Methodist Group O. K.'s Lot Sale

Cedar Rapids Doctor 'Glad It's Over' Plans To Begin Construction

Cedar Rapids, Ia.—The Quarterly Conference which governs the St. Paul Methodist church here voted 40 to 1 in secret ballot to approve the sale and transfer of a church-owned lot to Dr. and Mrs. Percy Harris. The legal action was the last step necessary to give the Negro couple legal title to the land in a previously all-white neighborhood.

Motion to approve the sale was read by Russell Knapp, vice-chairman of the church Board of Trustees. Last December the entire church body met at a special session and after a lengthy discussion voted for the sale, 460 to 291.

Dr. Harris

Dr. Harris, who is a member of the Quarterly Conference, but did not attend the meeting last Tuesday, May 22, was informed of the action while attending a human rights meeting at the Y.W.C.A.

"I'm glad it is settled," he said. "I feel fine about this."

Dr. Harris said he hoped that construction on his new home, located on Bever avenue, would start this week. He said it would be a two-story, early American style home. Dr. Harris paid the church $7,500 for the lot and it was revealed at the meeting that he had paid this amount in full on April 23.

Coe College Faculty Against Fraternity And Sorority Bias

Cedar Rapids, Ia.—In a routine faculty meeting at Coe College Friday, a recommendation was presented for sororities and fraternities on the campus to prove within two years that they do not discriminate against any race, or creed in admitting members.

The recommendation, which emphasized that the discrimination issue would be left up to discussions by the organizations and by student faculty groups, has been communicated to the college's 10 fraternities and sororities. They have not been asked to comply with it. An official position of the Coe College administration would follow these discussions.

The recommendations brought some comments and denials from heads of the various organizations, pointing out that the matter had been settled years ago and that there were no specific instances of discrimination.

Cites Failure to Provide Active Leadership in Anti Discriminating Legislation

New York—Growing apathy and discouragement among civil rights supporters have resulted from President Kennedy's "failure to give active leadership" in the fight for anti-discrimination legislation, a spokesman for the American Jewish Congress said today.

Shad Polier, chairman of the AJ Congress national Governing Council, said that the "collapse" recently of forces backing the literacy-test bill reflected widespread sentiment that the struggle to enact meaningful civil rights legislation was "all but hopeless" without the vigorous support of the president.

At the same time, Polier assailed the "hypocrisy" of Senate Republican leadership opposing a bill containing "verbatim extracts" from the Republican platform.

Iowa Senator

"The spectacle of Senator Bourke Hickenlooper of Iowa, chairman of the Republican Policy Committee, and Senator Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts joining Senator Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Senator John G. Tower of Texas in voting to kill the literacy-test bill is at least as disappointing as the President's failure to rally support for the measure from Democratic Senators from Western and border states for whom an affirmative vote would have resulted in no harmful political consequences at home," Polier declared.

The American Jewish Congress leader said he was encouraged by

NAACP to Appeal Death Sentence of Preston Cobb, 14

Atlanta — Donald L. Hollowell, NAACP attorney retained to defend 15-year-old Preston Cobb, sentenced to death for the slaying of an aged white farmer, announced this week that he would file a motion for a rehearing of the case by the Supreme Court of Georgia which on May 14 denied an NAACP motion for a new trial.

In effect, the Georgia Supreme Court ruling upheld the lower court conviction of and death sentence for the youth. The motion for a rehearing is a required preliminary step in an appeal to the United States Supreme Court for a review of the case.

Conviction

Young Cobb was convicted last summer and sentenced to death. His

Mrs. Glanton Named To Urban Renewal Unit

Atty. Willie S. Glanton, was appointed to fill an unexpired term of Mrs. James A. Newsome, on the City Urban Renewal board here Monday by the City Council.

Mrs. Glanton, wife of Municipal Judge Luther T. Glanton, Jr., will be serving her second period on the board, having served a two-year term that ended last Jan. 18, shortly after she accompanied her husband on a U.S. state department sponsored tour of Africa.

Mrs. Newsome resigned recently because of the press of other duties. Mrs. Glanton's appointment came on a motion by Mayor Charles F. Iles, and marked the second time in a week that the Council had appointed a Negro to a city board. A week ago Monday, Hugh Semple was named commissioner for recreation and playground.

conviction and sentence aroused worldwide concern because of his youth. A two-person Dutch delegation visited the country and presented to Governor S. Ernest Vandiver a petition with nearly 2,000,000 signatures asking for clemency. Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt also urged a reprieve for the teenager.

Boy's Mother

The NAACP entered the case on request of the boy's mother, Mrs. Leatha Cobb, and retained Mr. Hollowell, the Association's attorney in Georgia. A motion for a new trial was filed, automatically staying the execution which was scheduled for Sept. 22, 1961.

The NAACP appeal raised the issue of Negroes from the jury panel and the failure of the white court-appointed attorney in the original trial to raise pertinent constitutional questions. The attorney, J. Ben Warren, neglected to inform the

AUTHOR PROPOSES SELF-HELP PLAN FOR "A BRIGHTER TOMORROW"

New York—The evil effects produced by the slum areas have caused Matilda M. Covington much concern. Out of that interest have come the thoughts expressed in A BRIGHTER TOMORROW, published May 21 by Exposition Press. (Price: $2.75)

A BRIGHTER TOMORROW is a testimony to Mrs. Covington's determination to turn her empathic understanding into a positive, constructive effort for children in comparable environments everywhere.

Home Problems

Students bring their home problems to school with them, so that it is the home environment to which she directs her attention. However, instead of writing of what government can do to remedy the blight conditions in America's large cities, the author outlines ways and means for the people involved to help themselves. Her suggestions range over such topics as education, appearance, and devotion.

A BRIGHTER TOMORROW is a blend of the practical and the spiritual that should find a place in the libraries of all who are concerned with the amelioration of slum conditions.

Background

A teacher in Cleveland, Ohio, Mrs. Covington holds a B.A. degree from Jackson College in Mississippi and an M.A. degree from Western Reserve University in Cleveland. Her individual approach to the problems of sub-standard living conditions in our large cities has grown both out of her teaching experience and out of her activities as a member of the Baptist Church. She is now affiliated with the Antioch Baptist Church in Cleveland. Mrs. Covington has four children of her own, three girls and a boy.

Just published by Exposition Press, (Price: $3.00) THOUGHTS FROM THE MIND, aside from being useful in a meditative sense, is perfect for everyday consultation by speakers, writers, teachers, students, businessmen—by anyone who has occasion to use an apt maxim or reflection in a speech or a composition, or even in a letter.

Categories

The Collection of axioms and aphorisms, speculation and meditation is arranged alphabetically according to categories for easy consultation.

Dr. Simmons' thoughts carry the finality of age-old maxims, but they're fresh and original at the same time, with optimism and faith in humanity, and joy in living the prevalent theme throughout.

Background

James W. Simmons, a native of Mississippi, began his career as an elementary school teacher, taught soldiers during World War II, was an instructor in adult education programs, and was also employed as a social worker with the Department of Welfare in New York City.

Professor

Now in addition to his work as a Professor of Education and Psychology at Mississippi Vocational College, he is active in civic and religious affairs, serves as consultant to local and state educational associations, administers psychological tests, aids in problems of emotional and occupational adjustment, and promulgates philosophy as a reflective way of thinking about life.

HEALTH FOR ALL

WHAT GROWS ON SKID ROWS?

Jack S. started out as a pretty nice guy. He seemed headed for all kinds of success. Instead, he hit the skids before he was 35.

Jack wound up just one of many nameless drunks, lost in a big city's lonely streets. He leaves Skid Row now only for a few hours a day. He looks for better hunting grounds where he can pan-handle quarters for his next drink.

Disgusting? No, Jack is sick. He is ravaged by two diseases: alcoholism and TB.

Typical

Jack S. is typical of many homeless men who inhabit the Skid Row of all our big cities. Last year, chest X-rays were taken of 9,000 men who slept in New York City's Men's shelter during 1960. According to an article in The American Review of Respiratory Diseases, their X-rays turned up a total of 144 new cases of active TB.

This adds up to the "phenomenally high rate of 16 per 1,000" men examined. The rate among the general public is less than one per 1,000 which is serious enough.

Threat

The germs that grow on Skid Row represent a potential threat to all big city residents. What can be done about this problem?

"Present tuberculosis control measures . . . fall far short of what is needed to eradicate the disease," concludes The American Review.

The article recommends:

- 1) More and better hospitals for Skid Row residents.
- 2) More help to get the men back to useful lives when they leave the hospital.
- 3) A comprehensive medical care program for Skid Row—including treatment of chronic alcoholism.

Such a program could go a long way toward wiping out TB on Skid Row.

the "vigorous role" of the Department of Justice in taking court action to end segregation in voting booths and in hospitals built with Federal funds under the Hill-Burton Act.

Executive Action

He pointed out, however, that civil rights groups were "still waiting for Executive action where it is most needed—a Presidential order that would outlaw discrimination in Federally-supported housing.

"During the 1960 campaign," Mr. Poller recalled, "Mr. Kennedy promised that he would end discrimination in Federal housing programs by a 'stroke of the pen.' The nation still awaits that simple act."

Impacted Areas

The American Jewish Congress leader also called on the Department of Justice to file suit requiring desegregation of schools in "impacted areas" receiving Federal support. He noted that last March HEW Secretary Abraham A. Ribicoff issued a ruling that would cut off Federal funds in "impacted" areas where children of Negro military and civilian personnel living on Federal bases or other property attend segregated schools in the general community.

Denied New Trial

In denying the NAACP motion for a new trial, the Georgia Supreme Court held that the challenge to composition of the jury had not been "raised by challenges at the earliest opportunity the defendant (had) to avail himself of that right." The court further upheld the competency and diligence of the court-appointed attorney and supported the findings of the trial judge.

Vegetable Dip

Here's how to serve those home grown vegetables in an interesting way. Make a dip by mixing 1/2 cup crumbled American blue cheese, 1 3-ounce package cream cheese, 3 tablespoons sherry and 1 small clove garlic (mashed). Add just enough sour cream to make the mixture thin enough for dunking the vegetables.

Re-Elect Attorney General EVAN HULTMAN

★★★★★ REPUBLICAN ★★★★★

IOWA NEEDS the vigorous leadership Hultman provides in the Attorney General's office.

Hultman's policy of full cooperation with local officials assures efficient, responsible service at the national, state and county levels. Your vote for Hultman is a vote for a better Iowa.

HULTMAN FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL COMMITTEE, Bob Jones, Chairman

Sponsored by The Iowa Child Welfare Research Station, S.U.I.

JOBS CAN HELP CHILDREN

At the tender age of 14, Bob had been forced into becoming "head" of his family. Prior to the death of Bob's father a short time before, the parent's income had been adequate to support the entire family. But at the father's death, Bob's mother was faced with the prospect of working herself to support the family of five, or asking Bob, the oldest child, to quit school and support the family. Bob made the decision an easy one for his mother by quitting school and getting a job.

Modest Income

Jim, also 14, was the oldest child in a family of four. Both his parents were living and the family had a modest income, so there was no need for Jim to work. Yet the boy wanted to work part time and earn spending money of his own.

His parents agreed that this would be a good idea. They felt it would give him valuable experience in handling money and taking responsibility.

Example

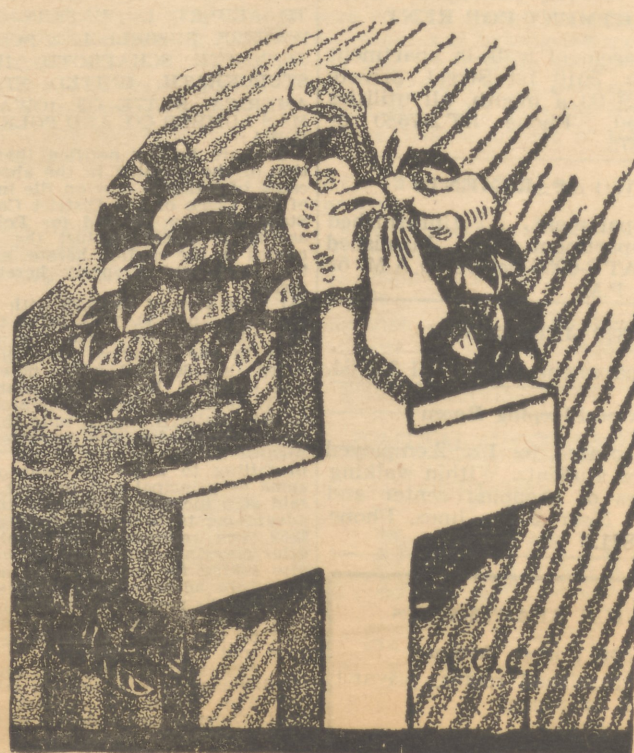

The two examples above show completely different situations in which the oldest son in a family feels inclined to work. These cases illustrate a double standard we have in the United States concerning work by children. Child labor is frowned on if it is a necessity. But if it is felt that working will help the child earn to take responsibility, it is promoted.

This is a sociable kind of refreshment that you can linger over leisurely.

Personally Yours

Much lamenting is heard when a holiday falls in the middle of a week instead at the beginning or end of a week-end. However, even though brief as it was, the Memorial day holiday still gave us pause for rest and relaxation and in most cases will make the week, appear to pass fleetingly. There was time to visit and place floral tributes on the graves of loved ones, to entertain friends and relatives, to visit with neighbors, to do a number of things, we seem to find so little time for doing in this accelerated day and age.

While pursuing through a Minneapolis exchange we came across a social note about Mrs. James Williams, Sr., of Des Moines. She had been in Minneapolis for several weeks awaiting the arrival of James Williams III, born May 15 to Mr. and Mrs. James Williams, Jr., who are parents of two other children, Vickie Sue, 4, and Tracy Lynn, 2. Both grandfathers, Messrs. James Williams, Sr., and Wallace Jackman live in Des Moines also.

Mrs. Mattie Avant, 1182 11th street, reported that she had such a lovely time on Mother's day, that she decided to call the Bystander and let readers know about it.

She was presented a lovely corsage by her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Avant of 1114 14th street, and then attended services at Maple Street Baptist church with her daughter-in-law. Later they took her to dinner at Bishop Buffet in Merle Hay Plaza. In addition she was presented many lovely gifts by her other children and grandchildren.

Mrs. E. P. Jackson, 1155 Enos street, well known around Des Moines as a private music teacher, was asked by sponsors in Pella, Ia., to assist the YWCA with its music program on June 9. Mrs. Jackson will leave with the YWCA staff members to assist in the program.

Mrs. Jackson, who has a good sense of humor and enjoys a good laugh at her self, recalled that when she once took a speech course at Drake University and students were asked why they had taken the course, she replied, "My reason is just the opposite of my classmates; I took the course to learn how to stop talking."

Mrs. Jackson went on to make a very original statement, "I have to practically sit on me to make myself stop talking sometime."

Most who know or hear Mrs. Jackson will have to agree that she is a very capable and interesting talker.

Willkie House lounge and library are getting a new look. Both rooms have been painted and new drapes hung. Further face lifting is being undertaken. It won't be long now before the center will be bursting at the seams with day campers.

We would like to enlist your help on college graduates. If you have sons or daughters, or know some one who does, will you let us know? We would like a good representation for our anniversary edition which comes out June 14.

Mary B. Talbert Club Holds "Watch Contest"

Mary B. Talbert club held its "watch contest" and tea on Sunday afternoon, May 20 at the home of Mrs. Olivia Williams, 1323 Center street. Other federated clubs and friends were well represented.

Mrs. A. P. Trotter, past state president, presented the watch to Miss Joan Robinson as "Miss Mary B. Talbert."

Little Miss Debra Carr was runner-up. Club members wore their club colors, pink and green, in corseted emblems, fashioned by Mrs. Jesse Howard, president of the club.

Call Free Vision Clinic for Pre-School Children Successful

The free vision screening for pre-schoolers, ages 4 to 6 years, held at Willkie House May 17 was a great success. Within seven hours 48 children were examined and 11 were re-examined because suspected eye defects. Purpose of the clinic was to detect eye defects early enough to correct them or to prevent blindness.

Melons Many Ways

With a little imagination, delicious melons can be included on your menu almost every day during the season.

Melons are popular, of course, for a breakfast starter. They also can be used in a number of ways in delightful, eye-catching salads. A salad containing melon balls can be given a gourmet twist by adding a little American blue cheese, whose pungent flavor blends well with the other ingredients.

To make six servings of a green salad with both melon and blue cheese for special flavor, toss 1 quart torn lettuce greens and about 3 cups of melon cut into bite-size balls. Combine 1 cup sour cream and ¼ cup crumbled American blue cheese. Then toss lightly with melon and lettuce. To serve, lift the salad onto chilled plates.

HELP ASSURE

FIRST CLASS CITIZENSHIP

At the recent convention of Iowa Young Republicans held at Dubuque, a portion of the resolutions calling for adequate housing, job opportunities and civil rights for minorities was passed without the presence of Negro delegates as had been the case in the past. Young Democrats have likewise inserted resolutions on the same subject under similar conditions.

In recent weeks, students at the University of Iowa, Drake University and Coe College have taken notice of discriminatory practices in housing and beauty shop facilities in towns where their schools are located and have gone about the job of demanding something tangible be done to put an end to them. (There is no complaint of discrimination in the schools.)

These are fine gestures. It shows that youngsters are learning how all human beings should live and are solving inequities on the college level. Certainly, it helps those youngsters, who have had no contact with minorities, and thus are not in a position to appreciate their problems.

Having taken a stand and worked for equality of the races in college, these youngsters must realize that they should not stop when they leave school. These principles all sound good and in places where they are practiced, relations between the races, north and south, are better; minorities make more progress and thus the whole community is benefited.

And as time goes on these young people become leaders of their community in business, in civic and church affairs, and it is in these places where they can make a fair application of the things they learned and worked for including first class citizenship for every man regardless of his race provided his record as citizens warrant it.

LITTLE ROCK BLASTS
CITIZENS COUNCILS

When the school integration struggle began in Little Rock, Ark., conditions became so violent that it looked as if the forces of lawlessness would win. And, for a while, the rabble-rousers, including Gov. Faubus, held the spotlight—took over what should and should not be done.

The lawlessness in Little Rock brought down disrespect for the town. It became a symbol of defiance particularly in view of the fact that former President Eisenhower called out an army unit to quell the disturbances.

In the meantime, decent law abiding citizens sat idly by and allowed this situation to go on. They feared the old stigma believed by some that the protection of the rights of a Negro meant opposition to white people.

But conditions became so bad, the education of their youngsters so jeopardized that the good people came out in the open, took charge of the situation to the place where things have leveled off in good shape.

And as proof of that leveling off the people including the Chamber of Commerce issued a statement last week blasting the white citizens council which has joined the program of other cities in sending Negroes north as a retaliation against efforts to desegregate schools and other public facilities in Arkansas.

Certainly this is a complete about face from the school controversy in that the good people of Little Rock lost no time in telling the public that the town wanted no part of the lousy program being carried on by the citizens council.

VOTE AT THE
PRIMARIES MONDAY

Iowa goes to the polls Monday to nominate candidates for the general election in November. And while the list includes candidates of both major parties seeking most offices, this has been an especially quiet primary race. There has been some fight for the nomination for governor in both the Republican and Democrat party. However, none has generated real interest sufficient to arouse the voters to turn out and thus there will be a light vote on primary election day.

Well debated issues and good candidates make a campaign. The American people are not far removed from the torch light parades and barnstorming campaign tours in order to get them out to vote.

As good citizens, everyone should vote as an example of the proper exercise of the privileges and rights enjoyed in most states of the union. In a great many countries and in some states in America thousands of citizens long for a chance to vote but are denied the privilege either by law or physical intimidation.

WHAT OF COLLEGE
GRADUATES TODAY?

Commencement exercises are in progress over the country pouring millions of youngsters either out of school or moving them forward in their education.

Many of these youngsters will be prepared to move into jobs while others are simply pushed on the labor market untrained and without any idea just where to go from here.

Just how well plans have been worked out to absorb these youngsters is problematical. But in view of the elimination of thousands of jobs each month, a program must be devised which will meet the need and thus encourage those in school today to continue their work.

Patterson Feels Persecuted By Press Criticism
Seeks Respect, Admiration in Fight with Liston

New York — World Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson feels persecuted—by the press particularly and by the public generally. More is at stake than the title when he meets challenger Sonny Liston this September; Patterson's image of himself in the eyes of the world hinges on whether or not he can disprove the accusations made against his ability and courage by some sportswriters.

Coverup

In an interview in the current issue of Sport magazine, Patterson tells writer Dick Schaap, "I'm not fighting to prove anything . . . I've lost all desire to be accepted as a great champion. I know it'll never happen . . . I don't want to be a great champion." According to Schaap, however, this nonchalance is a self-protective coverup. Patterson does want acceptance, but fears rejection; so he retreats into a transparent sham. He wants people on his side and wants to be accepted as a great fighter and a good man. But Patterson feels now that he has failed to prove himself: "I'm not admired," he says. "I'm not respected."

PATTERSON

Ridicule

Much of Patterson's sensitiveness results from ridicule of his talents by boxing writers. It has been stated that champions of an earlier era would have destroyed Patterson; that he survives only because he fights in a time of misfits, and that he won't face legitimate contenders.

Countering the comparison of himself with past champions, Patterson says, "The only way that I can feel defeated, the only way I can feel someone beat me, the only possible way is for them to do it. Give me the right to fight it and we'll see. If I'm beaten, if it's done twice in succession, and if it's done well enough, then I'll be the first one to come right out and say this man is a better fighter than I am. But that is the only way."

Duncan's superhuman efforts were good enough to run his team into a third place berth on state finishing lines.

McDonald's has three units in Des Moines located at: 4814 S.W. 9th Street; 2540 Frederick Hubbell Blvd.; and 6125 Grand. Also McDonald's has a restaurant under construction at 3817 East 14th street.

THE BETTER WAY

It is better to lose with a conscience clean

Than to win with a trick unfair

It is better to fail and to know you've been,

Whatever the prize was, square,

Than to claim the joy of a far-off goal

And the cheers of the standersby,

And to know down deep in your inmost soul

A cheat you must live and die.

Who wins by trick may take the prize,

And at first he may think it sweet,

But many a day in the future lies

When he'll wish he had met defeat.

For the man who lost shall be glad at heart

And walk with his head up high,

While his conqueror knows he must play the part

Of a cheat and a living lie.

The prize seems fair when the fight is on,

But save it is truly won

You will hate the things when the crowds are gone,

For it stands for a false deed done.

And it's better you should never reach your goal

Than ever success to buy

At the price of knowing, down in your soul,

That your glory is all a lie.

About the best advice we can give the beleaguered people of South Africa is found in the motto of a famous Mississippi fighting unit. The motto: 'Stand Fast'.

Thoughts for Today

Sympathize with the fellow who belittles you—he is only trying to cut you down to his size.

Give yourself plenty of living space on the highways—tailgating is a dangerous practice.
