Gary Suit Seeks to Halt Segregated School Addition

Gary, Ind. — Attorneys for the NAACP have filed suit in the United States District Court here on behalf of 110 Negro children seeking an injunction restraining the Gary School Board from building an addition to a segregated high school.

Complaint

The NAACP complaint, filed on June 14, further asks the court to restrain the school board from maintaining and operating schools on a racially segregated basis. Named as defendants in the suit are Alden H. Blankenship, superintendent of schools, the Gary School Board, and its members individually.

Board

The school board, the complaint charges, has assigned the Negro children to racially segregated schools, maintains arbitrary attendance zones, and controls assignments from elementary to secondary schools in such a way as to perpetuate segregation. Also, a newly erected school and plans for the enlargement of presently segregated schools are being used to extend patterns of racial segregation.

The complaint further charges that the plaintiffs were denied the "right and privilege of registering, enrolling, entering, attending classes and receiving instruction in the public schools within the school district of Gary . . . on the same terms and conditions as white minor residents" and that the Negro children were assigned to schools with unequal facilities, overcrowded classes.

Building

The suit came as a result of a controversy over a proposed plan to build a new high school in the middle of the Negro district. The NAACP vigorously protested the proposed site and Miss June Shagalloff of New York City, NAACP special assistant for education, made a thorough study of the Gary public schools. The Board rescinded its plan for the new school and proposed to build an annex to an existing all-Negro school. At the same time the Board also withdrew its plans to allow Negro elementary school pupils to transfer from two overcrowded schools.

home where he dragged her into the bedroom.

Hit Little Rock Red Cross For Refusing Aid to Negroes

New York — The NAACP has asked the American Red Cross if it has accepted the White Citizens Council as "a legitimate sister social agency."

Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive secretary, on June 14, wired General Alfred Gruenther, president of the Red Cross, after learning that the local Red Cross unit in Little Rock, Ark., turned down a Negro family seeking help and referred it to the White Citizens Council.

Sought Aid

L. D. Carter and his family used $200 of their savings to buy a car to drive to Long Island in search of jobs. Mrs. Carter was already employed in Hempstead, N.Y. Both Mr. Carter and his son were employed when they went to the Little Rock Red Cross and sought financial aid. The Red Cross said no. The Citizens Council aided the family and took photographs of the small children for publicity purposes.

Callous Use

Wilkins told the Red Cross President that the "Councils are engaged in an incredibly callous use of unemployed men, helpless women and little children in a cruelly juvenile effort to justify the system of racial segregation."

"Is it possible that the American Red Cross is a partner in this contemptible endeavor to the extent of recognizing a race-hate organization as a legitimate sister social agency?"

Meanwhile, David Adams, president of the Association's Hempstead branch, asserted that the Carter family "had decided to come to seek better employment, with or without the Council's help."

Asks Crackdown on Job Bias in Dixie Tobacco Firms

Washington — The NAACP has asked the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity to "move against the entire Southern tobacco industry" for denial of skilled jobs to Negro workers.

Herbert Hill, the Association's labor secretary filed complaints against the American Tobacco Company, Reidsville, N.C., on May 31. A complaint was also filed against the Matson Navigation Company, San Francisco.

1961 Complaints

Hill called attention to NAACP complaints filed on Oct. 10, 1961 on behalf of Association members in Durham, N.C., against Liggett & Meyers Tobacco Company and the Tobacco Workers International Union.

NAACP charges against the American Tobacco Company assert that it refuses to admit qualified Negroes into training programs for skilled jobs.

The Association also challenges the existence of different pay scales based upon race, with Negroes on the bottom, and American Tobacco's refusal to promote on the basis of seniority.

Rigid Pattern

Hill added that a "rigid pattern of separate racial seniority lines exists in the Southern tobacco industry."

"This becomes very apparent in all collective bargaining agreements between the major tobacco manufacturing companies and the Tobacco Workers International Union, AFL-CIO," he said.

"The NAACP finds that all colored workers are employed in unskilled and janitorial jobs with limited seniority rights. They have limited seniority rights only in the all-Negro menial job categories," Hill said.

Investigation

Recent NAACP investigations indicate that the Reidsville plant, along with others in the South, hires Negroes only as sweepers, janitors and toilet attendants. There is not a single Negro working as a cigarette machine operator.

The NAACP complaint against the Matson Navigation Company charges "refusal to hire qualified Negroes as waitresses on the company's passenger vessels and other ships operating under government contracts and subsidies provided by the government."

South Carolina High Court Orders Retrial of Students

Columbia, S.C. — At least 15 of the 349 students arrested for participation in an NAACP-sponsored desegregation march on the City of Orangeburg in 1960 will get a new trial.

The State Supreme Court, on June 7, reversed a lower court conviction of the students on a legal technicality. The demonstrators were tried in different groups of 15 each. The convictions for breach-of-the-peace were upheld by the Court for all except one group.

No Jury Trial

The reversal was based on the refusal of the Orangeburg magistrate to permit preliminary questioning of the jury panel as to qualifications to serve. The magistrate's ruling was later upheld by Circuit Court Judge J. B. Pruitt. NAACP Attorney Matthew J. Perry, who defended the students, contended that the magistrate was in error in not allowing the questions.

"Trial by jury was demanded by these defendants and the Constitution of the United States guarantees to them the right to a 'trial by an impartial jury,'" the State Supreme Court said in the decision reversing the convictions.

Prejudice

"Examination of prospective jurors," the decision continued, "on their voir dire is a guarantee of the rights of the parties to an impartial jury and when timely request was made it became the duty of the magistrate to make reasonable inquiry of the jurors to determine whether bias or prejudice existed."

"The refusal of the magistrate to examine the jurors on their voir dire so affects the rights of the defendants as to require reversal of the judgment herein and thereby granting of a new trial on that ground to the 15 defendants in this case."

Seven Cases

The preliminary question to be decided by the Supreme Court in the other seven cases was whether or not the march itself constituted a breach of the peace. The court held that in view of the "very high tension and feeling" in Orangeburg as a result of the protest demonstrations, the march constituted a "disturbance of the public tranquility, an act inciting to violence."

NAACP Convention to Hear Dr. J. Nabrit

New York — Dr. James M. Nabrit, president of Howard University, will be the principal speaker at an outdoor Fourth of July rally in Atlanta during the 53rd annual convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The court acted summarily, granting a petition for review and going ahead to decide the case without hearing argument. It said that there was no evidence to support the charge—breach of the peace—on which the riders had been convicted.

QUACKERY

One billion dollars down the drain! That's the amount of money Americans spend every year on medical quacks and their fake remedies.

Some of the quack products and treatments can actually harm you. Others are merely useless. Using any of them delays proper diagnosis and treatment, perhaps past the danger point.

Six Rules

The Department of Investigation of the American Medical Association has got up six simple rules for spotting a medical fake. You can write off as sheer fakery anyone who . . .

...uses a special or secret machine or formula he claims can cure disease.
...guarantees a quick cure.
...advertises or uses case histories and testimonials to promote his cure.
...clamors constantly for medical investigation and recognition.
...claims medical men are persecuting him or are afraid of his competition.
...tells you that surgery or x-rays or drugs will cause more harm than good.

COUNCIL BLUFFS

At 7:00 p.m. Friday the Rev. E. Rhodes read the marriage vows for Miss Dallas Jean Turner and the Rev. E. Starr. The ceremony was at the Tabernacle Baptist Church. The bride was given in marriage by Vernon Williams, friend of the family.

An embroidered beige sheath dress, street length, was worn by the bride. Her accessories gold, her illusion finger tip veil was of beige and trimmed with sequins. She carried a cymb orchid with sprigs of Stephanotis.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Gladys Hudson was gowned in a fuchsia sheath dress with gold accessories. She wore a gold cornation corsage. Steve Rusk, Omaha, Nebr., was best man.

A reception at the bride's home followed the ceremony. Assisting at the reception were Mesdames A. J. Teague, Dana Mixon, Inez Bruce, Louise Richardson, aunt of the bride, Leona Baker and Mollie Stewart.

The table was covered with a imported blue and white linen tablecloth.

The Rev. and Mrs. Starr are at home at 1629 Avenue B, Council Bluffs, Iowa.

Mrs. Gladys Hudson and the late Mr. Garfield Turner are the parents of the bride.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Starr of Dallas, Texas.

a new pill for that tired feeling or a new diet for that painful shoulder, remember these six fake-spotters and save your money.

You shouldn't, in any event, diagnose your own ailments. If you don't feel right, see your doctor. And if he tells you that he is doing all he can for you, you must be patient. If you have had an ailment for a long time, no doctor can cure you in one visit. No quack can really do you any good, no matter what he promises. Your doctor is honest with you. The quack isn't.

St. Louis, Mo.—For five months St. Louis CORE had been negotiating to desegregate a bowling alley owned by Terry Moore, former star outfielder of the St. Louis Cardinals. Then, on June 9 a CORE group of 30 Negroes and whites went to the alley in person to seek the right to bowl. After a four hour sit-in, Moore was willing to let the Negroes in the group bowl separately. This plan was, of course, rejected by the group. Finally, Moore changed his mind and permitted nonsegregated bowling to proceed.

It happened 100 YEARS ago

The oldest incorporated trade association in the country, the United States Brewers Association, was organized in 1862 . . . the same year that

IN IOWA, the whole state celebrated Grant's great victory at Fort Donelson, in which Iowa troops were the first to breach the fort's defenses. Beer was one of the favorite beverages of the troops . . . just as Iowans today continue to find pleasure in beer.

For then, as now, beer was the traditional beverage of moderation. But beer means more than enjoyment to our state. The Brewing Industry contributes over 6 1/2 million tax dollars to Iowa each year—money that helps support our hospitals, schools and highways.

TODAY, in its centennial year, the United States Brewers Association still works constantly to assure maintenance of high standards of quality and propriety wherever beer and ale are served.

PLAN SUMMER TRAVEL WITH CHILDREN IN MIND

Many of us will be taking trips soon with our children, and children are sometimes peculiar travelers who need some special consideration.

If traveling is to be fun for the whole family, specific provisions have to be made for the children depending on their ages and their habits. Frequently grownups tend to think they are the only ones who get tired and that the children who have slept in the back seat all day or curled up on a train seat should be fresh as a daisy.

Fatigue

We also may think that delaying a meal a couple hours or eating one an hour early may be nothing more than an inconvenience. Sometime we even tell ourselves that children don't really notice the heat.

Children are often worn out—just like their parents. Avoiding fatigue may mean taking a faster mode of travel, or planning more frequent over-night stops.

horns and get the worst over first. However, we decided against that tactic this time and we will now go to the sad part of our report. This especially for church and club reporters and their readers whose news was unfortunately omitted from the Bystander last week. Several things happened that contributed to and touched off an emergency, which began when it developed that we had far more news than available space could accommodate. It was something over which we had no control and it was the first time it had happened during our four years plus on the paper. We only hope it will not happen again. ## A Favorite From The Freezer

Orange Cereal Flake Loaf, a quick bread that is best served cold.

Most quick breads are best served as soon as they are baked, but breads that are made in loaf pans usually contain cereal flakes, chopped nuts or fruits, and are apt to crumble if sliced hot. So the "loaf" is the one big exception to the "bake and serve hot" rule that is part of the tradition surrounding quick breads. After baking, cool the loaf about 10 minutes in the pan, then turn it out onto a rack and cool completely. Wrap in foil or saran and let stand overnight. Wrapped with extra care, patting out all air, this bread can be frozen, and will keep very well for two or three weeks. And a comforting item it is to have on hand for that quick snack needed before or after a tennis game. In addition to adding color and texture to the bread, corn flakes add to the vitamin B content by providing additional thiamine, niacin and riboflavin.

Miss Evanette Mays' name appeared among the lists of graduates honored at the annual banquet at St. Paul A.M.E. Church recently. We thought she had already graduated so we called to check, anyway.

MISS MAYS

Sure enough, she was a January graduate of Drake University.

Miss Mays says she will teach in Minneapolis, Minn., next fall, where she plans to live. She did substitute teaching during the semester after she graduated in Des Moines.

While her husband has been attending the University of Kentucky on a fellowship, Mrs. LeRoy Anderson and their two daughters have been staying in the home of her parents, Rev. and Mrs. N. R. Olphin in Des Moines.

While here Mrs. Anderson taught the past year at Frisby elementary school. Their plans are indefinite yet, but the family plans to join Mr. Anderson sometime in August when he is scheduled to complete his fellowship.

Following in the scholastically talented footsteps of her father is their oldest daughter, Karen, 10, who graduated with honors from Nash elementary school earlier this month. The Andersons have another daughter, Maeria, 6.

Here we are and the month is half over. So much happens in June that it doesn't take long for the month to flit by. Many delegates are away this week attending conventions of the Knights of Pythias, Court of Calanthe, Order of the Eastern Star, Amaranth Court, Midwestern Elks convention, among others. Among next month's big conventions are the National Beauty Culturists League, Links, Inc., National Assembly, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, plus various others.

Several weeks ago Mrs. M. E. Cassell of 931 23rd street, called me about the class reunion of East high school in Des Moines. She reported that the former Valetta Norman, now Mrs. Valetta Fields of Waterloo, Ia., was pictured in the graduates published in a local daily. Mrs. Fields is news correspondent for the Bystander, as most of you know.

The lovely gowns worn by the bridesmaids and maid of honor for the Jones-Parks wedding recently were all made, except two, by Mrs. Woodrow Lewis of 1710 Carpenter street. Most of her friends and acquaintances have long admired her needlework, as she makes most of her own clothing.

Generally we take the bull by the

MORE TOMMYROT FROM MISSISSIPPI GOVERNOR

Soon after the turn of the century, Chautauqua circuits brought through the North such men as Senators Ben Tillman of South Carolina and James K. Vardaman of Mississippi, who extolled the system used in the South to "handle the Negro" and be- rated the Negro as few others could. And while this same program brought Booker T. Washington, who represented the Negro's view, the smear of the senators left their mark.

Last week, the Iowa Civil War Centennial Committee had as its guest Gov. Ross R. Barnett of Mississippi and his staff. Two flags, captured by Iowa soldiers from the Confederacy, were returned to the Mississippians, further signifying that the hate engendered during the Civil War had died out; that Mississippi and other southern states had returned to the union and thus the issues of the Civil War had been wiped out.

In theory, the war was fought to preserve the union but the dissolution of the union was threatened by slavery. And even though the war ended a century ago, Mississippi is still fighting the Civil War on the rights of the Negro.

Gov. Barnett, like many a southern politician, is a smooth operator and as usual soothed the Des Moines audience by playing on words which do not bear out the practical application of principles which he claims to espouse.

The governor complained that the federal government was invading the rights of states employing that "constitutional government is our greatest safeguard against an all-powerful central government that could produce our first dictator".

His state has refused to obey the supreme court ruling on school integration and this week arrested several youngsters, two from Iowa, on a frivolous charges and held them incommunicado for 28 hours.

Just where is law and order or constitutional government in Mississippi? Is this equal protection of the law as guaranteed in the 14th amendment to the constitution? Absolutely not. And when the Governor of Mississippi comes to Iowa with his smooth talk about constitutional government, it makes those whose parents fought the Civil War and others with a lick of sense realize that it is pure hypocrisy.

Just what Iowa can hope to gain by collaborating with such trash as Gov. Barnett whose record of disobedience to law and order is well known, is difficult to take when there are many good white people in that state who don't share his views.

Yes, the Civil War was fought over slavery and it has not been settled yet—at least in Mississippi for such men as Gov. Barnett are fighting it over and over again every day.

JOB DISCRIMINATION HOLDS SPOTLIGHT

The Commission on Human Rights announced that the job situation has caught up with Negroes in Des Moines. In other words, they mean that there are more jobs available than there are Negroes to supply them.

The Bystander agrees that this is true with regard to women but question the statement as applied to men. Occasionally, and these are isolated cases, a job is offered a Negro by a firm which has no knowledge that a person is available to handle it and which has includes no Negroes in its training or apprenticeship training.

Somewhat, Negroes are caught in the middle between the public school system, U.S. and state apprenticeship training program, the unions and industry.

1. The U.S. and state apprenticeship programs do absolutely nothing in helping to integrate Negroes in industry.

2. Public school advises and teaches help Negro youngsters shy away from trades other than cooking, explaining that since they can't get jobs there is no use taking the trades.

3. Apprenticeship training committees made up of unions and management favor relatives of employees and this is understandable. However, not more than two Negro youngsters are receiving apprenticeship training for skilled jobs in Des Moines today.

Unfortunately there is too much of a disposition to label certain jobs for whites and certain ones for Negroes. Such jobs as truck driving, auto mechanics, machinists, bricklayers, sheet metal workers, plasterers, and cement finishers have no Negroes in the unions here.

Hollis Signs Pro-Football Contract

St. Louis Cardinals Land SUI Quarterback

St. Louis, Mo. — Wilburn Hollis, former quarterback with the State University of Iowa Hawkeyes signed a contract Thursday, June 14, with the St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League.

WILBURN HOLLIS
Iowa Quarterback

Hollis, who hails from Boys Town, Neb., and before that from Possum Trot, Miss., played his way into the Big Ten scoring records as a junior and at the same time tied the conference scoring championship.

Because of a wrist injury early in the second game last year he sat out the remainder of the season and was declared ineligible for conference play this fall, as was Larry Ferguson, another Hawkeye teammate. Ferguson was injured in the first game.

The 6-foot 2-inch, 205-pound Hollis is one of three Big Ten football captains signed by the Cards. A No. 10 draft choice, is listed as a possible flanker for the Cardinals.

A remarkably good passer, Hollis is recognized as a powerful runner.

FAMU Grid Coach To Lecture At Virginia State

Petersburg, Va. — Alonzo (Jake) Gaither of Florida A. and M. university, a member of the Helms Foundation Hall of Fame and the NAIA and Coach-of-the-year of the American Football Coaches Association last year, has joined several other outstanding coaches scheduled to serve as staff members of the

In addition to Gaither, other coaches participating in the clinic will be Bill Elias of the University of Virginia, and basketball coach Horace (Bones) McKinney, Wake Forest college.

Negro Player Plays In Atlanta City Tennis Tournament

Atlanta—Miss Bessie Stockard, a prominent player in the American Tennis Association, last week became the first member of her race to compete in the Atlanta City tennis tournament, held at the Betsy Grant Tennis Center.

Two days earlier four other Negro

(There are a few truck drivers.)

Most unions boast civil rights clauses in their laws and most business places in Des Moines claim they have no policy discriminating against Negroes. Each accuses the other of doing the dirty work.

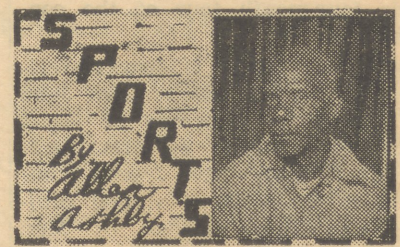

Until the business establishments and unions do a definite job of including Negroes in their training programs, Des Moines will continue to be a place where it is hard for a Negro man to get a decent job.

Atlanta Hotel Accepts Racially Mixed Baseball Team

A couple of fellows got to talking about the kids of today and as usual compared them with the boys we used to know. As they talked our mind wandered back to the days of the kids who went off to World War II. We thought about the various clubs we used to have, Panthers, Hawkeyes, the Ysters, the H.I.B.S., the Cavaliers and a few others we can't think of. We recalled that we heard just about the same criticism of those boys.

Now, most of them are still around as men with families. Very few of them have turned out badly; some of them are teaching in our school system. Some are in the post office and others are in various jobs around town. We know of some who are out of town.

Nw, we thought that all of these kids didn't go on to college or become community wheels but almost to a man they accepted their responsibility as family men and set about doing for them. The children of some of these fellows have done very well in school surpassing their father's marks.

So I wondered if we shouldn't wait a few years until the returns are all in before counting the present generation of kids out. Let's see where they turn up.

Baseball

If you went out to the baseball game last weekend you probably wondered what happened to the great traveling Negro clubs of the past. Well we all know that just about every Negro is in organized ball. So that leaves those who for reason of age, personality or ability, can't make the grade there. That is what you see on those Negro teams now. They use the names of the former great clubs but they don't have one zenith of the ability of those clubs. Whoever took the name of the Kansas City Monarchs out of circulation was smart and kept millions of fans from seeing a tenth rate club classed as the great Monarchs. Some of the other old names should be retired also and let the new clubs travel on their own.

The Des Moines Merchants have a better than average semi-pro team and no collections of misfits is going to beat them. Among them is Irv Clark, formerly with the Des Moines Demons.

Pennant Races

The pennant races are getting hotter with everybody wondering what has happened to the Yankees. Well we hate to admit it but come September we think the Yanks will be where they are nearly always at the top of the heap. This is a long season and it is just about one half over.

Have you noticed the increasing number of Negro pitchers in both leagues and they all seem to be tough.

players had integrated the tennis center without incident, after an agreement had been reached with officials on the move.

The acceptance of Miss Stockard's application was confirmed by Jack Rodgers, a director of the tournament, prior to start of play. Indicating there was little or no opposition to her participation in the tournament, Rodgers said simply: "She applied and was accepted."

JUST A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

(Dedicated to Graduates)

Just supposing we started this very day.

To live our lives in a different way; Just supposing we vowed and constantly tried To help those in trouble on life's wayside;

If we showed by our doings a hint of his love Wouldn't earth be a bit more like Heaven above?

Monday: Look for a smile today and return it With one of your own— Give someone new faith and hope. It's such a beautiful loan.

Tuesday: Gather a thought that's kind— One that's sincere and deep, But be sure to pass it along For such are too precious to keep.

Wednesday: Forget yesterday's old sorrows, Mistakes, sadness and pain— Lift your heart with hope and a song. As flowers to sun and rain.

Thursday: Offer a word of comfort and prayer To help someone in need— A little thoughtful gift, some flowers, Or a smile make us all rich indeed.

Friday: You shall not pass this way again. Don't put off till tomorrow or the Chance may be lost for you.

Saturday: Today will soon be a memory So don't let it come to an end Without a smile, and without a song. Or just a word with a friend.

Sunday: Don't let worry and care depress you, Or brush the day's joy away— But rise and give thanks to God above, For His love and another blessed day.

—By Kermit L. Wilson

God hath not promised skies always blue, Flower-strewn pathways all our lives through, God hath not promised sun without rain, Joy without sorrow, peace without pain.
