Former Laborer Agent Vows He Will Fight Defeat in 2nd Election

Charging racial bias that is "a bit involved," Robert A. Jackson declared he will fight his ouster as secretary-treasurer of Local 177 of the International Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers Union here in which he was defeated by only six votes. Jackson made the statement in a telephone interview with the Bystander Tuesday.

The election, held Jan. 7, was the second in six months and came as a result of a protest of voting rights in which the International over-ruled a previous ruling by Union attorneys and granted labor foremen the right to vote.

Wilkins Urges No Federal Funds for Defiant States

New York—The NAACP is proud to have had a major part in the creation of the mood of impatient determination of the American Negro in the Nineteen Sixties, NAACP Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins told members of the Association at its 54th annual meeting here on Monday, Jan. 7.

This mood, he indicated, finds expression in the demand by Negroes and other dedicated Americans that the "United States government . . . cease subsidizing Jim Crow. We believe that every penny of Federal money allotted to Mississippi, for example, should be withdrawn. A state which defies the Constitution,

Boy Beaten, Charges Filed 6 Days Later; Claims Coverup By Cedar Rapids Officials

Cedar Rapids, Ia.—Six days after the beating of a 15-year-old youth, assault and battery charges were finally filed Thursday, Jan. 10, in the case after the mother of the youth said she had been given "the run-around" by city and legal officials here when she tried to press charges against a white youth who did the beating.

Victim

Victim in the case was Albert Owen (Butch) Carr, Jr., 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Carr of 1105 12th Avenue S.E., who was knocked unconscious by Warren McCray, 17, of 1436 25th street S.E. The incident took place after a basketball game at George Washington Senior High school.

County Attorney

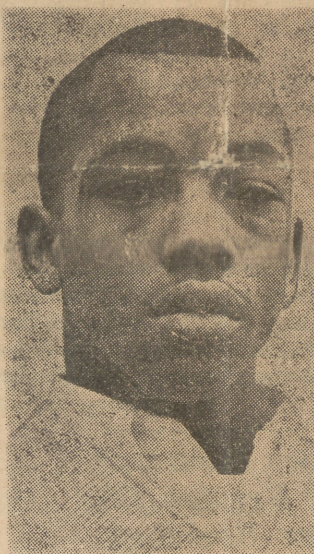

The case first came to the attention of those outside Cedar Rapids when a Des Moines reporter broke the story of the mother's efforts. The following day County Attorney Jack Fulton, in filing charges, said, "Now that the case has been aired publicly, the public is entitled to know its final disposition."

Investigating officers said Carr suffered a cut over his right eye, which required seven stitches, and a laceration outside his mouth. The youth was held overnight at St. Luke's Hospital.

Carr's father said his son was in the school hallway when a group of white youths approached and one said: "Let's whip us a nigger."

Refused to Fight

Carr said his son declined an invitation to fight but did step outside the building. "The next thing he remembered was when he woke up in the hospital," Carr said.

Mrs. Carr said that on Monday her son signed, in her presence, a blank form that an assistant county attorney told them would be filled in with the particulars on the alleged assault. On Wednesday, Mrs. Carr said she asked Linn County Attorney Jack Fulton why McCray had not

Broadlawns Nursing Scho. I Gets Highest Rating in Its History

Trustees of Broadlawn Polk County hospital last week praised Faith W. Smith, director of nursing, and the faculty of 10, headed by Mrs. Evelyn Sims, for their part in helping the nursing school get its highest rating since its beginning in 1924.

On the basis of a week-long survey of curriculum, facilities and faculty, the rating by the National League of Nursing, Inc., an accrediting agency in New York City, exempts the school from further surveys for the maximum accreditation period, six years. Only a progress report in 1965 is required to maintain the rating through 1968.

The survey was the Broadlawn school's first since 1958 when it became Des Moines' first accredited school. The Broadlawn school offers a three-year program leading to registered nurse status. Classes are taught at the hospital, at Drake university and at the psychiatric hospital at Knoxville.

Last rites for Mrs. Lucie Campbell-Williams were held in Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 7, at Mt. Nebo Baptist Church, Dr. Roy Love, Minister. The eulogy was delivered by Dr. Joseph H. Jackson, President, National Baptist Convention, U.S.A., Inc. Representatives from every connection of the church were present and expressions there were from the many groups with which she had worked.

Mrs. Lucie Campbell-Williams was a teacher, a composer; a religious worker. She was one of the organizers of the B.T.U. Congress which was organized 57 years ago. Her activities were many and varied and she is best remembered as a composer of religious music.

The more than 45 published compositions written by Miss "Lucie" have retained their popularity across a span of more than 40 years, because they were "God Inspired". Her deep Christian conviction, humility of spirit and desire to be of service were expressed in the words of her unforgettable music.

On Sunday, Dec. 30, 1962, when the Mary Kendrix Memorial Award was to be presented to "Miss Lucie" she was in her last illness and could not attend.

The entire musical program at this time consisted only of her compositions and arr.; "Signed And Sealed With His Blood" her last; "The Lord Is My Shepherd" from the 23rd Psalm; "Touch Me, Lord Jesus," "Heavenly Sunshine," "Just To Behold His Face," "Something Within," "My Savior," "In The Upper Room," "He Understands, He'll Say Well Done."

Miss Lucie was musical director of the National Sunday School and Baptist Training Union Congress of America; vice pres. at large of the National Baptist Music Convention, an auxiliary of the National Baptist Convention, Inc. She was also president of the National Baptist Convention Choral Society of the National Baptist Women's Convention of America; a charter member of the National Song Leader's Convention.

Her philosophy of life: "I have the habit of planning my work not only for tomorrow, but for the future, and then I work my plan. I decide trifles quickly. I prime my head with ideas, facts and inspiration. I work more and worry less. I respect the rights of others, and try to use each minute before it disappears forever. I have naught in my heart against any one. And above all, I have a deep and abiding faith in God, the Creator of the universe."

Jan. 14, 1960 she was married to the Rev. Dr. C. R. Williams, Secretary of the National Baptist Training Union Board, who survives. Other relatives are a niece, Mrs. Mary Wilson and Mr. Al Wilson, 211 Oneida, two nephews, Mr. T. J. Robinson, Memphis, Tenn. and Robert Robinson, 616 Ash St., who returned home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Wilson and Mr. Robert Robinson wish to thank the many friends who have shared their loss. Their expressions of sympathy are deeply appreciated.

Mrs. Vera Morrow of Des Moines, along with her sisters, Mrs. Sophie Tate of D. C., and Mrs. Margaret Black of Cleveland, is at the bedside of her mother, Mrs. Lallie White, 1719 Sumner St., Perry, Iowa. Mrs. Morrow owns and operates Morrow School of Beauty Culture in Des Moines. Mr. Theodore White, a brother, resides at 512 Ricker.

The condition of Mr. Joe Montjoy, brother of Mr. Samuel Montjoy is reported improved. He lives at Charleston, Mo.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Winter Wonderland?

Frosty the Snowman never had it so good.

The howling winds of winter help keep him in absolutely tip-top shape. They are, in fact, just what the doctor ordered.

But not so with people!

Winter weather can be a real health hazard. Usually it strikes in the form of an acute (lasting only a short time) Respiratory Disease—the "family name" by which flu, pneumonia, acute bronchitis and our old friend, the common cold, are known.

Winter Custom

Somewhat like death and taxes, Respiratory Diseases are thought a certainty by too many people. They're a winter customer, expected—if not welcomed—along with the first snow, fall and stalled traffic. And therein lies the rub: too many of us expect to get sick (temporarily, that is) and don't take such illnesses seriously.

After Effects

Colds, flu, bronchitis and other acute Respiratory Diseases should never be treated casually or ignored. Their aftereffects can be long-lasting, dangerous. They also can undermine the body's ability to fight off even more serious illness. And the acute Respiratory Diseases, if not treated with the proper care and respect, can lead into or trigger such chronic (long-continued) Respiratory Diseases as tuberculosis; emphysema, a disease in which the lungs trap and hold stale air; bronchiectasis, a disease in which something distorts the bronchial tubes; or chronic bronchitis.

Better a bit of caution—a day at home with a cold, for instance—than taking a chance on months or even years of serious illness!

With the famed De Vinci painting, "Mona Lisa" on loan to the United States from the Louvre in Paris, many tourists who traveled to Europe, are remembering the occasions they saw the more than 400 year-old masterpiece.

One of these is Mrs. Clifford (Clara) Bayles, 951 17th street, who saw the famous painting last summer at the Louvre, Mrs. Bayles, was the only Iowan on the Delta Sigma Theta sorority sponsored tour of African and European countries.

"I spent several hours at the Louvre, looking at famous works. I stood within three feet of the Mona Lisa and had a chance to study it."

"I was quite impressed with it. I also bought a pamphlet which tells of its history."

Since her return, Mrs. Bayles, has been trying to hew to a busy schedule of speaking engagements, based on her travel experiences and impressions of the places and people she visited.

Mrs. Virgil (Patsy) Singleton, a member of Des Moines' smart young married set, began employment at the Iowa Bystander this week. She formerly was elevator operator at the Exchange building. She and her husband reside at 1419 18th street.

We had a call from Miss Lynda Walker, Des Moines Technical high school senior scheduled to be graduated in June. She answered our call for identification of mid-year graduating seniors at her school. Lynda, who also has been working in the Des Moines Tech office for more than a year, named three Negroes who will don mortarboard cap in a couple of weeks.

A Des Moines postal employee has found another use for toothpaste besides the daily ritual of brushing his teeth. Prone to experiment he decided to try shining his badge with his favorite brand. Seems it made the metal identification badge so bright, it's all the rage now. Which set us to wondering what luck we might have with shining silver; at this writing, we haven't gotten up enough courage to attempt the experiment. If any of you daring readers should, let us know won't you?

We had an interesting talk last week with Miss Eleanor Findley, Waukee, Ia., and Drake graduate, who is one of 19 field representatives with the Lisle Fellowship programs.

Miss Findley talked enthusiastically and eloquently about the Lisle programs, which she says is similar to the Peace Corps and is a wonderful chance to train for the latter.

The only qualifications says Miss Findley, are "an open mind and a will to learn." Entrants must be 17 years or over, have a high school diploma and some funds for traveling, as they must pay their own way.

She noted that this has been a slight drawback to the program but that many Lisle Fellowship representatives have been sponsored by church groups or other organizations. All fees cover cost of food, lodging, tuition, travel within the program. Overseas fees include group travel (round trip) to the unit from the point of embarkation in the United States.

Persons who go into the Lisle program serve only during summers, which means no break in school educational processes.

Anyone interested is asked to write for further information and for application forms to "Dewitt and Edna Baldwin, The Lisle Fellowship Inc., 3039 Pittsview Drive, Ann Arbor, Mich.

We had a brief conversation via Alexander Graham Bell's invention, with Mr. Harry Bell, chef at the Harper House, who wanted to inform us we had made a mistake in identifying him.

Mr. Bell, though flattered, also was a little reluctant to accept the manager's estimate of his culinary abilities. "When they say you are the best, it puts a lot of responsibility on you."

Granted, Mr. Bell has a point, but as we explained to him, "Mr. John Williams, who made the statement, was trying to get it across that the chef at Harper House was an outstanding one."

Some of the places where Mr. Bell has served in that capacity, substantiates the conjecture that he is quite an accomplished culinary artist. Besides 16 months at the Hyperion Golf Club, he formerly was chef at Sunny Side Country Club, Bishop Cafeteria, Fried's Prime Rib Room, and Howard Johnson's, all in Waterloo, Ia.

On Tuesday's frigidly Arctic morning we stopped by Crescent Beauty school to collect some information for a story on the Western Central Regional convention of the National Beauty Cultrists League, Inc. which convenes here Feb. 10-12. Mrs. Pauline Humphrey, president of the host organization, Local 102, was also planning to go to Washington, D. C., for the annual NBCL board meeting. Her arm is still in a cast, mending from a fracture she suffered in a fall on Christmas eve.

IT IS WELL TO TELL THE WHOLE STORY

Recently, a newspaper reported the results of a survey made by the Iowa Board of Social Welfare with reference to Negro recipients of welfare payments. This survey shows that 30% of the Negroes in the Des Moines area are on relief—either direct or aid to dependent children.

No effort is made here to challenge the figures. But it is somewhat a mystery why the survey was made, and since the survey was made—which on its face appears damaging to Negroes—why not include the whole story which would show that (1) the great disparagement of employment the Negro—particularly men—suffer and (2) the poor job the department does in handling chislers. (The department states that the reporter fished out only a part of the report.)

Such an article, in all fairness, should have shown the extent many of the recipients of relief, who are capable of employment but are denied it, bears to the labor market. It should show to what extent public officials have gone after those men who sire children out of wedlock and are making no contribution to their offspring.

As one Negro man ably put it "you may deny me a job but the public treasury will pick up the tab."

Of course, this situation prevails in a great many cities where large numbers of unskilled Negro workers live. In many instances—and it is true in Des Moines—some so-called benevolent institutions are giving displaced newcomers jobs while overlooking or in some instances discharging Negroes to employ them.

This article which does not show the background of this excessive relief load among Negroes has done the Negro a great disservice by telling half the story of his status on relief and thus thousands of people who don't know the whole story stand to get an unfair conception of why such a situation exists in Des Moines.

1962 LEGISLATURE
HAS PROBLEMS

The sixtieth session of the Iowa legislature convened this week. It will be required to find a way to relieve property taxes, increase aid to public schools and provide more adequate funds for its institutions of higher learning both for operating expenses and capital improvements.

The Schaff plan for reapportionment of the legislature will be passed undoubtedly and a date set for the voters to approve or reject it. Since a majority of the people feel that the legislature should be reapportioned so as to equalize the voting strength between rural and urban citizens, whether the present bill is equitable or not, it will be the best that can be had without postponing reapportionment two more years.

There are those who believe that liquor by the drink will solve the tax deficiency. Of course, this is not true for there are neighboring states which have liquor by the drink and a three cent sales tax besides.

Undoubtedly, a three cent sales tax coupled with the inclusion of some property or services which should be added to already taxable items will be the most equitable method of securing additional revenue spread more equitably over more people.

There are those who oppose a sales tax claiming that it falls more heavily upon those least able to pay it. This theory is questionable for those who have more spend more and buy higher priced goods and services. Then, too, entirely too many people who own nothing but a few household goods and an automobile, pay no real estate taxes and generally pay less sales taxes than the fellow who owns his home.

The present real estate tax structure is not conducive to bringing industry into Iowa. And since Iowa population is becoming more urban than farming, jobs must be provided if Iowa is to keep its people here. Insurance and finance companies, while valuable, won't do the job.

As has been the case in the past few sessions, an effort will be made to pass a fair employment practice measure. Such a measure managed to get a hearing before a committee but failed to be reported out because of the apathy of country areas and the backing away by some of the urban legislators.

Passage of all these measures would strengthen Iowa and help induce outsiders to live here.

We watched the final football games of the year and reflected what would they be like if no Negroes played. In both games the outstanding players of the day were Negroes. If they hadn't been there their teams would likely have lost. Then we reflect that we heard an ugly rumor that a couple of schools that had suddenly come into athletic prominence because of Negro players were going to bring about a gradual weeding out of their Negroes because they created too many problems. In one school, we have in mind, this is seemingly done with the result that the school is on the way to the bottom of its conference ladder dropping a little further each year.

Top Schools

Now, we are not trying to argue a social problem or get into any sort of a discussion about which we might not know too much. But, in just about every conference except the segregated South, the leading teams in football, basketball, and track are liberally sprinkled with Negroes. Some of the top wrestling teams have Negroes as do other teams in various so called minor sports. It is simple as it can be. If you don't want Negroes you don't want to win too often. They will simply go to other schools and help beat your school.

All of the Negroes don't prove to be poor students and at times when a promising Negro athlete suddenly leaves a school and the reason is given as poor grades, how often is the reason behind the grades checked into? In this day of opportunity for young athletes we would like to see Negroes get every break they can and be ready when they get the break. Of course, weeding out Negro athletes at one school simply means sending them to some other school and a lot of them wind up in our Negro schools where they help mold tough teams.

Gambling

Phil Rizzuto had quite a story on the football teams of Grambling college (Baton Rouge, La.), the other day. As Phil said, if the signing of seven players off one starting eleven by pro-leaguers isn't a record, it will do until someone thinks of a better one.

Tennis

Esther Myers was finally recognized as the top woman tennis player in the state. The honor was deserved and we were glad for her. It would have been news if she hadn't made it. The tragedy is that there are no promising youngsters coming along to take her place. Mrs. Myers has perhaps a few years, maybe one or two before the kids catch up to her. It could be this summer, for some of these youngsters really come along fast. There could have been at least one Negro among them had some of them been willing to work at the game.

Employment

In the field of employment "we will continue to press against the restrictions which remain in the trade union movement. In cases of stand-pat-ism and malingering, we expect to charge that unfair labor practices exist and to seek decertification of unions that continue to misrepresent their Negro members."

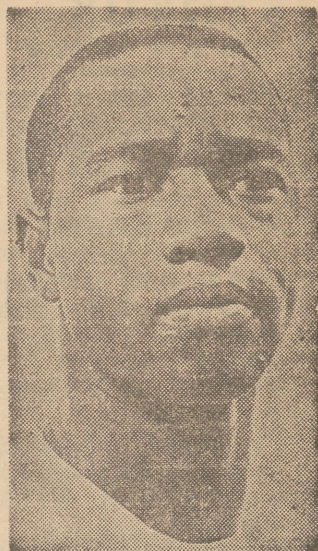

Tokenism

He stated that racial peace "requires the abandonment of tokenism in the disgracefully slow desegregation of the public schools in compliance with the 1954 Supreme Court ruling" and that the NAACP would continue its program of seeking increased school desegregation, both North and South.

Executive Order

In housing the NAACP will seek to have the President's executive order banning discrimination in federally-assisted housing expanded to cover much more than the small area now affected.

Racial peace must be gained by the "continuing clean-up of Jim Crow in public accommodations and in travel." Ultimately, this peace will not come "until the government is fully responsive to the deep desires and the desperate needs of its Negro citizens."

Mays to Become
1st Negro $100,000
Baseball Player

San Francisco—There was belief here last week that Willie Mays will be rewarded for his "money-playing efforts" in the 1962 pennant season with a substantial raise by the San Francisco Giants that would make him the fourth $100,000-a-year player and the first Negro to earn such a salary.

Mays received an estimated $90,000 last season to make him the highest paid player competing in either league.

The belief that Mays is due for a substantial raise in salary was expressed after Charley Feeney, San Francisco vice president said "The club had a good year and obviously most of the players are in for raises next year (1963)."

If he is given a $100,000 contract, Mays will join Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox and Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees, both retired, and Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals, who have all been paid $100,000 a season.

Will Ask Recount

Jackson said the union election judges will give an official report on the election results on Thursday, Jan. 17. Unofficially, 312 votes were cast last week.

"I will ask the election judges for a recount: if they don't allow it, I will have to go higher," he said.

"I think this can be settled through the International," he maintained. "It's mainly a racial issue, quite a bit involved. It's not particularly whether I'm black or white, but particularly bias on the part of supervisors, labor foremen and contractors in not hiring Negroes as much now as they have done in previous years."

Explains Bias

"There are just as many Negroes in the Local but they have a system going in which the Negro is the last hired and the first fired."

"They will accept whoever I send over, to fill a particular job, but they will let the Negroes work a few days, then let them go, and after a few days, they need workers again. It ends up with the Negro working less hours and having a shorter paycheck than the white worker."

Larry Ferguson

halfback spot will be another Iowa football product, Larry Ferguson, star player with the Iowa Hawkeyes at Iowa City. Ferguson will be trying to make his replacement a permanent one, as he gets his first crack at pro-football.

Ad Agency In New Home Office Building

Nelson Advertising Agency, Inc., Des Moines, formerly located for 10 years in the Masonic Temple Building, has moved to their new home office building located at 1511 Grand Avenue. Features of the building include an adjacent 20 car parking lot, a combination radio-television conference area, spacious art and production department, and a "climate control" center. Heat, lighting, and air conditioning were designed to provide a maximum creative environment; the lack of windows (except in the front) eliminate outside distractions.

Rapid Growth

The purchase of the building was prompted by the rapid growth of the agency. Founded 10 years ago by Richard V. Nelson, President and Board Chairman, Nelson Advertising Company has grown from a one man organization to a present staff of 14 including his two sons Richard H. and James L. Nelson and has billings well over the $1 million mark.

The agency services 55 local, regional, and national clients and places heavy emphasis on insurance and consumer accounts.

NAACP Statement
On Meredith Case

New York—(The following is a joint statement issued January 7, 1963, by Mrs. Constance Baker Motley, attorney for James Meredith, and Jack Greenberg, Director-Counsel of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund.)

"Though Mr. Meredith has announced he cannot continue his studies next semester at the University of Mississippi because of the unfavorable conditions and hostility there, this will not lessen our efforts to secure for other qualified Negro students the right to enter the University of Mississippi, or other southern state universities which are now segregated.

"In South Carolina, Harvey Gantt's case to enter Clemson College is now pending. But in addition, students in Mississippi, Alabama and other young people in South Carolina have solicited our aid to enter various state institutions of higher learning, and we are now preparing pleadings which will be filed in their cases at an early date."

Death Sentence of
P. Cobb, 15, Upheld

Washington—The Supreme court Jan. 7 denied a hearing to a teen-age Negro who was sentenced to death for the murder of his white employer in Jasper County, Ga. The youth, Preston Cobb Jr., was 15 at the time of the crime.

In brief orders the high court left standing the conviction and death sentence.

Cobb was convicted of murder and sentenced to death Aug. 16, 1961 in the death of Coleman Dumas Sr., June 1, 1961.

Cobb was represented by a court-appointed white attorney during his trial before the Jasper county superior court.

After his conviction, two Atlanta attorneys recommended by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, filed a motion for a new trial.

They charged that Cobb was denied his constitutional rights because Negroes systematically were excluded from the grand jury which indicted him and the jury which convicted him.

The motion was denied and the Georgia supreme court affirmed the conviction.

Dodgers Maury Wills
1962 Athlete of Year

New York, N. Y.—Maury Wills, who made history with the most bases stole in a single season, Saturday was named the 1962 "athlete of the year."

The Los Angeles Dodger shortstop, who smashed one of the "unbreakable" marks in sport as he stole 104 bases last season, won the honor by a wide margin in an Associated Press poll. Wills captured 72 points first place votes and 338 points from a national panel of 302 sports writers and sportscasters.

Asks Reopening of Schools
In Prince Edwards County

Authority

Alexandria, Va.—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People this week called upon the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit to issue an order directing the reopening of the Prince Edward County, Va., public schools by Feb. 1.

Joining NAACP General Counsel Robert L. Carter in arguing for such an order was Burke Marshall, Assistant U.S. Attorney General, who appeared as a friend of the court and presented the Federal Government's position on this question.

3 Other Cases

Meanwhile, the court sitting here, Jan. 9, heard three other school desegregation cases argued by attorneys of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund and the Virginia State Conference of NAACP Branches.

Mrs. Constance Baker Motley, associate counsel of the Legal Defense Fund, and Matthew Perry of South Carolina, called upon the court to direct Clemson College, a South Carolina state institution, to admit Harvey Gantt at the opening of the next semester, Jan. 28.

Implementation

The other cases involved the implementation of desegregation rulings in the elementary and secondary schools of Richmond and Powhatan County, S. W. Tucker, Virginia State NAACP attorney, asked the court to vacate a stay of U.S. Judge John D. Butzner's ruling ordering the Powhatan County school board to admit three Negro students immediately to the Powhatan elementary school.

In the Richmond case, Henry L. Marsh, III, of the Virginia State NAACP organization, pleaded with the court to issue an order requiring the school board to submit a plan to desegregate the schools on a city-wide basis and end the restrictive acceptance of a few Negro students in "white" schools as is now being done in that city.

At issue in the Prince Edward County case, Carter told the court, is solely the authority of the court to take appropriate action to prevent the frustration of its orders and to protect the constitutional rights of 1,500 Negro children in the county who have been denied any formal education since the schools were closed in 1959.

This case, one of the original five on which the U.S. Supreme Court rendered its historic school desegregation ruling of May 17, 1954, has been in the courts for 11 years, Mr. Carter pointed out. It is high time, he said, that this issue be resolved through an order directing the reopening of the schools.

They're Worse
Than Negroes

Charleston, S. C.—When a white family moved North, reports the city's News and Courier, the mother was concerned about how her children, accustomed to segregated schools, would adjust to Negro children in their classes.

After their first day at the new school, the youngsters reported that they had eaten lunch with Negro children. Surprised, the mother asked why.

"Well," they protested, "you didn't think we'd eat with those Yankees!"
