Refuse African Youth; Defense Atty. Attacks NAACP in Waterloo

Waterloo—Everett Joseph Martin, a Waterloo tavern operator, Thursday, Mar. 16 was found guilty of denying civil rights to an African student. A municipal court jury of five women and one man returned the guilty verdict at 11:35 a.m., after an hour and seven minutes of deliberation. Martin was fined $30.

Martin, of 224½ E. 4th St., operates the Lafayette Tap, 611 Lafayette St., where on Feb. 26 he allegedly refused to serve Shakib Shiek, 26, an Iowa State Teachers College student, and the African's girl friend, Doris Marie Jager, 18, of 436 Cherry St.

The jury spent most of Wednesday hearing testimony from Shiek and four other witnesses.

Shiek's Story

The tall African said he went to Martin's tavern for a drink of pop in order to pass the time after he and a girl companion found that the movie theater they planned to attend was filled.

Shiek testified that he and Doris Jager, 18, 436 Cherry St., had no intention of ordering beer at the tavern. He said he is a Moslem, and that his religion forbids drinking. Shiek said he and Miss Jager sat in the tavern for about 15 minutes without SEE PAGE TWO

Jim Crow Seats Planned For Atlanta Address by Sec. Rusk, State Department Told

New York—The NAACP has requested the Department of State to require the Atlanta Bar Association to "give public assurance" there will be no segregated seating when Secretary of State Dean Rusk addresses the lawyers' group there on April 20.

Disturbed

In a letter to Secretary Rusk, March 21, NAACP Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins said he found on an Atlanta visit that the Negro community and a "surprising number of white citizens" were disturbed over the "persistent report that your address . . . before the Atlanta Bar Association will be to a segregated audience."

Wilkins noted that the Atlanta

Brown, Once Sang with Wings Over Jordan Choir, Returns with Cuban Bride

By Frances E. Hawthorne
Residents and friends in Des Moines who remember Ronell C. Brown recall him as a young man with a much better than average singing (bass) voice, who, several times, went on tour with the famed Wings Over Jordan choir, and who later directed his own singing group in the city.

Naval Postal Clerk

Brown, a postal clerk in the navy is in Des Moines after a 19 months stint of service in the navy postal financial center on Guantanamo (GITMO) bay in Cuba. He and his bride of five months, the former Eligia Gualarte, left Cuba Feb. 21, and arrived in New York Feb. 28. They arrived in Des Moines Mar. 1 and are spending a 30-day leave visiting Brown's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl A. Bundy of 1315 Ascension street and other relatives and friends.

First Met Wife

Brown recalls that he met his wife when she worked as a domestic for the commanding officer on the base, three weeks after he began service at GITMO. Mrs. Brown speaks very little English and all questions put to her were answered by her husband. She speaks fluent Spanish. The few English words she speaks are surprisingly correct with little or no accent. Mrs. Brown, a pretty brunette with long dark hair and dark eyes, was born and reared in Cuba and left behind her father, four sisters and four brothers. Her mother is dead.

Not Allowed Off Base

Brown also confirmed newspaper reports that GITMO is surrounded completely by a very high fence, topped by barbed wire. GITMO covers 40 miles in area, and men serving on the base are never allowed off the base.

To Norfolk

When his leave ends, Brown will go to Norfolk, Va., where he will board the U.S.S. Newport News, a cruiser, for a Mediterranean cruise. His wife will remain in Des Moines with his parents for a while until he gets settled in Norfolk, then she will join him there. Eager to learn the native language of her husband's country, Mrs. Brown has already begun English lessons under the tutelage of William Mason.

Former Singer

Brown is well known in Des Moines, especially among the membership of Corinthian Baptist church. Shortly after quitting North high SEE PAGE FIVE

Leg Nearly Severed in Booby-Trap Shotgun Blast At National Cleaners

By Frances E. Hawthorne

The wayward steps of a 15-year-old boy have led him to the brink of death. In the words of a juvenile probation officer . . . "he was just a typical boy who did not get along in the community . . . at home . . . or in school . . . just a 'typical' boy, named Lawrence Jacobs."

The wayward steps of the 15-year-old youth go back a number of years, racking up a sizeable juvenile record . . . petty theft, trouble in school, running with the wrong crowd and other infraction of society's rules and laws.

Shotgun Booby Trap

Late Sunday evening the wayward steps of Lawrence Jacobs led him to National Cleaners and Dryers at 1150 Keosauqua Way where he 'illegally' succeeded in opening a side door. As he stepped inside his leg touched a fine wire, followed almost instantaneously by an ear-splitting shotgun blast at close range, which almost severed Lawrence's right leg. With superhuman effort he managed to crawl outside. Still he might have died from loss of blood, but minutes later he was discovered by another youth his same age, Stephen James, of 811½ 7th Street, who was going home from a dance at a nearby youth center.

Phoned Police

The James youth phoned police bers. charge and degrees to the new member. Patrolman Robert N. Albright was sent to the cleaning shop, where he rushed the injured boy to Broadlawn hospital. Soon after the arrival the boy confessed to making up the story about falling off a building because the Jacob youth was on parole from the state training school for boys.

Heart Stopped

X-rays of the boy's leg revealed shotgun pellets were imbedded in the flesh. The information was relayed to police, who had returned to the scene of the incident. Lawrence was wheeled into surgery. While his SEE PAGE TWO

Patterson Wins Integration Battle in Miami Fight Arena

Miami, Fla.—Regardless of statements to the contrary, Floyd Patterson was a real champion when he successfully defended his title against Ingemar Johansson of Sweden in Convention Hall Auditorium here (March 13).

He was of championship calibre inside and outside the ring.

Not 8

There are those who argue that Patterson wasn't sharp against Johansson, and admitted he had an off night. So what! Even the former heavyweight champion Joe Louis, fisticuff's greatest and most sensational fighter, had off nights.

But few can deny that in getting off the deck two times to knock Johansson into defeat in six rounds Patterson didn't show fire, determination and the heart of a true champion. He showed gameness under fire and proved he could strike back with devastating fury when hurt.

Wins Battle For Tan Americans

Outside the ring, Patterson, literally speaking, proved to be a champion also. Whereas inside the ring he was forced to rise from the seat of his pants to win, outside he made it possible for Negroes among the retary of the NAACP, announced this week.

The Medal is awarded annually to a Negro American for distinguished achievement. It is not a medal for civil rights achievement exclusively, although extraordinary achievement in the civil rights field is considered by the committee.

Fields

The Medal has been awarded for distinguished achievement in such fields as the arts, science, education, business and religion. Medalists include: Langston Hughes, poet-author, Marian Anderson, Carl Murphy, Mrs. Daisy Bates and the Little Rock Nine, Jackie Robinson, Dr. Ralph Bunche, Architect Paul Williams and Chemist Percy Julian.

Nominations for the Spingarn Medal should be sent, before April 15, to the Spingarn Medal Award Committee, NAACP, 20 West 40th Street, New York 18, N. Y.

15,000-plus ringsiders to sit down with dignity interracially without having to get up and "give up" their seats to white bigots. And this at a fight in a deep South state which has long followed a pattern of segregating Negroes and whites.

Interracial Justice

So, in a sense, Patterson won a great battle for interracial justice for people all over the world, and Negro Americans in particular. How did he do this?

First of all the champion from Brooklyn, N. Y., insisted upon a contract providing for seating on a non-segregated basis. But he didn't let it rest at that. He spotlighted the whole issue by also including a clause providing for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored SEE PAGE SIX

Negro Newspapers Honor 1961 Russwurm Winners

Named for Efforts In Human Relations

Louisville, Ky.—As the nation paid tribute to the appearance of the first Negro newspaper in the United States, the Public Affairs Committee of the National Newspaper Publishers Association announced from the office of its Chairman, Frank L. Stanley, 10 Russwurm Awards had been made in memory of the founder of Freedom's Journal, first published at New York City on March 16, 1827.

Joint

According to Stanley, editor-publisher, The Louisville Defender, NNPA considers the recipients of its awards as being the persons having made the most outstanding contributions to race relations during 1960. Seven persons in the group were cited individually, while the Governor and Lt. Governor of Kentucky, four youthful sit-inners and two students at the University of Georgia received joint honors. Seven of the 15 honorees are either teenagers or young adults.

Florida Governor

Former Florida Governor, Leroy Collins, National Association of Broadcasters, Washington, D. C., was cited for his forthright action with respect to use of public lunch-eon facilities and his appointment of an effective bi-racial Florida Committee which gave positive exploration to the delicate problem. Four North Carolina A&I College students—Ezell Blair, Jr., Franklin McCain, Joseph McNeill and David Richmond received recognition for having initiated the student sit-ins.

Merit System

Governor Bert Combs shares honors with his Lt. Governor Wilson Wyatt, Kentucky, for their leadership in the enactment of laws establishing a merit system in state government and the establishment of the first State Human Rights Commission with paid staff, operating funds at Capitol building office facilities. Lester B. Granger, retiring executive head of the National Urban League, made the Russwurm roll call in recognition of his untiring and devoted leadership in the nationwide social welfare agency.

2 Georgia U

Atlanta youths, Charlayne Hunter and Hamilton Holmes, first Negro students to enroll at the University of Georgia, were named for their un-reproachable conduct and courage in facing unanticipated situations at the 175-year-old Athens institution. The Hunter-Holmes incident led to the abolishment of a Georgia legislative proviso which permitted the state's governor to withhold state funds

Journalism

Andrew T. Hatcher, White House Associate press secretary and former San Francisco newspaperman, received NNPA nod in tribute to his scholarly approach to journalism in a notable career marked by modesty but effective work which led to a top post in the Kennedy-Administration family. Mrs. Mary Louise Hooper, also of San Francisco, is listed in the awards group for her work in behalf of the advancement of the welfare of native Africans principally in South Africa and more recently in other areas of the continent. Mrs. Hooper is associated with the African Defense and Aid Fund of the American Committee on Africa.

Legal Encounters

Dr. James Nabrit, president, Howard University, joined honorees' list for his long-time, "behind-the-scenes" support and guidance in a series of legal encounters on the civil rights front. Over the period of two decades, the former Howard University School of Law dean has given scholarly and wise legal advice to associates and former students in their civil rights cases.

Labor

Labor leader A. Philip Randolph, a veteran of social action, received honor for his courage to encounter with labor movement powers and as prime mover in the founding of the American Negro Labor Council—an instrument to assure fuller participation for all workers in the labor arena.

Sports

Three-Gold-Medal winner, Miss Wilma Rudolph, the Tennessee flash, from Tennessee A&I University, and undoubtedly the world's fastest woman, is named to the honor roll in support of her exploits at the 1960 Rome Olympics. "Miss Rudolph," notes Mr. Stanley, "might well appear at the top of our Russwurm Honor Roll, but for the fact that NNPA feels that in their own right each of its honorees deserves top listing for contributions to racial progress in 1960."

Wednesday he lay in the hospital, too sick to talk to anyone, still on the critical list, a portion of his leg amputated, a hold order for Polk County Juvenile court on his door. A breaking and entering charge was against him. This was where his wayward steps had led.

Home Life

His steps have led past the jurisdiction of the juvenile court, says a probation officer who has handled his case at least three times since he was assigned in Polk County. Once the judge sends you to Eldora it is up to the parole officers. There were other times with the officer who preceded him, Lawrence lived with his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Jacobs, Sr., of 1038 10th Street. He was the third child of two sisters and a brother. His last school was Washington Irving Junior High. He would have been in senior high, if he had applied himself. The probation officer who last worked with him said he had above normal intelligence, but he never applied himself, due to bad influence both inside and outside the home.

Hidden Gun

During investigation at the cleaning establishment, Glen E. Pederson, 2724 44th Street, owner, admitted to detectives that he sawed off a piece of 2x4 door frame into which an old shotgun was discharged, after 2x4 door frame. Blood around the doorway had been scrubbed away. Its trigger had been pulled by the breaking of the fine wire. Pederson was "evasive" about who set up the booby trap, but an employee, Harold Weatherwax, who stayed in the rear of the cleaning shop told detectives that Pederson had rigged the device, nightly for several months, and had reminded him "every couple of nights" to avoid the doorway across which the gun was aimed.

out being served, then were refused when they approached Martin. Shiek said Martin told him he was watching television and told them to go away.

Called NAACP

Shiek said that after the incident, he called officials of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to report it. He said he and Miss Jager then went back to the theater where a policeman and a member of the NAACP came to take them to the police station for questioning. Shiek displayed some difficulty with the English language.

Miss Jager

The girl friend, Miss Jager, was a witness. She said that she and Shiek went to the tavern owned by Martin to buy pop after they found that a movie theater they planned to attend was filled.

Martin, 55, denied that he refused service to Shiek and Miss Jager. He also denied having asked the couple to leave the tavern. Martin said he only told Shiek to sit down again in his booth, and he, Martin, would talk with him later.

Martin said Shiek had approached him at the bar, raised two fingers, and asked for two beers.

NAACP

Attorney Upton Kepford, representing Martin, and Assistant County Attorney John Beekman exchanged blasts in their closing arguments concerning the part played in the incident by the Waterloo chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored ePeople.

"This gentleman was used," said Kepford of Shiek.

"He came to this country and to this area as a guest and was almost immediately told by the NAACP that if he was discriminated against he should get in touch with the organization."

"As far as this action is concerned," continued Kepford, "what does Shiek stand to gain? But if there is a person or group of persons making our country look bad, then this is a ready made situation for them to exploit the discrimination issue."

Not Pushed

Kepford referred to the court action as "Much ado about nothing."

Beekman said the county attorney's office was not "pushed" into filing the charges against Martin. "Shiek and his girl friend were wronged, and they took their complaint through the proper channels," Beekman said. "The NAACP did not push the county attorney's office into this."

Taught Italian

Shiek, who is from Somalia, East Africa, spent four years in Florence, Italy and worked for the government for a while and taught Italian. He was assistant principal of a elementary school for two years prior to coming to Waterloo. Shiek stated to Mrs. Betty Hackett who covered the trial "I came to America to experience the education system here in order to help in the development of my government."

A number of white students from ISTC came to witness the trial and show their sympathy. A number of lawyers, real estate men, and business men also showed unusual interest in the outcome of the trial.

A chat with the judges indicates that the readers are not mailing in all of the coupons to support their news-carriers. If you readers could see the excitement among the carriers, you'd surely be more co-operative in seeing that each carrier is represented in the contest. You subscribers are also eligible to vote in the contest. When you think of some of our carriers who sell 60 papers a week and have not received open one vote as far as coupons are concerned, it is pretty heart-breaking. School Problem

There is a serious problem arising among junior high school students. Knives are being carried to school, fights with scissors, pencils, keys occur after school; gangs of girls and boys are being formed and fights result to decide the most powerful gang, property is infringed upon, stores and restaurants are the victims of mass shop-lifting and general destruction of property—all of which tends to reflect on our race as a whole. It is time for the parents of our community to wake up and check on their youngsters and their activities. Your columnist plans to interview authorities who work with children daily and are trying to solve the problems. In the meantime, parents, why not have a talk with your son or daughter. Only through the co-operation of the parents or guardians can this problem be solved, for the instructors can not follow each student home.

Plan for a Playhouse
A WELL-STYLED playhouse, built in sections and put together on the site, can be dismantled and brought inside until the next outdoors season.

How to build such a playhouse is explained and illustrated by Popular Mechanics in its June, 1956, issue. The walls and roof are made of pre-assembled panel units consisting of a lumber framework that is covered with Masonite 3/16" Tempered Presswood.

Advantages of the Tempered Presswood are its splinter-free qualities which safeguard youngsters, its durability in all kinds of weather, its easy paintability and its economy.

A detailed diagram showing how to build this playhouse may be seen in the magazine, or you may obtain a free copy by writing the Home Service Bureau, Suite 2037, 111 West Washington St., Chicago 2, Ill., and requesting Plan No. AE-313.

Personally Yours by Frances Hawthorne.

Unseasonable warm temperatures Friday and Saturday elicited a rash of spring fever activities in Des Moines and other portions of Iowa. On every street, residents, bare-headed and in shirt sleeves, got out rakes and yard brooms for yard cleanups. Others uncovered roses and bared the rejuvenated, fresh green branches to the March sunshine. The soaring temperatures of weather and residents alike was rudely dashed Sunday evening as predicted rain began to fall making it the wettest March on record in Des Moines.

Some peculiar-thinking culprits in the city who in a prankish or theft-minded attitude also kept Des Moines policemen busy and other residents wondering what had become of throw rugs they had placed on the clothesline to air or dry. Among victims of this sort were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Jaco and family, 150 Lyons street. Mrs. Jaco reported she hung out four shag rugs Saturday and Sunday morning they were gone. The Jacos recently moved from their former home at 1175 12th street.

We were pleasantly surprised with a phone call from Mrs. W. L. Oliver who called to report she was back in Des Moines after a 10-week vacation in Arizona recuperating from illness.

Mrs. Oliver sounded very cheerful and there was a spring to her voice that had been absent for some months. "The vacation was just what the doctor ordered," she said happily.

Mrs. Oliver said she had received the Bystander each week while in Arizona and had kept up with the news in Des Moines and Iowa. She also said one of twin-daughters, Beverly of Cincinnati, Ohio had called Sunday evening to report she would be home to visit her parents over the Easter weekend. She had no word from her other daughter, Barbara, in Detroit, Mich., but she is looking for her also over the weekend.

Before ringing off Mrs. Oliver expressed a very nice compliment, "That husband of yours is quite a newspaper man. He did a real good job when he filled in during emergencies."

Another thoughtful note came from Harriet Scales, reporter for the L. T. Club. She sent the club news in on an Easter card and penned a note to us saying, "Just thought it would be nice to write our club news on the back of an Easter card as this is the Easter season."

We also heard from an old friend via the invention of Alexander Graham Bell. Mrs. Estella Potter of 1751 Maple street called to chat briefly and to give her aunt, Mrs. Goldie Ligon of 701 S.E. 23rd st. court a year's subscription to the Bystander for an Easter gift.

We formerly worked with Mrs. Potter at Lang's Garment Co. We had not seen each other since. She reported that she and her husband, were still doing fine.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Roberson of 828 15th street entertained as weekend guest, Rev. Thelmore Johnson of Waterloo, Ia. During her stay Rev. Mrs. Roberson and Rev. Johnson made a trip to Osceola, Ia., where Rev. Johnson was the recipient of many courtesies. Rev. Johnson also attended the state board meeting upon her return to Des Moines.

Film on Tangiers Planned at North

TANGIER TO ISTANBUL, filmed and narrated by Clifford Kamen, will be presented by the Department of Adult Education of the Des Moines Public Schools at North High School auditorium, Thursday, April 6, at 7:45 P.M.

After an absence of several years, Kamen returns to give us his colorful story of the three gateways to the Mediterranean rarely filmed because of their crucial military nature. The first of these will be THE STRAIT OF GIBRALTAR with Tangier on the southern shore and its fortifications, casbah, and money exchanges followed by the SUEZ CANAL along with the Ismailia and Port Said. The third gateway, THE BOSPHORUS AND DARDANELLES, is highlighted by towering minarets, dark bazaars, medieval castles and the Byzantine walls of Istanbul.

This service is open to the general public. Admission is 60 cents for adults and 25 cents for students through grade 12.

PRESIDENT KENNEDY
DISPLAYS COURAGE

Nowadays, few national organizations hold their meetings in cities where Negro members are not accorded full privileges as other delegates. Some southern cities have been alert to this practice and make known that public facilities will be available without racial discrimination.

So, when the National Civil War Centennial Commission selected Charleston, S. C. as its meeting site in April, they never had in mind that Negroes would be included in some state delegations. In fact, even though the start of the Civil War was about Negroes, the appointing authorities of neither the national or the commissions of many states (and this includes the Iowa commission) had in mind that Negroes should be members of those bodies.

But, some states did include Negroes on their commissions and as plans for the meeting were perfected they ran into the old bogie of "observing local laws and customs" head on. The commission displayed little backhand and, the chairman of the celebration came forward with excuses which impressed the view of nobody who hopes to see racial segregation whipped.

President Kennedy is to be commended for his demand for complete integration of federal participation in the celebration refusing to have his first request to the commission side stepped by old fogey reasoning. In fact, he persisted and got results the second time.

The Bystander insists that most racial difficulties we face can be solved if men in high places stand up and "stay put" for the things that are just and proper; men who refuse to hide behind outmoded "social customs" which have no other purpose other than a handle to "keep Negroes in their place". That old cliché is rapidly passing out. General Grant III, head of the commission, has not been a credit to his illustrious father in this instance.

STUDENTS PRESENT
POOR EXAMPLES

Easter vacation releases thousands of students from colleges, many of whom go home while others go to large cities or gather at resorts. Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., seems to be the gathering place for hundreds of these youngsters from many of our larger and most outstanding schools.

This year, the conduct of these youngsters is ridiculous. Their actions have followed the conduct of mobs drinking beer in public, annoying the public, defying the law to the extent that many have been arrested. Police have been forced to adopt stern measures to bring them under control.

It is difficult to imagine that young college students would resort to such lawlessness in the name of having a good time. Their conduct has not been such as to inspire those coming after them to lead reasonably orderly lives.

We have criticized students in Japan and South America for similar conduct except that their tactics have been against foreign people or countries. Their antics have been branded communist inspired. But be that as it may, foreign students have been little worse than those at home. Their conduct must embarrass their parents; certainly people in the communities where they have carried on their disorderly conduct.

HITTING THE NAACP
BELOW THE BELT

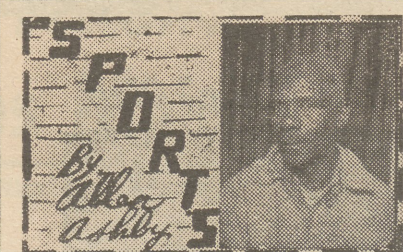

Addressing the jury at the trial of a tavern owner in Waterloo charged with violating the civil rights law, the attorney for the defendant argued that the whole thing was inspired by the NAACP and constituted a timely setting for disturbances going on in Africa today.

Lawyers must have something to argue about when they have no case and often use these tactics to try the absent rather than the defendant in court.

The Bystander does not know the lawyer in question but it suggests that he investigate the herculean job the NAACP has done helping to pull America up to a practical application of its professed principles of democracy. And this job the NAACP raised the money and paid for—a duty which the government should carry out.

The NAACP is not ashamed of its record. And while some people shiver and back away from supporting its program, either because they do not believe in fair play for all or don't have the courage of their convictions to fight for the enforcement laws designed to accord fair play to all American citizens, it goes on un-tarnished with one of the cleanest records ever made by an organization.

Robertson

The basketball season has finally kicked its last. Ohio State labeled by some as the greatest college team of all times finally reached the end of the road in the N.C.A.A. meet. Cincinnati riding a 22 game winning streak made it 23 by dusting the Buckeyes in the final of that meet. Meanwhile, back in Madison Square Garden St. Louis was losing a three-point thriller in the finals of the N.I.T. meet. Two meets, two final-ists argue well for the Missouri Valley cage conference.

We recall last year that we made the observation that perhaps Cincinnati depended too much on Oscar Robertson. They just gave him the ball and that was supposed to be it. Now we see that the Coach and some of the players said just about that.

No one man can make up for team play and hustle. The Bobcats played Ohio State just as they should have been played all season. Let Lucas get his points and try to stop everyone else. Then if one man can outscore your entire team you should lose.

Bill Russell

As for the Buckeyes being the greatest college team of all time, we don't know. That San Francisco team with Bill Russell, K. C. Jones and company was a pretty fair outfit and no college team ever did beat them after Russell's sophomore year.

Drake Relays

But now that is history and all we have left are the pro-play-offs then baseball and track. Here at home we have Tech with a tough team of Taylors aided by Denny Obregon and so far they have really cleaned house. Drake has a great mile relay team, that ought to do all right in the coming Drake Relays. But the United States will have even more troubles in the 1964 Olympics if there are any. This country is full of Jamaicans, Canadians and Australians who are running a our college track teams and becoming outstanding athletes. These guys have to run for their native countries in the Olympics and that means trouble, for our boys. But what can you do? Can't toss 'em out of the country; just try to beat 'em we guess.

Tennessee State

Have to check and see where Tennessee State gets all those fine athletes. State ranks up with the best in the country in basketball, football and track. They are the best in women's track also. Now, if we can get a Negro good enough to make the Davis Cup team; it can happen and might be sooner than you think.

Patterson

People to get $10,000 in the event the promoters welched. They didn't, and integration won a spectacular victory, all because of champion Floyd Patterson.

Converted Doubting Thomases

Thanks to Patterson, the seating at the fight was genuinely integrated. Negroes were spotted freely among the predominantly white audience in all sections of the arena. There were no incidents.

Cautious Souls

In winning the integration battle, Patterson convinced a lot of doubting Thomases and "cautious souls." One scribe of a large northern paper had said he doubted there would be noticeable integration because local Negroes simply could not afford the prices, scaled from $100 (ringside) downward. However, he failed to anticipate the large flow of Negro patrons from the North, South, East and West, well fixed financially, who flocked to Miami Beach for the fight. There were also other local Negroes who saw in the fight an opportunity to join sit down demonstrators of various stripe in fighting segregation. These were the people who mixed so freely in the audience, and whose cheers were most vocal for the champion.

"Brush Up" Week For Fabulous Globetrotters

Chicago, Ill.—It is the final week of the Globetrotters regular season schedule and the last opportunity Owner-coach Abe Saperstein will have to sweep out any of the flaws that may be present in his famous and unbeaten team's court technique.

The day after the regular season ends, Sunday, April 2, Saperstein's dazzling cage magicians play their first game in the annual World Series of Basketball against the College All-Americans at the Chicago Stadium.

Great Performers

The College All-Americans quintet is composed of the nation's greatest college performers. The coast to coast series is one of sports most colorful spectacles and 20 games are staged in as many cities in 20 days of whirlwind travel.

As the time approaches for the Globetrotters to match their skill against the heroes of the nation's college campuses, Saperstein admits he is apprehensive. He knows he must have his club functioning flawlessly when the Series gets underway.

Drive Carefully

Throughout eternity.

The power of creation
The laws that master space,
Direct each act and motion
And put each mote in place.

Our all pervading mentor
In life, in growth, in death;
He monitors creation
From birth to final breath.

Far beyond perception
The Master's at the Helm;
Leading all His children
To the unseen realm.
