First of Youth Motivation Series Held at Willkie House

The first of a series of monthly programs on Youth Motivation for Junior and Senior high school students was held at Willkie House, 900 17th street. Subject of the sessions was "Your Job Future."

Willkie House, along with Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity, Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority and Delta Sigma Theta sorority are sponsoring the project. Youths present at the initial meeting expressed interest in secretarial, teaching, criminal law, law enforcement careers.

Presiding was Mrs. Barbara Williams, president of Deltas, who introduced the sponsoring groups and leaders. Dr. Eddie V. Easley, Drake teacher, interpreted "The Why and What of Vocational Exploration." Ernest Russell, executive secretary of the Des Moines Commission on Human Rights, outlined "Job Opportunities." Leaders for the student buzz sessions were Mrs. Clara Bayles, Dr. Robert Sims and Mrs. Billie Jean Morrow.

The next Saturday session will be held Nov. 16 from 1 to 3 p.m. Purpose of the project is to motivate Youth towards sustained interest and efforts for higher scholastic attainment and preparation for adulthood, specifically in the areas of vocational interests and opportunities. The six definite goals are:

1. To provide an adequate and stimulating atmosphere.

2. To acquaint and expose youth to varied vocational opportunities.

3. To inform youth of available financial assistance plans for continuing their vocational and academic education.

4. To provide an opportunity for youth to exercise their growing maturity in recognizing and solving problems of real concern to themselves as they prepare for adulthood.

5. To provide youth an opportunity to experience successful accomplishments.

6. To provide an experience of meaningful relationships with adequate adults. Definite steps toward meeting these goals include the Willkie House Study Hall, a quiet room, conducive to study, an assistant, a typewriter, reference books and other material for study. Tutoring is available on request.

Trips to colleges and schools, places of employment and public institutions are in the plan together with individual services in cooperation with public schools and employment services.

Steering Committee for the project includes Mesdames Marguerite Cuthbert and Mae Olphin of Delta Sigma Theta, Dr. Edward Easley, Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Mrs. Charlotte Parks, Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority and Mrs. Helen Stevens, Willkie House Executive Director.

Atty. William Parker Seeks City Judgeship in Waterloo

Waterloo, Ia.—William W. Parker was endorsed recently as a candidate for judge of municipal court in the coming election by a group of citizens. He announced officially Monday that he had decided to run for the position.

"The group felt," according to Dr. Robert F. Harvey, "that no one was more eminently qualified for the position than Attorney Parker who has had broad experience in law practice in this city the last 13 years."

"His other activities in the public good and service on the parole board place him in a very unique position. The group felt the entire citizenry would feel honored to take advantage of his valuable experience and apply it to the municipal judgeship."

Education

Born at Des Moines, Parker graduated from East High school there after winning honors in scholastics, debating, dramatics and earning two letters in track. He was also a member of the school tennis team and active in other sports.

He received his Bachelor of Arts degree in social science from Arkansas A.M. & N. in 1941, where he was awarded a gold key in dramatics. He was also a member of the debating club, winner of junior-senior oratorical contests and a member of the History Club and track team.

In March of 1943 Parker enlisted in the service and was in the Naval Reserve for 36 months. He entered Drake University Law school in 1946 and three years later was transferred to Rutgers University school of law where he received Bachelor of Law degree in 1949.

Practice Law

Since that year, he practiced law in Waterloo. He is a member of county and state bar associations, being a past secretary of the county group.

Presently, Parker is a member of the board of directors of the Salvation Army and its legal advisor, serves on the advisory board of the Urban Renewal board and works with the mayor's youth advisory committee.

Integration Leaders Call Move Massive Protest Against School Supt. Willis

Chicago, Ill.—More than 200,000 students stayed away from classrooms Tuesday in what integration leaders termed a "massive protest" against Superintendent of Schools Benjamin C. Willis whom they blame for defacto segregation in public schools here.

Integration leaders are demanding his ouster. On Oct. 4 Willis sent a letter of resignation to the school board but the board had asked him to reconsider the move.

Thousands of demonstrators topped off the one-day boycott by marching around the City Hall-County Building and massing outside the Board of Education Building two blocks away.

They chanted "Willis Must go." "One, two, three, four, Willis Willis, got to go." And "freedom—now."

School Board

However, Tuesday as Willis met with the school board at the same time demonstrators were outside chanting, a school board member and longtime critic of Willis, echoed the ouster demand. Raymond Pasnick said, "I don't think anybody is indispensable. We don't have to knuckle under. If we do so everytime we have a disagreement about what the board wants to do and what the superintendent want to do, the sooner the superintendent leaves the better."

Defacto

With this angry outburst Willis stalked out of the meeting followed by applause from a large white crowd.

The Negroes are protesting Willis' policy of sending students only to schools in their neighborhoods. Negroes say this encourages segregation in the schools because of solid areas of predominantly Negro housing.

CLASSIC INDIAN DANCE TO BE AT THE DES MOINES ART CENTER

One of the most unusual programs yet to be seen in Des Moines will be offered at the Des Moines Art Center on Saturday, Nov. 2, when Shanto Rao and her company perform traditional dances of India. This first tour of the United States may well be the only opportunity Des Moines audiences will have to view the rare classical dances of India. The full program at the Art Center will not be limited to members, but open to the public to the extent that seating allows.

Shanto Rao is the most famous of Indian's dancers, and the only one who can perform several of the rarest ritual dances: The Bhama Sutram and the Mohini Attam. The latter of these two, known as the "Dance of the Divine Enchantress," was rescued from oblivion by Shanto Rao. This will be included in the dance program here. A selection from the oldest of India's temple dances, the Bharta Natyam, will also be in the program. The dances will be accompanied by musicians of South India, and by assisting dancers. The group is touring the United States under the auspices of the Asia Society. Tickets for the Des Moines Art Center program are available at the Art Center, and at the Utica.

Just North of Freedom

Sojourner Truth

Wide-mouth and Knot-head were shooting the breeze over beer in the O Be Joyful Tavern after a hard day's work in the Packinghouse. Jessie Mae, Carole and Jeri came in and slumped into chairs at a table for four. Jessie Mae promptly eased her feet out of uncomfortable shoes.

The bartender eyed his guests in concern and amazement. "Women—and not a word being spoken," he thought as he approached the table. "What'll it be for the ladies?"

"What do you have beside beer in here?", Jessie Mae exploded.

"Now wait a minute, Jess. I'm for the Congress Of Racial Equality. I made everybody that came through that door buy a ticket to the benefit. Don't be chewin' me out," the bartender complained.

Jeri smoothed the bartender's feelings by ordered three beers. Carole looked at her friends and started laughing.

"Gov. Barnett should see us now. He'd telephone the governor of Alabama person to person. C.O.R.E. is on the run in Iowa."

The bartender returned with the beer and set a mug in front of each woman. He shied away from Jessie Mae as if to avoid an imaginary kick. "Woman," the bartender demanded, "Who put salt in your coffee?"

Jessie Mae, suddenly revived, began to clown with the bartender. "The third vice-president of Iowa Mutual put in a teaspoonful. The first vice-president of Iowa Life stirred well and I feel like I just came out of the White Citizens' Council front office. I'll thank you to keep your mouth shut while I hate white supremacy in Iowa."

"A one dollar handout from his purse," Jessie Mae exploded. We aren't supposed to know that the bank has a fund for advertising and public relations," she sneered. Jeri was always upset by Jessie Mae's outbursts and began to lead her away from thoughts of the recent outrages to human dignity.

"Did you forget the checks in my pocketbook, Jess? We can get a lot of mileage out of that one dollar handout, too. I know how you feel. It's like the great Josephine Baker must have felt when men threw money on the floor in the night clubs where she danced. You saw her standing up for Freedom Now at the great March in August. Remember, even Iowa White Supremacy doesn't dare say, 'No, get out of here. Drink your beer, girl, we're doing all right.'"

HEALTH FOR ALL

The Big Dunk

That quaint old custom known as the tub bath, or indoor skin diving, seems to be enjoying a revival in certain circles. It's an interesting experience for some of those who grew up in the Showerbath Age and hitherto have sat down in the tub only after stepping on a cake of soap.

Since some doctors, particularly skin specialists, started having a renewal of interest in the medicated bath, many of their patients have found themselves (literally, not figuratively) in hot water right up to the neck. It tends to relax the nerves while treating whatever is wrong with the skin.

Baths

What does the water contain besides the patient? Medicinal baths are being festooned with all sorts of ingredients, from oatmeal to bicarbonate of soda. Starch is a frequent prescription. Oils are sometimes used. It depends, naturally, on the specific ailment being treated.

But whatever goes into the external cocktail, certain reminders about therapeutic bathing can be helpful. For instance, don't settle for the conventional half-or two-thirds-full tub of water. There should be enough to cover the entire body. Don't make that "hot water" too hot—in fact it should be tepid—about 94-98 degrees.

Dirtations

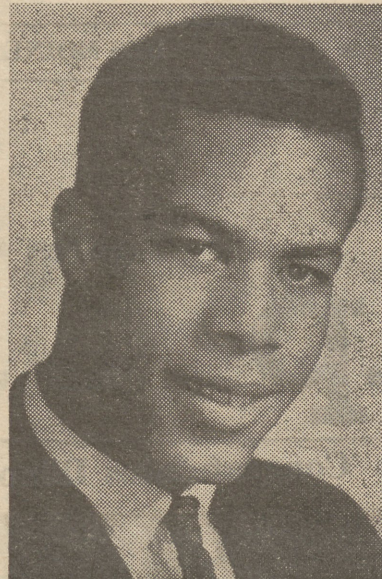

Don't plunge in and hop right out again; 10 to 20 minutes is par for the course in most cases. And pat—rather than rub—yourself dry; rubbing is apt to increase skin irritation.

Sitting in a bathtub for 10 to 20 minutes may sound like a dull pastime in this speedy era. But patience can pay off in improved health. Note of caution: baths in plain tepid water for pure relaxation are fine. But if you have a skin condition you want to treat, don't add anything to your bath water unless it's prescribed by a doctor.

Magic Ice Cream for Bridal Fare

THERE ARE PROBABLY MORE SHOWERS RIGHT NOW than at any other time of the year—bridal showers, that is. They are a traditional prelude to the Perfect Wedding! If you have a shower on your party-giving schedule, you'll want light, easily-prepared refreshments pretty party sandwiches, individual aspic salad, tall, tinkling-cool glasses of iced coffee with whipped cream, and, of course, fresh strawberry ice cream and cookies. For that special partyish touch, try this homemade strawberry ice cream made with sweetened condensed milk. With this failure-proof recipe, you'll find it an easy matter to make several trays of ice cream, especially since you need only take it out of the refrigerator once for beating.

The sweetened condensed milk, which should not be confused with evaporated milk, gives you ice cream that is creamy and fluffy without any of those pesky little ice crystals that frequently crop up in some homemade ice creams.

A Cake to Please Hobgoblins

BE SURE TO FEED THOSE HOBGOBLINS well this All Hallows Eve. Then good luck and fortune will follow you the rest of the year, or so the saying goes. And, of course, everyone knows that their favorite feast is cake—golden rich layers made instantly with a cake mix. In the picture above a flavorsome apricot-coconut filling is spooned between the layers, the top of the cake dusted with confectioners' sugar and an amusing face, made of the filling, grins away atop the cake. Try it—see if your hobgoblins don't approve.

HALLOWEEN CAKE WITH COCONUT FRUIT FILLING

Set aside $\frac{3}{4}$ cup of the filling. Spread remaining filling between layers. Cut a pumpkin shape from waxed paper; place in center of cake. Sprinkle confectioners' sugar over cake—around paper pattern. Carefully remove pattern and fill in center with reserved filling. Use finely chopped coconut to make eyes, nose, and mouth on pumpkin face. (ANS)

To Straighten Records

SINCE warped phonograph records are useless in that condition, Popular Mechanics offers a suggestion for straightening them. Simply immerse the record in hot water, 140 to 160 degrees, in a cake pan or similar shallow, flat-bottom container.

Over the record invert a dinner plate of a diameter permitting its edge to contact only the edge of the record. In other words, don't let the plate touch the grooves of the record.

Place a one-pound weight on the plate, leaving the record under pressure until the water has cooled to room temperature.

Good Samaritan

'PRENANTS OF ANCIENT SECT: About 200 of the last remaining members of a unique sect of Samaritan Jews still live peaceably in the town of Nablus, 40 miles north of Jerusalem, in Jordan, one of the Bible Lands. They are strict adherents to one God, believe only in the Pentateuch or first five books of the Old Testament and make three pilgrimages a year to Mt. Gerizim, their sacred mountain, for sacrificial rites. They pitch their tents and carry out ceremonies enjoined upon them since the time of Moses, including the sacrifice of a sheep for each person present. Their Patriarch, dressed in red turban and flowing white surplice, is shown here pointing to the words of the Torah of Law of Moses. The Good Samaritan who came to the rescue of the stranger on the road to Jericho, (Luke 10:33) was a member of this sect.

Five Generations Celebrate Together

Mrs. Woods has three other daughters, Mrs. Ardella Jefferson and Mrs. Aline McQuitty of Des Moines and Mrs. Lavonia McKelvey of Cleveland, Ohio, and a son, William Woods of Chicago, Ill.

Mrs. Woods lives with Mrs. McQuitty but she has her own apartment. She is able to get out and around, for walks outdoors and to the store. She is obviously the pride and joy of the many numerous relatives of which she is their peer.

Mrs. Woods was born in Glasgow, Mo., and came to Des Moines over 60 years ago. She has been a long-time member of the Stewardess Board No. 2 of St. Paul A.M.E. church. She is a retired hair dresser and also is a former practical nurse.

Iowa and most of the rest of the nation continue to bask in the beautiful autumn blissful weather; but, like all good things, there are drawbacks on the other side of the barometer coin. The Midwest and east is also gripped in the tenacious jaws of one of the worst drouths in ages, which is almost paralleling that of 1932, which is probably remembered by many readers. Fields and timberland are tinder dry and many state parks around the nation are being closed as a means to try to prevent accidental forest fires. In addition, many residents and children in Des Moines and elsewhere are also victims of colds, various viruses and flu. If we had just one hard frost it would clear the air of many harmful germs floating unseen above and around our heads. Alas, according to the weather man, though, we have still several weeks of wonderful weather to enjoy and behold.

Will the real Mrs. Jackson stand up? Will the real Mrs. Jackson on Amherst stand up? This is the predicament yours truly was in last week. In the course of getting subscriptions, news and pictures we knew there was at least one Mrs. Jackson on Amherst. Then a "Mrs. Jackson" called in some news and in the course of conversation we learned she also lived on Amherst a few houses from the other Mrs. Jackson. However, we neglected to take the correct first name and recorded the address wrong so when we checked the phone book we saw Mrs. Emory Jackson, Jr., who lived at 3109 Amherst and Mrs. George W. Jackson, Jr., living at 3101 Amherst street. Since we had already secured a subscription from Mrs. E. Jackson we thought it must be Mrs. G. Jackson. When we finally contacted the latter by phone we immediately noted the difference in voice but thought perhaps we were imagining things. Then she finally assured us that she and her husband had been longtime subscribers but then proceeded to clear up the mystery for us. She told us another Jackson family lived a few doors away, on the corner. Thanking her, we proceeded to track down the "real Mrs. Jackson."

With profuse apologies and chagrin, we later contacted her and explained the situation. She is Mrs. Arthur D. Jackson at 3001 Amherst who very graciously accepted our apologies. So there are three Jacksons on Amherst, on the same side of the street, within a block of each other and all are Negroes. All three are Bystander subscribers. It is quite a coincidence indeed. No?

Mrs. Stanley Proctor, 1111 11th street, was telling us about her trip to Ohio and Tennessee last week. She said that there is no Negro paper in Knoxville, Tenn., where her daughter, Mrs. Mathew Long lives and Mrs. Long shares her Bystander copy each week with many of her friends and acquaintances there. Mrs. Proctor as readers were forced to perform. is widely read and shared.

In several paragraphs this column was the unfortunate victim of accidentally juggling of type which, being overlooked in proof-reading, added to its almost senseless unreadability. We are sorry for the eye gymnastics you, readers were forced to perform.

Our oldest son, Victor, regaled us with the experiences he and other members of the 11-13 year-old age group of Jack and Jill club, had last Sunday afternoon when they went horseback riding at a local Saddle club. In charge were Mesdames William Cropp and Nathaniel Morton. The group later retired to the home of Mrs. Cropp, 4512 Wakonda parkway, for refreshments.

About the middle of next week "witches and hobgoblins" will be flitting around the streets of Des Moines and in every other city and hamlet of the nation. They will be out on "Trick or Treat" night, of course as adults hold 'open house' to the thousands of youngsters.

We read, where one town in Illinois has passed an ordinance forbidding Halloween "trick or treaters" to go beyond five blocks from their homes. How they are going to determine or take steps to insure that no one goes beyond the limit is a mystery.

EDITORIALS + FEATURES + SPORTS

COMPLAINTS OF RACIAL DISCRIMINATION SHOULD BE DOCUMENTED

At a recent meeting of the board of the Independent school District, two Des Moines citizens appeared and charged racial discrimination in the apprenticeship program in which the public schools took part.

A letter appeared on the editorial page of the Des Moines Tribune recently in which the writer criticized these men for speaking in generalities rather than specifying definite instances. She further said that no discrimination existed and that she was confident that the board was doing a good job handling this matter.

With the first criticism we fully agree for accusations should be specific based upon accurate data of definite examples. This information exists and thus there was no excuse for going to the board unprepared to substantiate what was charged.

Undoubtedly the school board is doing a good job fixing policy but it is not the members of the board but administrators charged with the responsibility of carrying them out where the rub comes. It is somewhat analogous to voting laws in the South which if executed as written would draw no complaints. But it is the registrar, the election clerk, or other administrators who foil the effort of Negroes when they attempt to vote.

An intelligent approach is to study the apprenticeship laws and regulations, determine what the school and the federal government provide in their administration and insist that from now on Negro students participate fully in the program; that the firms which refuse to participate be dropped. The federal government closed apprenticeship shops in some schools for practicing racial discrimination. There is no reason to allow a firm guilty of such practices to receive any better treatment.

UNSPORTSMAN LIKE CONDUCT IN CONTESTS MOST UNFORTUNATE

During the professional football game Sunday between the Green Bay Packers and the St. Louis Cardinals, player (Negro) of the Cardinals committed a glaring personal foul on a white player of the Packers by striking him in the face. The incident was glaring to be sure and viewers on television got a shocking example of unsportsmanlike conduct. The Cardinal player was put out of the game in rough fashion by the officials.

The viewing audience had no information of what caused the attack but it is safe to assume that the Packer player made some extremely foul remark to the Cardinal player which a fellow does not often take without resentment.

However, the Cardinal player was wrong and made a bad fellow of himself. If he was insulted—and it is fair to assume that he was—he should have protested to the official and asked that his team managers do likewise.

It is not easy for some people to hold their tempers. But there comes a time when a person must use discretion in retaliating. Certainly, to do so in the manner the Cardinal player did was clearly a mistake which calls for an apology from him and the Packer player who undoubtedly provoked the attack.

POOR SHOWING BY VOTERS AT PRIMARY ELECTION TUESDAY

Voters went to the polls Tuesday and nominated candidates for city officials who will be voted on the final election in November.

The vote Tuesday indicated by the margin by which the top candidates won that the field was short of candidates whom the voters felt were of the stature essential for the jobs they sought.

For the last several elections, voters have shown little interest in the candidates and yet once elected accuse the officials for poor leadership, constructive thinking and action.

It appears that few able people are willing to run for office. Much of this is due to the lack of compensation involved and the absence of patronage which can be passed out to those who work in the campaigns. Our system has eliminated patronage to a great degree causing less and less people to take an active part in elections.

Little effort is made to get out the vote, little interest is shown with the result that far less than half the potential voters go to the polls.

Eliminate the election of all candidates at large so that all areas have a real chance of being represented by a neighbor and a big difference in voter participation will show up. As it stands today, a few handpicked candidates appear which set the tone on how well the voters turn out at the polls.

FOOTBALL

By Staff Writer

Iowa City, Ia.—The Iowa Hawkeyes, determined that they were, gave it the old college try here Saturday but couldn't quite get the job done against the big, tough No. 2 rated Wisconsin Badgers. They lost 10-7.

Wisconsin, second to Texas in football's national poll did not get their high powered offense going because of Iowa's highly powered defense led by hard hitting guard, Mike Riley.

Wisconsin scored early in the first quarter with a field goal and made that tally stand until about the middle of the third quarter when Iowa scored its only touchdown. The Badgers came right back making it 10-7.

The victory was Wisconsin's fourth without defeat and its second in the Big Ten. The Badgers were tied with Iowa at the conference top going into the game. Iowa's overall record now is 2-1-1.

Cyclones

Boulder, Colo.—In the tough Big Eight Conference Iowa State continues to hold its own. Saturday they outscored the Colorado Buffaloes, 19-7, divesting them of the conference lead.

Staunch, alert defense was the story of Iowa State's offense. Twice in the first half, guard Chuck Steimle recovered Buffalo fumbles not too far from the goal and the Cyclones scored 10 points on a 12-yard pass from Ken Bunte to Dick Limerick and Limerick's 41-yard field goal.

Are you planning to buy a new car on credit? Before you rush into installment buying, ask yourself, "Do I really need a new car immediately?" Then consider saving until you have enough money to pay cash.

Borrowing is an expensive business these days. For example, say you had $800 on hand and wanted to buy a $2,400 car. You'd have to borrow $1,600. If the interest rate were only 5%, the loan would cost you $120 over 18 months. The car would actually cost you $2,520, and you'd have payments of $95.55 a month.

On the other hand, if you put your $800 in a savings account, and added a deposit of $95.55 each month, at the end of 18 months, you'd have the $2,400 cash you need for the new car, plus over $220 in accumulated interest.

If you can, put off buying that car until you can pay cash. You'll be money ahead.

U. S. DEPARTMENT OF LABOR W. Willard Wirtz, Secretary

While we were spending our last weeks writing time on the highways, the gridiron war got hotter. Iowa U suddenly showed signs of having something in the way of a ball club. They have made it plain that they aren't going to give up too many points. Now if they can score some at the right time they will go over their quota of four games that we gave them.

It is going to be hard to convince anybody that the Hawks shouldn't have beaten Wisconsin last weekend. A great effort that ends in defeat isn't too popular with a team. The writers keep talking about a couple of Iowa players who are really good men but Bob Grier leads the team in yards gained and Cloyd Webb is the guy they turn to in a clutch so you figure it out.

It is going to be hard to keep Iowa State's Tom Vaughn off the all-conference team if he doesn't get hurt. The big guy will likely be a welcome addition to just about any pro team. The Cyclones have a chance to turn in their best record in years.

Drake was idle last week. We still think the Bulldogs are an underrated team and can cause a lot of trouble before the end of the year.

High School

The big game of the year will be the East-Tech game this weekend. East is rolling along on an unbeaten string of six while Tech has lost one. There will be so many Negroes out there for both sides that people will think it is a couple of teams from the Willie House. We just wouldn't care to make a guess on a game like that one. East is our school but we know just about everybody on both teams. So we guess we will just have to be neutral.

We are sure you have noticed the number of Negroes in the professional leagues. We were interested in the game between the Green Bay Packers and the St. Louis Cardinals. One of the Cardinal players was ejected from the game for swinging at a Packer player. There were different reports about the incident. Some say the player seemed to kick at Hill, the St. Louis boy. The Chicago and St. Louis papers say the Packers player swung first and hurt his hand and then the Cardinal player swung. But the telecasters became so emotionally upset that he couldn't tell what was going on. He was so angry that he started to say something that might have cost him his job if it hadn't been cut off. We don't think those fellows should get that way. How can they relay the facts to the public when they are blind with anger? We would have let it be known that we didn't approve of it and then would have tried to find out what started the whole incident.

Boxing

Promoters' dollar-greed cost another boxing life. Anxious to be just any fighter the promoters took a light middleweight, weighed him clothes and all and threw him into the ring with a 200-pound veteran. There could be but one result... A knock-out but no one figured on the final ending—death. No one ever does.

Autumn Leaves

Autumn leaves are like thoughts, Once fresh and bright, changing color with time, And finally crumbling, one by one. The wise tree shakes from her boughs Each clinging leaf; She knows there would be no room For fresh, new leaves to grow, If withered ones remained. So should thoughts of past regrets and pain, Like Autumn leaves, be shaken free

Until they crumble on the path of yesterday, That there may be room For fresh new thoughts to grow In the Garden of the Soul.

Value of Smiles

Author Unknown
Smile on folk and you will find that they will smile on you— Really it's surprising what a smile can do.

Wear one with your working clothes and with your Sunday best... Wear a cheery smile and you will always feel well dressed. Doesn't really matter about quality and style— Even shabby things don't look quite so bad—worn with a smile. A smile won't grow old-fashioned like the hat you wore last year. A smile suits any kind of face; a smile is always smart. For smiles reveal the sunshine that is shining in your heart.

Bob Parks ... another of our nice-to-know folks at Des Moines Savings

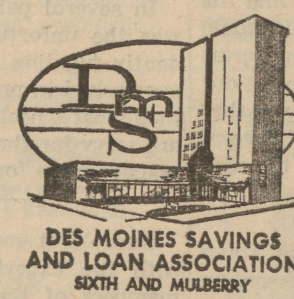

Bob is a very important part of our modern and highly technical Data Processing Center.

In fact, Bob has had special training in preparing wiring boards required for the various types of processing in our electronic equipment. He acquired this "know how" at the IBM training center in Des Moines before coming with us at Des Moines Savings.

When you take a tour through our newly modernized and expanded offices, you'll probably meet Bob. (And, by the way, group tours are always welcome with advance arrangements made through Ron Hallock's office).

We're mighty proud to have Bob Parks on our staff. He's a great addition to our really nice-to-know folks.
