Three Des Moines Brothers Attending Same College Two Will Play in Mineral Bowl Games on Nov. 29

The three young men above are all brothers; they are all attending the same college—Kirkville Teachers College in Kirkville, Mo., and they are from Des Moines.

Posing on the steps of one of the buildings on the college campus are from left to right, James, Bill, Jr. and Norman. They are the sons of a very proud father, Mr. Bill Taylor, who probably is the only father in these parts who not only has three sons in the same college, but will have two playing in a bowl game on Saturday, Nov. 29.

Bill, a sophomore and tackle who sees plenty of action on the football team and Norman, a freshman doing a fine job as halfback, and teammates will square off against Parsons college, Fairfield, Ia., in the Mineral Bowl.

James, a junior majoring in industrial arts is a member of the Kirkville conference track team. He plans to do technical work when he finishes college. Bill, a sociology major, also is active on the track teams. Norman, who last June graduated from Des Moines Tech where he was a member of the "Flying Taylor Cousins," and setting numerous high school track records, plans to join his brothers on the Kirkville track team when the season opens. Norman's major field is sociology.

NAACP to Have Day in Alabama Court on Dec. 27

Montgomery, Ala. — The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will finally get its long-delayed day in court here on Dec. 27, just five days before the expiration of the time limit imposed by the United States Supreme Court in its ruling of Oct. 23.

Banned Since 1956

Banned from all activity in the State of Alabama since June 1, 1956, the NAACP has three times gone to the Supreme Court in efforts to secure relief from the state injunction. Three times the High Court ruled for the Association, but Alabama succeeded in evading execution of the Court's first two orders.

After each ruling, the NAACP attempted to get a hearing in Alabama courts on its motion to dissolve the temporary injunction which restrained all Association activities in the state. Unable to get a hearing in the state courts, the NAACP sought action in the United States District Court.

Oct. 23 Order

In its order of Oct. 23, the Supreme Court said if the state courts failed to allow the NAACP to test the legality of the injunction before Jan. 2, 1962, the federal courts would take jurisdiction. This ruling, NAACP General Counsel Robert L. Carter said, "made certain that the state authorities could no longer frustrate the NAACP's five-year effort to get a hearing of the case on its merits."

Last week, Judge Walter B. Jones of the Circuit Court of Montgomery County, who issued the original injunction, announced that a hearing would be held in his court during the Christmas season.

Negro Enrollment in D. C. Public Schools Rise . . . Now 81.5%

Washington, D. C.—Negro enrollment in the public schools in Washington, D. C. has increased 1.8 per cent over the last year, now comprising 81.5 per cent of the total enrollment in the nation's capital.

Figures made public a week ago show the number of Negro pupils increased 6,823 and the number of white pupils decreased 1,220. The city's total public school enrollment is 128,482.

The 1.8 per cent increase in the number of Negro pupils is the smallest annual percentage since the 1952-53 school year. Last year's increase was 3 per cent. In the previous year it was 2.6 per cent.

Woman Falls Asleep, Clothes Catch Fire, Suffer Severe Burns

A 65-year-old woman remained in fair condition with second degree burns sustained when she fell asleep at her home Saturday and her home Saturday and her clothing caught fire from a coal-burning stove.

She is Mrs. Birdie Palmer, of 716 Scott street, whose life was possibly saved when a neighbor and passerby noticed smoke coming from her home and called the fire department.

Mrs. Palmer, who lives alone with no known close relatives living in the city, was taken to Broadlawn Polk County hospital with burns on her body, face and hands.

Police and firemen said Mrs. Palmer apparently went to sleep while sitting in an overstuffed chair next to a coal burning stove; the chair caught fire, then her clothing caught fire.

Judge Grants Temporary Injunction Against Church To Hold Any Meetings

Sioux City, Ia.—The legal fight between members of the Mt. Olive Baptist church continued to wage hot and furious here. In the latest development on Nov. 15 Judge M. E. Rawlings, of the Fourth Judicial district, granted a temporary injunction against the Mt. Olive Baptist church, the Rev. William Phillips and other members of said church from holding a meeting at the church on Nov. 15 at 8 p.m.

The petition was filed by Atty. Henry T. McKnight, Des Moines lawyer, and the Sioux City law firm of Clem & Clem, representing the plaintiffs, who had been served notice by the Mt. Olive Baptist church that a meeting would be held to determine the legality of their expulsion.

Accusers

The notices were served on plaintiffs, Robert Brown, Timothy Jackson, A. C. Evans, C. W. Tiltman, Eddie Jones and Elder Owens. Listed as accusers were Alex Thomas, Perry Richmond and John Stokes with witnesses named as George Windsor, Dorothy Lowe, Mabel Robinson, Larry Ganaway, Bertha Brown, Alex Brown, Perry Richmond and John Stokes.

In the notices the "accused were notified they would be able to bring their witnesses, providing they were church members, according to the rules of "The Busy Pastors' Guide."

Meeting

The defendants had set up a church court for Nov. 15 with another Sioux City minister, Rev. E. W. Bratton of Mt. Zion Baptist church to "act as judge." According to the notices served on the "expelled members" the Mt. Olive Baptist church had held a meeting on Nov. 5 with 44 attending and "voted unanimously" to bring charges against the "plaintiffs." The notices were served on Nov. 9.

Judge Rawlings

Judge Rawlings granted the injunction restraining the church, pastor and other defendants from holding the meeting and trail on the grounds that they were attempting to "adjudicate the same matter that is now pending before the court."

Another Negro Freed on Bail In Monroe, N.C., Frameups

Monroe, N. C.—Albert Rorie, 17-year-old Negro youth of Monroe, N. C., who was sentenced to three-to-five years for shooting a policeman in the leg, a charge which he denies, is out on bail.

Conrad Lynn, attorney for the Committee to Aid the Monroe Defendants, who represented Rorie at his Nov. 2 trial, filed notice of appeal on Nov. 13. Simultaneously, Dr. A. E. Perry of Monroe, chairman of the CAMD, posted an appeal bond of $200.00 and bail of $2,500.00, securing Rorie's release. Rorie is the fourth defendant in Monroe for whom the CAMD has arranged cash bail. The total sum now posted is $17,700.00.

Denies Shooting

The shooting denied by Rorie allegedly took place during the police-encouraged, white-supremist rioting on Aug. 27 against Freedom Riders and local Negroes protesting segregation. The policeman admitted he had stopped and searched Rorie at the time but, finding no weapon, had released him. Many hours later, however, and with no additional evidence, the charge was lodged against Rorie who had been conspicuous in the anti-segregation picketing.

Beatings

Last week in Monroe 15-year-old Brown Massey was reportedly beaten by a gang of whites. During the Aug. 27th rioting Massey had been badly beaten and then jailed. When his sisters, braving the mob, went to see him at the police station, they too were jailed on charges of inciting to riot.

Daisy Bates Steps Down As Arkansas NAACP Head

Little Rock, Ark.—George Howard, Jr., a seasoned civil rights attorney, succeeded Mrs. Daisy Bates this week at president of the NAACP's Arkansas organization.

Mrs. Bates, "the heroine of Little Rock," stepped down after nine hectic years of leading the Association's battles in Arkansas, highlighted by the Little Rock school crisis of September, 1957. She still serves on the Association's National Board of Directors.

A native of Pine Bluff, where he headed the local NAACP chapter, Mr. Howard worked closely with Mrs. Bates during the Arkansas school struggle.

State Convention

The Arkansas State Conference of NAACP branches held its 17th annual convention here Nov. 11-12 and passed resolutions calling for intensification of its program combatting bias in employment, public housing, and education.

Rev. Edward Odom, Jr., NAACP national church secretary, who addressed the overflow mass meeting, called on ministers to "lead the way for better job opportunities for Negroes and initiate surveys of job bias."

Economic Boycott

Mr. Odom also advised the dele-

Chisoxxs Solve Spring Training Housing Problem

Buy Hotel in Florida For All Farm Clubs, Big League Players

Sarasota, Fla. — Chicago's White Sox have purchased the Sarasota Terrace hotel, largest in town. As a result, its Negro and Cuban players will be housed under the same roof during spring training.

Purchase of the hotel by the Sox eliminates a racial problem which has vexed the team's Negro players and worried team officials during past seasons.

Reasons

Meanwhile, in Chicago, the reason for the purchase of the hotel was not thoroughly explained. One interpretation, from the outside, was that the action was submission of a sort to local pressure in regard to the spring training integration problem. Negro players previously stayed elsewhere in compliance with Florida discrimination laws.

Searching For Meals

There have been reported instances of tan players having to wander about town looking for meals because local hotels and restaurants refused to serve them.

The Los Angeles Dodgers and the San Francisco Giants are believed to be the only other major league clubs which either own or have owned a hotel at their spring training site. The Dodgers live in Dodger town at Vero Beach, Fla., a one-time Army camp, and several years ago the Giants purchased an inn in Sanford, Fla., where they had their minor league camp.

Cost Over $500,000

Purchase price for the 117-room structure, which will accommodate 200 guests, was slightly over $500,000.

Best To Be Owner

Said one White Sox executive last spring: "The people were very courteous and anxious to solve the integration problem. But they felt it would be much easier if we owned the hotel. Then, the year-round citizens couldn't claim that local people were responsible."

Sox General Manager Ed Short, who made the announcement, explained that hereafter, all of the club's personnel will be able to stay at the Sarasota Terrace. "Everyone can stay," said Short, "but if someone brings his family he'll have to make his own arrangements. This is routine."

New Contract

Short also said that the new 5-year contract will go into effect in 1963 when all of the club's farm teams will train in Sarasota, and that starting next summer the Sox will operate a franchise in Sarasota instead of Daytona Beach, which has been their previous affiliation in the Class D Florida State League.

Short estimated there are 25 Negro players among the 150 minor leaguers in the Sox farm system. It is known that Short was concerned about the race taboo.

AG JOB OPPORTUNITIES

Cernoria D. Johnson, Langston University, Langston, Okla.; and Horace G. Barnett, Arkansas A. M. and N. College, Pine Bluff. The discussion took place last Friday in New Orleans, La., at Xavier University's Conference on Progressional Career Opportunities in the Federal Government. Representatives of several government agencies and 12 colleges conferred.

HOME OWNERS

Philadelphia, Pa. — The Department of Justice was urged by the NAACP this week to protect Mr. and Mrs. James Gaines, Jr., whose newly purchased Lima, Pa., home has been under attack by white neighbors. Mrs. Gaines, the former Verolga Nix, is a niece of Congressman Robert N. C. Nix of Philadelphia.

$19,900 Home

Racial incidents started when the young couple purchased a $19,900 split-level house Sept. 21. Their home was picketed by a neighbor's pre-school child on the following Sunday morning with a sign reading: "Welcome Niggers to Harlem."

The attractive residence was subsequently stoned, resulting in broken windows on Oct. 15. This happened again on November 13 when rocks "the size of softballs" were hurled against the house. These attacks were reported by William E. Goolsby, president of the Media NAACP chapter, to the Pennsylvania State Human Relations Commission and the State Police. Both were urged to take quick and firm action to apprehend the offenders.

Both Teachers

Mr. and Mrs. Gaines are both teachers in the Philadelphia school system. Mrs. Gaines has been teaching six years and now heads the music department at Shoemaker Junior High School. Mr. Gaines, who has been teaching for eight years, is fifth grade teacher and coordinator of classes at Berry Elementary School. The couple has no children.

Besides the inconvenience of having to shuttle back and forth to the games to join white players, the segregation posed a mental and physical hazard to the Negro players.

Baltimore Negro Vote Increasing Steadily

Baltimore—Spurred by a sustained NAACP drive under leadership of Dr. Lillie M. Jackson, branch president, registration of Negro voters in Baltimore is steadily approaching parity with that of white voters.

With more than 108,000 Negroes enrolled, these voters now constitute more than a quarter of the city's total of 407,500 registered voters. In 1955 there were only 72,800 colored voters in Baltimore. The continuing campaign to enlarge this vote has been conducted under auspices of the Baltimore NAACP.

35% of Population

Negroes account for 35 per cent of the city's total population and 27 per cent of the total registered vote. In part, this is because a larger proportion of Negroes is under 21 years of age than whites. The expansion of the Negro vote has been accompanied by a decline in the number of white voters. In 1955 there were 324,000 white voters. That figure is now down to 299,600.

Comments

Commenting on the rise of the Negro vote, the Baltimore Evening Sun said: "It means an increasing participation by Negroes in the electoral process and probably a rise in the number of Negroes chosen for city office. One hopes that it will also bring a widening of Negro interest in general politics."

Good Future Seen for Trained Negro Youth

Seguin, Texas—Delegates from 125 Texas NAACP youth and college units were told this week that Negro youth with good foundations in English, mathematics and science have a bright future.

Herbert L. Wright, national NAACP youth secretary, said that "employment and educational opportunities, never thought possible before, are now available to able Negro youth." He cited numerous jobs in science and technology and liberal arts, which "have gone begging in recent months because of a lack of trained personnel to fill them."

Urges Education

"We must create within the Negro community a sense of urgency towards education and its importance to future work success," Mr. Wright said.

He addressed the Association's Texas youth state conference held Nov. 10-12.

In a statement earlier this week, the management of Terrace Roller Rink at 2401 Hickman road, stated that all races are welcome to have parties or participate individually at the establishment, providing "all rules are observed."

Student of the Week

This is the fourth in a series of articles on young ladies and gentlemen who are attending the junior and senior high schools in Des Moines and other Iowa cities. This series is intended to give praise and example of the many thousands of youths who are preparing themselves educationally to take over the reins of tomorrow's world. This series also hopes to give publicity to the good in our youth which is in the majority.

We present to you as this week's candidate for student of the week another personable, poised young lady . . . Toni Holmes, 14, a tenth grade student at North high school.

Last week she was runner-up in the first annual "Miss Federated Dream Girl for 1961-62. Of the contest she said, "I felt highly honored to have been chosen to represent my club, 'The Cotillions,' and further more to have been selected as second prize winner of the queen contest."

Sports

Toni is quite sports minded. At school she is trying out for the rope jump events, and also plays tennis a lot. She began tennis playing at an early age, first with the well known Hilltop Tennis club, in which she traveled with the group around the state playing matches in her age group. Her hobbies are swimming,

The St. John AME Basketball team won a smashing victory over Snider Presbyterian church. For our first time together we looked like a real ball club. There were a few mistakes but that is to be expected from any team together for the first time.

High point man with nineteen was Leonard Miller, Freddie Starling and Bob Brown contributed 16 points each. John Clay, Edward Eanes, Leon King and James Redd played a sparkling defensive game. We had a few injuries which could happen to any team. Leon got a sprained foot, Bob Brown a bruised leg, but they were all minor.

At the YMCA Mike Jenkins was voted coach, Leon Miller team captain. The next game is Nov. 30 at the Y. The public is invited to attend. Next Friday the team will be out of town.

Youth Faces Blindness
After Police Beating

Tampa, Fla. — The U.S. Civil Rights Commission has been asked to investigate a police beating of a young Negro after state authorities failed to act.

Rufus Cason, 23, of Olustee was attacked by four law enforcement officers in the Lake City jail last September 22, after he was allegedly complaining to cellmates of his arrest. He was then taken from his cell with the explanation, "We're going to teach you how to talk about white people."

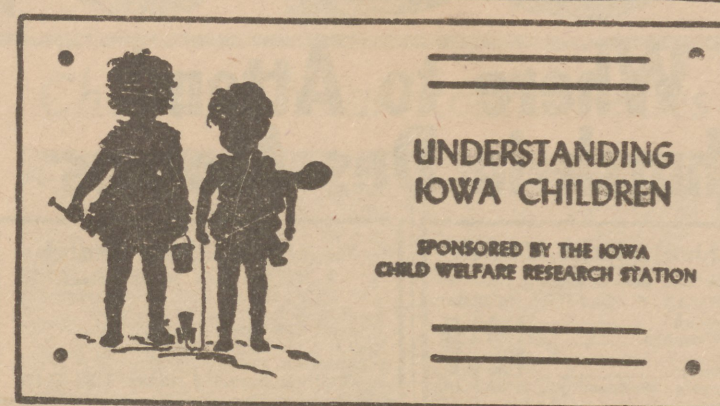

Beaten with Blackjacks

The youth was made to sit in an arm chair, hold his arms outward with hands in a downward position and beaten by four white men with blackjacks. As a result of the brutal attack, he faces blindness.

He was later treated by a McCleny, Fla., physician. Cason was arrested when the car he was riding in was stopped for a faulty muffler. The driver was given a ticket. Both were jailed, Cason for allegedly being drunk. The young man pleaded "not guilty" to charges of being drunk and resisting arrest. However, he did tell the presiding judge of his beating.

CHILDREN NEED

CHOOSING FRIENDS

A question commonly raised at parent education meetings is that of how to help adolescents develop independence and self-reliance. A recent discussion covered various aspects of the question; but of particular interest was the discussion of ways to encourage adolescents to learn through experience how to make choices. Group members felt that parents should leave young people free wherever possible to make their own choices.

Choosing Friends

At this point one mother asked, "We've been talking about choosing clothes and interests and so on; but what about choosing friends? Suppose you don't like the friends your children choose. How free should they be to make such choices?"

The group realized that this was not a mere question of methods but one involving understanding of our system of values. One member said, "I think we don't realize how often we object to our child's choice of friends because of our own prejudices and needs rather than concern for his own good."

Objections

Other members had to admit they had caught themselves making objections on such grounds. One mother said, "My boys have been bringing home a friend whom I don't like. I've tried to discourage this friendship quietly but have only aroused my boys' anger."

She went on to say that her boys wanted to know why she objected, and when she tried to explain that the friend had poor manners, was loud and aggressive, and was just not a "good influence," one son said to her, "Well, he's our friend and we don't mind. We like him."

Interference

As parents, we often interfere with and try to protect our children from "undesirable" friends because these friends don't come up to our expectations. We might better use our energies to help our children find wholesome things to do together. Parents may have to interfere on rare occasions when there is real danger, but just as we are developing our understanding of ourselves and others through our experiences with people, so our children need to be encouraged to do the same.

Howard U. Choir Wins Press Raves for Performance With National Symphony Orch.

Washington, D. C.—The Howard University Choir collaborated with the National Symphony Orchestra last week under the baton of Choir director Warner Lawson in a series of concert performances which won the hearts and plaudits of music critics throughout the city.

Heroes

In two concerts at Constitution Hall, and another at Lisner Auditorium, the Choir repeated its triumph of three years ago when it won unanimous rave notices for its 70-minute performance of Carl Orff's "Carmina Burana." Dean Lawson served as guest conductor for the performance.

"Heroes of the evening," wrote music critic Paul Hume of the Washington Post, as he described members of the Choir and their performance. "In the face of a magnificent, exciting chorus singing songs about love in the springtime, people sat on their hands as if they were hearing Handel's 'Messiah,'" Hume declared.

Marvelous

Irving Lowens, music critic of the Washington Evening Star, wrote: "He (Dean Lawson) had marvelous raw materials to work with—this year's Howard University Choir sounds to me like the finest he has yet assembled—and he made the most of it.

Cheers for Year 'Round Jellies

THE SAYING, "a cheerful look makes a dish a treat," is an old one. And it's true; every housewife knows you can't place too much emphasis on making food taste better by making it look tempting, too. A simple Lemonade Jelly or a mint variation does wonders for lamb and veal main dishes!

And fortunately, even though fresh fruits are not as abundant at this time of the year as they were last summer, we can make superior jellies now, with frozen juices! One of our favorites is Lemonade Jelly made with frozen lemonade and Certo liquid fruit pectin. In addition to recommending its flavor, we think you'll be delighted with how quickly you can make jelly using this easy, short-boil method.

LEMONADE JELLY

Yield: about 5 medium glasses (2½ lbs. jelly).

2½ cups (1 lb. 2 oz.) sugar ¼ cup (6-oz. can) quick-frozen concentrated lemonade, thawed
1½ cups water ½ bottle Certo liquid fruit pectin

Measure sugar and water into a large saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat, bring to a full rolling boil, and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Stir in thawed lemonade. Add Certo and mix well. Pour quickly into glasses. Cover jelly at once with ½ inch hot paraffin.

Minted Lemonade Jelly. Use recipe for Lemonade Jelly, adding 8 drops mint extract with the lemonade. If desired, a few drops of green food coloring may be added at the same time.

Hoped that each of you enjoyed the best Thanksgiving ever with your families and friends. When you think about it except for the time element, Thanksgiving has not changed too much down through the centuries.

'Tis true that we are living in an ultra-modern age when the weapons of destruction facing us are most ominous, at least to us. But when you think about it, the early settlers of our country, also faced the Great Unknown. They too did not know what was beyond the horizon of time and nature; they knew not what the next day or year would bring. There were hostile Indians, wild animals, and Nature's fearsome winters. Yet they gathered together in thanksgiving with their families and friends. They were thankful for what had been and for their present state. They left the worries of their tomorrows for their tomorrows.

So are we doing this week; we did last week; and will continue to do in the future. For as the late one of this country's greatest trials, "We have nothing to fear, but fear itself." And in the words of another philosopher whom we can not call to mind as to name, "We usually find, what we fear so much, either never comes to pass, or is never half as bad as we feared."

U.S. president said in the time of one of this country's greatest, "We have nothing to fear, but fear itself." And in the words of another

PHEASANT HUNTING POOR THIS YEAR

Prior to the opening of the pheasant season in Iowa on November 11, the Conservation Commission had announced a good supply of birds. Many farmers denied it.

Well, judging from the reports from hunters generally, the farmers were right. While some parties had pretty good luck in spots, by and large this has proved a disappointing season.

Pheasant hunting is a fine sport. At one time, Iowa boasted an excellent crop but in recent years the birds have tended to scatter from the northern counties where cover for hiding and nesting has been reduced to almost nothing.

In an effort to reduce crop acreage, maybe the conservation commission and the federal government might work out some type of program which would utilize the land taken out of production which could be used for game preserves. Hunters pay liberal license fees for a few days to hunt. Officials in charge should make it worth while.

In recent years, areas are being bought up and restricted to selected groups for hunting. The owners prepare the land for and help increase the pheasant population. Of course, this is an expense which the average hunter cannot afford. And it does little to enhance the value of the conservation commission.

FORMER PRESIDENT TRUMAN TALKS TOO MUCH

Speaking at a press conference in Washington recently, former President Truman, who had spent the previous night in the white house, said he had slept in Lincoln's bed. He hastened to say that even though he spent seven years in the white house, this was the first time he had slept in Lincoln's bed.

Once in a while, old Harry emits a quip which tends to prove himself to be as he once called himself, "a reconstructed rebel" and not the greatest friend for the civil rights of the Negro as some have claimed.

TRICKY PAROLES FROM ELDORA

A few weeks ago, a small group of youngsters from some of the better homes on the west side in Des Moines were sent to the boys' training school at Eldora for participating in a series of especially serious crimes. In fact, altogether too many had escaped punishment before, in other instances, to the extent that boys from some other sections began to complain that two standards of justice were being used in juvenile court.

After spending about eleven weeks at Eldora, these youngsters were all released in masse, the superintendent claiming that they were the best bunch of boys that had ever entered the institution.

This is most unusual in many respects and tends to lend credence to the charge of double standard justice for boys coming from different sections of the city.

It is doubtful if any other boys sent to Eldora for participating in the same type of crime have been released under the same conditions. And all without newspaper publicity.

BASEBALL MANAGERS SEE THE LIGHT

Since becoming a part of organized baseball, Negroes have proved their worth in no uncertain estimate. Most teams include them and those which hesitate to do so are those of the mediocre standing.

As they have become a part of the teams with "job security" some have gone on to insist on their rights—among them, the right to live wherever they play without being segregated.

Most teams hold spring training in southern communities where the warm climate permits sufficient practice well in advance of opening season. Racial segregation prevails in these communities so baseball management simply followed local custom and segregated their players.

Last spring, the issue came to the front with Negro players demanding that racial segregation be stopped. In line with some college coaches who refuse to play schools which exclude non-whites from their roster of players and/or segregate them, Negro players demanded of management that it discontinue the practice.

In recent weeks, many teams have solved their problem even to the extent of purchasing a motel in one instance so that the whole team can be housed together.

This has been a victory for those players who dared to complain of injustices and for the managers who recognized the unfair set-up and proceeded to do something about it.

Dad-gummit!! Our Hawks Got Beat Again! Michigan Licks Iowa in Second Half, 23-14

By Staff Writer

Ann Arbor, Mich.—Dadgummit!!! It's a sin and a shame but Iowa got beat again. This time by Michigan. Like a hurt snake coiled in the grass, the Hawks struck early and deadly in the first half and sported a 14-3 lead at intermission time. But in the end succumbed to the steady touchdown blows of Wolverine power and died 23-14.

Haunted

It just doesn't seem fair the way the Hawkeyes have been haunted by the werewolf and jinx-ghost of the gridiron this season. They have lost four in a row now after winning four in a row. Their record is four and four for the season; four-two in conference play. Their worst season in nearly ten years. They must dig deeply into their grab bag of tricks to offset Notre Dame at Iowa City next week who will try, like everybody else, to knock them for a loop. They must win this one to save face.

Crux of the Matter

The crux of the matter in the Hawkeye fiasco is that their once potent wing-T offensive machinery has become ineffective and inoperable. Somewhere along the way they got their wires crossed, ran out of gas, lost star personnel and thus the wing-T has hereafter just chugged and rattled along. But in a philosophical vein one must say: that's life and there's always tomorrow.

The Game

Michigan scored first with a 30-yard field goal. Iowa retaliated with Joe Williams returning the kick off 33-yards. Twice more Joe carried around end for ten. Quarterback Matt Szykowny dropped back and uncorked a pass to glue-fingered Cloyd Webb that was good for 49-yards to the Michigan four. Then Slam-bang full back Bill Perkins carried home for a T.D. The Iowans nullified Michigan's stuff and forced them to punt. In 13 plays they moved 70 yards with Williams, playing superman, flying through the air over tackle Al Hinton and Perkins for Iowa's final tally of the game. Both P.A.T.'s were good and it was Iowa 14, Michigan 3 at the half.

All Michigan

It was all Michigan in the second part of the contest. When a hurricane dips down out of the sky no one can stop it; it just runs its course and goes on its rampaging way. Such were the Wolverines as they stepped back onto the field. With the fury of a hurricane they sent the football raining through the sky three times in succession then ran it the rest of the way. The force of their attack was relentless and pounded away at the Hawks until they took over with a 16-14 lead. Their fury carried over into their defense as they throw Iowa for continued losses and stymied their offensive endeavors. In the last quarter added another T.D. just in case the Hawks got any funny ideas about scoring again, but it never happened.

The Hawks consolation in losing again this time was that they did not fumble. By golly, they didn't give the game away this time... they just got beat. But the end of the world hasn't come. Wait till next year...

Tony Wilcox Jumps from College Cage Team to Famed Harlem Globetrotters

Chicago—Tall Tony Wilcox has the distinction of being one of the few basketball players to ever jump from a college quintet and win a berth on the famous Harlem Globetrotters aggregation.

Two years ago the nimble, well-proportioned six foot-eight inch hawk bid goodbye to Wittenberg University at Springfield, Ohio, where he had starred in track and basketball, and joined the fabulous Trotters as a new rookie.

Backboard

His ability to snatch balls off the backboards, and consistently good shooting, won him a place on the team. Now in his second year, the towering youngster, who first won athletic fame at Cleveland's East Tech high school, is extremely proud of the fact that he never had to be farmed out.

Experience

"It's like a guy jumping from college to big league baseball," Tony said the other day as he prepared to accompany the Trotters on a whirlwind tour, which includes a stop in his home town of Cleveland. "When you make a team like the Trotters without first being farmed out for experience, it's hard to believe. Here I am playing with the great players I've read about for years, Meadowlark Lemon, Clarence Wilson, Bobby Milton, Murphy Summons and all the others. Sometimes I have to pinch myself to make sure it isn't all a dream."

Brilliant Future

Owner-coach Abe Saperstein says Tony has a brilliant future and should be in the game for many years to come. "He is a great rebounder right now," Abe says, "and his 17-point average will go even higher with a little more experience."

Wilcox will get a chance to play before his home town fans when the Trotters play in Cleveland next Sunday.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Travel agents and resort operators wish we could have 12 months of vacation every year. It would mean money in the bank for them. Until we get closer to that millennium—and maybe it wouldn't be as much fun as we think—they'll have to be satisfied with the growing trend towards winter vacations.

Good Idea

A winter vacation is a good idea, especially when the company you work for thinks so too. You don't get outside as much in the winter if you live in a cold climate, those coughs and sneezes build up, you feel overworked and droopy. A rest and a change can do a lot of good.

But what if you can't get a week or two off? What is those glamorous winter vacations are for other, more fortunate, people? Is there anything you can do to keep from ending up the winter feeling like a plant growing in the dark? Plan your life a little.

More Sleep

Maybe some extra sleep would help. One night a week to bed at 8 o'clock, perhaps. Or an occasional Saturday of breakfast in bed and nap till noon, if you can get your husband or wife to cooperate.

Maybe you need some relief from cabin fever. Can you take the family out to eat now and then? Or how about a short trip over a three-day week-end? Plan on it, for the break in routine if nothing else.

Eating Habits

Would a daily walk refresh you? Would a little more attention to eating the foods you need to strengthen your resistance? How about eating a decent breakfast, for instance?

And have you been to the doctor for your yearly physical checkup, including a chest X-ray or tuberculin test? Now's a good time—before the winter winds really blow.

PHI DELTA KAPPA SORORITY HONORS TWO MORE FOUNDERS

New York—Announcement that Phi Delta Kappa sorority has purchased NAACP life memberships for two more of its founders, was made here this week by Kivie Kaplan, life membership co-chairman. Mrs. Helen Maxwell, Supreme Basileus, presented the $500 life-time NAACP memberships to Mrs. Ella Wells Butler and Miss Marguerite Gross. Other founders of the national teachers' body already enrolled as NAACP life members are Mrs. Julia A. Barnes, Mrs. Florence Steele Hunt, Mrs. Gladys C. Nunery, and Mrs. Gladys M. Ross.

A fellow once told us that he had played nineteen games of billiard and had not won a single one. He had lost several by one point after having a big lead and at no time was he beaten badly but he just couldn't win. Such seems to be the plight of the Iowa U. football team.

They just can't seem to win. They can't put together enough plays to make a winner. And they have Notre Dame, always a tough team, waiting.

Well, this is the last game for some of the Hawks. Maybe this might be the day. We have been hearing grapevine stories of discussion among the players. Disagreement and jealousy between backs and among backs and linemen. Then some fellows swear that there is a big rift between the races on the team. We hope they are wrong. Some point out that the team has never played as a cohesive unit. There has never been the fine teamwork and cooperation that make for a big effort. The good plays that were made were largely personal efforts.

Trouble

There could be some trouble on the team but we better take a look around the conference. Take Munsy and Stephens away from Minnesota and the Gophers would certainly flounder. Where would Ohio State be without Bob Ferguson. Michigan was in trouble until their big fullback and Ramey, their fast halfback returned. See what we mean? Maybe if Hollis and Ferguson could have played things might have been different. At least there would have been another excuse for their not winning. But as we see it the fellows of the game, the team, just isn't playing together and without that we can't win. Well, maybe Saturday.

Big Fast Negroes

We look over the list of Big fast Negro backs who will have a chance to go into pro ball next fall and we wonder what will happen. McClinton of Kansas, Davis of Syracuse, Ferguson of Ohio State, Stephens, Munsey and Dickerson of Minnesota, maybe Hollis of Iowa and Thornton of Nebraska. If they all make it, it will be rough in either of the leagues where they are not playing for fun.

Al Hinton Named Hawkeye Co-Captain

Iowa City, Ia.—Al Hinton, senior right tackle of the Hawkeyes football squad, was named a co-captain of Iowa's football team here Wednesday night, Nov. 15.

Coach Jerry Burns said Hinton was chosen unanimously by the team because Saturday's game was with Michigan, (Hinton is from Saginaw, Mich.), and because Wilburn Hollis, former co-captain with center Bill Van Buren, has been sidelined for the season.

GIVE THANKS—GIVE HEED

By Alton Levy

There is much we can be thankful for.

There's much a source of pride; But much to be ashamed of, too, And much we'd rather hide. There's much that's been accomplished.

(Integrated schools, for one) But don't feel smug or satisfied; There's much that's still undone. Nor are the sore spots all below The Mason-Dixon line; Of bias' design

Like tennis clubs and country clubs With race supremacy views Which will not take in Negroes And which also exclude Jews. Like public schools—not Southern ones—

(Up North these are located) With chosen sites reserved for whites,

With Negroes segregated. Like agencies with jobs galore That seem to take enjoyment From telling all minority groups "We can't give you employment." Like landlords who, from guile or fear, Or other strong persuasion, Will only rent a home or flat To obvious Caucasian Or some unions which discriminate And, spurning all complaining, Keep Negroes from full membership And from apprentice training. The list is long but this is true:

Archie Moore Says; "I'll Fight Anybody If The Price Is Right

Montreal—Archie Moore, that sly old fox who will fight anyone if the price is right, is coming back to Canada for another pay day.

This time his take-home pay will be considerably less than the half-million dollars he drew in two previous world title fights with Yvon Durelle, who was Canadian and British Empire titlist at the time.

He will meet Canadian heavyweight champion Bob Cleroux of Montreal at the Forum Dec. 5 in a 10-round non-title bout. Manager Jack Kearns said Moore signed for a guarantee of $50,000 of 35 per cent.

No TV or Radio

Promoter Eddie Quinn, who staged Moore's two previous title fights here, said the Forum would be scaled from $25 to $5. A full house 15,703 would draw a gross of $222,750. Moore's end would be about

PEOPLE MAKE IOWA GREAT

... the Employer

In the light of today's bright business outlook in Iowa, we owe a special vote of recognition to the man who helps make this possible... the employer.

Iowa payrolls are increasing. New businesses, new jobs are developing. In all this, the enterprise of our employers has been a key factor... in building an expanding economy... in also creating the sound structure which makes Iowa employment among the most stable in the nation.

It is difficult to say which industry is the largest employer in Iowa. But, high on the list stands the brewing industry which now employs over 23,000 Iowans. Yes, as an employer, a taxpayer, a buyer of farm products, and in other ways...
