Pearl Bailey Will Headline Two-Day GOP 'Go-Party'

You have seen her in movies and on TV; you have listened to her on recordings; now you can see her on the KRNT Theater stage, in Des Moines. She is none other than the well-known singer-comedienne, Pearl Bailey, whose inimitable style has delighted nightclub and stage patrons from coast to coast.

Go-Party

The event is the "Go-Party" sponsored by the Republican party at KRNT on Thursday and Friday, Oct. 11-12 beginning at 8:30 p.m.

Other top stars to appear on the show will include Andrews Sisters, famed trio; Edgar Bergen, the nation's number one ventriloquist; Jackie Mason, exceptional new night club comedian who's featured many times on the Jack Paar show, and Manny Harmon, whose Hollywood orchestra has been featured at many of the GOP national conventions.

Tickets for both nights' performance of the Pearl Bailey show are $10 and $25. Reserved tickets are currently on sale at KRNT theater for $25 and $10. Party officials promise an entire evening of entertainment with no speeches.

Heading this brilliant cast will be George Murphy, genial actor, singer and dancer whose deep interest in politics led to development of the Go-Party idea for "putting some fun in fund raising."

Pearl Bailey is unique in her singing style which has made her one of the biggest names in show business. In addition to her work in night clubs, on the stage and in films, Miss Bailey has chalked up an enviable sales report for her many recordings. She has had guest spots on some of the leading TV shows, the Milton Berle show, Ed Wynn, Ed Sullivan, What's My Line, and others.

Currently, Miss Bailey is appearing in several major cities as a starring attraction of the George Murphy productions of the "Go-Parties," big-time entertainment events now touring the 50 states.

Leader Sees Oxford, Miss., 'Worse' Than Little Rock

Oxford, Miss.—In comparison to last week's pitched battle and rioting that resulted in two dead and hundreds injured, the campus of the University of Mississippi and this small town where the institution is located, was calm.

Over the weekend the university's annual home coming football game, with the University of Houston and aggregate festivities, was moved to the state capital at Jackson, on orders by the U. S. government, in an effort to forestall any additional violence, from the influx of some 50,000 football fans on the campus.

Leaves Over Weekend

James T. Meredith, who after enrolling last week and going to classes under guard by U. S. marshals, surrounded by U. S. troops, went home for the weekend, but returned to the campus Monday.

He went to dinner at the University cafeteria Monday evening and a brick was thrown through the window, shattering glass, but doing no other damage. Meanwhile, 32-year-old air force veteran who broke the 111 year-segregation at 'Ole Miss', went to classes alone with several marshals some distance behind him.

Criticisms

Tuesday, Meredith sharply criticized the Army for its handling of Negro troops during the incident at Oxford.

He said the "army had inflicted a dishonor and a disgrace" on Negro soldiers brought into the town. Army officials in Washington, D. C., admitted that Negro troops were not used on patrols to avoid "unnecessary incidents" during tense times when the troops first arrived on the riot-torn campus.

Segregated

Meredith said that during his first two days on campus "the military units looked like American units", but later they were segregated. He said he complained to "the proper authorities" and later was told the situation would be corrected.

He said his conscience would not allow him to go on without "at least letting the Negro soldiers know that I did not like them being dishonored."

Negro Runs for Georgia Senate

Atlanta, Ga.—Dr. Roy Charles Bell, Atlanta Negro dentist, announced Sunday as a candidate for the re-apportioned Georgia Senate from Fulton County.

NEWS In A Nutshell

Philadelphia, Pa.—The family of Pratha Hall, 22, complained to police last week of telephone calls from a crank. Miss Hall was injured Sept. 5 by shots fired into a Negro home in Dawson, Ga., while she and other Negroes were registering voters.

Syracuse, N. Y. — Atty. Edward Dudley, 53, Manhattan borough president, last week became the first Negro in New York state's history slated to run for a statewide office when he was nominated by the Democrat party to oppose Republic Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz in the November election.

Chapel Hill, N.C. — Contrary to general belief that older Southerners are the most prejudiced, the most confirmed segregationists are in the 18 to 29 year old bracket according to a study made public last week.

Boston, Mass.—The Venerable John M. Burroughs, Archdeacon of Boston, was chosen Saturday by the Episcopal church as the first Negro in history to be named Suffragan Bishop for general duty in Massachusetts.

Memphis, Tenn.—Lewis O. Swingle, 56, former editor of the Sphinx magazine, journal of the Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity, died last week of a heart attack while teaching in a Memphis classroom.

Chicago, Ill.—Atty. Edith S. Sampson, former United Nations alternate delegate and currently assistant city corporation counsel, last week was named one of four persons of varied racial and religious backgrounds to run on the Democratic ticket for Municipal court judgeships in the Nov. 6 election.

Kansas City, Kas.—"Negroes would support a Democrat running for political office even if he was a real jackass." These were the words of Grant Reynolds, counsel to Representative William E. Miller, chairman of the Republican National Committee, as he addressed a political rally here last week.

Newark, N. J. — From a racial standpoint being white has a tremendous advantage in America, but a Newark woman declared firmly last week that she doesn't want to be white, in filing a suit against a local dermatologist for prescribing a drug which is changing the color of her skin.

Richmond, Va. — As police last week reported no clues to the theft of $12,500 in registration fees taken from the safe of the cashier on the campus of Virginia Union university on Sept. 10, there was indication that the robbery might have been what usually is termed an "inside job."

Washington, D.C.—John S. Stewart, a Negro banking official from Durham, N.C., was one of two new members appointed to the National Public Advisory committee of the Area Redevelopment Administration.

Bell, 36, was believed to be the first Negro to announce for a state legislative office since the reconstruction era.

Bell is special projects director of the South Christian Leadership Conference headed by Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

More Families Will Have Opportunity to Move with Smaller Monthly Payments

Cleveland Park, an urban renewal project, but not a federal aid program, Tuesday was declared eligible for federal mortgage assistance. The announcement came from Representative Neal Smith (Dem., Ia.) in Washington, D. C.

Urban renewal officials in Des Moines said the federal approval makes homes built in the area eligible for long-term, low down payment loans from the Federal National Mortgage Association (FNMA).

Cleveland park was formerly known as Leetown courts until Edward C. Harris, president of Interstate Builders requested the city council to change the name because of a certain "stigma" attached to "Leetown." It is located in northeast Des Moines, about 30 acres, roughly bound by Washington and Cleveland avenues and E. 16th and E. 17th streets.

Cleveland Park is being developed entirely by the city and private builders to provide housing for up to 200 low-income families, especially those displaced by urban renewal and other public projects.

Under the FNMA program as approved for Des Moines, buyers of homes in Cleveland Park will be eligible to obtain mortgages up to $13,000 for as long as 40 years with a small down payment. The interest rate will be 5 1/2 per cent, the same as on FHA mortgages.

Private Loans

The buyers must obtain the long-term mortgages from a private lender, who in turn sells the mortgages to FNMA.

When contacted by phone Wednesday morning, Edward C. Harris, vice president of Interstate Builders, Inc., said this "offers many families to purchase who would not have the opportunity under previous condition."

He noted that now a family with a rough income of $300 a month could afford to buy homes in Cleveland Park. "The down payment might be the same as with a conventional loan, but the monthly payments will be reduced, perhaps by $20 a month. This type of loan would also be more attractive to lenders," he said.

Harris said, "Interstate Builders, whose bid for 35 blocks was accepted by the city council recently in Cleveland Park, would like to get along with the erection and enclosure of buildings before the winter sets in."

He said plans are to erect 33 to 35 houses with a swimming pool and clubhouse.

NAACP to Re-argue Two Cases in Supreme Court

Washington—Two cases of extreme significance to NAACP activity will be reargued in the U.S. Supreme Court this week by Robert L. Carter, the Association's general counsel.

The first case, to be heard on Oct. 9, concerns a Virginia statute which would bar the NAACP from sponsoring law suits designed to secure constitutional rights for Negro citizens. The Association has asked the Court to strike down the statute as an unconstitutional abridgment of the "due process" and "equal protection of the laws" clauses of the Fourteenth Amendment.

Passed in 1956

The Virginia law was passed in 1956 as part of that state's "massive resistance" program and would bar the NAACP and its local and state units from underwriting the costs and providing counsel in litigation instituted to test the validity of state-imposed racial discrimination. According to the law, such activity constitutes "unlawful fomenting and solicitation of legal business" and makes lawyers participating in such cases guilty of malpractice and unprofessional conduct.

Second Case

The second case, to be re-argued by General Counsel Carter later in the week, asks the Court to reverse a Florida contempt conviction of Rev. Theodore R. Gibson, president of the Miami NAACP branch and rector of Christ Episcopal Church there.

Father Gibson was convicted in 1960 by a Florida state court for refusing to produce NAACP membership lists or to identify as members of the Association names of persons read to him by a Florida legislative investigating committee. The Florida Supreme Court upheld the conviction which imposed a sentence of six months' imprisonment and a fine of $1,200.

Violation

In its argument before the Supreme Court the Association has contended that it is a violation of the constitutionally guaranteed right of freedom of association to compel Father Gibson to bring these records to committee hearings and answer questions concerning membership in the NAACP of persons alleged to be Communists.

The implications of the case are of extreme importance, as answering such question would result in the discrediting of the legitimacy of the organization and the loyalty of its

Group Formed for City Improvements

A new organization of Des Moines citizens is in the process of being formed. The plans call for a representative group to evaluate the needs of the city and plan for the best possible way to meet these needs. The committee will be an independent group representing the many varying needs and interests of the city of Des Moines. The chairman of the new committee is Charles E. Harvey, 34, of 1215 Porter Avenue. Mr. Harvey is a labor representative on the United Community Services staff.

Not Committee

The League of Women Voters of Des Moines cannot be a part of this committee which will be supporting issues which the League has not studied and on which the League has no position. However, a representative of the group said, "we can support the idea of the citizens' organization. We urge all citizens of Des Moines to be interested, informed and helpful in building this organization which has as its goal the betterment of the future of Des Moines."

either Father Gibson or the Association is connected in any way with subversion.

State Department In New Search For Negro Diplomats, Ebony Reveals

The State Department has launched an unprecedented search for Negro diplomats, reveals the October issue of Ebony.

Recruiting teams are scouring the country, urging talented Negroes to apply for foreign service posts in a new policy for the State Department, the national Negro monthly magazine discloses.

New Drive

It's a new drive "reflecting the need for dark skins in diplomacy and the Kennedy administration's across-the-board push for Negro personnel," Ebony says.

"A rapidly shrinking world and a growing dependence on the good will of the world's vast colored population have together persuaded the U.S. State Department that Negro Americans will make effective diplomats," Ebony points out.

18 Negroes

Currently there are only 18 Negroes among the State Department's 3,719 career foreign service officers; only eight Negroes among the 1,341 specialists with appointments as foreign service reserve officers and only 40 Negroes on the 2,200-member foreign service stenographic, clerical and technical staff. The U.S. has two Negro ambassadors—Clifford quoted in Ebony, says, "If Negro young people do not believe there is fair and equal opportunity for them in the foreign service, then you cannot expect them to apply. We must take responsibility for demonstrating that opportunity does exist."

Wharton in Norway and Mercer Cook in Niger.

Equal Opportunity

Secretary of State Dean Rusk,

Ebony says the State Department plans to intensify recruitment of Negroes at college level to take examinations for career diplomatic posts. Besides searching for diplomats, the foreign service is seeking Negro secretaries, Ebony notes.

NAACP Files San Francisco
School Desegregation Suit

San Francisco—After almost a year of intense community effort and fruitless negotiations with the Board of Education, the NAACP filed suit on Oct. 2 challenging existing segregation throughout the San Francisco school system.

The suit, filed in the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of California, Southern Division, is the first comprehensive legal attack on public school segregation on the West Coast and is part of the Association's over-all drive to end segregation in public schools in the North and West.

159 Plaintiffs

Plaintiffs were 159 Negro and white children. This is the second bi-racial school suit filed by the NAACP.

The court has been asked for a preliminary and permanent injunction restraining the Board of Education and the Superintendent of Schools from operating and providing racially segregated schools and for an order requiring them to submit a desegregation plan. The NAACP has also asked that an abandoned school building, slated to be reopened as a predominantly Negro junior high school, be rezoned and opened on a non-segregated basis by February, 1963.

Urged in 1961

NAACP action concerning San Francisco's school system was initiated in January, 1961 when the Board of Education was urged to recognize and eliminate existing segregation. After several months of study, the Superintendent of Schools announced in June that he had no educationally sound program to recommend to eliminate segregated schools. The entire matter was postponed by the board until September, when it was decided that further study should be made and a report submitted by April, 1963. NAACP attorneys for the plaintiffs are Terry A. Francois and Gar-

SEES OXFORD

Rome, Italy—Mississippi was characterized as "our worse state" by NAACP Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins vacationing here with Mrs. Wilkins.

Questioned at a news conference arranged for Italian correspondents by the United States Embassy here, Oct. 3, Mr. Wilkins said: "Our task is as much to bring Mississippi whites into the 20th Century as it is to secure justice for the Negro."

The NAACP leader compared the Mississippi crisis with that at Little Rock in 1957. In Arkansas, he pointed out, "there was a sizeable opinion for integration; there was a respected newspaper that was for integration; Gov. Faubus was not the same as Gov. Barnett; there was no shooting and many of those involved in Little Rock were imported from outside."

"But in Oxford there was nothing to mitigate the racist fury of the mob. The riot in Mississippi was worse than anything that happened in Little Rock."

The reaction to integration at Ole Miss was "savagery," he said.

By Frances Mulhorne.

Beautiful fall days accompanied by wonderful warm weather came back to Iowa this week after a week of dreary rains and gloom. Football fans who braved the fog and rain to go to Iowa's big college football games had nothing to shout about unless it was the fact they didn't come down with pneumonia. And above all things it is that time again, leave raking . . . We don't want to scare anyone so we'll say this in sort of a cloak and dagger fashion, "Don't look now, but ole man winter is just a few weeks away; remember when he dumped four inches of the white snow on Des Moines the second day of November a few years ago?"

Mrs. Doris White, 1221 12th street, one of our United Campaign block solicitors, had quite a time last week, when the drive opened. There was so much general sadness in the family she had no opportunity to open the kit and go through it. However, instead of turning her kit in as some probably would have done, she held it, called us and assured us she would campaign her territory this week.

Early last week Mrs. White's father, Andrew Williams, 102 8th street in West Des Moines, underwent surgery at Veterans hospital but has been released and is now convalescing at home.

Then her uncle, Sam Bolden, died in Dallas, Tex., and her sister, Miss Helen Bolden, 2326 Center street went to the services. In addition Mrs. White's sister-in-law, Miss Darlene Carr, was buried last week.

We heard recently that Mrs. Leon S. Jones, Sr., formerly of 1929 Buffalo road, who is spending a year in Los Angeles, Calif., had landed a teaching job there. We called her daughter Mrs. Robert (Charlotte) Parks, 940 16th street, to check. She assured us her mother began teaching at a public school, located in a fashionable area which takes only 15 minutes ride by car. Mrs. Jones was among 26 applicants for the position and was told she was the best qualified, and so she was hired.

We chatted with Mrs. Henry Wilcots, 1170 17th street, earlier this week, and learned she is recovering slowly but surely from a fall in which she sprained her ankle, shortly after she arrived home from Seattle, Wash., late in August. She had gone there because of the illness of her daughter, Mrs. Glenn (Imogene) Henry. When she returned she fell at home and has since gone from "Crutches to cane."

She reports that except for family, and close friends, few people knew of her injury. Many were surprised when she went to services Sunday morning at St. Paul A.M.E. Church.

Under questioning she also reported on one of her sons and his family, Henry Wilcots, who with his wife and son, have been living in Pakistan since June, where he is an architect with a private firm.

The Henry Wilcots, Jr., like Pakistan but do complain about the terrific heat and the dirt.

Even though they are not government officials, they are still considered so by visiting dignitaries, and are invited almost every weekend to some affairs hosted by ambassadors, or whoever.

Mr. Wilcots, Jr., reports his work very interesting, in that he has to work in every phase of architecture, even sometimes teaching from the excavation.

Beauticians in Iowa are busy as the proverbial bee, making preparations for the 23rd annual Beauticians Educational clinic and benefit style show. Mrs. Pauline Humphrey, president of one of the sponsoring clubs, Cosmetiste Club No. 1, went to Waterloo, Ia., to meet with the co-sponsors and beauticians there. The biggest ever clinic is being planned for Nov. 4-5. So watch for it.

We have been greatly assisted by Mrs. Evelyn Davis, a nurse aid for 12 years at Mercy hospital, for the names of patients hospitalized at Mercy hospital, that appear in "In the Hospital" column. If there is some one else who also is a nurse at a hospital, we would appreciate hearing from them on Monday evenings or Tuesday mornings for such a list.

Often friends and acquaintances do not know of someone hospitalized, and they would like to send a card of "get well" wishes or perhaps pay a visit, if it is allowed. A call to the hospital in advance will tell you whether visitors are allowed for any patient.

We were surprised to get a card from Miss Charlene Wharton, immediate past director of Willkie House, with a postmark of New York City. She wrote she would see us soon.

EACH CITIZEN SHOULD CARRY HIS RESPONSIBILITY

Over the years, the Bystander has fought for equality of opportunity of all citizens to share in the things America has to offer: national, state and local. It has taken this position because once opportunity presents itself, the recipient assumes certain responsibilities that go along with them.

Recently, a Negro worker secured employment in an institution where in years gone by, Negroes were excluded from such positions. It so happened that union membership was offered, and of course the employee joined. But union membership required payment of dues and attendance of meetings. And while nobody is hidebound to comply with every demand of a union, carrying a fair share of expense of maintaining a union and supporting broad principles of purely union affairs is the duty of each member.

Subsequently, this party dropped out of the union; later that party's job was in jeopardy. Yet, the first thing this party asked was for the union to help keep him from being fired. An appeal was made to the NAACP and it was found that the party was not a member.

It is only fair to help a fellow who is in trouble and go as far as the merits of a situation and the responsibility of the individual will permit. But it is rather disgusting that some people are unwilling to carry their share of the load but are the first to appeal for help when they are in trouble.

Unions and the NAACP seldom hesitate to help a fellow member or citizen when in need. But when such people never put any energy into the machine, its pretty sorry to except some. Individuals provide against illness before it comes, and must so conduct themselves when organized support is needed for defense. Then they have done their part toward the organizations which can help them.

DIVIDING NEGRO STRENGTH IN MISSISSIPPI

Up to Sunday, James Meredith has conducted himself admirably in this long struggle to enter and secure his entrance into the University of Mississippi. He has kept his counsel leaving it to the people who know how to carry on.

But during the past few days, he seems to have had some bad advice; he is talking too much about the people who have helped him. First, he charges that the army had discriminated against the Negro troops who were included in the units sent to Mississippi to keep order. Maybe they did. But it is not Meredith's job to straighten this out.

Further, he stated that the NAACP had picked him as the ideal person to try for admission to the University of Mississippi. And as a matter of open and above board action—as has been the case with the NAACP over the years in all of its operations—the organization admitted this to be true.

Many people seem to think this is terrible. But bringing this up is simply a smoke screen to help hide and confuse the real issue.

Over the years, the Bystander has had occasion to secure many jobs for Negroes in Des Moines. Some have been with many of our large corporations. Invariably, they have asked that the right person in character, training, temperament and general appearance be recommended because they wanted the new step to work fearing that if the wrong person was here, not only would he fail but also it would make it more difficult to hire the next one. With this the Bystander fully agreed and the program has worked.

Astronauts are picked carefully for these aero space tries. It is good sense. It saves time and money training one who could never make the grade. But because the NAACP, (and it has carried the load in this legal struggle) tries the accepted method of making their program work, a lot of people (General Walker's followers) just can't take it.

The Bystander hopes that Meredith will carry his end of this struggle and let people who know how to be the general as has been the case up to now.

Special Notice!

Orders of these who plan to participate in the special Anniversary edition should be in the Bystander office on or before October 25.

Dreary Day as Hawks
Cyclones Spin Dreary
Tales on Gridirons

It was a dreary day and two of Iowa's top gridiron teams spun an even more dreary tale as they lost to their respective opponents. In rain and fog the Iowa Hawkeyes lost to Southern California, 7-0, and to add to the overall mental misery of fans, Quarterback Matt Synzkowny was injured. It is doubtful if he will play against Saturday's opponent, Indiana.

The Cyclones lost unexpectedly to Nebraska, 36-22. The only bright light in the state football picture was Drake's win over South Dakota, 15-14.

Giants and Yankees
Hold Two Games Each;
Will Clash in 5th Wed.

New York, N. Y.—The San Francisco Giants and the New York Yankees, battling in one of the biggest World Series, moneywise, were slated to go into their fifth game Wednesday after a one-day delay due to rain which hit the Metropolitan area. It was the first such delay since 1956.

It has been a see-saw affair, with pitching, hitting and fielding, outstanding in spots. The Yankees won the first in the National League park, the Giants evened the score in the second, the Yankees came back a winner in the third game, and the Giants took again in the fourth.

Former Globetrotter
Is Pro-Cage Coach

Chicago—Ermer Robinson, one of the immortals of the Harlem Globetrotters famous basketball team, has been named the coach of the newly organized Oakland, Cal., team of the American Basketball league.

Bob Freitas, business manager of the Oakland quintet, announced this week that Robinson has been selected over a long list of candidates from across the country.

First in A.B.L.

This is the second high executive position the 38-year-old Robinson has held in the A.B.L. Last season, he became the first Negro to be named business manager of a major league sports organization.

He served in that capacity with the Chicago Majors. He is the second of his race to coach a big league cage team. The first was John McLendon, who coached the A.B.L.'s Cleveland Pipers during the 1961-62 season. He has since resigned.

Paret's Widow Gives
Birth To Six Pound
Son In New York

New York—Mrs. Lucy Paret, widow of the late Benny "Kid" Paret, who died from injuries suffered in a welterweight title bout with Emile Griffith last April 3, last week gave birth to a six pound, eight ounce son at a New York hospital.

The baby was named Alberto.

stander for forty years. That's a long time and I often wonder how I have been able to continue so long.

In that time I've been interested in raising the level of the Negro in Iowa. Certainly, forty years ago it was not at a high level.

But during that time, I have been in the midst of the many changes which have come to pass much because the Bystander has stood solidly for those changes. For instances forty years ago only one Negro woman was employed in an office either public or private. In fact, for years practically every Negro girl started her career at the Bystander office. No longer is this necessary.

It just occurred to me, and I have decided to publish my 40th years anniversary edition on November 8 which will include sponsors in a two page ad. Clubs, lodges and churches will not be solicited to participate as most of them do a pretty good job in other areas. However they will not be excluded. On the other hand individuals will be asked to participate.

Many an individual has remarked what a fine job the Bystander has done. Here is an opportunity to repeat that by participating in this my 40th anniversary—call the office AT-8-1904 for details.

HEALTH FOR ALL

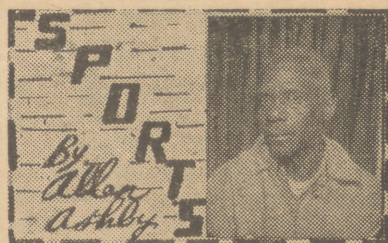

Stern Measures

Fifteen men were arrested recently in New York City. Their crime? They had tuberculosis in its active, infectious stage and had refused treatment. The men were placed in a penitentiary hospital.

They were arrested under a seldom-used section of the city health code, which empowers the health department to take action against those in the community who are considered a menace to the health of others. The men arrested will be discharged from the penitentiary hospital when they are no longer infectious.

Stern Measures

These are stern measures, indeed, but in the circumstances justified. Tuberculosis is a serious, highly infectious disease. A TB patient who is coughing up large numbers of TB germs may be as infectious for tuberculosis as a child is for measles, a highly contagious disease. Maybe

We were surprised at the sudden death of Register Sportswriter Tony Cordaro. Tony and yours truly came along at about the same time. Butted heads in football and basketball. As we went our separate ways, Tony used to read this column, and argue with the writer on anything he didn't agree with. We could have some heated arguments, but we can't recall either of us losing our temper, and we always parted with a friendly farewell.

In fact we think it was because we knew Tony was scrutinizing our column for mistakes in authenticity that we were very careful not to make any if we could help it. It was much easier to say we didn't know than to have Mr. Cordaro face us with facts that we couldn't dispute. In recent years the guy became busier and our association was just about confined to the two days we would spend at the Iowa State tennis meet, but we always managed to get together for a few minutes. We will miss Tony.

Football

We watched the Iowa game films last Sunday and thought we were watching a replay of some games of last year. Fumbles, dropped passes, and bad passes from center were what kept the Hawks in a bad way then. Now, they are starting the same pattern. So far in two games the boys haven't come up with that break-away gain that busts ball games wide open. Is it the system or don't the guys get the right blocks at the right time? Maybe, they will come out of it before it is too late.

What about Iowa State? The Cyclones score 50 points in two games and don't win either. When they score 60 points maybe they'll win. Drake had a close squeeze. Could be that the Bulldogs took this one too lightly, looking ahead to next week's game. There seems to be a whole host of fast 200 pound backs all around the country. The pro teams must be licking their chops and just waiting for the draft.

High School

The surprise team of the year seems to be Lincoln. We were pulling for East and then Dowling because we have some personal friends on the latter. East was due to beat somebody. Maybe they have developed into a ball club. North is just about where they started. Can't get their speed underway at the right time. Tech was supposed to be the city's best but the Engineers are playing spotty ball and are having their troubles. They have a lot of big fast boys, too.

World Series

When you read this the World Series will probably have been won by either the Giants or the Yankees. For the first four games at least we would have to say the Giants played as if they were the Yankees. Hope the results pleased you.

Willkie House

will be projected not only to broaden Willkie House membership but also to acquaint the city and all neighbors of the activities and goals of Willkie House.

even more so.

Experiment

By way of experiment, air from a tuberculosis ward was channeled to a guinea pig exposure chamber. As contrast, another chamber of guinea pigs was set up, just like the first one, except that the air the animals breathed was irradiated with germ-killing ultra-violet light before it reached them. A large number of the guinea pigs in the first chamber became infected with TB germs.

Pinpoint

Not only was it shown that the tuberculosis germs were borne on the air to the test chamber, but the investigators were able to pinpoint the patient who infected specific guinea pigs. One patient alone was responsible for infecting 15 guinea pigs in only three days of exposure.

NEW MOTORIST'S PRAYER

Now I sit me down to drive.
I pray the Lord I'm still alive
When the day is done and thankfully
I switch off the ignition key.
Grant me the sense to understand
That life and death lie in my hand!
Teach me to keep the driver's code
And stay on my half of the road!
At my elbow be my guide
And counsel me, each time I ride!

O Master, Who is everywhere,
Please listen to a motorist's prayer!
—Nick Kenny, in N.Y. Daily Mirror.

Fashion Plate Honor

New York, N. Y.—Nat King Cole has been selected by Gentlemen's Quarterly as its Fashion personality for the October issue.

"The King likes clothes," says the men's fashion magazine, "and he dresses with the kind of distinctive style but controlled good taste that also characterize his music making."

COLE

Published in conjunction with Cole's annual October appearance at Las Vegas, the Gentlemen's Quarterly feature pictures the singer-pianist in a double-breasted sweater-blazer imported from Italy, a grey pinstripe worsted-finished flannel suit and a double-breasted mohair dinner jacket.

DAISY BATES' LITTLE ROCK
STORY TO BE PUBLISHED

New York—The historic struggle for school integration in Little Rock, Ark., and the personal struggle of Little Rock's heroine, Mrs. Daisy Baes, is movingly portrayed in her new book, "The Long Shadow of Little Rock." The book is scheduled for publication Oct. 29 by David McKay Co.

Mrs. Bates, long an active leader in the fight for civil rights and a national Board member of the NAACP, gives a dramatic and intimate account of southern fury pitted against the steadfast, unflinching determination of the "Little Rock Nine" to attain an unsegregated education.
