Leaders Sign Major Agreement in Cambridge

After Negroes, Whites Hold 8-Hr. Meeting In U.S. Justice Dept.

Washington, D.C. — The cloistered halls of the U.S. Justice Department was the scene of the signing of a peace agreement—a major breakthrough — between Negroes and whites in Cambridge, Md., which has been troubled by varied racial troubles the past 19 months.

The document, designed to end violence in the eastern-shore fishing community, was signed at the Justice Department. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy also signed, as a witness.

Agreement followed more than eight hours of talks Monday night with Asst. Atty. Gen. Burke Marshall by Negro leaders and Maryland state officials. Kennedy had met with the group for an hour.

No Victories

Afterwards, Mrs. Gloria Richardson, spokesman for the Negroes and Mayor Calvin Mowbray, who along with City Atty. C. Awdry Thompson signed the agreement, issued a joint statement in which they noted that the agreement was "neither a victory or defeat for either side."

The four page agreement—read in the form of a resolution at a news conference by Kennedy—listed these steps being taken in hopes of meeting Negro demands:

Firm assurance that desegregation of the first four grades in the Dorchester County school system will be accomplished by the opening of the school year in September. Applications for admission to any grade in any school within the system "are now ready to be received and processed."

Washington, D.C. — President John F. Kennedy supported a "peaceful assembly" in Washington at his press conference Wednesday and hit those who express alarm over demonstrations but "never talk about the problem of redressing grievances."

The President explained that the manner in which the proposed Aug. 28 "March on Washington" has developed shows "every evidence that it is going to be peaceful."

WARNING TO NAACP: WILKINS—LEAVE OR DIE

Chicago — The NAACP was threatened with the death of Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins unless he left the country by July 20.

A postcard addressed to the Chicago office of the Association and signed with the initials "K.P." warned all NAACP members "if your head, Roy Wilkins, wants to live beyond Sat., 7-20, he had better leave the country."

The card further stated "I warn you I make no empty threats." The Chicago office received the card, written in an awkward script, on July 16.

The card was immediately turned over to a Chicago agent of the F.B.I. who stated that it would be referred to the U.S. Attorney. Both the Chicago Police Department and the U.S. Postal Inspector's Office in Chicago are investigating. The F.B.I. in New York and the New York Police Department were also notified.

Although Wilkins is accustomed to receiving ugly letters and telephone calls, actual threats on his life have been rare.

Davenport Voter Drive for Negro

Davenport, Ia. — Plans for a mass Negro voter registration sign up were announced here Friday by members of the Third Missionary Baptist church. The voter drive has been set for Aug. 21.

About 100 church members are expected to participate.

His statement followed a protest made by Negro church leaders. Statewide Meeting, Parade Will Focus Support of Civil Rights Legislation

Do we need to attend a Civil Rights Rally Saturday, July 27?

"I would be there except I'm in a group that has planned for weeks to have a party, so I have to be loyal to my group, don't I?"

"Gee, that's a poor date. Most people want to get out of town in such hot weather on Saturday. Could they have gotten a better date?"

"If I'd known earlier, I'd have made plans. But this is so sudden! I can't be there."

"What's the use? Not many people will show up. Who pays any attention to us anyhow?"

"Things are pretty good in the North! Governor Hughes said race relations are improving in Iowa. Why emphasize the negative?"

"After all, I work for a white man, and he thinks this rally is sponsored by left-wingers. I don't want to make trouble with him."

"The NAACP is run by the upper classes. Why should I support this rally? They aren't really interested in me!"

"Who thinks Senator Hickenlooper or Senator Miller will listen to us anyhow? They won't come. Why should I?"

"Let's face it. Negroes will never be treated as equal to white Americans. It's better to face this than pretend we can get anywhere! I'm going to stay home and watch the ball game on TV. Keep cool, man! Keep cool!"

"I'm always too rushed on Saturday. You know I work hard on Sunday at church, and getting ready for my Sunday services is as much as I can do on hot Saturdays. Besides, I wasn't asked to pray at the Rally! Maybe I'll be there for part of the Rally. But I have to get my hair fixed for the afternoon party of my club, and that takes time."

Members of the Planning Committee for the State NAACP Legislative

SEE PAGE TWO

Members of the planning committee for the statewide civil rights conference Saturday at 10 a.m. at the statehouse, have been working feverishly for the past few weeks in insure a memorable event. Their physical goal is 1,000 Negroes and whites at the conference and for the parade which is scheduled to leave the statehouse about 12 noon enroute downtown. Their moral goal is to indicate to state legislators and national congressmen that Iowans want them to vote for and support the civil rights legislations proposed by President Kennedy.

Youth Sing

The conference will begin with a Youth Sing Rally for Freedom with members of the Des Moines Youth council singing many of the Freedom songs they heard at the recent national NAACP convention in Chicago, Ill.

Charleston Sets Huge Bonds For Demonstration Leaders

Charleston, S.C. — City officials, in a vicious attempt to halt the five-week-old campaign against segregation here, fixed bail on two NAACP leaders in the amount of $15,000 each on July 18.

According to Matthew J. Perry, NAACP state attorney, the usual bond set in such arrests is $100. Funds are now being raised for Rev. I. DeQuincey Newman, NAACP South Carolina field secretary, and James G. Blake, Jr., youth member of the NAACP Board of Directors, and it is expected that they will be released shortly.

Rev. Newman and Mr. Blake were arrested together with 66 other persons on the evening of Tuesday, July 16, on charges of rioting and inciting to riot. This brought the total number of arrests during the five-week demonstration to over 700.

Protest Newspaper

Tuesday night's demonstration involved approximately 500 persons who were protesting the policies of the city's daily newspapers, the News and Courier and the Charleston Evening Post. When police started arresting the demonstrators, the mood of the onlooking crowd grew tense and some of the spectators threw rocks at the police.

Refuses to Negotiate

The following day Governor Donald L. Russell ordered 125 state troopers into the city and also alerted the National Guard. Mayor J. Palmer Gaillard has refused to negotiate on the grounds that no effective negotiations can be conducted while demonstrations continue.

Despite the mayor's statement and a restraining order issued by Circuit Judge Clarence E. Singletary against Rev. Newman, NAACP State President J. Arthur Brown, James Blake and others active in the demonstrations, protests have continued.

A mass rally was held on the evening of July 18. Speaking to a crowd of 800 persons was Gloster B. Current, NAACP director of branches, who arrived that day to assist local leaders.

Meanwhile Atty. Perry and a panel of six Charleston lawyers are striving for a hearing on the restraining order. Judge Singletary has refused to set any date for the hearing but advised the lawyers that they could reappear before him on July 30 when he would hear a motion for a hearing.

Since demonstrations began on June 9 a variety of direct action tactics have been used including sit-ins, kneel-ins, picketing and marches. Approximately 15,000 persons have been involved and thus far have cost the NAACP $700,000 in cash and bail bonds.

Dairies, Katz Drug Agree to Hire, Promote Without Bias in Voluntary Merit Plan

Three dairy companies in Des Moines have agreed to "take more affirmative steps to implement Fair Employment Practices and at the same time notified the Des Moines commission on Human Rights of present job openings.

8 Companies

The three companies, Anderson-Erickson, Borden and Flynn, made the announcement July 18 following a meeting with the Commission, which resulted in the following statement, "The employment policy of this firm is that the recruiting, hiring, training, assignment and promotion for all positions shall be on the basis of bona fide job qualifications irrespective of race, religious creed, national origin or ancestry."

Katz Agrees

Ernest Russell, executive secretary of the Des Moines Commission on Human Rights, also announce Tuesday that Katz Drug Co. is accepting applications from all persons seeking employment with the firm. Recruitment, hiring, training and assignment of persons will be solely on the basis of job qualifications, said Russell.

Voluntary Merit

As a part of its voluntary merit employment program, the Commission is meeting with various Des Moines businesses and industries urging these employers in the spirit of Ordinance No. 5775—on Human Rights and Job Discrimination, to take the step taken by the dairies.

Dr. Robert M. Johnson, chairman of the Commission on Human Rights, issued the following statement:

"It is the hope of the Commission on Human Rights that other businesses and industries in the city of Des Moines will cooperate with the Commission in this voluntary merit employment program as readily and sincerely as these four firms. I applaud these firms, as well as those Des Moines firms that have already initiated Fair Employment Practices and employ minority group people in all occupations and levels of occupations, for their contribution to the betterment of race relations in our community."

Rights Rally

Rally Saturday, July 27, have heard all the above reasons given by Negro friends this past week. White friends have some of the same reasons, some different ones, if they don't want to come.

Did you know that one thousand Iowans at the Saturday Rally might keep America from a very bloody race war within the next six months?

The Midwest, the East, the West, the South looks to Des Moines Saturday. If you aren't in the House of Representatives' Chamber, 10 a.m., perhaps Senator Hickman was right last week when he said that Iowans don't care about civil rights.

Upholds Powell's Arrest Immunity

New York, N. Y.—Justice Charles Marks denied Monday, July 22, an order of arrest for Representative Adam Clayton Powell, Jr., (Dem., N. Y.). The order had been sought by a woman who won a $211,739 judgment from him for defamation.

Justice Marks upheld the constitutional privilege granting immunity to members of Congress during the legislative session.

Mrs. Esther James won the award last April, on her charge that she had been defamed by the congressman when he called her "a bag woman for the police department." It was Mrs. James' second attempt to have Powell arrested on the ground that he failed to pay the judgment.

Texas Church Opens Doors to Negroes

Dallas, Texas—The previously all-white South Loop Baptist church, in a racially mixed district, Wednesday, July 17, accepted a Negro woman and two Negro children as members.

A Southern Baptist Convention spokesman said at least a dozen other churches in the convention integrated earlier.

The Rev. H. P. Shaw said the three accepted an invitation to join the 400-member church along with several white persons at a mid-week prayer service. Their names were not made public.

Washington, D. C.—The 200,000-member National Association of Colored Women's Clubs announced plans for a concerted drive for racial integration of its local affiliates throughout the nation. The campaign will begin immediately, according to Dr. Rosa L. Gragg, NACWC president.

In a letter to NACWC federation presidents in 41 states and the District of Columbia, Dr. Gragg said, "In keeping with the request of President Kennedy that women's organizations of all races have an open door policy and that there be no discrimination in the membership of our respective organizations, the National Association of Colored Women's Clubs will begin today to implement this directive."

NNPA Establishes Offices in N. Y. C.

New York City, N. Y.—E. Washington Rhodes, President of the National Newspaper Publishers Association, announced today the establishment of national offices for the Association at 310 Madison Avenue, New York City, N. Y.

Rhodes also announced the appointment of Mr. Franklin H. Whittaker, former Publisher of the Pittsburgh Courier and most recently Special Assistant, U.S. Department of Commerce, to the post of Executive Director of the Association. Mr. Whittaker is also a member of the Cincinnati law firm of Fulton, Elliott, Graves and Whittaker.

The establishment of national offices and the appointment of an Executive Director are initial steps in a wide ranging program developed by the Publishers at their recently concluded convention, held June 26-29 in Detroit.

Is House Number Legible?

IS YOUR house number doing its work? If it isn't visible, day or night, you're due for a change!

You can make a distinctive set of house numbers easily. The only materials needed are some Masonite Tempered Presdwood and a key-hole saw, which cuts curves.

First, design the letters so they are of the correct size in proportion to the house and entrance—but large enough to be visible from the street. Transfer the design to the tempered hardboard, 1/4" thick, and start cutting.

Sand down any rough edges. The numerals may be mounted directly on the siding, using waterproof glue or finishing nails, or placed on a piece of shaped hardboard.

Paint the Tempered Presdwood on both sides, for weatherproofing reasons, before putting the numbers up. For a reflective surface, obtain from your hardware dealer tiny glass beads or a special tape.

Some families, particularly in outlying areas, like to identify their homes with nameplates. These may be similarly made and mounted on a board, which is fastened to a tree out in front or hung from a post. An even easier method, suitable for the summer cottage, is painting the name directly on a piece of primed Tempered Presdwood, either free-hand or with stencils.

Still another method is to mount dealcomanias on hardboard, using individual letters or numerals. Two or three coats of waterproof varnish or shellac will safeguard the nameplate and number for years.

HEALTH FOR ALL

The Trail of Tuberculosis

In May, 1958, Mrs. X, her husband and five children were tuberculin tested during a community survey. The children had a negative reaction to tuberculin, but Mrs. G and her husband were both positive reactors, which meant that they had been infected with tuberculosis germs. Mr. and Mrs. X were given chest X-rays, which showed no sign of disease.

Long Time

More than a year later, in September, 1959, Mrs. X became ill with broncho-pneumonia. She took a long time to recover from that. Just the same, it was February, 1960 before she was referred to a clinic for a chest X-ray. The chest X-ray showed that she had advanced tuberculosis. Examination of the family showed that her husband and five children also had been infected. So had the babysitter.

Tale Is True

The local health agencies then launched a vigorous campaign to test those with whom Mrs. X had been in contact. The tests showed a situation that sounds like an old-fashioned radio soap opera, but the tale is true.

The Christmas before, in 1959, Mrs. X had visited her sister, who had four children. Mrs. X had only been in her sister's house an hour, but three of the children came down with active primary TB.

Visited Others

On the same Christmas trip, Mrs. X visited her three married brothers. The three brothers, a sister-in-law and three children also became infected.

These members of the family had been tuberculin negative—no TB infection—six months before, so that the source of the TB germs was plain . . . Mrs. X.

Any of these 17 people were candidates for active TB in the future.

This disastrous sequence illustrates well the importance of regular chest X-rays for all those with a positive reaction to the tuberculin test. This is especially true for a positive reactor who gets a severe illness, as did Mrs. X.

Don't take chances with TB. Get an annual tuberculin test and—if the test is positive—a regular chest X-ray.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and was attired in a pink ballerina length dress of tulle and lace overblouse with scoop neckline. She wore matching accessories and carried a bridal bouquet of white carnations and roses. The groom wore a white jacket tuxedo with pink and white boutonniere.

A reception was held at 3 p.m. in the basement of the church. In the receiving line introduced by Mrs. Evelyn Turner, were Mr. and Mrs. Bonnie Herndon, the bride and groom,

I thought I had seen everything at least of what employees can do to combat the chill of too cool air-conditioners. After all we have seen sweaters, jackets, coats, whatnots. Well last week we walked into the engraving office of the Register and Tribune and our friend, Celeste Horn, was toasting comfortably beside a nice portable heater. Yes, you heard me. And it was going to. So if you can do it, that's one way to get rid of the air-conditioning chill.

Mrs. Verona Western, 1052 14th street, reported a vacation that didn't end up too enjoyable. She and her daughter, David Cropp, and grandson, Kevin Western, left for Kansas City, Mo., on June 29 to visit her daughter, Sharon, and the following day were involved in a four car accident. They were riding in a car driven by her niece and nephew, Mr. and Mrs. James Winfrey of K.C., (she is the former Tanya Garland of Des Moines and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Garland, Jr., of Sioux City.) when a convertible ran a red light, smashing into the Winfrey car. Other cars were knocked into the side and rear of their car. Sharon was thrown out of the car but the others were trapped. The engine caught fire but did not explode. Passengers in the Winfrey car and others, (15 in all injured) were treated at a hospital then released.

The Winfreys and relatives were enroute to Swope park for a tour of the zoo. A photographer of the Kansas City Call lived nearby and came down and took pictures.

The accident happened a day before Sharon, a former typist at the Call, was to begin on her new job as secretary for the city director of Public Health nursing. She called her mother Monday to let her know she began on the job that day, more than two weeks after she was scheduled. It was feared her wrist, injured in the accident, was broken.

SOLVE RIGHTS PROBLEMS IN IOWA AS WELL AS IN MISSISSIPPI

The Iowa State Conference of Branches NAACP in cooperation with interested groups, in conducting a civil rights conference at the State House Saturday, July 27th for the purpose of solidifying sentiment for President Kennedy's civil rights measure now pending in Congress; also to show that solidarity to the Iowa delegation in Congress to the end that they support that or the best bill possible.

The demand is for action—and action now. Negroes have grown weary of continued segregation and discrimination all over the country and are protesting in no uncertain terms that they want the situation changed.

Many white people join this forward move; some who heretofore have given the matter little attention or thought because the problem had not been brought close to home; some who have been in the forefront over the years making substantial contributions to the phenomenal progress that has been made.

This conference should be attended by every man, woman and child who can possibly come. It can breath new life into the fight for complete freedom and let the people in Iowa know that we too are awake to the injustices Negroes suffer right here in Iowa as well as other parts of the country.

So far there has been no concerted effort in Iowa since the sit-ins and protests began. Cedar Rapids and Davenport have made a start.

However, they need help. They need the backing of all Iowa. It is true in other communities.

The Bystander believes that this meeting should consider some of the things Iowa Negroes complain about. A sounding should be had of the needs and definite action planned to do something about them.

Iowa has had a governor's commission on human rights; Des Moines has a commission on human rights and job discrimination. But, somehow, neither has been able to move other than at a snail's pace. Negroes have made demands for a definite change in the pattern of moving slowly and cautiously depending upon educating the public on the Negro's needs.

Gov. Hughes sounded a strong note recently when he suggested that Iowa clean up its racial injustices as well as point the finger of discrimination.

Fundamentally, the men in Iowa and in Des Moines, who run things, have taken little interest in this problem. In other words, the power structure of the state, of Des Moines, has sat back and "let George do it" but very little. The state and city governments have dodged the issue.

The governor should appoint a committee of leaders in industry, business, labor and education to tackle this problem with strength as well as sentiment. The mayor of Des Moines and other cities should do likewise. The matter can no longer be treated as a YMCA, YWCA or Sunday school gathering but as a serious effort to determine and solve the racial problems in Iowa.

The mass meeting on Saturday should give attention to this proposal as well as the civil rights measure in Congress.

DUCK RIGHTS TO

PREVENT PARTY SPLIT

The annual conference of state governors is meeting in Miami, Florida this week. In view of the burning issue of civil rights, it was inevitable that the subject would come before the meeting in spite of the maneuvering of many in attendance who either did not wish to declare their position or feared to do so, would disrupt Democratic party solidarity.

Governor Rockefeller of New York, whose interest in civil rights did not begin with his advent into politics, felt that a strong stand on the question would add strength to those who are truthfully trying to solve the problem. He was joined by Gov. Hatfield of Oregon.

So determined and desperate did the opposition become that they abolished the resolutions committee rather than take a stand on civil rights. They took this action so as to prevent a split among the Democrats on civil rights because the northern wing

Sonny Kayoes Floyd, Again

Like Last Time--- Challenger Falls in 2 Min. of First Round

Las Vegas, Nev.—It was like a rerun of old television programs... the only difference, was the slight change in scenery. The opponents were the same, the beginning and ending were the same, or only four seconds apart, and the reactions of the ringside and closed circuit TV patrons were the same—disgruntled to say the least.

The main difference was that Sonny Liston, true to his own prediction and that of numerous sports writers remained the heavyweight champion of the world, and he broke into a big wide grin when it was over. The latter was unusual for the champ who has been compared to a big bear.

Liston knocked out underdog Floyd Patterson, the former youngest fighter to win the heavyweight championship and the only one to regain the title, in two minutes 10 seconds. It happened the same way in the initial bout last fall in Chicago.

Fatal Count

Patterson was knocked down three times before the fatal count of 10 by Referee Harry Krause of Los Vegas. Soon after the bout started a series of punches, most of them right crops to the head, sent the former champion to the resin. He was up at the count of four but had to take the mandatory eight count.

Then blows to each side of the body and more chops to the head sent him down again. He clambered to his feet at the referee's beat of three instead of taking more time, indicating that he was a beaten fighter. His eyes also seemed to be glassy.

Clinching Blows

Then came more punches against the helpless and outclassed victim. A good right to the side of the head and a dandy left hook to the chin were the clinching blows.

Patterson tried to get up but the referee tolled 10 just before he staggered to his feet. Even if he had made it he was through for the night.

The big fight has come and gone. The result probably surprised no one, although, lots of people were hoping that Floyd Patterson would catch lightning in a jug. It just didn't happen whether the public likes Sonny Liston or not it looks as if he will be champion for quite a spell. The guy is just too big and punches too hard. Patterson did try to make a fight of it but he might as well have tried to fight with a bear. There used to be a fellow who wrote a column about anything. He didn't think much of prize-fighting and always commented a heavyweight bout by saying a gorilla could probably whip both men. Well, if they ever get Sonny Liston in the ring with Mr. Birdbrain's gorilla we will take Liston.

Cassius Clay

Cassius Clay seems next in line and then what? Clay is about a year away from Liston but wants the champ now. Liston needs to be kept boxing. Maybe he will reincarnate Joe Louis' fight-a-month idea. This wasn't so much because Louis needed the fights, but his handlers knew that given an extended lay off from the ring Louis would soon deteriorate from easy living. This could happen to Liston. As it stands now the champ could be his own worst enemy.

of the party insists that they and not the Republicans champion that cause.

The cowardice of the opponents taking a stand on civil rights is a sad commentary on the part of the heads of the 50 state governments. And accusing the proponents that the issue was a political move is equally so. The accusers took the action that has been done too much already—push it under the rug.

Certainly they made no contribution to the cause of civil rights which is a burning issue everywhere today.

Sojourner Truth

Sojourner Truth

Wide-mouth had his letter from the U.S. Senate spread out in the middle of the bar. U.S. Senate in letters a quarter inch high. Right underneath in little tiny letters—like hey hidin' foreign relations committee.

"Foreign relations!" What is my civil rights doin' in that committee?" Wide-mouth exploded.

"Them folks has got a plan for you to leave the country, Man, and come back later," Jason announced with a straight face.

"Yeah, Man, when you return, you'll be a foreigner. There'll be a committee to find you a house and another committee to find you employment. Jason rolled his eyes, cocked his head thoughtfully and added, "That is when you get back in with all deliberate speed."

Wide-mouth ignored the ribbing, picked up his letter and headed toward a table where he spied Jessie Mae seated.

"What's he mean, Jesse Mae. All the customers had gathered for the answer. The mood of the group had gradually shifted from jokes to silent doubts as some casually drifted with in hearing range of the letter reading. Wide-mouth's question expressed the ghost haunting each man's

Youth, 20, Charged With Breaking and Entering Gas Station

Lloyd U. Robinson, 20, who gave his address as 1352 Dixon street, Friday, July 19, was charged with breaking and entering in connection with a break in at Phillips Petroleum company service station at 1202 E. 14th street. He was jailed in lieu of $2,000 bond pending action of the Polk County Grand Jury.

Robinson was arrested about 1:30 a.m. Friday when a passerby reported to police that he had seen someone going into the service station immediately following the sounds of broken glass.

Policemen, who answered the call, said they found Robinson hiding on top of a tire rack inside the service station. Robinson is also being held for Clold Levil, Polk County probation officer. The accused youth was given a bench parole Nov. 19, 1962, after he had been sentenced to a 10-year prison term on a breaking and entering charge.

looking for a goodly number of entrants. Quite a far cry from the meet that we used to have with just a few of us fellows in it.

Among the retired tennis players are several kids not yet 20 years old. It amused us last week to hear them tell how good they used to be. But the best players around are still the old timers with virtually no one to replace them.

"The senator tells you in paragraph one, he has received your letter, Wide-mouth, Jessie Mae said.

"How could he write to me, if he hadn't," Wide-mouth exploded.

"Sh-h-h," the group cautioned.

"Paragraph 2, Jessie Mae continued, is in the unknown tongue of lawyers. The senator is telling you he thinks there are already enough laws on the books. He knows you have heard of all that trouble in the land so he is asking you not to be so unreasonable as to expect him to agree to invade personal and property rights of individuals to stop segregation and discrimination." The small cluster of men let go of their secret, unspoken dream and drifted to their places at the bar.

Jessie Mae relaxed and eased on to the bar stool sharing her friends unspoken sadness. An idea suddenly lighted all the gloomy corners of her mind.

"Wide-mouth, Zack, you guys!" How would you like to go to Washington? We'd walk right in and tell the good brother that we are individuals with both individual and private property rights."

"Do you really mean that, Jessie Mae?"

I REMEMBER DIXIE

I remember Dixie, how sweet it seemed to be

When I was just a tiny tot beneath a tiny tree

The sun, like golden butter came melting down on me

And I listened to the sound of wind, That whispered through the tree.

The dark green misty woodlands The fields and meadows fair,

I loved the name of Dixie and Her clean and fragrant air.

The dusty lanes, the thickets The creeks, the one horse town,

The barefoot laughing children Ran happy, free and brown.

The tree grew up and Spread its limbs, in pride toward the sky

And I grew up and spread my Arms to God who dwells on high.

I still remember Dixie, but Not so fair is she,

Now that I know a Negro man Was hanged upon that tree.

I still can see the golden sun Butter gold it still shines free,

But not so golden is the light That shed its ray on me.

Dr. I. Gregory Newton, Peace Corps Officer, Speaks in Des Moines

Dr. I. Gregory Newton, chief training officer of the Peace Corps, was main speaker at the third meeting of the Peace Corps Service Organization representing 23 central Iowa counties at the YMCA last Thursday, July 18.

Dr. Newton predicted a large expansion in the corps to meet host nations' requests for more volunteers, which he says, has been the best proof of the success of the slightly more than two-year-old project.

I could not stay a tiny tot Always beneath the tree The tree grew up and so did I But I am not so free. For now I'm bound by prejudice And hate and fear and man And feel that I have been Betrayed by my own native land. And I am angry in my heart Frustrated in my dreams That Dixie turned her back On me and wasn't what she seemed. How could I know that Dixie Would turn her face from me? And her lovely parks and rivers Would never welcome me? The songs of praise I sang in school The pledges that I found Now turn to mock me as a fool Because my face is brown. It isn't fair! It isn't right! That she should treat me so I, too, was born upon this land, I, too, have helped it grow. My prayers, my dreams my high Ideals, my pride, my hopes and fears Lay watered with my tears. So I shall march with them that march

And pray with them that pray And in my secret heart I hope To live to see the day. When once again the Dixie That I saw as a child Will open out her arms to me And call me with a smile. And once again that gentle Wind her secrets tell to me And her sun like golden Butter will shine again on me. I shall stand tall and proud again And sing of Dixie land And on my happy heart once more I'll place a steady hand. To Pledge allegiance to the flag That waves for all to see Over the land of Dixie And all the people free. And so shall I be free to dream And free to hope and plan And I'll remember Dixie To Every other land.
