Judge's Wife Held in Florida Murder Case

Probe by Policeman Brother Revealed Role

Miami—A judge, who is her husband, and a policeman, who is her brother, have promised to stand by socially prominent Mrs. Eugenea Thomas, 37, accused by authorities here of helping to plot the holdup of a gambling joint across the street from her house that resulted in the fatal shooting of Mrs. Beatrice Dunaway.

By a bitterly ironic twist of fate, Mrs. Thomas' involvement in the hold-up slaying which occurred Oct. 28, came about as a result of detective work by her brother, Willie Nicholson, a policeman assigned to the case, who worked even on his off days to find the solution.

Wife of First Judge

Mrs. Thomas is the wife of Judge L. E. Thomas, Miami's first Negro judge, and one of the first Negroes to hold such a post in the South this century. Involvement of his wife, along with two other suspects, Aubrey W. Henry 27, and Clarence Simpson, 28, was such a shock to the jurist that he was unable to preside in court.

"It came out of a blue sky," said Judge Thomas, his eyes red-rimmed from loss of sleep and worry. "But I'll stick by her to the end. I just don't believe it."

Mrs. Thomas, the mother of two children, was scheduled for a preliminary appearance before Judge Ralph Ferguson, Jan. 5.

Now He's Sick

Officer Nicholson, 35, known as "Big Nick," said he never dreamed his sister, Mrs. Thomas, was involved when he made the first arrest in the case.

"And now I'm sick," said the tall, muscular officer who is one of the best known policemen in the Central Negro district.

Mrs. Eugenea Thomas was arrested and released on $2,500 bond after being charged with "conspiracy to commit a felony resulting in first degree murder."

Police said Mrs. Thomas planned the robbery in which Henry and Simpson shot Mrs. Dunaway to death.

Add Funds, Members In Tribute to Wilkins

New York — Responding to a drive for increased contributions and memberships in honor of Roy Wilkins' 30 years of service and leadership in the NAACP, Association branches raised $15,150 and added 10,000 new members over and above their quotas.

Dinner Tribute

Final contributions to this fund were presented at the New Year's Day dinner in tribute to Mr. Wilkins which was attended by 1,000 guests including many of the country's outstanding citizens. President Kennedy sent his White House aide, Harris Wofford, to represent him. Francis Cardinal Spellman, Archbishop of the New York diocese was represented by the Right Reverend Monsignor Joseph Walsh of the Resurrection Roman Catholic Church.

Dr. Bunche

Also attending the dinner were United Nations Under Secretary Ralph J. Bunche, and ambassadors to the UN from Sierra Leone, Liberia and Tanganyika.

In response to the many tributes paid him, Mr. Wilkins expressed thanks to all those who had helped Dismissed Tennessee A. & I. Freedom Riders Win Right To Hearing in Federal Court

New York — Federal Judge William E. Miller of Nashville, Tenn., ruled last week in favor of 13 Tennessee A. & I. University students who were summarily dismissed last June for participating in Freedom Rides from Nashville to Jackson, Miss.

District Judge Miller ordered that the Negro students are entitled to a hearing and notice of the charges against them before action is taken on the grounds of misconduct.

Suspended

The students received a letter from President W. S. Davis of Tennessee A. & I. on June 1, 1961, notifying them that they were suspended for misconduct and could not return for the school year of 1961-62. Dr. Davis based his decision on a state disciplinary regulation of April 8, 1960, which authorized him to dismiss any student arrested and convicted on charges involving personal misconduct.

The students did not learn of their dismissal until almost a month later. All 13 were jailed approximately 30 days in Mississippi after their arrests in Jackson.

Mandatory

When the students were released from jail and returned to Nashville, they requested, and finally received an audience with President Davis during his 30 years with the NAACP and credited Mrs. Wilkins with keeping him going through good times and hard times.

Grateful Letter

He recalled with gratitude a letter he had received from an admirer at the time of his reply to Chet Huntley, Feb. 8, 1959, in which the correspondent said that Wilkins had "put a spring in his step" as he walked down the street. He expressed the hope that he could continue to "put a spring" in the steps of civil rights fighters.

who informed them that the action of the school's disciplinary committee was mandatory under state policy. They were told they could take legal action if they wished.

The students then went to Atty. Avon Williams of Nashville, who took their case. Their suit was supported and financed by the NAACP Legal Defense Fund which won a similar case last summer on behalf of Alabama State University students who were expelled in 1960 because of their participating in Montgomery sit-in demonstrations.

Under Court Order, Ala. Waiting Rooms Signs Come Down

Montgomery, Ala. — Under a federal court integration order, Racial signs designating waiting rooms facilities were taken down Friday at the Municipal Airport.

City plans to remove chairs from airport waiting rooms, were still in place. In addition officials had threatened to have rest rooms padlocked and water fountains plugged. However, everything was normal, with the exception of one water fountain which had its cord pulled loose—it apparently done without official authority.

A lone Negro apparently traveling with a group to an armed service center, used the formerly white only waiting room but there was no disturbance.

U. S. District Judge Frank M. Johnson, Jr., outlawed segregation at the terminal, Dannelly Field, as a result of a suit brought by the federal government at the request of the Civil Aeronautics Board. The city is going ahead with plans to appeal.

Iowan Renamed to Board; 1,494 Units in 48 States; $1,018, 857 General Fund

New York — An accelerated program to enlarge job opportunities for Negro workers, to increase the Negro vote, and to speed desegregation of schools and other public institutions and facilities was pledged by NAACP Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins in his report to the NAACP membership at the Association's annual meeting here this week.

Sobering Statistics

Reviewing events of 1961, Wilkins noted "the sobering statistics upon the loss of employment by Negroes," the "extremely token basis" on which school desegregation proceeded, the "basic error" of President Kennedy's "announced policy of no legislative action on civil rights," and the contribution of the Freedom Riders in "dramatizing . . . the denial of equality in interstate travel."

Commends President

The report, submitted on Jan. 2, commended President Kennedy "for his personal role in civil rights and for the very plain indications of his concern that conditions be improved," but expressed "disappointment" with his failure to seek new civil rights laws and to ban, by executive order, racial discrimination in federally-aided housing.

Rights Problem

The civil rights problem, Wilkins said, "cannot be solved by executive action alone, as was recognized by the Democratic party platform. Until the Kennedy administration sponsors at least the legislation on the items pledged in the party platform of 1960, it will be subject to criticism in the civil rights field. The record, over as many years as the President is old, reveals that what we frankly call the racial bloc in Congress cannot be appeased; it has to be defeated."

Employment Job

Turning to the employment picture, Wilkins reported that "during the year, the all-important assault upon employment discrimination has continued and been intensified. The sobering statistics upon the loss of employment by Negroes and of the restrictions upon those still employed dictate high priority for the fight for equal opportunity in employment. In northern industrial centers one out of every three Negro workers was unemployed sometime during 1961.

New Board Members

The two new members are Dr. Eugene T. Reed, a Long Island dentist, and president of the New York State Conference of NAACP branches; and James G. Blake, a student at Morehouse College in Atlanta and chairman of the Association's National Youth Work Committee. Fourteen other candidates were re-elected to three-year terms on the 48-member board.

Ike Smalls, Des Moines, Ia., was re-elected to his 12th consecutive term on the board. He is life membership chairman of the Des Moines branch and the State Conference of Branches.

Units of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, now numbering 1,494 in 48 states, maintained a broad attack on racial bias throughout 1961. Gloucester B. Current, the Association's director of branches, reported this week.

Membership

Total NAACP membership as of Dec. 26, he said in his report submitted at the annual NAACP meeting here on Jan. 2, amounts to 371,000. During the year 104 youth units and 59 adults branches were chartered including one in North

Dr. Clifford Smith, Waterloooan, Opens Office in McGregor

McGregor, Ia.—A Native Iowan, Dr. Clifford Smith, Jr., East Orange, N.J., has moved here to establish an office at the McGregor Community hospital.

Born in Waterloo, Dr. Smith attended the State College of Iowa at Cedar Falls, the State University of Iowa at Iowa City, and Meharry Medical College at Nashville, Tenn. He is married and has two children.

Defender, Courier Decide Not To Sell

Chicago—The Chicago Daily Defender and the Pittsburgh Courier will not be sold at this time.

This is the word given Bill Dasho, Publishing executive, who was reported last week to have offered a lucrative price for the two colored newspapers. Dasho represented a group of wealthy Chicago business men.

The decision came from publishers John H. Sengstacke of the Defender and S. B. Fuller of the Courier.

president of the Association's state organization, are free under $2,500 bail bonds each following conviction on charges of conspiring to withhold trade.

Convicted with Dr. Henry on Jan. 3 were John Melchor, president of the Clarksdale NAACP branch; R. L. Drew, first vice president; Rev. Theodore Trammell, chaplain; and J. W. Wright, member of the executive committee.

Sentence

Tried before Justice of the Peace Rodney Brooks in star-chamber proceedings from which the public was barred, the NAACP leaders were each sentenced to six months' imprisonment and fined $500. The hearing was held in the county jail rather than in the courthouse. A crowd of more than 100 Negroes, gathered at the jail, was denied admission.

Bail

The four were represented by NAACP Attorney Jack Young who, following the convictions, announced that an appeal would be made immediately. Negro citizens of Clarksdale promptly posted the bail bonds.

The NAACP leaders were arrested early last month after they had initiated a selective buying campaign shortly before Thanksgiving Day. The campaign was directed against downtown stores which discriminate against Negroes.

Unskilled Negro Worker Hit by Automation, Bias

New York — More than half of all "unskilled Negro workers in the country were unemployed for substantial periods during 1961," Herbert Hill, NAACP labor secretary, reported to the Association's annual meeting here on Jan. 2.

"It is evident," he added, "that the unskilled Negro worker, 45 years of age and over, who lost his job will never again work at productive gainful employment." He attributed the decline in employment to automation and racial discrimination.

Percentage

Hill told those attending the Association's annual meeting that Negro unemployment during 1961 was two-and-a-half times greater than the rate among white workers.

This was still greater "in some major industrial centers" such as Detroit, Mich., where the Negro constitutes 19.5 per cent of the total work force but 61 per cent of the unemployed.

$1 Million Fund

In 1961, for the first time, the general fund income of the NAACP exceeded $1,000,000.00, Alfred Baker Lewis, NAACP treasurer, reported. Income for this fund, Lewis reported on Jan. 2, amounted to $1,018,857.70 through Dec. 26. More than half of the sum, $558,787.34, came from local branches in the form of memberships and special contributions.

Operating Loss

Despite increased income the Association incurred a net operating loss of $131,254.79 because of rising costs and expanded program activities. The deficit was met by transfer of money from the reserve funds.

SMALLS

Arthur B. Spingran, New York attorney, was re-elected NAACP president at the regular monthly meeting of the Association's Board of Directors here this week. Also re-elected were Bishop Stephen Gill Spottswood, chairman, Board of Directors; Alfred Baker Lewis, treasurer; Dr. Harry J. Greene, assistant treasurer; and Roy Wilkins, executive secretary.

35,000 A Week

Also Chicago where the Negro makes up 14.7 per cent of the workers but 44 per cent of the jobless; or Philadelphia, where Negro workers are 13 per cent but 54 per cent of the jobless. These conditions still exist.

Hill asserted that automation and other technological changes are ending unskilled and semi-skilled jobs at the rate of 35,000 a week or nearly two million a year.

Greater Crises

He predicted "even greater crises in years to come, unless fundamental and rapid changes take place in the character, mobility and diversity of Negro labor in the United States."

Although Negroes are slowly winning broad social and legal struggles for first-class citizenship rights, "we are currently losing the battle for economic equality and job opportunity," he concluded.

1961 Northwestern Bell Telephone Company Highlights, Progress

More telephones in use and more calls over them and an expenditure of $32,600,000 to expand and improve the service are the highlights of Northwestern Bell Telephone Company's year-end report for Iowa. The Company, which furnishes local telephone service to more than 2/3 of Iowa's people and operates almost all the intercity long distance lines, had a year-end investment in telephone plant and equipment of $260 millions.

Telephones in use in the 154 local areas where the company has exchanges increased by 25,000 to a year-end total of 794,300, 50 percent more than a decade ago. During the same period, Iowa's long distance call volume increased from 33,140,000 to 52,200,000 in 1961.

D. M. Increase

Telephones in service in Des Moines have increased from 89,462 ten years ago to 143,976 at the end of 1961, an increase of 61 percent.

The largest yearly construction program in the company's history brought service improvements of a wide variety. Dial service was introduced in eight more areas including Bondurant and Polk City, last to have hand-crank telephones.

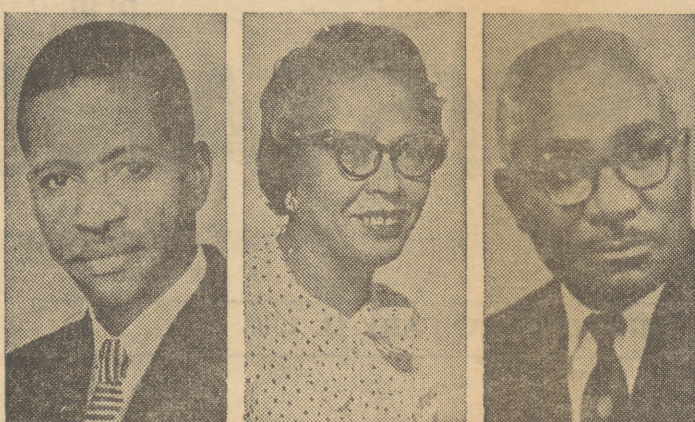

Construction

Northeastern Iowa's regional long distance switching center went into distance calls was introduced in service and customer dialing of long eight cities and is underway in 37 others, to make DDD available to sixty percent of the company's Iowa customers by the end of 1962. The intercity network of long distance lines expanded by 457, with the program of principal routes in storm-proof cable or microwave radio systems nearing completion.

Wages

Wage payments of $34,700,000 were made to its 7,000 employees in Iowa. The company's operations were responsible for $27,666,000 in local, state and federal taxes.

MARCH OF DIMES VOLUNTEERS

"Gomillion vs. Lightfoot:"

Tuskegee Gerrymander Case

"Gomillion vs. Lightfoot," the first case involving racial gerrymandering ever considered before the Supreme Court, is interpreted by Bernard Taper in a new book to be published by McGraw-Hill on January 24th. The author, who is a staff writer for The New Yorker, first reported the case for that magazine.

Unusual Combination

His book, in its approach, is an unusual combination of the humane, the sociological and the legal. In this way it succeeds in illuminating and bringing to life one of the great constitutional cases of our time.

Went to Tuskegee

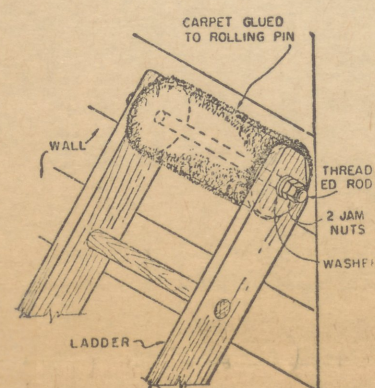

In preparing the book, the author went first to Tuskegee, Alabama, where the case originated, to see how the problem appeared on the scene itself, with all its local passions, traditions and human conflicts. He then followed the case to the Supreme Court to view it from that lofty vantage point, and he presents perhaps the most vivid and cogent portrait yet given of the Supreme Court in action.

For Protecting Walls

ANOTHER use for an old rolling pin is illustrated by courtesy of the professional builders' magazine, American Builder.

The rolling pin has been installed at the top of a ladder to be used in painting a house. It has been covered with a piece of carpeting glued in place.

Other operations required to make this improvement, which simplifies the moving of the ladder and prevents scratching the wall, include the drilling of a hole through the center of the pin, lengthwise, and the insertion of a long threaded rod or bolt. Washers and jam nuts are then attached to hold the rolling pin firmly in place.

UNDERSTANDING IOWA CHILDREN

SPONSORED BY THE IOWA CHILD WELFARE RESEARCH STATION

Written by May P. Youtz, S.U.I. Associate Professor

CHILDREN NEED TO GROW IN INDEPENDENCE

Busy, curious, active, noisy, careless, adventuresome—these are the 9-year-olds, the 10's and 11's. They're not all alike, of course, but all share some characteristic ways of acting, thinking, and feeling. What are youngsters in the age group really like? Why do they act as they do? What are some of the feelings they must cope with?

Mixed Feelings

Like most parents, you probably often have mixed feelings about your school-age youngsters. For one thing, they are not as dependent as they were when younger, and this growing independence often challenges and distresses you. They are ready to comment on any parental deficiencies, real or imagined. Thus you often are at a loss to know how to handle them.

Parental Standards

Alarmed that their children seem to be casting off parental standards, and moving farther away from home base, many parents become possessive and demanding. This method simply doesn't work! Don't try to stifle your children's tendency to draw away from you. Instead, try to understand and to guide this tendency, since it is a step along the road to eventual self-reliance. Since youngsters at this age have not had enough experience to make good judgments much of the time, they can learn how only if you give them opportunities to try—they need practice, and lots of it!

Appropriate

None of this means that you should discard your standards of right and wrong, let your children run wild, or give in to their every request. But the type of discipline that was appropriate for them when they were younger merely antagonizes them now, convincing them that parents are unreasonable and unfair.

Need Approval

Try to overlook some of the routine annoyances natural for this age and concentrate on the essentials where your guidance is needed and more likely to be listened to. These youngsters still do need and want your approval, believe it or not. They continue to rely strongly on your judgments even while protesting. They need parents who have firm values, who can set reasonable limits, and who can at the same time be counted on for love and acceptance.

WEAVER WITHDRAWS AS NAACP BOARD MEMBER

New York—The withdrawal of Robert C. Weaver, Federal Housing and Home Finance Administrator, from membership on the Board of Directors of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, was accepted "with regret" by the NAACP Board at its first regular monthly meeting here on Jan. 2.

Dr. Weaver was one of sixteen persons elected to a three-year term as a member of the NAACP Board. Meanwhile in a letter to NAACP Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins he explained that when he had resigned as chairman of the Board last February he had intended to remove himself from "any policy-making position in the Association."

Elegance and Simplicity Captures Setting In Nuptial Vows for C. Eugene Thompson and Miss Sharon Rose Hayes in Sioux City

By Mrs. Harry Hunter

Elegance and simplicity captured the setting at the Malone A.M.E. Church, Friday evening, Dec. 29, at the marriage of Miss Sharon Rose Hayes, daughter of Mr. Arthur Hayes, 616 W. Sixth Street and Mrs. Greene Saffold, Chicago, Illinois, and Cleman Eugene Thompson, son of Mrs. Velma Thompson of Greenville, Texas. The Reverend Mr. C. H. Copeland officiated.

Candelabra and baskets of white chrysanthemums, gladioli and red carnations banked the altar. James Ruffin was organist with Franklin Williams as vocalist. Miss Charlene Marzett, maid of honor, and Miss Marva Hayes, the bride's sister, were the bride's attendants. They wore matching cocktail length dresses of scarlet peau satin featuring portrait necklines, scarlet headaddresses accented with pearls and veiling and carried cascade arrangements of red and white carnations.

Entering the church with her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of peau de sole with long pointed sleeves. Crystals and pearls accentuated the sabrine neckline, with the bouffant skirt extending into a chapel train. Her veil of illusion was caught with a pearl tiara and she carried a white orchid encircled with white carnations and stephanotis on a white Bible.

Attendants to the bridegroom were Richard Hayes, best man and brother of the bride, and Hubert B. Olsen. Harry Hunter, uncle of the bride, served as usher.

Mrs. Arthur Hayes chose for the wedding a frock of chantilly lace in leaf green over beige taffeta. The mother of the groom wore silk shantung in mauve. Both wore corsage arrangements of carnations.

The wedding reception was held in the church party, with a post-nuptial bridal party at the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson will reside in Las Vegas, Nevada, where the groom is stationed with the United States Air Force.

There are three youths from New Bethel Sunday school who are endeavoring to start in her footsteps. They are Marilyn Jean Harper, 8, Ruby Elaine Harper, 14 and Ruth Ann Haddix, 15, who have received 3-year pins for perfect attendances.

Mrs. Ruby Haddix entertained the Nifty Social club Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Pearl Barnett opened the meeting with song, scripture and prayer. Mrs. Coma Page, president, was in charge of the meeting.

HEALTH FOR ALL

TB EPIDEMIC

Almost five per cent of the school children in a small midwestern town were infected with TB germs within four months!

The first warning came in December, 1959, when the music teacher found he had TB. Immediately the other teachers and the school children were tuberculin skin-tested in a cooperative project of the school system, the health department, and the TB association. Ten children and six of the school staff were found to be infected with TB germs, but X-rays showed no active TB.

Tired Easily

Three months later, the high school basketball coach noticed that one of the boys on his team tired easily. He tried to get the boy to see a doctor but the boy refused. Finally an order was given: get a checkup or leave school! The checkup showed far-advanced active TB.

Another tuberculin testing program already had been planned, and now it was put into high gear. Sixty-four students, it revealed, had been infected with TB germs since the previous test. Three of them needed to go to the hospital. It appeared from the available evidence that it had been the tuberculosis of the basketball player that had spread through the school.

Followup Test

The 1,700 children attending school were given further followup tests. The fifth, in May 1961, control. But, in all, seven children had been hospitalized with TB. So had the music teacher and the five-year old brother of one of the sick school children. Ninety-eight other children had been infected and were potential TB cases.

Today except for the athlete with far-advanced TB who will be sick for some time, all those who went to the hospital are back at school. We are still hearing stories from readers who had unusual experiences during Iowa's big snowstorm which ushered in the Christmas weekend. "It was one for the books," is the way Mrs. Joseph Wimberly, 2720 Amick avenue, reported it.

Mrs. Wimberly had gone to the Des Moines Municipal airport to pick up two ladies who were to spend the Christmas holidays with her and Mr. Wimberly. Their guests were Mrs. Mercedes Lano of Compton, Calif., and Mrs. Agatha Bell of Romulus, Mich. Mrs. Wimberly left the airport with her visitors about 4 p.m. and after an arduous seven-and-a-half hours, in which she was driving most of the time trying to find an approach to her home, she finally made it.

Mrs. Wimberly recalled that every route she tried to take she, like thousands of motorists that night, was hindered or stopped by stalled or abandoned cars or ran into traffic jams.

When she finally made it to Harding Road, she was unable to go any further. When they got out and were trying to figure what to do, two men came along, in a car equipped with tire chains, and said they were on their way to the Veterans hospital area and offered to take them home. However, one block from her home, the snow was drifted too deep even for a car with chains, so they thanked their benefactors and attempted to walk the block home. Mrs. Lano, who has lived most of her life in sunny California, became exhausted in the waist deep snow, and Mrs. Wimberly instructed her to remain behind until she could send her husband after her.

"I became exhausted, but I fastened my eyes on the Christmas decoration lights on my house, and kept trudging ahead, until I finally made it," she said. "I can understand how people become lost in snow storms, because you become so tired that all you want to do is sit down and rest."

Mrs. Wimberly had been able to telephone her anxious husband several times, to assure him she was alright and still trying to get home. Later, during their stay, their visitors wanted to be taken over their route in daytime, in a kind of reverse, "return to the scene of the crime" wish.

Old Man Winter gathering all his forces and even turning loose some of his deep freeze reserve on Iowa and the midwest. The unusual severe sub-zero cold continues to hold the city in one of its tightest grips in years. Recently, we handed out roses to some of the persons, especially news boys who through all types of weather, get your newspaper to your door on time. We forgot to add to that list the hundreds of patrol boys and girls, who get out on their designated corners and street crossings, to help their fellow classmates get across in safety. If you should happen to pass along near a school you will note them wrapped up so well, that in some cases only their eyes are showing. In addition we noticed most of them during moments of lull, jumping up and down or swinging or flapping their arms to keep warm. In most cases during severe weather the boys stand duty outdoors and the girls indoors but sometimes the force is not large enough, and some older girls get outside, also. Don't you think they deserve a round of applause?

Among the events postponed due to the weather, was the Tuesday night meeting of Nash P.T.A., which was to have been celebrated as "Dad's Night." Members of the telephone committee, Mesdames Karla Chandler, Beulah Bishop and Josephine Pickett, had their work cut out for them.

Mrs. Jacqueline Taylor, one of the third grade home room mothers who were to serve as hostesses, had already sent word earlier through her sister, that she would not be able to make it. She was in Mercy hospital with pneumonia. This was her second time in the hospital in less than two months. She had just gotten out shortly before Thanksgiving after undergoing surgery.

There's nothing like a new innovation to draw the eyes and ears of the curious; and the new air door at United Federal Home Association, one of the Bystanders' regular advertisers, has drawn more than its share during the past few weeks. Their newest innovation is its air door, the likes of which is not duplicated in Des Moines.

And we, like many other, just for curiosity sake, walked through and back out again, as so many are doing, whether they have business there or not. It does exactly what it proclaims in the ad. It is sub zero cold just outside the open air door. Within the door, there is a constant downrush of warm air, which does not even rustle your head scarf or hair hardly at all. Just inside the door, the air is as toast warm as can be, the same as in the back of the building. A little hard to believe, but true.

When we spoke of it to our youngsters, our oldest boy who celebrated his 10th birthday last Wednesday, told us of a huge outdoor supermarket with no walls but only a roof, and was completely surrounded by warm air in winter and cool in summer that operates on the same principal as United Federal's air door. He said he had learned it in his fourth grade social study class at Nash.

Among those who helped Victor celebrate his birthday were his young neighbor friends, Dawn, Lynelle and Alvin Simon, Jr., and Bobby, Carol, Bill, and Joanne McKeehan, and his sisters and brother,

CLEANING UP
CHISLING IN ADO

The Polk County department of Social Welfare, acting upon instruction from the state, has entered upon a campaign to stamp out cheating in Aid to Dependent Children and the failure or refusal of fathers to support their children.

This, of course, is the thing to do. No legitimate recipient is going to be penalized. With most of them, there is no criticism. But as with any program there are always those who think they can out smart somebody and secure benefits to which they are not entitled.

Aid to Dependent Children is a good program. But it had gotten out of hand somewhat. The board and the county attorney should have the cooperation of the public. They deserve praise for their efforts to clean up bad situations where they exist.

THIS WAY OF LIFE
DIES HARD

The effort of the south to maintain separation of the races—in public—presents enumerable inconsistencies that are hard to reconcile. In other words the contacts in private, which most southerners boast about, are fought to the last ditch as they appear in public.

Talk to the average southerner—who could afford to pay—and he will tell of his black mammy, his butler, his cook, house boy, nurse and what not. In some instances, they will say they were nursed at the breast by a black mammy, the cook prepared the food with all the handling the job entails, the butler served the food and the house boy or maid cleaned the house and did all the personal jobs required by the lady of the house.

Often the house was left in charge of the servants where they used all of the facilities of the house.

But in Montgomery, Ala. last week, rather than allow Negroes to use public facilities in airports and bus stations, officials decided to remove all stools at counters, disconnect the water fountain and close up other facilities where Negroes would use the same ones as the white people.

Well, this is just another rear guard action being carried on in a losing battle to prevent Negroes from enjoying the facilities of public places without segregation. It is just another of those ridiculous tactics of a drowning man grabbing for straws.

A few years from now, just as the people of Little Rock, Ark. decided what fools they were in trying to block inevitable integration in the public schools; so are the people in Montgomery, Ala. and other places in their fight to keep their way of life—segregation—in public places.

NAACP ANNUAL REPORT IS ENCOURAGING

In its 1961 report, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People revealed that it had an income of over a million dollars, of which $558,787.34 came from branch memberships and $352,010.00 from life memberships, 1,494 branches scattered over 48 states, a membership of 371,060 and wound up with an operating loss of $131,254.79.

And in spite of this deficit, which is most unfortunate, this sets a remarkable record for the far flung activities of the organization entailed heavy financial outlays while many who are in a position to lend financial assistance have been selfish even though the extent of their success was enhanced by the things the NAACP has done.

Few organizations, operating under such pressure from formidable groups with unlimited expense accounts and deep seated opposition to what the organization attempts to accomplish, have gone so far with clean hands. Of course, what the NAACP stands for—equality for minorities in all areas of American life—is pure justice which no man who believes in it can challenge successfully.

The NAACP has skillfully employed the services of excellent legal talent which, by the use of the 14th Amendment, has been able to block segregation and discrimination against minorities backing the opposition into corners from which there is no escape.

This fine record should command the continued support of every Negro in America and every white person who believes in the things this country stands for. Frankly, any Negro who refuses to join is a coward and should have his head examined.

"He Who Gets Slapped"

Court Orders Campy to Pay Wife $150 Weekly

New York—Former major league star catcher Roy Campanella was ordered last week to pay his estranged wife, Ruth, $150 a week for temporary support and maintenance of their Glen Cove, L. I., home and for care of the couple's three children.

Sets Award

Domestic Relations Court Justice Joseph Dyer set the award after Mrs. Campanella's lawyer, former Judge Hubert T. Delany argued that the partially-paralyzed star had been giving Mrs. Campanella only $50 a week voluntarily, and had deprived her of her automobile and all of her charge accounts.

Under the temporary court ruling, Campy, who maintains a separate maintenance with a brother-in-law in Harlem's Lenox Terrace housing development, must continue to pay the expenses of the house, which Mrs. Campanella maintains without the assistance of a maid.

More Money Now

Campy, who is reportedly earning more money now than during his best baseball days, is scheduled to appear before Justice Dyer on Jan. 29 for trial on the issues of the support action. Although the Campanellas are separated, neither has any action pending for a divorce.

Earlier this year, Campy was granted visitation rights to have the children visit him in his apartment on Sundays.

Lennie Ford Sues
Green Bay Packers

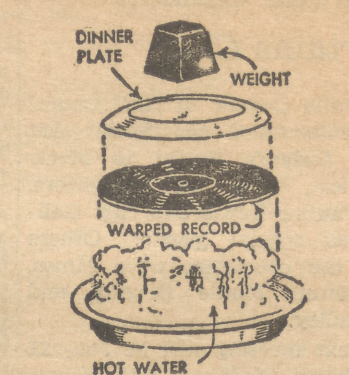

Detroit—Lennie Ford, former University of Michigan football star, is seeking to collect $10,000 from the Green Bay Packers football team.

In a suit scheduled to be tried before Circuit Judge James Montante, Ford charged the Packers football team with breach of contract. Ford said he signed a contract for the 1958 season for $11,000 that the only way either he or the football team officials could get out of the contract was through written agreement. Ford alleges just before the last game of the season, he broke his fingers and as a result was unable to play in the last game which would have been worth $916.66 to him.

Over the record invert a dinner plate of a diameter permitting its edge to contact only the edge of the record. In other words, don't let the plate touch the grooves of the record.

Philadelphia — When Patrolman Edward Sajecki was making his rounds one night last week he spotted two men inside a locked and darkened supermarket. Suddenly a voice from the shadows pleaded: "Please don't shoot! We're not holdup men—we're burglars!" And that's how they were booked next day in Magistrate's Court!

The football season drags on and on. The North-South Alumni game was marked by the absence of Negroes. How much longer are they gonna keep holding games like the Blue Gray and that one that was held Saturday, without using Negroes. Almost no All Star game is complete without at least one or two Negroes. Bernie McCrea of Michigan State was, we think, the first Negro to play in the North South game. The other game groups had better get in line.

Pro Game

Did you see the All Star Pro game last Saturday. Negroes all over the place and in just about every position except quarter back. Maybe Sandy Stephens or Wilburn Hollis will make it there. However our guess is that Hollis will be at half-back in pro ball. Stephens might be also since his roll out game might not go so well in the play for pay ranks.

But they say the new quarter backs in pro ball aren't afraid to run with the ball and will run. That is probably the difference between them and the older play callers who hate to run. Well after a man get past thirty in the game, he hates to take the punishment. Sandy might make it at that.

Basketball

Could be that the Drake Basketball team is the best in the state. Iowa might beat them but the Hawks had better be right. Their trouble seems to be balanced scoring. Drake has a good hot shooting team capable of beating just about anybody on a given day. This may be the year that the Dogs end up with a national rating. Iowa State has beaten Drake but we think come the next game the Cyclones will be in trouble. Of course those boys are awfully tough but we still think Drake is the best team in Iowa.

Surprise

One is a bit surprised at the number of Negroes who turn up in this modern wrestling. They are in the midget division which ranges up to about one-hundred and fifty and also in the heavyweight. We can recall not too far back when big Negroes like those playing pro football and wrestling were scarce around the country we were in. Maybe they were always there but nobody had looked for them.

No matter what one might think of this wrestling as it is called it is a good way to make money and we are glad to see some Negroes in it.

Archie Moore

So Archie Moore fights the Argentine Lavaranti in March. We would like to see Archie really put the big guy to the test but we don't think his age will let him. A win over Moore would help the Argentine quite a bit. But maybe it won't happen.

"WE'RE NOT HOLDUP

Philadelphia — When Patrolman Edward Sajecki was making his rounds one night last week he spotted two men inside a locked and darkened supermarket. Suddenly a voice from the shadows pleaded: "Please don't shoot! We're not holdup men—we're burglars!" And that's how they were booked next day in Magistrate's Court!

THE LIFE YOU ENSLAVE
MAY BE OUR OWN!

Wanna wreck your union
A very easy way?
Wanna ruin your standards
And your rates of pay?
Wanna help the bosses
Wipe out all your gains?
It's really very simple;
And it will not tax your brains.
Hitler set the pattern,
Mussolini, too.
The KKK is in the act;
They've got some gimmicks new.
Fight, in places where you work,
With others on the job,
And if you do not like their looks—
Just organize a mob!
Then beat them up, or call them names,
Or start a wildcat strike
And say you will not work with men
Whose names you do not like.
The first thing that will happen
(This will cause you real elation);
You'll make your union guilty
Of a contract violation.
This will make the bosses happy
(They've been looking for a wedge),
And when dealing with the union

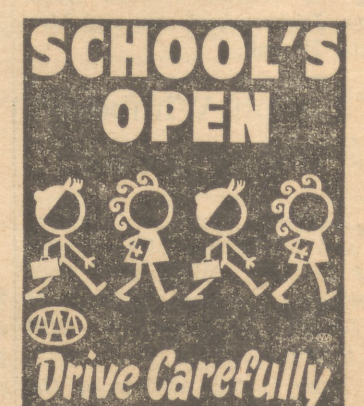

They are bound to have the edge.
Be sure that you don't weaken,
That you really follow through.
Don't work beside a Catholic,
Or a Negro or a Jew.
Don't let them talk you out of it,
Stand firm and speak your mind;
And make it clear you will not work
With any but your kind.
Don't work with Poles, don't work with Czechs,
For it's so plain to see;
No real American has a name
That ends with "witz" or "ski."
Stir trouble up for long enough—
Perhaps another year—
And you're sure to help the bosses
Bounce the union on its ear.
Then you can be real free again
To do just as you please;
But remember this when crawling
To the bosses on your knees;
You went ahead and took the step!
You had those hate seeds sown!
How just the life you helped enslave
Turned out to be you own!
