HISTORIC FAR REACHING DECISION

Unions Must Eliminate Bias

President Johnson Signs Civil Rights Law

Hours After Congress Passes Statute; First Test Comes in K.C.

Washington, D. C.—Three hours after Congress passed it—President Lyndon B. Johnson on late Thursday afternoon, July 2 signed the historic civil rights bill, calling on Americans to "eliminate the last vestiges of injustices in America."

In a ceremony in the East Room of the White House, Mr. Johnson pledged himself to "faithful execution" of the statute and announced steps to insure its enforcement.

Rushed to White House

The bill was rushed to the White House after the House of Representatives approved by a vote of 289 to 126 the changes which the Senate had made in a House bill.

(In Iowa's delegation, Democrat Neal Smith and Republicans Fred Schwengel, James Brownwell, Charles Hoeven and John Kyl voted for the bill while Republicans H. R. Gross and Ben Jensen voted against it.)

Mr. Johnson signed the bill before live television cameras while more than 200 lawmakers, civil rights leaders and government officials looked on.

Appointment

He announced the appointment of LeRoy Collins, former governor of Florida, as director of the new Community Relations Service.

This agency, to be located in the Commerce Department, will assist communities in meeting problems and resolving disputes connected with desegregation of public accommodations.

Mr. Johnson delivered a conciliatory statement to the nation by radio and television.

"We have come now to a kind of testing," Mr. Johnson said.

"We must not fail."

"Racial Poison"

"Let us close the springs of racial poison. Let us pray for wise and understanding hearts. Let us lay aside irrelevant differences and make our nation whole."

"Let us hasten that day when our unmeasured strength and our unbounded spirit will be free to do the great works ordained for this nation by the just and wise God who is the father of all."

Then dignitaries clustered around

President's Ball is Postponed from July 10 to July 24

The President's Ball, originally scheduled for Friday, July 10 has been postponed until Friday, July 24 at the Val Air Ballroom. The event will be sponsored by the Hi-Span Federated club of which Mrs. Helen Wilson is president.

Mrs. Wilson told the Bystander that the postponement was "due to the fact that the Bill Doggett contract was not returned" to the club.

Another nationally known band will headline the July 24th event, but confirmation at press time was still pending. Announcement of the band plus stories and ads will be published next week in the Bystander. Posters will be put in places of business in Des Moines, also.

Houston Speeds Integration Plan

Houston, Texas — Kindergarten classes will be desegregated in September, the Houston School Board has ruled.

The decision puts integration of the city's free public kindergartens eight years ahead of a grade-a-year plan ordered by Federal District Court. Now two levels, kindergarten and the fifth grade, will be desegregated this fall.

Jackie Robinson Confers with Scranton; Joins Drive to Stop Senator Goldwater

New York City, N. Y.—Baseball Hall of Famer and former Brooklyn Dodger star Jackie Robinson, whose political heart belonged to Nelson Rockefeller, has followed the New York Governor into the burgeoning Scranton-For-President campaign.

"I believe that Governor Scranton stands foursquare on civil rights and is firmly committed to the resolve that the Republican Party must not become the anti-Negro party which it would appear, Senator Barry Goldwater would like it to be," Mr. Robinson said on Saturday evening.

Conference

The noted athlete who made the pioneering breakthrough for the Negro in major league baseball, made this observation a few hours after he had conferred with Governor Scranton Saturday morning at the latter's picturesquely beautiful Executive Mansion at Indiantown Gap, Pennsylvania.

Governor's Home

Robinson, along with his public relations aide Alfred Duckett, flew to the Governor's home Saturday morning in a plane furnished by Harvey Firestone, head of the Firestone Industries. The plane, a four-seater Aero Commander, which Mr. Firestone uses personally, is the same he often loans to his close friend, former President Dwight Eisenhower.

Following a pleasant chat with Mrs. Scranton the two Rockefellers were greeted by the Governor and repaired to a verandah for a twenty-five minute talk.

Questions

Commenting on his meeting with the man who seeks to stop Barry Goldwater, Robinson said:

"Frankly, when Governor Rockefeller announced he was dropping out of the race, I was pretty disillusioned about it all. Even when the Governor came out for Scranton, I did not make up my mind as to what I was going to do. The only thing I was sure of was that, if the Republican Party nominated Goldwater, they would be telling me and every other Negro that they don't want my vote. I had some questions in my mind about Mr. Scranton and civil rights. I had a conference with Governor Rockefeller and then, this meeting with Governor Scranton. Now, it is my conviction that Governor Scranton is sincere on human rights and that the salvation of the Republican Party rests in its naming

To Georgia

On the morning after his conference with Governor Scranton, Robinson flew to Albany, Georgia to participate in the dedication of three Negro churches rebuilt there after being burned down by segregationist hoodlums in 1963 during a Negro civil rights drive. The former Dodger star, along with Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., had co-chaired a national drive to raise funds for the re-building.

On the following day, Robinson flew to San Francisco for a two-day fact-finding survey in the interest of the Scranton campaign.

Iowa Girl Arrested, Jailed In Mississippi; Still No Sign of 3 Who Vanished

Laurel, Miss.—A civil rights worker from Fort Dodge, Ia., was arrested here and given a 10-day suspended jail sentence, as volunteer workers continue their work in this racial strife torn state. However, in another portion of the state—Neshoba county—there still was no clue to three civil rights workers who vanished seven days ago after they were released from jail in Philadelphia, Miss.

East Chicago Heights, Ill.—Benjamin Scrutchie, the first Negro to be the superintendent of a school district in Illinois, handed in his resignation here last week as a climax to a row with the District 169 school board over who had the authority to institute school system changes.

Scrutchie, whose resignation is effective Aug. 21, plans to join the staff of the Human Relations Bureau of the Chicago Board of Education.

Boston—Dr. Howard Thurman, retiring dean of Boston University's Morris chapel and one of the nation's outstanding preachers, has been appointed minister-at-large for Boston University for the 1964-65 academic year, President Harold C. Case of the University announced this week.

Flint, Mich.—Hearings on a defensive motion to dismiss a $1 million lawsuit filed by the Black Muslims against three local policemen and the city attorney Edward J. Joseph, opened in U.S. District court here Tuesday, July 7.

The suit, begun in federal court by Elijah Muhammed, relates to the appearance of police at a meeting here last Oct. 27 in the JMA auditorium. The meeting was ended when city detectives refused to leave their weapons at the door before entering.

Winston-Salem, N. C.—The Rev. William R. Crawford of Winston-Salem recently became the first Negro since Reconstruction days nominated on the Democratic Party ticket to be a member of the North Carolina House of Representatives.

Washington—An article on the role of a Negro mother, written by Mrs. Whitney M. Young, Jr., wife of the executive director of the National Urban League, appears in the July issue of Parent's Magazine, which went on sale Friday, June 26.

Charleston, S. C.—The board of trustees of the Cooper River School District 4 disclosed here last week that it has approved the admission of four Negroes to two white schools in North Charleston next fall. The trustees' actions makes the district the second in the county to integrate its schools.

Detroit, Mich.—The Rev. Father Donald Michael Clark, who recently became the first Negro priest ordained for the Detroit archdiocese, last week was assigned to an inter-racial parish in suburban Ypsilanti by Archbishop John F. Dearden.

Blue Bell, Pa.—The appointment of Dr. F. Ray Finley as staff physiologist for the Bio-Technology Laboratory of Philco Corporation's Communications and Electronics Division was announced this week by Walter L. Wasserman, manager of the laboratory.

NLRB Rules They Are Responsible for Insuring Equality in Employment

Washington, D. C.—Because of its racially discriminatory practices, a union has been found guilty of unfair labor practices, and has been stripped of its official certification as bargaining agent for employees at the Hughes Tool Company, Houston, Texas.

The National Labor Relations Board, in an order made public July 2 rescinded the certification of the Independent Metal Workers Union at the Hughes plant and issued an order against the union based on findings that it had violated the National Labor Relations Act in refusing to process a grievance of Ivory Davis, a Negro employee.

The five-member Board was unanimous in the decision to rescind the certification, and in finding that the refusal to process the grievance amounted to illegal coercion of employees. Differing approaches, however, were taken by the Board members to those two conclusions.

NAACP General Counsel Robert L. Carter July 2 hailed this decision, "Negro workers may obtain, without cost through the facilities of the NLRB, protection against trade union discrimination. The new ruling construes a union's duty of fair representation as barring segregated locals and exclusion of Negro employees in the bargaining unit from membership in the union."

Further Protection

Under previous Board decisions, only discrimination on the grounds of union membership or non-membership was held to be an unfair labor practice. The Board's new decision affirmed an earlier ruling by the trial examiner.

Further protection is provided Negro union members under Section 8(b)(8), of the Act, the NAACP counsel pointed out. The ruling, he said, "places a duty to bargain on the union which is owed not only to the employer, but also the employees it represents.

Most Forceful

"It is the Board's most forceful statement of the position that unions have an obligation to enter into contracts with the employer which do not discriminate against any employee on the basis of his color."

The charges of discrimination were filed on behalf of members of the all-Negro Local 2 of the Independent Metal Workers Union. In 1962, when Ivory Davis, a Negro member of Local 2, was denied admission to a company-sponsored apprenticeship training course, the white local refused to process his grievance. At the request of Local 2, the NAACP entered the case on Oct. 24, 1962, and filed a motion with the National Labor Relations Board asking that Local 1's certification be rescinded. The NAACP also asked that this motion be consolidated with unfair labor practices proceedings previously instituted by the National Labor Relations Board against Local 1.

1st Time

For the first time in the Board's history, it has ruled that racial discrimination by a union in membership policies—such as exclusion or segregation of Negroes—is a violation of the duty of fair representation under Section 9(a) of the National Labor Relations Act. Previously, the Board had ruled only that a union's racial discrimination in bargaining was a violation of its duty towards employees it represents.

U.S. Rights Commission Plans To Implement New Clearing House for Rights Information

Washington, D. C.—The United States Commission on Civil Rights today announced plans to proceed promptly with implementation of the new clearing house function assigned to the Commission in the 1964 Civil Rights Bill, as soon as the bill is signed into law.

The announcement followed a national conference of State Advisory Committees held June 27 and 28 at the Sheraton-Park Hotel. Over 150 delegates from 50 States and the District of Columbia participated in the mapping of plans for providing civil rights information and assistance to Federal, State, and local officials and community groups engaged in carrying out the objectives of the new legislation.

John A. Hannah, Chairman of the Commission, reminded the delegates that the late President John F. Kennedy, in proposing the clearing house function, had stressed the value of the "experience and capability" of the Civil Rights Commission in contributing to public knowledge and creating "the atmosphere of understanding which is indispensable to peaceful solutions to racial problems."

$1,500 annual scholarship by Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore. The 17-year-old scholar was admitted to Johns Hopkins in its early acceptance program.

The program adopted at the week-end conference involves each of the 51 advisory groups in helping the Commission staff make a current assessment of the status of civil rights in the major population centers. This and other information developed by the Commission, at an accelerated pace, will be made available to Federal, State, and local groups upon request. Hannah reported that the Commission has already received numerous requests for relevant information from Federal agencies directly affected by the provisions of the Civil Rights Act and from municipal officials and community groups.

On the Integration Scene

Washington, D.C.—Sen. Allen J. Ellender, (Dem., La.) who fought long and hard against the civil rights bill said Saturday that flagrant and possibly violent disobedience of the new law would be "foolhardy and indefensible."

Atlanta, Ga.—Three Negro members of the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee, were mobbed and beaten when they walked into a states rights rally Saturday where Gov. George Wallace of Alabama was campaigning for unpledged presidential electors. A white girl accompanying the Negro men said she escaped a beating when a white man shielded her with his body.

Jackson, Miss.—Federal District Judge Sidney C. Mize made permanent Tuesday an order directing desegregation of the public schools in three Mississippi districts.

Albany, Ga.—An integration test of the privately-owned Tift Park pool Sunday resulted in the arrest of 13 Negroes.

St. Augustine, Fla.—The city's top businessmen say they will abide by the civil rights bill even though they do not like the public accommodations section, which would force them to serve Negroes. The Chamber of Commerce also passed a resolution backing the stand taken by the businessmen.

Atlanta, Ga.—In a sweeping decision, the Georgia Court of Appeals ruled Tuesday that systematic exclusion of Negroes or any class of citizens from juries violates the rights of any defendant—white or Negro. The court held that under state and federal law both grand and trial juries must be selected without discrimination.

Jackson, Miss.—Three congressmen—one a Negro—arrived here last week for an informal inquiry into the welfare of civil rights workers. They are Rep. William Fitts Ryan, (Dem., N.Y.), Rep. Augustus F. Hawkins, (Dem., Cal.), and Los Angeles Negro, and Rep. Phil Burton (Dem., Calif.).

Atlanta, Ga.—Segregation of public accommodations fell away silently in many southern cities and towns where early testing of the civil rights law came Friday. But in Atlanta, an angry white crowd brandishing ax handles led by pistol-waving segregationists—chased three Negroes away from a restaurant. Owner Lester Maddox jerked out a pistol and ordered the Negroes off his property, vowing he would go to jail first before serving them. The Negroes left, saying they would be back.

Federal Court Allows Rights Action at World's Fair Site

New York, N. Y.—Civil rights groups, represented by the NAACP Legal Defense Fund and other attorneys, last week won the right to pass out handbills protesting southern discrimination at certain World's Fair pavilions.

Federal District Court Judge Harold R. Tyler also found the Fair's regulation prohibiting picketing to be vague, arbitrary and an unconstitutional burden on the enjoyment of free speech.

Rewritten

He suggested that the anti-picketing regulation be rewritten so as to allow reasonable picketing demonstrations.

Jack Greenberg, the Fund's director-counsel, stated that "we are pleased that the Court upheld our contention that state action so permeates the Fair's operation that it must now obey the free speech requirements of the fourteenth amendment."

"This means that the civil rights organizations with whom we brought this suit may peacefully protest the racial discriminatory practices of southern states which have pavilions at the Fair."

City Leases

Judge Tyler stated that the World's Fair is "so impregnated with and supported by state and city action as to place it within the ambit of the fourteenth amendment."

The NAACP Legal Defense Fund attorneys pointed out that the Fair has leased its property from the city, the city receives income from the Fair, the Fair is exempt from city and state taxes and all Fair buildings and improvements will become city property when the Fair closes.

force of 400 sailors led by a dozen officers pushed through dense, overgrown marshes and three helicopters cleared landings. Dragging operations were suspended. F.B.I. and state agents resumed a door-to-door request for information.

No Clues

Search leaders were baffled at the lack of clues to the disappearance of Michael Schwerner, 24, and Andrew Goodman, 20, white New Yorkers, and James Chaney, 22, a Negro from nearby Meridian.

They were last seen when they posted a $20 bond here for speeding. They left town headed south on Rt. 19 toward Meridian. Their chartered station wagon was found two days later at the edge of a swamp north of here.

South of Road

Most of the search until July 1 had been in the rugged country north of Rt. 19. Wednesday the sailors—from a naval air station north of Meridian—were sent into areas south of the road in Newton County.

Special Glaucoma Follow-Up

261 persons are asked to return in July for a special Glaucoma Eye Disease Study Follow-up prior to the general session scheduled for October, according to Dr. James F. Speers, city-county health director.

"A special Glaucoma (Glaw-koma) Study Follow-up for 261 individuals showing test values different from the "norm" or from the majority of the 2405 persons involved in the 1963 session of the Des Moines Population Study of Glaucoma is to be held July 13-18 in Des Moines," Dr. Speers said.

Dr. Monsour F. Arnaly, Project Director and Associate Professor of Ophthalmology, State University of Iowa emphasized "such individuals do not necessarily have glaucoma, or for that matter, any specific eye disease. However, these findings indicate that they should be followed up more carefully than the rest of the sample."

This special session will be held in the basement of the Salvation Army Headquarters, 209-5th Avenue in Des Moines. All the 1963 participants will be urged to return for the general session in October.

PLAYBOY CLUB SUIT HAILED

New York, N. Y.—The NAACP Legal Defense Fund this week praised the Playboy Club of New Orleans for its suit against Louisiana laws prohibiting Negroes from attending the Club.

Jack Greenberg, the Fund's director-counsel, called the Playboy suit a major legal step by a private firm aimed at breaking down racial barriers in the south.

"It is encouraging to see a private corporation invoke the U. S. Constitution in seeking to open its entertainment facilities to all citizens," Greenberg said.

him, each to claim one of the 72 pens with which he put his signature to the bill.

First Test

The first test of the sweeping bill came in Kansas City, Mo., a minute after it became law. The test failed for the moment but laid the groundwork for compliance the following day.

A 13-year-old Negro boy, Eugene Young of Jackson, Miss., tried without success late Thursday afternoon to obtain a haircut in the basement barbershop at the Hotel Muehlebach—Kansas City's largest hotel.

CORE Meeting

The Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) is holding its national convention in Kansas City, and most of the delegates are staying at the Muehlebach—which, except for its barbershop, has been integrated.

When the boy was turned away—on the ground that the shop was booked up—a score of polite but persistent members of CORE immediately staged a short demonstration and sit-in at the barbershop and the hotel lobby.

But the Young boy walked into the shop when it reopened at 8 a.m. Friday and got his haircut—$2—from barber Lloyd Soper.

LAWRENCE A. HILL NAMED DIRECTOR OF ALUMNI FUND AT HOWARD UNIV.

Washington, D. C.—Howard University officials this week announced the appointment of Lawrence A. Hill to the newly created position of director of the alumni fund in the University's recently reorganized Alumni Affairs Office.

In his new post Mr. Hill will conduct a continuous program of fund appeals with the alumni of the University. He will work under the supervision of Noble F. Payton who joined the University staff July 1 as director of alumni affairs.

CORE Will Picket Both Political Conventions

Kansas City, Mo.—The Congress of Racial Equality, (CORE) will stage demonstrations at both national political conventions and will attempt to unseat the Mississippi delegation to the Democratic convention, the head of CORE said Wednesday.

James Farmer, national director of the civil rights organization, outlined CORE's summer program in advance of the group's annual national convention that opens here today:

—Crash voter registration drives in Mississippi, Louisiana and north

Florida, and a stepping up of CORE community centers in Mississippi.

—Rent strikes in Chicago and organizations of unemployed work squads. These squads will clean up vacant lots, then present the bill at city hall to prove there "is work to be done and that here are jobs for the unemployed."

—CORE will pay half the expense of transporting 68 Mississippians—mostly Negroes—to the Democratic convention to challenge the seating of the delegation.

Make A Picnic Check-List

WHO HASN'T been on a picnic where the pop stayed in its case all the way home because everybody forgot the bottle opener? Avoid mishaps like this by following a simple little "check-list" when you pack your picnic basket. Choose a picnic site with fireplaces, pack some interesting food that everybody can help to cook... then check your basket against this list. You may even want to clip it out and stick it to the lid of your basket.

PICNIC ESSENTIALS

Here's a hint from the makers of Sylvania cellophane: save your cellophane bread wraps and vegetable bags. They'll come in handy when it comes to wrapping sandwiches, buns, butter, salad greens, pastry... anything that needs special moisture-protection in your picnic basket.

Philomathean Debs and Escorts Will Remember Graduation Ball and Banquet at Ft. Des Moines

Poise, elegance and preparation were beautifully displayed June 6 in the Grand Ballroom of the Ft. Des Moines hotel. The lovely evening began with a banquet honoring the three graduating Philomathean Debs, Karen Heath, Judy King, and Marsha Fowler. Dorothy May, club president, presented a tribute to the honorees, followed by introduction of the speaker, Walter H. Thompson, by club supervisor, Mrs. Lee Gurtha Hughes.

Parents

After the banquet the Philomathean Debs returned to their rooms to change into their beautiful formal evening gowns of white brocade satin, white satin slippers and red wrist corsages.

Attending the banquet were parents of Philo Debs and escorts, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Grant, Mrs. Betty Townsend, Arthur Duke, Maxine Baker, Mrs. Alberta Gray, Mrs. Edward Holland, Jerry Bolden, Ernie Shiver, Al Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Durdon, and Mr. and Mrs. David Mash. Judge and Mrs. Luther T. Glanton, Jr., were special guests.

Queen

At 9 p.m. Mr. Wright, master of ceremonies, introduced the 12 lovely Philo Debs and their escorts as they paraded in the Grand March to the stage. Miss Heath was crowned Miss Philo Deb of 1964 by last year's queen, Donetta Claybourne. Valerie V. Hughes, 7, carried the queen's crown.

Awards

After the crowning ceremonies awards were given the three seniors by Mrs. Hughes. The Queen received a partial scholarship toward her nurse's training beginning in September; Miss Fowler and Miss King were awarded for their performances as club reporter and treasurer. Then the Queen and Debs were escorted off the stage by their escorts onto the dance floor as they officially started the ball by waltzing to the theme song of the ball, "Stairways to the Stars", sung by Rosemarie Galters and Rudy Green.

Mrs. Hughes wore a white satin gown with royal blue overskirt, royal slippers and corsage. The Debs wore black dinner trousers, black and white striped seersucker dinner jackets with white boutonnieres.

Hostesses

Hostesses were Mesdames Minette Copeland, Hazel Grant and Miss Maxine Baker. Debs' gowns were made by Mesdames Copeland and Lucy Tunley. Miss Heath made her own gown. Table decorations were by Mesdames Ella Tillson, and Ell-nora Tolson; flowers by Mrs. Gwen Semple and program decorations by Mrs. Grant and Miss Baker. Music was by Rudy Green and band. Following the ball the Philo Debs attended a slumber party given by Rennie Semple and Kathy Williams.

Next project of the club is a pre-July 4th dance to be held Friday, July 3 at Brotherhood Center, 13th and Center street and a play to be held in September.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Unfinished Business

It happens all the time. Just when it's beginning to look as if Science has all the answers, a real toughie of a question comes along. Then Science not only doesn't have a ready answer but is lucky if it can find one in the back of the book.

A decade ago medical science seemed to have tuberculosis on the skids. With a new arsenal of effective drugs and some improved disease-detecting methods on hand, it looked like a quick victory. But then something happened, and the enemy began rallying impressively. To find out why, a Task Force of top medical and health experts was appointed in Washington.

Reasons

The other day they presented their report. If they didn't have a final answer to the problem, they did come up with a thorough analysis and a detailed program. Noting that TB was proving "more stubborn than was anticipated a decade ago," they listed some reasons.

These included the dormant, sneaky nature of TB infection; the high rate of relapse; the ease of germ transmission to regular contacts; the difficulty of tracking down all persons who have been exposed to someone with the active disease. And a few other problems peculiar to tuberculosis.

Situation

Does the Task Force consider the situation hopeless? Not a bit. It recommends an initial ten-year program, calculated to cut the TB rate from more than 53,000 a year (its present figure) to 20,000. Which wouldn't be a bad beginning. Included in the recommendations are stepped-up case finding, increased patient care, long-range follow-up of recovered patients, expanded education and research, improved record-keeping, and more federal aid to such services.

All of which might well be effective. Meanwhile, your Christmas Seal Association suggests that nobody go around thinking about TB exclusively in the past tense. There are still some tough battles to be fought.

We are back fresh and well rested after a four day vacation on the farm of our mother, Mrs. Pauline Watson, in Eolia, Mo. We made the trip by car, leaving here before daybreak last Thursday and leaving about the same time from Missouri Monday, so as to miss the heavy July 4 weekend traffic both ways.

Unlike Iowa, where fireworks are under state law, our southern border state is wide open, allowing unlimited use of all kinds of fireworks, leaving the discretion of use and supervision to parents and adults. To say the least our four children, supervised by their father and uncle, Donald Watson, had an enjoyable time while the adult members of the household looked on in wonder at the display.

When Mrs. Cecile Cooper of Davenport, Ia., sent the news in for this week she sent along the following note which reads: "I'm still having trouble getting news to me. The Garrett family was asked (about news of their daughter's wedding) and they suggested sending the news clipping from the Times.

"I'm sending the sheet; this shows we seem to be making a little progress in the place with news and pictures. In the past as you know our pictures and news of this sort got on a separate sheet. Those of us working in civil rights think this is a step forward."

For the past few weeks we have run into a space problem, which meant that several stories each week have had to be held over for the following week. We regret this and any dismay it may cause to our readers, but it is entirely unavoidable. Please, continue to call or send in your news. We always need it. Besides your readers and relatives and friends like to read about it.

NO HALF PLANK ON CIVIL RIGHT WILL SUIT

The platform committee of the Republican National convention is in session this week. Representatives of various groups and movements are appearing seeking the inclusion of their ideas and doctrines in the platform.

The majority of the members of this committee are Goldwater supporters. This will be true of all committees as the senator has a majority of the delegates pledged to him so far.

The committee has a most difficult task trying to square Senator Goldwater's utterances and beliefs with the fundamental principles of the Republican party and its support of some ideas enacted by the Democrats in recent years. These differences range over a wide field, including civil right which no doubt will be the most difficult to handle.

Apparently there is a movement on foot to have the plank on Civil Rights merely state that the new measure is the law of the land and should be enforced. Asked by a reporter in San Francisco Monday if such a plank would satisfy the NAACP, Roy Wilkins, said it would not. Only one calling for an outright endorsement of the measure would be satisfactory.

Admittedly, all legislation is the result of some compromise. This will be true of any plank in the platform where there is much disagreement. On the other hand, much of the difficulty in enforcing laws involving the rights of Negroes has been caused by failure to meet the issue promptly and squarely at once or postponing a firm position until eruptions have occurred as was the case in Little Rock, Alabama and Mississippi.

Only by facing the issue will the Republican platform encourage Negroes and liberal whites to support the ticket. And its candidate must do likewise.

DES MOINES OFFERS

MUCH ENTERTAINMENT

It is often said by some people that there is no place to go in Des Moines—nothing to do. As we look around town, we are inclined to think this is simply an excuse to withhold support from such entertainment as does come and a sneaking fear that this prevents in many instances.

Last week, Zoe Mitchell of Chicago, a former Des Moines girl, brought to the Fort Des Moines Hotel a very creditable style show. The crowd was miserable. People knew about it but lamented one excuse after another why they passed up this event with all the classy surroundings befitting a style show and which offered a fine evening of entertainment.

In May, the closed circuit TV spectacular commemorating the 10th anniversary of the Supreme Court school decision sponsored by the NAACP was poorly attended here. Conspicuously absent were many leading citizens who always show up at free dances and parties. Here again a fine evening of entertainment went without the wholehearted support of the group for whose benefit in particular it was shown.

Theatres in town show the best pictures daily. KRNT Theatre offers many good shows. They are comfortable and there is no segregation but Negroes attend them, particularly the best ones, very poorly.

The good restaurants and hotels are open to Negroes fully where for years they have clamored to go. Yet one seldom sees a local business man in them for lunch or their families out for dinner.

There is the beautiful art center, Riverview Park in season, the golf courses, parks and picnic grounds in the parks (all free). In season, the Iowa State Fair offers a broad area of entertainment and amusement which the average person will be surprised after a visit to this annual event. And it is not for farmers only.

Of course, the old saying the grass is always greener in the other pasture applies here. And yet as one hears the remark "There is no place to go in Des Moines" he is bound to conclude that such people simply use this as an excuse to stay in their own little back yards.

We were talking with a fellow about Floyd Patterson, the ex-heavyweight champ. The fellow had a novel theory about Patterson and cited a friend of his who he said had about the same mental makeup as Patterson.

It seems this guy had all the requirements of a great athlete, magnificent physique, lightning reflexes, great stamina, a keen competitive spirit that wouldn't let the man quit and an unerring instinct for doing the right thing.

Our Hero

The fellow played football and basketball, toyed with boxing and wrestling and could have become a top notch in either of the sports.

But our hero just couldn't bring himself to get into the spirit of these contests. In football when his opponents were trying to kill him, this guy was smiling, patting opposing players on the back and yet playing a great game.

He boxed and when he had his opponent on the verge of a knockout, stepped back and let the fellow off the hook. Said later he couldn't bear to hurt the loser. A couple of times in amateur boxing bouts he lost because he couldn't make himself do his best. One time the opponent had his kid brother at the ringside and our great athlete couldn't make the big brother look bad. The other time it was the girl friend of a victim who saved her fiancé because, "Well, didn't want her to see him get beat."

Sentimental

Now, mind you the man didn't try to lose; it was just that something kept him from doing his best when he knew his opponent had a sentimental reason to want a win. When he played tennis or pool he felt sorry for his opponents if the latter got a service or bad breaks and promptly let down. More than likely losing because he couldn't take advantage of the breaks.

Even in a quarrel he sometimes stopped because he didn't want to say the things that had to be said because they would hurt.

And yet the man had no physical body or anything and battle to the believed right he would face anyone in his makeup. For a cause he last ditch. When told a time or two that two dangerous things were looking for him the guy went looking for them unarmed. Found them, too, but no blood was spilled because the thugs didn't know what to say or do with a fellow like that.

So concluded my friend, "There you have another Floyd Patterson. Great sport and fine athlete but ones lost

So many lives, this war has cost
And when the fighting was over at last

Our men could come home, forget the past

Glad to be home, they laughed and cried

For many had friends, who in battle had died

Many came from places unknown

Bearing scars of battle, and hard-

And just as time changes girls and

Our men died, just like broken

But, not in vain, for, as time marches on, into each year

There will always be, someone who cared, someone dear.

Here's proof that a camera is an exciting gift for a youngster.

YOUNGSTERS SHOULD HAVE THEIR OWN CAMERAS

Maybe the younger members of the family have been taking an occasional turn at using the family camera, but that's no substitute for brother or sister with his or her own camera.

At what age should a child be given his first camera? It all depends on the child. With most of them, eight is about the right age.
To an eight-year-old, a camera is an exciting gift, one that ushers in a whole new world of experience and pleasure. Start him off with one of the inexpensive modern day versions of the old familiar box camera. It's easy on your budget, easy for him to use.

He'll find countless subjects that he'll want to snap—pets, playmates, parents, and things you'd never think about. And that brings us to point which we feel is very important. Remember that an eight-year-old's idea of good picture subject material isn't necessarily the same as that of an adult. So, don't be surprised if Junior turns up pleased as punch with pictures that you'd never take.

And while we're giving advice, remember that to the average youngster a camera is just a toy.
Try to think of it that way yourself and don't make him afraid of using it. You shouldn't expect much more of him in handling a $5 camera than if it were a toy fire truck at the same price. He'll have a lot more fun and be much more inclined to use the camera if you keep your supervision to a minimum.
