Reveals Stiffer Anti-Bias Laws for Urban Renewal

Contract Clause Will Be Binding on Private Builder, Future Owner

Washington, D. C.—William L. Slayton, Urban Renewal Commissioner, declared Saturday that private housing developers in federally aided urban renewal projects must comply with state and local anti-bias laws.

He stated that under no circumstances will the Urban Renewal Administration approve projects with restrictive racial covenants. Most important all contracts must include the following specific clause:

"The redeveloper will comply with all state and local laws in effect from time to time, prohibiting discrimination or segregation by reason of race, religion, color or national origin in the sale, lease or occupancy of the property."

New Clause

The new clause, Slayton pointed out, is binding on both the redeveloper and future owners of the property. Slayton made his statement in a letter to 539 local public agencies involved in urban renewal. He noted that 17 states and numerous cities have enacted laws against discrimination in housing.

Heretofore, Slayton pointed out, local public agencies have only been required to notify developers of the existence of such laws and to warn them that violators will be prohibited from further participation in urban renewal.

Patricia Johnson Is EKG Technician at Still College

A temporary job as a nurses aid opened the door for Patricia Johnson, 3106 Bowdoin, to become an electrocardiograph technician at the College of Osteopathic Medicine and Surgery.

The first step came when Pat was promoted to ward clerk in 1957. Her efficiency and professional manner and appearance attracted the attention of hospital officials and Al Parmenter, administrator, offered her on-the-job training for EKG work.

Nervous At First

"I was so nervous I could hardly stand it," Pat said, but apparently her anxiety didn't show and she soon became as efficient at taking EKGs as she had been at her former tasks.

Supervising Pat's training were Dr. William Strong, medical director; Dr. S. S. Herr, instructor; and Dr. Milton Dakovich, instructor.

Excellent Work

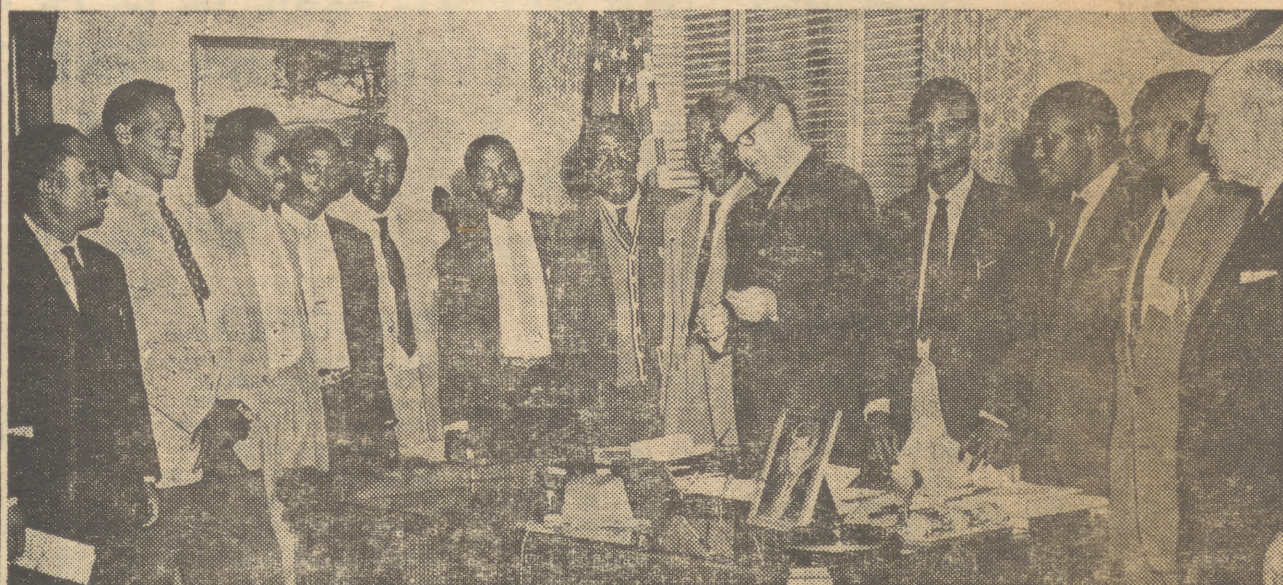

Dr. Strong said, "Recognizing her particular ability and desire for improvement of her level of education, we placed Pat in Heart Station where she first learned and then assumed the total responsibility for electrocardiography, basal metabolic rate estimation and positive pressure therapy."

"Mrs. Johnson has done exceptionally well in all of these areas. She has recently been involved in a research program in fetal electrocardiography prepared by the senior resident in medicine."

Cheerfulness

"Mrs. Johnson has been involved in her current assignment about one and one half years. She is cheerful, happy, eager to learn and has proven herself extremely capable in the areas assigned to her. We are convinced that she is going to continue to improve and eventually accept

TWO NEGROES ON GEORGIA GOP PLATFORM COMMITTEE

Conference to Probe Ways To Integrate Deep South

Birmingham, Ala. — A conference on ways and means to integrate the Deep South will be held here April 13 and 14. Meetings will be at St. Paul Methodist Church and workshops at the A. G. Gaston Building.

Sponsors

Sponsors are the Alabama Christian Movement for Human Rights, which has led the civil rights movement here for six years; the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, which works with student integrationists throughout the South; and the Southern Conference Educational Fund, a Southwide interracial group working for integration and brotherhood.

Bias Ban Extended in Prince Edward County

Richmond, Va.—An injunction barring Prince Edward County from using public funds for private Jim Crow educational facilities, was extended here this week by U.S. District Judge Oren R. Lewis. The judge acted in response to a petition filed by the NAACP. Schools in that county were closed in September, 1959, rather than comply with a Federal District Court ruling calling for integration.

Without Schools

While children secured schooling through the Prince Edward School Foundation, a private institution. No arrangements were made for the 1,700 Negro children of the county. They are still without schools.

The Prince Edward County school case is one of the original five filed by the NAACP with the U. S. Supreme Court in 1952. These cases led to the historic May 17, 1954, school ruling. Judge Lewis said this week that no public funds may be used for the all-white educational institution so long as public schools are closed.

The couple has three children, Robert 13, Rita 12, and Tony 4. Mrs. Johnson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Randle.

NEWS In A Nutshell

Cleveland—The buying habits and power of the American Negro are scheduled for close analysis May 17 through 19 when the National Association of Market Developers holds its 9th annual marketing clinic and convention here.

Goaso, Ghana — Opanin Kwabena Nipandamawo, who claimed to be more than 150 years old, died here March 30, the Ghana News Agency said. Nipandamawo is survived by two wives, 70 children and 214 grandchildren.

Cleveland, O.—Dr. Albert C. Stewart, assistant research director at the Union Carbide Corp. center in Parma, last week was elected the first Negro member of the Cleveland Rotary club. It was not learned whether his election was unanimous. Two negative votes could have kept him out.

New Orleans — Five white boys have been charged with the murder of 11-year-old Ingrid Richardson, who was struck with a brick thrown from an auto by the white boys. The boys live in the project where the Gabriels lived. This was the family who dared to send their child to the integrated Frantz school. Their home was literally wrecked and they had to leave the city.

Chicago—Lloyd Davis, president of the National Association of Intergroup Relations Officials, left here recently for Washington where he has accepted a position as executive assistant to the Assistant Postmaster General in personnel. Davis was intergroup relations specialist for the Housing and Home Finance Agency, and at one time was executive director of the Catholic Interracial Council of Chicago.

Augusta, Ga.—Negro leaders in this east Georgia city of 70,026 have called for a boycott of newspapers and scheduled daily anti-segregation rallies this week. These developments followed brief picketing of the newspaper building by six Negro youths who said they were protesting what they called the newspapers' policy of printing Negro news on only one page.

Miami, Fla.—Leo A. Plummer, 50, pleaded guilty last week to a charge of shoplifting a bottle of honey and was sentenced to serve 30 days by Judge Milton Friedman. But Plummer told the judge he had no intention of swiping a bottle of honey—it was whiskey he wanted—and the honey was in a whiskey-type bottle!

Dr. Gore Begins 13th Year As FAMU Prexy

Tallahassee—Dr. George W. Gore Jr., president of Florida A&M University, began his 13th year as president of FAMU on April 1. Dr. Gore came to the University on March 31, 1950, from Nashville, Tenn., where he had served as dean of Tennessee A&I State University for nearly 25 years.

Florida A&M is observing its Diamond Anniversary during 1962 and has invited several national organizations, the nation and the world to help it celebrate 75 years of service to the citizens of Florida by having their national conferences and conventions here on campus.

Woman Driver Stops to Look, Is Hit by 5 Pellets From Shotgun Blast

It seems they were fighting everywhere outside the Chicken Shack, a restaurant at 1246 E. 17th street early last Saturday morning. A woman driving along, stopped to look and ended up with five shotgun pellets in her legs.

The woman, Mrs. Dorothy Buford, of 1332 Idaho street, was treated for flesh wounds at Broadlawn Polk County hospital. She told officers she was driving east on University about 2:20 a.m. Saturday when she saw 50 to 75 persons engaged in a free-for-all outside the restaurant. She stopped her car, got out to see what was going on, and as she stepped from her car, felt pain in her legs and heard a noise that sounded like a gun blast.

All Disappeared

When police arrived on the scene everyone had vanished but Mrs. Buford and two men, Naomis (Cooke) Ward, 1753 Maple street, and Maurice Harris, 1627 E. University avenue. Police arrested the two, after Harris said he had shoved aside a shotgun which had been pointed at him by Ward, just before the gun went off.

4 Arrested

Detective James Thompson who arrested two others, Floyd Loggins, part owner of the restaurant, and James Willis Ward, brother of N. Ward, reconstructed events following preliminary investigations, which is continuing.

The fight originated inside the Chicken Shack between James Ward and Harris. Loggins, step-father of Harris, got into the altercation and during the fight, Harris was hit over the head with a "blackjack", suffering a scalp wound which required treatment at Broadlawn Polk County hospital.

Returns With Gun

C. Ward then took the fight up for his brother and Harris left, returning later with a .16-gauge shotgun. A telephone call to the restaurant had warned that Ward was returning with a gun. Ward was met outside by Harris, and the battle began with just about everyone joining in. That's where Mrs. Buford arrived, who described the fracas as "they were fighting everywhere."

Loggins, Harris and J. Ward were charged with engaging in an affray; J. Ward is out on $300 bond and the two others have until Apr. 14 to enter a plea and be arraigned. C. Ward was charged with assault with intent to do great bodily harm and is out on $1,000 bond. Trial for the Ward brothers comes up Apr. 23.

Says Touchy Issues Face Democrats; Weaver's Future, Confirmation of T. Marshall

By Louis Lautier

Special Assistant to Chairman Re publican National Committee

Washington, D.C. — The Democratic National Committee put out a few days ago a list of Negro appointees it claimed the Kennedy Administration had made to Government posts.

One of the appointees mentioned was Robert C. Weaver, head of the Housing and Home Finance Agency. But one of the several omissions in Democratic claims was the current report that there is a split in the White House staff over the future of Dr. Weaver.

Secretary of Health

Informed sources say Ted Sorensen, top aide to President Kennedy, favors the appointment of Dr. Weaver to the Kennedy Cabinet when Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, Abraham Ribicoff, resigns to run for the United States Senate, but Larry O'Brien, White House lobbyist on Capitol Hill, opposes Weaver.

O'Brien is reported to believe that Weaver would be a liability because he is colored, and because the United States Office of Education with its segregation problems is under the jurisdiction of the Health, Education and Welfare Department.

Under Fire

Secretary Ribicoff is under fire from civil rights groups because of his opposition to anti-discrimination amendments to Federal-aid-to-school legislation and because he refuses to withhold Federal funds from institutions and school districts which are not complying with the Supreme Court decision against segregated public education.

Fired More Negroes

While the Kennedy Administration bragged about the appointments of Negroes it has made, it failed to point out that it fired more Negro appointees holding high office under President Eisenhower than it has appointed.

Democratic headquarters listed Thurgood Marshall former Director-Counsel of the NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund, Inc., who is serving under a recess appointment as a judge of the U.S. Second Circuit Court of Appeals, but it did not disclose that Southern Democrats are blocking his confirmation.

Appointed by Ike

One of the appointments the Democratic National Committee bragged about was that of Clifton R. Wharton as Ambassador to Norway. Mr. Wharton is a Foreign Service Officer, a Career Minister. President Eisenhower appointed him Minister to Romania in 1958—the first time a Negro was even sent as head of a mission to a European country and a post requiring great skill.

Reeves Scandal

The appointment of Frank Reeves as a special assistant to the President was listed, but a Democratic headquarters leaflet trumpeting the Kennedy record in this field failed to point out that the President withdrew Reeves' nomination as a District of Columbia Commissioner and accepted his resignation as a White House aide after a scandal broke on Reeves' Federal income tax delinquencies and the questionable financial

IPALCO Pays First Half Property Tax

Iowa Power and Light Company is currently making payments in 28 counties of first half real and personal property taxes.

Iowa Power's total first half payments to the state taxing units covering 1961 assessments amount to $2,305,000. These taxes, plus other local levies and federal and state income taxes, result in the company's paying taxes of 20 cents on every 1961 revenue dollar. A. Paul Thompson, president of Iowa Power, stated that most of the property tax goes for the support of schools and such local government services as police and fire departments, street maintenance and improvement, and other municipal services.

Iowa Schools

Of the $4,610,000 total real and personal property taxes to be paid in 1962, the company estimates that $2,260,000 will go for the support of Iowa schools; $1,297,500 for county purposes; and $1,014,800 for the support of various municipal services.

From the total of 20 cents for taxes out of each revenue dollar, the real and personal property levies account for approximately 8.8 cents. State and federal income taxes, plus other miscellaneous taxes account for the remaining 11.2 cents. Total taxes for the company in the current year will be approximately $10,500,000.

PROBE FALSE MAILING, DETROIT NAACP URGES

Detroit—The NAACP has asked the U.S. Department of Justice to investigate a series of fraudulent cards, deceptively mailed in the name of the Association, to white home owners in Grosse Pointe.

Edward M. Turner, NAACP president, said the cards seek to "incite the fears of residents of Grosse Pointe to the end that they would attempt in some manner to make Negroes and the NAACP the target of their wrath."

Message

The message, printed on a card, the size of a post card, was signed "NAACP" and read:

"At a recent meeting we decided to overcome the barrier, and make purchases of homes and home-sites in your area. All the courts will support us in our attempts to exercise our rights to do so. Please do not resort to any Un-American methods to prevent us from living in your communities. Help us put an end to the infamous, vile prejudice and discrimination so prevalent in your area."

NAACP YOUTH INTEGRATE AUGUSTA LUNCH COUNTER

Augusta, Ga.—The NAACP's youth council integrated lunch counters at three major stores here this week as the threat of Negro demonstrations during the famed Masters Golf Tournament hovered.

The youth, led by James Williams, their president and Miss Theodosia LaValle, their advisor, were turned away at one drug store. Local merchants elected to integrate rather than face national embarrassment by having NAACP youth picket the internationally famed Masters Golf competition which attracts sportsmen from the entire nation.

FIRST INTEGRATED AMERICAN ARMY WAS 100 YEARS BEFORE CIVIL WAR

The May issue of Sepia Magazine, a leading Negro publication, reports that the American Revolution produced the first fully integrated combat force, which became one of the most famous fighting units of the war.

At one time, the article discloses, this unit numbering less than 70 men was audacious enough to stand off an entire British Army under Lord Cornwallis. This first integrated force was led by Francis Marion, who volunteered his services when the British crossed the state line into South Carolina.

Plantation Owner

The article points out that Marion, a successful plantation owner, offered his services and the services of his faithful Negro servant, Oscar, to the American Army. As the two men traveled together, their band grew and he found himself with a following of almost 50 men—some white, some Negro who all had one thing in common—a desire to fight the British.

Swamp Fox

Sepia discloses in the article that Marion, nicknamed "Swamp Fox," sized up his volunteers "not by the color of their skin but by how they could handle a rifle and ride a horse." Their exploits were so feared by the British, that the enemy decided to raise two regiments of Negroes to fight Marion and his integrated forces. British efforts to raise the regiments were not successful.

No Discrimination

In camp, as well as in the battle field, there was no discrimination. The records do not say how many of Marion's men were Negro and how many were white. Sepia found in its research that Marion deemed this irrelevant and never bothered to make a distinction in any of his reports.

The Record

ing of a high-priced home while tax liens were pending against him.

Morrow

John H. Morrow was listed as United States Representative to UNESCO in Paris, but it was not mentioned that he served under President Eisenhower as Ambassador to the Republic of Guinea.

The Post Office Department was credited with four appointments, but Democratic headquarters failed to point out that these were simple promotions of veteran career officials.

For example, Christopher C. Scott of Los Angeles was appointed Deputy Postmaster General for Transportation. Mr. Scott began as a substitute clerk in the Los Angeles post office and worked his way up. Under the Eisenhower Administration he rose to Senior Assistant Superintendent in Los Angeles.

Henry McGee

Henry W. McGee, promoted to Personnel Director for the Chicago Region, also entered the postal service as a substitute clerk on June 16, 1920. Under the Eisenhower Administration, he was promoted to Superintendent of Station E in Chicago.

Both Roy Davenport, special assistant to Deputy Secretary of the Army for Personnel, and Howard Jenkins, Assistant Commissioner, Bureau of Labor Management Reports, are veteran Government executives. Davenport was in the Adjutant General's Office, War Department, during World War II as a psychologist and has continued to rise through the ranks of the Defense Department ever since.

Jenkins, a former Howard University law professor, got his appointment as a civil service employee from former Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell.

Billy McGill Cops Nat'l Scoring Title

Chicago—For the fifth consecutive year, the national scoring champion among major college basketball teams is a tan player.

Bill (The Hill) McGill, standout for the Skyline Conference champions, the University of Utah, follows in the footsteps of Frank Burgess, of Bonanza (last season) and Oscar Robertson, of the University of Cincinnati (the three previous seasons).

McGill, who scored more than 2,000 points in his three-year career for the Utes, tallied 1,009 this season, giving him a 26-game average of 38.8.

Service is as important as the product you buy.

Save money by making sure... before you buy... that reliable repair service is available locally.

Six rules of buying a product that will need maintenance or repair:

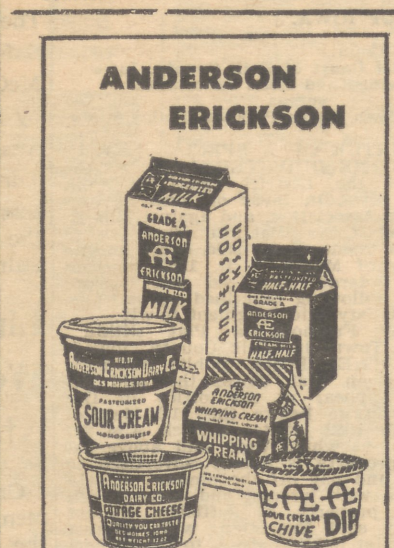

1. Expect good sales service. If you don't get it you're likely to have trouble when you need repairs.
2. A guarantee is only as good as the organization behind it. Read it carefully.

3. Think of the product in terms of need for maintenance and availability of parts and service.
4. A good product name is essential but not enough if facilities for service are lacking.

5. Utility companies may be able to tell you where to obtain good service.
6. A dealer with adequate service facilities may have to charge a slightly higher price for the product.

You save in the long run with those who have facilities for good service.

PARENTS NEED TO ASK "WHY?"

Children seem always to be asking "Why?" And we suspect that they learn a great deal that way.

Parents can learn a lesson from this natural curiosity and in turn ask "Why?" about their children more often. The child doesn't do things without a purpose. He may not be able to put his purpose into words, but there is a cause behind all his behavior.

Valuable

One parent put it this way: "I think one of the most valuable things I have learned as a parent is to ask myriads of whys about my children. This habit has helped me to see that children are not purposely bad little critters. They have a reason for doing what they do. They may choose the wrong way to reach their goals but there is a reason behind that, too."

Cheese Souffle With Corn Flake Topping

Gather your family around the table and then bring this Cheese Souffle with Corn Flakes Topping directly from the oven to the table. The crisp corn flakes add an unusual texture to the cheese souffle. Serve the souffle with individual tossed vegetable salads, bran muffins, grape jelly, milk to drink and fresh fruit for dessert.

Cereal Festivals were celebrated in mid-April about 500 B.C. by the Romans to solicit protection for growing grains. The modern version of this celebration is the Spring Cereal and Milk Festival sponsored by the breakfast cereal and dairy industries to promote the food value of cereal and milk. Cereal and milk complement each other in both food value and appetite appeal. Besides providing calcium, cereal and milk also contribute other important minerals (phosphorus and iron), B vitamins (thiamine, niacin and riboflavin), top-quality protein and fiber.

The combination of cereal and milk in main dishes provides an important way to encourage adults, and children too, to get their daily requirements of this nutritious team.

Cheese Souffle With Corn Flake Topping

2 1/2 cups corn flakes or whole wheat flakes
1/4 cup butter or margarine
1/4 cup all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon salt

1 teaspoon dry mustard
2 cups milk
2 cups grated American cheese
4 eggs, separated

Crush 2 cups of corn flakes or whole wheat flakes slightly. Melt butter or margarine, add flour and seasonings and stir until smooth. Add milk gradually; cook over low heat, stirring constantly until thickened. Remove from heat; add cheese and stir until melted. Fold crushed corn flakes or whole wheat flakes into mixture. Beat egg yolks until lemon colored; blend into sauce. Beat egg whites until stiff; fold into cheese-egg mixture. Turn into greased 2-quart casserole. Sprinkle remaining 1/4 cup corn flakes or whole wheat flakes around edge of casserole. Place casserole in shallow pan of water. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) until done, about 50 minutes. Yield: 8 servings.

Payne Family Talented in Art; Oldest Son Paints Wall Murals in Home, and Air Force

By Frances E. Hawthorne

It has been said to get any mother to talk just ask her about her children! A Des Moines mother who has good reason to talk is Mrs. Samuel Payne, Sr., of 1409 2nd place.

She and her husband, are parents of eight children, ranging in ages from ten to 27 years; three of them are especially talented in art and all have been active in Scout work and other school and community activities. In addition they have one married daughter who has given them a wonderful start on grandchildren, five of them.

Children

The children and their ages are Mrs. LaNora Taylor, 27, mother of the grandchildren; Samuel, Jr., 24, outstandingly artistically inclined; Joyce C., 22; Mrs. Alice Roland, 20; Richard, 17, with the Army at Fort Knox, Ky.; William T., 15-year-old student at Washington Irving Junior high; Helen Marie, 14, student at Warren Harding junior high and David Arnold, 10.

Beams Proudly

Mrs. Payne, whose happy face and cheerful voice, belies her years, beams proudly when talking of all her children. We had gone on a tip from Mrs. Gertrude Hall, a friend of the family, who had told us of the mural painting Samuel, Jr., had painted on the wall in the Payne home.

Wall Mural

The painting was worth the trip; It covers an entire wall from floor to ceiling and is a mountain, featuring a huge Bruin bear on his haunches, being futilely attacked by a black dog who has been bowled over with a ferocious swipe of the bear's paw and a second red fox dog leaping at the enemy. The incident takes place beside a blue mountain stream lined with cat-o-nine tails, with mountains, hazy clouds and evergreen trees in the background and a huge cypress tree beside the stream.

House Paint

Mrs. Payne informed us that her son had done the entire painting with ordinary household enamel after drawing the outline freehand on the wall. He mixes his own colors and the scene is very realistic and has good movement.

Samuel displays a keen interest in animals. There is a second painting in small colored stones of hounds chasing a fox by moonlight. On one of his brother's bedroom walls there is an angry bull, with lowered head, pawing the ground and breathing "fire," in three-dimensional effect. He has had no formal training.

Air Force

During his four-year stint in the air force Samuel was noticed for his artistic talent when he painted a mural on his room's wall. He was then asked to do similar murals for walls in officers quarters and for the dining hall when he was stationed at Lackland Air Field in Texas. Among his honors in the Air Force he received a plaque as "Airman of the Month." Before joining the air force Samuel had won an honor award and salesman pin as a Register and Tribune carrier. In addition he attended the National Jamboree from the Tall Corn Council in Valley Forge, Pa., in 1950 and the Jamboree in Santa Anita, Calif., in 1953.

Scouting

All children have been active in scout work. Helen Marie will receive her curved bar, highest in Girl Scouts next week. Mrs. Payne is one of the leaders of Troop 82. Mrs. Garland Haynes is the other.

TOO MUCH TALK;
LITTLE RESULTS

The President's Committee on Equal Job Opportunity, headed by Vice President Johnson (it is a successor to the President's Committee on Contract Compliance which was headed by former Vice President Nixon) has secured signed pledges from several large industrial companies in which they have agreed to a policy of non-racial discrimination in employment.

Admittedly some results have been chalked up by far out of proportion to what has been claimed for it. In many of the industrial plants where racial discrimination in employment existed some unfair practices have been discontinued such as separate facilities at the plants, a chance for proportion to better jobs, etc. These are all well and good, but they don't go far enough.

Neither of these groups has had a staff sufficient to touch other than the territory surrounding Washington. Otherwise they have been confined to meetings of the committees which issue high sounding intentions but little reaches down to the roots where help is sorely needed.

There are many plants in Iowa, many with branches of some corporations whose officers have signed these pledges, that are doing contract or sub-contract work for the federal government, yet the influence of those high sounding pledges has not been felt. In fact, it is fair to say that not one Negro has been put to work in Iowa as a result of the efforts of either of these committees.

Of course both the Eisenhower and Kennedy administrations have attempted to insure equal employment of Negroes by executive order without staffs sufficient to follow through down the grass roots. Neither the employment agencies or labor unions which have non-discrimination provisions in their laws does any good.

With the high unemployment and the use of automation in industry, jobs become harder to get and unless some agency is on the ground working to make equal employment work, Negroes find it more difficult to secure employment.

These committees are designed to fulfill campaign promises but they get very little done.

THE PUBLIC IS NOT WELL INFORMED

Few people realize the large staff of workers that are used to carry on the business of Congress. Each member has his staff consisting of clerks, executives assistants and secretaries numbering as high as six or seven depending upon his standing on committees.

In addition to these, each committee has a staff of research people, clerks, investigators and in some instances attorneys numbering as high as seventy-five. Each committee is composed of a proportionate number of members divided between Democrats and Republicans and the party in power hires the largest number of the staff. Chairmen gain their post by seniority of service. It so happens that two are Negroes: Dawson of Illinois heads the government operations committee and Powell of New York, Labor and Education.

All the committees are so heavily loaded with Democrats far out of proportion to the political complexion of the members that Representative Schwengle of the first Iowa district has introduced a bill requiring that the majority have 60 per cent of the staff and the minority 40 per cent. This would seem a fair distribution of staff members but few think the bill will get very far.

In an editorial last Sunday, the Des Moines Register stated that Dawson and Powell headed the most one-sided staffs—the former with 77 Democrats and 3 Republicans, the latter 40 to 2.

This is not a very good example and yet when the complexion of the political machine which elects them to Congress is analyzed, the action can be understood. And while neither has much standing with Negroes outside their districts, yet they are able to be re-elected every two years by cracking the whip over a certain class and providing relief and other governmental subsidies which these voters think they can do best. The example is very poor.

GRABBING FOR STRAWS;
LOOKING TO THE BIBLE

Like Gov. Faubus of Arkansas who sought and secured an audience with President Eisenhower in order to explain why he insisted on disobeying the mandate of the U. S. Supreme Court on segregation. Mrs. Gaillot, Jr., of New Orleans seeks an audience with Archbishop Rummell to explain why segregation is not wrong.

And like a lot of people who want an excuse to practice the rotten ideas, she turns to the Bible to prove her case.

But she forgets that broad principles cannot be proved by taking a few sentences out of context, even from the Bible, to back a cause.

So much has happened during the past two weeks that one should be able to apologize for not getting around to everything. Boxers being knocked out, and seriously hurt; Archie Moore ending for the time being at last, our local Pinkie George's dream of managing a champion.

Oh, there were lots of other things. . . . Prairie View and Grambling universities dominating small college basketball and Cincinnati's Paul Hogue becoming the nation's outstanding college player.

Surely, you must have known all about these happenings, so you can pass these things up if you want to.

Globo Trotters

Saturday night in Chicago the Globe Trotters played and beat the college All-Stars. The Collegians had a good lineup, but the guys who would have made them really tough were missing. Fellows like Hogue, Bradley's Chet Walker and Utah's Billy McGill. Maybe, they will join the squad later on. If they don't it won't be a real college All-Stars.

Baseball

Now, baseball has sprung back into the picture and nobody dares to even suggest that the Yankees won't repeat their pennant and world series wins. The National league is a pretty close scramble with most of the experts picking Los Angeles.

Ferguson

Spring football has sort of slipped up on us and Iowa's captain, Larry Ferguson will know if he is ready or not by the time you read this. Both Iowa and Iowa State are changing their offenses and may have something. Drake is going to have a varsity alumni game featuring Johnny Bright. That alone should guarantee a packed stadium.

And then comes the track season with Texas Southern bringing up some of the runningest fellows in this part of the country. They won five races and broke five records at the Texas Relays and had there been a bigger college program would have possibly won more.

The team Texas Southern U. will be at the Drake Relays. Now watch a few of the better college teams switch from the Drake to the Penn Relays.

The One Thing
Floyd Patterson
Never Forgot

Floyd Patterson reveals in the May issue of Sepia Magazine that in his youth, when his mother sent him to a school (Wiltwyck) for emotionally disturbed boys, he did not want to go because he thought it was a prison.

The magazine article, titled, "The One Thing Floyd Patterson Never Forgot," states that today Patterson swears by the school and claims that if he had not been "straightened out" there, he might not have gone on to win the world title.

Meant So Much

Because Wiltwyck meant so much to Patterson, he has used some of his earnings to open the Floyd Patterson House in New York City as part of the Wiltwyck program to aid youngsters in a group residence.

The article reveals that at the opening of the Patterson House on Jan. 23, 1962 Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt was among the distinguished guests. Patterson relates that when he was 10 years old and stayed at Wiltwyck, he and a group of boys attended a Christmas party at Mrs. Roosevelt's home in Hyde Park when she was America's first lady.

Back Home

Patterson told a reporter that sitting next to her on Jan. 23, 1962 gave him the feeling that he was back at her home.

WILT CHAMBERLAIN REWRITES
RECORD BOOK FOR THIRD YEAR

New York—For the third consecutive season Wilt Chamberlain has rewritten completely the National Basketball Association record book. He smashed nine records, including his amazing 50.4 per game scoring average to become the first player in NBA history to score more than 4,000 points in a single season.

The Philadelphia Warrior pivot ace established these records:

Most Points

Most points scored (4,029); highest scoring average (50.4); most field goals attempted (3,159); most field goals made (1,597); most free throws attempted (1,363); most free throws made (835); most minutes played (3,882); most games scoring 50 points (44); most field goals missed in one season (528).

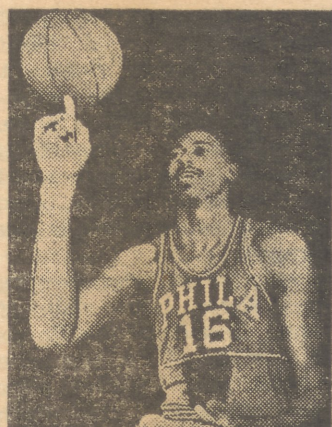

Wilt previously held all these records except the one of converting free throws.

Percentage

Chamberlain was again the best rebounder, edging his arch rival and friend, Bill Russell, defensive specialist of the Boston Celtics. The Big Dipper snared 2,052 rebounds for an 80-game average of 25.6. Russell retrieved 1,891 in 76 games for a 24.9 norm.

Walt Ballamy, acclaimed rookie of the year, wiped another Chamberlain mark, highest field goal percentage. The first-year center for the first-year Chicago Packers scored 973 two-pointers in 1,895 tries for a .513 mark. Wilt, second this year, tallied his shots from the field out of 3,159 attempts for a .505 percentage, the identical mark of last season.

Robertson

Another record-maker was Oscar Robertson, the sophomore back court star of the Cincinnati Royals who was credited with 889 assists, for out-distancing the record of 715 held by Bob Cousy of the Celtics, in the 1960-61 season. "The Big O" also had the highest assist average (11.2), displacing his own 9.7 average of his rookie campaign.

Payne Art

Also artistically inclined is William who won a scholarship like Brother Samuel, to the Des Moines art center. A sister, Alice, was the only Negro from her class at North to have her art work compete in the nationals at New York, winning a gold key. She also was active in a ballet at the Jewish community center.

Mrs. Payne

Mrs. Payne modestly admits that her art-inclined children pick up some of their talent from her. She formerly was quite adept in drawing and painting, but since has channeled her ability into sewing for her children.

As equally proud of their mother, as she is of them, are her children, displayed by two of the daughters, Mrs. Roland and Mrs. Taylor, who look at their mother with obvious pride and respect. They dropped in during our visit with Mrs. Payne.

Graduation day has its lighter side—so don't restrict your picture taking to solemn, stiffly posed shots.

Graduation Pictures Needn't Be Formal

Do you remember when Graduation Day meant just one stiffly posed picture of the solemn young graduate, garbed in cap and gown and grimly clutching his diploma for dear life?

Well, gone is the time when any camera can get away with performing such minor service! During graduation days your camera should be kept on the job full time because this period marks a very important occasion—the achievement of another milestone in growing up—very often, the reaching of a goal for parents as well as for the boy or girl graduate.

It's not just a manner of speaking when school programs refer to graduation as "Commencement." For the graduate, it is the commencement of a new and exciting life—whether it means that he advances from elementary school to high school, from high school to college, or from college to professional career. As such, graduation is an occasion that merits taking plenty of pictures—in fact, enough to fill at least several pages in the family album! Besides recording the happy event of graduation, a camera can also "earn its diploma" by entering the graduation scene in another important way. It makes a perfectly wonderful and extremely practical gift. A youngster heading toward high school would be ready for a simple flash camera—one that would add fun to his new high-school activities and allow him to make his own personal yearbook. For the older graduates, more elaborate cameras or accessories to go with the ones they already own would be very acceptable gifts.

A camera is the kind of gift that you would do well to present some time before the specified day of graduation. In most schools, pre-graduation activities include all kinds of exciting events—Senior plays, Proms, tree- or ivy-planting ceremonies, and countless social functions that fairly teem with picture-taking opportunities. —John Van Guilder

PRAYER

O' God, I love Thee in the stars at night
Under the still eternity of sky;
Teach me to love Thee in the passerby,
For Thou hast said that this is loving right.
I hear Thee in the stars whose silence sings,
And in the shout of dawn Thy voice I know;
Teach me to hear Thee in the joy and woe
Of men who speak of trivial earthly things.
I see Thee when the world is full of sleep
Walking upon the moon-path of the sea;
Teach me by all the tears of Calvary

To know Thee in the eyes of all that weep.
There are so many things that I would say,
God-soul of beauty, teach me how to pray!

Win Marathon
Housing Sit-In

Los Angeles, Calif.—It took 35 days of sitting-in by members of Los Angeles CORE to win a home in Monterey Highlands for a Negro physicist.

The long sit-in ended when Earl Snyder, who took possession of the housing development through foreclosure on second mortgage, sold the Lile family the house of their choice. Mrs. Bobby Lile, wife of the Negro Physicist, participated in the sit-in. She had kept a $100.00 check in her purse, asserting: "We're waiting to make a deposit on a house."

HEALTH FOR ALL

THERE AIN'T NO SUCH THING

There is no such thing as tired blood. Even when you are limp with exhaustion, your blood is rushing zippily around tending to business.

People who think they have tired blood are really complaining of chronic loss of pep. There may be any number of reasons for that tired feeling and there's nothing you can buy over the counter that will cure it.

Slow Down

First consider the possibility that you're not as young as you used to be. Who is? As you get older you're bound to slow down a bit. You can't go in for an endless round of activities without feeling the effects in fatigue. You may need more rest.

Boredom

Boredom can give you a feeling of being tired. You can get just as worn out not having enough to do as you can by overworking.

On the other hand, constant tiredness can be a sign of something wrong. It's a symptom of many disorders, some of which you can't see. If you feel tired all the time, you may need a check-up.
