Sidney Poitier Wins Top Academy Award

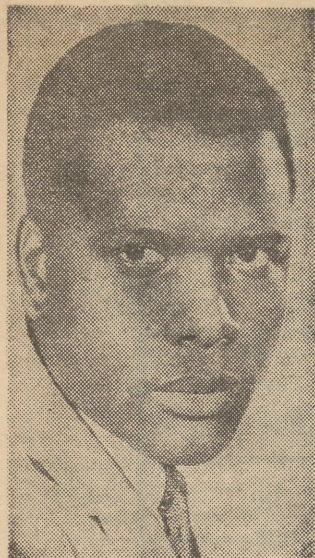

Receives Oscar for 'Best Acting' In 'Lillies of the Field'

Hollywood, Calif.—Sidney Poitier, versatile and consummate actor of movie films in both leading and supporting roles, Monday night walked off with the top film award in the United States. Winning a best actor Oscar, Poitier became the first of his race to receive the top Motion Picture Academy award.

Poitier, a veteran actor, received the Oscar for his matchless role as the hymn-singing Baptist who helped nuns build a Catholic church in "Lillies of the Field." He made an appearance in Des Moines last summer on a publicity tour of American cities for the film.

Road to Fame

Poitier's road to fame has been more than long and difficult. Many times he had refused what the industry called choice roles, because he thought they demeaned the Negro race. He always held out for good roles and gave to the roles his best acting performance.

POITIER

Cannes Festival

Monday night recognition was not the first to come to Poitier. Several years ago he won the Cannes Festival award in France for his performance in "Porgy and Bess."

Poitier, 37, was one of nine children of a well-to-do tomato farmer near Miami, Fla. He didn't start school until he was 11. Two years later his father's business collapsed and he had to leave school to help support his family. He went to New York at 16, where he worked at longshoreman.

Army

At 18 he joined the army and trained as a physiotherapist. After his discharge a newspaper article about the American Negro theater caught his eye and precipitated his acting career. He moved to leading roles and made his film debut in

Other councilmen are Jens Grothe, George C. Whitmer, Wallace E. Buss and George J. Nahas.

One Found Unconscious; Firemen Break Down Door Of Smoke-Filled House

Firemen broke down the locked door of a smoke-filled house at 1509 Forest Avenue Monday and rescued three small children (one of them unconscious) who suffered from smoke inhalation and were taken to Broadlawn Polk County hospital.

The three were Anthony Kemp, 6; Lewis Kemp, 4; and William Kemp, 3, sons of Lewis Kemp, Jr., a part-time Bystander employee who works in the mailing department.

When firemen arrived at the one-story frame house they found the doors locked and they had to break down a door to enter. When the front door was broken down the oldest Kemp boy, Anthony, ran out and then tried to re-enter the burning house, but was caught by Fire Captain Kenneth Hanson. The boy told firemen that two of his brothers were in a front bedroom.

Two firemen donned oxygen masks because the smoke was so dense. They could not see but groped their way around the room until they found the two other children. The youngest was unconscious on a bed

Ia. NAACP Board Commends D.M. Human Rights Group

Three resolutions, all of them with a vein on civil rights or equal opportunity were passed by the spring board meeting of the Iowa State Conference of Branches held in Des Moines Saturday at the YWCA, 9th and High streets with the state president, Prof. Russell Nash, Cedar Rapids, presiding.

Human Rights

In one resolution the Des Moines Human Rights commission was commended for "its forthright stand in its support of the proposed ordinance" (for Des Moines). We consider it to be a model ordinance deserving of consideration by all Iowa cities.

Paul Johnston

The board also commended Paul F. Johnson, state superintendent of public instruction for "his admirable efforts to improve the quality and standards of education in the schools of Iowa, especially in the fields of vocational education and job retraining."

However, the board urged Johnson to issue a policy statement "calling on all local school boards and superintendents to take steps to forestall and eliminate de facto segregation in Iowa schools."

Senator Miller

The NAACP also said that it acknowledged the concern of Senator Jack Miller (Rep., Iowa) over "talk that bloodshed and violence can be expected unless the Civil Rights Bill is passed."

"We remind the senator that the advocates of civil rights have and do abhor violence and bloodshed but the segregationists have commonly used violence to deny democratic rights," the statement said.

"If justice is denied, honorable men will turn to civil disobedience and the disillusioned and discouraged may turn to violence."

Symphony No. 5 in E Minor
"From the New World"

"How's business, Gus," Jeri inquired casually as she entered the O-Be-Joyful Tavern late one afternoon.

Gus responded pleasantly with another question. "What's new?"

"I came by to show you something," Jeri explained as she took a concert program from what Gus always referred to as her suitcase. "Gus, I heard one of my very favorite symphonies last night. 'The New World Symphony.' Jeri began to read from the program notes, "—the lovely tune which has made the fortune of the symphony, and possibly also of some wrong-headed person who arranged it as a Negro spiritual to the words 'Goin' Home'."

"Do you know the 'wrong-headed person' was Nathaniel Dett, our first Negro composer who worked himself to death writing down the music of the spirituals which had been sung almost two hundred years without written music. Nathaniel Dett was a composer who not only arranged but composed," Jeri exploded in indignation.

"It never occurred to your critic that the Negro had any music worthy of study," Gus commented dryly.

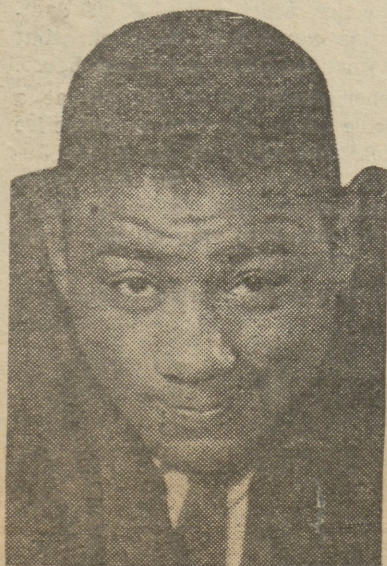

"But, Gus, the great Czech composer said himself that the only music in our country which was truly original was the Negro spirituals."

"Haven't you learned yet the dangers of integrated music? First thing you know, Wallace will ban orchestras that play it," Gus pretended great consternation.

"I wish you could have heard it," Jeri told Gus. "We don't have to argue with any square-headed critic about how many notes of a Negro spiritual turned up in a symphony. Poor guy. He missed the point completely in the fourth part of the music. Talk about Freedom Now music! Anton Dvorak really let the message be heard through his music against slavery. Anyhow that's what I told my children," Jeri confided to the bartender as she sat dreaming of the New World Symphony.

Mrs. Kathryn Mosby Convicted by Jury

Mrs. Kathryn Mosby, 37, of 1320 10th street, was convicted of disturbing the peace at the Polk County Welfare Building by a Polk County District jury on Apr. 7. Sentencing originally scheduled for Monday was delayed until today (Thurs.)

Mrs. Mosby had appealed a Jan. 21 conviction on the charge in Municipal Court, where a 30-day sentence had been handed down by Judge Ray Harrison.

Witnesses for the prosecution testified Mrs. Mosby used offensive language and threatening gestures while seeking poor relief from the department for her grandchildren.

She was sentenced to 15 days in county jail on a similar charge in 1962 and this year received a suspended 15-day sentence after being convicted of a third disturbance leading to a complaint by Welfare personnel.

Centurians Wanted!

We are seeking persons who are eligible for membership in the 100 clubs. Main qualifications are that they must be 100 years or older and reside in Iowa. We also want a brief history of each. We would like pictures, but they aren't necessary. We plan to publish these in the 70th anniversary edition. Please let us hear from you before May 15.

Job Bias Gets Emphasis Here

Members of the Des Moines Commission on Human Rights and Job Discrimination agreed informally Wednesday night that employment should be the area of greatest emphasis this year.

The consensus came after Mrs. Jack Cleveland, commission chairman, asked members to recommend the areas to be stressed.

The three areas most often mentioned were employment, housing and education.

After all commission members present had given their ideas, Mrs. Cleveland said:

"Our greatest emphasis will be on employment opportunities, but that does not mean we will want to stop or delay action on housing or education."

Ruling Favors Negro Riders

Jackson, Miss.—A federal judge ruled Monday Jackson police cannot arrest Negroes who integrate transportation facilities.

U. S. District Judge Sidney Mize issued an order enjoining police from arresting Negroes who defy laws requiring segregation of public buses, rail and air transportation facilities. Mize had the case since 1961 when the first "freedom riders" came to Mississippi to test segregation practices.

The ruling made no mention of the state's breach of peace law which was the vehicle used by police to arrest Negroes who refused to leave transportation terminals, Mize said he retained jurisdiction in the case to see that the order was carried out.

HEALTH FOR ALL

To See Or Not To See

How do you get to know the unknowable, see the unseeable? Man has always yielded to the fascination of that problem.

His eyes, in a sense, have been bigger than his brain. He always wanted to penetrate to what was hidden from his gaze, but for eons he couldn't figure out how. Being human, he resorted to magic—starting into a crystal ball, reading palms, poking around in the innards of a fowl. Although he never learned anything that way, he had the fun of trying and sometimes the illusion of success.

Fun Is Fun

But fun is fun and illusion will only take you so far, particularly if your interests include keeping alive and well. For all of us who have that hobby, the development of X-ray photography several decades ago was a big event. It brought the possibility, for the first time, of finding out the interior condition of our bodies—and thus finding out the state of our health—by the direct evidence of the human eye.

Little Excuse

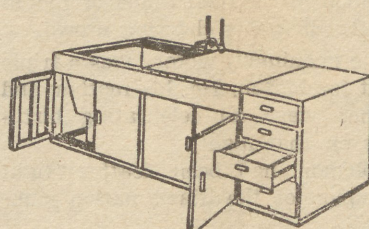

Nowadays there is precious little excuse for anybody to go around wondering whether his heart and

Enclose Laundry Tubs

STORAGE is a "must" in the laundry, but oftentimes it is makeshift and unsatisfactory. Wise homemakers can readily make a combination linen chest and laundry supply cabinet which will serve also to hide unsightly stationary tubs.

As shown in the illustration, the handyman can enclose the tubs, construct a chest of drawers next to them, and create a handy clothes sorting table on top. To do the best job from the standpoints of cost, appearance and long life, he should build a framework of 2 by 2-inch lumber and cover it with smooth Masonite Tempered Presdwood, one-quarter inch thick.

Drawer construction can be simple. Just form the framework of lumber and attach a bottom of Presdwood. Wooden slides attached to the cabinet and sides of the drawers complete that part of the project.

The lumber framework for the enclosures should be no farther than 16" apart. Swinging doors to enclose the tubs may be made, too, as illustrated, or sliding doors of Tempered Presdwood unframed, may be made. They will slide in grooves cut into the cabinet floor and upper framework.

Prime and paint the installation for the best appearance.

Iowa residents and surrounding states survived some turbulent and buffeting weather over the weekend and after Monday's blustery winds made most walkers hang onto light posts or seek shelter in the lee side of buildings, we have come safely into the calm of ideal spring days.

Rev. DeWitt Yeager, 740 26th street, called into report a motor trip made by he and his wife and daughter and son-in-law to Lawrence, Kans., over the weekend. He said they made it safely but a "lot of damage was done down there."

Their route homeward brought them through much of the tornado twisted areas.

We are pleased that we have had some response from the appeals we made for oldest subscribers to the Bystander. If you have information concerning longtime subscribers, graduates of 15 to 25 years ago, clubs or organizations over 50 years old in the state, or seek to place an anniversary or greeting ad for the 70th anniversary edition, please contact us by phone or letter.

A Des Moines mother recently regaled a group of listeners about how she hasn't smoked for three years. I threw away the cigarettes and haven't smoked since," she said happily.

SENATORS, DON'T LOOK FOR AN EXCUSE

During the past 10 days, several members of the U. S. Senate, who are being counted on to support the civil rights bill now pending before that body, have spoken out against violence being carried on by pickets and sit ins as well as those who threaten dire consequences should the bill not pass.

People dislike to be pushed into doing things with which they agree whether done by coercion or by force. And while that position is sound, men have made their point by whatever means it takes. Nobody knows that better than these senators.

It is unfortunate that some people go to extremes making their protest. Remember the sit-down strikes in the auto industry? There, no one went out or came, as the strikes wanted to paralyze the plants. Congress said or did little about this.

Today, the strike at the Florida East Coast Railway has produced dynamiting, blocking rail tracks, thus endangering the lives of crews and passengers on the trains. Congress says little about this.

Labor has struck against Cape Kennedy projects in Florida where the federal government is trying to keep abreast or surpass Russia in the race to the moon, where defense projects are based. This is selfishness at its height but members of Congress say nothing about this.

After all it is a small minority which is engaged in illegal lawless demonstrations, yet all Negroes are subject to the discriminations which the civil rights bill proposes to correct. Are senators listening to this belligerent minority or the great majority of citizens who want the bill passed and are not engaged in disorderly conduct.

It is good advice the senators offer that misconduct of protestors loses friends for the cause. But let's not listen to the use of this cliché, whereby senators hope for an excuse to vote against the bill.

POITIER HONORED BY ACADEMY AWARD

Sidney Poitier was given the academy award Monday in recognition of his 1963 performance in the play "Lilies of the Field." He is the first Negro to be so honored although several have been given honorable mention on earlier occasions.

Poitier is fortunate that he comes along at a time when the opportunity arises to compete for top honors; that those in command have arisen with the tide in America of equal opportunity for a man regardless of his race; that the public has awakened to a more receptive mood to give credit where credit is due.

Like the Negro baseball players of years ago, who while fully capable of playing in any league, found them relegated to a few Negro leagues where there was little money and no opportunity to rise.

Today slowly but surely Negro actors are being accorded the place in the profession based upon their ability to do a job. Heretofore many a person has become discouraged because they could not wait. But like all other fields in American life, the door to success is being opened wider for the Negro; he only needs to prepare in order to take advantage of the opportunity.

Poitier is to be commended for sticking it out. His success will be an incentive to many a youngster who thought he never had a chance.

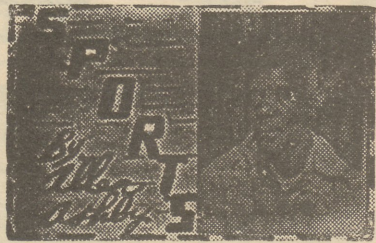

GEN. MACARTHUR HAD MANY GOOD TRAITS

Last week several Negro newspapers carried an article about the late General of the Army, Douglas MacArthur, indicating his interest in Negro soldiers during his career. At one time he served in the old 25th Infantry (Negro regiment) and held high regard for the men of his command.

He asked for more Negro soldiers in the South Pacific.

The general was commanding officer at West Point when Parham, the first Negro to enter the school after the turn of the century, was admitted.

Parham was sent to West

We kept our record intact over the weekend. We have never seen the Valley Relays. Don't know why. A time or two some other event got us sidetracked and at other times we just didn't make it.

So there isn't really much we can say about the kids from North or Tech who were out there doing all right. It would be news if someone beat Clyde Duncan. It isn't news when he wins any more.

Drake Relays

Now we are getting set for the Drake Relays and the mad scramble of people there. There isn't any word at this writing as to whether or not Florida A. & M., will be back with Bob Hayes. If the big fellow makes it he will have his work cut out for him with those fellows from Arizona State and Rodgers Sayers of Omaha, Nebr., waiting for a crack at Mr. Hayes. We could see a new relay 100 yard mark.

Baseball

The baseball season has slipped in between stories and now we shall see who is who. A large number of the guys who pick winners are picking St. Louis to dethrone the Dodgers in the National league. Nobody dares go against the Yankees in the other league. But there nobody almost nobody, thought Sonny Liston could lose either.

Negro Team

People sometimes wonder why we don't have a good Negro team here like we used to have. At one time there was a half dozen Negro clubs playing out of town from Des Moines. But these clubs seldom played each other. So there was no way of knowing who was the best. The two or three times we saw local Negro clubs play each other the games were baseball classics.

One would think with all this little league talent around that some of the guys would grow up to be baseball players. We are not sure all the fellows would care to play on an all Negro club today. Even the Hotshots softball club included some white boys in the lineup. But really there just aren't enough Negroes who follow over from their little league training to make up a baseball team. There have been one or two who were good in high school and who should follow it through. Maybe some will.

Boxing

Wate to mention it again but as we looked at the fight pictures Saturday afternoon the Big Bear acted like our athlete whose reflexes are gone.

Negro Athletes Named to Posts

Chicago, Ill.—Joe Perry, former star San Francisco fullback, was appointed Friday assistant to the vice-president of marketing for Greyhound Corporation's western division.

The bus company also disclosed that former Brooklyn Dodger pitcher Joe Black recently was promoted to director of special markets.

Black helped pitch Brooklyn to the 1952 National League pennant and was the league's rookie of the year that season.

Tan Gridder Accepts Wake Forest Grant

Winston-Salem, N. C.—Kenneth (Butch) Henry, a 185 pound quarter-back, became the first Negro to be awarded a football scholarship at Wake Forest college.

Henry, a senior at Dudley high school in Greensboro, N. C., said he had accepted the scholarship offered by the Baptist school, a member of the Atlantic Coast conference.

Coach Bill Tate confirmed the scholarship grant.

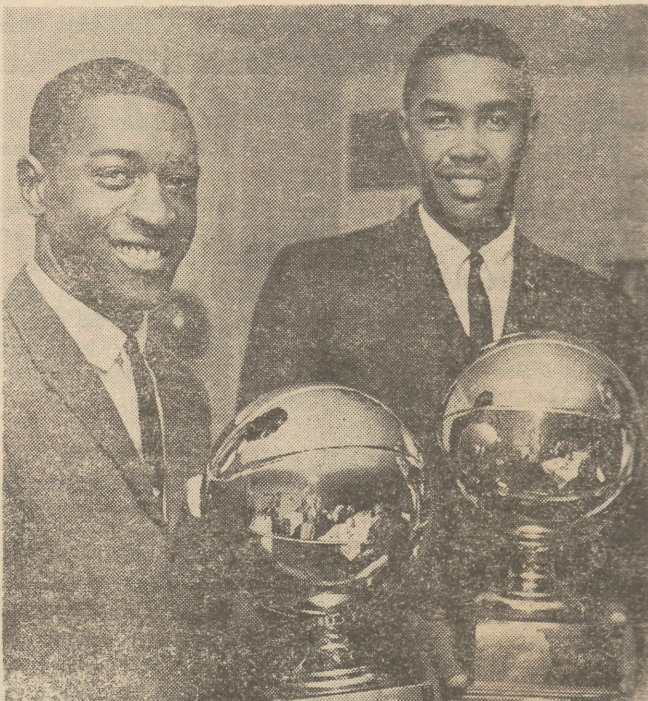

Point by the late congressman Oscar DePriest of Chicago. He found mathematics his difficult subject and for sometime his stay hung in a balance. General MacArthur directed Parham's teachers to give him every help possible as he wanted to see him succeed.

He finally failed but this admonition showed the general's desire that the young man be given every chance to succeed.

Name Foster, McLemore Best Basketball Players in Iowa

Billy Foster, captain of Drake's basketball team and McCoy McLemore, both seniors, were named co-winners on Wednesday, Apr. 6 of the George Clarkson award, which goes to Iowa's top college basketball player.

The presentations were made at a banquet honoring the Bulldogs given by the Drake Booster Club at Vic's Tally-Ho. Foster, who carried the club and largely forged team effort, and McLemore, who was one of the top rebounders in the Missouri Valley Conference, were mostly responsible for Drake's 1964 comeback effort in tying for the top in the conference with Wichita. McLemore was also named to the first team of the conference All-Star team.

Tops in Iowa

This marks the first time in eight years that co-awards have been made. Coach Maurice John said Foster "deserves a tremendous amount of credit for holding our club together. He gave us the leadership we lacked in my previous five years at Drake."

John described McLemore as "one of the finest rebounders in college basketball."

The Boosters gave complete sets of golf woods and irons to John, Drake football Coach Bus Mertes and track Coach Bob Karnes.

Arizona's Tracksters Into Drake Relays

Two star speedsters from Arizona State, Uis Williams and Henry Carr will make their first relay appearance at the Drake relays here Apr. 24-25.

Quartermiler Williams and Carr, who tied the world 220-yard-dash record of :20.3 is up for world recognition now. He is a former football standout at Burlington Junior college.

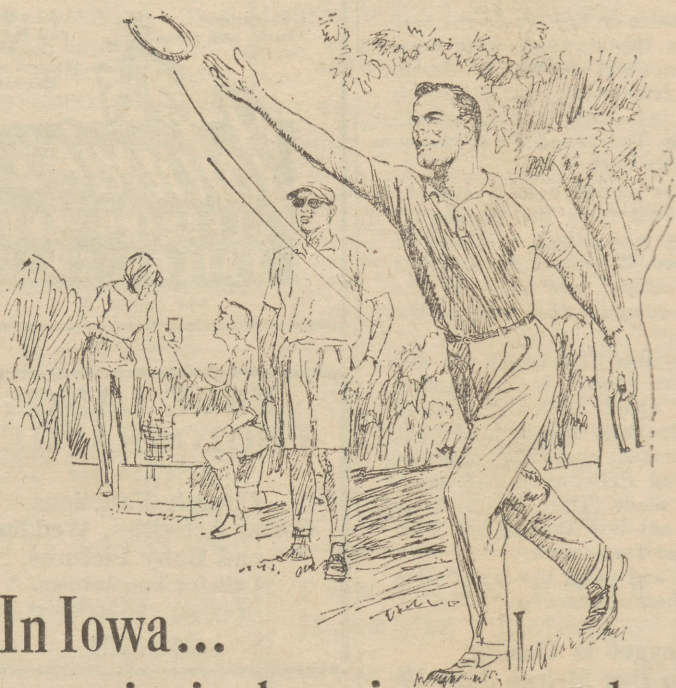

Williams holds the all-time U. S. prep 440 burst of :46.1 and clocked :45.6 in 1963.

Also entered in the Drake relay field is Tom O'Hara, world indoor mile recordholder. Houston and Western Michigan gave notice Saturday they will be represented at the relays, recognized as the best in the midwest.

In Iowa... at a picnic, beer is a natural

When you're relaxing at your favorite outdoor beauty spot with friends or family, and your thirst's whetted by fresh air and exercise—that's the ideal time for a cool, refreshing glass of beer. In fact, you can name your recreation—swimming, hiking, or just watching TV—and chances are nothing in the world fits it quite as well as beer.

Your familiar glass of beer is also a pleasurable reminder that we live in a land of personal freedom — and that our right to enjoy beer and ale, if we so desire, is just one, but an important one, of those personal freedoms.

In Iowa...beer goes with fun, with relaxation

Laborers

Many farm and laboring jobs at which many Negroes have worked, are now being eliminated by automation. Therefore we ought to make certain that Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 is not amended to death in the Senate. The future of American Negroes will thereby be brighter through ending bias in the personnel practices of some labor unions and employers.

I hope that Senators Miller and Hickenlooper will vote against Senator Dirksen's proposed amendments to Title VII of the Civil Rights Bill, the equal employment opportunities section.

These amendments would make complaints carry their own cases to court for redress. And the Commission would be required to surrender jurisdiction to state FEPC agencies, including any Southern ones.

Finally, emphasis would be placed on keeping FEPC cases in Southern Federal courts. These are all crippling amendments, which should be voted down!

Commendation

Senator Hickenlooper is to be commended for urging us to have more information and discussion on Title VII of the Civil Rights Bill. This is the section on Equal Employment Opportunities, which resembles the fair employment law in our own Iowa code. Title VII is a vital part of the bill, which was reported on favorably in December, 1963 by seven Republican members of the House Judiciary committee. These House Republicans are: McCulloch of Ohio, Lindsay of New York, Cahill of New Jersey, Shriver of Kansas, MacGregor of Minnesota, Mathias of Maryland and James Bromwell of Iowa.

Penalized

Many union leaders would like to have open hiring practices prevail now, but they are afraid of being penalized if they act on their own. And for this very reason, both Northern and Southern business men are increasingly in favor of Senate passage of the Civil Rights bill, including Title VII, without crippling amendments. Such long-overdue Senate action would help to accelerate our country's economic development. May this indeed occur, after a reasonable period of honest debate!

FISHING QUALMS

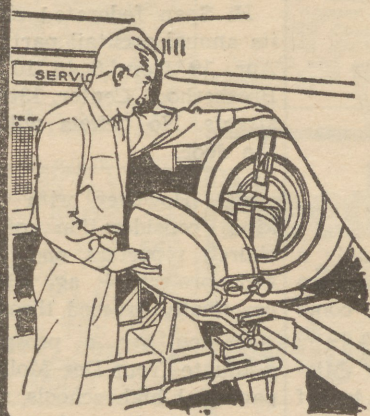

I like to fish in rivers,
And I like to fish in streams
But I always get the shivers
And most likely in my dreams,
When I dream about the fishing that I
Did as a child,

And the different kind of fish I caught
That didn't make me smile.
There was me and my kdd brother
And we liked to fish and roam,
Across the fields and pastures that Wasn't far from home.
We used to go to Turkey Creek
And take our poles and bait,
Sit down beneath a big shade tree
And wait—and wait—and wait—
We'd carry asafetida along because We heard it makes
The great old big ones take a bite (They didn't tell us snakes)
But snakes were mostly
What we caught (we lost more poles that way)
We knew the water moccasins
Weren't on our lines to play
And we ran screaming, when
We pulled the wiggling creatures up
Forgotten were the lines and poles,
Forgotten bait, and cup.
We always took asafetida
Whene'r we went to fish
And mostly when we got
A bite, it wasn't for the dish
So back into the water plunk
Went snake and pole and hook
And in the locks of shoulder blades
We'd lay over heads in fear
And over bare feet was Won't to say, 'It's anywhere but here!'

We never did catch any fish to amount
To any snakes, but we made doggone sure
We didn't get caught by any snakes.
