Vice President Johnson Speaks at Howard University

Washington, D.C. June 9—Vice President Lyndon Johnson declared today that America is committed to a policy of equality under the law and that the Kennedy Administration is determined that all citizens will enjoy their full constitutional rights.

The Vice President's remarks came at Howard University, where 663 graduates of the University's 10 schools and colleges received degrees at the institution's 93rd annual Commencement. Johnson's address was carried on the nation-wide radio and television networks of the National of the National Broadcasting Company.

Slaps Recent Incidents

Without mentioning them by name, the Vice President took a slap at the recent incidents of mob violence in Montgomery and Birmingham, Ala., saying that the national conscience and the Kennedy Administration are on the side of morality, justice and right.

"There is no constitutional right to mob rule and mob violence," he said. "We have orderly processes of law which determine just what our constitutional rights are. Those processes with dignity . . . they grant no special license for some of our citizens to take laws into their own hands and mete out retribution against other citizens who may be acting in ways that are unpopular in a given community."

Nation Not Perfect

The Vice President told the graduates that the nation is not perfect, but that it is striving for perfection.

"All of you in the course of your lifetime are going to know, if you have not already known, injustice and unfairness," he added. "I am not saying this to you merely because you are mainly Negroes and graduating from a predominantly Negro University. All men must feel injustice and unfairness in varying degrees in the course of their lifetime."

"What really counts is whether we live in a system that seeks to perpetuate injustice and unfairness or a system which seeks to eliminate these evil sores from the body politic," the Vice President said.

Honorary Degree

During the exercises University President James M. Nabrit, Jr. conferred three honorary degrees. They went to Otto Klineberg, professor of psychology at Columbia University; Dr. Hildrus A. Poindexter, U.S. Public Health Service specialist in tropical diseases; and Robert C. Weaver, administrator of the U.S. Housing and Home Finance Agency. Doctor of Laws degrees went to Professor Klineberg and Mr. Weaver, and the Doctor of Science degree to Dr. Poindexter, who now serves as regional malera adviser for Africa for the International Cooperation Administration.

Wilkins Says Many Tactics Needed in Fight for Freedom

Jackson, Miss., June 9—Roy Wilkins told an NAACP mass meeting here this week that the fight for freedom demands many and varied tactics, all working toward the same goal.

All responsible methods, the NAACP Executive Secretary told the jam-packed crowd of 2,000, complement each other. They go hand-in-hand, he said. The audience was described by veteran observers as an unprecedented cross-section of the local Negro community.

Shock Troops

Praising the "personal and powerful moral protest against injustice" of the Freedom Riders, Secretary Wilkins said NAACP experience points out that "shock troops are necessary."

"We know that sacrifice is necessary. We know that testing and challenging are necessary," he told the responsive audience.

However, "we know that solid, basic legal moves are necessary if there is to be a foundation for other action," he said.

"My Experiences with integration," Miss Mackie's was for her short story, "A Summer Day"; Mr. Snyder's for his poem, "Tranquility in Senility."

Florida A & M Student Ties Dash Record

Sioux Falls, S. D.—Robert Hayes, a Florida A & M University freshman from Jacksonville, has tied the world record in the 100 yard dash. Hayes sped the distance Friday night in a preliminary heat in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics track and field championships.

He was clocked in 9.3 seconds. This matched the accepted world mark set by Mel Patton in 1948 and tied by 11 others. Hayes also wiped out the NAIA record of 9.4 seconds set by Bobbie Morrow of Abilene Christian in 1955. Morrow also had a 9.3 time in another meet in 1957.

Jewish Congress Adds Appeals On Injunctions

Chicago.—The American Jewish Congress urged Attorney-General Robert Kennedy this week to appeal the decision by a Federal District Judge ordering Freedom Riders and their supporters to halt tests of bus segregation in Alabama.

The action, in the form of a telegram to the Department of Justice in Washington, came at a meeting of the national Governing Council of the Jewish organization following a report by Shad Polier of New York, chairman of the agency's Commission on Law and Social Action.

Mr. Polier described the court injunction against the Freedom Riders as "clearly un-Constitutional." He charged that the ruling "negates the guarantee of 'equal justice under law' engraved above the pillars of the U. S. Supreme Court building."

Referring to recent editorial opinion, including viewpoints broadcast by local Radio Station WTOF, calling for remedial action by Negro leadership, the NAACP branch president, Rev. E. Franklin Jackson, declared:

Bearing Blame

"The inference is that because all of the criminals involved have been Negroes, the NAACP and other Negro leaders must bear the blame."

SOFTEN YOUR ELBOWS

Sleeves are getting shorter and gloves are getting longer in fashion circles these days, but milady's elbows definitely will be exposed. To soften the elbows, scrub them with a soapy brush until they're pink. Apply hand lotion generously and frequently throughout the day, massaging it into the elbows. Whisk off any moist excess with Kleenex tissues to avoid staining your garments. If the elbows are darkened and soiled looking still, apply this homemade bleaching agent. Mix a teaspoon of salad oil with juice of half a lemon. Rub it on elbows, letting it remain a few minutes. Rinse off with tepid water.

Charges Daily Violation of Interstate Travel Laws; Names Cities, Individuals

New York — A sweeping federal suit was filed June 9 in Jackson, Miss., by the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, which "Riders" currently challenging racial supports the efforts of "Freedom segregation in Mississippi.

The suit asks for an injunction against Mississippi officials who are currently enforcing racial segregation of dining, waiting and rest room facilities in bus, railroad and airline terminals in Jackson, on the basis that such segregation is unconstitutional.

Today's action was filed by NAACP Legal Defense attorney Constance Baker Motley in the U. S. District Court for the Southern District of Mississippi, Jackson Division.

Similar In Alabama

The Jackson suit is similar to an earlier suit filed by the NAACP Legal Defense Fund in the federal district court in Montgomery, Ala., on May 25. Today's action is more inclusive, however, in that it covers railroad and airline terminals, as well as bus terminals.

Segregation in intrastate and interstate travel in Mississippi is authorized by a series of state statutes, and in Jackson, by a city ordinance adopted in 1956.

The NAACP Legal Defense complaint charges that such segregation subjects Negro citizens to "daily public inconveniences, harassment, and embarrassment, and violates rights secured . . . by the due process and equal protection clauses of the Fourteenth Amendment . . ."

Charge Harassment

The complaint also asserts that "plaintiffs' rights are being continually denied by harassment by state officials and police . . . of the city of Jackson, in the form of arrests, fines, and imprisonment," and seeks to enjoin defendants from such enforcement of racial segregation.

Interstate travel in Miss. is authorized by Samuel Bailey, Joseph Broadwater and Burnett L. Jacob, all Negro citizens of Jackson. But the suit is a "class" action, meaning that the relief sought applies to other Negro citizens "similarly situated."

Defendants cited are Mississippi Attorney General Joe T. Patterson; the City of Jackson, Miss., a Municipal Corporation; Jackson Mayor Allen C. Thompson; Jackson City Commissioners Douglas L. Lucky; Continental Southern Lines, Inc.; Southern Greyhound Lines, a division of Greyhound Corporation; Illinois Central Railroad, Inc.; Jackson City Lines, Inc.; and Cicero Carr at

Miss Drake said that Negro women have contracted for the purchase of upwards of $1,000,000 in Nuclonics, Chemistry and Electronics Shares, Inc.

"This campaign," Miss Drake said, "has demonstrated the willingness of the Negro career woman and homemaker to budget regularly for investment in growth industries and confirms our conviction that women understand women better."

NAACP Legal Defense Fund attorneys representing the plaintiffs are R. Jess Brown of Vickburg, Miss., and Turgood Marshall and Constance Baker Motley of New York City.

DOOR CLEANUP

What's the most familiar sound around your home in summertime? If there's at least one child in the family and if he's old enough to be outside, probably it's the sound of the screen door slamming. It keeps dab busy all summer repairing the screen where the youngsters push it out of the frame. And it keeps Mom busy cleaning up the dirty fingerprints. One shortcut is a quick cleanup with Kleenex paper toweling moistened in soapy water. By keeping up with the smudges, Mom can save somebody in the family a job of repainting the door.

Orlando, Jacksonville, Pensacola, Tallahassee, Panama City, Tampa, and Daytona are being surveyed to determine the extent of discrimination against Negroes in interstate travel accommodations.

THAT PICNIC PIE

To make sure your juicy homemade pie arrives at the picnic site in the same unbroken condition in which it came out of the oven, place an empty pie tin on top of the baked, cooled pie. Fit the edges of the empty pie tin close to the edges of the bottom tin which holds the pie. Seal together with cellophane tape. As an added precaution, over-wrap the two tins in Kleenex towels and hold the towels in place with a large rubber band. If any of the filling manages to seep out, these absorbent paper towels will soak it up.

Inside caption reads: "Mortgaged to the hilt!" And then there is always the Dad "who fixes everything... so that we have to call the repairman!"

Dad rates an "A" for effort in all endeavors, however, and come his big day, many Dads will be receiving special recognition with this card from Rust Craft. "Dad, you deserve a special award." HEALTH FOR ALL

Chest Pain

We've become a heart-conscious nation. One small stab of pain in the chest, and the sufferer is sure he has heart trouble. It's true that heart damage can cause pain in the chest. But there's a lot more to your chest than just your heart.

To start at the outside, you have chest muscles. Several bouts of hard coughing can strain those muscles and they'll hurt.

Hard Coughing

Then you have ribs, and cartilage. Ribs can be bruised or even fractured by hard coughing. The cartilage can be damaged. Either type of injury will cause pain in the chest.

The lining of the chest wall, called the pleura, sometimes gets inflamed. This illness is called pleurisy; the pain is in your chest.

Damages

Arthritis of the spine can cause chest pain. So can any damage to your diaphragm, the tough sheet of muscle which separates your chest from your abdomen. Sheer nervousness and fatigue can bring on chest pain, too.

Take your chest pain to your doctor. Let him tell you what's causing it and what you can do about it. And don't get over-anxious about your heart. That can bring on a pain in your chest.

This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by Polk County Tuberculosis and Health Assn.

the Camera Guild

Mirror pictures are easy to make, nice to have, and fun to show and impress your friends.

It's Almost Like Seeing Double

Yes, when you picture your subject reflected in a mirror, it's almost like seeing double—but it also can give you a very striking and effective snapshot.

Mirror pictures are for the most amateur photographers—using the simplest of equipment, as well as for the professionals who are well aware of the effectiveness of this technique.

A simple camera with flash attachment enables you to take these pictures. There are only two things which you have to keep in mind that don't apply to other pictures.

First of all, be sure that neither your camera nor the flash is reflected in the mirror. Secondly, when you figure the distance, you add that between camera and mirror to that between subject and mirror.

This means that if you have a camera that won't let you shoot a picture closer than six feet—and your subject looks best posed a foot from the mirror, you will keep the camera five feet from the mirror. That's all there is to it.

Find a pretty mirror, a good subject, and take camera in hand to make some snapshots that are "different" and make a terrific impression on people who aren't "in the know."

A glistening crystal ball reflecting Parisian images throughout the beautifully decorated ball room was one of the many highlights of the evening enjoyed by 300 guests of the Puella Legatoes June 3rd at the Music Hall. Ascending the stairway to the ballroom, guests were greeted by the hostesses of the evening at a gold and chesapeake blue perfume bar, where ladies were presented Letheric perfume and men monogrammed match books.

Scenic portrayals of France adorned the walls giving a living atmosphere of an evening in Paris.

Descending through a pictorial background hostesses resplendently gowned in white were presented to their guest to the strains of "April in Paris" by Robert A. Wright.

Carrying out the theme of Paris berets were worn by the Rufus Spates band who provided the music for the evening, berets were also worn by the petite hall check girls,

NAAACP SUPPORTS
'FREEDOM RIDERS'

The NAACP has undertaken the task of defending the "Freedom Riders" who have been convicted of violating segregation laws in Alabama and Louisiana.

Most of these people appeared in court without counsel or funds for bail bonds and fines. True they tested whether federal laws are being observed and that was a lot. But these southerners have shown by their action in school desegregation matters that they don't intend to obey laws contrary to their local laws even though they conflict with the federal law.

Thus, someone must step in and test the validity of the segregation laws in Alabama and Louisiana. In recent years gone by, the NAACP has done an excellent job before the courts in such matters. They have the knowhow and the technique. They are pledged to defend a citizen whose civil rights are being violated. Speaking before a group of citizens in Jackson, Miss. last week, Roy Wilkins said the NAACP was not associated with the Congress for Racial Equality (CORE) but both groups were fighting for the same cause.

And even though one had different methods of attack it would be foolish for the two groups to spend energy, money and time fighting among themselves which could be much better used against the enemies of civil rights.

Undoubtedly, the state and city segregation laws will be declared unconstitutional. In the meantime, most of these people, who have been convicted, will have served their sentence but this does not test the laws. But once the supreme court declares the laws invalid, there will be no conflict and like the school cases a more orderly method will be available to secure compliance.

VICE PRESIDENT FIRES
AGAINST MOB VIOLENCE

Vice President Johnson delivered the commencement address at Howard University (Washington, D.C.) Friday, June 9. The speech was broadcast on NBC, the announcement of which came so late that little notice about it was given the public.

The speech was one sounding not like a man from deep in Texas. It was not flashy or glib with platitudes about Negroes.

But it was the voice of a man who has had years of public service, has traveled widely in rich and poor counties, who understands the tasks which face this nation and realizes that all America must work together in order to meet the problems of life that lie ahead.

Vice President Johnson said nobody had a constitutional right to engage in mob violence, that orderly process by the courts had done a good job solving our problems and thus as they arise that branch of the government should be left to handle this responsibility.

And this means not only the old mobs of years ago which lynched dozens of people annually, of the later technical mobs which by stealth and trickery spirited men away and lynched them, but also those who take the law in their hands to prevent a citizen from exercising his civil rights today.

Apparently speaking with the approval of the administration, the vice president said the full force of the Kennedy administration was geared toward a full enjoyment of every opportunity for all Americans which this country offered and that the graduates had a responsibility to use their talents, their learning in school to help get the job done. Mr. Johnson spoke like a man who has come a long way in his thinking on these problems and with a conviction that he meant to be a part of what he was saying.

MORE ABOUT WILD
TELEVISION SHOWS

Ever so often, some committee in Congress decides to hold a hearing on the affect of blood and thunder television shows on the public—particularly juveniles. And as in the past, the television industry has been able to talk Congress out of doing anything about it.

The Bystander is convinced that the wild television shows are contributing to the delinquency of youngsters and that Congress would do more to improve the morals of the country by regulating them. Certainly, this job is more important than regulating boxing.

Florida A & M
Graduates 327

Tallahassee—Three hundred and twenty-seven degrees, including 13 master of education degrees, were conferred during the spring commencement exercises at Florida A & M University last week. President George W. Gore Jr. called the '61 class "one of the finest in the history of the institution." Attorney General Richard Ervin was among the nearly 2,000 persons attending the final exercises.

Speaking on "New Occasions Teach New Duties," Dr. James Madison Nabrit Jr., president of Howard University, Washington, D. C., told the FAMU graduates that they were living a nuclear age which was just beginning in which the past will pale into insignificance in the light of things we will see.

McLendon has just returned from a successful tour of Russia as head coach of a group of American All-Stars. He led the Tennessee A & I State Tigers to an unprecedented three stright National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics championships before joining the Pipers three years ago.

Zeid Temple #90
Elects New Officers

Zeid Temple No. 90 held its annual election of officers June 9, 1961. Dr. Julian Mason, the Imperial Deputy of the Oasis, presided. The following were elected: Donald Williams, Ill Potentate; Eugene

When the big fight came on last Saturday night, we sat back in our chair relaxed and wished we were at the ringside. Archie Moore was defending his share of the light heavyweight boxing title against a fellow who was probably a year old when Archie was a dangerous pug. Most of the boxing writers and guys, who are supposed to know, said the old guy would never be able to last the distance and if he did would likely get beat to death in the closing rounds.

For a while we thought this was it for Moore. The victim refused to be set up. Archie never did get him into a corner. The free swinging Italian stayed out where his speed could be to his advantage.

The fellow didn't know anything but he was so fast that the vulnerable champ couldn't quite pull the trigger or set a trap for his man. Of course Moore's reflexes are not what they used to be. In fact the fellow has been fighting with nothing but brains and heart for ten years maneuvered his man into a corner and then feinted to turn out the lights. But this youngster wouldn't let himself get cornered all night long. But even when the fellow was tired he stayed out of those corners.

Then there is just enough of the action in Archie that he could have cornered the youngster but just to make the boys who said he couldn't go the distance look like political prognosticators after an election. He is perfectly capable of doing that. But we were glad when in the closing rounds old Archie came on and was the stronger and least tired of the two. Sure, the fellow didn't look like the Moore of a few years ago, but would any of your forty-year-old guys want to take a pop at him?

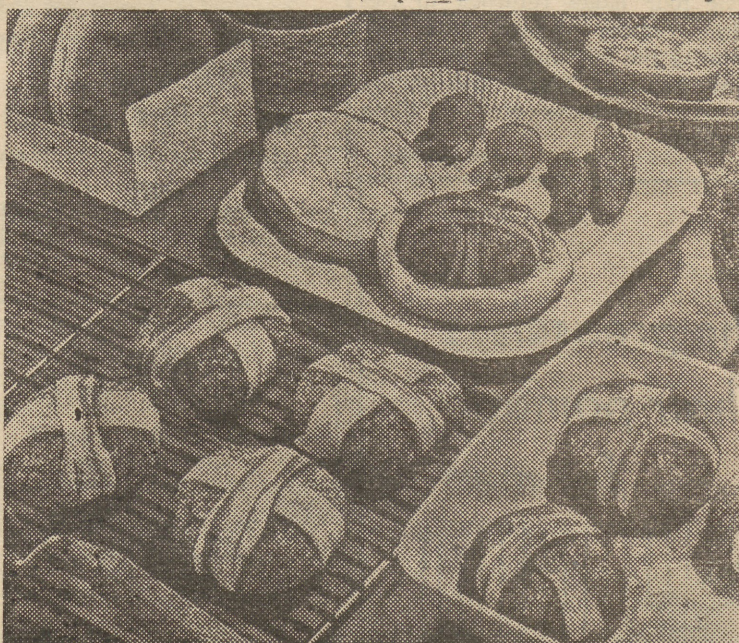

LOCAL

The soft ball players are getting ready for games between the old Hot-n-Tots and the present edition of the team. Don't think the date is set yet, but it will be pretty soon. Our Sympathy goes with the old timers. Just in case the old guys win we could be awful tough and they might be a real jim dandy at that sure would like to see it.

The billiard league is still going on. Carl Taylor, Jr., is the champ. He had lost and regained his title and is now trying for a third crown, probably a record.

Franklin, Chief Rabban; Gus Smith, Assistant Rabban; Archie Martin, High Priest and Prophet; Frank Hogan, Treasurer; Marcus McCraven, Recorder; Dr. Julian Mason, Assistant Recorder. The Ill. Potentate installed the officers.

BARBECUE FARE PREPARED OUTDOORS adds a delightful spice to summertime, when living should—and can—be easy! Proof is this easy-does-it outdoor menu, planned to swing you into the barbecue season with a minimum of fuss and furry.

These bacon-wrapped king-size Peppurgers, a deluxe version of ever-popular meat patties, are made deliciously different with the addition of whole wheat flakes—which lend a subtle flavor and also serve to extend the meat. After they've been grilled to a succulent turn, serve the Peppurgers on buttered buns, along with such simple accompaniments as a tossed green salad, sliced tomatoes, cheese wedges and assorted relishes.

PEPPURGERS DE LUXE

1½ teaspoons salt
¾ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons minced onions
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1½ cups milk
2 cups Kellogg's Pep
1 pound ground beef
8 slices bacon

Beat egg; add salt, pepper, onions, parsley, milk and cereal. Add beef and mix thoroughly. Divide into eight portions. Cut slices of bacon lengthwise into two strips. Arrange two strips bacon crosswise on waxed paper. Mold portion of meat mixture into patty and place on bacon intersection.
