For 1st Time Since 1954 Notes No Major Conflicts In School Integration

New York—The "diversity of NAACP program, and its involvement of thousands and thousands of persons in city after city, across the nation," is stressed in the Association's 1961 annual report released here and in Atlanta, Ga., today by Roy Wilkins, executive secretary.

Entitled "NAACP IN ACTION," the booklet was published on the eve of the 53rd annual convention of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The convention opened in Atlanta on July 2 and continues through July 8.

Highlights

Highlights of the NAACP's work in education, housing, employment, the courts, and in political action, direct action and legislation, are chronicled.

"Both in effectiveness and diversity of its program, the NAACP maintained throughout 1961, its leadership role in the civil rights field," the report states.

On the other hand, the report notes that resolution of the five-year-old injunction against the Association in Alabama "was assured by the U.S. Supreme Court . . . in its third review of the case."

Banned

The NAACP was temporarily banned from Alabama in 1956 and has not been allowed to function there since. At the end of a three-day trial in Montgomery on December 29, 1961, the Circuit Court reaffirmed its 1956 ruling, alleging that the NAACP "was operating in the state contrary

Mrs. Wimberly Retires After 30 Varied Years in Field of Human Relations, Behavior

With more than three decades of work and experiences in the field of human relations and human behavior, as teacher, social work counselor, YWCA director, and probation officer, Mrs. Helen D. Wimberly, 2720 Amick avenue, retired effective June 1 as probation officer for Polk County Juvenile court.

Before she left she was honored with a coffee by the staff and Polk County District Judge Don Tidrick presented her a gift on behalf of everyone and gave a few remarks on Mrs. Wimberly's contribution to the court.

Teacher

Mrs. Wimberly's long career in human relations began first as a teacher in Columbia, Mo., when she was then Mrs. Helen Beshears.

"I went down to the class reunion three years ago and met many of my former students. Many of them came up and told my husband how they had been helped by my encouragement. One former student who had a daughter graduating in Los Angeles, the day before, flew in by plane for the reunion. It touched me very much."

Piney Woods

In addition to teaching at Columbia, Mrs. Wimberly also taught about eight months at the Piney Woods school in Piney Woods, Miss., founded by Prof. Lawrence Jones, also formerly of Des Moines.

Mrs. Wimberly came to Des Moines in 1933 where for 10 years she worked as probation officer, being the third Negro to hold the position succeeding Mrs. Marguerite Estes.

Negro Case Load

"My case load was all Negro then, male and female, all ages up to 18 years. I looked around and see so many I helped," she said. "From the first generation, through the second, and almost on the verge of the third generation. So it was time for me to retire."

"So many come up to me and ask if I know them; they thank me for helping them," she related. "It gives me a great satisfaction to know I helped. Now they are grown and have grown out of their problems and are responsible and dependable with families of their own. It is very rewarding, indeed."

YWCA

In 1943 Mrs. Wimberly went out East and during the war years worked as YWCA director and with the USO in Philadelphia, Pa. Mrs. Wimberly recalled "it was the beginning of the integration fight in the YWCA then. The war workers swam together at the Central Y but not the professional people."

"Before I left for Plainsfield, N. J., to a similar position in the YWCA there, the Y was integrated in all areas," she said. "In Plainsfield there was a snobbery of the social classes but after a time that too vanished."

Back to Social Work

Mrs. Wimberly returned to the social work field when she accepted a position with the New York State Training School for Girls.

"I worked with every nationality that came to these shores," she said. "I soon learned that people don't pay any attention to what color you are if they are in trouble and you show you are sincere in your efforts to help them."

Complete Circle

Mrs. Wimberly worked in Chicago, Ill., for nearly four years with a similar position in the juvenile court field, before returning to Des Moines where she was re-appointed as Polk probation officer, making a complete circle in her varied experiences.

"I always felt there was more desired of me beyond my job," she says. "I felt that it was also my duty to do what I could to uplift my race, to encourage them to stay in school. Many told me that a pair of shoes I got

NAACP Concerned Over Worthy Trial

New York—The NAACP expressed concern to Attorney General Robert Kennedy this week over the scheduled prosecution of Afro-American Correspondent William Worthy, Jr., under a provision of the 1952 McCarran Immigration Act.

"Our attorneys have searched diligently," said NAACP Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins, "but thus far have found no record of any other person having been prosecuted in the precise circumstances alleged in the case of Mr. Worthy."

"The newsman is charged with entering the United States from Cuba without a passport. He has been denied a change of venue and his trial will be held in Miami on Aug. 5.

Complainant Changes Assault Case Story; Jackson Bound Over

Frederick Leon Jackson, 25, of 1441 2nd street place, was bound over to the Polk County Grand Jury Friday on an assault charge. Bond was reduced from $15,000 to $5,000.

Jackson was arrested June 15 on the complaint of a 37-year-old Des Moines woman who said at that time Jackson had forced his way into her car at 4th and Walnut streets and taken her out to an abandoned school house, and attempted to assault her.

The woman, however, changed her story at the preliminary hearing Friday. She said Jackson did not force his way into her car, that they had been together at a party and they stopped for beer before he drove her to his home.

Judge Howard Brooks over-ruled motion to dismiss the case.

Direct Distance Dialing to Begin August 5

Direct Distance Dialing, Telephone's newest miracle, comes to the Des Moines area on Aug. 5. Then telephone users can dial direct to more than 76 million telephones throughout the United States and Canada. Included are the telephones in 575 Iowa cities and towns.

Preparations involve telephone equipment additions representing an added investment of about $1,600,000. Installation of the new equipment has used a force of up to 105 skilled equipment installers of the Western Electric Company. The work which has used 9,000 man days is nearing completion with some parts already getting final tests.

K.C. Kans. Gets Ike Smalls Trophy for NAACP Membership

Atlanta—Awards for outstanding achievements were scheduled for presentation to 36 local and state units of the NAACP at the annual Freedom Fud and Awards dinner here, Thursday night, July 5, during the Association's 53rd annual convention.

The Ike Smalls award, presented annually to the branch showing the largest per cent of membership increase over the previous year went to the Kansas City, Kans., branch which more than doubled its membership, from 1,069 in 1960 to 2,454 in 1961. The award is named for its donor, an NAACP vice president, from Des Moines, Iowa.

Ten units won Thalheimer awards for exceptional program achievements. Thirteen branches were cited for superior publications. Voter registration campaigns conducted by 10 branches merited awards. Three units were recognized for successful promotion of Holiday Seals sales.

Individual Citations

Scheduled for individual citations were the Rev. Mary G. Evans, pastor of Chicago's Cosmopolitan Community Church, for "many years of outstanding support in the fight for justice and equality," and Dick Gregory, famous topical comic, for his "keen-edged humor which has provided an effective weapon in the Fight for Freedom."

Training

Every telephone operator is getting special training to assist users with the new service. Each operator will be prepared to inform callers if a particular city can be dialed and the area code for it. Each can assist in getting out-of-town numbers. In case a caller has any difficulty in dialing, needs instruction, reaches a wrong number or whatever, operators will be ready to help. While the calling number from most Des Moines telephones will be recorded automatically, an operator assists on others by asking the caller his number, then "keying" it into the equipment. A portion of the force is receiving special training in this service which takes but a few seconds per call.

Washington, D.C.—President Kennedy has selected Washington attorney Charles E. Rhetts, a native of Columbus, Ind., to be Ambassador to Liberia, and William Rountree, a native of Swainsboro, Ga., to be Ambassador to the Republic of Sudan.

Gary, Ind.—James T. Williams, 42, who admitted drawing $51 weekly unemployment compensation from the State of Illinois since being laid off last February, was arrested here last week with a package which police described as pure heroin worth at least $6,000.

Memphis, Tenn.—"Let her lie there and die. She looks good lying there dying like a chicken." The man accused of making this statement on May 12 was given 25 years in the penitentiary after pleading guilty to murder. Drawing the sentence was Richard Bates, 44, jailed for the fatal stabbing of his alleged 34-year-old common law wife, Mrs. Virginia Wilkins.

MASCULINITY AND FEMININITY IN YOUNG CHILDREN

As early as age 3, boys show different toy preference and play interests from girls. Differences of other kinds appear, also. Boys are more physically aggressive than girls even at these early ages, for example. So certain basic aspects of masculinity and femininity begin to emerge during early childhood.

Wide Range

Of course, a wide range of masculine and feminine attitudes is apparent within each sex. This range, however, is greatest among girls than among boys. Some girls are feminine—other are tomboys. Boys, on the other hand, are not so varied. Investigators have also noted that, in general, girls are less feminine than boys are masculine. This appears to be the case from early childhood through the elementary school years.

Social Status

The social status of the family is also related to degree of appropriate "sex-typing." Middle-class children, for example, attain high levels of masculinity of femininity somewhat later than children of working-class parents.

Masculine and feminine attitudes are probably learned rather than inherited. However, the process by which this learning takes place is not well understood. We know that parents differ in some ways in rearing a boy as opposed to a girl. One investigator found that mothers tend to be "warmer" toward girl babies, more encouraging of aggression in boys, more punitive toward boys, etc. Such differences in child training undoubtedly promote sex-typing.

Sex-Typing

But it also appears that parents contribute to sex-typing by directly rewarding play interests, habits of dress, and other behavior appropriate to the child's sex. Then, too, imitating parents probably plays a role in the development of masculine and feminine attitudes.

For most young children, patterns of masculine and feminine behavior are not rigidly set. They often play both same-and opposite-sex roles, exploring what it feels like to be a boy or to be a girl. Such exploration appears to be helpful to the child, providing his environment furnishes a fairly clear picture of the more important ways in which men differ from women in our culture.

HEALTH FOR ALL

comes from meat, poultry or fish.

Step right up, ladies and gentlemen, and get your vitamins from the food store rather than the drug counter!

That's one pitch you can believe. You don't need expensive health food or vitamin pills to be well nourished. You can get all you need for pep and resistance to infection just from the food you eat, provided you have a balanced diet.

Balance

Nutritionists say that a balanced diet is made up of the "fundamental four" food groups. You should eat some of each every day.

1. Milk and milk products—butter, cream, ice cream, cheese, for protein, vitamins, calcium and other minerals.

Food fads and fetishes come and go, but the basics of good nutrition remain the same. Don't take supplementary vitamins unless your doctor tells you to, which he may do if you've been ill. Put the money you save into more foods from the "fundamental four."

Youth

The youth division during the year "shifted the emphasis and direction of the sit-ins from action for service, primarily, to action for new jobs and upgrading of Negroes from menial employment."

Successful campaigns are listed for Durham, N.C.; Dallas, Tex.; Jacksonville, Fla.; Columbia, S. C.; Oklahoma City, Okla.; Kansas City, Mo.; and others.

More than 700 NAACP youth were arrested for participating in these demonstrations.

Moving northward, the "Association launched an all-out attack on de facto public school segregation in non-southern states," it was noted.

Branches set out to end inequities stemming from gerrymandering of school zones, faulty site selection for new schools, discrimination against Negro teachers, and strict adherence to the neighborhood school concept.

Suits

The organization's general counsel was prepared to file suits when and where local school desegregation negotiations broke down.

Extension, by two years, of the life of the Federal Civil Rights Commission was well received as was the granting of the right to vote for President and Vice President to the citizens of the District of Columbia.

Somber mention was made of the fact that "during the year, the rate of Negro employment was two-and-a-half times greater than the comparable rate for white workers."

"In some major industrial centers, the rate of Negro unemployment was even greater—as in Detroit, where the Negro was 19.5 per cent of the total work force, but 61 per cent of the total jobless."

It Sparkles Plenty

"Oh, look at the bubbles!" That will probably be your family's first reaction when they spy this novel and attractive fruit gelatin dessert. Using ginger ale as an ingredient, you can mold bubbles right into the gelatin, creating a special "sparkley" effect that the family will love.

"What a grand flavor!" That will be the next exclamation of pleasure, when your family tastes fresh pears, top of the season, molded in this wonderful taste combination of ginger ale and luscious raspberry-flavored gelatin.

"This is an idea for my recipe file!" And that's what you'll say to yourself when you see how easy it is to prepare a gayly original dessert that adds real freshness and charm to your late-summer menus.

GINGER PEAR MOLD

1 package raspberry-flavored gelatin
½ cup hot water
1½ teaspoons lemon juice
1½ cups ginger ale
1 cup diced fresh pears

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add lemon juice and ginger ale gradually. Chill until slightly thickened. Then fold in pears. Turn into 1-quart mold. Chill until firm.
Unmold. Garnish with pear halves, green grapes and green leaves. Makes 6 servings.

On Sunday, July 8 the pastor and congregation will motor to Cedar Rapids to be among guests of Mt.
Zion Baptist church at a special pro-

Your photo dealer will be glad to explain anything you don't understand about your camera's operation.

Cameras Respond to Good Treatment

TODAY'S column is one of advice—to new camera owners. But one we feel will also be of value to owners of not-so-new cameras.

When you look that new camera out of the box, there was an instruction book with it, we're sure. It tells you in detail how to operate your camera—and under varying circumstances. It's designed to help you get the best possible pictures. But, of course, it can't do a thing for you if you don't read it carefully. Do that before you take your first pictures. They'll be better pictures. Knowing how your camera operates—and what its limitations are—is a good way to avoid disappointment.

Since all new cameras are carefully inspected before packing, yours should work fine. However, if it is the exception to the rule and shows any inclination to stick, don't force it. Take it to your photo dealer, find out what is wrong and the proper remedy from someone who understands the mechanism involved.

These days cameras travel far and wide. Inevitably, they are going to suffer a certain number of bumps and shocks. On the whole they are rugged, and will take an amazing amount of punishment. However, it seems foolish to risk damaging a camera when a field case will protect it and are so low in price.

When traveling by car, you face the unfortunate problem of the most convenient places for carrying cameras being the very places that aren't good for it—the glove compartment and the back window ledge. In both spots you find heat and dust, the worst enemies of cameras and film. You don't want to pack it away in a suitcase. So, the best idea is to put the camera in a field case and keep it on the seat beside you—ready for picture taking at all times.

Simple Meal for Saturdays!

WE'RE FOR WORKING WIVES who, when Saturday rolls around, like to forget about work... and have fun! However, we like good food, and we don't choose to deny ourselves that pleasure... so we plan ahead to make Saturday's meals EASY and QUICK. Here's one menu we'd like to share: Meat loaf... mix it the night before and refrigerate; bake it on Saturday while you play! Poppy seed rolls... wrap in foil and pop into the oven during the last few minutes of baking the meat. A big green salad... wash greens and leave them in crisper during day; add dressing at the last minute. And for a delectable dessert—these maple peaches, that can be baked with the meat loaf, too, and served warm. If you like, pass a pitcher of thick cream to top the fruit.

MAPLE PEACHES (using frozen peaches)

5 whole fresh peaches, peeled 2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon butter ¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ cup Log Cabin Syrup ¼ teaspoon mace

Place peaches in greased baking dish. Combine remaining ingredients and pour over peaches. Cover and bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 15 minutes. Uncover and bake 15 minutes longer, basting occasionally. Serve warm. Makes 5 servings.

Right now she is looking forward to Personally Yours by Frances Hawthorne.

Another Fourth of July holiday has passed. Hoped yours was a most happy and relaxing one, unmarred by tragedy or unhappy incidents. Like the Memorial day holiday, it too came in the middle of the week, but broke up nicely what would otherwise be a very long, hot week. The days before the holiday law enforcement officers were pleading with motorists to be extra careful, especially with the added influx of vacationers as well as short trip drivers on the road.

Late last week we had a call from Mrs. John E. (Marri) Johnson, 2407 Garfield street, about her daughter, Jean M., who was recently involved in a racial incident down in Mississippi along with other Coe college students.

We had asked Mrs. Johnson to call us when her daughter arrived home from that "fair" state so we could interview her and get her personal account of the happenings.

Mrs. Johnson told us her daughter arrived home late Saturday night, June 23, and left the following day for Chicago, Ill., where she had to report for her summer job at a Settlement house there. Mrs. Johnson admitted that she had not had a chance to sit down and talk with Jean because the phone kept ringing so much and all of her friends wanted to talk with her.

Jean, who is a senior, is attending Coe College at Cedar Rapids, Ia., on a $1,000 regional Elks scholarship.

Speaking of Elks scholarships, another young Iowan nearly made it all the way in this year's contest. She was Miss T-Ella Anderson of Waterloo, who was runner-up to the winner from Oklahoma.

The talk Judge and Mrs. Luther T. Glanton, Jr., gave on their trip to Africa, was so interesting and so crammed with information, that naturally we could not get it all in last week.

We were particularly interested when they compared the life of a judge in Africa with that of an American judge. This is what they said.

In Africa a judge is highly respected not so much for his person but for his position. On entering a court room, a spectator or anyone else must first stop and bow to the judge and do the same before turning his back to leave the court room. Special corridors, stairs and elevators are made just for judges, and no one else is allowed to travel these. In case you meet a judge in a corridor, you must stop until he had passed.

All judges live in mansions similar in size to the well known Salisbury house here in Des Moines. They have a staff of five servants, cook, butler, chauffeur, maid and some times body guard, and is given a Mercedes, Benz, all provided by the government.

They also pointed out there were several Iowans who are married to African men, living over there. Judge Glanton, partly jesting, partly serious, said, "I recommend highly that unmarried American women marry Africans, but he cautioned that first they must be willing to adjust and then make the necessary adjustment to their husband's country."

Judge and Mrs. Glanton had been scheduled to leave for Washington, D.C., for their report to the U.S. State Department, last week, but it has been postponed for July 15.

Judge Glanton was a patient at Mercy hospital last week, in for a check-up. If you have been following his speaking agenda it has been almost as strenuous as the African tour, coupled with his court duties.

Two weeks after their report in Washington, D.C., the National Association of Colored Women's club, Inc., is slated to convene in the nation's capital. A bus load of delegates and visitors is scheduled to leave Des Moines. Leaders of the Iowa Association of Colored Women had hoped Mrs. Glanton

WHY ATLANTA IS AN EXCEPTION

The NAACP is holding its annual meeting in Atlanta, Georgia, one of the few towns in the south where liberal forces among the white people and intelligent Negroes have cooperated in bringing to fruition interracial amity.

But in spite of these improvements, the large hotels have not opened their facilities to the Negro delegates.

In years gone by, the NAACP has urged national organizations to refuse to hold their annual meetings in cities where Negroes would not receive equal treatment in places of public accommodation. Just why the association chose to turn against its own admonition to other organizations is not clear. The public should be told.

Negro and liberal white delegates attending conventions have raised this question when cities were bidding for the meeting places of the organization. It has had great weight. Some locations have been moved for such refusal while according equal facilities has been the turning point in securing conventions for a city.

A PROGRAM DES MOINES NEEDS

City Manager Gunther has asked the city council for authority to initiate a trash hauling service. This would augment the garbage collection system already in use.

This is a welcome announcement which is long over due.

Several years ago health officers inspected alleys and when conditions warranted it secured the cooperation of property owners, cleaned up unsightly places and added materially to the overall beauty of the city.

For some reason, this program was abandoned. Many property owners became careless. So, today many alleys are a disgrace to the community as well as a health hazard in that cans and rubbish harbor insects and other disease carrying creatures.

Most people keep the back as well as the front of their yards clean. But the careless few have no pride in their own home and reduce the looks of that of their neighbors.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce has sponsored a clean up campaign in the city for several years but the program has never reached the people who need it.

The Bystander hopes that the city manager gets the program going and that a sufficient force can be had to make it work. The whole city will benefit.

NO PLACE IN UNIONS
FOR TEACHERS

The National Education Association is holding its annual meeting in Denver, Colorado.

Speaking before that body William G. Carr said that large sums of money were spent by labor unions this year in order to organize teachers in New York and "This, however," he said, "is the first time in which forces of significant scope and power are considering measures which could destroy the association."

During the threatened strike of school teachers in New York last spring, a sorry spectacle it was that youngsters, who have no control over school administration, would be denied the orderly pursuit of their education because a few disgruntled teachers pursued a selfish course to gain their ends.

Many unions are a credit to the nation; some a discredit. But to live in fear of strikes by teachers against schools outweighs any union membership.

Undoubtedly, the NEA will reject the intrusion of unions into their organization knowing that to do otherwise will be a blow to education in the public schools.

12 Negroes Enter
Florida State U.

Tallahassee—Twelve Negroes are among 75 Eroward County teachers who were enrolled at Florida State University today for a special eight-week summer institute designated to up-grade science teaching in the county's junior high schools.

They are the first of their race to be admitted to Florida State University, although Negroes have attended the University of Florida, the University of South Florida, and the University of Miami. The Southern School News reported recently that 137 of the South's 234 predominantly white tax-supported colleges now admit Negroes.

Every once and a while a fellow who writes a column such as this is apt to goof. A while back we wrote that the name Kansas City Monarchs was not being used any more. We got our information from one of the Kansas City Dailies and thought it was authoritative. Well you know those guys billed as twenty-five Negro wonder champions are going to play here in Des Moines. Guess they have been playing all along. We will be anxious to see how they compare with the great Monarch teams of the past.

Major League

The major league pennant notes are getting hotter. The Yankees have finally put together a whole ball club and should make it the rest of the way. But Leon Wagner of the Los Angeles Angels isn't going to give them an inch. Would be nice to see a World Series in Minnesota.

Baseball Clinic

About fifteen years ago I had an idea for a baseball clinic for Negro youngsters. We even made a special trip to Chicago to talk to a couple of fellows about it and tried to set it up. But the guys, wise in the things that go to make up such a project, discouraged us. Now kids of any race have a chance in Little League Baseball that we wanted for Negro kids. Of course at that time there didn't seem to be too much of a chance for us in organized baseball. But just a year or two changed all of that.

Boxing

The Floyd Patterson-Sonny Liston bout is really on. The official signing of the contract was the last major act in the show. But now we wonder if the people who pull the string didn't spend too much time fooling around and the public may not flock to the thing as they are supposed to. Of course writers will try hard to whip up a lot of interest and may do so. But we think that they have a tough job ahead.

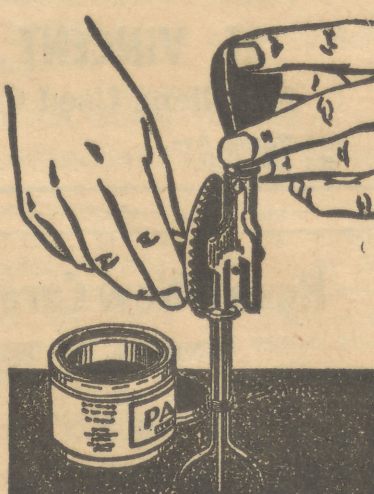

Those who like Liston say that Patterson is easy to knock down. So was Joe Louis in his prime. But just about everybody who knocked Louis down wished they hadn't. We are having our thoughts on Patterson's tremendous speed and the fact that Liston hasn't been stung so no one knows what he will do under real pressure.

Gridder Jim Brown's Wife Sues Him For Divorce And Alimony

Cleveland—The wife of Jim Brown, Cleveland Browns and National Football League star, sued for divorce in Common Pleas court here last week charging gross neglect and extreme cruelty, after having tied up her husband's assets in an earlier court action.

Here's Way to Mix Paint
AN EASY way to mix paint or enamel in small cans is to use an old egg beater. Simply cut down the revolving vane so that the center rod remains a little longer. In this way, the vane will be kept off the bottom of the can. Wind a piece of wire around the vane stems to hold them. This device will mix the contents more thoroughly than a paddle or stick. (Illustration courtesy Popular Mechanics.)

For four years NAT KING COLE has been one of the key figures and captain of his own team in the annual All-Star Celebrity Baseball Game in Los Angeles. Here Nat is pictured with two of the guest ballplayers, a threat to any umpire, ARCHIE MOORE (l) and JOE LOUIS (r). This year Nat Cole's team boasted such other sterling ballplayers as Mickey Rooney, Michael Dante, Rafer Johnson, Chuck Connors, John Berardino, Dean Martin, Max Baer, Jr., Bob Newhart, Soupy Sales, John Bromfield, Pat Boone, Jack Warden, Peter Brown and Silver Silvers.

Cole is contemplating a plan now to take a similar team on tour next year to key cities for special charities.

Meanwhile, he is currently preparing to appear in his first tent show, "Sights and Sounds," which starts on a seven-week national tour from Colorado Springs on July 16. Other dates for the tour include: Seattle World's Fair, July 24-29; Salt Lake Lagoon, Aug. 2-4; Greek Theatre, Aug. 6-Aug. 14; Randall's Island, New York, Aug. 18; Buffalo, Aug. 20-26; Wallingford, Conn., Aug. 27-Sept. 2; Warwick, Rhode Island, Sept. 3-9; Framingham, Mass., Sept. 10-16.

MUFFIN-SIZE PIZZAS A POPULAR SNACK

This quick version of the popular Italian pizza calls for a halved English muffin as the base and a broiled topping of cheese, tomatoes and zesty seasonings. With tall glasses of beer, they're ideal afternoon or evening refreshments.

Guests will find these miniature pizzas an intriguing and welcome change from the usual cheese and cracker tray—and hostesses will find them easy to make. When company is expected, they can be prepared in advance and tucked into the refrigerator until time to broil.

Snack-Time Pizzas
(Makes 8)

- 4 English muffins
- Butter or olive oil
- 2 fresh tomatoes, chopped
- 1/4 green pepper, chopped
- 1/2 medium onion, chopped

Cheddar cheese, cut in pieces
Anchovy fillets (optional)
Mushroom slices (optional)
Cayenne pepper

Tear muffins into halves with two forks. Brush lightly with butter or olive oil; toast until lightly browned. Mix together tomatoes, green pepper and onion; spread on muffins. Top with cheese and anchovies or mushroom slices. Sprinkle lightly with cayenne pepper. Place under broiler until cheese is melted. Serve piping hot with plenty of beer and paper napkins.

Also involved in the action are the couple's three children.

In the earlier action, Mrs. Sue Brown, 25, tied up her husband's savings accounts in three banks, their six-room home and even Jim's 1962 automobile.

Brown, 25, is employed by the Pepsi-Cola company during the off season.

Recently he signed for what was reported to be a record NFL salary of approximately $42,000 with the Browns.

VACATION

Of all the joys that come in life,
And blunt the edge of constant strife,
That fill the soul with deep content,
With no thought of the dollars spent—

Vacation!

For months our longing heart expands
Regardless of our work's demands;

We think in terms of brook and rill,
Of distant sea or lonesome hill—

Vacation.

Our vision paints us gay delights,
Of scaling dizzy mountain heights,
Of rod and reel, of trap and gun,
Of bracing winds and tanning sun—

Vacation.

The auto's whizz, the paddle's switch,

The relish of a camp-fire dish—
And music 'neath the pale moonlight—

Conjure a dream of rare delight—

Vacation!

For once a year the red gods call;
We hate the city's deadly pall.
The great outdoors before us lies—
The primal man within us cries—

Vacation!
