Atty. Oliver Reports Theft at Home

Burglars late May 15 broke into the home of W. Lawrence Oliver, 5795 N.W. Seventy-third st., by prying open French doors on the north side of the house, a report to the sheriff's office Wednesday said.

Oliver told sheriff's deputies that he and his wife were gone from 7:30 p.m. until about 11 p.m. Tuesday. He reported the burglars took a camera, binoculars and a diamond stick pin, valued at a total of $675, after ransacking the one-story home and basement recreation room.

SUI Students Picket Downtown Beauty Shop in Iowa City

Iowa City, Ia.—Picketing of a downtown beauty parlor was started Friday by a group of University of Iowa students after three students complained that the shop had refused a Negro student a hair-dressing appointment.

Mayor LeRoy Mercer received the complaint against the Blackstone Beauty Shop.

The student group is headed by Walter Keller, graduate student from New York City. About a dozen students set up a picket line in front of the shop and more arrived later.

White Students

Two white students, Dianne Klug of Cedar Rapids and Martin Johnson of Des Moines, told the mayor they went to the beauty shop Thursday and Miss Klug was given a choice of several times early next week for an appointment.

They said they turned the list of open times over to Ora Ann Elliott, a Negro student from Austin, Tex.

Refused

Miss Elliott reported she was told that no openings were available early next week, that the shop had no special equipment for handling her hair, and that none of the operators would be willing to wash and set it.

Literacy Bill Rejection Scored by NAACP Leader

New York—Rejection by the U.S. Senate of the Administration's voter literacy test bill is "more than a defeat for civil rights; it is defeat for the democratic process and for the Senate of the United States," Bishop Stephen G. Spottswood, chairman of the NAACP Board of Directors, declared this week.

Bishop Spottswood's statement on behalf of the Board was issued following the final 49-34 vote, May 15, to set aside the bill which would have established a sixth-grade education as evidence of literacy for voting in federal elections.

Southern Areas

The bill sought elimination of practices in some southern areas by which college-trained Negroes are denied the vote on the claim that they failed "literacy" tests while white with little or no schooling are permitted to register and vote.

The bill was set aside on motion of Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield after two unsuccessful efforts to kill a three-week southern filibuster against the measure.

Guaranteed Right

Failure to act on the bill, Bishop Spottswood said, "demonstrates that the Senate is not only unable to protect and constitutionally guaranteed right to vote of American citizens, but is, in fact, incapable of assuring its own right to vote."

The NAACP leader cited "the

Motorist Bumped Car, Used Profane Language before Hitting Victim in Mouth

Cedar Rapids, Ia.—A Cedar Rapids Negro minister was assaulted Friday night by an unidentified motorist.

The minister, the Rev. Ira D. Harrison, 35, of the Mt. Zion Baptist church, told police he drove up in front of the Penick and Ford plant about 10:30 p.m. to drop off a passenger.

Rev. Harrison said a car with three men in it pulled up behind his and bumped against his rear bumper. He said the other motorist then tried to push his car ahead.

Washington, D.C.—Twenty Negro and white civil rights leaders will testify concerning their recent treatment by police, before courts and in jails, at a hearing before Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and a committee of prominent Americans in Washington, D.C., on Friday and Saturday.

The Committee of Inquiry into the Administration of Justice in the Freedom Struggle, with Mrs. Roosevelt as chairman, will meet at 10 A.M. on Friday, May 25th and Saturday, May 26th, in the Community Room of the Washington Post, 1515 L Street, N.W., Washington, D. Clark, Harry Golden, Bishop James A. Pike, Judge Justine Wise Polier, A. Philip Randolph, Joseph L. Rauh, Jr., Walter Reuther, William Schnitzer, Telford Taylor, Norman Thomas, Judge J. Waties Waring and James Wechsler.

Intimidation

Testimony will indicate that in a significant number of American cities the police, the courts and jails have been and are being used aggressively against the civil rights movement in an attempt to intimidate it, to immobilize leaders, to bankrupt and ban civil rights organizations, and to deter the liberal-minded public in these cities from supporting civil rights.

Cities

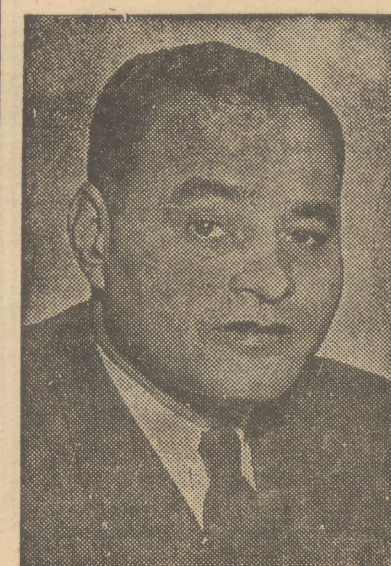

Events in the following cities will be disclosed: Shreveport, Baton Rouge, and New Orleans, La.; Jackson, McComb and Liberty, Miss.; Huntsville, Talladega, Anniston and Birmingham, Ala.; Albany, Ga.; Sumter and Rock Hill in S.C.; Brownsville, Tenn. and Richmond, Ky.

Testimony will be concerned with the numbers of Negro students who have lost their right to public education in their states because of their civil rights activities. Lawyers will make appropriate reference to constitutional rights infringed. Police and court disregard of the constitution will be discussed.

UN Official to Speak At NAACP Convention

New York—Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, United Nations Under Secretary, will deliver a major address at the

DR. RALPH J. BUNCHE

53rd annual convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in Atlanta, NAACP Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins announced this week.

The week-long convention opens on Monday, July 2, and will focus major attention on the Battle of Ballots—political action for freedom. Other subjects which will engage the attention of the delegates include employment, education and housing. Workshop sessions will be held on each of these topics.

This will be the first time that Dr. Bunche has addressed the NAACP convention since the 1954 meeting in Dallas. That year more than 9,000 persons jammed the vast arena, despite the Texas heat, to hear the famed Nobel Peace Prize winner and international civil servant.

Dr. Bunche is scheduled to address a convention mass meeting, Friday night, July 6. This night is traditionally devoted to youth. Dr. Bunche will speak on the international significance of the new militant mood among young people throughout the country.

Dr. E. Franklin Frazier, Howard Educator, Dies

Washington, D.C.—E. Franklin Frazier, world renowned sociologist and author, and a member of the Howard University faculty since 1934, died suddenly Thursday, May 17 at Washington, D.C. He was 67. Dr. Frazier died at George Washington University Hospital shortly after being stricken at his home, 220 Rhode Island Avenue, northwest, Washington.

Sociology Dept.

A native of Baltimore, where he received his early education, Dr. Frazier served as head of the Department of Sociology at Howard until 1959. At that time he relinquished his administrative duties, but remained on the faculty. He did the Bachelor of Arts degree from Howard (1916), Master of Arts from Clark University at Worcester, Mass., 1920, and the Doctor of Philosophy degree from the University of Chicago in 1931.

Authored 10 Books

Professor Frazier was the author of 10 books and more than 100 published articles. Two of his most outstanding books, both prize-winners, were The Negro Family in the United States (1939, which won the $1,000 Anisfield Award, and Black Bourgeoisie (1957), which won for him the first $500 MacIver Lecture-ship.

Dr. Frazier was a past president of the American Sociological Society and a founder and president of the International Society for the Scientific Study of Race Relations. From 1951 to 1953 he served as chief of UNESCO's Division of Applied Social Sciences.

Honors

Among the honors received by the Howard professor were two honorary Doctor of Laws degrees, from Morgan State College of Baltimore in 1955 and the University of Edinburgh in Scotland in 1960. In addition, Dr. Frazier had been honored by Howard on three occasions. In 1945 he received the Alumni Achievement Award; in 1955 he was elected to honorary membership in the Howard chapter of Phi Beta Kappa; and earlier this year the Student Council of the College of Liberal Arts established an annual

Lecturer

Professor Frazier was in great demand as a teacher and lecturer. During the past 15 years he had lectured at scores of universities throughout the world, and had served as visiting professor at five American schools, Columbia and New York Universities, Sarah Lawrence College of New York, University of Southern California, and Carleton College (Minn.). Since 1957 he also had served as lecturer at the Johns Hopkins University School of Advanced International Studies in Washington, D.C.

Dr. Frazier's only immediate survivor is his widow, the former Marie Brown, of the home address.

NAACP Mourns Death Of Louisiana Leader

Lake Charles, La.—The NAACP expressed sadness and shock this week on learning of the death of Mrs. Doretha Combé, president of the Association's state unit and a member of the national Board of Directors. She died on Sunday, May 13.

"Her years of dedicated and courageous service to the cause of racial justice . . . will never be forgotten," said Roy Wilkins, the Association's executive secretary in a wire to the family.

Mrs. Combé, a prominent business woman here, served on the NAACP national Board since 1959. She had been active on the branch level for many years.

U.S. Steel Grant in Special Attention to Negro Gifted Student

New York—Negro students of unusually high intellectual promise may be aided in their efforts to reach advanced graduate training by a program of interium supplemental education to be initially supported, in association with others, by the United States Steel Foundation, according to that unit's board of trustees.

Special Attention

This special attention to Negro gifted students, many of whom have been unable to qualify for graduate work because of serious deficiencies in undergraduate educational backgrounds, was announced as a part of the Foundation's overall program of aid to education totaling $2,825,000. This year's grants marked the ninth in which the U. S. Steel Foundation has given aid to the country's colleges.

New Grant

In addition to the gifted student program, the Foundation also announced a new grant of $41,000 to Negro Colleges, including all members of the United Negro College Fund. Including the current allotments, the Foundation has given a total of $450,000 to Negro education.

Committees

The Foundation's program for gifted Negro students, once it is under way, will include selections made carefully by regional committees. The Foundation's board did not spell out procedure, but it is believed that some action in this regard may be possible this calendar year.

New Book By Hughes Tells NAACP Story

New York—"Fight for Freedom," Langston Hughes' thrilling story of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, was published here this week in paperback by the Berkeley Publishing Corporation.

As readable as a novel, the 205-page book recounts dramatic highlights of the NAACP over a period of more than half-a-century. There is background information about the Niagara Movement, forerunner of the NAACP. There are sparkling accounts of important incidents in the history of the Association. And there are memorable vignettes of national and local NAACP leaders.

The paperback edition which sells for 50 cents per copy is available only through the NAACP National Office at 20 West 40th Street, New York 18, N.Y., or through any of the Association's local branches or state and regional offices.

The Negro In Architecture Exhibit

The Chicago Chapter, American Institute of Architects, announced that it is cooperating with the Architectural Associates of Chicago in assembling information and data on the role and contribution of Negro architects in the architectural heritage of America. The program is being conducted in preparation for an architectural exhibit planned as part of the 100th Anniversary of the Emancipation Proclamation of 1863.

A Century of Progress tribute to the American Negro is being sponsored by the American Negro Emancipation Centennial Authority, Inc. A true and comprehensive report of the history and contributions of the Negro since the founding of the nation, will be presented through exhibits and pageantry. The Exposition is scheduled for Chicago's McCormick Place in 1963.

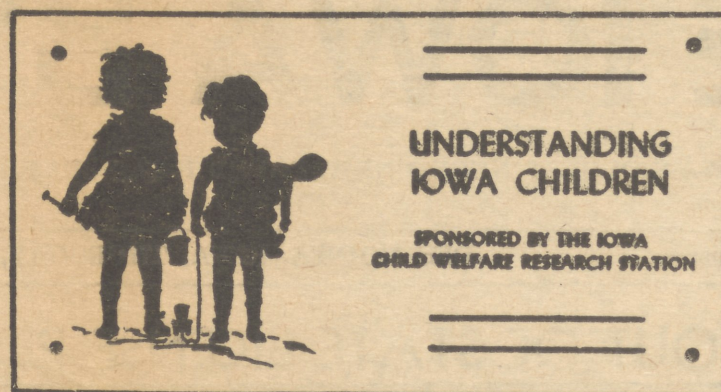

Rights Hearing

tional right to picket and distribute leaflets will be shown.

Raising Bonds

James Farmer, national director of CORE, and lawyers will testify that the ordinary channels of raising bond and bail have been blocked in many civil rights cases, the instance of the Freedom Riders in Jackson alone necessitating the private raising of $350,000 for bonds, and travel to and from courts.

Witnesses will bear testimony concerning brutality in jails. After the hearing the committee may recommend further action in civil rights by private citizens and by the Federal Government.

READING WITH OLDER CHILDREN

I have been reading "Tom Sawyer" to my boy. Or rather, I read a chapter, he sails on by himself. When I get back to a turn, he fills me in, with perhaps a choice bit of dialogue. And I enjoy this so much I wonder whether I encourage it for my own pleasure.

Am I babying him? Should one read to an 11-year-old, to children of "do it yourself" age? "No one ever read to me after I learned to read," his father says. Nor did anyone read to me, although I treasure memories of my father telling stories as we weeded our way down the garden rows.

First Child

We read the beautiful preschool books to our first child, she read her primers to us, and then she was off on her own. With our son, too, we shared the familiar old, and lovely new, books. He started to read his primers to us, but stopped. He didn't want to read—we didn't know why. But we kept reading to him—books he chose, books we chose on our forays to the library. And we have learned something about each other and reading.

Illustration

"Tom Sawyer" is a good illustration—it has helped focus some of my vague feelings into words. The story is interesting to kids of any age, and grown-ups can ramble, with Twain, from nostalgic youthful fantasy to astringent social comment.

The questions: "What is 'far and feather,' 'grave-snatching,' 'phenologist' and 'mesmerize'?" "What does 'pallid face' mean?" The discussion—and trips to the dictionary!

Communication

More is communicated reading with a child than is found on the printed page. For example, I could have missed, quite cheerfully, "The Cat and the Pailkiller" episode where Tom doses his cat with his medicine, the "fire in liquid form" prescribed by Aunt Polly. But as my listener exploded with delight, I began to see through a boy's eyes the revolt of the victimized.

As we continued the catalogue of fearful medicaments with which Aunt Polly assaulted Tom's illness, I felt growing in my son some forgiveness for the cruel strictures I had placed on him when he was ill—an ancient and commonplace kind of situation, but through the vehicle of a book, two generations had communicated.

HEALTH FOR ALL

A MEDICAL MYSTERY

We're guilty! We admit it. We've been telling you about the importance of keeping your resistance high, and we don't know what resistance is! Resistance is one of the great unsolved mysteries of modern medicine.

Specific Germs

Of course the doctors aren't completely in the dark. Resistance to specific germs can be built up by vaccination—against smallpox, diphtheria, influenza, and polio, for instance. You can get a high degree of resistance to some other diseases by having one attack. That's true of such illnesses as measles, mumps, and chicken pox.

What we don't know, exactly and scientifically, is why, if two people get their feet wet, one comes down with a cold and the other doesn't.

Research

One exciting avenue of research has been opened with the identification of a substance called interferon. When a cell is invaded by a virus, the cell sometimes produces interferon as a quick response to the infection, usually within 24 hours. Interferon stops the virus cold. That may explain why we don't come down with more infections than we do. Some of those times when you feel as though you're coming down with something and nothing develops, interferon may be at work. So far, efforts to produce interferon haven't succeeded.

Lower Resistance

Fatigue and malnutrition seem to lower resistance to infection. Colds and influenza lower resistance to other diseases. A well-balanced diet, regular daily exercise, enough rest and sleep seem to keep resistance high.

So if you seem to be coming down with one infection after another, see your doctor. He can help you keep your general resistance high, even if he, too, doesn't know precisely what resistance is.

"Fiorello" To Hire Negro Performers

New York, N.Y.—CORE's first major breakthrough in its attempt to integrate the Broadway stage came with the announcement Friday that "Fiorello" has hired five Negro performers and one Oriental for the forthcoming City Center production. "Fiorello" when originally done on Broadway excluded Negro performers.

Miss Jean Dalrymple, Artistic Director of the Drama and Light Opera Companies of the City Center and Carl Rachlin, CORE general counsel, announced an agreement for City Center to take "affirmative action" to ensure use of Negro actors, dancers and singers in all types of roles in the future.

Service is as important as the product you buy.

Save money by making sure... before you buy... that reliable repair service is available locally.

Six rules of buying a product that will need maintenance or repair:

1. Expect good sales service. If you don't get it you're likely to have trouble when you need repairs.
2. A guarantee is only as good as the organization behind it. Read it carefully.
3. Think of the product in terms of need for maintenance and availability of parts and service.
4. A good product name is essential but not enough if facilities for service are lacking.
5. Utility companies may be able to tell you where to obtain good service.
6. A dealer with adequate service facilities may have to charge a slightly higher price for the product.

You save in the long run with those who have facilities for good service.

ARMED SERVICES SHOW INTEGRATION

During the Truman administration, a start was made to integrate the defense department. Some services dragged their feet in carrying out the program. Here in Iowa, in most instances, only what is presented in the news is available to the public.

However, those who watched the armed services parade had an opportunity to see that a pretty good job of integration has been done as evidenced by the inclusion of Negroes in many units representing various branches of the department of defense.

Possibly, the most interesting participant was the Negro soldier driving a tank. As he passed, there were eyes of surprise for here, not only was he driving a large mechanized unit of the tank corps, but he was handling heavy machinery — a job which Negroes are not getting in Des Moines.

So that in addition to the program of integration, the armed services are demonstrating that Negroes are given a chance at these specialized jobs.

HALF GOOD ADVICE UNFORTUNATE

Last week, an official of the public safety department called upon law enforcing officials and citizens generally to cooperate in the enforcement of Iowa liquor laws; to do otherwise creates disrespect for other laws.

The Bystander fully agrees with this statement except that it does not go far enough.

Somehow, we have gotten into the habit of selecting for observance and respect such laws as meet the individual fancy and disregarded others. For instance, up to the time when Negroes began an aggressive campaign for the enforcement of Iowa Civil Rights laws, most law enforcement officials took it as a joke. And some judges acted likewise.

The situation is different now; the pendulum has swung the other way. There is more emphasis in the changes for not only is the question of law enforcement involved but also the equal enjoyment of first class citizenship toward which civil rights laws are pointed.

MEMORIAL DAY

Observance of Memorial Day was directed previously to the war dead in its early history but in recent years, the sentiment has been for that of the whole population.

America may well remember its war dead for their lives were lost in an effort to better the lot of some nation; some groups, but never to take over other peoples territory.

As Lincoln said in his Gettysburg address, we should finish the task left by the dead, but judging from the conflicts over the world today, the job remains pretty big.

However, these set backs should not deter leaders of state and their governments in an effort to seek peace where there is conflict and to help eliminate the things which make for war and discontent.

Degrees To Be Conferred Upon 700 Graduates At Howard University

Washington, D. C. — Gunnar Myrdal, noted Swedish economist and author, will deliver the principal address during Howard University's 94th annual Commencement Friday, June 8.

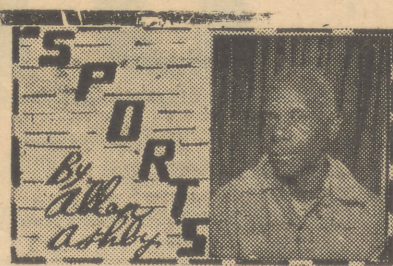

700 Degrees

Following the address by Dr. Myrdal, some 700 degrees will be conferred upon graduates of Howard's 10 school and colleges. This year will mark the second time the Swedish economist has addressed the graduating classes at Howard. He was the principal speaker during the University's 80th Commencement in 1948.

Born in Dalecarlia, Sweden, Dr. Myrdal was graduated from the law school of the University of Stockholm in 1923. He practiced law for a number of years before turning to graduate studies in economics at the University of Stockholm, and receiving the Doctor of Laws degree in 1927.

Win Fair Job Policy At Big Discount House

Oakland, Calif. — Two weeks of picketing by a newly-formed CORE group won a promise from the general manager of a big discount house here that Negroes would be hired promptly in non-menial jobs. The store, known as A.G.E. (Affiliated Government Employees), occupies more than two square blocks near the Oakland airport.

Reunion

It was to be expected that the Alumni would lose this first Drake game. Seems as if the old fellows always use that first varsity-alumni game as a sort of reunion. They never seem to allow themselves enough time to plan any coordinated offense. This game was no different. The alumni offense consisted of a good pass combination and then give Johnny Bright the ball and get out of his way. Sometimes they didn't manager to do that.

32 Yards

The times they did give Big John running room, he ran over two guys right through another one and romped for 32 yards. In all he averaged nearly five yards a try. Not bad for no interference.

Next year the novelty will be more or less worn off and the alumni will start making plans. Then they will start playing for keeps. Maybe Bright will be back. We had a little laugh with John before the game. We kidded him about getting hurt. He informed us that in his school days he played for fun, but now it is a job, and a man doesn't get hurt too often on his job. It was good to see the big fellow again.

Track

Wendell Phillips of Chicago, Ill., won the Illinois state high school track meet. They are the only Chicago school to ever win the thing and they have done it five times. Points over there are hard to get. They use a system of scoring that gives five points for first place and one point less for each place down to fifth. They have only two relays, half mile and mile. Makes a really rough meet because you can't win three or four relays and take home a title. In a few years you will be reading about names like Willie Collier.

THOMAS NAME BU "ATHLETE OF THE YEAR"

Boston, Mass. — John Curtis Thomas, America's most celebrated collegiate high jumper, received the highest honor his fellow students could bestow on him, when they named him the University's "Athlete of the Year" for 1961-62. Announcement of the honor came this week in the student publication, "The Boston University News."

Now, however, the greatness of Harry Agganis has been approached, if not equalled by John Thomas. A four-time collegiate track All American, Thomas shocked the sports world when he cleared 7 feet in the high jump while only a freshman at BU. But John was not always a 7-footer, and his story should serve as an inspiration to youngsters just starting out in the athletic world.

Stork for September

Mesa, Ariz. — Ernie and Mrs. Banks have booked a September date with the stork. Banks said: "All I want is a baby sister for our twin boys, Joel and Jerry, and a pennant for the Cubs. That would make me the happiest man in the world." Mrs. Banks was visiting here, but plans to return to Chicago in time for the Cubs' Wrigley field opener against St. Louis this week.

Students Sit-In To Protest University Reinstates CORE Leader

New Orleans, La. — Following two student sit-ins in the cafeteria, Tulane University has reinstated Edwin Clark, vice-chairman of the New Orleans CORE group. Clark, who is white, had been placed under "indefinite suspension" for bringing Negro guests to eat at the cafeteria. In a joint statement supporting Clark, 26 other students asserted that they, too, had invited Negroes to the cafeteria, which is located in the University Center.

Cleveland's Brown Farsighted Enough To Prepare For Days Following Glory

New York City — Perhaps one of the most interesting phenomena of modern-day sports has been the emergence of the mature, intelligent athlete, farsighted enough to look ahead to a career as a businessman, even at the height of his athletic prowess, against the day when his athletic glory will be behind him.

This is the athlete, taking fullest advantage of the education and training that his college degree symbolizes, to put himself on the right road toward equaling his athletic success in the world of business. Such an athlete is Jim Brown, All Professional fullback of the National Football League's Cleveland Browns.

4th Year

Brown is currently in his fourth year as a member of the Marketing Department of Pepsi-Cola Company, developing a firm foundation of knowledge and experience in the soft drink business. During the National Football League Championship schedule, Jim's off-grid hours are spent working with Pepsi-Cola bottlers in N.F.L. cities on a variety of marketing projects. During the off-season, he devotes his full-time activities to Pepsi-Cola.

Radio

In addition, Brown currently has his own syndicated radio program, a five-minute recorded sports show, sponsored on an exclusive basis by Pepsi-Cola bottlers across the nation. The program covers the entire gamut of the sports scene. It includes general commentary on the national sports picture, as seen through the eyes of an all-around athlete, All America in football and lacrosse at Syracuse University, as well as outstanding in baseball, basketball, track and field and golf. Brown's scripts also cover human interest anecdotes from his professional and intercollegiate experience, and overall discussion on youth physical fitness.

All Professional

The former Syracuse All-American has been perennial All-Professional League selection since he entered the National Football League. He has won pro football's outstanding awards including Rookie of the Year, has been rated outstanding player of the year by Associated Press, United Press International, and The Sporting News, and won the coveted Jim Thorpe trophy as the NFL's premier star in 1958. He holds the National League's ball-carrying mark for a single game, and in 1961 won the season ground-gaining title for the fifth straight year.

Middle-Age Joe Louis Works Out On Golf Course, Public Relations Firm

New York, N.Y. — "Television and golf... that's Joe Louis today" ... in the words of his present wife, Martha.

The current issue of Esquire Magazine profiles the ex-champ in an article it calls "The King As a Middle-Aged Man." Louis is now as devoted to the golf links as he once was to boxing, playing at least 18, and usually 36 holes a day.

His off-hours are occupied in a variety of business interests, the chief one being his vice-presidential position at Louis-Howe, a Negro public relations firm in New York.

Third Wife

The third and current Mrs. Louis is a highly successful trial lawyer in California, and despite their varied backgrounds, has learned to live with the boxer's idiosyncrasies. She had never known a prize fighter before she met Joe, and after a divorce from her first lawyer-husband, she vowed she wanted a man

"exposed to life, not to books."

Less Tolerant

Esquire notes that Louis' second wife, Rose, was less tolerant of his worldly ways. She was especially disenchanted with him when he began touring as a wrestler. "To me, Joe Louis was like the President of the United States," she says. "How would you like to see the President of the United States washing dishes? 'That's how I felt about Joe wrestling.' The 'King,' nevertheless, is still friendly with both of his ex-wives, often visiting them when in town.

Public Relations

As for Negro public relations, the firm with which he is associated is currently promoting Negro-oriented advertising. "Negroes would spend much more. Louis and Rowe argue, if big business would increase its advertising budget for the Negro market and would make its advertising campaigns more specialized."

CORE Opens

Regional Offices

New York, N.Y. — The Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) is opening its first two regional offices—one in New Orleans and the other in San Francisco. This was announced on May 11 by James T. McCain, the organization's national field director.

Heading the New Orleans office will be Marvin Robinson, who was expelled in 1960 from Southern University, Baton Rouge, for his role in the lunch counter sit-ins. Directing the San Francisco office will be Genevieve Hughes, who has worked as CORE field secretary for the past three years.

Sorority Denies

Negro Penalty

Beloit, Wis. — Delta Gamma national sorority has advised Beloit College officials that the sorority's Beloit chapter was put on probation last month "for infractions of fraternity policies," and not for pledging Negro coed Pat Hamilton.

Beloit Dean John P. Gwin said Mrs. Robert W. Preston, national president of Delta Gamma, told him in a letter the action was "a normal disciplinary procedure," and that the infractions had taken place "over a period of time."

This is Korea—'62 and '63

It's just across the ocean
Korea is the spot
Here we are doomed to spend our time

In the land that God forgot,
Out with the lizards and snakes
Out where a man gets blue
Out in the middle of nowhere
Ten thousand miles from you.
We sweat, we freeze, we roast
It's more than a man can stand
We are not supposed to be convicts
Just defenders of our land.
Nobody knows we are living
Nobody gives a damn
At home we are forgotten
We belong to Uncle Sam
Living with memories
Waiting for our gals
Hope that while we are away
They won't marry our best pals.
We're in the 7th Infantry
Earning our measly pay
Guarding the peoples millions
For two dollars and a half a day.
The time we spend in the army
Is the time in our lives we have missed

Boys don't let the army draft you
And for God's sake, don't enlist
But when we reach those gates below
We'll hear old Satan yell
"Fall out you troopers from Korea
You've spent your time in hell."

I KNEW HIM

(In memoriam to Iowa's poet, Raymond Krisensky, pastor, teacher and humanitarian.)

I knew him as a man like me
Who had his own gethsemane,

With love, compassion, tenderness;
Part of a heart that knew distress.
I never pried into his soul
To learn the reason for his role;
Just why he chose to go the way,
He followed 'til his final day.
He wore no crown upon his hair,
But a friendly aura hovered there;
I am sure that heaven welcomed him,
May his bright halo never dim.
In Shangri-la he will find rest,
Safe in the harbor with the blest.
The prayer in my heart in this,
Nirvana clothe him in its' bliss."
And when I'm called up to that land,
That he be there with outstretched hand.

MCGILL DETHRONES LONEY FOR MWAA TENNIS TITLE

Thoughts for Today

If you've given up on trying to get something open, tell a four-year-old not to touch it.
Somebody said that it couldn't be done
But he with a chuckle replied
That maybe it couldn't, but he wouldn't be one
To say it until he had tried.
So he buckled right in with a trace of a grin
On his face if he worried he hid it.
And tackled the thing that couldn't be done
And he did it.

West Athletic Association singles title at Central State College.

Loney and McGill, both members of the undefeated Central State tennis team, had teamed earlier in the doubles finals to wrap up that crown for CSC, and accomplished the feat by romping past a pair of their own teammates, Denton, Johnson and Larry Watkins.

Since both finalists in the singles were from CSC, Coach Maceo Hill requested, and was granted, permission to play the finals in that bracket after the MWAA track, field and tennis meet had ended. The CSC win brought the MWAA tennis bouquet to Central State for the fourth consecutive year.
