Mrs. Glanton, Jas. Jackson Elected to Ia. House

Negro Vote Big Factor Gov. Hughes Leads Iowa Democratic Ballot Sweep

D'M. Atty. Waterloo Teacher 1st Negroes; Gil Randle Defeated

Mrs. Willie S. Glanton, lawyer-wife of Municipal Judge Luther T. Glanton, Jr., and James Jackson, a Waterloo teacher, became the first of their race to win an elective office in Iowa. Mrs. Glanton led an 11-field Democratic sweep of state legislative candidates from Polk County with an unofficial return of 55,287. Mr. Jackson was elected from Black Hawk county to the Iowa House.

Randle Defeated

Gilbert Randle, Republican, making his second bid for the Polk County District clerk post, was defeated by incumbent Democrat Michael Doyle. Mrs. Kate Goldman, who through lobbying efforts had done so much to help the Fair Employment Practice bill through the Iowa legislature, was defeated, but she was the strongest Republican candidate from Polk County to the House.

Mrs. Glanton and her husband, who first began in Iowa as the only Negro husband-wife lawyer team may now be known possibly as the state's only political team—he as a judge, she as a legislator. Both are active in civil rights, civic and fraternal affairs of the city and state. Several years ago both made a four-month tour of Africa on behalf of the U.S. State Department. Since both, particularly Mrs. Glanton, have been in demand for speaking engagements. They have a son, Luther, III. They reside at 818 15th street.

Other Winners

Mrs. Glanton and Bernard J. O'Malley, son of Democratic State Senator George O'Malley, appeared to be the top House of Representatives vote-getters with clothier William Reichardt showing unexpected strength.

The two incumbent House members, Democrats Howard C. Reppert, Jr., and William E. Denman, will join George O'Malley in the Senate in January. Reppert defeated G.O.P. lawyer Robert E. Dreher by a 2 to 1 margin. Denman's margin over lawyer Robert E. Mannheimer also was large.

Exceeding their wildest hopes and expectations interim President Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Senator Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota drowned the Republican candidates, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Sen. William Miller of New York in a sea of votes that exceeded the record popular 61 per cent balloting set in 1932 by the late Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Rejection

President Johnson's landslide election, his first on his own, was regarded as mandate for him as well as a overwhelming rejection of Goldwater and his conservatives who seized power of the Republican party over the liberals at the convention in San Francisco last July.

Negro Vote

A major factor in the landslide victory for Johnson and Humphrey was the Negro vote, which in unofficial returns was estimated as 90 per cent in heavily Negro populated areas. Among those areas where Negro vote was a definite factor were California, District of Columbia, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan and Texas. These states had a total Negro registration of from 250,000 to 500,000 each.

The all-important white 'backlash' did not materialized, excepting in five southern states, that Goldwater carried.

Tidal Wave

It was a giant tidal wave of votes for President Johnson—he swept the east, the industrial midwest, the farm states, the west and even the south with the exception of five southern states—Alabama, South Carolina, Georgia, Louisiana and Mississippi. Even in his home state, Arizona, Goldwater was clinging to a small state. In the electoral vote, President Johnson amassed 496 to Goldwater's 47. Only Arizona's five remained undecided Wednesday morning.

Gov. Romney

Several liberal Republicans survived the landslide, namely Gov. William Romney who was re-elected in Michigan and Sen. Robert Taft who was leading in Ohio and Sen. Hugh Scott who was leading in Pennsylvania. However, veteran Sen. Kenneth B. Keating of New York, although he polled over 2,500,000 votes, was swept away in the Democratic tide behind his victorious opponent Robert Kennedy, younger brother of the late President John F. Kennedy.

Calif. Housing Bias Laws Erased

San Francisco, Calif.—California voters approved Tuesday an initiative measure wiping out state and local laws against racial discrimination in housing.

Proposition 14, which will nullify anti-discrimination housing statutes and assure property owners absolute discretion to refuse to sell or rent to any person for any reason, held a steady margin of 3-2.

Returns from 6,972 of the state's 31,498 precincts showed 734,014 yes votes to 440,174 no.

The victory for Proposition 14, not only nullifying the housing law but forbidding future legislation against racial discrimination in housing, was achieved over the opposition of political leaders, church groups and labor unions.

Gov. Harold E. Hughes proved himself to be the vote-gettingest governor in 30 years by swamping his Republican opponent, former State Atty. Gen. Evan Hultman by an unofficial vote margin of over 400,000.

In doing so Gov. Hughes led a resounding Democratic state victory sweep of the next six top state offices and six of seven U.S. congressional seats. Unofficial returns posted Hughes at nearly 700,000 votes, carrying the state ahead of Democratic presidential candidate.

Incumbent Neal Smith, Democratic congressman from the fifth district was the second largest vote getter winning by some 88,296 over his opponent Don Gibson who polled 36,175. It was Smith's third re-election to Congress.

Gross Survives

Republican veteran Congressman H. R. Gross, 65, of Waterloo, seemed to be the only congressional survivor from Iowa. Another veteran GOP congressman Ben Jensen was defeated, as well as Republicans John Kyl, James Bromwell. Both Gross and Jensen had been strong Goldwater supporters.

Other Winners

The election gave Governor Hughes a completely Democratic state team of mostly young Democrats.

They are: State Senator Robert Fulton, 35, of Waterloo, who was elected lieutenant governor; Gary Cameron, 31, of Fairfield, the secretary of state-elect; Lorne Worthington, 26, who defeated Akers for state auditor; Paul Franzenburg, 48, of Conrad, the new state treasurer;

SMITH

Kenneth Owen, 46, of Centerville, who was named secretary of agriculture, and Lawrence Scallie, 31, of Carlisle, the attorney general-elect.

Fire Destroys

Miss. Negro Church

Brandon, Miss.—A rural Rankin County Negro church was discovered burned to the ground Sunday. It was the second church burning of the weekend in Mississippi.

The Rev. J. L. Baker of Wiggins said he discovered his St. James Methodist Church was burned when he arrived for Sunday services.

He said only about 35 persons belong to the small church, about eight miles east of Brandon. "Nothing has gone across this pulpit but gospel," Baker said.

A predawn fire Saturday destroyed the Antioch Baptist Negro Church near Ripley, hours after it had been used by civil rights workers as a polling place in a mock election staged by the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party.

Alabama NAACP Hold First Meeting in Eight Years

Birmingham, Ala.—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, banned from Alabama for eight years, Saturday held its first meeting since regaining legal status and pleaded with Negroes not to give an inch in their fight for civil rights.

N. A. A. C. P. executive director Roy Wilkins offered the full resources of the organization for a peaceful promotion of the Negro cause in Alabama.

At the same time, he urged Negroes here to conduct themselves properly, so that "no deep scars are left when the civil rights battle is over and won."

Final Papers

Final papers qualifying the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to resume operations in the State of Alabama were accepted and processed Oct. 16 by state officials, marking the end of an eight-year ban in that state against the nation's leading civil rights organization.

In a letter to Fred D. Gray, NAACP attorney in Montgomery, Mrs. Agnes Baggett, Alabama Secretary of State, said that the NAACP was admitted to operate in the state as of Oct. 9. A similar letter from the Alabama Department of Revenue qualified the NAACP "as a regular foreign corporation in this state."

14 Times

Alabama officials acted as the result of a unanimous decision by the U.S. Supreme Court in June. The Court held that Alabama had no constitutional basis for outlawing the NAACP. An injunction banning NAACP activity had been issued by a state court on June 1, 1956, on the charge that the NAACP had failed to register as an out-of-state corporation doing "business" in Alabama.

During the eight-year period since the ban was originally imposed, the case of NAACP vs Alabama has been before federal and state courts 14 times including four appearances before the U.S. Supreme Court.

PRENTICE-HALL PUBLISHES BIOGRAPHY OF DR. KING

"An honest portrait" is what Virginia Kirkus calls Martin Luther King: The Peaceful Warrior, which Prentice-Hall will publish today. Written by Ed Clayton, noted Negro newspaperman and editor, it is Dr. King's official biography for children, and is illustrated with full-page pictures by David Hodges.

Beginning with Dr. King's childhood, this book describes the hardships of second-class citizenship in the ghettos of the South. It tells how Dr. King was inspired by the great Indian leader Mahatma Gandhi to start his own "peaceful revolution" and how nonviolence became a permanent part of the civil rights movement. The book follows King and the Negro movement through the historic March on Washington in terms that a child can easily grasp.

Who should buy an automatic clothes dryer?

If you answer yes to all of these questions...

You should!

Want to save work? A dryer saves lifting over two tons of wet clothes per year for the average family.

Want to save time? As much as 20 work days a year? 4 minutes in an automatic dryer is like 60 on the clothes line!

Want your clothes to last longer? With a dryer, you can select the right heat for the fabric. And a dryer's tumbling action (unlike whipping wind and brittle ice) is extra gentle on your clothes.

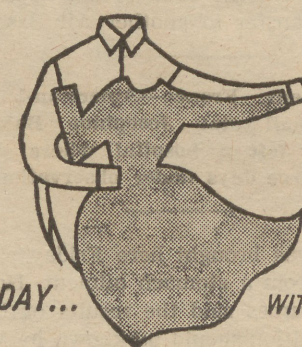

Want to dry any time? An automatic dryer does! You don't have to wait for the "right" weather.

Want cleaner clothes? With an automatic dryer, your clothes aren't soiled by children's hands, pets or street dust.

Want easier ironing? Clothes are softer, wrinkles fewer with a dryer. Beats drip-drying for crease-resistant clothes, too.

Want to keep colors colorful? Strong rays of sunlight quickly fade bright colors; a dryer never will.

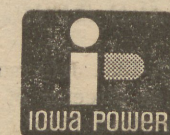

Want fluffy things fluffier? Towels come out of an automatic dryer 50% fluffier—all your washables dry soft and fresh-smelling.

The nation voted and waited out the long daylight hours Tuesday and then sat ringside by electronics television as the national election count poured in. Since this is written on election day but before the polls closed, we have no revelatory information to impart. Our news stories on the front page naturally will carry the news as we wait up until the last possible moment for major stories before going to press.

When we voted early Monday morning in Precinct 32 we noted an unusually long line of voters, a sight we have not seen since voting in that precinct over a half dozen years. In addition we watched the ticker tape announcement across the bottom of our TV screen that reported heavy voting in most southern states and practically at every polling place in the nation. Naturally, that added to the excitement and suspense.

Now that the campaign is over and by the time you read this we will know the choice of the majority of Americans, then it will be time for us again as citizens, to do our part to keep America free, to keep her strong and to preserve her integrity. No one man, leader or follower, can do this. We all must join in and share the load. It is up to us, each of us to be law-abiding, conscientious citizens, the best we can be—no matter who is at the head of the government. We must respect the office even though we should not respect the man.

Mrs. Bernice Richmond, 1232 13th street, does not failing sight deter her interest in and activities for children. Last Trick or Treat night she baked some 300 cookies, made a witch out of popped popcorn, and had her home decorated to the delight of young witches, hobgoblins and other "characters" who roamed the neighbors that evening. Later she traveled by transit bus across town to the east side to give the popcorn witch to a friend with several children.

Most of us aren't affected yet by the Iowa Power and Light Company strike. However, for those who are moving into new homes and as yet had not had the gas main hooked up, they felt the acute situation, especially when they are anxious to move in. One Des Moines family affected thus is the Harry Lowery Jr., family of 1545 DeWolf street, who are building a new home in the southeast part of the city.

For those paents who attended the recent Washington Irving P.T.A., it was refreshing to note the efficient manner in which the young students conducted a sample meeting of the student council. It was also good to see that the council was represented by the various races at the school. This indeed was democracy at work, under the supervision of adults, of course, but still democracy.

CIVIL RIGHTS LAW

HELPFUL TO THE SOUTH

The Sugar Bowl in New Orleans has not played football teams with Negro players on their roster because the state law banned it. And in line with this law, hotels refused to accommodate Negroes thus making living conditions bad for teams which include them.

As a result, the Sugar Bowl games have not included the top teams in many instances.

Recently, the management announced that this discriminatory practice has been abandoned due, in part, to the federal civil rights laws. The management expressed full approval of the change because it enables the bowl to compete for the best teams in the country and add revenue because of better attendance.

Here is an instance where the civil rights law is a distinct advantage to the South; and an instance where the dollar very often outweighs racial prejudice.

Some opponents of laws against discrimination say constantly that you can't legislate prejudice out of the hearts of people. True. But you can legislate against and prevent acts that are brought on by race prejudice.

The Sugar Bowl example is an example point.

REPUBLICAN DEFEAT
AS WAS EXPECTED

Last week the Bystander announced that it would not support Senator Goldwater for President. In spite of the fact that its editorial policy had favored the Republican party, it opposed Goldwater from the beginning because his views on human rights looked backward, were clearly wrong on the United Nations, Social Security and farm legislation.

Prior to 1932, the Republican party had been the party which appealed to and for the Negro. Historically, it had championed his cause. On the other hand, the Democrat party, with its hard core in the South, was the anti-Negro party. Few Negroes voted for or approved it.

The advent of Franklin Roosevelt and the depression augmented by strong Democrat machines in large northern cities to which thousands of Negroes moved, changed the image and the control of the Democrat party in the executive branch of the government at last.

The great success of the Democrat party brought two classes of Republicans to the front; those opposed to the social legislation and fiscal policies of the Democrats and those who would dump the Negro in return for the support of southern states and groups which opposed his advance up the economic and civil ladder.

Some views held by Goldwater are sound. This captured some well meaning Republicans. But by and large Goldwater became the rallying forces for the hate group in the country. His speech in South Carolina again repudiating the 1964 civil rights law and his constant harping about lawlessness in the streets (any decent person opposes it) and nothing said about the bombing of homes and churches of Negroes by night in the South, riots of students in New Hampshire and California or the illegal interference which killed people by the National Farmers Organization, made one know that he was committed to those who wish to dump Negroes out of the Republican party.

The Bystander predicted that a majority of the American people would not support Senator Goldwater. True, he gained on President Johnson during the closing weeks of the campaign. And a strong Republican candidate might have beaten Johnson. But America, as the leading nation in the world, cannot talk out of both sides of its mouth on the race question and must square its acts with its written words.

Many capable Republicans were dragged down to defeat by Goldwater.

The Republican party faces a long hard road back to power. It can be done, if the moderate members lose no time in moving in and taking charge of the affairs of the party. Senator Goldwater and his followers have been repudiated by a great majority of the votes.

Guess just about everyone who follows football knows what happened at Iowa City last weekend. If those guys could play with a football with even one hand they would be undefeated right now. There isn't much to say about the Ohio State game that hasn't already been said. But do you know we are still expecting those Hawks to surprise someone yet. Maybe Minnesota or Michigan. The fellows have a better team than they were supposed to have and one certainly can't blame the coach for fumbles.

What makes a team fumble? Over anxiety, to eager to get away before catching the ball. Holding the thing loosely so it will slip or be jarred loose by an arm tackle. Trying to handle a shift the ball while trying to run. All these things cause fumbles. And then sometimes a fellow just gets knocked loose from the ball by a terrific tackle.

Come Back

As one watched Iowa battle clear up to the end, only to lose, one can't help but wonder if the team is going to come back next week or just give up. Been a long time since Iowa beat Minnesota up there. This could be one of those years.

Cyclones

Iowa State had a tough one at Army. With just any kind of break the Cyclones could have won. As it is we think they made the boys out East sit up and look.

Drake did win their game and you never saw a happier bunch of fellows. Maybe the Bulldogs have turned the corner on the road to better days.

High Schools

Here among the high schools East did Tech in for a share of the city high school title. We heard a fellow say that he thought the reason Roosevelt was always tough in the city series was because that is the Rider's season. Their schedule is arranged with the city series in mind so they are always ready for it. If the guy is right there ought to be some wholesale schedule revisions around the city.

Injuries

But at least three teams might have had a better season but for injuries. Injuries laid East low after a fine start. Lincoln had some potential stars who never did start and Dowling lost a couple of good men including a quarterback at the very start of the season.

We see where some guys say football teams ought to spend at least a week in calisthenics before even putting on a uniform. Then another week of light drills before engaging in any heavy work. We agree 100 per cent.

Conditioning

Conditioning is the main key to reducing football injuries and nothing else will do it. Teams in first class condition rarely have long injury lists. We often thought some coaches were a bit too eager to start rough scrimmage, before the boys are ready.

Cleveland's Brown
Passes 10,000 Yard
In Rushing Total

Pittsburgh, Penn.—Jimmy Brown, famed fullback with the Cleveland Browns pro-team, became the first man to surpass the 10,000 mark in rushing as Cleveland beat the Steelers, 30-17 Sunday in a National Football League game.

The 28-year-old fullback reached the mark in the second quarter and made 149 yards in 23 carries for the day. A crowd of 49,568, the second largest in Steeler history, saw Cleveland's eastern division leaders bring their season mark to 6-1-1 and gain revenge for a 23-7 loss to the Steelers three weeks ago.

Cassius Clay Names
9th Round for Liston
Kayo in Rematch

Miami—When they let Cassius Clay out of his cage in Boston, Nov. 16, the champ without a crown predicts "Sonny Liston will be all mine in nine."

"I'm going to beat Liston as bad as President Johnson is going to beat Barry Goldwater," said Clay, taking advantage of a crowded press conference Tuesday to do a little political prognosticating.

Clay, wearing his silver buckled heavyweight champion's belt around torn green trousers and a striped sport shirt, said "Sonny Liston will be mine in one minute and so many seconds of the ninth round."

The young Louisville Lip, who has had a few predictions come true in the past, says he will predict the exact second "the old grizzly bear" will fall when he goes to Boston Oct. 26 to complete training for the bout being billed as a title fight by Boston promoters.

"I'm giving him a two-round bonus because he's going to be in better shape this time," Clay said.

Bob Gibson Tops
Hickok Vote

New York, N. Y.—Bob Gibson of the St. Louis Cardinals and Mel Stottlemyre of the New York Yankees, pitchers who were instrumental in taking their teams into the World Series, ran 1-2 in the voting for the Hickok Professional Athlete Award for September.

Gibson qualified as the monthly winner by a one-point margin in voting by sports writers and broadcasters. He received 28 first-place votes and 99 points on a 3-2-1 point basis. Stottlemyre got 26 firsts and 98 points. Third was quarterback Johnny Unitas of Baltimore Colts with 71 points.

The monthly winners are eligible for Hickok's Pro Athlete of the Year Award, a diamond-studded, gold-buckled belt.

Lightweight Division

In the lightweight division this past weekend, the South Rams tied the East Giants 6-6, and the West 49ers whipped the North Colts 40-7 for the third place position. In heavyweight competition, the North Cardinals defeated the West Packers 13-7, while the East Lions trounced the South Bears 20-7.

The playoff championship game in the heavyweight division will be this Sunday afternoon at 1:30 p.m. between the North Cardinals and the East Lions.

The game will be played at Firestone Field north of Firestone field. The public is invited free of charge.

Alabama County
Elects 4 Negroes

Tuskegee, Alabama—Four Negroes were elected to county offices in Macon County in an historic racial break-through Tuesday night, but three other Negroes running as independent were defeated.

Macon, the only county in Alabama with a Negro voting majority, was one of the few in Alabama where Republican Senator Barry Goldwater trailed in the presidential election.

Democratic nominees for presidential electors as well as for county office won without exception, and the Negroes running as independents lost to white opponents who went on the ballot as the Democratic candidates.

Three of the victorious Negroes were elected without opposition; the fourth ran ahead of an independent opponent.
