La Femme Club Disbands for Summer

The La Femme club disbanded for the summer on July 6 at the home of Mrs. Lucille Hayes. The next meeting will be Sept. 7. Mrs. Helen Williams is president.

Fires caused quite a flurry of excitement here in Des Moines over the weekend. The first occurred Saturday afternoon when the garage at the home of our next door neighbor, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Simon, 1227 10th street, caught fire. We were seated on our eating porch (Haitian Hideaway) enjoying our mid-afternoon meal when we happened to look up and notice smoke curling from under the roof of the neighbor's garage. It was followed almost instantly by licking red tongues of flames.

Firemen from the station three doors away were summoned and they extinguished the blaze which almost destroyed the garage and slightly damaged a boat inside it. Since our stay in the neighborhood, this was the second fire that has occurred in the same garage within several years.

The second fire occurred almost 24 hours later on Sunday afternoon. When we tuned into the 10 p.m. news the newscaster mentioned that firemen were fighting a major fire on the corner of 3rd and Locust streets. We waited in suspense through other headline briefs and a commercial before we learned which corner was the incendiary victim. We breathed a big sign of relief when we learned it was directly across the street from the Bystander and Morris & Morris law offices.

Mrs. Virginia Slaughter, 1056 11th street, will long remember the month of June, 1961. During this "red light" month for her, she was feted with a lovely reception by her daughters honoring her and her husband on their 25th wedding anniversary. ## JOBS; THE MOST SERIOUS PROBLEM TODAY

Speaking before the annual NAACP convention in Philadelphia last week, Rep. A. Clayton Powell of New York declared that one of the most important problems facing the Negro today was employment. He charged that in many instances, an economic blockade was being carried on against him by management and labor unions.

In times of low employment this factor exists generally as those employees who can be dispensed with easiest are fired first and that often includes the Negro.

Rep. Powell delivered a strong blast against labor unions—particularly the building trades which relegate Negroes to the lowest jobs, offer practically no opportunity for advancement or apprenticeships which lead to the skilled jobs. He called organized labor "the last national bastion of American bigotry." This is true in Des Moines and even in common labor jobs which get less and less proportionally, he is being squeezed out more and more.

Powell urged Negro leaders to direct their main energies at what he called the economic blockade against Negroes.

Pass any construction job today on the street, buildings or elsewhere and the number of Negroes on them is small. This is true of private and public utility jobs also. It is true in state, county and city government.

The question arises are we using the facilities of our organizations to help this situation? Or are we forgetting that it is just as important to make money as it is to live and eat in the place of our choice? Rep. Powell said, "The right to sit in a restaurant is meaningless unless one has the means to purchase a meal. And the right to ride in a bus is empty without the fare."

All of which recalls the admonition of the late Harvey Ingham who said, "After all it is important that you eat, then it becomes important where you eat."

UNFORTUNATE SITUATION IN CHICAGO

The racial conflicts going on in Chicago are most unfortunate. But they did not just happen but are the outward expression of inward resentment on both sides. Thus, anybody acquainted with the town is not surprised in spite of opportunities in some fields—particularly employment—for there seems to be an air of resentment, a low standard of law observance in the windy city.

Thousands of Negroes have come to Chicago from the South in the last few years, many of whom have had little education and training to live in a big free city. And even though they represent potential difficulties, little seems to be done to help integrate them in their new surroundings.

On the other hand, large segments of some European strains, traditionally hostile to Negroes live in and around Chicago, which adds to the bad race relations in the city.

Unquestionably, Negroes have a right to all public facilities including bathing beaches. Negroes have a right to demand and receive protection by the law in the exercise of their rights but they don't have any right to attack innocent people simply to get even with somebody else. Severe punishment should be meted out to those who engaged in such practices.

Law enforcement officers seem to have done fine keeping the situation well in hand. By so doing they have prevented a spread of the trouble to other communities and kept the troublemakers from causing worse conditions.

Rep. Bell of Mississippi has asked Atty. General Kennedy if federal marshalls would be sent to Chicago to protect innocent people who are being mistreated just as he sent them to Alabama to protect the freedom riders.

Of course, Rep. Bell is simply throwing up a smoke screen in an effort to confuse the issue with reference to the marshalls in Alabama. There, law enforcement officials made little effort to assure safety of the freedom riders just as has been their practice in the enforcement of the rights of Negroes all along. Sure, no marshalls are needed if local law enforcement officials do their duty. But when they fail the federal government has a right to protect citizens.

Few people with any gumption have any sympathy with Rep. Bell's views.

But to get back to the troublemakers in Chicago—black and white—somehow there is too much of a disposition to hate the other fellow, and not enough emphasis on the fact that both groups are here to stay and that all do better when they live in peace and harmony. These conflicts tend to pull down the good things they learn in school, church, home and other character building organizations.

So the Yankees have called up a Negro pitcher. This will be news but only if the guy can win. Some guy asked us what goes into the selection of a guy for a major league team. So we asked a fellow we know and he said he based his judgment on a fellow's ability to do two or three things. Run fast, throw hard and move his hands fast. The rest can be taught a prospect.

Temperament

Then there is the matter of desire, willingness to accept criticism and the patience to keep working at a thing over and over. A fellow's attitude has some bearing on his chances. Does he have a quick temper, a sensitive nature? Is he easily upset by razzing? One of the best quarterbacks in the national football league was almost laughed out of the league. He was bald and when his helmet fell off, his opponents would razz him about his bald head until he would go to pieces. But, he finally overcame his troubles; so it is with baseball.

Little Leagues

Your little leaguers should be taught all those things and you should set an example for him if you want him to make the grade. While we are on the subject, the behavior of parents at these games cause one to wonder. We listen to tales of fathers punishing their sons and not speaking to their wives because the boy struck out or made an error. How silly can one get?? We have seen fathers ruin their son's taste for a game by not letting the boy play his own game, insisting on planning every move for the boy. Some parents want their sons to do so well but they could help a lot more by staying in the background and rooting for the kid, win or lose.

Ty Cobb

The death of one of the greatest ball players of all times brings recollections that the famed Georgia Peach didn't have any time for Negroes and if he had his way, they would have never got in major league ball. Yet, a lot of young Negro ball players copied his manner of doing things and became really good at base running, hitting and sliding. So even though he didn't care for us, he helped to develop a lot of Negro players.

Negro Ushers Now At Busch Stadium

St. Louis—The first Negro ushers at Busch stadium went to work three weeks ago without fanfare, it was officially announced last week.

They are Arthur Williams, 18, a Summer high school graduate who plans to enter Harris Teachers College this Fall and Richard Buchanan, 17, a senior at Sumner.

The two new employees are a part of the total corps which handles the ball game crowds in the stadium. Thomas Merli, captain of the crew in which the young men work, described them as "A-1 employees."

Buchanan acting as spokesman for the two said he found the job "very interesting and helpful." Williams and Buchanan work in the lower decks and loges in seating and directing ball fans.

The employment of the two is a part of August A. Busch's desire to employ "across the board" in the Cardinal organization, persons without regard to race or color.

Left No Doubt

In his presentation to the President, Bishop Spotswood, speaking on behalf of the delegation, told Mr. Kennedy: "The concern of your administration for basic human rights is as encouraging as it is unmistakable. You left no doubt about where you stand on civil rights and the recognition of all persons on the basis of individual merit."

Won Applause

"Your directives to your departments and agencies and your forthright action to establish a non-discriminatory employment policy for firms holding government contracts, as exemplified in the Lockheed Aircraft case, have won the applause of a nation that believes deeply in fair play for all."

Legislation

However, the NAACP Board Chairman continued, "the absence of a clear call from you for enactment of civil rights legislation has been a source of dismay to those working for civil rights. In view of the specific and unequivocal pronouncements of the platform on which you were elected, and in the light of your own promise of last fall to employ legislative action, also, to achieve civil rights goals, there is grave concern over the prospect that, without support from the White House, there may be no Congressional action on the urgently-needed bills now in various stages of unreadiness."

Baylor Signs 5-Year Contract For $250,000

Los Angeles—Elgin Baylor signed what is believed to be the longest and largest contract in the history of the National Basketball Ass'n. when he inked a five-year contract with the Los Angeles Lakers for an estimated $250,000 recently.

Baylor was given the new contract despite the fact that he still had a year left on his previous three year pact, which was torn up when the new agreement was signed.

Lakers president, Robert E. Short, who flew in from Minneapolis for the signing said:

"So far as we know, this is the longest term contract ever given to a professional athlete. It indicates our faith in the continued ability of the man we feel is the greatest basketball player in the history of the game."

Happy

"At the same time, we are pleased that Baylor has been happy enough with the Lakers to tie his own future down to this extent. To say that we are happy would be a vast understatement."

In many respects, Baylor has been "Mr. Basketball." One of the greatest all-arounders the game has ever seen, he set an all-time single game scoring record of 71 points against the Knickerbockers and averaged 34 points a game last season. He was also named to the NBA's all pro squad for the third straight year.

A BRIGHTER DAY.

Do the disembodied linger
Near their husks that lie in earth?
Are they fettered to their loved ones
Or the place that gave them birth?
When the haunting "taps" are sounded

And the blossoms gently laid:
Does the soul of the departed
Hear their comrades accolade?
In the quiet of the night-time
When we rest our weary head,
Do they come here, close beside us:
Though the worldly, claim they're dead?
