On the Integration Front

Detroit, Mich.—In the strongest language they could muster, the 50 bishops of The Methodist Church, (a third of them white southerners) meeting here in the fall session of the Council of Bishops, Nov. 12-14, in the Statler-Hilton Hotel, expressed their scorn for those churches of their denomination which have denied Negroes and whites the opportunity to worship together. The statement said:

"The Methodist Church stands for the equal rights of all racial, cultural and religious groups. We confess with deep penitence that our performance as a church has not kept pace with our profession. The right to choose a place of residence, to enter school, to secure employment, to vote or join a church should in no way be limited by a person's race or culture."

Atlanta, Ga.—A team of six NAACP Legal Defense Fund attorneys feverishly worked against a 33-hour deadline here last week in a race to save a condemned Negro from the Georgia electric chair.

They were successful. Isaac Sims, Jr., 27, of Folkston, Ga., was granted a stay of execution by Judge R. L.

In May, he was arrested in Birmingham, Ala., and jailed four days for parading without a permit.

Osage Community Has Thanksgiving Tradition

Iowa City, Iowa—A program of friendliness that has given enjoyment to some 500 State University of Iowa foreign students will be carried out for the 14th time this Thanksgiving in Osage.

This year 37 SUI foreign students from Iowa City will be guests of Osage people during four days, Nov. 27-30, in which the students from other lands will learn about the great American holiday and also something of American generosity and friendliness.

Carr of Glenville, Ga. at 4 p.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 12th. Young Sims was to have died the next day, Wednesday morning, at 9:00.

New York—The United Presbyterian Church intends to purge itself of any vestiges of racial discrimination in its financial dealing before asking "anything of the civil and social structures around us."

This was made clear in a letter to executives of denominational agencies by the Rev. Gayraud S. Wilmore, Jr., executive director of the United Presbyterian Commission on Religion and Race, when he expressed the hope that church agencies and institutions will adopt a policy statement of the commission relative to hiring, purchasing, building, renting and investing.

The policy statement represents "one of the most important actions of the commission," he said. It also serves as an "explicit manifestation" of the commission's intention to fulfill the mandate given to it by the denomination's 175th General Assembly.

Thanksgiving Proclamation

In a proclamation issued Wednesday, Nov. 13 at the Statehouse here, Gov. Harold Hughes called upon all Iowans to observe Nov. 28 as Thanksgiving Day, thanking God "for blessings of peace and plenty" and "in the name of brotherhood" extending a helping hand to those in need.

The text of the governor's proclamation:

"Whereas, the native American holiday of Thanksgiving is one of the most beloved and revered traditions in our country's history; and

"Whereas, since colonial days, it has been the custom for American families to gather on this day of the harvest season and give thanks to God in the homes and in the churches for the blessings of freedom and plenty; and

"Whereas, the traditional spirit of

Thanksgiving, above all, means sharing our abundance with those less fortunate; and

"Whereas, through organized religious and welfare groups in all parts of our country, it is possible for all of us to share our blessings with others at home and in other lands;

"Now, therefore, I, Harold E. Hughes, governor of the State of Iowa, do hereby proclaim Thursday, Nov. 28, 1963, as Thanksgiving Day and urge that on this day, as of old, we humbly thank God for blessings of peace and plenty in our land and in the name of brotherhood extend a helping hand to those in need, both in our country and abroad. Above all, let us thoughtfully pray that the future may bring an end to misery and oppression and a new era of peace to all the peoples of the Earth."

White Birmingham Lawyer Asks for 'Outside' Help to Prevent More Race Trouble

New York—A white Birmingham lawyer today called for "outside" help to save his racially-torn city from further violence and tragedy.

Atty. Charles Morgan, Jr., 33, declared that "nothing short of total national effort" can help Birmingham overcome its racial crisis.

Negotiate

In a signed article in the current issue of Look Magazine, Morgan contended that "if . . . men from around the country could sit down at a table to consider our problems, they could do wonders for Birmingham."

"They could," he said, "reaffirm facts Birmingham itself has never faced: that desegregation is the law of the land, and that the life of a city depends on its citizens' respect for law."

Powerful Team

"These men," he added, "could then bring together a powerful team—of the press, of communications, of steel, of electric power, gas, construction, the banks, organized labor and the Federal Government—to resuscitate Birmingham."

Morgan gained national attention last September when he spoke out after four Negro children were killed in Birmingham's "nice people" of doing nothing to save the city from race hatred.

Outsiders

With the help of "outsiders . . . who care about the moral well-being of our people," Morgan proposed in the Look article a program to revive the city. His proposals include:

- Biracial committees that would provide avenues for peaceful desegregation of many areas of public life.
- A desegregated inter-faith alliance of ministers, priests and rabbis backed and coordinated by state and national church organizations, bishops and others in the hierarchical chain.
- An alliance of businessmen representing the city's major locally and nationally owned enterprises which can open channels of communication and "encourage employees to participate in the desegregation movement."

Desegregation

- The opening of the editorial pages of Birmingham's newspapers to columnists who "favor and discuss desegregation."
- Public school courses "on democracy, the fundamentals of law and the facts of the race problem" to bring forward an "unprejudiced younger generation."
- The removal of barriers to Negro employment and other discriminations against Negroes by municipal and county government.
- Adult education programs sponsored by labor organizations.

Despite Stiff Opposition From 'Man in Street' and Daily Paper and City Atty.

Sioux City, Ia.—After long months of hassling and despite stiff open opposition from both the man in the street and from the local daily newspaper, the Sioux City Council Monday voted 5-0, for the passage of an ordinance which would officially set up a Commission on Human Rights and Job Discrimination.

In July 1963 the Board of Directors of the Sioux City NAACP met with the City Council to air their grievances relative to the treatment of minority groups here in Sioux City.

Committee

As a result of this meeting a special seven-man committee was appointed by the City Council, chaired by Louis A. Garland, to investigate methods used in other cities to insure equal treatment of all races.

The study committee composed of Rabbi Albert Gordon, Atty. Marvin J. Klass, Dr. J. Richard Palmer, Mrs. Elzona Trosper, Mr. Tom Lewis and Mr. John Mackey recommended that an ordinance be passed that would outlaw discrimination and create a 'human rights commission' to persuade and educate the citizens of Sioux City that all citizens are entitled to equal treatment under the constitution. It will also cite violators for prosecution in the courts.

Newspaper

The Sioux City Journal, the local newspaper ran an editorial indicating that they were opposed to the ordinance and it was unconstitutional.

The City attorney indicated to the council on numerous occasions that it was the strongest civil rights ordinance he had ever seen and that in his thinking the ordinance was watered down from its original draft.

"It was a long, hard fight, but it was most gratifying to see the passage of such an ordinance here in Sioux City," said Garland.

Natural Hairdos, Permanents Giving Negro Women More Self-assurance

Say Guest Artist, Demonstrators at 12th Clinic for Beauticians

By Frances E. Hawthorne

"Wigs are the thing . . . the natural more softer look in hairdos is on the upswing . . . brown tints are pushing out the reds . . . and permanents are serving to give more self assurance to the Negro women and school girls."

This was the consensus of opinion voiced by national beauty cosmetics demonstrators and guest artists at the 12th annual educational clinic for beauticians held Sunday and Monday at Crescent School of Beauty, 1407 Center streets. The sponsor was Local 102, comprising Cosmetiste clubs No. 1 of Des Moines and No. 2 of Waterloo, Iowa.

Permanent

Lola Wallace, technician and stylist for Helene Curtis of St. Louis, Mo., demonstrated the company's newest product, Ever Perm, which is a relaxing agent that can be styled in any way without heat. She notes that "Permanents for Negroes is a good thing. Though there is a difference in skin coloring there should be no difference in hair styles."

Natural Gray

Miss Wallace, whose hair is a beautiful natural gray, wore an Ever Perm herself, and further advertised an aspect of her firm's product, "that it can be used successfully on gray hair."

New York—The Alfred P. Sloan Foundation has made a commitment of $500,000 to the United Negro College Fund Development Campaign, it was announced here today. The commitment will assist current efforts to secure $50 million to improve educational facilities of the Fund's member colleges. All the colleges are located in the South.

Washington, D. C.—An AFL-CIO leader has urged organized labor and the nation's inter-racial groups to hold joint meetings or public rallies "starting January 1" to win passage of the Civil Rights bill reported by the House Judiciary Committee.

James B. Carey, president of the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers, and an AFL-CIO vice-president, warned at a testimonial dinner in New York City honoring A. Philip Randolph: "There is a clear possibility that this civil rights legislation may be filibustered to death."

Nation-wide Skills Bank Aids Negro's Search for Jobs

New York—American Negroes, determined now to get more than "token" employment in the nation's job market, are launching a national skills bank that will make it possible for qualified Negroes to go anywhere—even abroad—where "realistic" requests for their services are forthcoming.

Sponsored by the National Urban League, the bank will operate initially in 65 cities in 31 states where the league has branches. Five regional centers will open for business this week in Atlanta, Chicago, Los Angeles, Washington, and New York City.

Distribution of 250,000 fliers in churches, clubs, and other gathering places, urging Negroes to register their skills with the Urban League will herald the drive.

The new skills bank was made possible through a $100,000 grant by the Rockefeller Brothers Fund.

The nationwide project, headed by Mahlon T. Puryear, National Urban League associate director for job development and employment, will locate and list trained and qualified men and women in a broad array of skills, crafts, and professions and make these listings constantly available to commerce and industry.

The bank hopes to keep a list of upward of 3,000 highly qualified Negro workers at its national headquarters in New York. These would be persons who would be willing to move to any part of the country where new job opportunities develop. Those wishing to stay in their own community or lacking adequate skills will be given guidance at the local level.

At present, he pointed out, many of the Negro colleges do not have placement programs, normal to most American universities, and industry recruiters have not visited Negro colleges on any organized basis.

Urban League officials feel that by having a list of skilled Negroes available at a national level, they will encourage big corporations to provide equality of opportunity on a national scale that will include plants in both the North and the South.

Patronize Advertisers Whose Bystander Ads Attract Business

A wide variety of advertisers are using the columns of the Bystander to acquaint the public with what they have to sell. They are looking for business and believe that this medium is a good avenue to carry their message.

Fair Housing Law Is Upheld

Camden, N. J.—A Superior Court judge upheld the constitutionality Thursday of the state's controversial law banning racial and religious discrimination in the sale and rental of most homes.

The law had been challenged by Joseph V. Montoro of Pomona, the New Jersey Home Builders Association and the New Jersey Association of Real Estate Brokers.

The law, amended in 1961, bans discrimination in the sale of homes which have federal financial backing, in privately financed developments of 10 or more homes, and in the rental of homes designed for more than three families.

Read the ads; trade with the advertisers. Tell them that you saw their ad in the Bystander and that this is one of the reasons you trade.

They're looking forward to Thanksgiving reunion. People of all ages will be exchanging family greetings by telephone this Thanksgiving. It's a pleasant custom that's growing more popular every year. Be sure to enjoy a reunion by long distance at your house! Northwestern Bell.

Xmas Gifts Needed By SUI Hospitals

Iowa City, Iowa—Did you ever spend Christmas in a hospital? For some 500 patients at The State University of Iowa Hospitals, Christmas might be just another day in a hospital bed.

To brighten the spirits of patients who are hospitalized during the holidays, Santa Claus is once again asking individuals and organizations throughout Iowa to help him bring Christmas to the hospitals.

Hundreds

Gifts from civic, fraternal and church groups and from hundreds of persons will be needed if Santa is to have a present for every patient at University Hospitals on Christmas Eve.

The gifts-for-patients program has been in operation at University Hospitals for several years, and each year a large number of gifts have come from those who know their importance best—former patients at Christmas time.

Appropriate Gifts

Appropriate gifts include all kinds of toys, knitting materials, billfolds, leather kits, gloves, toilet articles, shawls, books, scarves, hose, fancy handwork, pipes, tobacco, stationery and stamps.

Cash gifts, which are used to buy presents for certain categories of patients for whom not enough gifts were donated, are also welcomed. Checks or money orders should be made payable to the University Hospital Christmas Committee. Larger items such as radios and record players will benefit patients throughout the year.
