Airman Randle Plans To Seek Appointment To Air Force Academy

A Des Moines man who entered the air force Mar. 24 has announced plans to seek appointment to the air force academy at Colorado Springs, Colo. He is Airman 3/c Thomas Randle, who is in Des Moines on a 26-day leave. Next month he will begin nine months of schooling in preparation for his appointment.

Randle

Randle, a 1960 graduate of Dowling high, says he will probably take his training at naval preparatory school at Bainbridge, Md., since the air force has no preparatory school of its own. His official appointment to the air force academy will be made upon successful completion of the preparatory course.

Randle attended the University of Minnesota and Drake university prior to entering the air force. He is the son of Mrs. Carrie Randle of 1155 14th street and Gilbert Randle of 1032 5th avenue.

FRONTIERS OF AMERICA AWARD $2,000 TO HOWARD U. FOR VITILIGO STUDY

Washington, D. C.—Howard University officials this week announced the receipt of a $2,000 grant from the Frontiers of America for research studies into vitiligo, a skin disorder which causes a loss of pigmentation on various parts of the body. The grant is the fifth to be awarded the University by the Frontiers since the establishment of the group's National Vitiligo Foundation in 1954.

Discuss Drive to Draw More Negro Talent to Enter Foreign Service

Washington, D. C.—“We are determined to do everything that we can to insure that discrimination is not practiced in the state department, and that we open up the channels of opportunity to all of our American citizens.”

These were the words of Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Wednesday, Aug. 16, as he addressed about 50 Negro leaders and officials of human relations organizations. Rusk had invited them to Washington to help the State department launch a campaign to recruit more qualified minority group personnel.

Overseas Personnel

Rusk told the group that both President Kennedy and he believe strongly that American personnel overseas ought to be representative of all the American people, and that is not yet the case to the extent that we would like it to be.

Serious Shortage

He said that one reason the Department is seeking bright young Negroes to take the Foreign Service examination and competent, experienced Negroes for appointment to middle and high-level jobs, is that the Department is faced with a serious shortage of talent. But the State department also has a “selfish interest” in seeking more qualified Negroes, Rusk said. He explained:

Racial Problems

“The biggest single burden that we carry on our backs in our foreign relations in the 1960s is the problem of racial discrimination here at

CORE Leader Says: “End Segregation Or End Interstate Transportation.”

Washington, D. C.—CORE General Counsel Carl Rachlin called upon the Interstate Commerce Commission to cancel service to communities where segregation by any third parties “in Supreme Court rulings.”

The CORE Counsel urged the ICC to adopt the rules proposed by Attorney General Kennedy but also urged more sweeping action. Rachlin urged that where the bus, train or airline owns the terminal facilities it must include in all leases a clause requiring equal service for all.

Reports Acts

CORE also asked the ICC to require that the carrier report promptly to the ICC any acts to require segregation by any third parties “including public authorities of the community.”

Rachlin, who had just returned from Jackson where he prepared the legal groundwork for the 189 Freedom Riders now appealing their convictions, said: “The people of Jackson are good people. Help them to do the right thing even if they are, for the moment, hesitant. Use some moral force.”

Outside the hearing more than 200 persons maintained a vigil of support. CORE groups in New York, St. Louis, Columbus and Baltimore carried on similar demonstrations.

Open Letter to D.M. Citizens

New Housing Development In N.E. Des Moines Is Open To All Regardless of Races

The foregoing is being published as an “Open Letter” to the citizens of Des Moines, and especially Bystander readers. It was submitted to us by Edward E. Shelton, executive secretary of the Des Moines commission on Human Rights. Mr. Shelton received the letter after he returned from his recent vacation, from N. P. Dotson, Zone Intergroup Relations Advisor, Chicago, Ill.

I have been informed that the 155 unit subdivision being developed under Section 221 by the John W. Gailbreath Company of Columbus, Ohio out at the northern limits of Des Moines at E. 42nd Street is proceeding rapidly. I understand that about 40 houses were under construction a few weeks ago and that an open house drew more than one thousand people but that no minority group persons were seen among them.

We would certainly like it to be known that these units are available to all regardless of race, color, etc. They are moderately priced and in a very good location.

Both relocatees from government action and non-relocatees should apply to purchase if they are interested, because of the provision in the new legislation—the Housing Act of 1961—which now permits this housing to be sold to non-displacees. There is no longer a 60-day waiting requirement before the houses can be sold to non-displacees. In other words they are sold on the open market.

There is this distinction however; an eligible displacee can benefit from a longer mortgage term (40 years) and lower downpayment ($200 which may include closing and certain other costs) than can a non-displacee. The latter is required to pay 3% down and is limited to a maximum mortgage term of 35 years for new housing.

Former Little Rock Students Among 75 Receiving Nissens Awards

This Fall, Essie Knowles and Carolyn J. Porter of Little Rock, Ark., will begin their junior year at Boston University. Essie majors in music, Carolyn in biology. And both were among the young boys and girls whose education might have stopped for good during the period of stormy transition in Little Rock. Seventy-seven sophomores and juniors are receiving NISSFNS support this year at 53 interracial colleges.

Police said Wheels signed a statement in which he admitted he shot Phipps with a .45 caliber pistol. Wheels was quoted as accusing Phipps of having taken “$15 or $20” from the Wheels home.

Nashville, Tenn. A school teacher from Chicago, Ill., accused a white student last week of burning his arm with a cigarette in a picket line incident outside a store here. Police arrested Jerry Cantrell, 18, after the teacher, James Forman, 32, pointed him out as the youth with the cigarette.

Officers Claim Bites, Kicks; Brings 4 Charges Against M. Singleton; Hearing Tues.

After a 30-minute battle with four Des Moines policemen in which they claim they sustained severe bites and kicks, Mrs. Maryetta Singleton, 49, was finally placed in a patrol car where she was brought to headquarters and charged with assault with intent to maim, resisting arrest, disturbing the peace by using loud and profane language, and having no current inspection seal on her car. After pleading innocent to the charges and posting $6,000 bond, Mrs. Singleton who lives at 611 S.E. 4th street, was released pending hearing on Aug. 29 at 10 a.m. in Municipal Judge Ray Harrison court.

Issued Summons

Patrolman Robert Good said he and Patrolman A. D. Davis were driving on S.E. 4th street when they saw the Singleton car had no inspection seal. Good said he went over to the car and issued a summons. As he was leaving he said, Mrs. Singleton came out of her house and began making profane statements about the city of Des Moines and especially the police department.

Warning Unheeded

Good said Mrs. Singleton failed to heed his warning of using “safer language in a public place”, and when he told her she was under arrest Mrs. Singleton began biting and kicking him when he took her hands and pulled them under her arms. In the scuffle Good suffered bites on his left index finger and thumb, and was later treated at Broadlawn Polk County hospital and given a tetanus shot. Good said she kicked him and three other officers in the groin, legs and chest.

Out of Town

Mrs. Singleton told her attorneys later that she had been out of town, and that the car had been taken in before she left. However, there had been no chance to correct the car's deficiency, and claimed the number of days given for correction had not ended.

At her arraignment Mrs. Singleton also paid $1 fine for the no inspection seal. Mrs. Singleton stands only five feet four inches tall and weighs 150 pounds.

Urge Vote on Civil Rights As Far As Anti-Hijack Law

Washington—Citing the speed with which Congress enacted a law to curb airplane hijacking, NAACP Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins has called upon Congressional leaders of both parties “to act upon civil rights with at least the same speed exercised in behalf of property rights.”

Urge Early Action

In identical letters, dated Aug. 16, addressed to Senators Mike Mansfield, majority leader; Everett Dirksen, minority leader; Speaker of House Sam Rayburn and House Minority Leader Charles Halleck, Wilkins urged early action to ban the Senate filibuster, facilitate school desegregation, and authorize the Attorney General to proceed in all civil rights cases.

Ask Amendment

“We ask first,” he said, “that the Senate amend its filibuster rule to provide cloture by a majority of those present as is done with most legislation.”

The NAACP leader rejected the proposal to impose cloture by a vote of three-fifths of the Senate membership which, he said, “would require, in many circumstances, more votes than are now required under the present rule. The total vote has been less than 90 in 62 of 124 roll call votes in the Senate since January,” he pointed out. “In all such cases an extra burden would be imposed on cloture seekers by a mandatory requirement of sixty votes.”

Rights Precious

To Negro Americans, Wilkins told the congressional leaders, their constitutional rights “are as precious . . . as are airplanes to any corporation or spokesman therefor. They are as precious as the right of any American to complete his journey of business or pleasure free of the threat of piracy in the skies.

Protests U.S. Finances for Segregated Airports

New York—Protesting a Senate vote to table an amendment cutting off federal aid to airports in five southern cities which practice racial segregation, NAACP Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins has written Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield urging that the Government “make no grants of any nature to any airport which discriminates in any manner between travelers on the basis of race and color.”

Out of Order

In a letter, dated Aug. 2, the leader of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People cited Senator Mansfield's reported observation that the amendment, offered by Senator Jacob K. Javits (R., N.Y.), was out of order because none of the money to be made available in the pending measure was earmarked for additional terminal construction. This view of financing Federal Aviation Agency projects with Federal grants “is faulty,” Wilkins asserted. “The alleged separation of FAA grants to states and cities for airports into what may be termed operational funds and those for terminal facilities is one invented and advanced only to perpetuate illegal segregation in interstate air travel,” he charged.

Federal Funds

The allegation that Federal funds for site acquisition, runways, hangars and landing systems may be separated, but not here, This is my home.

Helping Children Learn Self-Discipline

Buzz was allowed to have some things that were his very own. His parents gave him these articles because they realized that he must be taught to take care of some of his own possessions before they could expect him to respect the property of others.

Permission

First they instructed him that certain things in the house were not to be touched or handled. Then when they permitted him to use other objects, they required Buzz to put them back in their respective places.

His parents provided a place where he could keep his own toys and possessions. This was his own private area, and he had the responsibility of keeping it clean. He was also given a special place to keep his toothbrush, towel, etc., in the bathroom. These provisions were among many ways in which his parents taught Buzz self-discipline and tidiness.

Warning

When it was time to put toys away, they gave Buzz a little warning that the time was near. A few minutes before he was supposed to put them away, they told him to finish what he was doing so he could get ready for bed, dinner, etc.

His parents noticed that at times, Buzz tended to be very independent and not share his toys with other children his age. So they gave him games in which another child was required to participate. In this way he learned the value and entertainment possible when playing and sharing his things with other children.

For further suggestions on teaching children to discipline themselves and to share with others, you may find "The Child in Home and School" by Florence Surfleet interesting reading. Many public libraries have copies of this book.

Department for calling the conference. He said it was "a laudable effort" to make real progress against a serious problem.

Recommendations

After day-long discussions, the conferees made these recommendations to the Department:

1. Launch a campaign to make it known that qualified Negroes are wanted.

2. Appoint Negroes to "high level policy positions" in the Department so as to inspire bright Negro youngsters to train for work in the field of foreign affairs.

3. Use Negroes as recruiters, both at predominantly-Negro and at integrated colleges.

4. Immediately place more qualified Negroes in middle and high-level posts by making Foreign Service Reserve appointments.

5. Survey the great number of Negroes now clustered in the lower ranks so as to determine which, if any, are deserving of immediate promotion.

Merit Transfers

6. Survey Negro Foreign Service Reserve appointees now working in State and such related agencies as the United States Information Agency and the International Cooperation Administration (ICA) to see if some merit lateral transfer into the Foreign Service.

7. Do not compromise with quality or make any special concessions of competence as a favor to Negroes, but the examination procedure ought to be investigated to determine whether it automatically excludes categories of persons who are potentially valuable Foreign Service officers.

Special Courses

8. That predominantly-Negro colleges be advised as to any special courses or curriculum materials that might better prepare students for Foreign Service careers.

9. That Negro youngsters be included in the summer student trainee program of the Department.

Roger Jones, Deputy Under Secretary for Administration, pledged the Department's immediate and enthusiastic attention to the recommendations.

"We must not let the momentum engendered here today fade away," he said.

the Camera Guild

Hobbies and photography go together. Take pictures of various members of the family working at their hobbies, as well as close-ups of the items they make or collect.

Collect With Your Camera

It's fairly safe to say that practically everybody has some kind of pet hobby—whether it's collecting rare stamps and coins or just old fishing hats and string! And we've always felt that one of the nicest things about photography is the way it can aid and complement the pursuit of almost any other hobby.

In fact, it is only by means of picture-taking that many hobbies can become "collecting" hobbies at all. If you're interested in bridges, old buildings, art treasures, railroad engines, aircraft, sailing vessels or old automobile models, your camera is the only method by which you'll be able to bring home items for your collection.

Many "collector's items" are fairly small objects, and you'll be shooting them indoors. The easiest method of providing the artificial light you need is using a synchronized flash attachment on your camera. But, if you prefer, you can illuminate your collection with photofood lamps or ordinary household light bulbs and then make a time exposure.

In either case, if the items are small, you will want to take close-up shots. With a box-type camera, you'd normally be shooting at a distance of about six feet from your subject. If, at this distance your subject seems lost in the middle of the viewfinder, you'll do well to get a simple close-up attachment that will allow you to move in to three and a half feet.

Game for Young or Old

IT'S FUN for youngsters and grown-ups alike—the tumble-bug game. For the bugs, get some capsules from your druggist. Drop a ball bearing into each, close the capsule and mark it with a colored tape, so that each player will know his own bug.

The only other equipment needed for the game is a playing board. Cut a piece of Presdwood about one foot square and nail it to a block of one-inch lumber four inches wide and as long as the playing board, to form a ramp. You'll need to plane the block of wood to the proper angle to make the Presdwood fit evenly.

Up to four players can participate with a board the size of the one described. Each player holds his capsule in an upright position at the top edge of the playing board. At the signal to "go," the bugs are released to tumble end over end down the ramp. The one reaching bottom first is the winner.

Introduce Bill to Establish Frederick Douglass National Memorial in D. C.

Senator Philip A. Hart (D-Mich.) and Congressman Charles C. Diggs, Jr. of Detroit recently introduced a bill which would establish a national memorial to a distinguished citizen and public servant, Frederick Douglass.

Mr. Douglass, born a slave in 1817, rose to a high position in the U. S., serving under several Presidents as Recorder of Deeds in the District of Columbia, from 1881-1889, and as our Minister to Haiti, 1889-1891. He was an esteemed friend of President Lincoln, and worked hard in the cause of Abolition.

Voluntary Care

The house where Mr. Douglass lived for many years in Southeast Washington, has been cared for with loving devotion by the National Association of Colored Women's Clubs through voluntary contributions.

Senator Hart pointed out that this organization, headed by Dr. Rosa L. Gragg of Detroit, has done a fine job of keeping up Mr. Douglass' home for many years, having spent several thousands of dollars on repair and upkeep.

National Shrine

"It seems only fitting," Senator Hart stated, "that this house at 1411 W Street, S. E., which contains in Mr. Douglass' library an important source of historical documents for the period in which he lived, should now be turned into a national historical shrine."

"Here in our Nation's capital, where people come not only from all over the United States but all over the world, such a national historic shrine would bring home to countless thousands of visitors the true meaning of democracy and make us even more its showcase."

Don't look yet, but school's opening is just around the corner. Know many of you are busy preparing youngsters' wardrobe, adding new items and checking others already owned. Perhaps you too are checking up on that doctor's or dentist's appointment for youngsters who will be starting their first school year. Youngsters and oldsters alike will be enjoying the offerings of the Civil War centennial of the Iowa state fair. Others will be out of town taking their annual vacation.

Making their annual trip to Wichita Falls, Tex., are Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Spates and daughter, Peggy, of 1244 13th street. They expect to spend a week with Mr. Spates parents, Mr. and Mrs. Reggie Spates and other sisters and brothers and their families, who make their annual trip there for a family reunion.

Also, taking a 10-day trip to visit relatives and friends will be Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Thompson of 1168 11th street. They will leave Sunday by car which will be "loaded" with some modern camping equipment, including an ice chest and barbecue brazier. Mrs. Thompson said her husband plans to cook the meals along the way and they will spend nights in camping sites.

The Thompson's first stop will be Davenport, Ia., where they will visit Mr. and Mrs. Benny Carter and son. They will then go on to Chicago to visit with friends. From there they will go to Dells, Wis., and later to Milwaukee, Wis. Mrs. Thompson's home town, to visit her father, Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Chatman and other relatives and friends.

Mrs. Thompson pointed out this was the couple's first trip without their daughters, both of whom have been on vacation during the summer. Her youngest, Cecile, made the trip to Camp Baber, in Cassopolis, Mich., held annually for A.M.E. youths.

We had a pleasant surprise visit from a former neighbor Sunday afternoon, in the person of Mrs. Hattie Scott. With the exception of one time downtown, we had not seen her since she moved from the neighborhood nearly five years ago.

(Birdie) Hicks, is buying a home. Before moving they were living on second street place but their house was taken by the urban renewal project.

While perusing the Denver section of the Kansas City Call, one of our exchange newspapers, our eye fell upon a wedding picture of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pigford, newlyweds. Immediately we wondered if they were akin to Mrs. Russel C. Pigford, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar C. Lewis of Des Moines. We found out the groom was the brother-in-law of Mrs. Pigford, who also makes her home in Denver. After reading the story we learned that she was a bridesmaid at the fashionable wedding. We went through the list of out of town guests and discovered the name of Mrs. Oscar Lewis among them. The wedding took place July 1.

During the recent National Beauty Cultrists League convention in Chicago, Ill., the delegates from various states sponsored floats in the annual parade. The float from Georgia won. Members on the float threw actual peaches to the crowds lined along the parade route. Naturally they took first place. Second place winner was the float from Oklahoma whose beautician members handed out miniature oil wells to the parade throngs.

Des Moines will be losing one of its longtime residents this week in the person of Miss Minnie Wray. She has lived in Des Moines for some 35 years; before moving to her present address at 1410 Center street about four years ago, she made her home with the late Mrs. Zorah Ewing.

Miss Wray became ill and was hospitalized at Iowa Methodist on June 1, where she had been convalescing until last week. When she was hospitalized her sister, Mrs. Gladys Walton, of Boston, Mass., came to be with her. Mrs. Walton lived in Des Moines until about 15 years ago.

However, she was back in Des Moines, due to the illness of her sister, in time to attend the 30th anniversary celebration of the Three Purpose Club, of which she is one of three surviving charter members. Mrs. Walton is taking her sister,

CAN'T BUY OTHER NATIONS' FRIENDSHIP

In the Des Moines Sunday Register (August 20) Clark Mollenhoff of the paper's Washington bureau said the administration was vacillating between two lines of thought in Washington with reference to financial aid to Ghana. And in the course of that article, he cited several incidents showing how Nkrumah courted the friendship of Russia while at the same time either was receiving aid from the U.S. as now and held commitments for two large future projects.

Mollenhoff questioned the use of U.S. funds for Ghana whose head declares that he is a Marxist.

Cuba is a glaring example that friendship cannot be brought with dollars for at the same time the U.S. was helping Castro, he was building an arsenal a few miles from our shores with the aid of Russia and her satellites.

Admittedly, the United States is in a bad situation with respect to help for the nations of the world for once started, its going to be difficult to stop. In the meantime, other considerations will weigh heavily in deciding whether uncommitted nations go to Russia or to the west.

In an effort to win the newly emancipated countries, the exchange student program has been accelerated by bringing a lot of these people to all sections of the country. Some have met rebuffs which tend to outweigh what is being done in the schools they attend. Two such incidents have occurred in Iowa in the last year.

Only last week an African student, traveling with a group here to study American schools, was denied services in a barbershop contrary to the laws of Iowa. It was difficult to get charges filed against the barber and only upon insistence by the NAACP was it done. It is proof of the handicap suffered in other places where the organization does not function. Implications of this rebuff were not thought of by the court officials. They saw in it only that maybe the complaining witness would not be on hand to testify. And they were no different from altogether too many people who take the enforcement of civil rights laws too lightly when, as a matter of fact, violating them makes enemies for America every day.

Many countries are taking our money and at the same time playing both ends between the west and east.

CRIME AMONG YOUTH
IS SERIOUS

For sometime, Des Moines has been plagued with a series of almost mob violence by young men and boys. It culminated in the severe beating of a man last week and several lesser offenses which have aroused the public.

As an outgrowth of these crimes, the mayor called a meeting of several public officials and other interested people to suggest what might be done to put a stop to it. A pretty thorough airing and discussion were had out of which came the suggestion that a committee of 50 should be appointed to deal with the situation.

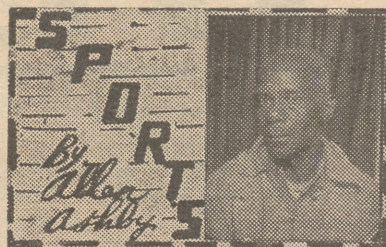

A few weeks ago, it was reported that crime in Des Moines had grown out of proportion to that of most other places. Most people did not believe it but the young hoodlums are helping to prove the assertion.

Just why is all this? Don't we have more churches than most towns? We have no saloons, no real night clubs; the police say gambling is under control and there is no prostitution. Yes, we do have churches, and saloons too but illegal ones, and we have gambling and prostitution a plenty—but scattered all over town.

In trying to pick the foregoing paragraph apart, one must conclude that a lot of people have their heads in the sand and don't know what goes on all around them.

Trying to explain, in surprise, why she thought her son should not be involved in one of these affairs, a mother said the family had a fine home, cars, money to spend and thus there was no reason for him to do such things. But this lady has not yet learned that sometimes a brilliant chap comes from down behind the tracks while some of the worst rascals come from the so-called good homes.

The crimes among these young people are a bad situation. They did not just happen but have gone on for months. Citizens generally should be willing to serve and/or assist the committee in its attempt to solve the problem, one which involves all races and creeds. It's going to take the help of all races and creeds to solve it.

The Major League pennant races are getting closer than ninety-nine is to one hundred. Cincinnati's surge is due largely to Vida Pinson's and Frank Robinson. Wonder what those two would do in a Series against the Yankees? Better start thinking about it because the Reds might be in the thing.

A really good series might be Cincinnati and Detroit. But who is going to stop the Yanks? We figure Los Angeles as having the best chance to beat the Yankees in the series but then nobody gave Pittsburgh much of a chance either.

Lighter Bats

While we are talking about baseball we hear the argument about lighter bats and the new ball, bigger players as all having a part in the production of homers that are sailing out of the parks at a record rate. We think the pitching is handicapped too much now. If a ball comes too close to a batter the hurler must look sorry or be tossed out of the game. There is a much smaller strike zone now than formerly.

In spite of what guys argue now we believe the ball is doctored a little. But back to the pitcher. If a pitcher lets one get away and it makes a batter fall down... who can say it was intentional? No one really, but the pitcher himself.

Reasoning

By the same reasoning if a ball gets away from a pitcher and goes in high and outside where is it coming back? Right back to the box. At least two great pitchers have had their careers shortened by these rifle shots back through the box. Now we know this is not intentional but it does happen. Why not eject the batter as they do the pitcher? What started all of this? We really don't know but we would like to see the pitcher have more of an even break with the hitter.

Meanwhile at Home

Meanwhile back at home the local boys and a club from Omaha were locked in a two game series that we heard was won by our boys. Evert Johnson went to the National semi-pro Meet with the Des Moines Merchants and the team got a split in the first two games. Johnson says they are really travelling in fast company. Some of the best college players in the country and former major leaguers who are still tough enough in this league. He named off a lot of former major leaguers that we could recall and we were glad we weren't playing in that meet.

Robinson Wins MVP
For Month of July

Cincinnati, Ohio—Frank Robinson of the Cincinnati Reds, the National League's hottest hitter in July, piled up the largest margin in the three-year history of the award in being voted the circuit's "player of the month."

Robinson, who batted .409 during July, drove in 34 runs and hit 13 homers, received 32 votes out of a possible 40 from a committee of baseball writers and broadcasters. Robinson had a 19-game hitting streak during the stretch and connected safely in 27 of the Reds' 30 games. Orlando Cepeda of the San Francisco Giants, Roberto Clemente of the Pittsburgh Pirates and Jack Baldschun of the Philadelphia Phillies each received two votes while Bill White of the St. Louis Cardinals and Johnny Podres of the Los Angeles Dodgers collected one vote apiece.

By her side was her attorney, Philip Adams, who himself was sued for divorce last Friday after 27

HEALTH FOR ALL

It Takes Just One

In Italy, twenty-four nursery school children caught active TB from their teacher. In Canada, one woman with active TB infected twenty-two others with active disease, some of them in no more than a week of contact. While both these instances are a little unusual, it is a fact that a case of infectious tuberculosis in a community is a great hazard.

No Prior Contact

Those who have never before come in contact with TB germs are particularly vulnerable. Someone in poor general health, exposed just once or twice to an overwhelming dose of TB germs, can come down with active disease. However, active tuberculosis is more likely to result from repeated exposure to infection.

Original Source

Because a case of active TB can do a great deal of damage in a short time, it is important to examine everyone who has been living or working closely with somebody who has contracted active TB. Sometimes these examinations pinpoint the person who was the original source of infection, but didn't know he had the disease. Once found he can be treated before anyone else catches his illness. Other times, the check up finds those who have just caught the illness from the original case. Then they can be treated early when a cure is quickest and surest.

Since you can be in contact with a case of active TB without knowing it, a regular TB check-up—tuberculin test or chest X-ray—is a smart idea.

Detroit Tigers Sign
Campanella Double

Detroit—The Detroit Tigers has signed a youth believed to be a ringing double for Roy Campanella, the former great Dodgers catcher.

He is Willie Horton, to whom the Tigers paid a $50,000 bonus. Only 18 and still growing, the bull-neck Horton looks so much like Campy, he could easily pass as his twin.

And like Campy, Horton also wields a potent bat. When the Tigers signed him, he had gained a reputation as a .400-plus hitter. Horton was also a catcher.

One of his former coaches, in noting the youngster's similarity to Campanella remarked: "He also hits like Campanella."

The Tigers signed Horton as an outfielder.

Delay Agreed

She was wearing a toast-colored skirt and vest-like jacket over a checked shirt, together with matching shoes and gloves.

Her attorney said the delay had been agreed on because Mays will be out of town on a two-week road trip.

Judge Karesh assented to a "standstill agreement" whereby the Giants will pay Mrs. Mays, 32, temporary support of $250 a week.

She will also be allowed to live at their rented home at 344 Spruce st. and given the use of his 1961 Cadillac, but she is not to run up bills at department stores or make long-distance telephone calls.

After chatting with Mary Maloney, Domestic Relations Commissioner, for one half hour, Mays stated that no reconciliation is possible—so far as he's concerned.

Late Tyrus R. Cobb
Favored Integration

Chicago—Undoubtedly Ty Cobb, like other white players of his era, would have objected to the presence of tan players in major league baseball. Any one who played during the famed Georgia Peach's 24 years as a big leaguer masqueraded as something else.

But when tan players finally overcame the barrier of bigotry to gain recognition as some of the outstanding performers of this generation, Cobb spoke in favor of racial freedom in baseball.

Campanella

Several years ago, while watching a game between the then Brooklyn Dodgers and the Chicago Cubs, Cobb expressed his admiration of Roy Campanella as a catcher.

Later, he said:

"I see no reason in the world why we should not compete with Negro athletes. No white man has a right to be less of a gentleman than the colored man. That goes not only for baseball but for all walks of life."

Times had changed indeed for Tyrus Raymond Cobb, by the time he died last week at the age of 74.

scribes to the reasoning behind the motion to table the Javits amendment, then, in consistency, it ought to make clear to all interstate air travelers that Federal guarantees extend only from runway to runway," he continued.

Obligation

The United States Government, the NAACP leader told Senator Mansfield, "is under an obligation to see that the complete facilities of interstate travel are open without humiliating racial segregation to any travelers. It seems clear from recent court decisions that states and localities may not interpose harassing restrictions upon such travelers where the effect is to deny the enjoyment of constitutional guarantees."

Polk Labor Council
Plan 2nd Polio Clinic

President D. R. Huffman of the Polk County Labor Council, AFL-CIO announced a Polio Clinic will be held Saturday, Aug. 26 from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. in the Plumbbers Hall—124 Washington Street.

Huffman said this is a follow-up from the Clinic held July 29th. He said that approximately 5,000 people received shots at that Clinic and nearly 1,000 of these were first shots. He emphasized that it is most important that those who received their first shot last month, should get their second one at this Clinic. First, second, third, and Booster Shots will be given, however.

This Clinic will be medically supervised and conducted in an air conditioned building. Shots will cost $.50 each, the same as in the July 29 Clinic. Sign-up cards will be filled out at the Clinic.
