Donald D. Stanton, 36, of 1067 38th street, Wednesday, Dec. 21 pleaded innocent of a charge of assault with intent to rape in municipal court. Hearing was set by Municipal Judge Luther T. Glanton, Jr., for 1:30 p.m. Dec. 30.

Signing the complaint against Stanton was Mrs. Rachel Henderson, 25, of 1312 E. 29th street. She told police that she had been taking exercise classes at the Des Moines Y. M. C. A. with Stanton as instructor. Stanton, an athletic director at the Y 3 1/2 years resigned after the filing of charges.

Mrs. Henderson's husband, Russell, 33, is assistant director at the Roadside Settlement, 620 Scott street. They are parents of a daughter and two sons.

Phone Call

Mrs. Henderson told investigating officers from the vice bureau that Stanton phoned her at her home about 4 p.m. Monday, Dec. 19 and said he was coming over to see her. Her husband was in the basement of the home and called police, who arrived shortly after Stanton did.

The charge was filed by Assistant County Attorney James McKeon. Stanton was released on $500 bond.

Thieves Get $10 at Sepia Supper Club

It was reported to police Monday that thieves broke into the Sepia Supper club at 1014 Center street and took $10. After gaining entry by taking out a glass in a front window, the burglars pried open a cigarette machine and took an estimated $10, police were told.

Flees Fire in Room; Strikes Parked Auto Before Hitting Ground

A young woman miraculously escaped serious injuries early Monday when she dived through a closed second story window.

May Turner, 27, 1303 Crocker Street awoke suddenly in her room, smelled smoke, became frightened and jumped through the window, bounced off a parked car before hitting the ground. She sustained only cuts and bruises. She was treated at Broadlawns Polk County hospital.

When firemen answered a call to the scene about 1:30 a.m. they said they found Miss Turner, spattered with blood from a cut on her chin, huddled in a car parked beneath the window.

Mattress Aflame

Elmer J. Tolson, whose wife owns the Crocker Street rooming house, said he was awakened by the noise of falling glass.

"Then I heard someone honking the horn in my car," he said. "I smelled smoke and ran upstairs."

Tolson said he found the mattress aflame in Miss Turner's second-floor room and ran into the bathroom for water.

"I put most of it out," he added. "But I was nearly overcome by the smoke. It's a good thing the firemen got here when they did."

Storm Window Open

Firemen threw the mattress out the window before finishing the task of extinguishing the blaze. They said the mattress had been ignited by a cigarette. Tolson said the bottom half of the aluminum-frame storm window had been pushed up because of mild weather Sunday.

"It's a good thing," he added, "or else she'd have gone through two panes of glass."

Window Where Woman Leaped

Dotted lines indicates the path of May Turner, 27, who becoming frightened from smoke, leaped through the closed window (arrow) of her second story room, bounced off a parked car before hitting the ground. Scene of the fire was 1303 Crocker Street. Partly burned mattress is on ground in front of car. Crude Race Slander on TV Survey of La. Desegregation

New York—NAACP units in at least 16 major cities were urged to protest a three-hour-long telecast to be carried Christmas weekend by 13 television stations covering the areas.

On the program, entitled, "Open End," extreme segregationist Leander H. Perez, of New Orleans, La., launched an attack upon the mortality and innate capabilities of Negroes and threw slanderous remarks at the NAACP and its officials.

He also attributed criminal tendencies to Negro children attending integrated schools in the North. Moreover, he bluntly charged that Negroes are syphilitic and that Negroes were constantly in search of interracial sexual activities.

Six Months Jail For Protecting Negroes

The Florida Supreme Court this week upheld sentencing of Father Theodore R. Gibson, president of the Miami NAACP, to six months in jail and $1,200 fine. He faces an additional six months in jail should he fail to pay the fine. The clergyman is being prosecuted for steadfastly refusing to reveal the identity of NAACP members to Florida authorities, thereby exposing them to threats, intimidations, economic reprisals and possible physical violence. NAACP attorneys will carry the case to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Governor Commutes Death Row Resident's Sentence To Life Day Before Xmas

"I feel like screamin' for joy," cried a condemned prisoner in death row awaiting execution on the Iowa gallows, when he learned that the governor had commuted his sentence to life imprisonment.

It was the day before Christmas that Lee Hawkins, 47, of Waterloo, Ia., learned that Governor Herschel Loveless had spared his life.

HAWKINS

Warden John Bennett at Fort Madison said, "He hold me he'd never forget this day, but that he wanted to have Christmas dinner in death row." The warden granted his request.

The only occupant of death row, at Fort Madison, Hawkins was convicted by a district court jury in Waterloo of first-degree murder in the slaying of Archie Fox, 48, a tractor plant employee. He was sentenced to be hanged May 2, 1961 and had been imprisoned there in death row awaiting execution.

Fried to Short

Hawkins was arrested within two hours after the blood-spattered body of Fox, 48, of 1812 E. 4th St., was found in a cornfield on the north edge of Waterloo on Jan. 2.

Police said Hawkins admitted to them that he had tried to shoot Fox but resorted to stabbing and beating the man when his gun failed to function. Hawkins said he decided to kill Fox when Fox told him to stay away from his home and his sister-in-law, Georgia Crumpton. The latter was staying with Fox and his wife. Fox's body bore cuts, bruises and two deep head gashes. The slaying occurred in the cornfield where the body was found.

Served Short Term

Hawkins earlier had served a short term in the Fort Madison prison and his job then was to sweep out the building in which "death row" is located. Penitentiary Warden John Bennett termed Hawkins "a good prisoner who has never caused us any trouble." He said recently he would be glad if the governor would commute Hawkins' sentence to a life term. The governor has received numerous letters in the past few days asking him to commute Hawkins' sentence. A group of ministers also visited the governor's office to urge

2nd Commutation

It was the second death sentence that Loveless has commuted since he has been governor. In April, 1957, he commuted the sentence of Warren Nutter, an Illinois youth who had been sentenced to death at the age of 18 for the slaying of an Independence policeman. These are the only two persons sentenced to death in Loveless' four years in office. There hasn't been an execution in Iowa since 1952.

Hawkins had picked up Fox in his car the night of Jan. 1 when Fox told him he was looking for his wife. Taking Hawkins' word that he knew where the woman was, Fox got into the car.

Started to Flee

After driving into the country, Fox was ordered out of the car and apparently started to flee. Hawkins caught up with him in the snow-covered field.

The trial in district court was highlighted by the defense counsel's efforts to pin the murder on Amos Anderson, of 402 Shilliam Ave., alleged lover of Mrs. Fox.

Nadler, in defending Hawkins, claimed the accused murderer had been duped into luring Fox out into the cornfield where Anderson murdered him.

Severe Beating

This was denied by Mrs. Fox who said she had been with Anderson at the time of the murder.

The defense attorney claimed that Anderson had administered a severe

NAACP Counters Effort to Jail Minister in Florida

Miami, Fla.—NAACP lawyers are this week petitioning for rehearing of the six-month jail term and $1,200 fine of Father Theodore R. Gibson, president of the local NAACP branch.

They are seeking in the alternative, a stay of the sentence, pending a review of the case by the U. S. Supreme Court. The Florida Supreme Court this week upheld a lower court ruling penalizing the Episcopalian clergyman for refusing to testify from the NAACP membership list.

Mary F. Preston Found Guilty in Dope Case

A Polk county district jury of eight women and four men deliberated less than an hour Tuesday, Dec. 20 before returning a verdict of guilty against Mrs. Mary Frances Preston, 28, of 1165 14th place. She was found guilty of obtaining a narcotic drug by fraud and deceit.

Such action would expose individual Negroes to the wrath of Florida authorities and others. The names are being sought by the Florida Legislative Investigating Committee, which started out four years ago to "seek out" communist infiltration in the NAACP's state organization here. To date, nothing has been unearthed.

Ironically, the investigating committee came into being soon after the Miami NAACP, under Father Gibson's leadership, filed the state's first school integration suit.

Mrs. Preston is one of eight persons arrested Sept. 29 on narcotics charges. All were accused in connection with the use of forged prescriptions to obtain drugs. Prescriptions were written on blanks taken from three Des Moines hospitals and filled in at least 11 drugstores here. Two of the accused entered guilty pleas, another was found guilty by a district court jury and four more await trial.

Disabled May Draw

Social Security Checks Regardless of Age, Now

ments will bring benefits to about 125,000 additional disabled workers and their families," Leo W. Smith, manager of the Des Moines district office, announced today.

March of Dimes Officials Urge Generous Gifts to Combat Crippling Diseases

New York, N. Y.—"March of Dimes contributions are hard at work in a positive action program to prevent crippling birth defects," Charles H. Bynum, director of inter-group relations for The National Foundation, said on leaving for a ten state campaign trip. "Your contributions to the 1961 New March of Dimes will allow The National Foundation to do even more," he promised.

"During the past year, March of Dimes funds have made it possible to establish birth defects clinical study centers at Children's Hospital, Columbus, Ohio, and at Vanderbilt University Hospital, Nashville, Tenn.," he pointed out. "In addition, substantial funds were awarded by The National Foundation to medical scientists for research to determine why 250,000 American children are born each year with significant birth defects.

Generosity

"We hope the American people will give so generously to the 1961 New March of Dimes that we too will have sufficient funds to extend patient aid not only to children under 19 with birth defects, but also to those in that age group with crippling rheumatoid arthritis. Birth defects cripple more children in this country every year than any other cause except accidents. We want to eliminate these afflictions. We know it can be done with the support of the public. That is why we are asking every American this January to please say YES to the New March of Dimes," Bynum declared.

Lids on Cabinet Door

ROUND-KNOBBED lids of cooking utensils may be neatly stored inside a cabinet door where they will be both accessible and occupying otherwise waste space. Here are directions for making this handy storage unit:

Measure the door and obtain a piece of Masonite $\frac{1}{4}$ " Tempered Presdwood which covers the interior excepting for one-half inch on all sides. If the door is paneled, there will be room between the cabinet door and the Presdwood for the knobs to fit into openings the shape of large keyholes. If the interior is one plane from one side to another, it will be necessary to install a strip of lumber about one inch thick as a perimeter.

Lay out the round-knobbed lids on the Presdwood so that their positions may be marked. With a bit and brace, bore holes about one-quarter inch larger than the knobs. Underneath each, with a keyhole saw, complete the oversized keyhole, forming a slot into which the neck of the knob will fit. The final step is to fasten the panel to the interior of the door with finishing nails. The panel may be left unfinished or painted.

L. Hawkins

beating to the five foot, five inch Fox the previous November. He said Anderson's motive in luring Fox to the cornfield was to frighten Fox into permitting an illicit relationship to continue between Anderson and Mrs. Fox.

County Attorney Evan Hultman discounted the defense attorney's claim on the basis that the entire case had been investigated by the police and that Anderson had been cleared.

Hated by Hawkins

The case against Hawkins was that Fox was hated by Hawkins because he (Fox) objected to Hawkins dating Fox' sister-in-law. Hawkins on Jan. 2 signed a statement admitting the killing.

Near the scene of the slaying police found a gun and the blade of a jackknife, both of which Hawkins admitted were his. Hawkins later denied the murder, claiming on Jan. 5 that Anderson had committed the crime. The jury deliberated for just under six and one-half hours before returning the verdict at 9:25 p.m. Feb. 3.

Police Chief

Waterloo Police Chief Harry Kreig, when asked to comment on the commuted sentence, said only that action was entirely within the jurisdiction of the governor's office. He did say that in most cases the commutation of a death sentence to life imprisonment meant eventual release of the convict.

"In certain cases these criminals should not be released to join society. I won't say whether this man should or shouldn't be released. His record will have to speak for that," the chief continued.

Police Record

Hawkins in addition to the murder conviction, has a police record dating back to 1929. It includes arrests for assault to commit murder, assault with intent to maim, assault and battery, and grand larceny. He was sentenced to 10 years in prison in Alabama for grand larceny and to five years at the Ft. Madison state penitentiary for shooting his wife in the legs after moving to Waterloo from the South.

Hawkins has broken out of confinement three times. Twice within a year he escaped from road gangs in Alabama and another time he escaped from the state prison there. Judge Van Metre is out of the city for the holidays and could not be reached for comment.

To Resume Louisiana Hearings in March

Washington—The Commission on Civil Rights will resume its hearings into alleged denials of the right to vote in Louisiana, Chairman John A. Hannah announced today. The hearings were recessed in New Orleans on Sept. 28 after 1½ days' testimony was taken. The resumed hearing has been scheduled for March 1961, Dr. Hannah said.

30

During the September sessions the Commission took sworn testimony from 35 Negroes who charged that their right to register and vote in certain areas of the state had been denied because of race.

Dr. Hannah said, "We are merely taking up where we left off in September. When these hearings were first scheduled in July 1959, Louisiana Attorney General Gremlion, other state officials, as well as some private individuals, challenged the legality of the Commission's rules of procedure. The Commission won this law-suit in the U. S. Supreme Court.

UNDERSTANDING IOWA CHILDREN

SPONSORED BY THE IOWA CHILD WELFARE RESEARCH STATION

Written by May P. Youtz, SUI Associate Professor

AGGRESSION IN ADULTS

A great deal of our trouble in getting along in this world is due to our natural urge to be aggressive. We are born with a strong desire to have our own way and control other people. This desire is not sinful. It is natural.

But sometimes parents feel that this urge should be checked early in children. Otherwise, they ask, how will children learn to get along with other people?

Cannot Be Stopped

These parents do not know that strong natural urges cannot be stopped. They can be blocked and driven underground. But we cannot weed out a strong natural desire as easily as we pull up a plant in our garden. The roots of natural desires grow too deep in our consciousness.

If we block a child's urge to be aggressive, we may drive his feelings underground—we may make him into what we call a "good" child; but we cannot kill his desire to show temper, or say what he thinks, or to fight back. His resentment and hostility may be stored up for many years. He may seem to forget all about his childhood feelings, yet they often come out again later in life, as some kind of unhappy behavior.

Married Couple

A certain young married woman is an example of what may happen. She and her husband were at daggers' points. "No matter what he suggests," she said, "I want to do the opposite. I don't know why I am so contrary, but I just can't help it. And I deliberately say things to hurt him in spite of the fact that I love him."

Her hostility was out in the open at last. For 20 years she had been over-controlled by very strict parents. They had never allowed her to express her true inner feelings. They expected her to be a "dutiful" daughter. All of her resentment and hurt had been forced underground.

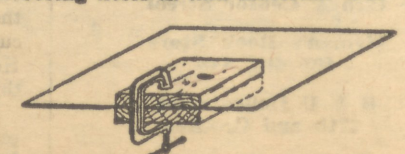

Childhood

Now she could have power over someone. Her childhood hostility, which she supposedly had forgotten, had come to the surface. It forced her to "get even" with her parents by attacking someone else in turn. Unfortunately that person was her husband. Such a young woman may find help in a counseling service or in going to a psychiatrist.

Boring Thin Material

AMERICAN BUILDER, leading magazine for builders, recently disclosed a fool-proof method of boring holes in thin material. Simply place a block of wood on each side, holding the blocks together with a "C" clamp and then boring through the blocks. This method provides a clean, smooth cut with no ravel or splinters.

Snowman Pie . . . Gay and Delicious

AZURE SKYS, SPARKLING SNOW, mitted children happily building a handsome snowman; it's a traditional scene familiar to every American whatever his native clime. So all will recognize this Snowman Pie, though it requires no wintry weather to make—only a bowl of snowy whipped cream and, for background, a crisp-crust pie, its light-textured filling rich with the deep-down flavor of unsweetened chocolate.

SNOWMAN PIE

- | | |
|---|--|
| 1 envelope (1 tablespoon) un-flavored gelatin | 3 squares unsweetened chocolate |
| $\frac{3}{4}$ cup sugar | 1 cup chilled evaporated milk, whipped |
| $\frac{1}{8}$ teaspoon salt | 1 teaspoon vanilla |
| 1 egg yolk, slightly beaten | 1 baked 9-inch pie shell, cooled |
| $\frac{1}{4}$ cup milk | Sweetened whipped cream |

Mix gelatin, sugar, and salt in top of double boiler. Blend in egg yolk and milk. Add chocolate. Cook and stir over boiling water until chocolate is melted. Remove from heat. Beat with egg beater until well blended. Chill until thickened. Fold in whipped evaporated milk and vanilla. Fill into baked pie shell. Chill. Decorate with whipped cream in snowman design.

Two days away from 1961—a new year untouched and unblemished by human experience. May all of you have a happy 365 days ahead in the second year of this decade. At this time most of us pause for reflection—look back over the all but faded into the past and look ahead and think on what we would like to accomplish in the future. Many of us can truthfully say that this year was unmarred by grief, tragedy or personal catastrophic events beyond our control. There also are many who can lay no claim to such a happy statement.

Iowans are still being treated royally by Old Man Winter. Every few days he blows a few bone chilling puffs at us but must be holding back with all his strength, the deep, leep snows, or perhaps he got a little mixed up last year and gave us this year's portion then? Christmas however was made to order for the youngsters . . . white and Christ-mas looking. The school holiday began with a bang with ice skating inks opening just in time for youngsters to try out those laid-away or new skates.

On 10th street in our neighborhood there was special reasons for joy as the long holiday weekend got underway. In the Alvin Simon family next door at 1227 their four children had reasons to jump with joy as their mother, (Darlene) arrived from the Iowa Methodist hospital about Friday noon after spending two weeks in the hospital after undergoing surgery. Mrs. Simon had gone into the hospital the same day her oldest daughter, Dawn, was crowned the 1960 Princess of Christmas at Willkie House. She had been unable to attend the annual Doll show sponsored by the Parliamentary Law and Culture Club.

In fact Mrs. Simon arrived home just as we were going out the door to go and get our oldest son, Victor, who will be 9 years Jan. 3, from Iowa Lutheran hospital. He could hardly contain his excitement about getting home to see his younger brother and two sisters, whom he said he "had almost forgot how they looked," to see the Christmas tree and how the house was decorated, which this year he unfortunately was unable to participate in.

Earlier that same morning little Joanne McKeehan a kindergarten classmate and playmate of our five-year-old daughter, Venita, had fallen down the basement stairs of her home at 1212 and was taken to Broadlawn Polk County hospital with a broken collar bone. A cast was placed on it and she was returned home.

Down the street at 1234 at the apartment home of Mr. and Mrs. Morton Graves, Jr., and son, (at the same time) were preparing for a motor trip to Booneville, Mo. where they visited with Mrs. Graves' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Garland Hill.

They were the houseguests of a brother, Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Hill. The Graves were accompanied by Miss Ann Wright of 1302 E. 15th street, who went as far as Buncion, Mo., to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Wright and sisters for Christmas.

Meanwhile, the day after Christmas, new neighbors moved into the home across the street from us at 1224.

DUBIOUS BRIDE, 88

Hinesville, Ga.—Van Ward, aged 91, a pioneer resident of the Riceboro community, last week rode a bicycle 15 miles from his home to Hinesville for a blood test and a marriage certificate. His prospective bride, Mrs. Maggie Brown, 88 years old, had her blood test at her home, after a loud protest about the piercing needle.

Ward, a widower of a year, said he once rode his bicycle to Savannah, a distance of 37 miles, to see his hospitalized wife and that trip took him 36 hours. But all ended happily for Ward and his new bride. They were married at Cross Roads Baptist church and plan to move into his cottage on U. S. Highway 17. The bride's comment after the wedding: "It's all your fault I'm in this mess."

This delightful picture had to be timed to the split-second. In a movie you'd catch the whole story.

Every Family Needs Its Own Cinematographer

Yes, every family not only needs its own cinematographer, but every member of the family ought to be one. It is an impressive title, but really just means one who takes pictures with a movie camera.

There's no better way to keep a record of family life than in full color home movies that reproduce all of the brilliance and motion of the activity or scene that caused you to want to take pictures.

We're especially excited about home movie-making for all members of the family since we heard about a new camera that came on the market just a few weeks ago. It's the movie version of the familiar fixed focus or box still camera (except that it has a better lens) and it is priced at under $30. Not much under, just a little.

Made by a well-known manufacturer, it's practically foolproof, it's so easy to use.

With this camera you make one simple setting of the lens, wind the motor, and shoot. And, there's a guide on the front to tell you which setting to use, according to the way the weather is.

Birthdays, weddings, graduations, holidays, and all the little every day things that are the material from which happy memories are made—will be kept fresh, colorful, and full of action in your movie films.

Fancy Salmon Sauce on Rice

Red pimientos and sweet pickle relish are the flavor boosters in this salmon main dish. The quickly made salmon sauce looks so tasty over tender white rice. The hard-cooked egg garnish is an easy trick, and with colorful paprika you have a magnificent main dish beautiful enough for a real fancy meal.

INGREDIENTS:

- 2 hard-cooked eggs
- 2 cups water
- 1 cup uncooked white rice
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1, 1 lb. can salmon, flaked
- Milk
- 1, 10 1/2 oz. can condensed cream of mushroom soup
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon black pepper
- 2 tablespoons chopped whole canned pimientos
- 2 tablespoons sweet pickle relish
- Paprika

METHOD: Put the eggs on to cook. After eggs are hard-cooked, cool quickly in cold running water.

Put the water, rice and 1 teaspoon salt in a 2-quart saucepan. Bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat down low. Cover with a lid and simmer over this low heat 14 minutes. Remove the saucepan from the heat but leave the lid on 10 minutes. Drain the salmon juice into a measuring cup. Add milk to make 1/2 cup liquid.

Put the mushroom soup in a 2-quart saucepan. Stir in the milk mixture, 1/2 teaspoon salt, pepper, pimientos, pickle relish and the salmon. Place over a low heat until very hot. Stir occasionally. Separate the hard-cooked egg yolks from the whites. Cut the whites into thin pieces.

Just before serving, mound the rice around the edge of a large platter. Spoon the salmon sauce into the center and over some of the rice. Press the egg yolk through a strainer and cover the center of the salmon sauce with the sieved egg yolks. Sprinkle some paprika on the egg yolks and the white rice. Place the egg whites around the edge of the salmon sauce. Serve immediately. This recipe makes 8 servings.

A 'COOL FOX,' MAN!

Penrith, England—A hunter last week said a fox deliberately lured his pursuing pack of hounds onto a railroad line, where a train ran over them all. The fox got away. The master of the Cumberland hounds, John Cowan, said he saw his pack mowed down while in full cry by a diesel train. "I am sure the fox deliberately lured them to their doom," Cowan said.

LOW COST HOUSING PROPOSAL NEEDS STRONG LEGISLATURE SUPPORT

The fifty-ninth session of the Iowa legislature convenes January 9. Besides appropriations to run the government and taxes, some important problems will come up for consideration.

Probably, first of these is reapportionment. This issue has come up in earlier sessions only to be killed because city and urban areas could not agree on a formula. There has been a big shift in population in recent years. It will continue as less people are needed to produce the needed crops; as farm operations continue to get bigger and bigger.

It is hoped that a formula is agreed upon which will give population a greater voice in running the government and at the same time be equitable to the sparsely occupied areas. And in doing so, it is hoped that districts which gain more representatives will be cut into areas so as not to elect all members at large.

Des Moines is interested in several proposals among which are regulation of key clubs and an enabling act which would permit low cost federal housing project—a program which Iowa cities have needed for a long time. In fact, the state is far behind in this program which has provided other states a means of clearing slums and building homes partly subsidized thus enabling low income people to enjoy modern living quarters at a price they can pay.

The Des Moines city council seems to have gotten off with a bad start. It has not incurred the good will of legislators from Polk County; it has placed undue emphasis on regulating key clubs which has raised serious objections from some legislators representing other areas.

This is a mistake. Certainly, if low cost housing legislation is successful it must have the support of other cities. And if Des Moines expects to get important proposals like housing, it cannot afford to antagonize those cities which have little interest in the proposal.

Even though the key clubs are difficult to handle, Des Moines can take care of the situation itself without jeopardizing one which the legislature only can authorize. And certainly low cost federally financed housing is needed because Des Moines cannot accomplish the job adequately without it.

WHERE DO WE STAND?

One day, the Pope and head of the church of England got together for mutual consultation; another day opposing religious bodies held up services at Bethlehem on Christmas day because they can't agree on who shall stand where. Conflicts in Laos, the Congo, China and a general strike against the government in Belgium go on. Countries to the south of us are in turmoil, all of which make 1960 a year of upheaval and dissatisfaction. In America, the question of equality for all of its citizens produces sit-downs, sit-ins and mob violence all because those in authority have not done for the people those things which the law promises.

And with the constant threat of communism the world over, the question arises whether advances in science and education have produced for the world over a better life with peace or whether those same weapons are producing the opposite results the people hope for.

With the passing of 1960, maybe 1961 will usher in a new era—one during which people and nations can live together in peace and a will follow the golden rule. Things just can't go on as they are and avoid armed conflict, which may spread out of hand and destroy civilization.

IT HURTS SOME TO SEE OTHERS RISE

The justice department has lost its first round in its effort to block the wholesale dispossession of 400 Negro farmers in Tennessee who dared register and vote in the recent election.

Of course, the adverse ruling is not the end of the litigation as too much is involved in the controversy. Here, citizens, who seek to exercise their constitutional privilege, are harassed and intimidated, fired from jobs and denied an opportunity to earn a living. This is tyranny of the worst sort.

Here is a perfect example where Negroes and whites get along amicably as long as the former remains a docile, menial citizen. But just as soon as he attempts to do the same things as the latter calling for a higher degree of citizenship as the whites enjoy, trouble starts.

These landowners and merchants don't seem to realize or care that their uncivilized conduct hurts others than themselves.

Looking back

The first impression of 1960 we really got was the surprising number of Negroes playing leading roles on their college basketball teams. There wasn't a really good Negro boy on the local high school cage teams but there were plenty of wrestlers. Never thought we would see so many boys wrestling in the Moines high school teams. The Bowl games had their share of thrills including the flareup in the Cotton Bowl which lasted about two months. Thanks to the press.

Rose Bowl

We can still see Washington running over, through and around Wisconsin in the Rose Bowl. Among the other events we waited for the cage duels between Wilt Chamberlain and Bill Russell. Chamberlain replaced Russell on just about all of the all-Star teams although they both would have made the team nearly all Negro and that just would not have done.

Sugar Ray

Watched Sugar Robinson's leathargic defense of his portion of the middleweight boxing crown and thought he ought to quit. Was just as wild eyed as anybody else when Floyd Patterson regained his heavyweight fist fighting title. Walked around and took a few camera shots at the Drake Relays. Reflected that those afternoons are getting longer. Thrilled and sometimes a bit disappointed as our Negro athletes reached heights in the Olympics and then at times fell flat on their faces. But, as a whole, they really kept America in the running.

Hilltop Tennis

Glad to be a part of the best Hilltop open tournament ever, and also glad that the other bunch has finally taken off the kid gloves and is really out to swallow our meet. We have argued that for years, and now maybe someone will believe us. Esther Myers fine showing in all the meets earned her a high rating in the state and certainly first ranking locally. She deserved to become president of the Hilltop club and we think she will make a good one.

Never saw so many Negroes in college football, all the good teams, Northern that is, had more than one. Iowa had a half dozen, so did Purdue.

East Waterloo

Oh yes, while we think of it we must mention the nearly all Negro cage team from East Waterloo that would have probably won the state high school meet if their key player hadn't got hurt.

Then we watched Old Man Ray Robinson give Gene Fullmer a boxing lesson only to have the thing called a draw. In basketball the Negro schools really ranked among the top and a couple of them got top billing among the small college football polls.

The years went by pretty fast, and we may have missed a few things, but then it was a great year and we are a year older.

Wilbert McClure Named Toledo's Athlete of Year

Toledo, Ohio—Wilbert McClure, who brought Toledo its first gold medal from the Olympics, has been acclaimed Toledo's athlete of the year, marking the first time that the same athlete has won the honor twice.

The 21-year-old University of Toledo senior previously won the distinction in 1958.

All Major Title

He was signaled this year for his effort in winning the 156-pound title in the Olympics in Rome last summer. Winner of every major title, McClure was named the "outstanding fighter in the nation" by the Amateur Athletic Union before the Olympics.

An English major, McClure, who will be graduated in June, speaks French and Spanish fluently and served as an interpreter at the Pan-American games in Chicago in 1959.

The much-honored McClure received a $500 check and a new car from Toledo citizens upon his return from Rome last September.

Judge 'Duke' Slater Named To Football Hall of Fame

Los Angeles, Cal.—Fred (Duke) Slater has remained one of the Iowa tackle and All-American football great became the second Iowan to be named to the Helms Hall College Football Hall of Fame. He was among 20 players and nine coaches named last Thursday.

Slater, now holding the highest jurist post for a member of his race in Chicago, was a member of the Hawkeye teams between 1919-21.

Since going to Chicago Judge Slater has remained one of the Hawkeye staunchest fans and rarely misses a home game of the team.

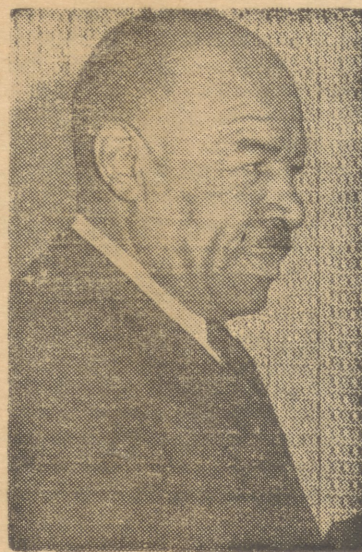

BEGINNER'S LUCK

Venice, Calif.—William Wayne Nelson, 20, told his landlady last week he didn't know how to swim but was learning by himself in the apartment house pool.

A passerby later found him in the deep end, drowned.

We hail thee, 1961
With many resolutions
Though conscience still needles us
For 60s circumlutions.

We hesitate, equivocate
And rashly dash headlong:
Into a new unknown estate,
As though to right, a wrong.
Could be, if we; could cautious be
We'd have a lot more fun:
An ride a smoother, better road
Through nineteen-sixty-one.

NEW YEAR

At midnight, when we pause and pray
And rise; to hail the new-born day:
The errors of our painful past
Flash swiftly by, day dawns at last.
This day, that brings a clean new year

Unswilled, pure; made to reverse:
And build upon, we who are free
To lead the way, to liberty.

Laugh Lines

Patricia age six was watching her mother smooth cold cream on her face and asked, "What's that for Mother?"

Mother answered, "Why this is to make me beautiful."

After the cold cream had been removed with tissues, Patricia sadly remarked, "Didn't work did it?"

Floyd Patterson And Joe Walcott Win Ring Awards

New York—For a record equalling second time, heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson has been named "fighter of the year" by the Boxing Writers' Association.

He was cited along with former champion Jersey Joe Walcott, who received a special award at the writers luncheon here. Others receiving special awards were Dan Florio, Floyd's trainer Humbert (Jack) Fugazy, veteran promoter of Feature Sports, Inc., and Melvin L. FLAMING NIGHTGOWN

Memphis, Tenn.—An 8-year-old girl, Juanita Jenkins, of 1955 Benford, suffered second degree burns about the chest last week when her nightgown was ignited by a bathroom heater. Her father, Carl Jenkins, suffered burns to his hands in tearing the flaming gown off the child. They were treated at John Gaston hospital.

To Our Readers

News from out-of-town correspondents should reach the Bystander no later than Wednesday morning. If you can possibly get your news in earlier the staff would greatly appreciate it.

Wilma won the 100 and 200 meter events and successfully anchored the 400 meter relay race for the United States team at the Olympics in Rome last summer.

trol workers agreed, is to find and give adequate treatment to all active cases of the disease. A mammoth task! There are an estimated 10,000 active cases which are at present unknown to health authorities.

What's Been Done

Here's a sample of what's been done so far:

Kansas—People registered at the health department as having inactive TB are being re-examined to find out if they have developed active disease.

Kentucky—A mobile clinic has been established in an area covering 30 counties where TB case rates are high, and extra outpatient clinics will be opened to give more adequate treatment.

North Carolina—Outpatient clinics are being increased.

Nevada—More intensive tuberculin testing and drug treatment are being given in the baby clinics.

Ohio—The State Health Department has recommended that all known cases of TB should be followed up for a minimum of five years.

Cooperation

To achieve this much has demanded close cooperation in organization and planning by TB control workers in TB associations, state health departments, medical societies, hospitals. These are just the first steps in a tremendous all-embracing program. The big push for TB eradication is under way!
