Ford to Give $15 Million to Negro Colleges

UNCF, Small Private Colleges to Benefit

New York—The Ford Foundation today announced that it would provide $15 million to help strengthen Negro colleges. The funds will be granted as follows:

—$5 million to the United Negro College Fund for its campaign to finance buildings and other capital improvements in its 32 member institutions.

—$10 million to a small number of private Negro liberal-arts colleges that are members of the Fund, to be selected over the next year on the basis of their academic quality and performance and their future promise.

Matching Provisions

The grant to the United Negro College Fund campaign is subject to the requirement that each dollar donated by the Foundation be matched by two dollars from other sources. Grants to individual colleges may also entail some matching provisions.

"These actions by the Ford Foundation, which has long had a primary interest in expanded educational opportunity for all Americans, reflect the special need to expand the educational horizons of Negro men and women," Henry T. Heald, president of the Foundation, said today.

Assistance

"The strengthening of the institutions, some of which already enroll a few white students, should hasten the day when there will no longer be all-Negro or all-white colleges and universities.

20 Students Enter School In Three Cities; Disorder Erupts in Birmingham

Montgomery, Ala. — Twenty Negro students entered public schools in Alabama cities Tuesday after President Kennedy federalized 16,000 Alabama National Guardsmen who had been called up by defiant Governor George C. Wallace to prevent the de-segregation of the schools.

There were no troops, no bayonets. The federalized National Guard were simply told to leave the schools. The move was significant since de-segregation was peaceful at all the schools in Mobile, and Tuskegee and at two of three in Birmingham.

Students Jeer

However, at West End High School, most of the white students withdrew from the school to jeer and demonstrate with confederate flags and pictures of Gov. Wallace. Disorder erupted when male members in the crowd that had gathered began scuffling with police.

18 at Tuskegee

Thirteen Negroes entered school at Tuskegee and two went into a high school at Mobile in addition to the five at Birmingham, two of them at West End High school. At Huntsville, where Gov. Wallace had never attempted to bar the entrance of Negro students, four pupils quietly attended public school for the second straight day.

President Kennedy

Following a statement by President Kennedy that the court's desegregation order would be carried out, another federal court order restraining Gov. Wallace from further interference was served Tuesday—on his executive secretary. Gov. Wallace, having successfully avoided the service, said he was too busy to receive the paper personally from a U. S. marshal.

Meanwhile, Gov. Wallace Wednesday issued a statement in which he claimed President Kennedy fears his political power and wants to "put the Governor of Alabama in jail."

Adoption: A New-Old Road to Happiness

By Frances Hawthorne and Valetta Fields

This is the first in a series of four articles on how parents can and do enjoy the responsibilities and love of children and gain greater fulfillment in life through adoption. These articles are written in co-operation with the Lutheran Society of Iowa which has five branches in Iowa and is one of several adoption agencies in the state.

Since the early beginnings of civilizations mankind has enjoyed parenthood through adoption. The common practice of Greeks and Romans in adopting strangers into their families, as a son or daughter, and constituting the person so adopted as an heir, is still prevalent in some modern nations today.

In the United States where we have adoption laws all welfare agencies have hard and fast rules, but they have flexible ones, too. Uppermost concern is the welfare of the child, fitting the right child with the right parents.

Hard to Place

Finding the right parents often presents problems. A primary task is placing the so-called hard-to-place child. In this category is the Negro child.

The Lutheran Welfare Society of Iowa knows the prospective Negro parents are there, somewhere in Iowa, but the problem is—they are hard to find—yet the Society continues to have Negro babies placed with them.

Families

That Negro parents are there—but more are needed—will be indicated by this and other articles to follow in this series. The pictures are not meant to indicate that there is only one adoptive Negro family in a particular city, but only one of several. In addition the families may, or may not have, adopted

In the school board election, somewhat overshadowed by the municipal issue, John R. Haydon and Arthur Davis were elected to six-year terms and Mrs. Jack Spevak was elected to a two-year term to fill the unexpired term of the late Joseph Brody.

Haydon, 3124 S. W. 13th place, the polled 14,382 and Mrs. Spevak, 22,014, polled 14,382 and Mrs. Spevak, 22,014.

The municipal election now paves the way for the fifth city council election in which four of the five seats are up for voting. Mayor Charles Iles' seat is the only one not up for election.

The highlight of the Convention was the March to Boston Commons. Enroute Grand Exalted Ruler Reynolds, Grand Daughter Ruler Nettie B. Smith and Mrs. Evers laid wreaths on the Lincoln Memorial Monument in Park Square and the monument commemorating the heroes of The Boston Massacre in which Crispus Attucks was shot down.

Scholarship

Sojourner Truth

Wide-mouth entered the barber shop without noticing his friend, Knot-head, tilted back in the chair with a hot towel over his face. The barber exchanged a friendly grunt of welcome with his regular customer and swiftly replaced the towel with a fresh, hot one.

"Knot-head, you're back," Wide-mouth proclaimed his pleasant surprise. Customers waiting for service listened intently for the answer to the unasked question. Where has Knot-head been?

The barber finally adjusted the chair to a sitting position and prepared to cut Knot-head's hair. Wide-mouth tossed an old comic book on the television set. "Did you give the senators my very personal regards?" he asked.

Knot-head was born with a tall tale in his mouth. The barbershop audience focused on Knot-head as the first-hand report of the March On Washington unfolded.

"Man, that Jessie Mae is something else! Done walked into the senators' hearing room and invited the senators to set down so they can be comfortable while hearing what we got to say!"

At this point, a customer forgot his manners and busted right into the conversation. "You really went to Washington!"

Knot-head went on with his story. "There stands Jessie Mae with our message in her hand.—Starts tellin' " young advisory committee, board of directors of the Salvation Army; member of the recreation commission and is also on the board of Goodwill Industries.

He has an interest in amateur photograph and woodworking which he has done in his basement shop. Tennis was his favorite sport but now the children and their recreation is the primary concern of both of the Parkers.

Mrs. Parker

Mrs. Parker devotes her time to being mother and homemaker, sewing her own clothes and making hats. As she says, "before babies" she used to crochet and embroider but those things are "now lost arts."

She hopes, however, to find time to enter a class at the YWCA where she is a member and where Debbie and Joe can be in the playroom.

the senior senator how smart and experienced he is. She done told him he's so smart it isn't necessary to explain the difference between a debate and a filibuster. "Gentlemen, she says, we believe that Iowa will stand by your votes for cloture. We promise to go home and see to it that you hear from Iowans all over the state."

Knot-head continued, "I'm settin' right up front at that long, shiny conference table, and lookin' our senior senator right in both his eyes."

The barber gave up trying to cut Knot-head's hair and stood listening to him dramatize a most important moment of his life.

"Did you know that woman told them senators, 'We don't have much experience in politics. Please excuse any mistakes we may make.' Just when the senators were fanning themselves with that idea and feeling superior, Jessie Mae reminded them they were senators of these United States. She said, 'we do expect, and earnestly beg you to find a way way for Negroes in the south to vote without fear of murder or having their homes burned.'"

"... You know one thing, Wide-mouth," Knot-head asked his friend. "I was so happy about Jessie Mae tellin' them senators our message and standin' up for the south, my feet didn't start hurtin' 'til I got back to Des Moines."

nursery while she is in class. Billy is in school this fall.

Blessing

Mrs. Parker also has worked some with local clubs. She finds her two-door car a "blessing because she can pile the children in the back seat, with no fear of their falling out, and do errands or go for a ride. The Parkers often take the children to Grant playground and Furgerson-Fields, which is located close to their home.

The Parker lives are full because they took a "new-old" road to happiness and added riches to themselves—through adoptions. Photo by Virgil Anderson, public relations, Lutheran Welfare Society of Iowa.

Among Negro adoptive parents in Iowa is the Atty. William W. Parker family of Waterloo. They live in a cozy five-room home at 916 Beech street, "which used to seem empty before babies, but which now seems quite full and bubbling over with glee."

Children

The Parkers have three children, Debbie, 4, Joe, 3, and Billy, 6. Two of them came to them through adoption. That all their children have added greater fulfillment to the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Parker is indicated by their happy, busy days. Both are members and consistently attend Antioch Baptist church. In addition to his legal profession, Mr. Parker is a gospel minister and serves as youth fellowship director of his church.

Affiliation

Mr. Parker also serves on the State Board of Parole; is locally active in the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People; serves on the Mayor's recently created bi-racial committee, Mayor's

HEALTH FOR ALL

If your doctor starts asking you probing questions about your personal life, don't turn shy, indignant, or secretive. Tell him anything he wants to know—even things you might not care to tell your best friend.

That's the advice of a physician who heads a healing clinic—The Bradley Medical Center in Columbus, Ga. According to Dr. Leonard T. Maholick, "the personal life of a patient is certainly the business of the surgeon, the gynecologist and other specialists" who must make decisions about the treatment of their patients.

Severe Problems

He observed that, "as many as 50 percent of patients" may have severe emotional problems, without a knowledge of which the doctor can't fully understand their physical condition.
He cited "the woman who has been treated for chronic headaches over a period of 15 years," without admitting to her doctor that "the tensions and frustrations of a grossly unsatisfactory marital relationship" were central to her difficulty.

Confession

When a patient confesses his intimate problems to his doctor on the rightful assumption that his confidenances must be kept inviolate, he is not only furnishing useful insights into his physical condition, he also, as a rule, gains important emotional relief.

Reluctance

Physicians sometimes are reluctant to "invade" a patient's privacy, Dr.
Maholick said. Many are hampered by the difficulty of treating 30 or 40 patients a day and listening to their personal troubles. As a solution, the Bradley Institute gives each new patient a preliminary "mental health check-up"—a wide-ranging questionnaire dealing with his physical, mental, social, religious, and marital histories. The response on the part of most patients is "surprisingly frank," he says, and gives the physician a good head start toward proper diagnosis and treatment.

Everybody's Favorite Chicken and Gravy and Biscuits

You can't beat a good chicken dinner for popularity, especially an old-fashioned chicken fricassee. Choose the plumpest stewing chicken you can find, so you'll have plenty of rich gravy. Be sure you get all that chickeny goodness by adding generous sprinklings of Ac'cent* to both fowl and broth. Ac'cent brings out all the natural, full flavors, not only of chicken, but in the vegetables and gravy as well. For the final perfect touch, surround the fricassee with your special hot biscuits or dumplings, bathed in that luscious gravy. A sprinkling of Ac'cent added to the dry ingredients before making biscuits or dumplings works wonders, too! An ideal vegetable accompaniment of course is golden corn-on-the-cob... be sure to have all three shakers handy... salt, pepper and Ac'cent... when you serve it, and don't spare the butter.

Old-Fashioned Chicken Fricassee
Cut fowl in serving size pieces; wash thoroughly; place in heavy kettle. Add 6 cups boiling water, 2 teaspoons Ac'cent, 1 onion, quartered, celery leaves, a few peppercorns and 1 small bayleaf. Cover; simmer 2 to 3 hours or until fowl is tender, adding 1 1/2 teaspoons salt during last hour. Remove chicken to hot platter; strain broth and use to make gravy.
Corn-on-the-Cob
Add Ac'cent to cooking water, using 1 teaspoon per 4 ears of corn. *Ac'cent is pure monosodium glutamate.

Before we get into our regular column this week we want to commend those who have refrained from calling us about news on weekends or before 9 a.m. when we are busy reading our three youngsters for school. For those of you who are not familiar with our schedule please bear in mind that during the school months it is too difficult to answer the phone and take news during the hectic hours before the children leave for school. If you cannot call us during the day why not try Monday evenings right after you get home from work, if you cannot call on the job. If that is too inconvenient we always accept mailed news.

Unless things change our schedule is more staggered than usual in the mornings as our youngest son, Vance is a full fledged patrol boy at Moulton school and consequently must leave earlier to be at his appointed post.

We chatted briefly via Alexander Graham Bell's invention last week with Mrs. Vernon K. Ashford, Sr., 3004 Bowdoin. She recalled that she and her husband were both hospitalized at the same time at Broadlawn Polk County hospital for a time this summer.

As you will note we are beginning our series on "Adoption," in this issue. Next week we will feature another Iowa family and the pictures will be taken by Photographer Jo Moore, born in Ottumwa, Ia., who has been working with the Mason City Gazette the past year. This month she expects to leave for New York City to try her luck in her professional field. She specializes in children photograph and you will see next week—why.

Mr. John Danforth, was scheduled to leave this week for his first trip to Denver, Colo., where he will visit his son and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Danforth, Jr. Mr. Danforth said that he was waiting until after the A.M.E. conference to which his church was host.

During our interview with Dr. Rosa L. Gragg, president of the National Association of Colored Women's Clubs, Inc., here last month, she promised to send us the complete set of "National Notes" after we admired a copy in her hotel suite. True to her word we received them by first class mail last week. We appreciate her thoughtfulness knowing how busy she must be.

"They are really having a time down there. I don't know how it all will come out but they aren't giving up."

These were the words of Mrs. Cecil (Catherine) Thompson, 1168 11th street, who returned Labor day from a two-week tour of the troubled areas of Mississippi and Louisiana.

She had gone to visit various relatives. "In Clarksdale, (Miss.), and in Plaquemine, La., they are firing teachers and school principals because they having taken part in the civil rights demonstrations, but they are still demonstrating. You see them marching up and down and it is really something to see how proud they are.

"In Jackson, (Miss.) the economic boycott is 100 per cent. I went in one place to get some stamps and I only saw one other Negro. I wanted to go downtown shopping but my aunt told me no Negroes went to the stores downtown, but were used the shopping centers."

A note worth remembering: Two women being interviewed on a national television show emphasized that Congressmen and those prominent in government do pay attention to letters written by constituents if the writer is well informed on the subject and presents a sensible well written letter.

DES MOINES SAVINGS BLOSSOMS AS AN ULTRA- MODERN INSTITUTION

The grand opening of the newly modernized Des Moines Savings and Loan Association began September 9th and continues to September 14th. Organized in 1916 with a small beginning at 5th and Mulberry Streets, the association became one of the largest financial institutions in Iowa.

Ron Hallack, public relations and advertising manager, arranged a special preview for the press and radio Thursday which took the group throughout the institution, each department head explaining the new methods of accounting, time saving machines serving the public and keeping its customers fully informed at a moments notice how their accounts stand.

The company had assets of $84,220,000 as of June 1963, has paid 4 per cent on savings accounts during the last 13 months, has approximately 7300 mortgage loan accounts and more than 3100 savings accounts. One of its early savers (see ad on page 6) is James A. Bailey. He has been a satisfied customer all these years and is being joined by others who have learned that Des Moines Savings offers friendly and sound financial service to its customers.

Visitors will enjoy a tour of this modern institution where they will meet those "nice to know folks" at Des Moines Savings.

The company is offering from $1.00 to $200.00 for 1916 pennies, three grand prizes: a 23" Motorola Color T.V., Stereophonic high fidelity console and deluxe automatic stereophonic plus dozens of savings accounts and valuable prizes.

MANAGER FORCES WIN IN CITY ELECTION

The Bystander was not surprised that the Manager-Council plan was successful in the election Monday. They were better organized, more in the habit of voting and of course continue to sell a lot people as to its value, the most value of which is to keep the power at the city hall in the hands of a few.

The Bystander did not support than plan in spite of the group which opposed it for we are convinced that any government must stand on its strength—rather than the weakness of that which opposes it.

In it progress of improving the lot of minorities in employment and other facilities a city or state offers, it is expected that a governing body should be an example for business and the public to follow. And in spite of the high morality claimed for the city government during the campaign it has not been a leader in this field.

Elder Gunter served Des Moines as City Manager several years during which time protests from Negro citizens were made to the council and to him. The Bystander never heard (nor heard anyone else say it heard) him speak one word about these protests. In fact he just was not interested.

Within a few weeks an election will be held to elect four members to the council. It is hoped that a new council will reverse the apathy that has existed, chose a manager who will give some attention to changing the pattern with respect to the employment of Negroes that has existed for the past few years.

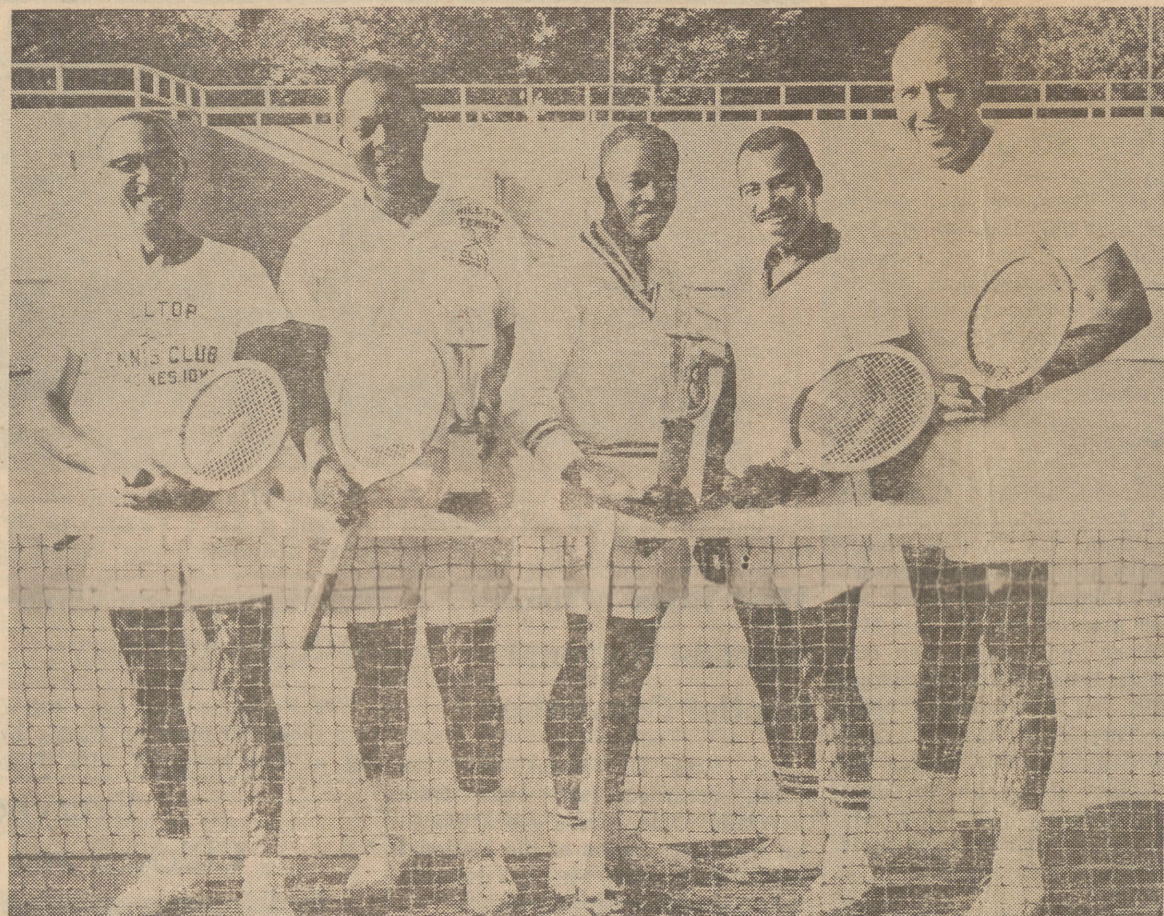

In this day of moving forward by Negroes, it is foolish to sit idly by and hear all this talk about a good town when talk is all that is dished out. Negroes pay taxes here, have among their number those who can serve on the top flight boards and youngsters, some prepaid, some who will be come so if given a chance.

If nothing else, the election has served to replace Gunther. Maybe, if the council has the interest and courage, a new manager will be chosen whose civil rights attitude will not be that of a backward official.

LIQUOR VIOLATIONS WILL OCCUR

It has been said that the Iowa liquor law was written by the dry forces who placed so many restrictions in it making it diffi-

Hilltop Tennis Club Holds Closed Tournaments

The Hilltop Tennis club ended its outdoor season with two closed tournaments for men, singles and doubles.

In the round-robin doubles tournament held the week of Aug. 19, Cecil Brewer, Jr., and Everett Mays won by defeating Leon Mann and Chester Williams 6-4, 7-5.

The double elimination singles tournament was started over the Labor day weekend and completed on Sunday, Sept. 8. Michael Knox defeated Chester Williamson in the semi-finals, 6-3, 7-9, 7-5 and again in the finals, 1-6, 7-5 and 6-4.

Because of the interest shown and the good matches played, there is a possibility these closed events may become an annual affair for the outdoor tennis season. Plans for the indoor tennis program have not been worked out as yet.

On the Football Circuit

New York, N.Y.—Nathaniel Craddock, former Parsons college football star, was released recently by the New York Giants pro-football team. He was picked up on waivers by a Canadian team, the Ottawa Rough Riders.

Detroit, Mich. — Larry Ferguson, rookie halfback for the Detroit Lions and former Hawkeye (a.) great, is vying with Tom Watkins, formerly of Iowa State, for the halfback honors with the Detroit Lions. Both are being plagued by injured knees.

Toronto, Ontario—Sandy Stephens, noted quarterback of the University of Minnesota, says he "will play anywhere" following his release by the Montreal Alouettes. He signed with Toronto of the Canadian Football League for a one-season salary estimated at $16,000. He reportedly signed a $70,000 no-cut three year contract with Montreal in 1962.

tackles. Now how would these things stand up now? Might watch this fall and see.

Boxing

We recently read a magazine article by a boxing expert in which he rates Sonny Liston as one of the great heavyweight champions. This guy says that in his opinion only Joe Louis and of course, Jack Dempsey, would have beaten Liston. The guy dismisses Jack Johnson with a word. He wants to know if Johnson was so great how come a middleweight knocked him down? In the same argument we might ask that if Dempsey was so great a middleweight almost chased him out of the ring in a training camp bout.

NUGGETS

Nothing is more kingly than kindness.
Happiness is a by-product of helpfulness.
He who remembers old friends makes new ones.
The best way to kill off a rival is to make a friend.

The great always have a long memory for their friends.
Keep the milk of human kindness to yourself and it soon curdles.
The present is always full of opportunities to pay our debts to the past.
One of the worst thieves is the man who has no time to think of others.

He who despises his beginnings will have no occasion to think of others.

The life finds its greatest elevation when it stoops to the lowliest one in need.

The great question may not be, How can we face the foes who are strong? but, How are we serving the friends who are weak —Henry F. Cope.

Little League Football Pre-Jamboree Sunday

The Little All American Football League will have its pre-season jamboree game at 1:30 Sunday at new Firestone field. All teams will see one quarter of action, with the four lightweight squads playing in the first half, and the four heavyweights playing the second half.

For the jamboree game, there will be four 15-minute quarters, with each coach required to use the two-plateau system all the way. This move is to make sure that all boys get to play in the game.

The first quarter will pit East and West lightweights, second quarter will have North vs. South lightweights; third quarter has the East heavyweights vs. the West, and the fourth period pits the North heavyweights against the South heavyweights.

This will be the start of the eighth year of Little League football in Des Moines.

The day commemorates the introduction of the Baha'i Faith to the United States on Sept. 18, 1893 and is being observed by Des Moines Bahais Sunday, Sept. 15 at 7:45 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Andreasen, 4006 Cottage Grove avenue.

The theme is "America's Role in World Peace." The Baha'i religion was founded in Iran over 100 years ago and proclaims the oneness of all great world religions.

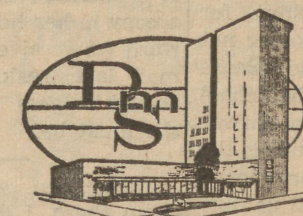

Mr. James A. Bailey has saved with us since 1923...and he has good reasons, too.

Any person who saves with one association for over 40 years has good reasons. Good enough for his five children to save with us as well.

As Mr. Bailey says: "I like the sincerity of the folks at Des Moines Savings... and the service."

Mr. Bailey knows all the "oldsters" at Des Moines Savings including Elmer E. Miller, president of Des Moines Savings. And Mr. Miller's door is always open to Mr. Bailey for a little reminiscing. Lots of that to do, too, since Des Moines Savings recently completed modernization and expansion.

You're just as welcome as Mr. Bailey has been for nearly half a century. Come in and open a savings account or talk about a home loan.
