Current said, He was here to address the Oklahoma State NAACP conference in session at the Manual Training High School, Nov. 19.

Negro Doctor from Mississippi Among Defendants in Chicago

Chicago, Ill.—A Negro doctor who once was an outstanding leader for his race in Mississippi, was among 39 persons indicted here Monday and charged with operating as members of a nation-wide accident ring that cheated insurance companies of at least $1 million dollars.

Mississippi Leader

Among those scheduled to be arraigned Tuesday was Dr. Theodore R. M. Howard of Chicago, who allegedly issued false medical insurance claims charging "$35 per $100 for issuing them." Howard formerly operated a hospital at Mount Bayou, Miss., and was founder of the Council of Negro Leadership in Mississippi.

Another doctor, an attorney and two suspended policemen were also among those indicted by the Cook County grand jury. The list was made public by Assistant State Attorney Mitchell Edelson, Jr.

9 In a Car

In some of the fake accidents, Edelson said, ring members would stage the crash. As many as nine persons would claim to have been in one vehicle, he said.

Sometimes innocent motorists were unwitting participants in the operation, the prosecutor said. In these cases, Edelson said, one member would drive in front of a car and suddenly slam on his brakes to induce a rear-end collision.

Garage Helped

The indictments said cars damaged in fraudulent accidents frequently were taken to a Chicago garage. Edelson said sledge hammers were used at the garage if necessary to make sure the condition of the cars would support big damage claims.

He said some of the defendants operated in Milwaukee, Wis., Toledo, Ohio, Detroit, Mich., Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minn., and St. Louis, Mo.

Father Gibson Speaks To Clergy Conference

Kansas City, Mo.—Father Theodore R. Gibson, president of the Miami NAACP, whose U. S. Supreme Court case will be heard December 4, will address religious leaders from nine states here this week.

The militant Miami clergyman faces six months in jail and a $1,200 fine for refusing to follow a directive from a Florida legislative committee to verify from a membership list certain persons as NAACP members.

200 Ministers

Leonard Carter, NAACP field secretary from the Association's Region IV, reports that more than 200 ministers were expected to attend the two-day meeting, Nov. 29-30.

States included are Missouri, Kansas, Iowa, Colorado, Montana, Nebraska, Wyoming, Minnesota and South Dakota. The workshops will concentrate on church action against job discrimination and the importance of church support of NAACP membership and financial campaigns.

Other conference speakers include Dr. Stanley I. Stuber, executive secretary, Missouri Council of Churches and Rev. E. J. Odom, Jr., NAACP national church secretary.

UNCF Drive Will Close in Iowa Dec. 17 Still Time to Donate

The United Negro College fund drive will conclude on Dec. 17 according to Joseph Wimberly, 1961 co-chairman in Iowa. He stated "While the drive among our people has been disappointing thus far, he hopes late contributions will enable Iowa to meet its quota."

Mr. Wimberly said he believed that lack of support by some is a false belief that such contributions would perpetuate segregation; that some are not aware of the role Negro colleges are playing in the drama of American education and in the fight for integrated schools.

Reverse Integration

"Many schools which are UNEF beneficiaries," Mr. Wimberly continued, "are rated higher than white schools in the community. In many instances in the social patterns change some former Negro colleges now boast white students in equal numbers to Negroes."

POLL TAX MARCH STAGED IN MISS.

Mr. Wimberly stated that many churches and other organizations already supported the drive, but any not doing so, may yet contribute by making a check or money order to United Negro College Fund and mailing it to Mr. Joseph Wimberly, 2720 Amick avenue, Des Moines, Ia.

Contributions are deductible from state and federal income tax and acknowledged by the UNCF national office.

1961 Record of Anti-Bias in Housing Legislation Is Best

New York—More states enacted more anti-discrimination laws in 1961 than in any previous year, the American Jewish Congress reported.

In its biennial survey of state anti-bias legislation, the Congress said that 21 states passed 39 laws this year covering racial and religious discrimination in employment, education, housing and public accommodations. "Figured either by the number of states, the number of bills or the breadth of their scope," the report noted, "the year 1961 set records for state civil rights legislation not achieved in any preceding year."

Blazed New Trail

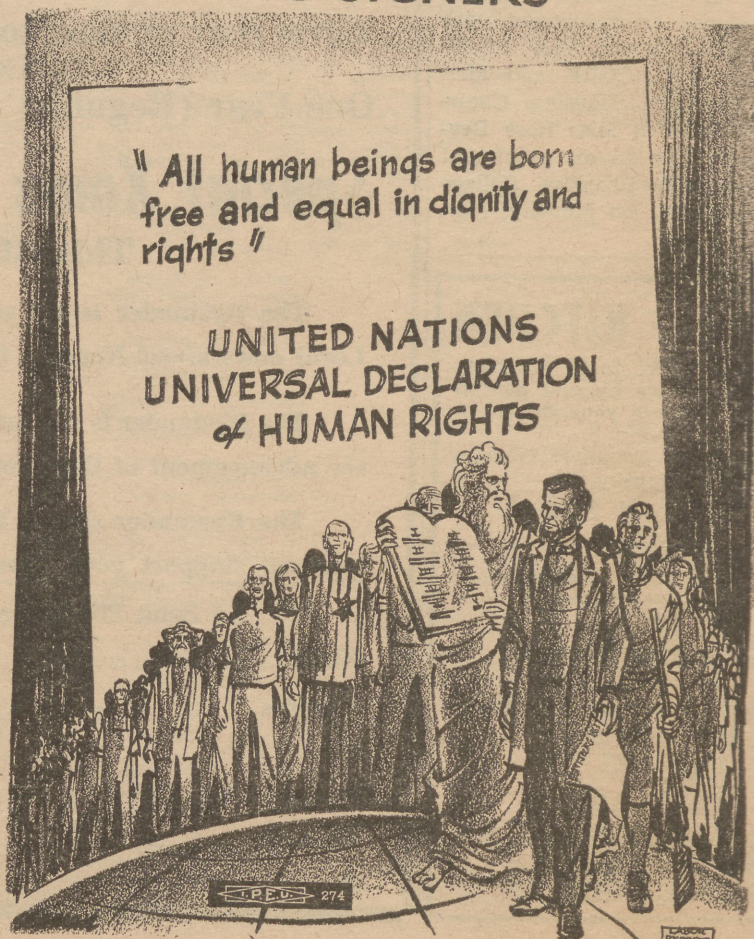

The American Jewish Congress study was prepared by the agency's Commission on Law and Social Action under Shad Polier, chairman. While pointing out that none of the 1961 laws blazed new trails in anti-discrimination legislation, the report found as "a very significant development" the fact that "legislatures throughout the country have observed the enactment of civil rights laws in other states, have satisfied themselves that the law works and have decided to follow suit."

Steady Progress

Since enactment of the first fair employment laws in 1945 and the report of President Truman's Committee on Civil Rights in 1947, it was noted, "the fact of continued inequality has not been allowed to lapse from the consciousness or conscience of the American people."

Exec. Committee Adopts Resolutions to Open Doors To All Regardless of Race

Organized representatives of professional barbers in Iowa have gone on record to open doors to all prospective customers regardless of race, creed or color.

The action was disclosed by Governor Norman A. Erbe Wednesday, Nov. 22 when he announced that the Iowa Barber Executive committee has adopted a resolution opposing racial discrimination in barbershops. The committee includes representatives for the Journeyman Barbers Union, Associated Master Barbers and State Examining Board. Two barber school owners are members also.

The stand by the barbers committee came after conferences with the Governor's Commission on Civil Rights, and elicited praise from Governor Erbe.

Resolution

The resolution reads: "Discrimination and segregation in barbershops in Iowa tends to incite racial antagonism detrimental to the peace and welfare and to provoke unlicensed practice of barbering detrimental to the public welfare.

"When applied to persons from foreign lands, such practice impairs the prestige of the United States and thereby national security.

"We, the Executive Committee representing the organized segments of the barber profession in Iowa, recommend that all members of said segments shall render barber services to all persons with equal respect to all.

"We further urge all members to make known to the public that the accommodations of their respective barbershops shall be open without reservation."

DOGGETT

In Virginia--Desegregation 'Plan' Submitted for Prince Edwards County School Bd.

Richmond, Va. — Instead of a stand dissolved except upon further order of this Court."

Incompetency

The Prince Edward County school board report of Nov. 15 confesses the incompetency of the board members "to attempt to project their minds to a factual situation beyond which these questionnaires show exist in the county."

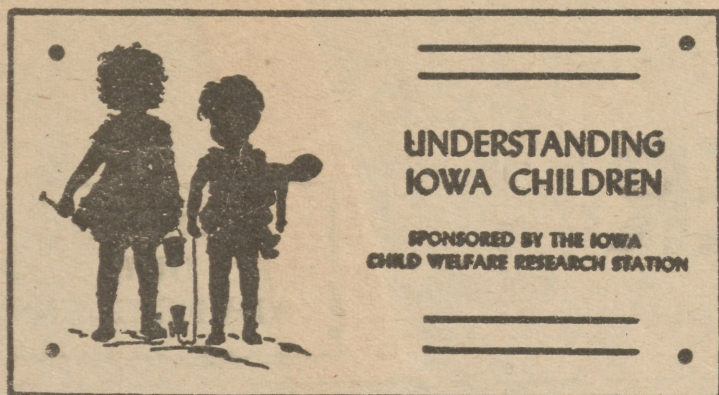

According to the board's survey, the parents of 1,096 Negro children and only 13 white youngsters would agree to have their children attend desegregated schools. Questionnaires were sent to the parents of 1,168 Negro children and 1,229 white children.

Permission

The board "supposed that any plan filed by a school board and approved by the court in a plan of some permanence and that all concerned have some reason to place reasonable reliance thereon."

Further, the board asked permission "to consider the matter on the basis of these things which now appear to be facts and to make a report to the court concerning what now appears to be the best manner to open public schools in the county, if funds are made available for their

UNDERSTANDING IOWA CHILDREN

SPONSORED BY THE IOWA CHILD WELFARE RESEARCH STATION

Written by William P. Hawkinson, SUI Assistant Professor

PARENTS NEED CONTINUING EDUCATION

Many parents still have to face the ridicule of neighbors and friends—not to mention grandparents—if they join a child study group or try, as these neighbors and friends scornfully put it, "to bring up children by the book."

Yet parents today can prove the value of "finding themselves" through study by citing the help they have gained on such subjects as nutrition from books and bulletins.

No Dramatic Gains

In such fields as mental hygiene, understanding of the emotions, and personality adjustment, perhaps the gains have not been as dramatic as in the physical realm. But participation in study groups, observation of a child's actions, a visit to a good child-guidance clinic, a checkup with a wise and sympathetic psychiatrist, and discussion of records with visiting teachers will prove valuable in these areas, too.

So parents have found themselves, and are finding themselves through scientific study and the application of the principles of this study to the everyday guidance of their children.

Playing With Others

Advice to observe their children sounds a bit academic to many parents, but actually every parent observes his children. The first director of the Iowa Child Welfare Research Station, the late Bird T. Baldwin, used to caution parent-education workers: "Tell the parents, after all, these are their children—that they, the parents, have the children practically 24 hours each day and so have a chance to see each youngster as no other person does."

Possibly parents could take more time to observe their children playing with others and learn more, not only about their own, but about all children.

RECORD YEAR

"Steady progress has been made during that period in breaking down long-existing barriers," the survey found, adding:

"The wide success of legislative campaigns in the states this year shows that the civil rights movement is still growing in strength."

The 24-page American Jewish Congress report also covered five anti-bias statutes enacted in three states during 1960. Most state legislatures meet in odd-numbered years.

As a result of the actions of 1961 state legislatures, the study pointed out, "a very impressive number of state anti-discrimination laws are now in effect." The report listed them as follows:

Employment

Nineteen states have fair employment laws enforceable by an administrative agency using the method of conciliation, backed with authority to issue administrative orders enforceable in the courts. Two states have fair employment laws enforceable by criminal penalties. One state has a fair employment law without enforcement provisions.

Education

Five states have laws broadly prohibiting discrimination in education, enforced by administrative agencies, while a number of other states have more limited legislation.

Housing

Nine states have laws prohibiting discrimination in a substantial portion of the general housing market and a number of states have more limited statutes applying to public and publicly-assisted housing.

Public Accommodations

Twenty-eight states and the District of Columbia have prohibited discrimination in place of public accommodation. Ten of these provide for administrative enforcement.

A Medical Detective Story

Victim: an 18-month-old girl whose lungs were infected with a disease called "coccidioidomycosis." Detective agency: Department of Microbiology, San Diego State College, California. Culprit: read the last chapter to see.

A baby had this fungus disease. The problem was to keep other children and adults from also catching it. Doctors knew that the disease is caught by breathing in dust infected with the spores or "seeds" of the fungus. The problem was to find where the dust came from in this case.

Successful

The search was successful. It would probably have failed if the victim had been an adult, but an 18-month-old baby doesn't cover quite as much ground as her mother sometimes thinks she does. It was possible to check back on the places she had been and to test the soil for the fungus. And when the spot was found, further checking showed that the soil had been the source of infection in several other cases.

worked shows on the East Coast, and did a stint in vaudeville. Today, Rich makes public appearances such as the series scheduled by Iowa Power and also does free shows at children's hospitals and other institutions.

The Service and Idea Center continues to be open to the public Tuesdays through Saturdays from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Mondays from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Prize drawings will run through Dec. 20, with the open house continuing until the end of the year.

Diseases

But first a few notes about the disease, coccidioidomycosis — also called San Joaquin Valley fever and desert fever. It's found mainly in southern California, Arizona, New Mexico, and western Texas. The fungus that causes the disease grows in the soil, producing countless spores that can be breathed in with dust from that soil. The disease affects the lungs somewhat like tuberculosis. It can sometimes be fatal although it can be treated successfully with new drugs. The main early symptom is a fever.

Dust

But where did the dust come from in this case? From an old Indian camp ground. You wonder. Who were the Indians that camped there how many years ago? Were they sick from the fungus? What would they have thought about the detective story that was written long after they were gone?

Following a hearing on the NAACP suit to compel the reopening of the schools of Prince Edward County, Judge Lewis, last Aug. 23, issued an order requiring the board to submit a desegregation plan. Previously, in April, 1960, the court had directed the Prince Edward County school board to "make plans for the admission of pupils in the elementary schools of the county without regard to race or color and to receive and consider applications to this end at the earliest practical day."

Supreme Court Postpones Hearing In Gibson Case

New York — Argument in the United States Supreme Court on the contempt conviction of Rev. Theodore R. Gibson of Miami, Fla., has been postponed to Dec. 4. NAACP General Counsel Robert L. Carter was informed this week. The hearing had originally been scheduled for Nov. 16.

At issue is a six-month jail sentence and a fine of $1200 imposed upon Father Gibson, an Episcopal clergyman and president of the Miami branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Social Security Office To Open Evening Hours for Workers

The Social Security District Office in Des Moines will be open from 5:30 to 8:30 o'clock each Thursday evening for the next 3 weeks for the convenience of people 65 or over who work during the day. This means that the office will be open during the evenings of Nov. 30, Dec. 7 and Dec. 14.

Collecting Benefits

In announcing the special evening hours, Leo W. Smith, manager of the Des Moines District Office noted that many older people in this area who are still employed, do not understand that recent changes in the social security law now make it possible for a good number of them to collect some benefits in addition to their earnings.

Older workers made eligible to collect some social security benefits for the year 1961, may lose some of the payments due them if they do not make application for them before the end of Jan. 1962, Smith said.

Unfortunately, a number of older people continue to think that they cannot collect any social security benefits at all if their earnings are over $1200 for the year. Smith emphasized that this is not true.

The social security district office in Des Moines is located at 205 12th street.

Appeal

Father Gibson was convicted of contempt of a Florida legislative investigating committee because of his refusal to verify his answer to questions based on the NAACP branch membership list. The case is before the Supreme Court on appeal from a decision of the Florida State Supreme Court which upheld a lower court ruling requiring him to testify that certain persons named by the committee were or were not NAACP members. He was originally convicted in August, 1960.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Very few of us have ever been to Venice, but thanks to photography, scenes like the one above are very familiar.

Pictures Make It a Small World

We usually talk about the type of picture taking we all do in this column. When we use the word "photography," we're usually referring to the science that enables us to have snapshots of the people, things, and places that are personally important to us.

But, today, let's take a look at some other aspects of photography and how it affects the way we live. It does, you know. Without photography our lives would be different indeed.

Today, we know not only how all of the leaders in our country look, but would also recognize many of the people who play important roles in current history all the way around the world if we met them on the street. We know how England's queen looks in stately robes, and how she looks when she plays with her children on the lawn.

Whether we've ever been to London or not, we can close our eyes and visualize the changing of the palace guard. The Empire State Building's famous tower is almost as familiar to people on the West Coast as it is to the native New Yorker.

When disaster strikes in any part of the world, we can see for ourselves what happened. When a new line of clothes is introduced in Paris, women in every city, village, and farm in this country know by the next day what the newest style is.

Photography communicates all this information to us through the medium of newspapers, magazines, motion pictures and television.

Understanding the importance of pictures in general helps us understand the importance of our own snapshots. With them we can keep various members of the family, although they be widely scattered, up to date on the happenings at our house. Through exchange of personal snapshots we can watch children grow, see new homes being built, really keep up with the doings of our favorite people.

Just keep in mind—anything that's worth remembering is worth a picture. —John Van Guilder

Here's Way to Mix Paint
AN EASY way to mix paint or enamel in small cans is to use an old egg beater. Simply cut down the revolving vanes so that the center rod remains a little longer. In this way, the vanes will be kept off the bottom of the can. Wind a piece of wire around the vane stems to hold them. This device will mix the contents more thoroughly than a paddle or stick. (Illustration courtesy Popular Mechanics.)

Iowans could not have asked for a more beautiful Thanksgiving day or weekend . . . nor Hawkeye fans for a more dramatic last-ditch ending to a otherwise disappointing football season from the senior school in the state . . . nor hunters for a more leisurely opportunity to display their agility with firearms against pheasants and other wild fowl and animals in season . . . nor school children for a long, carefree, happy weekend to do nothing but play, and play, and play . . . nor for the lady of the house to display her culinary art for the family and other guests. It was indeed a wonderful holiday weekend.

Speaking of holidays do you realize that year will be one of the shortest for school children? They will get out Friday before Christmas which falls on Monday this year and will go back the Tuesday after New Year. What actually gives them a week and a day, since they always get off weekends anyway. If you are one of the many mothers who like to share the preparations of baking, decorations and other family traditions with your youngsters, you will have to do a little arranging this year to give them the fun and satisfaction of it.

We are sorry, but we will have to retract last week's offer of publishing club histories and pictures of their presidents. The project will have to be delayed until spring, according to the front office. So keep it in mind, will you.

We gave Mrs. Jacqueline Taylor of 930 14th place a ring earlier this week and to our surprise learned that she was at home in bed convalescing from recent surgery at Iowa Lutheran hospital. She had stayed in the hospital a week and had been in bed a week at home and only the day before had been able to get up and prepare the family meal.

We also talked to Mrs. Theodore Martin, Jr., of 3500 27th street. We were inquiring about the reception she and her husband gave their daughter and new son-in-law. Mrs. Martin had been scheduled to report for jury duty in federal district court Monday morning but after the preparations for the reception and the Thanksgiving holiday activities, she was "happy but a little tired," so had called in and asked to be excused until a later date.

If you turned to Bill Riley's talent hunt show on KRNT-TV's last Sunday you saw and heard the singing rendition of the members of the John Johnson family—Carolyn, Andrew, and John, all children of Mrs. E. Johnson.

or bring in your news, despite the added rush and busy activities of the oncoming yuletide season? We would like to state also that there is no charge for having your news printed in the Bystander, contrary to the beliefs of a few who perhaps have not sent in their news. Remember, news is our business, and we get the news from you . . . all of you.

SUPPORT THOSE WHO APPRECIATE YOUR BUSINESS

Last week, a business firm in Des Moines called the Bystander office for the purpose of placing an ad in the Xmas issue. The manager stated that his firm had received such satisfactory business from Negro customers that he felt that his firm should show appreciation for it. This is not a large firm but one which has some sense of appreciation for the confidence its customers placed in it.

This incident is a fine, fair spirit—one which more firms should follow.

There are many firms in Des Moines which share a large portion of Negro trade. Some of them hire no Negroes even though their force is large and seldom if ever advertise in the Bystander. Many firms do a certain amount of good will advertising. Some don't even do this in the Bystander.

After all, a portion of a dollar spent in any firm goes to pay advertising costs. So that when these chincy firms refuse to advertise in the Bystander, they are placing your advertising money elsewhere altogether.

Many communities boycott stores which do not hire Negroes; which place none of their advertising in Negro newspapers. And while the Bystander has not subscribed to these tactics, Negroes may well ask those where they trade to hire some of their group; to place some of their advertising in the Bystander. In so doing, more jobs can be made available for their youngsters; better advertising support may be enjoyed.

Try this out and let the Bystander know what happens.

PROGRESS IN RACIAL EQUALITY AND JUSTICE

Friends of equal justice and opportunity, without regard to race or color, are knocking the props from those who would drag their feet and thwart progress being made both north and south.

Only recently, a majority of the students at the University of Texas asked that Negroes be included on the athletic team of that school.

Herein Iowa, the master barbers, following several conferences with the Governor's Commission on Human Rights, voted to cut the hair of Negroes in accordance with the law of the state. Sometime ago the Iowa Hotel Association voted to accord all of their facilities to the public without regard to race or color. They say none of their members practices discrimination.

Earlier, the Iowa Billboard Association carried out a project whereby the Iowa Civil Rights Laws are displayed on large billboards in strategic parts of the state. This has called attention to a law many people didn't know existed.

This week the United Steel Workers of America announced Monday that it is asking some 2,900 companies to join in an all-out effort to "stamp out the evils of discrimination in employment wherever it may exist."

These are helpful signs for they seek to help assure equal employment of what America has to offer its citizens; it digs deep into the problems of making a living, at the job a fellow can do. And the latter is very important for if a man has no job, he can't get haircuts, he can't pay for accommodations in hotels; he can't send his children to college.

Today, union labor has taken over skilled employment almost completely. And in so doing, in most instances, they have left the Negro out. His employment is on the fringes. So if the steel workers can get this program down to the locals and see that they comply, a great step will be made in putting in practice their professed sentiments of several years.

WHY SO DIFFICULT?

Des Moines is about to be plagued with another bus strike. The contract between the company, drivers and machinists expires November 30 at midnight.

The employees are asking for a hike in wages while the company says it continues to operate in the red and any increase in wages is not possible. On the other hand, the men claim they are taking a financial beating in order to maintain the system.

The problem should not be so difficult of solution. The company is or is not making money. If not, the men are foolish for asking that it go deeper in the red or soon out of business. If the company is making money—and this should not be hard to determine—then it becomes important just how much of an increase can be squeezed out and at the same time pay something on the bonded indebtedness.

The company should not be run out of business by foolish requests for wages increase.

Nathaniel Craddock
Named Outstanding
Back of Mineral Bowl

By Staff Writer

Excelsior Springs, Mo.—Nathaniel Craddock, halfback for Parsons College football team, was named outstanding back of the Mineral Water Bowl game Saturday night. Craddock, a junior and his teammates lost to the opposing team, North East Missouri College of Kirksville, Mo.

Craddock netted 91 yards in the bowl game, but Parsons lost 21-8. Craddock is from Des Moines and is the son of Nathaniel Craddock and the grandson of Mrs. Edna Craddock with whom he resides.

One other Des Moines youth played on the Parsons' eleven. He is Harrison Pollard, of West Des Moines and a graduate of Valley High.

That's not all the story though of young men from Des Moines who played in the Mineral Bowl. Two brothers, Bill and Jim Taylor were on the Missouri team. They also are from Des Moines and are the sons of Mr. Bill Taylor, Sr.

1962 Hawkeye Captain

Davenport, Ia.—Larry Ferguson, all-America left halfback will be 1962 Hawkeye captain it was announced Tuesday at the Davenport Quarterback club and I club dinner honoring the Hawkeye squad and coaching staff. Ferguson, who played only a few minutes before he suffered a leg injury in the first game, indicated he will accept "his fifth year of eligibility" with Iowa. He will lack only four credit hours of graduating next June.

Al Hinton was named most valuable player for 1961 and Senior guard Sherwyn Thorson of Fort Dodge won the All-Iowa award.

Ernie Davis First
Negro to Win
Heisman Trophy

New York—Ernie Davis, fleet 212-pound half back for Syracuse, became the first Negro in the 27 year history of the Heisman trophy to be named college football's player of the year. Davis, who has been wearing the former Orange great Jimmy Brown's old No. 44 uniform, broke his predecessor's records, polled 824 points to 771 for runner-up Bob Furguson of Ohio State.

Minnesota quarterback Sandy Stephens polled 543 for fourth place.

Twenty Nominated

New York—Robert C. Weaver, administrator of the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency, and W. W. Law, Savannah mailman and president of the Georgia State NAACP, are among 16 persons named by the NAACP nominating committee for election to the association's national Board of Directors. Both are presently members of the Association's 48-person Board.

In addition, four candidates were nominated by independent petitions signed by 30 or more NAACP members in good standing.

Also named by the nominating committee are two who have not previously served as a member of the Board. They are Dr. Eugene T. Reed, of Islip, N. Y., president of the New York State Conference of NAACP

By Staff Writer

Iowa City—The remorse and dis-appointments of the Iowa football team, engendered by four losses in a row, evolved into a whirlwind of desire and offensive might here Saturday as the Hawkeyes, in a reverse situation, turned the Irish of Notre Dame miscues into a 42-21 victory and ended the season on a happy, gay note. And it was a marathon thriller with 142 plays between the gladiators.

Out of the abyss of a losing world emerged the Hawks to reveal, indisputably, that their offensive potency had not deserted them and was yet as lucrative and effective as in days gone by.

Bitter Poison

They gave the hard fighting, never-say-die Irish a big dose of the bitter poison of fumbles and intercepted passes (that they, themselves had taken often in huge doses) via bruising tackles and alertness. In its stead they swallowed, gleefully, the sweet potion of victory for which they had long sought.

It was a victory for the Hawks of sudden offensive thrills that had become latent in the Hawkeye attack.

Bill Perkins

Bill Perkins, hard driving fullback, gave an inkling of things to come when he galloped 43 yards for Iowa first touchdown. Within ten minutes the Hawks had a 21-0 lead. Iowa intercepted a pass (halfback Lonnie Roger) on the 13-yard line. A Matt Szykowny pass to end Bill Whisler put them on the one yard line where Szykowny sneaked it over for another score. This second PAT was blocked. Iowa's third T.D. was made mostly on passes to Whisler where Szykowny sneaked over again from the one. With five minutes left in the first quarter the revitalized Hawkeyes had a 21-0 edge.

Second Quarter

The Hawks took over from the Irish on downs and moved 70-yards in three plays, culminating in a zooming aerial from Szykowny to fleet halfback Sammie Harris that covered 45-yards. And, quick as a flash, Iowa led 28-0.

But the fighting Irish were not to be denied. They moved the ball 25 yards in 7 plays. George Sefcik scored from 16 yards out.

Joe Williams

The Irish kicked high and far; five yard back into the end zone. Joe Williams converted fullback playing halfback, fielded the ball, caught it, dug in, and took off behind a wedge of blockers. Suddenly he saw the light of day and like the gushing of high velocity breeze, streaked straight as an arrow down the middle of the field for the longest run of the season. This run was the highlight of the game and the grand finale of a brilliant first half.

Second Half

Joe scored again on the end of an 8 yard march by the Hawks after stopping the Irish on the one yard line by recovering a fumble. Joe banged it home from the one after Whisler had caught a 37-yard pass from Szykowny. This was Iowa's last score as coach Jerry Burns, happy and jubilant utilized his reserves; a total of 48 Hawks had a taste of the Notre Dame offerings. The Irish had not given up the ship as yet and in the final minute of the game scored twice.

Of the season: Iowa started fast in the beginning, slowed up too much in the middle and went out and won like a champ in the end, to wind up with a 5-4 record and 2-4 in Big Ten competition.

$15,000 A Year
To Mays' Wife

San Francisco, Cal.—Giants outfielder Willie Mays' attorney said Tuesday a $15,000-a-year settlement has been negotiated with Willie's estranged wife.

The settlement was considerably less than the $3,500 monthly separate maintenance originally asked by Mrs. Marguerite Mays when she sued for divorce last July. The settlement calls for a $10,000 annual payment to Mrs. Mays and a $5,000 yearly payment for support of their adopted son, Michael, 3.

branches, and James G. Blake of Charleston, S. C., Morehouse College student and chairman of the NAACP National Youth Work Committee.

If you were in Iowa City last weekend, and if you were an Iowa fan, you saw a great game. And yet, in our estimation, the Hawkeyes didn't play any better than they have several times this year. Notre Dame didn't play badly. But in this football today just about each error puts a team six or seven points behind.

Errors

Well, the Irish made three of them and were 20 points behind before they realized they were in a ball game. But, at that one fumble on the goal line and another fumble of a pass that Iowa recovered deep in Hawk territory really put the crusher on the boys from South Bend. Given those two scores and there is no telling what the outcome might have been. There was really coordination and blocking on that now famous 105-yard run of Joe Williams that really iced the game for Iowa.

It reminds us of the way Red Grange of Illinois used to set up his runs in the 20s. Swing the whole team over to one side or down the middle, reserve your field or cut for the empty sidelines and there is a race track and that Williams boy really raced.

Perkins

Perkins got some good blocks in his 40-yard run for the first Iowa score. Just like we said, the team didn't play any better but, they played more as a unit, than at any time we saw them.

We inquired about big Jim Snowden, Negro sophomore fullback for Notre Dame. Our informer said Snowden was slowed by injuries and was about a year away from being a big time fullback.

Minnesota

Elsewhere around the Big Ten you know what happened to Sandy Stephens and company at Wisconsin and you surely must have seen Ohio State's Bob Furguson take a good Michigan Team apart. But the barber shop guys are really talking about the long runs and masterful faking by Michigan Rainy and Ohio State's Paul Warfield. Don't think Ohio State will go to the Rose Bowl because nobody out there wants the job of stopping Bob Furguson.

All-Conference

It wouldn't have been an all conference team that didn't include Stephens and Bob Bell, along with Ferguson. But we question some of the second team selection. Here at home Bill Taylor and Nate Craddock went to Missouri to see their sons play in the Mineral Water bowl game at Excelsior Springs. The Taylor boys were on the winning team, Kirksville and Craddock's son, rammed in the only score his team, Parsons college, made; so we guess both fathers were happy. There will be another Taylor down there in the news come track season. Most likely two of them.

Oh yes, our poker game was really tough this time. The guys ran in a couple of rings on us and we were lucky to escape with our skin. They had tried everything from hecklers to children so we guess they got desperate. But we really had fun.

Delay for Baylor;

DEAR EDITOR:

It is the desire of officials in the Peace Corps to utilize every means possible in publicizing the program, needs and objectives of this enterprise.

Great dependence must be placed in Negro newspapers and other publications to bring forcibly to the attention of the Negro people the fact that the Peace Corps is open to any American with requisite skills or trainable assets. All of us realize the reasons why there may be reluctance to volunteer. Not knowing about the Peace Corps is one reason that can be overcome; hence our solicitation of your continued concern and interest.

The enclosed letter we hope will arouse further inquiry. You may find it possible to reemphasize my statements in your own way.

PROGRESS AND POVERTY.

PROGRESS AND POVERTY play different roles,

As far apart as the north and south poles,

Neither can live where the other exists,

Poverty dies when progress insists.

POVERTY THRIVES where indolence lives,

PROGRESS means fight, no quarter it gives,

Under its banner, together as ONE,

All the worlds' troubles would quickly be done.

FORGETTING the barriers of color and creed,

Remem'ring but ONE thing, the great human need.

Put PROGRESS to work and a new life can be,
With POVERTY vanquished, all men will be free.

Thoughts for Today

Close the door upon your treasures of love and fortune—they leak through and are gone. If you would keep and increase them, share generously. Bless your one loaf and pass it out to the multitude and it will feed them and return you seven basketsful. Hoard it and guard it and it will shrivel down to a mildewed crust—Angelo Patri, in Redbook Magazine.

Pessimists are just average people who just can't kid themselves.—Anon.

The man who gets down and out has only one way to go—that is up.

You Can Bake A Broiler
With Unstuffed Stuffing

Broilers are the gay young things of the chicken population and, thanks to their tender age, will always be tender on your plate. However you prepare them, do yourself a favor by shaking Ac'cent on them before cooking.

Ac'cent is a leading brand of pure monosodium glutamate, derived from sugar beets, which has the unique property of making foods taste naturally better. Chicken dishes of every size, shape and character become more lively with a liberal sprinkling of the pure white crystals.

In this instance, we plan not only to bake a broiler but to serve an unstuffed stuffed bird. Wrap the stuffing securely in aluminum foil, and bake it alongside the chicken.

Baked Chicken and Stuffing

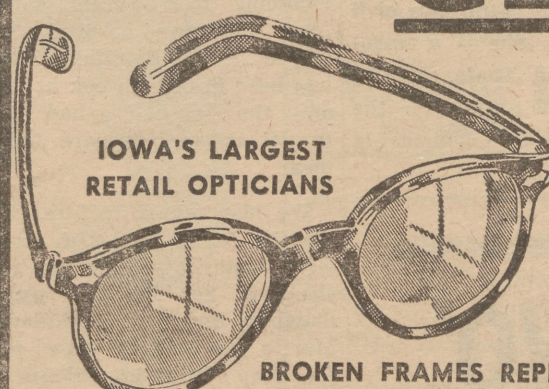

Sprinkle 4 broiler-fryer chicken halves with Ac'cent on flesh side of chicken and a little on skin side 15 to 20 minutes before cooking, then sprinkle with salt, pepper and paprika. Place chicken halves, skin side down, in baking pan. Do not overlap halves. Brush melted butter over cut side of chicken. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) 1 hour, 15 minutes. While chicken is baking, prepare packaged stuffing according to directions. Place stuffing in aluminum foil; seal edges tightly. At end of first half hour, turn chicken over and brush with butter. Place stuffing in oven with chicken. Bake 30 minutes longer and brush chicken again with butter. Continue baking 15 minutes longer. Serve with stuffing and gravy made from partially diluted cream of chicken or mushroom soup.
