Beauticians to Present Gala Fashion Revue

Chicago Models Will Headline Regional Convention Feb. 10

A gala presentation featuring outstanding fashion creations by both American and European Designers will headline the opening activities of the Western Central Regional convention of the National Beauty Culturists League, Inc., here Sunday night, Feb. 10 in the ballroom of Hotel Fort Des Moines.

Chicago Models

The dazzling fashion revue, entitled "Designers Showcase of Fashions," will be presented by Hamilton Vogue-Esquire Models of Chicago, Ill., featuring more than a dozen models, male and female. Several of the models, including Hamilton, who is also founder-director, are shown in pictures above. The latest creations for fall and the newest spring creations will be highlighted.

Highlights for Season

This season the silhouette is importantly varied: elongated, curved, square. Slender, columnar lines flow into classic beauty in middies, longer jackets, and tunics. Curves are modeled by bias cut, skillful seaming, and precise darting. Many designs are complete costumes: coat and dress ensembles, matching fabric stoles for day and evening dresses, overblouse suits.

Neutrals

The evident neutrals, shades of brown, gray pink, red, blue and white combination, contrast the new appearance in town of bright-colored country woolsens and elegant casuals. This is the Fashion news and, these will be some of the fashion creations that have been gathered for the presentation of "Designers Showcase of Fashions."

Hamilton

The Vogue-Esquire models are in their third year of traveling road show presentations, and are under the direction of Carlton M. Hamilton, who is founder and director of the Vogue-Esquire Studio of Modeling of Chicago, and Consultant on Modeling and Charm. Mr. Hamilton travels extensively giving lectures in the field of Modeling for local chapters of the National Beauty Culturist League, where he is on the staff of the National Institute of Cosmetology.

Among top NBCL officers expected to attend the three-day sessions of workshops and festivities are NBCL president, Dr. Katie E. Whickman, Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Theresa Granger, Minneapolis, Minn., acting supervisor of the Western Central Regional which comprises seven states, Oklahoma, Nebraska, Missouri, Kansas, Illinois, Minnesota, and Iowa. On The Integration Front

REGISTRATION IN ALABAMA

Montgomery, Ala.—Although 700 Negroes tried to register to vote in Montgomery County (Ala.) during the month of December, only 200 were able to add their names to the books.

Rufus Lewis, voter registration worker for the Montgomery Improvement Association, said registration was slowed down so only a minimum number of applicants could take the test. Even though over 100 people might be in line, only 50 or 60 were allowed to finish the test each day.

PICKETS PROTEST

Petersburg, Va. — A group of picketers demonstrated in front of the Petersburg city hall Monday protesting the short voter registration hours. Herbert Coulton, field secretary for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference and spokesman for the group, said present registration hours are "not conducive to the working man's registering."

Boycott

Clarksdale, Miss.—Circuit Judge E. H. Green has reversed the convictions of four Clarksdale Negro leaders who were charged with conspiracy to injure trade in 1961. State NAACP President Aaron Henry and three others had been sentenced to six months in jail and a fine of $500 for leading boycott of white merchants. The boycott is still in progress.

Sitin Hearing

Talladega, Ala.—Another round in the battle to cripple integration in Alabama will open in State Circuit Court here Monday, Feb. 4. Judge William C. Sullivan is hearing a suit by the State of Alabama to ban sit-ins, parades, and demonstrations against segregation. Students and faculty at Talladega College are the main targets of the action.

Restaurant Fines

Danville, Va. — Five integration leaders were fined $50 in Municipal Court for sitting in at a Howard Johnson restaurant here on New Year's Day. The formal charge was trespass. They filed notice of appeal. Fined were the Rev. A. I. Dunlap, the Rev. L. W. Chase, the Rev. L. D. Campbell, Julius E. Adams, a taxicab owner, and Arthur A. Pinchback, butler for one of the most

Wilkins Hails Justice Dept. Move Against Desegregation

New York—Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive secretary, this week hailed the announcement by the Justice Department of the filing of suits to desegregate federally-aided public schools near military installations in three Deep South states.

"The NAACP," he said, "is gratified that Attorney General Robert Kennedy has followed up his earlier action in Prince George County, Va., with the filing of similar desegregation suits in Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi. Federal funds for schools in these 'impacted areas' as elsewhere should be denied to unconstitutional Jim Crow schools."

Long Awaited

The Association, through its Washington bureau, has long called for executive action by the Department of Defense, the Justice Department and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to end the practice in certain southern communities to send children of Negro military and civilian personnel to Jim Crow schools, often far removed from their homes and the nearby schools attended by white children. These schools receive federal funds.

Conferences

Clarence Mitchell, director of the NAACP Washington bureau, has held a series of conferences with executives in the various governmental agencies involved in efforts to end the segregation practices.

The latest Justice Department school desegregation suits, announced on Jan. 18, involve more than 35,000

Mrs. R. Campanella Collapses, Dies in Swank N.Y. Home

Glen Cove, N. Y.—Mrs. Ruth Campanella, estranged wife of former baseball star catcher, collapsed and died in her swank, $75,000 home here Friday at the age of 40.

Her unexpected death came less than two months after the expensive Glen Cove mansion was sold for $47,000 to meet tax liens after mortgage payments had gone unattended for a year. An autopsy was performed to determine cause of death.

Family Tragedy

Campanella, former Brooklyn Dodger catcher, who occupies a five-room apartment a few blocks from liquor store, told authorities his wife had a heart condition.

Tragedy first came to the Campanella family when Campy, as he was affectionately known to the baseball world, five years ago was involved in an auto accident which nearly cost him his life, and broke his neck and paralyzed him from the waist down. Since then the Campanellas had been plagued by marital troubles. David, 20, Mrs. Campanella's son by a previous marriage, had been in minor trouble with the police, which was subsequently headlined in newspapers around the nation. The Campanellas were separated in 1960. The couple had three children, Roy, 14; Rony, 12 and Princess, 9.

She was stricken shortly before noon. According to police, she was talking to a woman employee of the Internal Revenue Service in Brooklyn at the time. The woman said she heard a commotion, then the phone went dead so she called police.

Urges Investigation of North Carolina School Violence

New York — At the urging of NAACP Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins, the FBI is investigating two cases of violence which flared in southern schools after court-ordered integration this week.

Wilkins' telegram to Burke Marshall, chief of the Civil Rights Division of the Department of Justice, called for investigation of reports of violence and tension in Caswell County, N. C., and in Pine Bluff, Ark.

16 Students

In Caswell County, 16 students entered four public schools on the order of U.S. District Judge Edwin M. Stanley. Judge Stanley, on Dec. 21, found that the Caswell County Board of Education was not properly administering the North Carolina Public Placement Law. The county was ordered to give "every school child presently enrolled" in the school system "complete freedom of choice of school he would like to attend during the second semester of the current 1962-63 school year."

Harassed

When the children appeared at school to enroll, one of the parents, Jasper Brown, was harassed by two white men. In the ensuing altercation, Mr. Brown wounded the two men in self-defense. Despite requests from the NAACP, there was no police protection provided for the children or their parents. Mr. Brown later surrendered to the police and was placed in custody.

Originated

The case was originated by the North Carolina NAACP State Conference in 1956 and has been argued by NAACP attorney Conrad O. Pearson who will defend Mr. Brown. Un-

Former ISU Student Is First Negro to Integrate Any Public S.C. School

Clemson, S. C.—Without violence or fanfare, Harvey Gantt, 20, enrolled at Clemson college here Monday. The former Iowa State University student became the first of his race to integrate a public school, on any level, in South Carolina.

When Gantt arrived and while he registered, he was greeted by jokes and jibes, but apparently all in fun. All in all, Gantt at a news conference, reported a general air of friendliness, much more than he had expected. Uniformed highway patrolmen manned all entrances to the campus, admitting only those persons with credentials.

His enrollment was a marked contrast to that of James Meredith who became the only known Negro to enroll at the University of Mississippi last fall, and who several days ago announced it was uncertain he would enroll for the second semester at Ole Miss.

Gantt, who compiled a near B-average at ISU, was accompanied by his father, Christopher Gantt, a civilian mechanic at Charleston's Navy shipyard.

Earlier in the day two men had been dispersed from the campus, when they "acted suspiciously" and had been overheard "making threats."

Historic

Earlier, Clemson President Robert C. Edwards said this would be "a historic day for South Carolina." "Whether it's a great day, we'll let the historians say later," Dr. Robert C. Edwards told a news conference crowd of about 150.

Dr. Edwards, and almost every South Carolina authority, has made clear that the state will oppose Gantt's admittance with a U. S. Su-der the direction of NAACP State President Kelly Alexander and Chas. McLean, field secretary, parents are being urged to transfer their children to all-white schools in the county.

In Pine Bluff

A similar case occurred in Pine Bluff. In that city William Howard, brother of Arkansas NAACP State President George Howard, drove his 15-year-old daughter to the Dollarway school. During the second day his daughter was kicked and shoved by her white classmates.

Executive Board of D.M. NAACP to Meet Tonight at Willkie

The Executive board of the Des Moines branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, will meet tonight (Thurs.) at Willkie House at 7:30 p.m.

James Meredith Will Return to Ole Miss

Oxford, Miss. — (BULLETIN) — James H. Meredith, the only known Negro to integrate the University of Mississippi, last fall, will return to the campus for the second term. He revealed his decision Wednesday at a press conference attended by 200 newsmen, who cheered when he read his prepared statement, which read in part:

"The Negro should not return to the University of Mississippi. The prospects for him are too unpromising. However, I have decided that I, J. H. Meredith, will register for the second semester."

preme Court appeal. But meanwhile, Clemson is obeying a federal court injunction to enroll the 20-year-old architectural student, who is transferring here from Iowa State University at Ames.

NEWS In A Nutshell

Deerfield Beach, Fla. — Emanuel Knowles, 27, the first Negro ever to run for the Deerfield Beach city commission, drew more votes than any of the six white candidates in the primary election.

Detroit, Mich.—The all-white Trinity Episcopal church in Farmington, a Detroit suburb, has selected a Negro pastor. He is the Rev. Joseph A. Pelham, 32, of Detroit, and a member of the Michigan Episcopal diocese.

Los Angeles, Cal.—Ann Carter, 23, pretty KTYM girl deejay office secretary, divorcee and mother of a small son, slapped a $35,000 lawsuit on two nationally known athletes here last week and swore out a police complaint charging them with attempted rape. Named in the double-barreled court action were Kansas City Athletics pitcher Norman Bass, brother of Dick Bass of the L. A. Rams and Robert Reed, halfback with the Minnesota Vikings.

Pecos, Tex.—The admission of Dr. John Dunn, prominent white obstetrician, that he had kissed a Negro woman just after delivering her baby in Reeves County hospital last summer threw a district court into an uproar here last week. The kissing incident was not given as the reason for Dunn's removal from the hospital staff but Hill Hudson, attorney for the hospital, made much of it during his cross-examination of the doctor.

Little Rock, Ark.—After refusing for months to designate the new junior high school under construction in southeast Little Rock as either white or Negro, the School Board has named it for the late J. R. (Bob) Booker, a prominent Negro lawyer who died in 1960.

Detroit, Mich.—George Leighton, nationally-known Chicago attorney has accepted an appointment to the United Auto Workers Public Review Board.

Minneapolis, Minn.—Mrs. Elmore Maguire, a white woman, has been arrested and charged with killing a Negro man whom she at first told police had accidentally shot himself to death in her home while playing with a gun. Arthur McKinney was the victim.

Yazoo City, Miss.—The formation of an interracial corporation with plans to establish a shoe factory here to employ Negroes on all levels was announced last week by John Oakes, a native of Yazoo and president of the corporation. Oakes, a Negro, said the corporation was organized by 163 persons.

SYLVESTER STROTHER
Iowa Accordion Champ

Sylvester, Strother, 16-year-old junior at East High school, Saturday proved the old adage that "practice makes perfect." He was perfect enough Saturday to climax seven years of accordion lessons and practice by taking first place trophy in the Olympic accordion champion for 1963 in Iowa, sponsored by the Iowa Accordion Teachers Association at Hotel Fort Des Moines. His competition included 35 other participants including several teachers. He was one of two Negro participants.

Winners were announced at the annual I.A.T.A. concert Saturday evening at North High school. Without prior notice, Sylvester and other runner-ups were called on to play their contest number at the contest. Sylvester, who is well-known to local and state-wide talent programs, played "Tocato Fugue in D-Minor," by Johann Sebastian Bach.

Sylvester defeated last year's champion, Dillillo Mordini, accordionist and high school student from Madrid, Ia. Both will go to Chicago, Ill., in July to participate in a national contest.

Last year Sylvester was third runner-up in the Heart of American Accordion Festival in Topeka, Kans., a national invitational contest open to all in the United States. Two years ago he was third runner-up in the I.A.T.A.

Sylvester has been taking lessons for seven years from his teacher, Fred Boreis, of Professional Music Center. He is a member of the Music Center's orchestra composed of teachers and students, which makes concert tours over the state, playing both classical and light music.

At East High Sylvester is on the Quill staff and formerly on the swimming and track team. He also was in charge of the 35 millimeter movie cameras.

When he graduates from East he wants to attend Vandercook college in Chicago, then later land an accordion contract and perhaps teach.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. V. Strother of 815 E. 17th street. He has a younger brother, Marque, 8.

Suggestions for candidates for this series, "Students of the Week" will be greatly appreciated. Any junior or senior high school student in Iowa in good standing with his school and community is eligible. Phone or write your information or the candidate's name and address to the Iowa Bystander.

BOOK REVIEW

Writer Depicts Racial Bias In North Before Civil War

BY MRS. LOUISE GLASS

Not long ago I scanned the book North of Slavery by Leon Litwak. It deals with situations facing Negroes living in states north of the Mason Dixon line during the years just before the Civil War (1790-1860).

Unless the reader is unusually well informed he may meet a good many surprises. He may also find answers to some questions he may have had in mind.

Some Advantages

These Negroes did have some advantages but they also had first hand contact with prejudice and discrimination. They were not legal citizens. Many northern white people were just as saturated with the idea of white superiority as were the slave holders of the South. Even the abolitionists, altho opposing slavery, had no thought of accepting Negroes socially or otherwise. In some areas attempts were made to bar them from the community.

Scattered In North

There were just about 250,000 Negroes in the entire North but they were scattered. They were free to organize but they were sharply divided into warring factions. The church was their best organization and it played an important part. The ministers generally were able leaders of their flocks and were responsible for many forward steps. The church influenced not only the religious life but it was also the social center.

Beyond menial jobs there was little employment. Even the menial was not always available. However, as is always the case, there were many individuals who had that rare talent for turning stumbling blocks into stepping stones.

Road Blocks

In spite of all the road blocks they found the highway to achievement. They established themselves as respected men and women. Their business ventures were remarkably successful. They were outstanding in the professions. So far as they were concerned as individuals race and color lines did not exist.

"North of Slavery" would be an ideal book for a study or discussion group. Or it would be an interesting companion to settle down with these winter evenings.

Voguettes Club Enjoy Fun Night

The Voguettes held Fun Night Jan. 12 at the home of the secretary, Mrs. Ada Humbard. Games were enjoyed and a delicious repast served by the hostess.

A business meeting was held Jan. 26 at the home of Mrs. Catherine Moore, 918 15th street. Mmes. Evelyn Holt and Sadie Taylor led the discussion on Foreign Students.

Mrs. Dorothy Sanders will be hostess to the next meeting.

Ronald Mackey Back From California

Ronald Mackey, 1106 10th street, returned home last week after a three week vacation. He motored to Pasadena, Calif., and watched the Tournament of Roses parade and football games on Jan. 1. Then he went to San Francisco, where he was the houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Jones.

Mrs. Helen T. Danforth Returns from Chicago

Mrs. Helen T. Danforth, 1706 Gillette street, spent 10 days in Chicago, Ill., visiting her daughter, Mrs. Wanda Wadsworth and grandchildren, George Manuel, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Johnson. She attended many social activities while there.

Comparing this winter's seige of Arctic sub-zero temperatures with that of last winter's fare of deep, deep snows, makes it hard for Iowans to decide which they like better, unless it's the absence of both of them. We'll put in our two cents worth, that given a choice, we will take the cold with little or no snow. A least, things do stay cleaner, including floors in homes as well as cars, whose finishes stand up better without the salted slush and muddy waters. But, of course, each to his own kind.

We were tempted to take a sampling of various residents in varied occupation, especially those who have night jobs. We were a little interested in how they dressed or managed during the intensely cold hours going to and from work. If the cold holds we might do it yet.

Demonstrating that self-preservation is the first law of 'man', one employee on the night shift at the Des Moines postoffice, brought along an extra pair of pants to don when he checked out, so he would be warmer for the long drive to his Beaverdale home. Others wore heavy Army type parkas, sweaters and wool shirts.

On last Wednesday when the mercury in Des Moines hit 23 below zero we were again reminded how hardy some youngsters are. We got up and for the first time this winter, drove our youngsters to school. Many of the boys and girls we saw enroute to school, had their faces well protected with scarves across their noses and mouths. However, we saw nearly a half dozen who walked along nonchalantly and seemingly oblivious of the cold, with nothing about their faces.

Of course, we all know, that feeling the extreme cold is partly mental as well as physically. Sometimes we think the temperature does not feel so bad until we hear a radio or television broadcast telling us it is at least 10 degrees colder than what we had thought it was and down goes our body temperatures.

Our oldest son, Victor, after taking the tests for school patrol, was looking anxiously to when he would be appointed to his post. The cold meant nothing to him. Sure enough, last Thursday he had his first stint at the job and again this week. What was his reaction? He liked it very much. It didn't matter that it was about 10 degrees below zero while he had to stand out and do his job.

The oldest son of Atty. and Mrs. James B. Morris, Jr., 1600 Hickman road, met with a little mishap Saturday morning. He was going on a hunting trip with his father, when alighting from the car, he slipped on some ice and fell and broke his leg. Luckily, Dr. Robert M. Johnson, was along, and they rushed the Washington Irving junior high student to the hospital where his leg was set.

Our candidate for "Youth of the Week" in this issue is a youngster who is familiar to followers of talent shows in the city and state. He was among two Negro competitors in the Olympic division of the Accordion contest here Saturday. The other Negro contestant was Betty Jo Moore, who was fourth runnerup in the competition.

We would like to remind all mid-year graduates who would like their pictures and writeups in the annual

EDITORIALS + FEATURES + SPORTS

SOUTH CAROLINA LEARNS BY MISSISSIPPI ERRORS

During the debate going on in the U. S. Senate over changing rule XXII which would make it easier to cut off debate, Senator Howard of Florida makes much adieu over the amount being spent by the federal government to get and keep one Negro, James Meredith, in the University of Mississippi. Walter Lippman, noted columnist, joins in the criticism both stating that nothing had been gained by such a large outlay of funds.

It is not surprising that either of these men would take such a view because each has argued that the Negro should keep quiet and win his rights by education and tolerance. Of course, there are others who take the same position forgetting that no race or nation has won its rights except by fighting for them. America itself did not.

In fact Lippman uses one set of rules of reason in dealing with civil rights for Negroes and another for rights of citizens generally. And these views are always contrary to the forward thinking people of the nation.

But something was gained in this operation which goes further than money. The admission of Harvey Gantt to Clemson College without violence and in a state which heretofore had boasted "never integration" is a noteworthy accomplishment.

The south has opposed federal as against state laws when the rights of Negroes were in question. Such politicians as Gov. Barnett of Mississippi have been able to fool the people and work them up to such a pitch that a most disgraceful episode occurred at the university which damaged the school and the state.

The power structure in South Carolina, recognizing the disgrace resistance to law and order had brought Mississippi, told their citizens that even though they opposed integration, South Carolina would obey the decisions of the court and maintain law and order.

A democracy cannot thrive in world society unless it protects all of its citizens; unless it settles all of its problems in an orderly fashion rather than by mob action. This is mighty important and thus every dime spent to carry out court orders and maintain law and order in Mississippi has paid off.

REPRESENTATION NEEDED ON SCHOOL BOARD

The Des Moines Independent School District has elected John R. Haydon a member of the board. He succeeds Joseph I. Brody who died suddenly a few days ago. The new appointee is an excellent business executive and no doubt will be an asset to the board.

A group of Negro citizens submitted a candidate for the post but without success. This is in no way a criticism of the selection.

In the petition, it suggested that the board should broaden its base of representation; that this principle is recognized even in many southern communities which have added Negroes to school boards.

Des Moines should be no exception to the program of other boards that have Negroes as members. It would be far better for the board to appoint the first one; afterwards it would be easier to re-elect the appointee at the next election.

Maybe, it would be well to work out some such program with those who control the situation. If such an effort is not successful then Negroes should begin now to place a candidate in the race.

The school system has done a good job hiring Negro teachers. It cannot stop here but must include some Negroes in the management of that system.

HAILS JUSTICE

children of federal employees and servicemen at Redstone Arsenal near Huntsville, Ala.; Brookley Air Force Base, Mobile, Ala.; Keesler Air Force Base in the Biloxi-Gulphort, Miss., area; and the arksdale Air Force base near Shreveport, La. The NAACP had filed complaints with federal agencies about these and other Jim Crow schools servicing federal personnel.

The Willie House basketball players will resume their annual feud with the team from Minneapolis, Minn., at Willie House Saturday. We guess it will be 8 p.m. or later. We understand there are some tough games at the Center in that league and a lot of the fellows, one might think have dropped out of the game, may be found in one of the Willie House leagues.

Along with local sports comes the announcement that the Hilltop Open tennis meet will be held Aug. 1-4 this summer. Wish we could get some of our kids in it to really work towards that date.

As we watched the recent Los Angeles track meet we wondered why American colleges and high schools don't go in for women's and girl's track teams. In this way we could soon build-up enough strength in these events to at least hold our own around the world.

In the last four Olympics if it were not for Tennessee A. and I, we would have really been shutout in women's track. Out of the girl's competing at Los Angeles there were two Tennessee State runners, a couple of high school girls and the German runners. And three of the five finalists were Negroes. Maybe some day there will be a lot of collegiate women's track teams but don't hold your breath until that happens.

John Thomas

High jumper John Thomas may have matured enough to have regained his confidence and may yet provide the competition for the Russians that he was supposed to have done a while back.

But, with our best sprinters either talking of retiring or turning to professional athletics, this country is going to have to come up with a whole new crop of sprinters and hurdlers.

Golden Gloves

We didn't think the Golden Gloves was enough to bother to see any more but now with one meet for the whole state Iowa may send a team with a chance of getting some place and just think of the cities that used to have Glovers meets, Sioux City, Des Moines, Cedar Rapids, Burlington, Clinton. In fact, there were probably a dozen around the state. Easier means of transportation has helped lack of interest kill the meets.

There aren't too many places that one can't reach by car within a few hours so in view of the declining interest one meet sounds pretty good to be there to see the brawls.

Atkins Fined $100 In Assault Case

Richard Atkins, 32, who gave his address as 1016 University ave, was fined $100 Thursday, Jan. 24, by Polk County District Judge Tom K. Morrow.

Atkins pleaded guilty to a charge of assaulting James Newbolt, 1246 Eleventh st., with intent to inflict great bodily injury last Sept. 19 by cutting Newbolt on an arm and a hand with a knife in the 1600 block of Pleasant street.

Class Canceled

Huntsville, Ala.—The University of Alabama canceled an extension course offered here after a Negro woman applied for admission. Officials at the university's Huntsville Center said they acted because they were unable to get speakers needed for a course, a six-week seminar on current affairs. However, integration leaders are pretty sure that the cancellation was because Mrs. John Cashin, wife of a local dentist, applied.

STATUTE WON'T ADVANCE

This was Philadelphia CORE's reaction to a proposal by Mayor James Tate for a statue commemorating the Emancipation Proclamation to be financed through contributions of local school children.

Sonny Liston-Floyd Patterson Rematch Set April 4 in Miami

Miami Beach, Fla.—It's finally settled. Sonny Liston, heavyweight boxing champion of the world, will meet dethroned boxer, in a rematch bout on Apr. 4 at Convention Hall here.

After weeks of wrangling, Champion Sports, Inc., said last week agreement had been reached on "all points," for the return fisticuffs between the two, which many fans believed would never come off.

The final stumbling block apparently was the demand by Liston's advisor, Jack Nilon, that the champion be paid the $207,000 held back from his purse after the first fight to guarantee the return bout. Nilon had insisted that $85,000 in cash be paid to Liston immediately and that the balance be placed in escrow.

Worried Over Knee Injury, Willie Ray Smith Leaves Iowa

Iowa City, Ia.—Because worries over his knee injuries reportedly had affected his academic studies, Willie Ray Smith, a promising sophomore reserve halfback, has withdrawn from the State University of Iowa and returned to his Beaumont, Texas, home.

In several Hawkeye games last fall, Smith showed flashy speed and an ability to carry the pigskin. He carried the ball 37 times and made 136 yards. He caught three forward passes for 50 yards and scored one touchdown.
