Jackson, Miss.—Mississippi's supreme court Monday overturned a Negro's conviction for raping a white woman saying it would not have stood up before the U.S. Supreme Court. The court upheld defense arguments that there was "systematic discrimination against Negroes" in selection of juries which indicted and convicted George A. Gordon at Columbus last year.

New York—Lewis Boyd, who with his wife and eight children was sent to New York by the New Orleans White Citizens Council recently, Apr. 24 began as a $100 a week handyman with a New Jersey medical firm.

Kansas City, Mo.—Phillip Warren, 55, was killed in a freak accident at a local baking company. He was cleaning a cake oven with his body half inside when he apparently tripped the starter lever with his foot.

Philadelphia, Pa.—Two high living luxury loving physicians have been charged with the illegal sale of large quantities of narcotics by federal agents who seized them last week. The two, Dr. Eric R. Clarke, 49, and Dr. Horace R. Johnson, 55, were accused of cooperating with each other in the sale of drugs.

Birmingham, Ala.—About 250 white and Negro leaders from 10 states held a conference here on ways to integrate the Deep South. It was the first time in 25 years that integrated gatherings of such size and scope had been held in Birmingham.

Tampa, Fla.—Eulis Hicks, 49, who was preparing to go to Miami to testify about a train accident 10 months ago in which he was injured, was killed by another train here last week.

Sgt. Wilson in Fleet Observed by President

Norfolk, Va.—Sgt. Harvey R. Wilson, USMC, son of Mrs. Paul L. Wilson of 1164 14th st., Des Moines, Iowa, is serving with the Second Marine Division, observed by President John F. Kennedy during a two-day visit on April 13 and 14 to the Atlantic Fleet in Norfolk, Va.

Following the Presidential visit, the division headed for Vieques, Puerto Rico, to take part in a three-week joint Navy-Marine Corps maneuver involving more than 40,000 sailors and Marines aboard some 83 Atlantic Fleet ships to be climaxed with an assault on Vieques.

Calls Actions 'Vicious' And Human Misery, Seek Cheap Publicity

New York—Civil rights leaders and liberal politicians have been unanimous in denouncing as "cynical," "vicious," and "callous" the widely-publicized action of the New Orleans White Citizens Council in sending dissatisfied Negroes North.

In the vanguard of the hate-subsidized migration was Lewis Boyd, an unemployed longshoreman, who arrived here from New Orleans on April 21 with his wife and their eight children.

Greetings

Meeting the family at the bus terminal were Mrs. Daisy Bates, representing the NAACP; Dr. Edward Lewis of the New York Urban League; and representatives of the New York City Department of Welfare and of the Travelers Aid Society.

Mrs. Bates counseled the family and bought Easter clothing for the children. Dr. Lewis was instrumental in finding employment for Mr. Boyd and Miss Gladys Townsend of the Travelers Aid Society arranged for their temporary housing.

Three Soldiers Cleared

St. Louis, Mo.—Three white soldiers arrested April 14 on a CORE picket line in front of the Toll House, in suburban Webster Groves, have been cleared of wrongdoing and the incident will not be entered in their service records. So announced a spokesman for the 44th Engineer Depot at Granite City, Illinois, where the three servicemen are based.

Parental Inconsistencies Cause Conflict

Children learn a great deal about themselves—the kind of people they are, the way they look, and whether or not they are up to par—by knowing what their parents think of them. They know what their parents think of them by what parents say about them, and by the way parents treat them.

Talladega, Ala.—The Social Action Committee of Talladega College has urged citizens throughout the United States to protest the beating and gassing of numerous students by police April 25-26.

The student organization urged wires and letters to the Department of Justice in Washington, D. C., and to the Alabama Safety Commission in Montgomery, Ala.

Mass Beating

A mass beating by state and city police took place April 25 when 200 students began a march downtown to protest the gassing, beating and jailing of several others the night before.

Civilians had beaten one student severely and thrown mustard gas on two others. A hoodlum slashed the tires on the automobile of a sympathizer while a policeman looked on. Four women students were overcome by tear gas while picketing a drug store.

6 Arrested

Six students were arrested while picketing another drugstore where four of them had previously been arrested for sitting in. These four were later fined $100 each and their cases are being appealed.

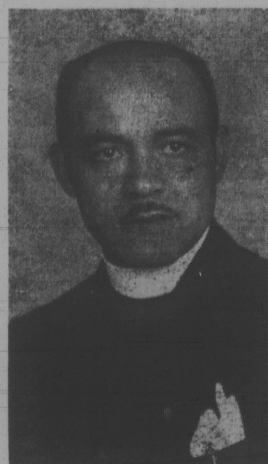

The protest marchers were met two blocks from the college by 40 to 50 state and city police armed with fire hoses, clubs, and tear gas. City Counsel Byron Boyett was also there.

Parade Permit

Boycott warned the marchers that they were violating the law because they had no parade permit. When the students insisted on continuing SEE PAGE TWO

2 Women Accused Of Robbing Man At Gunpoint

Two Des Moines women Friday were being held in lieu of $10,000 bond each after they pleaded innocent to charges of robbery with aggravation. They were arraigned before Municipal Judge Howard Brooks.

Carolyn Ann Lewis, 23, who gave her address as 1730 Lyon st., and Mary Louise Godley, 21, who gave her address as 1207 Center st., were arrested after Bill Hook, 1125 Twenty-fourth st., West Des Moines, reported he was held up at gun point.

Hook told police he stopped his car at a stop sign about 11 p.m. Wednesday at Ninth and Center streets and the two women got into the car and forced him to drive to a nearby alley where one of the women held a .32-caliber gun against him.

Hook said the women robbed him of $10 and a wrist watch. Both women deny they robbed Hook.

NAACP Will Defend 9 Accused of Killing Youth

New York—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will provide counsel for the legal defense of nine of the ten Negroes arrested this week in Augusta, Ga., charged with the slaying of a 16-year-old white youth, Roy Wilkins, executive secretary, announced here today.

Request

The NAACP, Wilkins said, has agreed to enter the case in response to the request of local counsel retained by parents and relatives of the accused youths. Announcement of the NAACP entry into the case followed conferences in Augusta between local counsel, parents of the boys and officers of the NAACP branch there with Frank D. Reeves, NAACP attorney of Washington, D. C., representing NAACP General Counsel Robert L. Carter.

Retained to defend the boys, ranging in age from 14 to 21 years, and one older man, are John Ruffin and John D. Watkins, two young Negro attorneys. Reeves and Donald L. Hollowell, of Atlanta, the Association's Georgia state counsel, will be associated with them.

Fund Drive

Wilkins also announced a nationwide drive to raise funds for the defense of the accused. Letters are being dispatched to the Association's 1500 units throughout the country appealing for funds to help defray the costs of the defense which may involve long trials and repeated appeals. The public was also invited to send funds to NAACP headquarters at 20 West 40th Street, New York 18, N. Y.

Meanwhile, in Georgia, the Augusta NAACP branch, under leadership of its president, the Rev. C. S. Hamilton, launched a local defense

Defendants

Charged with the slaying of Leslie Lee Luttles, on April 19, are James E. Bing, 21; Frank Dumas, Jr., 20; Alfred Lamar Carter, 19; Paul Reeves, 18; Tom Holmes, 17; and four boys under 16 whose names have been withheld in compliance with Georgia law. Also Henry Dunn, 57. All except Bing have retained NAACP counsel.

Young Luttles was killed when the car in which he was driving together with two teenage companions, was fired upon as it was cruising through the Negro neighborhood after two nights of such incursions into the area. In the marauding car were found a BB gun and a bag of rocks.

Tensions

Tension had been mounting in the city as the result of white resistance to desegregation efforts initiated by the NAACP youth council in Augusta. Their efforts brought about the desegregation of lunch counters and buses, the latter after a federal court order had been issued.

The young people had been picketing two supermarkets in the Negro district in protest against refusal of the owner to employ Negroes in other than menial capacities. Negro patronage was withdrawn from the stores as the result of the NAACP demonstration. Following the slaying, picketing was halted and a Negro cashier was hired in one of the stores.

One student who was injured said the police made every effort to strike young men in the groin with their clubs. The students sang throughout and did not strike back. Finally they were driven back to the college gate, where the police stopped beating them. Many of the victims not only had severe bruises, but also cuts inflicted by some sharp instrument.

Wilkins called the trip sponsored by the racist White Citizens Council "a pretty cheap stunt" and charged the council with "using the Boys as pawns in the battle for desegregation."

The NAACP, he said, "regards the so-called Freedom Rides North as evilly motivated, cynical exploitation of human misery spawned by the sponsors of this hoax. There is no need for this publicity stunt to demonstrate the southern Negroes' dissatisfaction with conditions."

Outmigration
The steady outmigration of colored citizens is amply documented in the census reports. Their resentment against their treatment in Dixie is evidenced by the intensification of their drive for equal rights and against segregation and all other forms of racial discrimination.

"Some will remain in the South and continue this struggle; others will leave and settle elsewhere with or without the prodding of the White Citizens Council or other bigots." Meanwhile, in New Orleans, Clarence Laws, the Association's southwest regional secretary, denounced the White Citizens Council's "heartless prank." He warned that it "would be a tragic mistake for Negroes of the South to assume that they can... attain the same success which has apparently come to the Lewis Boyd family of New Orleans."

The General Services Administration is now accepting applications for Custodial Laborer positions in this locality. Applicants selected will do custodial laborer work primarily in Federal buildings.

Ebony Claims U.S. Has 35 Negro Millionaires

There are 35 Negro millionaires in the U.S. today.

So estimates Ebony magazine in an article on growing Negro wealth, which summarizes the way in which the Negro has "arrived" economically in the past decade.

Listing the names and business interests of "America's 100 Richest Negroes," Ebony discloses that the richest Negroes in the U.S. are insurance company executives and physicians. The Negro magazines states: "Many Negro fortune eminate from the South with an exclusively Negro clientele."

Richest
Named as the richest Negro in the U. S. is Atlanta insurance executive Norris B. Herndon, president and majority stockholder of the Atlanta

Life Insurance Company. He is one of 18 insurance executives on the list of 100 richest Negroes. Ebony describes Herndon as "reserved and retiring, spending much of his time at a Florida home far away from the crowd."

Conservatism

Ebony speculates that there would be many more Negro millionaires "were it not for the ingrained conservatism of Negro businessmen." The magazine quotes an observer of Negro business methods as saying that "they have the potential but frequently lack the experience, and since many came up in the rough days of the depression, they're simply afraid to take a chance."

"Obtaining capital has been their biggest obstacle and the average Negro entrepreneur knows the answer is usually negative at the downtown banks," notes the magazine.

"In a population of 18 million, it is amazing that there are not more Negro millionaires," says Ebony. "It may be even more amazing, considering the obstacle course, that there are any."

Others
Among millionaires listed by Ebony are: Alonzo Wright of Cleveland, who made his first fortune with a chain of gas stations and now owns much downtown real estate; two hotels and Ohio farmland; A. G. Gaston of Birmingham, Ala., whose many investments include an insurance firm, a cemetery, housing developments, motels, a business school and a savings and loan association; Dr. Percy Julian of Oak Park, Ill., a chemist who sold his laboratory to Smith, Kline and French for $2,338,000 and remained as its president.

Dr. Edwin B. Henderson of Alexandria, Va., who inherited $2 million; Dr. Haley Bell of Detroit, a dentist who is co-owner of radio station WCHB, for which $1 million was offered recently; and Viola Austin

Leashed Dog Belonging To Mrs. Norma Heath Is Stoned to Death

A pet dog, leashed on a clothesline in the back yard of its owner, Mrs. Norma Heath of 1211 E. 17th street, met death Friday at the hands of one of the cruellest means by stoning. Perpetrators of the crime were three boys, who earlier this week confessed to police.

The boys, two 15 and one 16 were turned over to the Polk County Juvenile court Monday. Police said the boys claimed they were chasing a snake through the yard, that one boy slipped and fell and thought the dog was going to bite him. He started throwing stones and was joined by the others, the boy claimed.

Two of the youths voluntarily gave themselves up.

of New York, widow of millionaire realty broker Augustine A. Austin. On the 100 richest Negroes listed by Ebony, 24 are doctors or dentists, 18 are in the insurance business and 14 in real estate.

SOCIETY

Written by May P. Youtz, SUI Associate Professor

Parents Need To Be Good Listeners

It is like to be listened to carefully when we talk. Whether what we have to say seems very earth-shaking to the other fellow or not, it usually seems important to us or we wouldn't say it.

Perhaps the one thing that can help families get along better and be happier with each other more than anything else is listening to each other. To listen well takes some extra time and considerable extra effort.

Something Else

What are we usually doing when we're not paying attention to someone who is talking to us? We're thinking about something else that is more important to us at the moment—usually something related to our own needs.

Can't Ignore

We can't ignore these needs. Sometimes we have to think about my own problems, and when we do, we can't attend very well to our children's needs. We sometimes have to think about our work and when we do, we can't listen to or help another family member with his work. But there are two things we can do—learn to be relatively free from conflicts which require a lot of time and energy for ourselves, and provide enough time free from working hours to set aside a period in which other family members can talk things over with us and not feel that they are imposing on us.

Marital

Marital difficulties may arise and be perpetuated because husbands and wives, who often find things difficult to say in the first place, feel that their mates will either not have time to listen or will not care to listen to them. Much then that really needs to be said to make a marriage relationship closer and better is left unsaid.

Children

Children learn early that much of what they tell parents and want to share with parents is not attended to. If what is important to children seems inconsequential to parents, soon children don't bother talking with parents much. Each time a communication line is cut in a family, a greater degree of emotional isolation develops for its members. If we want to be close to others in our family, we need to learn to listen to them.

The local daily papers' sports department, which are recognized throughout the nation for their excellent sports coverage (both pictures and stories) outdid themselves again over the weekend on their coverage of the Drake Relays. One could not help but smile at the pictures of the three Glass boys from New York City who were hopefully approaching members of the famed Texas Southern track team for the autograph. The youngsters are in Des Moines visiting their grandmother, Mrs. Oscar Glass of 1517 second street.

One young Des Moines lady who has made courtesy her badge of honor in her contact with the public, Tuesday was the wearer of an orchid corsage for her efforts. She was Miss Rita Parsons, elevator operator at the Securities Building. The corsage was presented to her by K.S.O. Radio station as "Working Girl of the Day."

The announcement came over the Don Bell show. Miss Parsons was nominated by Paul Lyndsey of Pal's Accounting service, who said, "She has always been very nice and courteous when I have ridden the elevator. He also nominated Mrs. Margaret Smith, another operator in the same building. The award usually goes to secretary and office employees.

When members of the "Know Your Neighbor" panel learned they would take too long to get to Storm Lake by car for an engagement Sunday, the group decided to charter a private plane. Each of the five members chipped in $10 each toward the trip. Their hosts paid the balance. Among the panelists is Mrs. James B. (Arlene) Morris, Jr., of 1600 Hickman road, mother of three sons, and wife of Des Moines attorney.

Because she knew that her news reports were running quite long for this week, Mrs. Guy E. (Bessye) Green of 2029 Washington street, called to ask if we would like to pick it up as we went to the Bystander. We agreed and while there, to which the Greens recently moved after nearly 20 years of apartment-living, Mrs. Greene proudly showed us her new abode.

Displayed charmingly are her lovely collection of cut glass accessories and vases. Most obvious of all was Mrs. Greene's pride and happiness in her new home.

Preparing to make their first trip to the west coast, are Mrs. Rufus (Edythe) Spates and her daughter, Peggy Ann, of 1244 13th street. They will make the trip by train about the middle of June.

A story about a man being robbed at gun point by two women, whom he said forced themselves into his car, elicited this report from a radio listener, "That's one story that man will spend the rest of his life trying to explain."

We don't want to beat an old horse to death, but allow us to re-horse to death a minute. One of the best performances turned in by a high school youth, we think that was given in vain by Des Moines' Tech Bob Williams, the remaining member of the famed fleet-footed Tech tracksters of last year. Even though Tech pulled ahead in the first lap of the mile relay, Bob, anchoring his team, which had lost gained ground, caught up with the leading boy and for three-fourths of the oval stayed abreast of the leader, before being forced to fall behind. So our hats off to Young Williams, for his valiant effort, heart and speed!

Set Planning, Leadership Program At Art Center

"The ABC's of Meetings" will be discussed by Dr. Sol M. Davidson at the annual Program Planning and Leadership clinic to be at the Des Moines Art Center May 11 (Friday) from 9:15 to 11:15 a.m.

Following Dr. Davidson's talk, three workshops will be held to help prepare leaders for work in their organization.

The public is invited to attend without charge. The clinic is sponsored by the Department of Adult Education of the Des Moines Public Schools, the Public Library of Des Moines and University College of Drake University.

COMPETE AGAINST ALL COMERS

Two white students, who attend a school in northeast Louisiana, complained that because their athletic teams were not allowed to compete with those with Negro members, they were not able to run enough to stay in condition and against Negro boys who in many instances were the top performers in their class.

Judging from the performances of Texas Southern University and Florida A & M teams at the Drake Relays, these boys know what they are talking about.

The outstanding performance of these boys is a credit to themselves, their coach and the schools from which they came. In these field meets, it requires not only natural ability but strict training for timing and technique essential in the performance of their assignments.

But back of all these requirements, is the matter of an opportunity to compete—to sell a man's wares. This athletics have done over the years and Drake University has been one of the leaders in giving every person a chance.

As the late Harvey Ingham often said, what the Negro wants is a chance to compete, an even start and a fair decision at the end of the race.

This certainly illustrates the desires of the Negro in every phase of life. And if business and labor took the same position, Negroes could reach much higher planes, and American democracy would carry on a more realistic position.

ANYTHING CAN BE EXPECTED FROM SOME

The White Citizens' Council of New Orleans is financing Negroes who wish to leave for northern cities. They have an idea that shipping these people North will reduce the Negro population as well as the relief loads and penalize the North for its part in the fight against racial discrimination.

Financing these people violates no law but it does place them in the midst of large centers of population where jobs are scarce, housing unsatisfactory and the relief rolls exceedingly high.

The southern white man can always be depended upon to do foolish things when Negro life is under consideration, and this is no exception to the rule.

Participation in the program has not been as great as the council expected largely because, except in a few instances, Negroes even though penalized severely in New Orleans, still refuse to allow themselves to help the cause of this unfriendly group.

MORE AND BETTER JOBS NEEDED.

The NAACP has taken note of the exceedingly difficult problem Negroes are facing in the employment field and has laid out a tentative program for the branches to follow.

The NAACP has supported organized labor fully in its struggle and rise to power. Heads of the great labor organizations serve on the boards and appear at the national conventions pledging their efforts in the fight for civil rights and equal opportunity for employment.

But somehow these glowing promises have not trickled down to the local unions. As a result of this situation, employment for Negroes—particularly men—has reached a serious stage. This is evidenced by a casual look at most any type of job going on today. This is particularly true in northern cities where unions are strong. It is true in Des Moines.

This latest step by the NAACP is somewhat overdue and yet the organization has been so preoccupied with civil rights matters that the labor problem has been given little attention.

The Bystander welcomes the move and believes that if the Negro is to move forward, he must have an opportunity to earn sufficient money to pay his way.

Inevitable Rains Visit Drake Relays Still--Stars Shine Bright; 9 Records Go

By Staff Writer

The weather man and the Drake Relays are still at odds with each other; nevertheless, a star-studded array of super athletes made this 53rd annual contest one of the brightest ever as nine Drake records tumbled amid many thrilling nip and tuck performances.

Brightest Stars

The stars that shone brightest, cast the most luminous light of interest and thrills, were the relay team from deep in the heart of Texas. The Texas Tigers, representing the University and the fleet sprinters from the Sunshine state of Florida (Tallahassee) Florida A & M.

Records

On Friday, oblivious to the rain that plummeted downward, the Texas Tigers ran the distance medley in 10:01.2 to write a new record in the book by eight tenths of a second. And in its preliminary heat in the mile relay zoomed to a record setting 3:11.4 compared to the old mark of 3:12.2. On Saturday the Texans set a new record in the sprint medley relay with a time of 3:31.2, seven-tenths of a second off the old mark. Last year the Texans won this race with a slower time of 3:22.4. The Texans also won the two-mile relay (college) but failed to set a new mark. They were three tenths of a second off the old mark (which they themselves set last year) of 7:35.2.

Anchorman Hayes

Florida A & M, anchored by speedy Robert Hayes beat the Texans in the quarter mile college relay. The Tigers from Texas had a bad pass of the baton and then were disqualified for passing off in the wrong lane. The Floridians came in first followed by Northeast Missouri anchored by Jim Taylor, former stalwart runner for Tech. Central State was third and Lincoln U. of Missouri, fourth. The loss by the Texans was their first in a string of 36 consecutive victories.

Dash Record Co-Holder

Hayes (who is co-holder of the world's record of 9.2 in the 100-yard dash) won this event handsily in the rain Friday with a 9.4 tying the Drake mark. In 50 degree temperature Saturday in the finals he could manage only 9.5 with Purdue's Nathaniel Adams second at 9.6 and Omaha's Roger Sayer's, third at 9.7.

The Floridians Rattlers made the Texans step aside in the half-mile college relay run in a clocking of 1:25.3, but failed to break the mark set by Texas Southern (1:24.4) in last year's meet. However the Texans were beaten handsily as the Taylor boys brought North East Missouri in second and the Tigers had to settle for third in this event. Lincoln University was fourth.

Luther Brown of Lincoln won the hop, step and jump event with a leap of 46 feet 1 1/2 inches.

High School

The High school boys rendered their share of the thrills and displayed bright lights of running talent. North's Clyde Duncan, called by his coach, the most natural runner he's ever seen, won the 100-yard dash in 10.2. In the one mile relay Des Moines Tech's Bob Williams displayed a fine running, talent as anchorman for his team. Tech was behind and Williams took the baton and zoomed into high gear and overtook the runners until he ran out of gas on the final curve. It was a brilliant run but Tech finished fourth. Behind Sioux City Central, Ames, Cedar Rapids. The Half Mile Relay championship trophy went to the fleet runners from Newton followed by Sioux City Central, Cedar Rapids, Jefferson and Ames.

Shot Put

Missouri's Don Smith tossed the steel ball a record 57 feet 11 inches in the shot put and Rice's Fred Hansen stuck his pole in the turf and went 15 feet three and one fourth inches in the air to win the University pole vault. Championship. And North of the field Collin Ridgway of Lamar Tech was winning the high jump with a leap of 6 feet seven and three-fourth inches into space across the bar.

so well but Team No. 2 got part of their money back. The bowlers say that this was one of the biggest thrills of their lifetime. The next ABC will be in Buffalo, N.Y. in 1963.

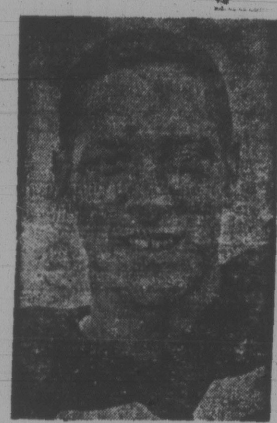

Robert Hayes Voted Outstanding Athlete At Drake Relays

Robert Hayes, fleet-footed 100-yard dash man from Florida A & M, and co-holder of the world record of 9.2 in that category, was voted the outstanding athlete at the Drake Relays here Saturday. The vote came from newsmen and writers from television, radio, press and wire services covering the annual track event.

Hayes won the 100-yard dash at Drake Saturday and anchored his team to victory in the quarter mile college relays.

Well, sir, it wasn't the coldest nor the wettest running of the Drake Relays that we ever saw, but it was rough enough. Those teams, Texas Southern, Florida A & M, and Lincoln U. (Mo.) along with the Texas Southern, Northeast Missouri sure pulled a crowd in spite of the weather. We looked up into the stands Saturday and we saw just about every local Negro who thinks he or she knows anything about track and then a lot more who didn't claim to know anything about it.

Texas Southern

Would like to have seen Texas Southern win those other two races but then they got enough. They won only four races. When has any other team done that well? It was getting harder we guess to keep those boys on edge for race after race. There had to be a break someplace and it showed up Saturday. Bad baton passing got Southern disqualified in one race. Probably, cost them another and cost them a record in another. But even then they won four out of six races and finished second in the one in which they were disqualified, and third in the other.

Taylor

Bill Taylor's boys of Northeast Missouri proved they belong in the best company. They were awarded second in the quarter mile relay but really finished third behind Texas Southern. But in the half mile relay the boys actually out legged the famed Texans and got second; Florida A & M came here for the expressed purpose of running against Texas Southern and they did just that. As we watched Robert Hayes win the 100 yard dash we thought we would sure like to see him heading for daylight from a split-T hand-off or a short punt formation.

Other Events

Must be one of the sprinters who knows how to handle his speed on a gridiron. There was so much written about those college relays that folks sort of forgot the other events. They were just a break between the college races.

Yet, Negroes finished one-two and three in the 100 yard dash, two and three in the high jump; won the hop, step and jump; and placed in the broad jump. Nebraska brought up two Negroes who helped them win the shuttle hurdles relay. There was a long fellow from Oklahoma U. who could really step them off. He anchored his team to a couple of relay wins.

Best Laugh

The best laugh we had for the day was during the running of the half mile relay with all three Negro schools and Northeast Missouri running. Some teams had a white boy who ran third for a while; some fellow standing beside us muttered half to himself, "How the heck did that white boy get in there?"

Duncan

North's Clyde Duncan will likely be the top sprinter around the state. Neither North nor East will have too much in track according to their showings at the Relays. Roosevelt had Frank Kaiser and another Negro on one relay team. Sure seemed odd to see a Kaiser not running for East. The kids went all the way back to the shuttle relay and junior high races that were cleaned up by Negroes. Yes, it was quite a day to be out.

CLUB EXPLAINS QUEEN CONTEST

First, we'd like to thank our friends that turned out at our annual Easter Flair at the V.F.W. (Mainliner) on the evening of Apr. 22.

And we'd also like to make an explanation on how our Queen for the evening was selected. The club members selected a girl of their choice from among the girls who selection help them sell sale tickets. The one bringing in the most money was the one crowned Queen. To the members of the La Femme Club this was not meant to be a joke.

As some people already know we have our Easter Flair every year because this is our way of raising our $100 scholarship that is presented to a deserving high school graduate each year.

So in order for us to comply with our program there was nothing the members could do but present our prize to the candidate that brought in the most money. We sincerely hope this letter will prove satisfactory.

Mrs. Erma Carr, President
La Femme Club

YOUR WORLD

Do you wish the world were wiser? Let me tell you what to do: Set your watch upon your actions. Keep them always straight and true; Rid your mind of selfish motives. Let your thought be clear and high: Of the sphere you occupy. Do you wish the world were better? Well, suppose you make a start: By accumulating wisdom. Do not waste one page of your heart. Live to learn and learn to live; If you want to give men knowledge, You must get it where you give. Do you wish the world were happy? n't enjoy it.

Not Wise

It is usually not wise to give a dog to a very small child. It's true that some toddlers manage beautifully to get along with a dog and some dogs will take almost anything in the way of rough treatment from a beloved youngster. But on the whole, it's better to keep dog and child apart until the child is around six or so. Then you can teach him the following bite-prevention rules:

Rules

Don't tease the dog, he doesn't enjoy it.

a person knows. But it pays for what a person does with what he knows.

Progress always involves risks—you can't steal second base with one foot on first.

The really good resolutions lead to reform—and reform soon becomes a habit.

HEALTH FOR ALL

BEWARE OF THE DOG!

Every year some 600,000 Americans get bitten by dogs. A little care and common sense could probably have avoided most of those bites. Almost any dog will bite you if you insist upon it, even your own cherished pet.

Rabies

First of all, have your own dog vaccinated against rabies. This is a virus disease of dogs, and some other animals, transmitted to man through a bite from the infected animal. A bite from a rabid animal is usually fatal to man, unless development of rabies is prevented by a series of inoculations—the Pasteur treatment.

Don't

Don't pull a dog's tail or ears, or poke fingers into his eyes. Never try to take food away from a dog. If you have the patience, you can train a dog to drop what he has in his mouth when you say "Out!" But don't use your fingers near his teeth when he's eating. Never interfere in a dog fight. Don't waken a dog suddenly. Don't run or bicycle with a dog if it gets him excited. Be wary of strange dogs. —Polk County Tuberculosis & Health Assn.
