SCEF Headquarters Raided in New Orleans

Records Seized; Two Top Officers Arrested; Homes Ransacked

New Orleans, La.—State and city police raided offices of the Southern Conference Educational Fund (SCEF) and arrested two of its top officers on Oct. 4. All records of the organization were seized.

Civil-rights leaders across the nation immediately protested this action against SCEF, which is a South-wide group working to end segregation and discrimination. The protests were led by the Rev. Fred L. Shuttlesworth, SCEF president and leader of the movement in Birmingham, Ala., and by the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), Atlanta, Ga.

Arrested

Those arrested were Dr. James A. Dombrowski, SCEF executive director; Benjamin E. Smith, treasurer of the group; and Bruce Walters, Smith's law partner. They were later paroled by State Judge J. Bernard Cox pending filing of formal charges.

Homes Ransacked

Homes of all three men were ransacked and boxes full of personal papers and books were seized. Smith and Walters' law offices were also stripped of files having anything to do with SCEF business.

Dombrowski, Smith, and Walters were charged with "operating a Communist conspiracy" in violation of a state sedition law. A spokesman for the Louisiana Joint Legislative Committee on Un-American Activities said the raids and arrests followed a year-long investigation of SCEF by the committee.

3 States

The Rev. Mr. Shuttlesworth said: "We recognize this as part of a three-state conspiracy in Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana, our three most backward states, to frustrate the drive for freedom by civil-rights organizations. We expect more of these attacks on all civil-rights groups and all persons working for full freedom."

"Evidence of the three-state conspiracy includes testimony of Governor Wallace of Alabama and Governor Barnett of Mississippi before Congress this summer, in which they sought to label all civil-rights organizations as subversive and vilified their leaders."

Despoism

In Atlanta, the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee wired President Kennedy, Attorney General Robert Kennedy, and the U. S. Commission on Civil Rights, Washington. SNCC declared that the action

Washington, D. C.—The House, by a vote of 265 to 80, Monday sent to the president a bill renewing for one year the statutory authority of the Civil Rights Commission, which ran out Sept. 30.

The extension is designed merely to keep the commission operating until Congress can act on an omnibus civil rights bill. One year before the House Judiciary Committee includes a provision that would make the commission a permanent agency.

King Sues to Ban Sale of Speech

New York, N. Y.—The Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr., filed suit in Federal Court Friday to stop three companies from selling recordings of his speech at the Aug. 28 March on Washington.

Named as defendants were Mr. Maestro, Inc.; Twentieth Century Fox, Inc.; and Motown Record Co. of Detroit.

King said he has copyrighted the speech, "I have a Dream," and that an authorized recording is expected to be released next week. He said the profits from it would be given to the Council for a United Civil Rights Leadership.

Caught Between Cars, Boy Hurt

Bruce Smith, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Smith, suffered a badly bruised left leg Friday evening when caught between a backing car and a parked car in front of his home at 1054 14th street.

He was treated in Mercy Hospital and released.

Accident Investigator Edward Rand said the driver of the moving car left the scene. The car was located later with its owner, Lucius X. Williams, 45, of 1185 15th street, sitting in the front seat. Williams was arrested on a charge of intoxication and booked for further questioning.

Iowa United Nations Observance Slated Oct. 25 at Statehouse

The speaker will be Charles Woodruff Yost who is Deputy Representative in the Security Council with the rank of Ambassador. As such, he is a principal political adviser to the United States Representative at the United Nations, Adlai E. Stevenson. Mr. Yost is highly qualified for this position serving in the State Department and Foreign Service for nearly 30 years. He, in 1945, was Assistant to the Chairman of the United States Delegation to the San Francisco Conference and acted as Secretary General of the United States Delegation at the Potsdam Conference. In 1946 he served as political adviser to the United States Delegation at the United Nations General Assembly. He has been Deputy Representative in the Security Council since 1961.

High School students from all 99 Iowa counties as well as Foreign students will be special guests of the meeting.

Three new field secretaries, Issac Reynolds, Winston Lockett, and Jon Schaeffer were hired. Reynolds is assigned to Louisiana, Lockett to Tennessee and Schaeffer to New York. All three had previously been working as volunteers. CORE now has a staff of 47 professional workers.

Mrs. Glanton Fined By Husband-Judge

Judge Luther T. Glanton, as his last official act in three months of presiding over the traffic division of Municipal Court, September 30th fined his wife Willie $5 for speeding 37 miles an hour in a 30-mile zone in the 700 block of Second ave. She was clocked by the police radar speed detector at 1:45 p.m. Sept. 30.

Verdict Against 52 Year Old Woman Accused of Shooting Roomer 4 Times

Mrs. Beatrice Marie Lee, 52, of Des Moines was found guilty of manslaughter in a shooting Tuesday night after a trial in Polk County District court. The verdict came after some 27 hours of deliberations.

The case was submitted to the jury of eight women and four men about night at the Courthouse.

Mrs. Lee was charged with first-degree murder—deliberately and maliciously shooting Charles Alexander Spence, 57, to death last May 17 in the room he rented in her home.

5 Verdicts

The jury had five options: Guilty of murder in the first degree with the death penalty; guilty of first-degree murder with life imprisonment; guilty of second-degree murder; guilty of manslaughter; or innocent.

Mrs. Lee fired four .38-caliber bullets into Spence's torso. She said she fired in self-defense, believing Spence was reaching for a gun. Police found a .32-caliber revolver in a pocket of Spence's trousers.

Was A WAC

Mrs. Lee was a World War II WAC and sat undisturbed when Assistant County Attorney Jerry Williams pointed to her and told the jury she "sits before you guilty of murder."

Williams introduced evidence that Mrs. Lee served Iowa Women's Reformatory sentences in 1947, after she cut the throat of John R. Washington, a lunch companion, and in 1951, after she wounded Joseph E. Jackson with a .32 caliber bullet in the back.

L. A. Postmaster Is 'Celebrity' At P.O. Convention in Hawaii

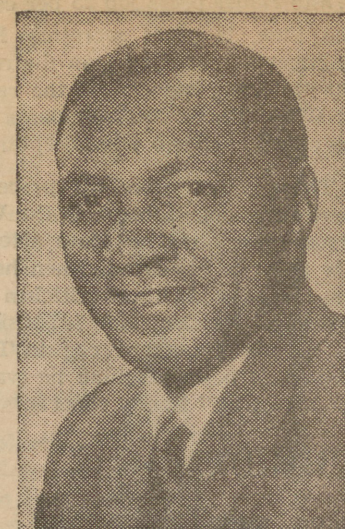

Honolulu — Postmaster Leslie N. Shaw from Los Angeles was a center of attention here last Saturday for approximately 75 postmasters from Hawaii as he arrived for the 59th annual convention of the National Association of Postmasters of the United States.

Shaw, 41, manages the third largest post office in the nation, gateway for much of the mail from the United States mainland to this newest state.

Postmaster Shaw was named by President Kennedy April 15 as the first Negro postmaster ever to head one of the largest post offices in the country.

Wives

Shaw was accompanied by his wife and three children. Mrs. Shaw supervised the household budgeting that went into the long planning which preceded the family trip. Mrs. Shaw was among the more than a thousand wives of postmasters participating in daytime work sessions and spending some time touring the Islands and attending other activities of the convention.

NAACP Says "No" to Christmas Buying Boycott

New York—Replying to a proposal that the NAACP endorse a nationwide Christmas buying strike, NAACP Executive Secretary Roy Wilkins said that "each person should decide how best he can react effectively" to the Birmingham bombing that killed four Negro girls, but added "that organizationally we cannot sponsor a nation-wide Christmas boycott."

Letters

Wilkins stated the NAACP position in a letter, Oct. 1, to Louis E. Lomax who, on behalf of Writers and Artists for Justice, had sent a telegram asking NAACP endorsement of the boycott proposal which Lomax, James Baldwin and other writers had advanced as a protest against the Birmingham horror.

Careful Thought

At a meeting of the leadership of the March on Washington, "careful thought" was given to "the problems of such a consumer strike," Mr. Wilkins said in his letter. Included in the March leadership are the NAACP, the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, CORE, National Urban League, Negro American Labor Council and the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

"All of us believe that there should be selective buying campaigns in every local community in which businesses with fair employment policies should be patronized and businesses with unfair policies should be passed by," the NAACP leader pointed out.

Grownups

"The NAACP," he continued, "has staged many such selective buying

Makes Grade As Assoc. Press Sec'y

Rumored "on the way out" two years ago, Andrew T. Hatcher has made the grade as White House associate press secretary, reports the October issue of Ebony magazine.

"Few Negroes who sparkle with pride when they see on the television screen the President's integrated press staff realize the tremendous battle Hatcher has fought and won," says Ebony.

Today Hatcher handles the top White House press job 25 per cent of the time, is press secretary Pierre Salinger's right-hand man the rest of the time and has earned the respect of White House correspondents after an uphill battle to win acceptance.

Three years after his precedent-shattering appointment to the White House post and two years after the low point of his career when he was the target of constant criticism from newsmen, Hatcher "now is considered to be the important cog in Pierre Salinger's news machine he was intended to be," Ebony reports.

campaigns successfully in localities where targets could be reached and sufficient consumer buying power was present. The NAACP will continue to stage such campaigns.

"Perhaps grown-ups should refrain from giving costly presents to other grownups, and instead turn the money over to the civil rights cause. It seemed to those in the meeting that it would be unfortunate to further deprive Negro children, already brutalized by segregation, by denying them the annual joys of a Christmas tree and toys."

Moreover, Wilkins pointed out, "a general consumer buying strike would not have any effect directly on the

Mrs. Andre Enters Council Race

Mrs. Dorothy Harlow Andre, of 938 Pleasant View Drive, Tuesday filed her qualifying petitions as a candidate for the Des Moines City Council.

At the time of filing her petitions, Mrs. Andre submitted the following statement:

Fellow citizens of Des Moines: I am asking for your vote and your help in the October 22nd City Council Primary Election. Your support will make it possible for me to help represent you on the Des Moines City Council for the next two years.

The following are some of the guidelines I would follow if elected to the council:

Government must not attack rights of property owners. I believe that government must not be permitted to weaken or abridge this basic right of property owners which government was set up to protect.

She said all home and businesses should pay a fair share of taxes, spending and taxes must be gotten under control, adequate transportation is needed and government itself should obey the laws.

Mormon Church Criticized by Student For Discrimination Against Negroes

New York—The Mormon Church was sharply criticized Monday by one of its members for its failure to grant equality to Negroes.

Writing in the current issue of Look Magazine, a 20-year-old Mormon student called on Church leaders to re-examine existing doctrine that prevents Negroes from becoming priests in the Church.

"The Negro," declared Jeff Nye, a student at the University of Utah, "is not equal to the white in the Mormon Church, and equality is impossible as long as the Church denies the priesthood to the Negro. This is the policy of the Church."

Priesthood

Pointing out that the priesthood is the foundation of the Church and that all white males are eligible for the priesthood, Nye wrote:

"The Mormon Church taught me that the Negro was not equal to the white in terms of religious rights and opportunities. It taught me that the Negro was cursed with the loss of God's priesthood and that the evidence, or mark, of this curse was his dark skin."

President Names Spottswood W. Robinson Judge of U. S. District Court in Washington, D.C.

Washington, D. C.—President John F. Kennedy's nomination, Monday, of Spottswood W. Robinson III, 47, former Howard University Law School Dean to the U. S. District Court Bench of the District of Columbia, marks the fourth appointment of a Negro to the U. S. District Court.

Legal Whiz

In 1961, Robinson, a native of Richmond, Va., was appointed by the President as Commissioner of the U. S. Civil Rights Commission. A celebrated civil rights lawyer and former NAACP Attorney, Robinson was a member of the legal team which won the 1954 U. S. Supreme Court victory against segregated public education.

Apathy

Most Mormons, Nye said, have an attitude of "overwhelming apathy" toward Negroes. The present Mormon Negro doctrine, he added, adds to this apathy and "gives Mormons a God-sanctioned reason for feeling superior to the Negroes."

High Official

In an accompanying interview appearing in the magazine, Joseph Fielding Smith, the Church's doctrinarian and one of its highest officials, conceded that Negroes cannot become priests but denied that his Church teaches or believes that the Negro is inferior.

Revelation

Smith said that no consideration is being given now to changing doctrine toward the Negro because "such a change can come about only through divine revelation, and no one can predict when a divine revelation will occur."

"I would not want you to believe," the Mormon official told Look, "that we bear any animosity toward the Negro. Darkies are wonderful people, and they have their place in our Church."

Prince Hall Day Celebrated Here

Prince Hall Day was observed at the Masonic Hall, 11th and Center streets on Sept. 29 at 3 p.m. with Doric Lodge No. 30 as host. Members of North Star No. 2 of Des Moines and Eureka Lodge No. 20 of Marshalltown were guests.

The Spiritual Keys sang, led by Rev. Samuel Wade and supported by Clay Boomer, C. S. Patton, Henry Hollis and Ernest Reed. The group was accompanied by Herold Flax on the guitar.

Irvin White gave some timely and eloquent readings, "Freedom in My Soul," "I, Too, Am America," and "Builder or Wrecker."

The Martinels composed of Tommy Williams, Ella Ruth Peguese, Gail Ashby and James Watkins, sang. They just returned from a successful two-week tour and gave a rendition of their hit record, "Baby Think It Over."

Main speaker was Ernest Russell, executive director of the Des Moines Commission on Human Rights. George Jackson is Worshipful Master of the Doric Lodge.

His roommate asked him to step out on the front porch to meet the men and one of them pulled a small revolver and took Withers' money. Withers said. He said he then was knocked unconscious.

After he regained consciousness the men and the roommate were gone, he said. Withers then drove to Broadlawn Polk County Hospital, where he was treated for face and mouth cuts.

Sojourner Truth

Sojourner Truth

Jeri heard laughter and rejoicing in her kitchen when she opened the front door. The coffee drinkers of the neighborhood had made themselves at home in her absence.

Carole greeted Jeri with a question. "What in the world did you say to our senior senator?"

"You know me, Carole. I just went crazy when I read about those three white men arrested in New Orleans because they were getting a little too much done for civil rights. I told my 'favorite' senator, he not only represented me but the hope for freedom buried with my grandparents who were born and raised in Iowa. I guess the senior senator figured he'd better answer right away because I meant every word I said about sitting around in the senate reading newspapers while those southern senators filibustered civil rights to death in 1963."

Carole read aloud from the letter. The senator says here, "So far as a filibuster is concerned, the continuance or termination often depends upon the vigor and determination of the leadership and of majority control. I have signed cloture petitions in the past and I am prepared to do so again, if, and when the debate on any issue—civil rights or any other issues get to the point of inexcusable delay and procrastination." Carole put the letter aside.

"Maybe we won't have to go to Washington," she thought out loud.

Remembrance of the meeting with the senior senator the day before the Great March filled Jessie Mae's thoughts as she sat staring across the table at Carole without seeing her. Once again Jessie Mae looked into his cold and calculating eyes.

Jessie Mae's attention returned to the present and pounced upon Carole. "We dare not trust that man. We'd better go to Washington. The senior senator must see us when he steps off the hotel elevator. He must see us in the senate cloakroom, in the senate corridors,—yes, in his dreams and while shaving when that filibuster gets started. The unspoken hopes of our ancestors, dead and gone, must silently haunt the senator. We must be there if we have to walk." Jessie Mae glanced apologetically at Carole. "I didn't mean to blow your head off," she explained.

"That sly old fox sounds like he's going to vote to stop the filibuster IF and WHEN the delay is excusable. We've worked too hard to be tricked by even the senior senator," Jessie Mae complained.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Poison is Bad For You!

Accidental poisoning tops all other causes of emergency medical treatment given to children in the United States, according to a recent survey. The American Academy of Pediatrics reported that 51 per cent of all accidents treated by its child specialists members in private practice were cases of poisoning. Another investigation has revealed that "almost half of the cases" of accidental poisoning happen to children under five.

Growing

The problem has been growing in seriousness, it was pointed out, because of continuing advances in chemistry which have added to the number of poisonous substances found useful in the home. They include such products as insecticides, deodorants, some detergents, nail polish remover, and moth balls.

Menaces

Besides these potential menaces, the old or new medicines and drug preparations found in the typical family medicine cabinet, and often accessible to the enterprising child, add up to a formidable health hazard present in a great many homes. A good example of such hazards is the candy-flavored aspirin designed for "acceptability" to children — and sometimes all too successful.

Adults

Nor is the danger confined to children alone. In the adult bracket, the leading substances involved in cases of accidental poisoning are lead, arsenic, mercury, and certain acids and alkalies used as cleansers. Medications most frequently involved in such home tragedies are barbiturates, sedatives, and tranquilizers.

Any Age

Persons of any age, from the mischievous youngster to his absent-minded parent or grandparent, are liable to the hazard of accidental poisoning. At any suspicion of illness from this source a doctor should be called. The best method of prevention is to keep all poisonous substances safely under lock and key, avoid underestimating Junior's ingenuity at opening "safety" bottles, and label all drugs and medicines conspicuously and unmistakably for adults.

Your Baby Owes a Lot to Your New Automatic Dryer

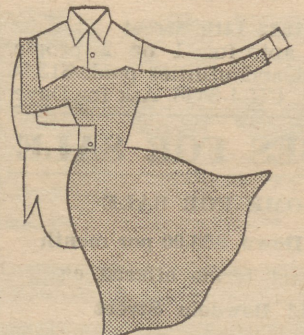

With all the many duties a young mother has, each minute spent playing with baby is a real luxury. These moments are enjoyed and needed by both mother and child. With a new time-saving automatic clothes dryer, a mother has more time to devote to the tender loving care of her children.

Baby especially benefits with the extra-clean, fluffy-soft diapers and tiny togs fresh from your dryer. The rest of the family's clothes will come out soft instead of stiff, smooth instead of so wrinkled. In fact, most of the new wash 'n' wear fabrics won't need to be ironed at all!

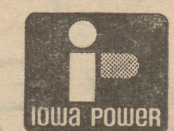

Washday is sure to whiz by in nothing flat with the help of your new automatic dryer. Morning or midnight... rain or blizzard... your dryer captures the freshness and warmth of Iowa's summer sun and puts it at your finger tips. Garments that would normally take hours to dry outside—blankets, heavy work clothes, etc.—dry safely in merely minutes. Best of all, there's no more hanging up and taking down clothes off the line.

Personally Yours by Frances Hawthorne.

It was a little difficult for us to get into the swing of things early this week, but since necessity is the mother of all invention we reached down into the recesses and invented some enthusiasm. The whole family motored to Eolia, Missouri, over the weekend where we rusticated at the farm home of my mother, Mrs. Pauline Watson, and visited with my sisters and brothers. After the 300 mile trip we basked in the sun and enjoyed the almost breath-taking scenery of Indian summer days as only October can paint them on nature's canvas. My husband accompanied by our two sons, went on hunting sprees but I—just lolled around and enjoyed doing nothing and eating good country meals.

The hunting trips for our sons was a pleasure which cannot be described in words by them or me. It was their first and were they proud! The girls stayed behind, like me, and played gleefully with their three little cousins.

The Sunday before we left and naturally before the World Series baseball game came on, my husband showed off his fancy barbecuing tricks and prepared the meat in an outdoor open pit over smoking charcoal and hickory bark, right from the hickory trees on the farm.

We made a tour of the farm land to see if there were any hickory nuts or walnuts, but alas, this year was a very poor season, and what had fallen had been salvaged by the enterprising squirrels.

On the trip to the Missouri farm we were bathed in a silvery, bright moonlight from a huge full moon that transformed the highway and countryside into a magic silver carpet. As we said in the beginning our communion with nature brought out our lazy quality, or it just relaxed us to the point to show the contrast in the haste and frenzied activity that we sometimes can get caught up in in city life. It helps to go back and refresh ourselves and thus get a new perspective on what we are doing, where we are going and why

Early last week we had a nice chat and interview with Mr. and Mrs. William E. Jackson, 1302 E. 15th street. Mrs. Jackson is an aunt of a former employee of the Bystander, Miss Ann Wright. Of course, we caught up on all the news concerning her. She is now living and working in Denver, Colo., where she has other relatives.

Mrs. Jackson said during the early summer she drove with a close neighbor and friend, Mrs. Robert Stovall to Denver. Mrs. Stovall and her husband, who now live in Denver, was going to house hunt there. Mrs. Jackson said it was her first visit to Colorado and raved about the beautiful mountain scenery and of Denver.

ACTION OF SCHOOL BOARD IS APPLAUDED

The board of the Independent School District in Des Moines has turned down a request to make a public school auditorium available for the Rev. Billy James Hargis to deliver an address.

Parading as a great fighter of communism, Rev. Hargis is a rabble rouser, race-hater and works closely with General Walker in the phony campaign of fear and distrust of many American citizens and movements.

Around the turn of the century, Senators Cole Blease and Ben Tillman of South Carolina and James K. Vardaman of Mississippi toured northern states on chautauqua circuits spreading hate, prejudice and distrust against Negroes in the guise of telling the South's side of the race problem. Even though Booker T. Washington followed them in some instances the damage done by these senators was immense.

America is still suffering from the results of the campaign carried under the guise of free speech. For this reason our schools should not become the centers for the spread of racial hate.

One irony of the South's fight against the exercise by Negroes of civil rights and integration is that the expense of carrying on their program is paid by tax dollars much of which is contributed by Negroes.

Thus, why should Des Moines Negroes help finance a forum for the spread of hatred against some citizens whose money provide the buildings where the rotten speeches would be made.

In recent weeks, Governor Barnett of Mississippi and Governor Wallace of Alabama have spoken on the campus of two of our great eastern seats of learning. It is difficult to understand what contribution these men can make toward the education of our youngsters with their record of lawlessness that is no better than Al Capone, and Joseph Valachi who is spilling his fruits of crime before a senate committee. Upon these governor's hands is the blood of Negro men and girls whose lives were snuffed out because their defiance of the law encouraged the rabble to kill human being and destroy property because they sought to exercise their rights.

A surprising editorial in the Des Moines Register accused the school board of being timid. With this we disagree and applaud the board for refusing to desecrate the school buildings by speakers who disregard their oath of office and encourage youngsters to obey such laws as they see fit.

HATS OFF TO
DES MOINES SAVINGS

Following through the campaign for the participation by Negroes in every phase of American life, the NAACP has called upon advertising agencies to include Negroes in their advertising subjects in advertising in other than the Negro press. Some national advertisers are responding to the request.

Here in Des Moines, we have a splendid example of this program in action. It is not certain—and the Bystander purposely did not inquire—whether the advertising department of the Des Moines Savings and Loan Association has been called upon to start such a program.

However, in their advertisement emphasizing the great expansion of the newly remodeled building, they used James A. Bailey, a customer since 1923, in the Bystander advertisement. (It continues to appear and may be found on page 6).

Following through in the general advertising, Mr. Bailey has been one of the subjects of those advertisements appearing on television, thus emphasizing not only to readers of the Negro press but also the public, that a Negro customer has seen fit to avail himself of their services for more than forty years.

The Des Moines Savings advertising department deserves great credit for moving out into untrod fields by acting in the light of the awakening of Negro participation in all phases of American life. And they emphasize that a customer is welcome and desirable whatever the color of his skin.

Men like Mr. Bailey do a lot

Seattle, Wash.—Amid rain and a thunderstorm and with only two minutes 4 seconds to go, the Iowa Hawkeyes took a grip on the mud spattered field and on their determination, marched for 94 yards to break a 7-7 tie. A 39-yard field goal, a modern record for distance, was kicked by Jay Roberts, giving the Hawks a 17-7 win over the Washington State Huskies.

Stars

The Hawks had a 7-0 lead at half-time but the Huskies tied the score late in the third quarter. Standout stars for the game were Quarterback Fred Riddle who completed 6 of 19 passes for 101 yards; End Cloyd Webb who made several spectacular catches at a new position, 'floating end'; and Fullback Bobby Grier who netted 95 yards and was one of the key men on the 94 yard fourth quarter drive. Iowa totaled 136 yards rushing for a total yardage of 237.

In statistics however the Huskies bettered Iowa with 16-11 first downs and an edge in total yardage with 269.

The Hawks will meet Indiana Saturday in its Homecoming game.

Drake Bulldogs

In a record-breaking 95-degree heat Drake University finally came up with its first win, defeating South Dakota University 23-0 here Saturday before a sweltering crowd of 8,000.

Manley Sarnowsky, freshman from Canada started the scoring with a 40-yard field goal—fourth longest in Drake history, in the first quarter. Drake compiled a total of 323 yards to 96 by South Dakota.

Playing his first game this season was Drake's senior guard, Lou Proctor, who showed he can hold his own despite the loss of a hand in an industrial accident last summer at Firestone Rubber.

Grimacing happily after his delayed appearance, Proctor told newsmen that his arm "never bothered me a bit."

Smart Play

Lou recovered a fumble in the first quarter and in the third quarter made a smart play by diving to keep a Drake punt from rolling into South Dakota's end zone knocking the ball

Little League

At the half-way point, the two West teams hold first in their respective divisions in Little All American Football League Competition.

The West heavyweights have a 3-0 record while the West lightweights are 2-0-1.

In games last weekend lightweight: East beat South, 13-0, West and North played a scoreless tie; heavyweight: West beat North 19-6; East outclassed South 32-12.

East Scoring

On Saturday, East did all of the scoring. Mike Burns threw an 18-yard pass to Dave Gilroy for one score; Jeff Turner ran five yards for the other tally. Mary McMurray kicked the extra point.

The heavyweights proved more prolific point getters in Sunday's games. For the leading West team, Mark Mahan scored on a 13-yard run, Jim Henneberry carried 71 yards with a stolen pass, and Bruce Dixon fell on a fumbled ball in the end zone. Mike Pope kicked a point after touchdown.

Touchdowns

The North score came as a result of a 75-yard run by Jerry Jones.

In the East-South game, East's Ed Palmer intercepted a pass and ran 75 yards to the one yard line, with Jim Ireal plunging for the score; Jim Kirby scored three touchdowns on runs of 35 yards, 40 yards, and 50 yards, and Vernon Jeter contributed a 60-yard scoring jaunt. Charles Dudley kicked two conversions.

For the South, Larry Vermie carried to encourage youngsters that the doors of opportunity and consideration are open to those who step up and assume their responsibility as good desirable citizens.

In doing so Watkins returned five punts for 184 yards wiping out a 175-yard record set by the new coach of the 49ers, Jack Christiansen. Watkins also returned one kick 90 yards for a touchdown—erasing Christiansen's club record of 89 yards.

Drake meets State College of Iowa on Saturday.

Iowa State

Lincoln, Nebr.—Unbeaten Nebraska overpowered Iowa State here Saturday 21-7 in a game that was played in 93-degree heat before 37,000 sunbaked fans.

The Cornhuskers were 16-point favorites in the Big Eight opener for both teams. Though out-classed the Cyclones won a moral victory in that they never allowed pessimism to invade their ranks. They fought the Huskers to a 7-7 tie at intermission. Bright spot for Iowa State was Capt. Dave Hoover's 70 yard touchdown run on a fake kick.

Nebraska ran for 279 yards against 133 yards for Iowa State, and completed 3 of 6 passes for 42 yards against 51 for the Cyclones.

Chas. Taylor John Griffin

If you were a Yankee hater you really got a bang out of the fall fracas called the World Series. We can't recall when we have seen a series in which every game was a well played one. Those last two games could have gone either way; but for one of the few fall classics the Yankees didn't get the big break when they needed it.

Those Dodgers are the first baseball club to have five Negroes in their starting lineup so that makes them such a world championship team.

Football

Iowa U sprang a mild surprise by winning at Washington U Saturday.

We thought that if Bobby Grier had had much speed he might have really broken the game open a couple of times. Cloyd Webb made so many good catches that the Washington guys had to cover him closely which resulted in fouling sometimes.

As we watched the movies of the game Sunday we were surprised that the feature of having a couple of outstanding players on the program was omitted. The reason given was plausible enough and ordinarily we would have thought nothing about it. But in view of the ugly rumors we keep hearing and keep trying to ignore, we can't help but wonder who the players would have been. According to past programs they should have been Webb and Grier. It made us think. We hope to see the Indiana game and will yell more about it.

Iowa State gave Nebraska a busy afternoon and had nothing to be ashamed of. Something ought to be done about those big Nebraska line-men. They are really huge.

Drake won one of the three games we figured for them. Now as we review their schedule we might give them a couple more games. Surprised by the fact that Lou Proctor's hand didn't handicap him any. Of course, we had heard that he refused to give in to his accident and that makes a big difference.

High School

The East-Tech game must have rated as one of the big one in the state. Tech kept what everybody thought was its offense on the bench and still turned loose a bunch of fast scabbards who swamped North. We thought Tech might be vulnerable to passes but whenever they get the ball they score so how you gonna beat them?

East rolled over East Waterloo like the Dodgers rolled over the Yanks. This guy Marv McGuire can kick well enough and is big enough to pick his own college. Yep that should be some battle when Tech and East meet. When North lost Clyde Duncan that about killed whatever chance they had of having a really good year. Now they must try to salvage something from it.

Is boon enough for being born—
And be it ninety years or ten
No need for me to question when
While life is mine, I'll find it good
And greet each hour with gratitude.

Dodgers Make History; Subdue Yanks
In 4 Games for World Championship

By Staff Writer

World Series, U.S.A.—The Los Angeles Dodgers with their five sepi stars, completely overwhelmed the highly-vaunted veteran New York Yankees in a four-game sweep of this annual World Series classic, thus writing a new chapter in the annals of baseball history.

The razzle-dazzle of Dodger hurlers, Sandy Koufax, Johnny Podres, Don Drysdale and the brief but all important appearance of Relief pitcher Ron Paranoski checked the power of the Yankee bats and completely shattered the armor of their invincibility.

Pitcher Koufax

Koufax proved himself in the Series as he did in the regular season by winning the first game 5-2 and the clincher, 2-1. He sets new World Series record in the first with 15 strikeouts and a record of 25 strikeouts for the series. Podres baffled them 4-1 in the second game; Drysdale blanked them 1-0 in the third. Thus the Yanks had only four runs in four games.

This Yankee club, touted as the best ever, shoved their 'best' at the Dodgers—veteran Whitey Ford, Jim Bouten, Negro pitcher Al Downing, et al, proved far less than enough. Those who tried to figure out this

Mr. James A. Bailey has saved with us since 1923...and he has good reasons, too.

Any person who saves with one association for over 40 years has good reasons. Good enough for his five children to save with us as well.

As Mr. Bailey says: "I like the sincerity of the folks at Des Moines Savings . . . and the service."

Mr. Bailey knows all the "oldsters" at Des Moines Savings including Elmer E. Miller, president of Des Moines Savings. And Mr. Miller's door is always open to Mr. Bailey for a little reminiscing. Lots of that to do, too, since Des Moines Savings recently completed modernization and expansion.

You're just as welcome as Mr. Bailey has been for nearly half a century. Come in and open a savings account or talk about a home loan.
