Hodges Declares Commerce Dept. Behind President's Firm Stand of No Job Bias

Washington, D. C.—"On March 6, President Kennedy issued Executive Order No. 10925, to ensure that Americans of all colors and beliefs will have equal access to employment within the Government and with those who do business with the government. One week later, I issued a public statement indicating my determination to implement this executive order forthwith," said Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges on equal job opportunity.

"In his statement accompanying the order, President Kennedy declared that this Administration is dedicated to the cause of equal opportunity in employment by the Government or its contractors. I want to make it emphatically clear that this Department of Commerce, so long as I shall be privileged to serve as Secretary, will share that dedication," he said.

Maximum Effort

"President Kennedy has taken action to ensure a maximum effort to assure equal job opportunities. In place of the two separate committees formerly handling government employment and government contracts, the new President's Committee on supervise and co-ordinate both func-

Equal Employment Opportunity will. The Committee will be chaired by the Vice President, and the Secretary of Labor will serve as vice-chairman. Three additional Cabinet members, including the Secretary of Commerce, will be on the Committee," he continued.

Initiate Study

"The President has directed that every department and agency initiate a comprehensive study of current Government employment practices within its jurisdiction. The new committee will soon decree the form of this survey, and work on it must be completed within 60 days.

"Ross Clinchy, formerly the Executive Director of the President's Committee on Government Employment Policy, is now engaged in a very constructive project with the Civil Service Commission. His goal is that of alerting all the colleges of the nation, with special emphasis on those with Negro and other minority students, to the prospects of government employment for persons with a wide variety of skills and professions. The Department of Commerce will cooperate closely in this effort to recruit qualified persons for career service.

Waterloo Columnist Forced To Evacuate Flooded Home

Waterloo, Ia.—While other cities in Iowa enjoyed a bright but chilly Easter day, many residents in Waterloo were victims of this city's worst flood in many years. The Negro area was hardest hit by the swirling, muddy overflow of the rampaging Cedar River.

A letter describing (written on Easter Sunday) the plight of her family and other neighbors driven from their homes by the flood, arrived at the Bystander earlier this week.

Dike Broke

Mrs. Betty Hackett, Waterloo correspondent wrote, "I'm afraid I'll have to stop writing for a week or two. My home was in the flood area. My family and I had to move Wednesday at 3:30 a.m. A dike near us broke suddenly and my basement filled with water in no time at all.

"We had no warning for our area, (which had not been affected by floods since 1929). We had no time to pause . . . just time enough to grab a few of our clothes and a little food.

Temporary Home

"We moved to my uncle's and stayed three days, but it was too crowded, so we're at Mr. Page's home, 810 Dawson st.

"My home is still filled with water, although it's not up to the first floor as it was at first. The front porch was engulfed too but the water has receded there.

"We rented a pump but the water returned as soon as it was pumped out. I have a septic pump but it too is covered with water.

Deep Freeze

"My deep freeze is in the basement and the Iowa Public service men reported that it had turned completely over and the contents were floating around. The motor of the furnace, of course, is also ruined. The oil tank broke, spreading oil throughout the basement and leaving fumes, similar to gas fumes, spreading through the house.

Bystander

"I can't tell you just how sick I am. My typewriter was downstairs in a corner that I had set aside for the Bystander business. All the records, files of papers and everything is buried by water. All I can do is wait until the water recedes and pray that something good can still result from such blackness.

We had such beautiful plans for future columns, but we will have to wait now. I talked to Mrs. Annie Mae Weems today. She just moved home today. She also suffered extensive loss, losing most of her furniture.

The whole thing is very heart-breaking and it certainly makes Easter seem very sad.

Lena Horne Turns Down Play Written Especially For Her

London — American singer, Lena Horne, has turned down a musical version of "Solomon and Sheba," written especially for her by British poet and novelist, Robert Graves.

Miss Horne, appearing in a London night club, said that she liked the play, "But I didn't like the songs Mr. Graves wrote. They were very poetical and all that, but they just weren't for me."

Graves, 67, was elected this year as professor of poetry at Oxford university.

Shotgun Booby Trap Victim Tell Story in Hospital Bed

Lawrence Jacobs, 15-year-old victim of a shotgun booby-trap blast at National Cleaners and Dyers, 1150 Keosauqua Mar. 25, lay in his bed at Broadwms Polk County hospital and told his story to Des Moines Police Detective James P. Thompson.

Beat Death

A state training school parolee, the Jacobs youth, of 1038 10th St., had his right leg nearly severed when he broke into the National Cleaners. Another youth who found him perhaps saved him from bleeding to death when he called police who rushed him to Broadwms. On the operation table his heart stopped beating and the attending physician opened his chest, massaged his heart, until it began beating again.

Thompson said the Jacobs boy told him he had passed the cleaning establishment several times and noticed an open rear window. That fateful Saturday evening he decided to try his "luck" at getting inside. He went up to the window, and noticing a sign, "Beware the Dog," reached inside and shook some hang-

Asks Justice Department To Protect Negro Citizens From Police Dog Terror

Jackson, Miss.—Negro citizens attending an NAACP mass meeting here March 30 learned that the U.S. Justice Department is investigating violence used against them by police.

Clarence Mitchell, director of the Association's Washington Bureau, told the meeting that the Justice Department has been urged "to indicate to Congress whether any additional legislation" is needed to protect Negro Mississippians.

The meeting grew out of the mass clubbing and police dog attack upon an orderly crowd outside the courthouse where nine NAACP college students were tried for attempting to use the "white" library.

Applause

The crowd, numbering about 100, was standing across the street, having overflowed the courtroom, when the students arrived for trial. They applauded when the students appeared. Irritated, the police moved in on the peaceful crowd, dogs biting and blackjacks and clubs swinging.

Local NAACP President Gets Telegram from Wilkins Asking Aid for Mississippi

Shortly after the arrest of nine Tougaloo college (Tougaloo, Miss.) students last Wednesday, Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People

Des Moines NAACP

In a telegram to Atty. James B. Morris, Jr., president of the Des Moines branch, Wilkins said, "Will defend nine Tougaloo students arrested and fined for attempting to use 'white' library; Shock and anger at use of police dogs and clubs on peaceful assembly to witness trial of students Mar. 29 has swept nation . . . Is mobilizing strength to protect people from persecution by police and other authorities.

$10,000 Needed

"Also, a fresh and broad attack on

Secretary Julie Wright, standing nearby, escaped injury.

Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive secretary, called on Gov. Ross Barnett "to provide protection for citizens and particularly for Secretary Evers. His wire said the Jackson police were "attackers rather than protectors."

Attorney Threatened

NAACP Attorney Jack H. Young man as he entered the courthouse to defend the youth. "Where you going, Shortie," demanded the peace officer. When the attorney paused, the peace officer bellowed, "I'll hit you!"

Another officer informed him of Young's identity and the attorney was allowed to enter. The students, from the Association's unit at Tougaloo Southern Christian College, were convicted, fined $100 each and given 30-day suspended sentences.

Pastor Bitten

Meanwhile, outside, the melee raged and Rev. S. L. Whitney, pastor of the Farish Street Baptist Church, the city's largest Negro church, was severely bitten by the dogs, as was Bishop David McPherson.

Persons attending the NAACP rally Thursday evening passed a resolution calling for a withholding of patronage campaign against Jackson's entire downtown shopping district.

Says U.S. Should Cancel Plane Contract Awarded Georgia Jim Crow Plant

New York—Re-examination and possible cancellation of a billion-dollar contract awarded March 13 to the Lockheed Aircraft Corporation at its Marietta, Ga., plant, was urged this week upon Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The Vice President is also chairman of the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity, set up by Executive Order of President Kennedy March 6.

Rigid Segregation

The NAACP charged in its letter to Vice President Johnson that the Marietta plant "is operated on a rigid racially segregated basis" and that practices it says are in effect there "are in direct contravention to the letter and spirit of the President's Executive Order."

Roy Wilkins, NAACP Secretary, wrote that the Marietta plant has all-Negro work sections, with "many categories of employment closed to Negro applicants."

The plant also has separate lines of progression for Negro workers so that their seniority rights "are limited."

TEACH SAFETY BY SETTING A GOOD EXAMPLE

Mary, a teenager, dashed across the street without stopping to look; a little later her younger brother did the same when his ball rolled out into the street.

Is this the way to teach safety habits?

If Mary had stopped and looked before she crossed the street, she would have helped her younger brother to remember to look before going after his ball, and thus would have helped teach him another safety rule.

Imitating

Young members of a family imitate the older members. The older ones are their idols and they follow their examples. If father steps over a board with nails in it, the young child may also. However, if the father upon seeing the nails would pick up the board and remove the nails and point out to the child the dangers involved and reasons for removing the nails, the child would soon learn to watch for such dangers.

No Experiences

Many young children have not had experiences with such things as sharp knives, deep water, and moving machinery to make them aware of the dangers that can be involved. They must be told of these dangers by an older person and taught to handle the situation as soon as they are old enough.

Rules of Safety

Dangers exist both inside and outside the home, and the older members of the household must act as protectors until the young child is able to make decisions for himself.

Without realizing it, the young child is being taught rules of safety. By imitating older brothers and sisters who have been taught in this same manner by the parents, the young child begins his training in safety habits.

ited as to advancement," the letter asserted.

Cafeterias

Cafeterias and rest rooms at the plant are racially segregated, according to the NAACP. It charged also that recreational facilities located on Air Force property adjacent to the aircraft plant are separated along racial lines.

The NAACP list closed with the allegation that the Marietta plant not only has separate time clocks for white and Negro employees, but, to make doubly sure, has different colored time cards for each race.

Proof

Vice President Johnson was reminded that under the Executive Order "the burden is placed clearly upon the contractor to prove non-discriminatory hiring practices as a qualification for obtaining a government contract."

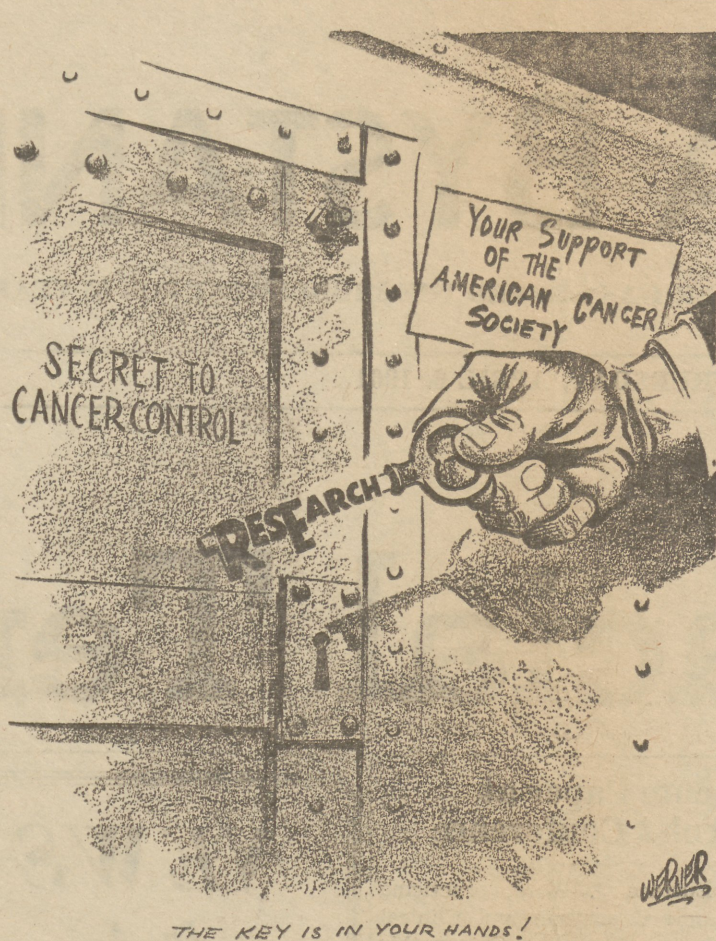

"If the Lockheed Corporation is not able to prove that it is now hiring and operating in a racially non-discriminatory manner, and if it refuses to alter its present policies so as to conform to the specifications of the Executive Order, the contract should be withdrawn," the NAACP letter declared.

Kennedy Years

Wilkins pointed out that the contract extends over at least three-quarters of the Kennedy Administration years and that unless it is re-examined, "the President's Order of March 6, 1961, so far as this major contractor is concerned, will be of no force and effect during practically the life of this Administration."

New York Passes Law On No Discrimination In Private Housing

Albany—The New York legislature last week approved the state's first measure to prevent racial and religious discrimination in private real estate transactions.

The bill, which is assured of approval of Governor Rockefeller, applies to some residential property sales and all transactions involving commercial property.

It cleared the Senate by a 48-to-9 vote after an hour's debate.

No Debate

The Assembly approved it earlier 140-7. There was no debate, as such, in the lower house, although several interrupted the roll-call to voice their opinions.

The measure represents a compromise worked out between Governor Rockefeller and Walter J. Mahoney of Buffalo, the Senate majority leader. Senator Mahoney blocked a similar bill on the final day of the session last year after it had received Assembly approval.

Residential

Residential property covered by the bill includes most multiple dwellings and all housing developments of ten or more houses. Excluded are one- and two-family houses, as well as three-family houses occupied by the owner.

The bill also outlaws discrimination by real estate agents in negotiating sales or leases and in their advertising. It similarly bars racial or religious considerations by financial institutions in arranging loans or mortgages.

That the Plaintiff in said petition asks no personal judgment against any of the Defendants except the Defendants, Harold E. Kistner and Harriett H. Kistner. For further particulars, see petition on file in the Clerk of Court's Office in the District Court of Polk County, Iowa at Des Moines, Iowa.

You are further notified to appear before said Court, at Des Moines, Iowa, in Polk County, Iowa, on or before May 12, 1961, and that unless you so appear, your default will be entered and judgment or decree rendered against you for the relief demanded in the petition.

The playmate, James Franklin Wainwright, 4, of 302 Sanderson, shot an arrow into Robert's eye while they were playing one day last week. Luckily, the end of the arrow was blunt, and doctors at John Gaston hospital say Robert will not lose his vision.

HEALTH FOR ALL

The Story of Annabelle

When Annabelle was told that she had moderately advanced tuberculosis, her attitude was "whatever will be, will be" and she proceeded to live it up in anticipation of an early death. She attended an outpatient clinic, but her way of life was hardly likely to lead to a cure.

No Stranger

TB was no stranger to Annabelle. Her father had died of the disease. So had her brother and sister, and her three-month-old baby. Another of her children, a six year old girl, had a lung removed because of tuberculosis. All of Annabelle's children—seven altogether—were infected with TB germs. All of her companions in the gay life she led either had active TB or were harboring TB germs. Who gave TB to whom is a good question. Chances are that Annabelle caught the disease from her father and passed it on to her children and friends.

Too Advanced

When Annabelle finally entered a TB hospital, her disease was too far advanced for even modern drugs to save her. She died at 35 of excessive bleeding from her lungs.

The sad fact is that Annabelle's death could have been prevented. Had her illness been found when her father died of TB ten years before, treatment would have been successful. Had she followed instructions at the outpatient clinic when her disease was finally found, she might be alive and healthy today.

No Death Sentence

A diagnosis of TB is not a death sentence, as Annabelle mistakenly thought. But it is important to find the disease early and continue treatment until the germs are no longer active.

In North, South, East and West UNCF Launches 18th Annual Appeal

New York — The 18th annual United Negro College Fund opens this week in major cities across the country, Bruce Barton, national campaign chairman, announced here today.

4,000 Volunteers

"It is my privilege to work again this year with 4,000 other volunteers to insure the success of this important project. Thirty-two independent colleges will use this money for practical things—scholarships for talented students, science equipment and better salaries for professors," Barton, who is chairman of the board, Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborn, said. Barton heads the appeal for the third successive year.

The campaign is already underway in Iowa with Joseph Wimberly as co-chairman.

1961 Goal

All UNCF schools are located in the South and all are accredited, privately supported colleges and universities. UNCF's annual appeal raises approximately 10 percent of their combined yearly budgets. The 1961 goal is $2,250,000.

Barton said, "A contribution to the United Negro College Fund is an expression of faith in equal educational opportunity for all young Americans."

Magic Chocolate Sauce Over Pound Cake

THE MAGIC OF SHORT-CUT DESSERTS is a boon to the home-maker on her busiest days, be it laundry day or bridge club day. A quickly made, delicious chocolate sauce poured over a piece of pound cake gives you a dessert for dinner that night which will bring you nothing but compliments. Chocolate is, far and away, the most popular flavor with families so this sauce is bound to become a favorite for ice cream and puddings as well.

It's a quick and easy assignment for the chief cook, when she takes advantage of this magic recipe featuring sweetened condensed milk. Don't confuse this milk with evaporated milk. The difference is that evaporated is milk alone while sweetened condensed is milk with sugar added. This gives you a thick, heavy and rich milk for mixing with chocolate squares and three other ingredients.

MAGIC CHOCOLATE SAUCE

(Makes 2 to 2½ cups)

- | | |
|--------------------------|----------------------|
| 1½ cups (15-oz. can) | ¼ teaspoon salt |
| sweetened condensed milk | ½ to 1 cup hot water |
| 2 squares (2 oz.) | ¼ teaspoon vanilla |
| unsweetened chocolate | extract |

Put sweetened condensed milk, chocolate and salt in top of double boiler. Cook over rapidly boiling water, stirring often, until thick (about 10 minutes). Remove from heat. Slowly stir in water, amount depending on consistency desired. Cool. Stir in vanilla. Serve with ice cream, cake or pudding. (ANS)

From all reports Easter was observed quietly around the city with Easter egg hunts and April Fool's day being enjoyed hilariously, and in some cases, disappointingly, by youngsters from toddlers to near teens. School pupils got an extra holiday and enjoyed it to the fullest, as only the youngsters can. Most residents made their weekly, and in a few instances annual treks to the church of their choice and some returned home to enjoy sons and daughters home from college for the weekend or other relatives and friends visiting from out of town. A few went fishing or went out of town themselves, like delegates of Phi chapter of Delta Sigma Theta sorority who attended the regional conference in Omaha. A few others brave-hearted, ventured something still unusual for this time in the season . . . like my husband who seeking to appease the hungering appetites of his family for barbecued ribs, spent several patient hours over charcoal and outdoor grill, until the barbecued fare was done to a turn.

Meanwhile, at the home of Atty. and Mrs. W. L. Oliver of 5795 N.W. 73rd place their daughters came in to enjoy the Easter weekend with them shared with other friends and relatives.

. . . and at the home of Mrs. Nellie Esters of 1425 Center street she and her daughter, Mrs. Marguerite Cothern noticed the absence of their son and grandson, John Cothern, who did not make it home for the Easter recess. Mrs. Esters said later, "No, he didn't make it home this Easter. He has a car now and works at a job to take care of it. But, he will be home for the summer."

Mrs. Esters and Mrs. Cothern have every reason to be proud of John. He is a senior at the University of Michigan majoring in aeronautical engineering.

Also making it home for the weekend recess was Miss Jean M. Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Johnson of 2407 Garfield ave. She is a second semester junior at Coe college in Cedar Rapids, Ia., which only last week survived what threatened to be the worst flood in history for Iowa's second largest city.

Waterloo was not so fortunate as Cedar Rapids. While Cedar Rapids boasts Iowa's second biggest total population, Waterloo carries the honor of having the second largest total of Negro population in the state. A letter reached the Bystander from Mrs. Betty Hackett, news correspondent for that city. She and many others were among those hard hit by the Waterloo flood. A long distance call reached her at her temporary address Monday morning and she assured the Bystander that she would write and send a later story and additional information. For her story see front page in this issue.

Back to college students a moment. Several weeks ago we were talking to Mrs. Samuel Miller of 1140 14th st., and she told us her eldest son, who is a senior at the State University of Iowa, has taken a year to rest from his studies and plans to return to the campus next year and put in his last and certainly most difficult year of his academic endeavors. Young Miller has wisely taken a step that if taken by others, might save them a lot of worry and mental stress, and enable them to continue studies refreshed instead of plugging on and perhaps being forced to drop out permanently in their last year, from failing grades. To all who have gone to college is a wonderful experience, and certainly is most necessary in these days of stiff competition and need for maximum readiness and preparedness but the learning process, while rewarding, is no romp.

Returning to the city in time to enjoy Easter at home was Mrs. Isabel Dacus of 3110 Bowdoin street. She had spent three weeks in El Paso, Tex., visiting her son. It was her first trip down south and she admitted that she did not know what to expect.

However, she reported that the people impressed her especially with their kindness, courtesy in stores and in the residential sections, especially the integrated neighborhoods. She said her son has white neighbors on both sides of him and their courteous friendliness was "far more than she expected." Added to this was very nice weather all the time she was there.

We would like to pass on a little experience of ours for what good it might do. Perhaps, it might spread a little light on rabies, and animals who might have the disease.

Two weeks ago our oldest son was playing with our usual mild mannered family pet cat as he often does, when, perhaps in a moment of feline fickleness, she turned and broke his skin around the thumb with a long but not too deep scratch. Having had no anti-rabies shot, we were immediately concerned more than a little, wondering if the cat were rabid.

We called the dog pound who informed us to call the city health department; being Saturday the office was closed until Monday. So bright and early Monday we called the city health office who took some details over the phone. Twenty minutes later the truck was out and an official checking if it were a family pet in an available basement, ordered strict on and perhaps being forced to drop out permanently in their last year, from failing grades. To all who have gone to college is a wonderful experience, and certainly is most necessary in these days of stiff competition and need for maximum readiness and preparedness but the learning process, while rewarding, is no romp.

When the two weeks ended the officials returned, this time before the city hardly awoke, asked to see the cat, and okayed it for further stay with the Hawthornes, to the relieved delight of our youngsters.

HOPE FOR A
NEEDED CHANGE

The Des Moines City Council has appointed Robert Mannheim, attorney, a member of the civil service commission. Mannheim is well qualified in every respect to serve and he can do a fine job provided his hands are not completely tied with the tricky system provided by law which enables others than the members of the commission to determine whether an applicant has passed all of his examinations.

Unfortunately, the commission job pays no salary so a member is required to give a lot of time for the honor of serving the public, much too big for a city the size of Des Moines.

Mannheim comes to the commission at a time when the body is in ill repute with a lot of people. It has been in ill repute with Negroes for years because neither it or the city council has taken seriously complaints of unfair dealings. Not that Negroes want to be treated with any more leniency than other groups but they do want what they make. And there is an abundance of evidence that they have not been getting it.

Civil service commissions grew up on the theory that the use of disinterested officials would assure the appointment of employees on merit without regard to outside influence or pressure from within.

When the Bystander, along with many others, supported the city manager plan of government, we were assured that these injustices would be remedied; that we could look for clean government and a better day in the matter of decent recognition of Negroes in city jobs.

Unfortunately, the situation has gotten worse; less Negroes work for the city now than for many years. And although the Human Rights Commission is in operation, the city council and manager have dragged their feet even after numerous protest setting a poor example in supporting the work of its own commission. In fact, neither has given complaints of racial discrimination any attention.

In most towns, particularly in the North and Middle West, Negroes serve on many boards and commissions. Here, Negroes serve on two only: Human Rights and Urban Renewal where the interest of Negroes is much in evidence. Only last week a dozen commission members were appointed by the council but none from the Negro group. Such appointments would help since the city election system makes it most difficult for a Negro to get elected to the council. This is wrong for they are interested in all projects as well as those when their rights are affected.

The Bystander hopes that Bob Mannheim's hands will not be tied as have been the case of others who promised a change for the better and his ideas of good government emeshed in the mud which has mired Negro employment for the city deeper in the mud.

This record of the city council, as far as Negroes are concerned, has not been good in recent years. In fact, the Bystander is disappointed with some of its members. And if it does not change after all the rottenness has been brought to their attention, the Bystander will be found lined up with those opposed to the city manager plan of government because, so far, it has not been responsive to the will of the people generally.

ANYTHING GOES IN MISSISSIPPI

The rising tide of freedom for oppressed people is in evidence everywhere. Since World War II, it has brought independence to many countries in Asia and Africa where the yoke of colonialism has prevailed—much in a less enlightened state where the mother country has chosen to keep the people in ignorance so as to better control them.

In America, many sensible white people, North and South, saw that the Negro could not become a good citizen unless he was educated to the point where he could carry his own responsibility. Great strides have made over the years.

On the other hand, there have been and are those who wished to keep the Negro down and in order to intimidate him from wanting to enjoy his rights of citizenship, stoop to any means to carry their point. This was evidenced for years by wholesale lynchings on any pretext, in the denial of the ballot and equal and unrestricted use of public accommodations paid for by tax money.

Negroes in America have been no exception to this uprising for freedom as evidenced by the many court cases involving their rights won by the NAACP and later the student sit-in campaign in most states which has produced excellent results. Mississippi would have none of it, so not only were picketing students jailed but dogs were set on some who assembled to protest (peacefully) the denial of the use of the public library. Sticks and clubs were used also to drive the group off the street.

Mississippi is rated one of the bad states in the South in its program to keep the Negro down by resorting to the worse tactics to make their point. Surely, the treatment these brave young Negroes received at the hands of those people who say "we know how to best handle the Negro" is not the attitude of the thinking white people in Mississippi but it certainly gives the state a black eye.

And these youngsters, whose parents twenty-five years ago would not dare protest for the enjoyment of their rights with bold action, should be encouraged and helped in every way. What they win helps Negroes all over America. It helps America, period.

Sonny Liston Offered
$125,000 To Fight Johansson

New York—Sonny Liston of Philadelphia was offered $125,000, plus "certain percentages," to fight ex-heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson at Goteborg or Stockholm, Sweden, in September, promoter Edwin Ahlquist announced.

Ahlquist, before flying back to Sweden, said Johansson had told him to go ahead with the negotiations because he was interested in fighting Liston, the No. 1 contender.

Ahlquist said the Liston-Johansson fight, if staged September 10 or 12 in either Goteborg or Stockholm, would draw approximately 60,000 people and that Liston would make approximately $250,000.

He said Joseph Barone of Allentown, Pa., Liston's manager, was interested in the offer.

This may be the year for our local schools to clean up in track. Tech High has got off to a great start. In the Taylor boys (Chuck and Norman) and Denny Obregon, they have a fine group of college prospects. Would be nice if they all went to the same school. Guess everyone who can read knows what the boys did at Iowa City and just about everyone who could get away, went to the meet.

About every 10 years, some guy said Drake comes up with a bunch of good runners. The last time was 1951 when the Bulldogs swept the relays. This year some folks are saying they have a good chance to do it again. Now in between these good years Drake has had some pretty fair relay teams that figured to do pretty well, but they dropped the baton or somebody gets shoved off the track or something else happened and they never quite made it. Will be interesting to see what happens in 1961.

Floyd Patterson will ever take on Sonny Liston? We like the way Patterson talks until he began to talk about Liston being run by a mob that he wants no part of. A fellow who writes a syndicated column brought out the fact that a lot of our best boxers from Joe Louis to Jersey Joe Walcott were handled by guys who weren't Sunday School teachers.

Cleanup?

Then the man argued that the various state athletic commissions could clean up their own games if they would and he is so right. But, the states have failed to do the right thing on a lot more important issues than boxing. Personally, we don't care if Liston is managed by Memphis; we would like to see him have a crack at the title.

Ingemar

We aren't so sure he could win it from Patterson, but it makes us feel bad to see him denied the chance, because of his manager, or managers. We would like to see the Champ take 'em on as they come, Liston, Machen and so on down the line. But, certainly Big Sonny deserves a shot at the crown before anyone else. We wouldn't mind seeing him fight Ingemar Johansson first if winning that bout meant a title fight. But we do

LET US BE TOLD

The lonely ones, who never know
Live barren lives, and then they go:
To meet our Saviour up on high
And live in loveland, when they die.
The eulogies that people gave
And prayers, flowers; on the grave:
Are far too late, and have no worth
To those who are released from earth.
Give flowers now! With words be bold!
If we are loved: let us be told!

No love can grow, unless 'tis fed.
If words be food, let them be said!
When one has love, who cares for gold?
If love is ours, let us be told!

Replied the salesman, who was on his toes, "Ten dollars a foot."

Ernie Banks Suffers
Slight Arm Injury

San Diego, Calif. — The Chicago Cubs suffered a costly loss to the Boston Red Sox here last Sunday afternoon, as Ernie Banks, their top star, was sidelined with a slight injury.

The sensational Cubs shortstop was nicked on the left arm by a pitch by Bill Monbouquette in the fourth inning of the exhibition game, which the cubs lost, 6-3.

hope he gets his chance. The guy may have had a bad record in his earlier days, but how many boxers were angels in their young days?

CHUCK TAYLOR NORM TAYLOR

However, after examination, it was determined that the injury was not serious and that Ernie was expected to be out of the lineup for only about two days.

Al Heist, Cubs rookie centerfielder, also suffered an injury Sunday. He was injured when a ball thrown by Coach Goldie Holt in pre-game practice struck him in the eye. X-rays proved negative and Heist's injury was also termed not serious.

Launch Basketball

World Series in Chicago

Chicago — Basketball's greatest spectacle—the 1961 World Series of Basketball—will be launched here at Chicago Stadium next Sunday night when Abe Saperstein's internationally famous Harlem Globetrotters tangle with the College All-Americans.

Abe Saperstein's brilliant Globetrotters, unbeaten during the regular season, are primed for this annual coast to coast classic with such stellar performers as Meadowlark Lemon, Capt. Clarence Wilson, Murray Summons, Tex Harrison and the rest of that dazzling crew looking forward to what could be the most sensational World Series in the event's history.

Walt Bellamy

Leading the College All-Americans, a quintet composed of great campus performers, will be Indiana's famous Walt Bellamy, a 6-11 giant who can do everything on a basketball court. Playing with him will be talented cagers of national fame from the nation's leading college quintets.

After the Chicago game, the All-Americans and Globetrotters clash 19 more times on a cross-country tour. Saperstein's zany, but skillful, crew has both a perfect record and international reputation at stake.

Potential Pro

The All-Americans, on the other hand, will try to perform at their best not only because they want to win, but, also, because every member of the collegiate squad is a potential professional. Each member realizes of course, that if he is impressive against the fabulous Globetrotters, he establishes a reputation for himself that no scout can afford to overlook.

As in past years, the World Series is the grand finale of the basketball season, and thousands will turn out in each city to witness this colorful and exciting show.
