'Lawrence of Arabia' Top Epic, Colorful Desert Scenes, Acting

By Frances E. Hawthorne
Last week we had the privilege of attending the capacity house opening night premiere showing of 'Lawrence of Arabia' as guests of the Capri Theater management.

It is one of the most beautiful and magnificent epics of pageantry and sound I have seen in years. The stars are sensitive and outstanding, particularly the Egyptian star, Omah Sharif who plays an Arabian sheik and second lieutenant to the Arabian king. You will never realize how beautiful and desolate the desert is, at night and during the day, until you have seen this movie. That alone is worth the price of admission.

Star

Eugene O'Toole, a practically unknown actor, who plays the lead of Lawrence, gives an outstanding performance. The battle scenes are gripping but realistically gory, in some instances.

Humaness

In addition, you learn something else . . . how really human the Arabs are, that they too feel the urge to higher national and intellectual glory and are not all a blood thirsty, sword

BILLIE J. WADE

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Wade, 1036 17th street, Billie J. Wade was in the upper 15% of her class at Des Moines Tech. S. teacher at St. Paul A.M.E., and member of NAACP Youth chapter and Methodist Youth Council. ARTHURLENE PROPEES

In the top 15% of her class at North High was Arthurlene Propes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Propes, 1118 17th street. She was secretary of her senior class, president of home room, member of Student council, rench and Pep clubs, and A Capella choir. During downtown businessmen and Student day, she governed the office the Home Reading service at the Public Library. She is president of the Methodist Youth council, S. S. teacher at St. Paul A.M.E., and member of La Crema Dels federated club. She plans to enter Grand View college to study education or library science.

Jas. Dixon Family Leave For Liberia, West Africa

By Frances E. Hawthorne
After a truly royal sendoff and with the enthusiastic felicitations of relatives, friends and business associates still ringing in their ears, Mr. and Mrs. James F. Dixon, and daughter, Tracie, 715 28th street, embarked on the first leg of their journey to just finished the Des Moines school season at Sabin, it will mean back to the books, as it is the middle of the nine-month school session there. Vacation will not be until January through March.

9-Month on Own

For Mr. Dixon, who was formerly Central YMCA youth secretary here for two years, it will be an intensive six weeks of trying to learn all the angles and duties of his new job under his boss, David Howe, General secretary who has been in Liberia the past 14 years. Mr. Howe is scheduled to leave July 30 for a three month conference of the World Fellowship of the YMCA in Geneva, Switzerland and then come on to the United States for a six-month sabbatical leave. So for the first nine month beginning in August Mr. Dixon will have to carry the whole program himself.

New Home

For Mrs. Dixon, (Betty June as she is known in Des Moines) a beautician for 12 years, it will mean immediate preparation in organizing their new three-bedroom ranch style home in readiness for their furniture which was shipped from Des Moines last week. It will take at least five to six weeks for it to arrive by boat. Their new home which also includes two baths, is all electric, built on stilts which are hidden by a lattice work, and running water and all other modern equipment and is located 100 yards from the beach in a residential area. However, for health reasons all drinking water must be boiled first. All homes in Africa are built on stilts, which make them seem to be two-story, because of the heavy winter rainfall which amounts to some 200 inches.

Health Facilities

In a letter from Mr. Howe the Dixons were told that "health facilities were good although care must be taken against tropical disease especially malaria, but you don't have to have a phobia about them."

It was evident the Dixons have no

Monrovia, Liberia, Africa, where they will live for the next three years.

They were to be in New York City for a one-day briefing, put their car on a ship and board a jet airliner for their new home where Mr. Dixon will serve as Associate general secretary of the YMCA of Liberia, with headquarters in Monrovia.

'Toast of Town'

The Dixons, who for the past several months have been the "toast of the town" and treated royally with parties, dinners, special programs and numerous gifts many of them elaborate, will land in the midst of the winter season, which is extremely rainy, in Africa.

If you like top notch film fare, don't miss seeing "Lawrence of Arabia." If you do you will readily see why it won seven Academy awards.

Gary, Ind.—The president of the Gary School board, Dr. Leroy Bingham, a Negro dentist, and four other members of the board, survived efforts to oust them when a dispute between the group and the Gary Teachers union-local ended last week.

Philadelphia, Pa.—A Negro architect, Walter R. Livingston, is the architect of a $1.2 million replacement that was one of the three school construction sites ticketed for picketing last week by the NAACP in protest of job discrimination against Negro workers.

Detroit, Mich.—A court battle over the will of a former white Detroit socialite who died recently leaving the bulk of her estate, some $200,000, to her Negro husband, William Tibbs, flared anew here last week.

Atlanta, Ga.—Lovett, a fashionable private school, has been told by the Episcopal bishop of Atlanta to disassociate or be disassociated from the church.

Atlanta—Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., said last week his Southern Christian Leadership Conference has collected and spent "well over" $800,000 in the eight-week drive to desegregate Birmingham.

Governor Yields After Blocking Entrance; JFK Urges End to Racial Bias

Tuscaloosa, Ala. — It was almost the same as Mississippi . . . The scene was the same, a college campus . . . The event was the same . . . Negro students trying to enroll for the best advance education aided by a federal court order . . . Their opposition was the same . . . a defiant state governor who stood at the gates to block their entrance. But there was a difference. There were no crowds, no jeering students, no violence of any kind.

This was the campus of the University of Alabama. Governor George C. Wallace, kept his vows of defiance Tuesday and blocking the doorway, read a statement to federal officials escorting two Negro students, then hours later yielded when President Kennedy federalized the Alabama National Guard.

Registered

Soon after Governor Wallace left the campus, the Negroes registered. They were Vivian Malone and James Hood. They paid their fees with newsmen and photographers crowding around. A group of white students stood nearby, curiously and calmly.

News Conference

"This is our first and final news conference," Hood said. "We are very happy our registration has taken place without incident. We hope to get down to our purpose—study."

Miss Malone said, "I'm glad registration is over and we can get down to studying. That's all we want to do here."

Student Relations

Even while Governor Wallace

tinued this week to deliberate the fate of 14 Black Muslims accused of assault in a riot last year in which one sect member was killed.

New York—Singer Johnny Mathis

announced that he will terminate the recording ties he has had with Columbia Records since 1955 in July and will start recording for a new company of which he is part owner.

Happy After A Very Narrow Escape!

Smiling happily after a very narrow escape with death is Frank G. Miller, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Miller of Los Angeles, Calif., and his rescuer and aunt, Bonita Jones, 17, of 1030 27th street.

Miss Jones saved Frank's life Friday evening, June 7 when she found him locked in a refrigerator stored in a garage at her home. She said

Frank was not breathing when she opened the door and he was "hot as fire." She said she shook him and he started breathing again.

A Fire department rescue squad was called and administered oxygen. Then Frank was taken to Raymond Blank hospital for examination and then released.

Frank is visiting at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Frank Jones, of the same address and said Frank was playing with other children, and it was a few minutes when they realized he was missing. Children and adults in the neighborhood began a search for him.—Photo courtesy of Des Moines Register.

Carter Warns D.M. NAACP to Watch Bias in This Area

In a special executive board meeting June 4, of the Des Moines branch of the NAACP, Leonard V. Carter, Region IV executive secretary, Kansas City, Mo., stressed that the "NAACP program must focus attention to all who reside in the city. We must meet the hopes and expectations of the people."

"Watch discrimination in this area," he warned. "Des Moines cannot be compared to Jackson, Miss., but there is lots of work to be done here."

Carter also reported that the Waterloo and Davenport branches had been reorganized and are proceeding "very well."

We were interested (and thought you would be, too) in what the graduating youths of today are thinking, particularly what they consider to be the greatest challenge facing them and what are their goals. Therefore this column is devoted to and dedicated to them and those who gave them inspiration through the past years.

Arthurlene Propes, North honor grad: "I think one should consider that all youth aren't and shouldn't necessarily be striving for the same end. I would like to be able to grow older with the satisfaction of knowing I have succeeded in life at something, no matter how small or insignificant it might seem to others, . . . and look back on a 'job well done'. I think the ultimate end should be peacefulness within oneself that grows with worthwhile achievement in striving to fulfill the laws of God and for the betterment of our race!"

Sharon Carter, Tech honor graduate: "The challenge to the Negroes is of gaining equal rights. My goal is to do all I can to help obtain these rights. I feel we are going to meet this challenge. Until this goal is reached there will be racial discrimination not only in the south but here in the north, too."

Carolyn Clinton, East honor graduate: "The greatest challenge is for youth to seek higher education, be qualified for the job opportunities which are opening. For the gratification of wealth is not found in mere possession, nor in its lavish expenditure, but in its wise application. My goal is to attain a B.A. degree."

Phyllis Sharp, Tech honor grad whose goal is to become head dietitian in a hospital: "I feel, especially since I'm a Negro, the greatest challenge . . . is to go out into the world and seek work that will be a challenge to my abilities. Anyone can take a broom or dust rag under their arm and do a pretty decent, clean-up job. But not everyone will try for a higher paying job, or one that they know will take a lot of effort to get, especially if he is a Negro."

Billie J. Wade, Tech honor graduate: ". . . the greatest challenge is the pursuit of higher education. Equal job opportunities are of little value if the Negro race fails to produce qualified men and women to fill them. It is more important now than ever that the Negro obtain a higher degree of learning, not only from the financial standpoint but so we may have more individuals capable of presenting intelligent measures in the fight for equality."

Dianne Simmons, Tech grad: "The greatest challenge . . . is the climb that all Negroes have to make."

Tony D. Higgins, Tech grad: "The greatest challenge . . . is the atomic arms crisis and race for space, and in the United States the desegregation problem."

Paula Hearlold, North graduate: "Everyone should strive for a better education and make the best out of life. Young adults should work to their fullest ability and use all they have to work with; because there is so much to learn and so little time to learn everything, we should learn all we can."

Deanne L. Latham, East grad: "The greatest challenge . . . for youths is getting a correct understanding of God's Word, the Bible. My goal is to set an example for all young persons by serving Jehovah God and proclaiming his name."

Lovely Presentation of Nine 'Potential Debutantes' Sat.

By Frances E. Hawthorne
"You are about to witness the most beautiful presentation to come to Des Moines," the emcee, Hugh Semple, intoned, and the audience of nearly 100 sat up with expectation and excitement.

The occasion was the Potential Debutante dinner-recital in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Fort Des Moines Saturday evening. As the house lights dimmed parents of Potential Debs and escorts along with civic minded groups and friends seated in groups of eight to 10 at tables focused on the spotlighted center stage, which was decorated with artificial roses and ferns.

As each Potential Debutante name was called, she walked arm in arm with her escort to the center stage, they exchanged bows, then stepped on and took a graceful pose on the turntable. Then she took the waiting hand of her respective father, stepped off, and bowed in a deep full curtsy to the audience, then walked arm in arm with her father to an appointed place around the edge of the stage.

The girls wore lovely ballroom length gowns of deep rose pink or green with matching gossamer trains, short white gloves and white shoes. Their escorts and father were in white jacket tuxedos with red rose boutonnieres. Most of the mothers of the Potential Debutantes and escorts wore lovely full length evening gowns.

Sylvia L. Lawrence, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Lawrence, escorted by Steven Young, son of Mrs. Victor Blakely; Blanche L. Johnson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert M. Johnson, escorted by William Sharp, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Sharp, Sr.; Vonderlyre E. Watkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Watkins escorted by Michael Clinton, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Clinton; and Mona A. Bell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Turner Bell escorted by Eustace John Ware, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Eustace Ware.

Stand Ins
The Hendersons were represented by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Staples and Mrs. Blakely was represented by Dr. and Mrs. Julien Mason. Following the presentation the Debs and their fathers waltzed to "Melody of Love." A recital of ballroom dancing was given by the Debs and their escorts followed by the Grand March.

Sponsors

The event was sponsored by the L.T. Club, of which Mrs. Ralph Parker, director of the event, is president, assisted by the Puella Legatoes club, of which Mrs. C. Frank Franklin is president. A telegram of felicitations was also read from Judge and Mrs. Luther T. Glanton, Jr., who were unable to attend. Movie pictures were taken by Peter Hawthorne, Jr. assisted by Fred McAliley.

SIXTY-NINE YEARS OF NEWSPAPER WORK

Thirty years ago the Bystander began publishing an Annual Anniversary Edition, followed by one 50 years of publication, later 25 years of service by the present editor and later 40 years by him. These special editions emphasize long periods of service as well as provide a special incentive for advertisers to buy space in the paper.

At times, these have been quite successful. However, with a large number of organizations doing the same thing (some without having made any contribution to the community) the field gets cluttered up.

This year marks the 69th year the Bystander has been published; 41 under the present management. Started by a group of men who hoped to provide a medium for 1) publishing the news about Negroes (most publications printing little other than crime news about them; 2) employment for young Negroes who, during that time were excluded from newspaper work and 3) to make a few extra dollars. All of them had jobs upon which they relied for a living.

A publication must earn a profit or be subsidized. Few Negro business institutions existed in Des Moines (and its true today) so the advertising revenue was drawn from businesses operated by white people who enjoyed their trade or, in many cases, as shown in these advertising columns by wellwishers of the undertaking.

Newspaper business is no bed of roses as is shown by the large number which have sprung up during the past 69 years and passed out of existence. Few new ones are being started fearing the consequences that have befallen one after another, even in Des Moines.

The Bystander has struggled through these years hoping to help improve the lot of the Negro and thus the whole community it serves. It has not compromised one bit on civil rights and has supported the projects which it felt worthy and, at times, opposed others often differing with the views of some of its friends.

This program has made many friends for the paper: it has helped to improve the lot of Negroes; it has contributed to the improvement of the community.

No business can continue without friends in the commercial world, as well as the general public it serves. This, the Bystander has enjoyed. It can continue with that support and that of the people it serves. For all kind consideration, we are thankful.

Your anniversary greeting to the Bystander will be amply served by paying your subscription and/or that of a friend or urging him to do likewise.

THE INTEGRATION
STRUGGLE GOES ON

Governor Wallace of Alabama has made good his threats to stand in the door and block the admission of two Negroes from the University but he never said how long his blocking would continue. This, he left wisely to the U. S. authorities.

It is most ridiculous that a man of his intelligence would attempt to block the proper exercise of the civil rights of these youngsters when precedents in Little Rock and Mississippi showed that Uncle Sam always wins. And since Alabama is the last state where no integrated schools existed, it is hoped that America can be spared of further experiences of this kind.

Writing in the Des Moines Register last Sunday, Richard Wilson, head of its Washington bureau, cautioned that Negroes, particularly their leaders, should not engage in tactics, in the struggle, for their personal aggrandizement which lose them friends.

Examples of such conduct is the organization and support of the muslim movement and the threat that Negroes would not fight for the U.S. if it went to war with Cuba; that they would hesitate to bear arms against other countries because of their mistreatment in America.

These, we agree, are dangerous positions to take and get us nowhere fast. And while this is somewhat news, these statements about bearing arms against the U.S. have cropped up

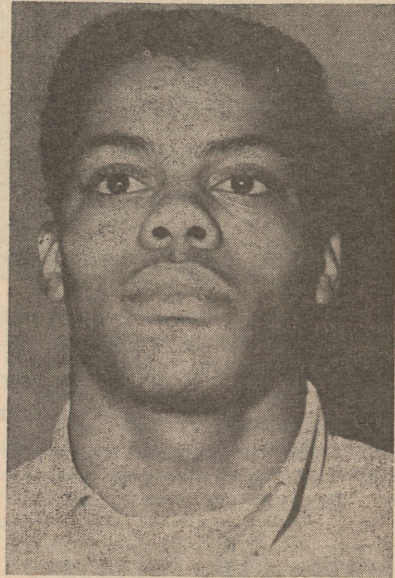

North's Clyde Duncan Will Run in
AAU Trials Next Week at St. Louis

By Frances E. Hawthorne

A 17-year-old Des Moines youth whose 'flying' track feats have brought him headlines and accolades and have made him the idol of small youngsters around the state, has his feet pretty solidly on the ground.

Triple Champion

Our subject is none other than Clyde Duncan, triple crown sprint champion from North High, the first trackster to create such a stir on the cinder path since the Des Moines

DUNCAN

Tech 'Flying Taylors.' However, Duncan owns all three records in the 100 yard dash, 220 and 440 at North, all three district and state Class AA records. The 220 at North is on the curve. He has still to run a 220 straight. And with all of this he is considered as not having reached his greatest "potential" yet. This belief is held by many including his coach, Jimmy Lyle, (who is also one of his greatest admirers).

Remains Same

News sports writers and announcers around the state have heaped compliments on Duncan's running feats, and have been looking for new words to describe him. Yet with all of this, Duncan has remained the same, a confident, courteous young gentleman, accepting the accolades with a smiling "Thank you" and then setting down later to write a "thank you" note to a particular writer.

Running Long Time

Duncan who comes from a family of seven brothers and seven sisters "just likes to run" and has been running in track competition as far back as the second grade at Nash school. As far as most know, he has more years of competing in the Drake Relays than any other Des Moines native. He still holds the 440 relay record at Washington Irving Junior high he set in 1960.

Likes 220 Best.

Of the three track events, Duncan said, "I like the 220 best because you can kind of loaf and still win, although this doesn't always happen."

"I like to run in hot weather best, I guess because I ran my best then," he added. He was referring to his 9.5 in the inaugural Iowa Federation track meet at Drake several weeks ago.

If his track achievements keep up Duncan probably will be deluged with scholarship offers around the country, but his greatest goal is to participate on an Olympic track team for the U. S. He will get his first chance in that general direction next week when he performs June 21-22 in the A. A. U. track trial meet in St. Louis, Mo. Because there are qualifying times, Duncan will run in the 100 and 220.

Aside from a job, Duncan will keep in training this summer by running at Goode park and on the North high before. Like all other races, the Negro has some members who take these extreme views but they are not of the rank and file or the responsible leadership among them. They know that the loyalty of the Negro to his country has been and is one of his greatest assets. The only difference is that now the Negro is demanding more for himself of that for which he has fought for others to gain.

The Bystander refuses to support any organization of hate against anyone or condone the loose talk that Negroes would not fight for their country. Such views are untenable as well as morally wrong. Certainly, a man who will not fight for his country has no right to be in it, or to expect the protection which his country offers all of its citizens.

Cassius Clay Arrives
In London; Predicts
Cooper Kayo In Fifth

Lippy and currently "Gaseous" Cassius Clay, aspirant contender for the world's heavyweight crown, made his auspicious entry into London, England, recently and announced that he would kayo Henry Cooper, the British heavyweight champion, in the fifth round of their scheduled June 18 bout.

Clay went to London by plane from Louisville, Ky., his hometown. He admitted upon arrival that he didn't feel too well thanks to the plane ride but he would take it out on his foe.

looking forward to their life and duties for their next three years, which all began with an obscure phone call back last January.

The person on the other end of the call from New York identified himself and wanted to know if Mr. Dixon had ever considered any overseas work. The caller also indicated that he had gone over all the papers and credentials relative to Mr. Dixon's work during his career in the YMCA.

Intensive Interviews

The phone call was followed up with a trip to Des Moines and an interview with the Dixons and YMCA officials here, then a trip to New York for the Dixons in which they underwent intensive interviews, psychological tests and physical examinations for four days, together and separately. Shortly afterwards the personnel committee of the International Committee informed them they had reviewed the Dixons tests, offered them the position and it was accepted.

Hope and Humility

Mr. and Mrs. Dixon approach the coming years with its accompanying experiences and rewards, with high hopes and humility.

Said Mrs. Dixon, "I plan to help my husband all I can. I hope we can do all that is expected of us being we are representing the United States. It is a wonderful opportunity. I can't imagine how they found us. It took my husband to do this for he is very dedicated to his work."

Said Mr. Dixon, "It will be challenging and the experience we gain will be greater than anything state-side.

statement in connection with the Alabama issue and the rising tide of racial unrest.

In his radio-television talk, the President, citing the Alabama crisis, said he will ask Congress next week for legislation that would:

1. Prohibit stores, hotels, restaurants, and theaters from discriminating against Negroes.
2. Allow the federal government to take a more active part in court suits aimed at desegregating public schools.
3. Allow Negroes to take advantage of their right to vote.

But the President said that legislation alone would not do the job of insuring that the U. S. Constitution is color-blind.

"This is not a sectional issue," Mr. Kennedy emphasized. "Difficulties over segregation and discrimination exist in every city, in every state of the union, producing in many cities a rising tide of discontent that threatens the public safety."
