Civil Rights Commission Urges Stronger Legislation To Aid Voter Registration

Washington, D. C. — The United States Commission on Civil Rights today issued its third biennial report to the President and Congress. In assessing progress and problems in civil rights since 1961, the Commission stated that for the first time it is able to report "an atmosphere of genuine hopefulness."

But the bipartisan agency warned that the increased awareness of the Nation's civil rights problems which has brought some progress, "has also created the danger that white and Negro Americans may be driven even

Clothes Caught Fire As He and Playmates Were Playing with Matches

Davenport, Ia.—Vincent Carter, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Carter, 719 Warren Street, here died in St. Luke's Hospital Sept. 26 as a result of burns received. His clothes caught fire while he and playmates played with matches.

Dr. Rollin Perkins, Scott County medical examiner, ruled the death accidental.

Babysitter

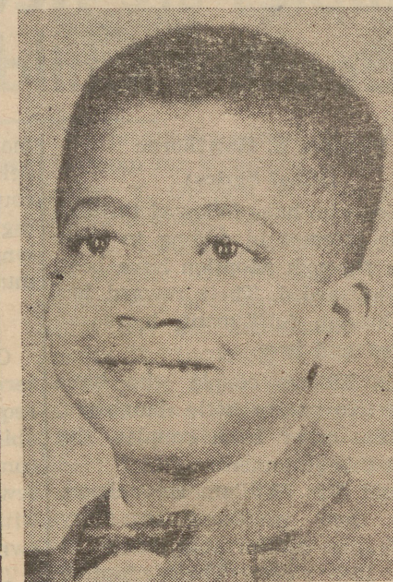

Police said the fatal mishap occurred outside the home of a playmate of the boy, Mary Beth Rosenthal, also 7, of 830 W. 7th St.

The girl was unable to blow out the flames and Vincent ran around the corner of the block to his house where a babysitter, Mrs. Vera McDowell, 619 W. 9th St. put out the fire, took off his burning clothing and phoned for an ambulance.

Vincent was rushed to the hospital, where he underwent surgery for second and third degree burns, mostly on the chest area, and at first was listed in satisfactory condition, but he started to weaken at 2 a.m. and died at 6:45 a.m.

Charges Filed in Mailbox Death; Claim Youth Lied, Also Gave Liquor to Minor

Waterloo—A friend of 16-year-old Sally Mae Sailor was charged Wednesday, Sept. 25 with furnishing her with liquor prior to a freak accident which took her life here Sept. 21.

The charge was filed against Robert Lee Wright, Jr., 20, of 1808 Clearview street. Wright was also charged with driving while his license was under suspension.

Authorities said they had determined that Wright, not Charles Edward Robinson, 17, of 150 N. Barclay street was behind the wheel of the car in which the fatal accident occurred.

Wright denies being the driver. Authorities said that filing of the two charges against Wright concludes their investigation. County Medical Examiner Dr. Paul T. O'Keefe ruled the girl's death accidental.

Preliminary hearings on both charges were scheduled for Oct. 17 in municipal court.

Miss Sailor, of 629 Ankeny street, was fatally injured about 1:45 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 21 when her head struck a curbside mailbox as she leaned from a convertible.

The accident happened in the 1400 block of Newell street. Miss Sailor died about three hours later.

Police Chief Robert S. Wright said Robert Lee Wright supplied Miss Sailor with wine earlier in the night.

Autopsy

Post-mortem examination indicated a strong concentration of alcohol in Miss Sailor's blood stream, authorities reported.

Police said that Robinson, earlier p.m. Mondays through Fridays, Mrs. Virginia Hamilton, acting secretary will be in the office. Election of officers will be held later this month.

identified as the driver of the death car, was not even in the auto when the accident happened.

After driving the injured girl to St. Francis hospital, officers said, Wright sent another teen-age boy to Robinson's home, and Robinson agreed to admit being the driver.

Robinson then exchanged clothing with the other boy, police said, and went to the police station for questioning. Witnesses later established that Wright was the driver, officers said.

Services

Funeral services for Miss Sailor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sailor were at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Mt. Carmel Baptist church, with the Rev. I. S. Bucknell, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Fairview cemetery.

She was born on May 11, 1947, in Quincy, Fla., the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sailor. Sally attended Logan Junior High school and was a member of the Union Baptist church.

Survivors

Surviving are her parents at 629 Ankeny street; four sisters, Lessie Mae, Linda, Patricia Ann; Freida Mae and Carmen; three brothers, Joe Jr., Lennon and Jim. She is also survived by her paternal grandparents, the Rev. and Mrs. John Sailor of Quincy, Fla. She was preceded in death by a brother, John Wesley.

And Away It Goes

There's a right way to bowl, but these two boys haven't found it. Among 80 youngsters from St. Mary of the Angels Home, a Roman Catholic institution for orphaned and abandoned children, the boys had a ball at a bowling party given by Ken Kushner and Howard Eisenstein of Syosset Lanes on Long Island, and the American Machine & Foundry Company. Unconcerned about proper delivery and the right way to bowl, they just worried whether the ball would knock down any pins, and if they could get seconds on the hot dogs, hamburgers, soda and ice cream provided by AMF and Syosset Lanes.

Couples are Rewarded by Adopting Child into Family

Frances E. Hawthorne
(Final Series)

Couples who have followed through on their interest in adding to their families through adoption have been greatly rewarded. Their reward has come through fulfillment, increased happiness and love.

A Des Moines couple who have adopted two pretty little daughters, know, like other Iowa couples, the truth of this statement.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Jackson, live in their well-kept two-story white frame comfortable home at 1302 E. 15th street. Their adoptive daughters are nine-year-old Charmette who is a fourth grader at Wallace Elementary school and Kim, who proudly told us that she was 3½ years old.

Interview

During the interview, Mr. Jackson who has lived in Des Moines all his life, sat quietly listening while his wife, clearly the extrovert in the family, charmingly answered our questions. He interrupted once gently to remind her that their oldest daughter had just made out the 'Cub Scouts' but Camp Fire Girls. At another interval he reminded Charmette in a quiet but firm fatherly voice that she had not completed the full time for her piano lessons.

Piano Lessons

The piano lessons are shared by mother and daughter. They have been taking them for over a year together. Mrs. Jackson, a native Missourian, is active in church work at Bethel A.M.E. church where she is on the Stewardess board and member of the Missionary Society. At other times she has served on the Steward board and as class leader. She also is treasurer of the Proto club, an auxiliary of Bethel.

The Jacksons enjoy outdoor recreation in the city park. Mr. Jackson, who has been employed at Iowa Packing company for 22 years, enjoys hunting. She likes fishing and holds licenses in both Minnesota and Iowa.

Grateful

"We are grateful to have our girls and are real proud of them," Mrs. Jackson said with a loving glance at their daughters. "They have made us very happy."

She glanced over at her husband. "I know he is happy too. They wait on him when he comes home from work and he waits on them, too. I wish more people would take children into their homes. Some child needs love, and a home. They will go and spend $200 on a dog and think nothing of it. Once they adopt a child they can see their mistake in not doing so earlier."

Mrs. Jackson was not implying that the cost of adoption was $200. Actually the costs usually are not more than that for a normal natural delivery of a baby, excluding of course, any complication. The waiting period too is similar, but usually longer than nine months, but usually much shorter.

What To Do?

Couples who usually maintain interest in adoption and produce the required doctor's certificate on inability to have children and then complete the home study period, are rewarded usually a few months later with their desire—a child of their own.

The Lutheran Social Services of Iowa has its headquarters in Des Moines at 3116 University, with Ray Kolz, Jr., as branch director. There are four other branches in the state. They are: Mr. Richard Boettcher, Branch Director, 212 Insurance Exchange Bldg., Sioux City; Mr. Herbert Alexander, Branch Director, 19½ First Street, N.E., Mason City; Mr. Leonard Larson, Branch Director, Community Service Bldg., Waterloo; Mrs. Winnifred Allven, Branch Director, 2405 Towncrest Dr., Iowa City.

VOTING

The Commission reported that the voting provisions of the 1957 and 1960 Civil Rights Acts have done little to extend the voting rights to Negroes in southern states despite a determined attack on voter discrimination.

A Commission Report recommended: Reduction of the representation in the House for those states where all other efforts fail to eliminate discrimination in voting.

Southern Negro Teen Discusses His Experiences At A Connecticut School

New York — When Genoa Montgomery got off the train in Connecticut to attend Farmington High School last fall, he was scared. By the end of the school year, he had been elected vice president of the honor society and honorary member of the student council.

Genoa is 16. He is Negro. He had come alone from Birmingham, Ala. to live with a white family and to study in an all-white school.

Via the monthly "I Believe" column in the October issue of Seventeen Magazine on newsstands Sept. 26, Genoa tells the nation's teens about his experiences and impressions from his first moments in the North.

"Exchange"

Genoa's "exchange" was made possible by an American Friends Service Committee program, "Southern Negro Student Project," which helps bright teen-agers attending below-par southern schools to spend their junior and senior years in northern high schools. Looking back at his motives for participating, the student explains, "I knew the program would broaden my horizons and might change my viewpoint in many ways, that it would give me a chance to know people of another race."

Host Family

The program provided a "host family." Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Scott, Jr., 53 Garden Street, Farmington, who, according to Genoa, put him at ease instantly. However, he tells the publication's young readers, at school the adjustment wasn't quite so easy: "At first I got some strange glares. I suppose that could happen to any new student, but to me they seemed special. Then I began to make friends in school, but the kids were reluctant to have me join them outside or go over to their houses. But as time went on, we became closer and closer. Just before I left for midwinter vacation, there must have been 20 kids in the living room to see me off."

Others Signed Up

At home during vacation, Genoa's favorable reports about the northern school led some of his friends to sign up for the school district are assigned to schools without regard to race. Previous federal efforts in this area have been limited to trying to end discrimination against children of servicemen.

Gregory's Wife Pickets, Jailed

Selma, Ala.—The wife of Negro comedian Dick Gregory was arrested Friday, Sept. 27 for picketing the Dallas County courthouse.

She was one of six Negroes who appeared unexpectedly in the rain carrying voter registration signs. The group was picked up quickly and carried to jail.

The demonstration was the only action by Negroes Friday in this racially troubled city.

Sojourner Truth

Jeri went to the front door in response to the chimes. Jessie Mae walked passed her friend without a word of greeting. Jeri followed her neighbor to the kitchen in silence. Jeri had read the storm and distress signals in Jessie Mae's quick step, her facial expression and her erect shoulders as Jeri trailed her neighbor to the kitchen. Jessie Mae sat down at the kitchen table, slapped her elbows on the table and rested her chin between the palms of her hands.

"Twenty-two dollars and fifteen cents spent to go to the Iowa Federation of Labor Convention! What did I get?" Jessie Mae answered her own indignant question. "A big hand—congratulations and no money!"

Jeri had prepared coffee during the first series of explosions. She listened carefully for clues to what outrage had fallen upon Jessie Mae who always started in the middle of a story.

Waves of anger and outrage swept over Jessie Mae as she recalled conversations with Iowa labor leaders. She was haunted with suspicion of even those who had really helped.

Jeri set a cup of fresh coffee in front of her friend and pushed the sugar and cream within easy reach.

"Would you mind telling me 'who done it'?", Jeri probed cautiously.

Jessie Mae promptly exploded again in the middle of her thoughts, "I didn't ask that labor leader to marry me, Jeri! I just asked him to do one very practical thing for civil rights and he started bleeding all over the stage."

"You know I'm with you people. Tell her, Jake, I'm on her side, I'd like to go to the executive council before I could give you the names and addresses of our locals. You see I have to follow orders. Now, don't misunderstand me, Mrs. Truth, I'm on your side," the labor leader pleaded.

"So I came home empty-handed! I went to visit another official here in Des Moines and got the same song and dance, 'I'm not authorized'". Jessie Mae groaned.

She stirred her coffee thoughtfully, laid the spoon down and stared at Jeri. "Jeri, powder your armpits! We are going to battle. Birmingham is calling and a certain Iowa labor leader is going to answer, 'Here am I!'"

HEALTH FOR ALL

FOR A FLU-LESS FUTURE

When it comes to imaginative foresight, consider the ladies' clothing entrepreneur who starts promoting next summer's fashions at the height of winter.

Or take the magazine cover artist who devotes the August dog days to brooding over Santa Claus ideas.

Model

Either, as it happens, could serve as an excellent model for anybody who believes in being serious about his state of health. Because right about now, when the trees are still green and the late summer sun still potent, is the ideal time to think about fending off that mid-winter menace known as influenza.

Why the big head start? Because influenza vaccine—the approved fender-off of flu—takes time after injection to become effective. And while flu is essentially a winter ailment, it can begin appearing as early as September.

Edna Johnson, New Bethel Baptist in Manly, Ia., and Mrs. Emma Yeager, Macedonia Baptist; Finance chairman is Clarence Jones.

A special meeting will be held on Monday, Oct. 7 at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Beatrice Bailey, 825 10th street to complete plans.

Extra Deaths

As the U.S. Surgeon General has pointed out, timely use of flu vaccine might have prevented 60,000 of the 86,000 extra deaths that occurred during epidemics from 1958 to 1961. That's a lot of lives lost through sheer neglect.

Flu vaccine is effective in preventing the disease in about seven out of ten people vaccinated, the Surgeon General said. Those who particularly need it—because they are among those most vulnerable to flu—are people with TB or emphysema or other diseases of the breathing system; also those with heart trouble, diabetes, or some other chronic disease. Pregnant women, and all persons over 45, also are in the vulnerable group and should be vaccinated.

Boosters

Influenza at best is a highly unpleasant sickness, bringing headache, sore throat, weakness, muscular pains, often chills and fever or nausea. Vaccinations last only a year; a single annual "booster" shot is needed for continued protection. If in doubt as to whether you should be vaccinated, consult your doctor—not during the winter, but now.

If you have been one of the lucky ones you have survived our seasaw weather without contacting a bad cold or a germ akin to flu. Fall club and group activities are getting into high gear as sport fans shift from baseball to football. For those of you whose husbands are at home during the days or afternoons you will probably get an overdose of TV-itis what with the World Series playing its role on the annual sports scene. Of course, if you are like some ladies you will drop those household chores and give your favorite team everything you have got in the yelling and gesturing department.

Mrs. Edward (Carolyn) Hamilton, 727 26th street, has probably arrived at her destination—Hawaii, where she joined her husband who is stationed in the Air Force there with some time to get rested from the tiring rigors of traveling by train and jet airliner. She was driven to Omaha, Neb., by her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Payne, 1142 Enos avenue so that she would not have so many changes to make enroute to the west coast by train. The Hamiltons were among the many summer newlyweds in Des Moines.

Mrs. Anna Love, 1225 15th street, is recovering from a leg injury she suffered while helping a friend to clean a house. She stepped on a rotten board and her foot and leg went through cutting a deep gash on her leg which required daily attendance by a doctor.

Mrs. Love, who has five children, three of them attending Nash school, is a former neighbor of ours. She moved when fire damaged the apartment in which she was living in several years ago.

FROM ALTADENA TO YOU: This is the way a note begins from Mrs. Robert D. Ewing and family who returned to California after spending a month's vacation on Des Moines visiting her mother, Mrs. Lola H. Reeves, and two sisters and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Cushingberry and Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Flannigan.

While in Des Moines they resided with her sister, Mrs. Celeste Flannigan, 1112 10th street. Also while in Des Moines and enjoying getting reacquainted with friends and relatives long parted she had the honor of being a part of one of Des Moines most beautiful weddings given by Atty. and Mrs. W. L. Oliver for their daughter, Barbara.

"To express myself thoroughly," Mrs. Ewing wrote, "I send this message to friends and loved ones in Des Moines."

"Belated but never out dated
The love I send to you
The thanks and appreciation
From me and my loved ones too.
Your gifts give out of pleasure
From friendship honest and true
Some store bought, some by hand made
Others the goodness of God shining through.

UNFORTUNATE ACTS NOT CHARGEABLE TO THE WHOLE SCHOOL

Last Friday night during a football game between Roosevelt and Tech High School, a 15-year-old boy, who attends the former school, tossed a tear gas bomb into the section of the stand occupied principally by the latter school. One boy was injured seriously, several people slightly injured and for a while pandemonium reigned among the crowd.

The boy said he stole the bomb from the police department basement; that he had no intention of injuring anyone.

This is a serious matter for the police department if what he said is true; it is serious for him in that his actions rather than what he said show his real intent.

Some years ago, a youngster from Roosevelt High School placed an explosive on the drinking fountain at the school. And while no one was injured by that explosion the act indicated reckless disregard for the life of others. The youngster was dealt with rather lightly by the authorities.

These matters deserve prompt action by officials which will let pranksters know that such things will not be tolerated in the least and will bring swift punishment.

Incidents like these are unfortunate because the public is prone to blame the whole school or the whole group with whom perpetrators are identified for what one does. There is usually one rotten apple in a barrel but the whole barrel should not be dumped on the lot. Most youngsters are not of the criminal type and many of those who are led into terrible situations follow some bully who influences the pack.

There are those who demand that night football games be stopped because unfortunate incidents have occurred at times. We don't think so. We have seen fights at football games at the Iowa University stadium (and they are played during the day) and nobody has suggested that these games be discontinued.

The Bystander thinks that the school board has done right by refusing to be stampeded into a discontinuance of night football games because a few youngsters elected to conduct themselves improperly. Rather the emphasis should be placed upon supervision and companionship by the parents so that they may know what their youngsters are doing when they are out of sight.

GROTHE FALLS IN
SAD TRAP; SURPRISE TO HIS FRIENDS

Those who have followed carefully the action of the city council on the urban renewal program and now the proposed anti-bias housing ordinance now under consideration, can see a lack of support among some members. Or there has been a failure to come to grips with these social problems such as to provide a leadership which would secure their acceptance by the people.

Last week, the city council and the human rights commission met for a review of the anti-bias ordinance. Some members took dilatory uncertain positions which may well brand them as apposed to it. The mayor expressed a willingness to support it.

The great surprise position came from Jens Grothe whom the Bystander felt from his past actions and expressions could be counted upon to support the measure.

A lawyer of great ability, Grothe said that he had read the cases and discovered that such an ordinance would be illegal; that he had become convinced that Negroes did not want the ordinance passed.

Lawyers often interpret the same law and come up with different conclusions. Facts would not be subject to such. The Bystander would like to know who gave Grothe his information and whether he had talked with informed people which would indicate that Negroes are against the proposed ordinance.

Grothe's conclusion as to how Negroes feel about this or any other measure which would bar racial discrimination are entirely incorrect because his informers are not acquainted with the attitude of Negroes on anti-bias legislation.

We suggest that he interview

Hawks Tie; Cyclones Win;
Drake Looking for 1st Victory

By Staff Writer

Iowa City—The State University of Iowa Hawkeyes began their football season not too auspiciously here Saturday when they settled for a 14-14 tie with the Washington State Cougars, who rallied from a 14-0 halftime deficit.

In the contest witnessed by some 52,000 fans, one announcer was heard as saying, "Iowa won the first half and Washington the second half." That statement is almost sufficient for this story.

However, there were some standouts in the game which really satisfied no one—Quarterback Fred Riddle who completed 8 of 11 passes for 199 yards . . . End Cloyd Webb who did his share to give Riddle his glory through fine reception.

Iowa meets Washington on Saturday.

Cyclones

Ames—A man named Vaughn—Tom Vaughn, that is—put on a superb one-man performance aided by 10 other players on the football field to get the Iowa State Cyclones on the winning road here Saturday, 21-6. Victims were Virginia Military Institute.

Early in the second quarter Vaughn galloped 90 yards on a kickoff return touchdown, then scored another touchdown. All in all he hammered out 88 of 174 yards the Cyclones gained by rushing.

Iowa State meets Nebraska on Saturday.

Drake

Springfield, Mo.—The Bulldogs of Drake University didn't win the game but they did get their first scoring in their first of two defeats this fall. Saturday they lost to Southwest Missouri State 13-6 and by scoring a touchdown, they spoiled the otherwise spotless record of the Bears, who had not yielded a point this fall in three games.

The Bulldogs also had a 270-112 edge in total offense—194 to 109 on and ground and 17-10 budge in first downs.

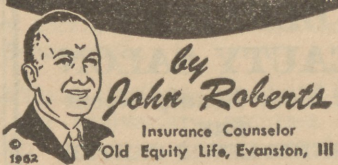

The Bulldogs meet South Dakota on Saturday when they will be looking for their first victory.

NEGRO-LABOR ALLIANCE
CALLED "ESSENTIAL"
BY UNION CONFERENCE

Unity House, Pa.—A strong alliance of labor, civil rights and liberal forces in the nation was called for by a three-day conference here of Negro, Jewish and labor leaders. The meeting was sponsored by the National Trade Union Council for Human Rights of the Jewish Labor Committee. The labor delegates came from 28 international unions, the national headquarters of the AFL-CIO and several state and city central labor bodies.

Some people who know what they are talking about. To date we have found no one who has been contacted by him for his information.

Are you planning to buy a new car on credit? Before you rush into installment buying, ask yourself, "Do I really need a new car immediately?" Then consider saving until you have enough money to pay cash.

Borrowing is an expensive business these days. For example, say you had $800 on hand and wanted to buy a $2,400 car. You'd have to borrow $1,600. If the interest rate were only 5%, the loan would cost you $120 over 18 months. The car would actually cost you $2,520, and you'd have payments of $95.55 a month.

On the other hand, if you put your $800 in a savings account, and added a deposit of $95.55 each month, at the end of 18 months, you'd have the $2,400 cash you need for the new car, plus over $220 in accumulated interest.

If you can, put off buying that car until you can pay cash. You'll be money ahead.

The pool hall experts are saying that Iowa U. won't win over three football games. Drake won't win one and the Yanks will win the series. Be interesting to see how they make out. Your illustrious scribbler gives the Hawks four games and Drake three. The Series? Well we have guessed the Dodgers this far. Might as well go with them the rest of the way.

It does seem that the Iowa U team is back where it left off last year. A weak second half. They played great ball Saturday for 30 minutes and then nearly got chased out of the stadium.

As we recall the penalty that robbed the visitors of their last down, we guess that would depend on when the foul was committed. If it were on the play itself the down would remain the same. If it were after the whistle had blown the penalty would have to be enough to make up the yardage deficit in order for the offensive team to keep the ball. We shall see what the boys do next week.

Iowa State could be the surprise team of their conference. But we wonder how this Jeter fellow at Nebraska ever got away from Iowa. But it seems that when this present crop of Negro athletes has gone from Iowa Negroes will be as scarce as they used to be in Iowa Athletics. Maybe those things run in cycles and Iowa's cycle is about to run out. Still they go all around Iowa.

It was something to see Tom Watkins of Iowa State and Larry Ferguson of Iowa U in the same lineup in that pro game Sunday.

High School

While the fellows who have seen East High play keep saying the team doesn't belong in the top ten teams the Lee township lads keep rolling along. Tech must have a lot of really quick kids. They have a lot of speed but they must be really quick to do the things they did against Roosevelt. This Massey guy is going to be hard to keep off the all-city team. He is running away with scoring honors and with no injuries should be the winner in this department.

Hall of Fame

The football hall of fame so far has three Negroes on its list. F. Pollard, an all American at Brown way back in 1915, Duke Slater of Iowa in 1921 and Kenny Washington who starred at U.C.L.A. in the middle thirties. As more Negroes who have come along recently reach the 10-year mark post their retirement they will be added. But one of the greatest athletes of his day was omitted. Paul Robeson was an All-American at Rutgers the same year Pollard and Brown made it. Whatever his political, personal difficulties have done to Robeson they can't hide the fact that he was one of the greatest college athletes of his day. It was said that he was a pitcher of major league caliber and a great basketball player.

So far as we know the rules make take in the turn a man's life has taken as a requisite of fame. But shouldn't this honor be based on what the guy was as a college or pro athlete?

IN MY LITTLE TOWN

By B. L. Williams

In my little town the street was long,
And narrow and still and slow,
And on either side the grass was green and the arching trees bent
low;
And the summer dust was soft and warm
To a child's feet bare and brown.
The days were long with their sunlit
gleams,
And no one hurried—(or so it seems)

'Twas a perfect place for dreaming dreams.
Was it so in your little town?
In my little town a well-worn path,

Led up to each neighbor's door,
And for weal or woe that we chanced to bring
There were kindly words in store,
I have learned to hide my joys and griefs
From the world's cold stare and frown;
But I sometimes long for the friends
I knew,
And the sympathy ready and warm
and true,
In the town where the skies seemed a bit more blue.
Was it so in your little town?

In my little town the church bells rang
On the peaceful Sabbath day,
And the little white church swung wide her doors
At the call to meet and pray,
I've worshipped in temples quite famed and grand
As I've wandered up and down;
I've listened to creeds both high and
low
But all the religion I seem to know
The little white church taught long ago.
Was it so in your little town?
