Integrationists Delighted at New Form of Government Voted for in Birmingham

Birmingham, Ala. — Integration leaders were delighted at the recent vote which will mean a new form of city government here.

The vote was 18,968 to 16,415 to substitute a mayor-council system for the present three-man commission. One of the commissioners is Eugene "Bull" Connor, who is in charge of police and is known for his harsh treatment of Negroes and their white friends.

Negro Vote

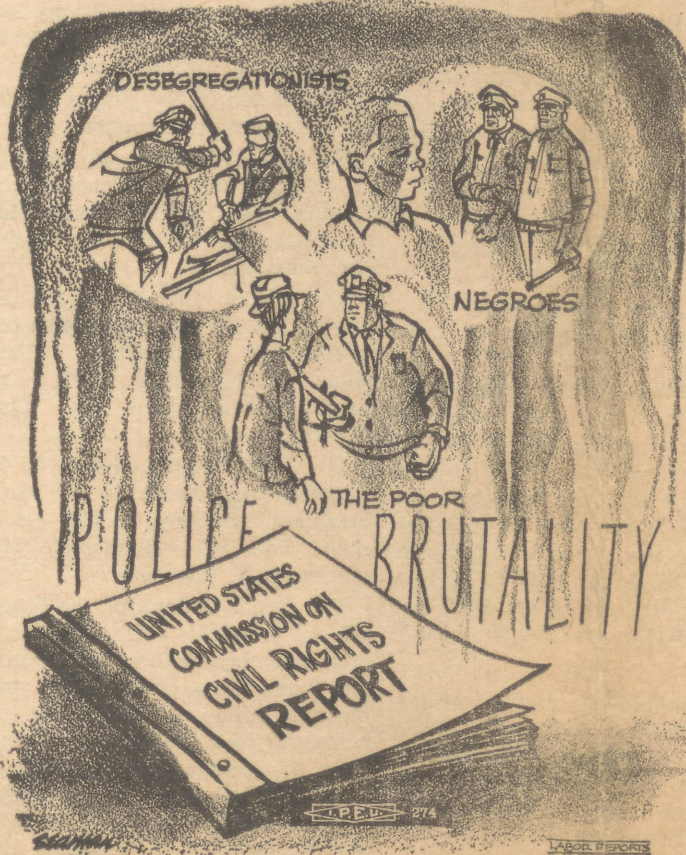

"The Negro vote was most critical and crucial," said the Rev. Fred L. Shuttlesworth, president of the Alabama Christian Movement for Human Rights, which has sparked the integration drive here for several years.

"I think the vote represents the beginning of a major change in Birmingham. At least some white people have expressed themselves openly for progress, and this is far different than it has been.

Mass Meeting

Two days after the election, Negroes held a mass meeting at which they voted to renew a buying withdrawal affecting the downtown area. This has been one of the means of protest against segregation and discrimination here.

MR. BURRELL

Church with Rev. E. P. Williams officiating. Burial was in Glendale cemetery.

Dies at 103 Years

Born in Lexington, Ky., in a log cabin, Mr. Burrell had lived in Des Moines 62 years and liked to tell about riding the early-day trolleys pulled by mules. He recalled on his 100th birthday, Dec. 25, 1959, how he heard talk about the Civil War and Lincoln's assassination as a boy. He remembered soldiers returning home from the Civil War.

His first job was on a farm in Missouri for $50 a year and board and clothes. He worked as a railroad porter and as an entertainer and once was a janitor at the statehouse here. Mr. Burrell worked as a janitor for Iowa-Des Moines National Bank from 1932 until 1958 when he retired, at the age of 99 years. He was a member of St. Paul A.M.E. Church.

Mr. Burrell married his second wife, Ora L., 23 years ago. Other survivors include his son, Harold of Chicago, Ill., and a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Williams of Des Moines.

Estes and Son Funeral Home were in charge of arrangements.

Sees More Employment, Housing; Public Schools Open in Every State

Chicago, Ill.—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, who rarely discussed civil rights while in the White House, breaks the sound barrier in an exclusive interview in the December issue of Ebony.

He is for civil rights and predicts the end of segregation in 10 years—but he thinks the civil rights question is "an overrated issue in the quest for Negro votes."

Puzzled

Ike reveals that he was "shocked" and "puzzled" over his failure to win Negro votes in the 1956 election, despite his administration's civil rights accomplishments. That was when he decided the civil rights issue was "overrated."

"Ike believes the real issue lies in the economic area, including in the big cities such items as the dispensing of relief," the Ebony article explains. "He feels the Democrats subtly have used local economic issues as a whip against the Republicans, a technique he despises and opposes the GOP trying to duplicate."

Spoke Freely

The former Chief Executive sat down in his Gettysburg office with Simeon Booker, Ebony's Washington editor, and "spoke freely about civil rights—a subject he seldom elaborated on from the White House vantage point."

Predicting that segregation will disappear in the U.S. in 10 years, Mr. Eisenhower foresees more jobs and more housing for Negroes, public schools open to all in every state and more Negroes elected to high public offices in cities and states and picked for key national government jobs.

The former President draws a distinction between "integration" and "desegregation."

Differences

"He describes integration as the mixing of Negroes and whites in private clubs and social organizations, while he refers to the enrollment of Negroes in schools or their use of public facilities as desegregation. The matter of who comes into your home, your club or your social group is a personal privilege, Ike believes, and no legislation can interfere under our American system. He is for desegregation, against enactment of law to enforce integration."

The Ebony article calls Eisenhower "perhaps the most misunderstood (by Negroes) Chief Executive in history."

Never Won Backing

The former President "feels he put into action his civil rights promises but never won the backing of Negroes," the Negro monthly magazine points out.

NAACP Firm in Drive to End Union Bias Despite Attacks by George Meany

New York—Following attacks by George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People this week reaffirmed its intention to press its campaign to eliminate racial bias in the labor movement.

A resolution adopted by the NAACP Board of Directors at its regular monthly meeting here, Nov. 12, reiterated the Association's policy of seeking "to prevent racial discrimination by any public body or organization including labor unions."

Renewed Attack

In response to a renewed attack by Meany on the very day the Board resolution was passed, NAACP Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins pointedly asserted that "a Negro worker needs the patience of Job, the hide of an elephant plus a crowbar to get into Mr. Meany's own union—the plumbers."

No Relaxation

Wilkins added that "The NAACP has no intention of relaxing its campaign until the artificial barriers to payroll parity are achieved."

"Our staff members," he said in reference to Labor Secretary Herbert H. Hill and General Counsel Robert L. Carter, "are following the directives of our national convention and have the full support of our membership."

Does Not Exist

These remarks were in response to the suggestion by AFL-CIO President George Meany that Mr. Hill be dropped from the NAACP's staff for his tenacious drive of pointing out trade union bias.

In answer to Mr. Meany's assertion that the AFL-CIO will no longer give financial aid to the Association, Mr. Wilkins said they are "withdrawing something that does not exist." He said the AFL-CIO is not a contributor to the NAACP.

"NAACP funds come primarily—not entirely—from our members, not from contributing organizations, welcome as that support would be."

All Out Drive

The AFL-CIO has protested the Association's all-out drive to secure equitable employment opportunities for Negro workers.

This has included appeals to the National Labor Relations Board for decertification of specific unions for failure to render equal treatment to Negro members.

The Association's National Board of Directors passed a resolution this week in which it pointed out that the resolution to appeal to the NLRB and/or the courts was adopted three years ago by the NAACP at its annual convention in St. Paul, Minn.

Mr. LeRoy Bird Visits Friends in Iowa Cities

Mr. LeRoy P. Bird, left Des Moines last week for Denver, Colo., after visiting with friends here and in other Iowa cities during the past several weeks. While in Des Moines he was the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Loyatus Clark, 1114 10th street.

Mr. Bird recalled visiting with many former Iowans when he attended the National Shrine convention last summer in Minneapolis, Minn. He said he spent most of his time with Wernell Rhodes and wife, the former Minnie Madison. Mr. Rhodes took him by Bessie Rhodes-Lewis, then out to Rodney and Alma Duncan.

In addition he was out to Doris Jones-Fields home and saw her mother, the former Ada Cleggett. He also visited the Earl Bowman home where Ira Allen was visiting, and at the Ed Young home he chatted with Mrs. Young. Mrs. Young and Mr. Bird grew up together at Knoxville, Ia.

SEE FRONT PAGE Guest Artist

Mr. Paul, guest hair stylist for the clinic this year, of Chicago, Ill., is owner of the sleek "Mr. Paul Red Carpet Salon," does a booming business in wigs, ranging in prices from $50 to $500, as well as the latest styling in coiffures for "Milady's hair." He notes that the current trend is away from the extreme bouffant to a more sleeker, contour look. He has a staff of 14, including seven operators, and makes appearances at clinics for state conventions and private institutions in most of the large cities in the United States. He was making his second appearance in Des Moines.

Hamilton

Mr. Carlton M. Hamilton, director of the Vogue Esquire models in Chicago, Ill., which is currently on a national tour, was a smash hit in his first appearance in Des Moines. Helping him show the latest in women's and men's fashions at the Beautician's ball Sunday night at the Val-Air ballroom were models, Miss Alma Pryor, "Miss Sepia of 1962," Miss Bettye Morris, "Miss Harper Bazaar," Leon Williams, "Mr. Hair." Professionally commenting the show was Mrs. Elizabeth Power, of Mr. Hamilton's staff, and wife of Chicago attorney Robert Power. She also serves as instructor for three other modeling schools in Chicago.

3 Models

Mr. Hamilton has three models who have appeared in the well-known Ebony Fashion Fair, Miss Morris, Miss Pryor and Miss LaVerne Gill. About 150 models have graduated from Mr. Hamilton's professional classes.

At the Calvacade of Styles Sunday, Nov. 4, Mr. Hamilton and his models did a take-off of his 1962 Sepia Fashion Premiere, recently given in Chicago. The first part was a "Symphony in Black and White" featuring clothes for all occasions. The second scene featured "Seasonal Earth Tones; the third scene was "Rainbow Intrigue," with a galaxy of fashions in every color; and the final scene climaxing the show was the "Imperial Ball scene."

Name Designers

Name designers whose clothes were featured included Jacques Fath, Pierre Caron, Christian Dior, Ciel Chapman, Mr. Mort of Chicago, Cat McNeil and Jimmy Gordan and others from the designing department of the Chicago Art Institute.

All of Miss Pryor's clothes came from Paris, France. The models presented 28 changes, all of which were highly received by the audience. Outstanding outfits modeled for the show was a gold and black cashmere lounging robe modeled by Mr. Williams, costing about $175 and a blue silk peau de soie ball gown (Ciel Chapman) with a bodice of gold silk brocade modeled by Miss Morris, and costing about $200.

Maple Syrup's Super for Breakfast

THE SEASON'S HERE for heartier meals—and breakfast is one time to plan on having those pancake and waffle delights that all enjoy. Maple-blended syrup with plenty of butter is a favorite topping in every household, but sometimes—just for a change, or a special breakfast—we recommend a maple-blended nut-apple-currant sauce. Crisped in butter or margarine, the nuts add wonderful crunchiness to this delicious sauce.

APPLE-NUT-CURRANT SYRUP

3 tablespoons butter or margarine	1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
3 tablespoons chopped pecans	Dash of salt
1 1/2 cups Log Cabin Syrup	1 cup thinly sliced tart apples
	1/4 cup currants

Melt butter in a saucepan. Add nuts and brown lightly, then remove nuts. Add maple-blended syrup, cinnamon, and salt to butter in saucepan. Add apples and currants; cover and simmer slowly about 10 minutes. Remove cover and simmer 3 minutes longer. Remove from heat and add nuts. Serve at once on pancakes or waffles. Makes about 2 cups.

Princess O'Ziel Chapter to Meet

Princess O'Ziel chapter No. 9, O.E.S., will meet on Thursday, Nov. 29 at 8 p.m. at the Masonic Temple, 11th and Center streets. Preceding the meeting the Worthy Matron Myrtle Taylor will entertain all members of the chapter at a 6 p.m. dinner. All members must bring their own table setting. Thomas Lighons is Worthy Patron.

That time of the year has arrived once more . . . the time we officially set aside for a day of Thanksgiving, a day to share with family and friends for fellowship and renewing faith and spiritual fires.

In our year of 1962 we have much for which to be thankful. That the physical world yet stands, not devastated and laid to dust by nuclear warfare . . . That the United Nations still functions . . . That we still have the choice to cast our vote in a democratic election in a democratic state . . . That freedom still remains our most valued possession . . . That the long, tragic breadlines have not returned.

And in our land of Iowa, that the winter snows have not yet fallen deep . . . That tragedy from hunting, car accidents and other unforeseen fates have lessened . . . That families are still able to get together around the turkey and feast of plenty . . . That there are still hearts who care and do for the needy, the neglected and the troubled . . . for all the things we take for granted . . . happiness, health, food, shelter, laughter, tears, we do give thanks.

In passing may we say, we wish that your Thanksgiving was everything and more that you dreamed adults. A Holiday Dance—featuring the Dave Williams Combo is scheduled for 8 p.m. Admission—members 25c—non-members 75c.

and made an effort for it to be. And may the memory of it carry you through the trying days, which at times come to all of us, until another day of Thanksgiving is here.

There are many in Des Moines, especially church leaders, who should be given a rising vote of encouragement who are trying to do something to curtail the undesirable behavior of some of the youth in Des Moines. When speaking or writing of this we should all be careful, to say some of our youth, because as usual, a small portion of our youth is involved in such pastimes as mischievous, and prankish behavior in public. There are so many who would never be seen or heard taking part in such behavior. And to use the phrase "the youth of our community" includes all of them, unfairly.

We are still getting candidates for our series, "People You Know," thanks to our readers. It helps a great deal to bring to you names and faces heretofore unpublished. Please continue to do so.

However, we would like to enlist your help for the "Student of the Week." We think that in a small way this also would help to offset some of the publicity of bad behavior on the part of some youth. Youth do like to champion their own. Perhaps, you have a son or daughter, or know someone in church activities or in the community.

James Meredith Planning Capital Visit: JET

James Meredith, the first Negro to attend the University of Mississippi, may go to Washington soon to meet President Kennedy and his brother, Attorney General Robert Kennedy, reveals Jet, the national Negro news magazine.

The visit will probably take place during the Thanksgiving holidays or during a semester break, Jet says. "Plans are now under consideration" for the visit, Jet says. The magazine notes that "top government officials want the opportunity to meet Meredith and learn firsthand of his experiences and views."

It would be Meredith's first public appearance outside the South since the crisis over his enrollment at Mississippi.

NEW STEP IN JOB OPPORTUNITY

A few weeks ago, the President's Committee on Equal Opportunity succeeded in securing an agreement and a large number of industrial concerns signed a pledge that discrimination on the basis of race would be eliminated in their plants.

This is a new approach in the effort to secure more and better employment for Negroes in industry and will be watched carefully just what the results will be.

Last week 120 national and international AFL-CIO unions and 300 directly chartered unions, with a 11,098,000 membership, signed union programs for fair practices with Vice President Lyndon Johnson, Chairman of the President's Committee declaring "it is our purpose to give full effect within our ranks to the civil rights policy of the AFL-CIO to eliminate discrimination and unfair practices wherever they exist."

This, too, is a fine gesture and places both industry and labor on the side of those who are seeking to correct the evils of racial discrimination in employment which has been and is now a terrible block toward equality of opportunity in industry.

Recognizing that mere words was only the beginning, speaking to the group, Vice President Johnson said "mere desire does not do the job, what is needed is action and since discrimination is a social problem, it can only be handled through concerted action." Now the test will come when the program is actually put into practice. Several labor unions have long included provisions against racial discrimination in their laws but these fine sentiments seldom get out of the union halls. And in this instance, where enforcement is centered in and dealt with in Washington, when it gets out over the country, its energy may be well spent.

There has been some type of contract compliance commission for years but up to this time none has had any influence here in Iowa. It is no exception to the rule. And contrary to what George Meany says in his trade against the NAACP, most labor unions have not followed the pronouncements of their national offices. Glaring examples have brought to the attention of local organizations only to have them ignored or pushed under the cover where they continue to sleep.

If the President's Committee can muster some machinery to work with the local unions, the Negro groups and their friends in this new program, some good results may follow. But if the signing of these agreements is to be depended upon to do the job then very little will be accomplished.

FBI HEAD DUCKS EXAMPLE OF LAWLESSNESS

J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI, addressed the American Legion convention in Las Vegas, Nev. on November 9. His speech was somewhat a report of the rise in the crime rate and the inroads being made by communism in this country.

His speech reiterated what most people have known through crime reports. However he hammered away at the problem with force. He deplored the lack of respect for law and order as indicated by these excerpts from his speech:

"We are an idealistic nation—a nation ruled by laws, not by men. Yet, each year shows new record peaks of crime and lawlessness."

"Nearly 200 years ago, Edmund Burke warned, 'The only thing necessary for the triumph of evil is for good men to do nothing.' How meaningful these words are today."

"We have failed to meet the post-war goals which America has established for herself because the 'good men' to whom Burke referred—the forces for decency in our country—have failed in many respects to live up to their duties and responsibilities."

"Our city streets are jungles of terror. The viciousness of the rapists, murderers, and muggers who attack women and young girls seems to know no bounds. This senseless sadism can be stopped only by a concerted, realistic action on the part of everyone connected

Ia. Defeats Michigan, 28-14

Scores 2 Touchdowns In Roaring Finish to Break Tie in 3 Min.

By Staff Writer

Iowa City, Ia.—After playing so-so football until the final minutes of the game the Iowa Hawkeyes reared in dramatic fashion, to break a tied ball game and scored two touchdowns in the last three minutes to wrest their first home game from the Michigan Wolverines in history, 28-14.

Roaring Finish

The Hawks had seen days when their play was sharper, but the roaring finish brought back memories of by-gone days when Iowa used to pull them out of the fire in heart-stopping climaxes in the waning minutes. It had not been so all year in 1962, since Iowa had been a first half team, sometimes collapsing in the second half.

Stars

Larry Ferguson, captain of the Hawkeyes, playing his last college home game of his career, gave the fans something to remember and talk about with his long running gains, reminiscent of the old days when he was voted All-American. Another senior, Sammie Harris, relegated to the third unit this season because of a knee injury, came in from the bench and hauled in a spectacular 47-yard home-run pass from Quarterback Matt Szykowny, another graduating senior, and ran one-step ahead of his opposing team cover man, Bob Timberlake, for the tie-breaking touchdown.

Broke Tie

The crowd of 52,800 fans, who minutes earlier had been preparing to settle for a tie, went into a frenzied roar of approval. A few minutes later the third unit's Earl McQuiston intercepted a Michigan pass and four plays later, with a pass from Quarterback Bob Wallace to Dick Turlei, the Hawkeyes put the frosting on the cake, 28-14.

Punt Return

Early in the first quarter Michigan forged ahead 6-0; then the Hawkeyes came back making it 7-6. The Wolverines made it 14-7 and it looked as if it would remain so to end the first half. Minutes before the gun sounded, Paul Krause grabbed the punt-return and went all the way, 82-yards to the goal line and thus the game remained until the dramatic finale.

Ferguson ripped off 153 yards in 20 carries. Iowa totaled 278 yards on the ground and 100 through the air. Michigan had a total of 278 yards in rushing and passing. Iowa thus ended the Big Ten season on an even keel, 3-3. They play their last game at Notre Dame this Saturday.

with law enforcement and our judicial processes. We must adopt stiffer laws and a more stern policy toward these perverted individuals."

Hoover cited but one example of disobedience to constitution authority when he spoke of the riots by a few college students in California last year at a hearing being conducted by a congressional committee.

But during the very time Hoover's speech was being delivered, one of the most flagrant instances of disrespect for law and order America has witnessed since the Civil War was going on in Mississippi and yet he said not one word about it.

Here Hoover himself was guilty of the same thing he lambasted the American people about "failure to stand up against disrespect for law and order in high as well as low places." He sets a poor example of leadership in a field in which he is looked upon to lead.

Drake Wins No. 8; Ties Best Season Record

Evansville, Ind. — Drake tied its best season ever as the Bulldogs defeated Evansville College here Saturday, 32-0 before only 250 fans; it was the final game of the season for both teams. It also tied a record for Evansville who ended a winless season, their first since 1937.

Drake finished with a 8-2 mark, matching its all time victory total for one season. Sharing quarterback stints for the Bulldogs were Terry Zang, Bill Harper and Tim Roels.

If you were an Iowa fan that was a great ball game at Iowa City last Saturday. We would say that the big difference in Iowa's play was the unusually hard running of Larry Ferguson who was aided by Bill Perkins and the rest of the backfield who threw some good blocks.

That was the first game all year that the Iowa backs have been able to go wide and get outside. Don't know whether it was improved blocking or a weakness in Michigan end play. That Dave Rainey of Michigan is going to be hard to keep off some all-star teams. He is big and fast enough to play pro-ball. This year Iowa's team may be the nucleus for a really good team next year, for the Hawks had a lot of juniors out there Saturday. Now comes Notre Dame.

We wonder how the poll takers could rate either Alabama or Mississippi as the top teams in the country. When they don't do anything to prove it. They just stay in their own back yard and play their neighbors and beat them every year. They may have the personnel for a great team but if they played a schedule like most of the other top ten where would they rate. They wouldn't lose all their games, but they wouldn't win all either, no matter what kind of a team they might have.

Voted to All-Star Loop Team 3rd Time

Waverly, Ia.—Nathaniel Craddock, powerful fullback who helped elad Parsons College to its third straight conference championship, Monday was voted, for the third consecutive year, to the 1962 All-Iowa Conference Football selections. Craddock, 220-pound senior from North High in Des Moines, set a modern Iowa college scoring record of 114 points, and ran 397 yards to rank with the national leaders.

Cocky Cassius Clay Drops Ancient Archie In Predicted 4th

By Staff Writer

Los Angeles, Calif. — "Cockle-doodle-do" crowed Cockey Cassius Clay like a strutting cock, as he cocked his powerful right fist and smashed Archie Moore, the Old Man of Boxing, early in the fourth round their heavyweight bout here last Thursday night at Los Angeles Arena. A capacity crowd witnessed the bout which ended as the Louisville young heavyweight had predicted.

"I'm the greatest, the double great," boasted Clay following the fight. "I proved that a good young man can beat a good old man."

As Clay left the ring he paused by the side of Sonny Liston, World champion heavyweight who had witnessed the bout, the challenged, "You are next. You must fall in 8 (rounds)."

Liston shot back, "If you last eight seconds with me I'll forfeit the fight."

Clay, who is boxing's most loquacious and up-and-coming boxer, wants a chance at the title soon. However there is talk that he will be matched with the fallen champion, Floyd Patterson, who boxing spokesmen feel "must prove that he is worthy" before he meets in a return match with Liston.

Although Kansas State came close, within one point of a tie at several points, the Cyclones managed to hold, ending the game with the same identical score as Iowa's Big Ten team, 28-14.

Vaughn wasn't content with one touchdown; he scored two more later in the game. Hoppman went into the game needing 466 yards to break of their heavyweight bout here last Thursday night at Los Angeles Arena. A capacity crowd witnessed the bout which ended as the Louisville young heavyweight had predicted.

SHARING

(A Thought for Thanksgiving)

There isn't much that I can do,
But I can share my bread with you,
And I can share my joy with you,
And sometimes share a sorrow,
too . . .

As on our way we go,
There isn't much that I can do,
But I can sit an hour with you,
And I can share a joke with you,
And sometimes share reverses, too . . .
As on our way we go.

There isn't much that I can do,
But I can share my flowers with you,
And I can share my books with you,
And sometimes share your burdens,
too . . .

As on our way we go,
There isn't much that I can do,
But I can share my songs with you,
And I can share my mirth with you,
And sometimes come and laugh with you . . .
As on our way we go.

There isn't much that I can do,
But I can share my hopes with you,
And I can share my fears with you,
And sometimes shed some tears with you . . .
As on our way we go.

But I can share my hopes with you,
And I can share my fears with you,
And sometimes shed some tears with you . . .
As on our way we go.

There isn't much that I can do,
But I can share my friends with you,
And I can share my life with you,
And oftentimes share a prayer with you . . .
As on our way we go.

100 Top Negro Leaders to Confer on U.S. African Policy

The nation's 100 top Negro leaders will convene at a three-day summit meeting the weekend of Nov. 23 at Columbia University's Arden House Campus in Harriman, N.Y. Led by such leaders as Martin Luther King, Jr., Roy Wilkins, Whitney Young, A. Philip Randolph, and others the conference will examine critically the role of the American Negro community in U.S. policy in Africa.

Specifically, it will be the opening effort on the part of Negro leaders to create a program that will involve a stepped-up interest of America's 19 million Negroes in their own political influence on their government's policy in sub-Saharan Africa.

Specific Areas

The specific areas of Africa with which the Conference will be concerned are: the Congo, South Africa, Southwest Africa, Angola, Mozambique, Central African Federation, Kenya, and the High Commission Territories. In addition to the specific areas of Africa, one of the principal topics of the Conference will be: "American Negro Participation in Government and Private Overseas African Programs: Racial Frustrations and Exclusions."

Groups

The Negro leaders will represent a broad spectrum of organizational heads from religious, civil rights, fraternal, sorority, business, professional, educational, labor, and social groups. The decisions of the Conference will be expressed in resolutions and the Conference Statement at the concluding plenary session Sunday morning, Nov. 25. Negro leaders have been concerned increasingly about the U.S. policy in sub-Saharan Africa. They have been expressing the increased feeling of Negro communities on the problems of the many emerging independent African states and also those areas still lacking independence.

This will be the largest gathering of top Negro leadership ever concentrated to examine U.S. foreign policy in terms of American Negro interest. Although not as large, the last similar meeting was convened as the first Pan-African Conference, organized by Dr. W.E.B. DuBois in 1919.

New London, Mo.—Thelma Virgie Johnson, a 19-year-old white girl who was used by two Negro men to entice a third to his death, pleaded guilty in Ralls county circuit court to a reduced charge of second degree murder and was sentenced to 20 years in prison.

It happened 100 YEARS ago

The oldest incorporated trade association in the country, the United States Brewers Association, was organized in 1862 . . . the same year that

IN IOWA crews building the Mississippi and Missouri Railroad pushed the line to Brooklyn . . . almost half way across the state. Iowans cheered this pioneering feat with glasses of foaming beer.

For even then, beer was Iowa's traditional beverage of moderation. Beer still provides enjoyment for Iowans, and a good living for many of them . . . not only the employees of the Brewing Industry itself, but also for Iowa farmers and other suppliers of the materials brewers use.

TODAY, in its centennial year, the United States Brewers Association still works constantly to assure maintenance of high standards of quality and propriety wherever beer and ale are served.
