Mrs. Glanton 2nd Among Democrats

In Monday's Colorless Primary Election

A small percentage of eligible voters in Polk County and in the rest of Iowa went to the polls Monday in the state's primary election and selected the candidates who will run in the November general election.

In Polk county Mrs. Willie Stevenson Glanton ran a close second with 5,757 votes among Democratic nominees for state representatives. Gilbert Randle who was unopposed in the primary will vie with the Democratic primary winner, Michael Doyle for Polk County district clerk.

The lack lustre of the primary was speculated as caused by lack of opposition in either party for the top seat in the state—governor. Both Democratic Gov. Harold E. Hughes and Republican candidate, Atty. Gen. Evan Hultman, were unopposed. However, it is expected that their campaigns will be the main attraction in the political arena in the fall.

Attorney General

Most interest was stirred in the primary campaigns for Attorney General. Here in both parties a lively competition was engendered, particularly at the polls. Emerging as winners were Lawrence Scalise, Democrat of Carlisle, who squeaked by Don Wilson of West Des Moines. The G.O.P. nomination for attorney general, the office vacated by Hultman, went to Wilbur N. Bump, 34, of Des Moines, who has been Hultman's top aide in the office for 3½ years. He defeated Garry Woodward, Muscatine County attorney, by about 4,000 votes.

Found Innocent of Inciting Riot Charge

William Winfred Byrd, 26, was found innocent of inciting a riot in connection with a disturbance at 10th and Center streets the early morning of May 16. Municipal Judge Howard Brooks Monday dismissed the charges after stating that the state had failed to establish Byrd's guilt beyond a reasonable doubt.

Denies Throwing Bottle

Byrd testified that he had called a police officer a "s. o. b." but denied throwing a bottle at police. He also said he had drunk three shots of bourbon shortly before the riot.

Brooks told Byrd he must be careful not to create problems for himself and others because of a personal grudge against one or two officers.

Charges against Alonzo Sylvester Buckner, who gave his address as 919 Nineteenth st., and Chester Douglas Bolden, who gave his address as 1113 Tenth st., for inciting a riot were set for hearing June 16.

Same Evidence

However Assistant Polk County Attorney Donald Starr asked that Brooks consider those cases under the same evidence presented Monday afternoon. Brooks said he will rule on those cases Wednesday. A charge against Bolden for intoxication was dismissed.

Several others who were charged in connection with the disturbance have already entered guilty pleas to charges of intoxication.

SAVE BIRTH PLACE OF LOUIS ARMSTRONG

New Orleans, La.—A ramshackled two-bedroom home in mid-town New Orleans was snatched from the path of construction bulldozers last week, to be set up as a national jazz shrine. The small frame house was the birthplace of Jazzman Louis Armstrong.

Ike Smalls, Veteran Human Rights, NAACP Worker, Succumbs to Heart Ailment

Ike Smalls, veteran humanitarian and civil rights leader, died Thursday, May 28 of a heart ailment at Mercy hospital. He had suffered previous heart attacks but had been working regularly in his office in the Royal Union Building until the day before his death when he complained of feeling ill at his home, 1704 Mar Ella Trail. After consulting his physician he was taken to the hospital.

Mr. Smalls was known for his numerous and variety of philanthropic endeavors and accomplishments, but perhaps he was best known, particularly nationally, for his work with the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

NAACP

He was a member of the Des Moines branch for 34 years, and had been voted an honorary life member of the organization where he had held various offices and worked on numerous drives and committees. His main NAACP efforts were channeled in life memberships where he worked tirelessly to secure life memberships from both individuals and organizations. His latest in that area was securing the first Iowa church's life membership from Corinthian Baptist last fall.

Life Members

He was life membership chairman for both the local branch and the Iowa State Conference of Branches.

SMALLS

He was a national vice president and was re-elected to his 14th term in that capacity last January, at the annual board meeting in New York. He originated the Ike Smalls traveling trophy for membership and the Burlington youth NAACP is named in his honor.

Russian Born

Born in Russia, Mr. Smalls came to Des Moines when he was 16. Among his outstanding achievements was his selection in 1937 as the winner of the Des Moines Community Service Award. The day he was pre-

Rev. A. Powell Arrested on Contempt Charge in San Juan

San Juan, P. R.—Congressman Adam Clayton Powell surrendered to police in connection with a fraud warrant but was quickly released when he promised a judge that he would appear for trial "at some later date."

The warrant for his arrest was obtained by Mrs. Esther James, 67, a Harlem widow who won a $46,500 libel judgment against the New York Democratic congressman when he accused her of being a "bag woman," or graft-collector, for the police department on a television program.

Nearly A Year

Mrs. James has been trying to collect for nearly a year. She followed Powell to Puerto Rico, where he has a plush home, and charged that he illegally transferred his property to the name of his wife's uncle to escape payment. The charge resulted in the warrant for his arrest, accusing him of fraud.

Powell said he surrendered himself to Jose Perez Rodriguez, Rio Piedras district judge, who happened to be visiting police headquarters in Vega Baja when the Harlem congressman walked in the door.

Warrant

Powell and the judge discussed the warrant for about 10 minutes.

"We reached an agreement under which the trial will be held at some Gaines met with Iowa Senators, Jack Miller and Bourke B. Hickenlooper to urge them to vote for the civil rights bill as presented and to vote for cloture when the time comes.

later date," Powell said.

With him when he went to the police station were his wife, the former Ivette Diago, and his lawyer, Virgilio Mendez Cuesta.

Belen Trujillo, Mrs. James' lawyer in Puerto Rico, said that he would ask the court to halt Powell's arrest until the matter is cleared up.

"He does not enjoy parliamentary immunity in Puerto Rico," the attorney said.

Citation

The Congressman was cited for contempt of court in New York because he refused to show up for a hearing to have his records examined to determine his ability to pay the libel judgment. The judge ordered his arrest but said the warrant would be held in obedience while Congress is in session.

Rumors of 'Huge Crowd' Of Opposition Never Materialize at City Hall

With official publications in newspaper today (Thurs.) the compromise fair housing ordinance goes into effect today after Monday's final reading of the proposed statute.

Over the weekend there had been persons who were against the compromise fair housing ordinance to converge on City Hall Monday morning and thus bring public sentiment to bear on councilmen for its defeat. The numberless numbers never materialized. Only about 150 persons filled the council chambers for the final reading.

After hearing seven opponents and nine proponents of the ordinance, the vote was a unanimous 5 to 0, the same as on the measure's first two readings.

No Penalty

The ordinance carries no penalty for violations and it exempts about half of the city's 21,781 apartments—all duplexes, owner-occupied rooming houses with fewer than four rooms for rent, all apartment buildings with fewer than seven units.

Uninformed police were dispersed about the hall but the crowd was overwhelmingly orderly. About 30 persons were standing and 50 others milled in the hall.

Among those speaking urging passage of the measure were the Rev. E. P. Williams, president of the Des Moines Ministerial Alliance, Rev. N. R. Olphin of Corinthian Baptist church, Mrs. Robert Ardren, 335 Forest avenue, Rev. Edward Heininger, Drake university campus minister, James Dunn, 700 27th street, Warren C. Varney, 3103 Forest avenue, and Mrs. Jack Cleveland, chairman of the Des Moines Commission on Human Rights.

Sets Public Speech by John Howard Griffin At North

John Howard Griffin, internationally known author of the best seller, "Black Like Me" will be presented in a public lecture, Sunday, June 7th, in the North High School auditorium, at 7:30 p.m.

The lecture will be sponsored by the Women's Division of the National Conference of Christians and Jews. Tickets are $1.00 for adults and $.50 for children. Proceeds will be used for the scholarship and program fund of the local NCCJ chapter.

Griffin, a white Texan, had his skin darkened through medical treatment, and in 1959 traveled for seven weeks across Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, and Georgia, to learn first hand the problems confronting the Negro people of the deep south. His book, "Black Like Me" is the chronicle of his journey and has sold nearly one million copies. A documentary movie based on the book starring James Whitmore in the role of Griffin, is soon to be released by Walter Reade-Sterling, Inc.

JOHN HOWARD GRIFFIN

Since his experience Griffin has lectured widely and has continued his study of racial problems across the nation. He continues to travel in the south meeting with leaders in both the white and Negro communities. His reports on the racial problems of the south are carried on the French National Television network.

Hails High Court Ruling on Va. Schools

New York—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People hailed the U.S. Supreme Court's ruling this week requiring "quick and effective" action to reopen the public schools in Prince Edward County, Va., on an integrated basis.

NAACP General Counsel Robert L. Carter who argued the case before the High Court in March stated that the decision was a portent of "general implementation" of the historic 1954 anti-segregation ruling throughout the South.

The latest Supreme Court ruling on Prince Edward County was handed down on Monday, May 25. The Virginia case was one of five on which the Court based its edict of May 17, 1954, that segregated public education is unconstitutional. The case was argued before the Court in 1952, 1953 and 1955, as well as in 1964.

Ask Justice Department to Investigate Situation in Miss.

Jackson, Miss.—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, has asked the Justice Department to investigate an "intolerable situation" in the State of Mississippi.

Charles Evers, NAACP field secretary, in a letter to Attorney General Robert Kennedy, May 19, said that Negro Mississippians are being subjected to "a wave of brutality, abuse and killings . . . with too little deterrent action by those who are law enforcement officers."

Police Brutality

In one instance, the NAACP official charged that Negro citizens in Neshoba County, particularly the Philadelphia township, were being "threatened and beaten by local police officers."

Evers added that responsible officials have refused to discuss the Negro's grievances with NAACP representatives. In his letter, the NAACP leader cited seven examples of recent terrorist acts perpetrated upon Negro citizens, which were:

The killing of Ernest Caston in Jackson, by a deputy sheriff of Hinds County whose identity has not been made known by local authorities or news media;

The unprovoked abuse of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hilliard, while they were walking along a street near their home in Jackson, by a deputy sheriff, reportedly to be the same man who killed Caston;

Bold Acts

The bold acts of intimidation of "night-riders," who appear to have tacit approval of some local news media, and seemingly operate with official sanction in far too many instances;

The increased number of broken plate glass windows and other acts of vandalism in business places operated by leaders in the NAACP voter registration drive;

The repeated burning of KKK crosses in Jackson and across the state;

The strewing of large amounts of dynamite in an area not far from the private integrated Tougaloo College, where abuses have been heaped upon the faculty and students, and where bombs have been exploded on and near the campus;

And the demolishing by a bomb of a barbershop in McComb operated by the president of the McComb NAACP branch.

EISENHOWER SEES ROY WILKINS, URGES CIVIL RIGHTS SUPPORT

New York — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower in a statement of Republican principles, published in a copyrighted article in the New York Herald Tribune, cited civil rights as "the nation's most critical domestic challenge."

Publication of the article here, Monday, May 25, followed a conference the former President held in his Gettysburg, Pa., office on Thursday, May 21, with Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and Sterling Tucker, Washington representative of the National Urban League.

The organization leaders discussed at length the pending civil rights bill with Gen. Eisenhower who indicated a lively interest in the issue.

The former President's statement Monday covered both foreign affairs and domestic issues. On the home front he gave priority to civil rights, reminding his fellow Republicans of their party's origin and tradition of "a crusading concern for human dignity."

The nation, he said, "has a profound moral obligation to each of its citizens, requiring that we not only improve our behavior but also strengthen our laws in a determined effort to see that each American enjoys the full benefits of citizenship—benefits which no agency of government, national, state or local, has the right to abridge."

He praised "the dramatic leadership given by Republicans in Congress these past two years" in the area of civil rights legislation.

$3,000 Fire Routs Four at Midnight

Four persons escaped burns in a midnight fire here Monday that caused nearly $3,000 damages to a two-story frame house at 911 Crocker street.

The fire was discovered by Elmo Holliman and his wife, Edwina, who lived in the upstairs three rooms of the house. They had gone to bed and about 45 minutes afterwards, smelled smoke. When they investigated, they discovered the fire.

"I ran for the stairs," Holliman said, "but my wife went into the kitchen to get her dog, before she came down."

In his haste to leave the building, Holliman fell down a flight of stairs but he was not injured. The Hollimans, both bare footed, were wearing only coats over their pajamas. They spent the night with relatives.

2 Others

Two other occupants of the downford Willis, were watching television when they were alerted of the fire by the Hollimans.

Fire District Chief William Carberry said he was unable to determine the cause of the fire, which gutted the Holliman's living room.

2 Tots Injured When Car Rolls into Yard

Two toddlers were injured Sunday afternoon when their father's car rolled into the yard of a neighbor. Victims were Larry Moore, 3, and his sister, Rita, 2, children of Marvin Moore of 724 26th street.

Police said the children were playing alone in the car when it rolled north down an incline, turned east into the yard of Mrs. Helen Wilson of 727 26th street. Patrolman Edwin Kracht said the children apparently knocked the parking brake loose or took the car out of gear.

Both youngsters fell out of the car. Larry suffered a foot injury and Rita a back injury. They were treated at Raymond Blank Memorial hospital and released.

What is electricity? AN EXTRA HELPER (OR TWO)

Electricity is the free time that a dishwasher gives you away from the kitchen. (And it can attract "volunteer" help, besides.) Electricity is the fun of a movie projector, the many stitches of a sewing machine. Electricity is probably 80 to 40 household servants right in your own home . . . five or six times as many as you had just a generation ago. With electricity doing so much for you, it stands to reason that your bill is higher today. But the actual cost of a kilowatt-hour of electricity is a full 30% lower than it was a generation ago.

Yes, electricity is many everyday wonders. At today's low rates, it's your biggest household bargain. Faithfully yours, from why the Negro must have his rights now.

Drawing back the curtain on last summer's battle in Birmingham, he describes in detail the strategy behind the demonstrations. He regards this campaign as the toughest test of his entire leadership career.

The book includes, published for the first time in full, Dr. King's letter from the Birmingham jail to the clergymen who had called his actions "unwise and untimely."

The cap and gown season is on us and many aspirants in high school and college have been walking down the aisle this week or will next week. It is one of the sure milestones that we never forget in our lives, no matter who we are or where we live. With the emphasis on senior high school and college, somehow the thousands of youngsters who step up from the "protectiveness" of elementary school to junior high are almost forgotten in the shuffle. When you think of it the junior high step is really the major milestone where you step out on your own, since it leads to all other that follow. In elementary school there is a closeness almost like parental association but a lot of this leaves when you enter junior high. Then too, for the first time you are in a larger group of students, representing three or more elementary schools.

With the closing of schools families will be scattering far and near for vacations or just relaxing at home for the next three months. When you reflect how most of us get so involved in outside activities these days, especially during the school year, it is nice to have a whole summer just to relax and drop the old and take up some new recreation or just rest.

As for yours truly we plan to take up a sport we have longed to do and threaten to do many times. That is tennis. We and our children want to take a few lessons through the park and recreation facilities of the city and then just lob a few around once in a while, to combine both exercise with pleasure. We long have been a badminton and table tennis participant and fan. And of course we have long been a spectator at tennis competitions.

Among those who plan to relax and spend the summer waiting for their fourth baby in August is Mrs. Robert Carson, 1183 10th street. However, before giving up bowling which she loves for the next few months she helped the first place team to win in the Try Hard league. She and three other members won $24 each for their efforts.

This is one for the books. A Des Moines man walked into a jewelry store to the repair department and presented his wristwatch. When asked what was wrong with it, he answered, "It won't go tick tock."

Mrs. William Pickett, 1221 19th street, is again chairman of registration for swimming lessons at Goode park. Registrations will begin June 16. This is an opportunity for youngsters to receive Red Cross approved lessons free at a pool near them. What with the advancing emphasis on water sports, it is necessary that all youngsters learn to swim—and do it well.

Coming next week!!!! The 70th anniversary issue of the Bystander will be off the press next week. We plan to include in this issue many bits of

IKE SMALLS' DEATH A BIG LOSS TO ALL

It does not often happen that a man who has escaped oppression becomes a champion of the oppressed. That was Ike Smalls who died last week.

Born in Russia, Smalls came to America at an early age, operated a grocery business and later entered upon various community activities beginning with the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People at the solicitation of the late Joe Brown, one of the first blood donor centers in Iowa and various business activities which he pursued with energy and devotion.

After his synagogue, the NAACP was his most lasting activity. He served on the National Board, as national Vice President and president of the state conference and local Branch.

Smalls gave freely to the things he loved. Civil rights was close to his heart and as he followed his NAACP activities, he was always interested in knowing if rights were being observed wherever he went.

He received as well as gave awards for doing a good job in movements in which he was interested. The fine things he did will live. His fond hopes were that the things so dear to him will continue to grow.

HOODLUMS HURT

THEMSELVES AND OTHERS

Tuesday, a group of Negro youngsters boarded a subway train in New York, proceeded to pounce on innocent white riders beating and robbing them unmercifully. All had been drinking, apparently designed to give them courage to carry on such unlawful conduct.

Such action as this is uncalled for. The perpetrators should be dealt with promptly, not only as punishment for them, but also as an example to others with similar designs.

Over the years, Negroes suffered untold mob violence in many parts of the country. Few, if any members of the mob were punished. The campaign in behalf of an anti-lynching bill had a telling effect on the practice. So, in recent years such illegal conduct has been pretty well eliminated.

Mob violence had been a weapon to create fear in the hearts of Negroes so they would ask for little or dare hit back at those who mistreated them. This is no longer true. Negroes are fighting back without fear in the knowledge that a majority of the American people approve orderly protest for the protection of human rights.

However, fighting back does not mean taking the law into your own hands. It does not mean the destruction of other people's property or assault upon innocent persons. Such conduct hurts the cause of the Negro; it hurts the reputation of a community. And worst of all, it sets an example for those who may be inclined to follow their footsteps.

Negro leaders, and particularly the clergy, must give more thought and effort to join with authorities in putting a stop to such conduct.

SENATE TIRES OF SOUTHERN FILIBUSTER

The majority leaders of both parties in the Senate have decided that the filibuster against the civil rights bill has gone on long enough, a civil rights measure is desirable and have planned a cloture vote for June 9.

Tremendous pressure has been exerted for an against the measure with several senators shimmering on the fence trying to see which way the wind blows.

The civil rights bill has been debated fully. Every one interested has had a chance to know what is in it. The long debate has tended to confuse a lot of people due, in part, to misstatements of what it contains.

The bill does give the attorney general power to enforce it as is the case with all general federal laws. And yet some opposing senators base their objections on so-called snooping by Attorney General Kennedy as though he would be in office forever.

Like the fair housing ordinance facing the Des Moines City Council this week, one member said he was convinced that if it was put up for an election, it would fail. But he would vote for it because he felt it was right.

Moulten School
Wins Elementary Track

Moulten Elementary School took first place honors in the 1964 Elementary school track events held May 22 at the Lincoln High football field. Both boys and girls ran in various events including the circle, shuttle relays, 220 and 440. They were trained by Moulten school physical education teacher, Joe Lokitis. The teams won 19 first place ribbons.

Kirkville, Mo.—Three Des Moines athletes Thursday were awarded letters by Northeast Missouri State Teachers College here.

Three are Taylors on the track team. Brothers Norman, Jim and cousin Charles. Norm broke his own school record in the 120-yard high hurdles with a 14.4-second time. Charles tied the school 100 mark with a :09.6 clocking.

Name A Home
For Ernie Davis

Albany, N. Y.—The State of New York has announced that it will honor the late football star, Ernie Davis, by naming a home for wayward youths for him.

The first Negro to win the Heisman trophy, Davis, a resident of Elmira, N. Y., died of leukemia last year. Davis had won the Heisman trophy as the nation's top collegiate football player at Syracuse university.

The home will house 26 youths aged 15 through 17 who have run afoul of the law but have not been convicted of any crime.

Files Libel Suit

St. Louis, Mo.—Jimmy Hill, St. Louis football Cardinals' defensive halfback, Monday filed $2,150,000 libel suit against Sports Illustrated magazine for Nov. 11, 1963 article, which Hill said "maliciously accused" him of injuring Green Bay quarterback Bart Starr and exposed him to "public contempt and ridicule."

Willie Mays Named Giants'
Captain By Manager Al Dark

San Francisco—The Giants had their first team captain in eight years and fittingly enough, the job went to a guy named Willie Mays.

Off to one of the greatest starts in his legendary career, Mays learned of the promotion after he had crashed two home runs that paced San Francisco to a 9-4 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies. He took the news with the same grace that he can haul in a difficult fly.

"This is an honor I'm very proud of," he said at his locker. "I don't know if I'll have a lot of different jobs to do. I'll talk to Alvin Dark about it."

Easy Job

Then, asked if he would carry the lineup to the plate, Mays laughed and parried, "Man that's not hard."

Mays' appointment was announced by Manager Dark, the last Giant to serve as team captain. That was in the middle 1950's when Dark was shortstop for the New York Giants.

"Willie Mays is managerial material," Dark said of his former teammate. "I named him because he is a most deserving man who rightly should have the honor. He is a leader without even opening his mouth."

Dark said that he decided to name Mays after giving the matter a lot of thought.

Closer to Players

"I'll expect him to move the guys around the outfield as he sees fit," Dark said, "And I'll be glad to hear any suggestions he has. There are certain ones that a team captain can give his manager as he frequently is closer to the players. For instance, I didn't know that Orlando Cepeda's leg was hurting him."

Mays took over then against the Pittsburgh Pirates not only as captain but the leader in three batting departments.

He lifted his average to .397 and moved further ahead in the home run race with two for a total of 16.

Mays also paces the National League with 38 runs batted in.

Memorial at Jackson Miss.
For Medgar W. Evers

Jackson, Miss.—This capital of the State of Mississippi will become the focal point of a massive nationwide memorial Friday, June 12, for Medgar W. Evers, field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People who was shot in the back last year in front of his home here.

Bishop Stephen Gill Spottswood, chairman of the NAACP Board of Directors, and other officers and members of the Association will attend the services here while thousands of others will gather for similar memorials in their respective communities across the country. All will pay homage to the memory of the slain NAACP leader.

Enthusiasm for the service in the Negro community here has been running high, spurred on by several recent incidents. In one, a 14-year-old Negro lad, who is an NAACP Youth Council member, had an emblem bearing the initials of the civil rights organization and the name of Evers cut out of the shirt he was wearing by two white Jackson city policemen. After which, the officers reportedly remarked: "That is what we think of the NAACP and Medgar Evers."

Finally, a temporary injunction was granted the City of Jackson last summer banning protest demonstrations by the NAACP, CORE, and SNICK, was made permanent by a Chancery Court judge last week.

In recounting the recent happenings, a spokesman for the local NAACP officials said nothing had changed. If anything, he added, they have served to stimulate more interest in the Medgar Evers memorial service and the planned protest demonstrations this summer.
