constantly, to 260° F. (or when a small quantity dropped into cold water forms a hard ball). Remove from heat; add vanilla extract and shortening, stirring only enough to mix. Pour over popped corn, stirring until well-blended. Grease hands. Shape popcorn mixture lightly and quickly into balls, incorporating several chocolate bits into each ball while shaping. Cool. Wrap into waxed paper. Makes 28-30 balls. (ANS)

SAVING AND SPENDING—HOW CAN I HELP MY CHILD?

Money is important—very important. Because it plays so large a part in our daily lives, children need to understand its value and use. They need to have everyday experiences with money before they can begin to see its importance.

Some of these experiences might be: having some money of his own, often called an allowance; buying some school supplies such as pencils; buying a candy bar occasionally. One mother of a four-year-old says she often gives her son an allowance to spend as he goes down town with her; the advantage of this is that mother is there to give guidance.

Child's Share

Essentially, an allowance or "pocket money" is the child's share of the family budget which he can spend as he chooses. It recognizes his need to be independent.

At a very young age a child may learn that it takes 3 weeks' allowance to buy a decent bag of marbles—maybe 5 weeks' allowance if it's a new toy. Some children spend their allowance as soon as they get it, others save for something special. As they get older, this allowance can be increased. Parental guidance is very essential here.

Many Ways

Children have many ways of spending their pocket money: on a gift for a friend, for a new part for an electric train, on treating "the gang." Some children will want to save for a bike, but this is too expensive to be paid for out of a small allowance. They will need help.

If a child saves all his allowance, he is denied the important experience of learning how to spend it.

Children need to be free to make mistakes about money. What seem to be mistakes to parents often turn out to be great successes and learning experiences to children.

Help With Budget

By 9 or 10 a child is ready to look after more spending by himself. He can be given a bit more allowance to cover the small necessities, but he also needs to learn how to budget this allowance so there will be money left for ice-cream and other extras. He will need help to set up a budget. This may be a new experience for mother and father, too!

Home Chores

Many thoughtful persons feel that children will help out at home with duties if started early enough. Children should not be paid for such help unless it is something for which help is often hired; then he might be paid. By this time he is old enough to learn about keeping a bank account. This can be an exciting experience, a mark of "growing up." The sense of pride in owning his own bank book is an excellent beginning for learning the value of saving—and spending!

MAHALIA JACKSON

Washington, D. C.—Constitution Hall, which once barred concert singer Marian Anderson because of her race, reverberated to the singing of gospel singer Mahalia Jackson Saturday night, Nov. 26. Acclaimed "the greatest gospel singer in the world," Miss Jackson returned to the scene of a similar triumph last season when she sang in the hall to a sold out house. She sang several Negro spirituals and drew sustained rounds of applause.

I Gave TB the Brush

By Steven Dohanos

Nat'l Honorary Christmas Seal Chm.

I am an artist. You've probably seen some of my magazine covers on the news stands. But you may not know that for many years now I have been using my brush to fight tuberculosis. I've painted many posters about TB and I designed the 1941 Christmas Seal.

My interest in TB came from heartbreaking personal experience. I lost a younger brother and sister to this dread killer and I had two struggles with tuberculosis, myself—in 1932 and 1941.

Lucky

I was lucky. But thousands like my brother and sister die of TB every year. Those who are fighting to control TB need all the help they can get. That is why I was glad to serve as National Honorary Chairman of the 1960 Christmas Seal Campaign.

Through the Christmas Seal Campaign, TB associations fight tuberculosis in your community. The Christmas Seals help to find new cases of TB so they can be treated, improve treatment through research and in many other ways battle our nation's foremost infectious killer—TB.

I urge everyone to give, not only of their dollars, but also of their energies, time, and talents in the fight to control tuberculosis. I hope they will get the same inner satisfaction that I have.

This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by Polk County Tuberculosis & Health Assn.

SAMMY'S SPOUSE

Hollywood, Calif.—Actress May Britt, 24-year-old wife of entertainer Sammy Davis, Jr., missed her husband's opening show at the Geary theater last week because of the same illness that prevented her from attending her own wedding reception. However, an attack of intestinal flu forced her to forego the trip. She said she will join her husband as soon as she is feeling better.

'THE WALL BETWEEN'

New York—"The Wall Between," a famous book on race relations by Anne Braden of Louisville, Ky., has just been published in Poland under the title of "Episode in Louisville." "The Wall Between" is the story of race relations in the South as Mrs. Braden saw them during her life in Mississippi, Alabama, and Kentucky. She never met a Negro as an equal until she was 19 years old; yet by the time she was 30, she was in jail in Louisville for helping a Negro family to buy a house in a so-called white neighborhood.

Magic Fruit Cakes For Holidays

FRUIT CAKE IS SOMETHING OF A TRADITION at the holidays. In "the old days" this delicacy took hours in preparation, with chopping of fruit and meat and suet, grinding of spices, shelling and chopping of nuts, and slicing of fruit peel. Nowadays you can make a perfect fruit cake in just a few minutes, by using packaged condensed mince meat and sweetened condensed milk, and buying nut meats and candied fruits ready to use. To add to the beauty of your taste-tempting cake, top with snowy frosting, decorate with green wreaths and cinnamon drops for candy holly.

This fruit cake would make a welcome gift as well as good eating at holiday celebrations.

MAGIC FRUIT CAKE

1 9-ounce package mince meat	1 can (1½ cups) sweetened condensed milk
½ cup water	1 cup walnut meats, coarsely chopped
1 egg, beaten	¾ cup sifted flour
1 cup (8-ounces) mixed candied fruit, coarsely chopped	½ teaspoon baking soda

Break mince meat into small pieces and put in a two-quart saucepan. Add water. Place over heat and stir until lumps are thoroughly broken. Boil briskly one minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and cool. Add egg, candied fruit, sweetened condensed milk and nuts. Blend well. Stir in flour and baking soda until just blended. Pour mixture into 9 by 4 by 3 inch loaf pan which has been greased, lined with waxed paper and greased again. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 1 hour and 30 minutes or until center springs back when lightly touched with finger.

*Personally Yours
by Frances Hawthorne.*

While mentally searching for a different approach to our column this week that would depict the goings and comings of citizens almost uniformly throughout this land, we hit upon the idea of trying to depict the scene of the next two weeks (before Christmas) in a little rhyme and ditties. In no way is this to be thought of as poetic endeavor; only just a little composition for your amusement and your enjoyment, we hope. Perhaps you too, can see your actions reflected in these lines.

Twos two weeks before Christmas
And all through the land
Men and women were scurrying
To Beat the Band
There whirled though their heads
Lists . . . lists . . . lists . . . lists
They had a hard time keeping
Them from going amiss,
Let's see . . .
There were letters to Santa
The children had made
They must be attended
'Fore they are mislaid.
There were cards to mail
And gifts to buy
And cookies to bake
And fruitcake to try.
And menus to plan
And parties to give
And packages to mail to
Where close relatives live
There were toys to check
For the unfortunate child
A dash to the neighbors
With a gift and a smile
Now there was the postman
The milkman, paper boy, too,
The bread man, garbage man
Who work holidays through.
Now to get a pretty pine tree
And bring out the bells
And old Christmas baubles
That we all love so well.
A dash for a camera
And for bulbs and some film
To catch excited youngsters
In each little whim
There were carols to sing
Some new and some old
And a wish that Christmas
Would be snowy and cold.
And then before they knew
Where the time had gone
It was the night before Christmas
And the family . . . all alone
Preparing to attend service
At the church of their choice
Or welcoming Aunt Mitzzy
And old Uncle Joice
And hustling the children
Off to their beds
And hope that the thoughts
Would stop whirling in their heads
For this truly was Christmas
A time of joy, and of peace
To sustain all of mankind
From the West to the East.

For some tiny tots who have been residents of the Iowa Children's Home Society, this Christmas will be a joy to them and their happy adoptive parents. Officials at ICHS have often voiced their thorniest problems there in recent years as—taking care of Negro babies. They had untold difficulties in finding homes for these babies. The foster home stayed full and eventually they had to curtail placement activities—which is a sorry task indeed for any agency—to turn away those needing their help.

In recent months there have been some bright spots in the situation, thanks mainly to Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Loggins of 1231 12th Street. The and in October they took one child for adoption and another for foster care, who also with the Loggins' help was adopted a couple of weeks later. Since then ICHS, who with the help of the happy Loggins, has located five other Negro couples who are interested in adoption.

While downtown last week we ran in to a former neighbor of ours, whom we had not seen since she moved several years ago—Mrs. Hattie Scott. We kept track of her from time to time because she was mentioned infrequently in the Mt. Olive Baptist church news when she lived on the Southeast side. Now she is living at University ave., and second place. She was most surprised to of our second little princess in our family.

Mrs. Alice Bell of 15th street has been ill and bed ridden from time to time. A nephew who has been living in Cleveland, Ohio, where he worked as learn of our second little princess in Cleveland Courier, came to Des Moines to stay with her indefinitely. He is Mr. Jamie Green. He has stated that while here he is interested in working with the Bystander and perhaps enrolling in school for an eventual medical career.

We were talking to Mrs. Robert Johnson of Jefferson ave., several weeks ago and she informed us that we unknowingly had omitted the names of two young girls who attended YW camp last summer. They are her daughter, Branch Johnson and her niece, Mary Agnes Carr; Mary is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Carr of Cedar Rapids and spend each summer with her relatives here in Des Moines.

LEARNING THE HARD WAY

The late Booker T. Washington once said "You can't hold a man down in a ditch unless you stay down there with him". The white parents of New Orleans' children are finding this out. Either, the youngsters must attend a system of private schools which is being set up or public schools in parishes outside of New Orleans.

Other cities which have tried these hastily set up public schools found that they did not work. They are expensive, short of the curriculum prescribed for scholastic rating by education associations. The physical facilities are inadequate to meet requirements to carry on modern schools that youngsters enjoy today.

Recent reports show that white children are returning to one of the integrated schools. Their parents have had time to turn over in their minds just how silly and shortsighted the boycott is; that as much or more harm, if any, is being done to the white as the Negro children; that the education of their children is more important than standing back on the old "southern way of life" which is passing out day by day.

Dr. Washington was a pretty wise man and his statement with reference to keeping a man down is just one of many which point out how he used his homely examples to explain that men can live together in harmony.

LATE THINKING OF SENATOR FULBRIGHT

There has been some talk that Senator Fulbright of Arkansas may be appointed secretary of state by President-elect Kennedy. The senator is a former college professor and serves as chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee.

However, his record on civil rights, on his abuse of the U. S. Supreme Court because of its school desegregation decision makes him unfit for a cabinet post.

In that position, he would be called upon to deal with representatives from African and Asian countries on a diplomatic and social basis. Certainly, such a hostile attitude toward his fellow dark citizens at home does not recommend him to be any different toward darker people from abroad.

And in view of President-elect Kennedy's statement that he appointed Gov. Mennen Williams of Michigan as Assistant Secretary of State in charge of African affairs because this would be one of the most important assignments to undeveloped people his administration would work with, it is difficult to see how a top man in that department should be Senator Fulbright.

Dr. John A. Morsell, assistant to Roy Wilkins, secretary of the NAACP, said in a speech that to appoint Senator Fulbright Secretary of State would be disastrous for the nation's foreign policy and the thought of which is the worst disaster since November 8.

With this the Bystander fully agrees. It is rather late to come up with these views now when that possibility existed an dwas talked about all along.

PHEASANT SEASON COUNT APPEARS INACCURATE

The 1960 pheasant season in Iowa came to a close last week. Most hunters agreed that it was a poor season; that the supply of birds was not up to par.

Every year, the conservation commission makes a count of the pheasant population prior to the opening of the season. These people reported a good supply of birds. But somehow, their count did not seem to pan out.

On more than one occasion, we have said that the lack of cover in the territory formerly heavily populated by the pheasant population prior to the opening of the season. These people reported a good supply of birds. But somehow, their count did not seem to pan out.

The conservation commission spends a lot of money to replenish the fish supply but very little for the game birds. The present national farm program provides for payment to farmers for taking land out of production in order to reduce corn acreage in Iowa. Since other crops are not to be grown on this land, the commission might well collaborate with the agriculture department and the farmer to use some of this land to provide cover for game paying something to the farmer supplementary to what he gets from the agriculture department.

Licenses fees are high enough and since hunting is important to many who purchase them, the conservation commission may well take positive steps to make the sport more worthwhile in Iowa.

Now, that the grid season is about gone, except for the pros and the post-season games, we can look at something else. Did you see the Gene Fullmer and Ray Robinson fight last week end? We thought Robinson won by a good margin, but the officials didn't think so. With the talk about boxing fixes and such, we are inclined to believe that sometimes one of the guys in the ring has a judge for him if he just finishes the fight.

Different

How else could three men who are supposed to look for the same thing and score the same system, differ so widely? It is not just that last fight we are thinking of, but you just watch the fights from now on and you will see what we mean. One guy will have a close score in favor of boxer minutes. A still larger score in favor of the same man.

Then along comes the third man and has a score entirely different from either of the first two and is in favor of boxer number two. Now we are not arguing dishonesty. It is just that if there were some way to keep track of things all along and more closely the three ring officials might be a little closer in their scoring. We didn't want Robinson to win because we knew he would have a return match and the fellow is over the hill. It is a shame to see a once great battler stumble, along with a guy who couldn't even be a Robinson sparring partner ten years ago.

Football

And now back to the football wars. One fellow said he wondered how come Larry Ferguson of Iowa didn't make some of those All-American teams. Well, he can stop wondering. Now, the guy has done it. Too bad most of the great Negro players were backs. They all couldn't be in the first teams and it just couldn't seem right to leave off some of the good boys who weren't able to make it.

But Look magazine picked a 22-man squad and that leaves room for eight backs.

Hulen-Jack Convicted In Second N.Y. Trial

New York, N.Y. — Hulan Jack, Manhattan borough president, was convicted by his second trial jury of conspiracy here Tuesday. He was accused of accepting a $4,000 remodeling job on his apartment from L. Ungar, contractor who was interested in seeking a bid for a city contract.

Jack's conviction means that he will lose his $25,000 a year job, even if he decides to take his case to a higher court. His first trial ended in a hung jury. He had suspended himself since his indictment last spring.

Negroes No Longer Have Monopoly Of 'Most Valuable Player' Award

Boston, Mass.—A monopoly which started with Jackie Robinson's selection in 1949 as the National league's most valuable player ended last week for Negro players, when Dick Groat of the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates was named the 1960 winner of the award.

7 Straight Years

Prior to Groat's selection, tan players had won the award for seven consecutive years. The last two seasons "the most valuable player" was Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs, the first player ever to win the award for two successive seasons. Banks was also fourth in the balloting for the award this year.

Punch Costs Celtics Bill Russell $100

New York—A sizzling left hook delivered by rebound ace Bill Russell of the Boston Celtics flushed on the chin of Jim Krebs of the Los Angeles Lakers decked Krebs and resulted in a $100 fine of Russell by the president of the National Basketball association.

According to a report forwarded to League President Maurice Podoloff, "Russell lost his head" during a Celtics-Lakers game in Providence, R. I., recently. He was accused of cursing Krebs and then hitting him with the punch that also cut his lip.

Russell is usually a mild-mannered player and Podoloff said he was taking the action "with reluctance" in view of Russell's "fine previous record for discipline in the N. B. A."

Starting with 1949 when Robinson, then a star with the Brooklyn Dodgers, won the award, tan players had won the trophy nine times in the past 11 years, for a phenomenal record.

Negro Winners

The Negro players winning the award since Robinson were Roy Campanella of the Dodgers (1951), Campanella ('53), Willie Mays of the New York Giants ('54), Campanella ('55), Don Newcombe of the Dodgers ('56), Milwaukee's Hank Aaron ('57), Banks ('58) and Banks ('59).

Campanella and Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals are the only three time winners of the award.

AT 95, HE'S JAILED

Little Rock—A 95-year-old man was jailed last week for drunkenness and police believe he is the oldest ever locked up at Little Rock for that offense.

Sam Jackson said he was born in 1865. He had been staying at Rescue Mission the past few weeks. Patrolman T. W. Benight said he was told Jackson became uncooperative at the mission, which brought about his arrest.

GOLD-DIPPED TOASTER

Use Simple Props to Make Story-Telling Snapshots

Every one who has ever had anything to do with a "theatrical" production, whether it be a grammar school pageant or a community theater group offering, knows the importance of having the right properties. We've rummaged through trunks in attics, through boxes in basements to find just the right things to use in the setting to help tell the play's story to the audience.

Props can be similarly used in your snapshots to tell a story that will be fun to read and re-read in the pages of your family albums for many years to come. Instead of taking a picture of little Susie, who is the family's pride and joy, standing staring straight into the camera—picture her in one of her favorite play settings.

You can sometimes do this candidly, but on other occasions you'll want to set-up such a picture. This will enable you to arrange the props for the best possible composition of your snapshot scene.

The picture which illustrates today's column was chosen because it brings out this point very nicely. Whether the little girl had arranged her "pupils" in exactly this fashion, or if the camera-user had a hand in it, we can't say. In either case, they are nicely arranged so that their attention—and the attention of anyone viewing the picture is neatly centered on the little girl playing teacher.

Choose the right props, and arrange them nicely to help your family snapshots tell an interesting story. —John Van Guilder

IN ONE BIG BLOW!

Look at winter, cruel, cold,
And picture those who scratch for gold;

On frozen tundras barren waste,
They dig and grab in reckless haste
Wealth they think means pomp & power,

Not knowing when will toll the hour;
That marks the end of one more life,
Ill-spent in fruitless toil and strife
They build a pile of so-called wealth,
With disregard for rights or health;

And with no concern about the soul,
These play a useless dulleards role,
No good in life, and when they die,
No furor marks their passing by;
Some corner foods to get the pelf,
And store the gelt upon a shelf;

Who cares if far-off peoples die,
It's hunger that they profit by
Some play with shares, with bonds & stocks,

And thousands lose and hit the rocks.
Some speculate and gain with grain,
While millions slave in hunger, pain
Many prosper by speculating in land,
They hold it unworked by any hand.

So they use the wealth to speculate,
And nothing of worth do they create.
God, send the world the kind of a man,
Who has a clear and concise plan,
To educate this wandering herd,
By some new means that will be heard;

Be heard and heeded by the dolts,
Who toy with fatal cosmic bolts!!!
When atom weapons start to fly,
The end is here for you and I
A thumbnail history of man,
Destruction is his basic plan;

From birth to death he learned to kill,
His lust for power to fulfill
And now that man is (civilized)?
Advanced in science, and so (wise)?
He's ready for his greatest show,
To wreck the earth, in one big blow!!

Laugh Lines

The Brown's marriage almost went on the rocks due to the irritating presence of Uncle Charlie in their home. For ten long years he was with them, constantly nagging, finding fault and being the first one at the table. Finally he died. Driving home from the cemetery, Brown said to his wife, "Darling, I have a confession to make—If I had not loved you so much I could never have stood your Uncle Charlie."

Mrs. Brown's eyes opened wide. "What!?" she shrieked. "I thought he was your Uncle Charlie."
