U.S. High Court Boosts Rights Act

19 Freed, Walk Out Smiling in Mississippi

Stunned, Justice Dept.
Vows Case Will Go to Federal Grand Jury

By Cecil Hamilton
National Affairs Editor, ANPI
Meridian, Miss.—Last Thursday, Dec. 10, 19 of the 21 white men arrested a week earlier by FBI agents in connection with the murder last summer of three civil rights workers in that state were freed by a U. S. Commissioner, all charges against them dropped and their bail bonds rescinded. All 19, including the sheriff Laurence Rainey and deputy sheriff Cecil Trice of Neshoba County, walked out free, and smiling.

To Federal Grand Jury
Although no direct comment on the release of the Mississippi group was forthcoming from the White House, continued federal government action in the case was announced immediately. The Department of Justice said it would seek indictment of the men by a federal grand jury as soon as possible. This move, however, even if successful would result only in the men facing trial on charges of conspiracy and or concealing knowledge of a crime, both punishable with jail sentences and fines. Prosecution of a murder charge, a capital crime, out of which arose the investigation of the Mississippi development, called for an economic boycott of Mississippi products as a demonstration of the nation's "contempt for this dastardly situation," unless ways can be found to bring "justice for all men in that state."

Judge No Lawyer
The hearing which ended with the release of the 19 men was conducted by Judge W. Preston Battle. The hearing was conducted by Judge W. Preston Battle. The hearing was conducted by Judge W. Preston Battle.

The Spirit of Christmas

Have you ever wondered exactly what someone means when they express the wish that "the spirit of Christmas reach into every heart?"

One thing is for sure. The spirit of Christmas cannot be summed up in a single word. It encompasses joy, peace, faith, hope, and gratitude as a mere beginning.

Christians, of course, rejoice in the true meaning of Christmas. It is the birthday of the Saviour—an anniversary of the day on which the Christ Child appeared on earth to show mankind the route to eternal salvation.

We know that Christmas is, essentially, a time of peace. The coming of Christmas has never put an end to a major war or even a minor skirmish, but almost invariably it does cause men to pause, to think and, more often than not, to pray for peace. If the spirit of Christmas abounded all year long, there would be no wars.

We know that Christmas is a time of faith. It is a time when lost strength and courage may be renewed in the quiet stillness of a church, in the somber darkness of a solitary room, even in the hustle and bustle of the crowd.

Hope springs eternally from the Christmas message and in the great example of the life and death of Christ, there is for all men the promise of a greater and a better tomorrow.

There is no more significant time for all of us to count our blessings and, at Christmas, they seem to be more abundant than ever.

Hubert Humphrey Named U.S. Rights Co-ordinator; May Be Most Powerful V.P.

Washington, D. C. — President Johnson has named Vice President-elect Hubert H. Humphrey co-ordinator of the Administration's multiple civil rights activities.

The move, which drew praise from civil rights leaders, is significant in many respects. First, it is certain to invest the office of the Vice President with greater powers than at any time in the nation's history. Second, it is a clear indication that the President intends to have his civil rights program administered by a public official with a long record of energy and dedication in the cause for equal opportunities.

Co-Ordinate

Third, the move will coordinate the activities of many federal commissions now engaged in civil rights programs. These include the rights division of the Justice Department, the Civil Rights Commission, the President's Committee on Equal Opportunity in Housing, the new Community Relations Service, and the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity.

In addition to this group, Humphrey will administer the forthcoming Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, the Federal FEPC which will be established next summer and which is to have jurisdiction over all businesses in the nation having more than 100 employees.

Rights Leaders

Rights leaders have reacted favorably to Humphrey's appointment, made at the National Urban League's Community Action Assembly in Washington, D. C.

Purpose

More than 350 rights leaders heard Johnson announce Humphrey's new role at the League conference, which mapped ways of wiping out poverty in Negro communities across the nation.

The president received a standing ovation when he entered, and his speech was interrupted by applause repeatedly. "Lincoln was one of my favorite presidents," Johnson declared. "He signed the Emancipation Proclamation. (It) was a proclamation and it was not a fact. It shall be my purpose and it is my duty to make it a fact."

Ready Access

He said he planned nothing less than full assimilation of more than 20,000,000 Negroes into American life.

The president told his audience that he would not be satisfied until every Negro "has the right, unquestioned and unrestrained, to go in and cast his ballot in every precinct in the country."

Seek Food for Holiday Unemployed

Food donations are needed for the unemployed for Christmas. Organized labor is sponsoring this project through its Community Service Committee.

Any non-perishable goods, staples and canned goods can be used. In order to make this project successful all donations should be in by Saturday, Dec. 19.

Central Headquarters will be at Plumbers and Steamfitters Hall, 124 Washington. Drop-offs may also be made at the I.B.E.W. No. 347 Union Hall, 850 18th Street.

MONEY DONATIONS WILL ALSO BE ACCEPTED. Make check payable to: Christmas Baskets, P.C.L.C. and Mail to: Polk County Labor Council, AFL-CIO, 1002 Paramount Bldg., Des Moines, Iowa.

Anthony Colbert Gets Personal Letter From Governor Hughes

Anthony Colbert, 16, who saved another youth from possible electrocution, received a personal letter from Governor Harold E. Hughes last week.

The letter read: "I want to commend you for your quick thinking and brave action at Veterans auditorium . . . disengaging Mike Bolden from an electrically charged food server."

"You may well have saved his life and without your help under most dangerous circumstances he certainly would have been more seriously injured."

Young Colbert and Bolden were helping serve at the Democratic victory banquet on Dec. 5 when young Bolden shoes became wet from having stepped in water. When he grabbed the handle of a faulty food server he was "frozen" to it. Almost at the same moment young Colbert saw what happened, despite danger himself, knocked young Bolden loose with his body.

Anthony is a junior at East high and works at most of the banquets given at Veterans auditorium. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Propps, 1355 E. 14th street.

$30,000 Needed by Polk TB Association

Dr. M. E. Alberts, president of the Polk County Tuberculosis and Health Association reported the 58th Annual Christmas Seal Campaign, is still $30,000 short.

To date, 21,800 residents of Polk County have answered their Christmas Seal letter and the amount raised totals $45,000 of the needed goal of $75,000.

"I'm confident that the people of Polk County wish the services of the Christmas Seal X-Ray Mobile Unit continued and will send their voluntary contribution very soon," he said.

NEWS In A Nutshell

New York—The City Council here unanimously passed a bill last week to change the name of Dewey Square, in Manhattan to A. Philip Randolph Square, in tribute to the veteran Negro pioneer labor leader.

Atlanta, Ga.—Willie Buchanan and Jesse Ellis were late for work Friday morning, so they didn't wait around for accolades after they rescued four elderly white women from a burning house.

Tucson, Ariz.—John Netherland Heiskell, 92-year-old editor of the Arkansas Gazette, has been named winner of the 11th annual John Peter Zenger Award. Heiskell and his paper suffered heavy financial losses when he opposed school segregation during the 1957 controversy in Little Rock, Ark.

Atlantic City, N. J.—Clay Claiborne, aide to the Republican National Committee, had his bail continued here when he pleaded not guilty to an indictment charging him with aiding and abetting violators of the election laws. Claiborne was accused of being responsible for printing almost a million and a half brochures urging citizens to write in the name of the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr., in the last presidential election.

New York—Appointment of Samuel R. Pierce, Jr., as a director of the Prudential Insurance Company, announced here this week, marked the first time a Negro has been named to the board of a major insurance company. Prudential employs some Negroes in middle-management but none in top management.

Albany, N. Y.—In a dramatic move to implement the nation's Federal Economic Opportunity Act of 1964, Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller this week established The New York State Office of Economic Opportunity and named a highly qualified Negro woman as Director, to administer its sweeping responsibilities. Ersie Poston, prominent clubwoman, social work executive and wife of prize-winning newsman, Ted Poston was appointed to direct a proposed nineteen billion dollar technical assistance, community action and special training program which will coordinate the efforts of several departments of the State Government.

New York City—The way the Rev. Wyatt Tee Walker sees it, someone is trying to even up scores with him for his militant civil rights record. That is the reason, Rev. Walker opines, that newspaper reports have been published charging him with failing to file tax returns from 1958 to 1961. Former executive assistant to the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Rev. Walker is now on a two-year leave of absence.

Public Accommodations Ruled Valid; Sutin Cases Affecting 3,000 Dismissed

Washington, D. C.—The United States Supreme Court handed down a decision Monday which struck strong hope in the hearts of America's 20 million Negroes and shored up the legal structure of the U. S. Civil Rights bill—which became law last summer.

In a unanimous opinion the nine highest justices in the land upheld the heart of the Rights Bill—the public accommodations section—and also ruled that the Act requires dismissal of charges made against civil rights sit-in demonstrators before the act was passed. More than 2,000 sit-inners are affected by Monday's mandate, from being prosecuted on criminal charges or involved in appeals cases.

Judge Clark

Justice Tom C. Clark wrote the main opinions in all three cases.

All the other justices joined him in the public accommodations decisions, but the vote on the sit-in prosecutions was 5 to 4, with a fiery dissenting opinion written by Justice Hugo L. Black.

In the first test of the controversial accommodations provision before the tribunal, the court ruled that "Congress possessed ample power" to enact the legislation under its authority to regulate interstate commerce.

The provision prohibits discrimination in such places as hotels, motels, theaters and restaurants.

"No Public Interest"

Clark's opinion declared: "Now that Congress has exercised its constitutional power in enacting the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and declared that the public policy of our country is to prohibit discrimination in public accommodations as therein defined, there is no public interest to be served in the further prosecution of the petitioners (the three Negroes)."

"And in accordance with the long-established rule of our cases they must be abated and the judgment in each is therefore vacated and the charges are ordered dismissed."

Dissenters

Justice Black, in his dissenting opinion, said that "the idea that Congress has power to accomplish such a result" as called for in Clark's opinion "has no precedent, so far as I know, in the nearly 200 years that Congress has been in existence."

"Even assuming, however, that the act was intended to let people who enter restaurants take the law into their own hands by forcibly remaining when service is refused them, this would be no basis for holding that Congress also meant to compel states to abate convictions like these for lawless conduct occurring before the act was passed."

2 Challenges

The court dealt Monday with two challenges of the public accommodations section—one from Atlanta and a second from Birmingham.

In writing the opinion in the case brought up by an Atlanta motel, Justice Clark said Congress' commerce power under the Constitution was sufficient foundation for Monday's ruling.

"Obstructions"

"How obstructions in commerce may be removed—what means are to be employed—is within the sound and exclusive discretion of the Congress," Clark declared.

"It is subject only to one caveat—that the means chosen by it (Congress) must be reasonably adapted to the end permitted by the Constitution. We can not say that its choice here was not so adapted. The Constitution requires no more."

3,000 Give Loving Farewell To M. Anderson in Chicago

By Earl Calloway

Chicago, Ill.—Chicago opened wide its heart to receive America's beloved Marian Anderson, singer who sang a concert on her farewell tour in Orchestra Hall Dec. 13 to an overwhelming audience of nearly 3,000 with Franz Rupp accompanying her at the piano.

Nurtured

The Anderson concert was a significant event for the windy city because here was an artist this city had sheltered and nurtured in the early days of her career when she needed help most. A scholarship awarded her by The National Association of Negro Musicians paved the way for greater opportunities.

Love and admiration was expressed by a red carpet, a profusion of red roses and a scroll containing signatures of friends from the Chicago area. Before the multitude stood a queen of her art whose magnificent talent has gained for her the devoted esteem of the entire world. It was obvious that her audience was here, not merely to attend a concert, but to say an emotion-packed "goodbye."

MISS ANDERSON

Honor-Laden

Honor-laden, as few artists have been in the history of music, Miss Anderson has long been a legend to millions across the world. For 40 years, she has remained at the very summit of artistic achievement and through it all she has been an example to all.

What Is Christmas Like in Bethlehem

Americans who dream of a white Christmas with Santa Claus popping down the chimney to the tune of "Jingle Bells" can thank assorted writers and poets and the northern climate. Christmas in the land of Christ's birth, however, is another matter.

What is Christmas like in Bethlehem?

manger where it lies until Jan. 6, the Feast of the Epiphany.

After Ceremony

After this ceremony, some may wander into the fields outside the town, where perhaps shepherds long ago heard the news of the birth of Christ.

Here pilgrims from all over the world gather on Christmas Eve. First there is carol-singing in the square facing the church. Then all enter for the solemn midnight mass. After the service, an image of Christ is carried in a procession down into the grotto, and is placed in a

For a few weeks most people we encounter let their good, humaneness shine through . . . in a smile, in a gesture, a kind deed. For these few weeks there is "goodwill to all men."

Early Deadline—Next Week

We talked recently to Mrs. Geraldine Draffen, 942 16th street. She had promised to get some news in reporting various visitors of her family in Des Moines over the Thanksgiving holiday weekend; also a trip she and her husband took to Missouri.

We inquired about her daughter, Barbara Black, who shortly after graduating from Drake university, moved to St. Paul, Minn. However, now she is in White Bear, Minn., an all-white community with the exception of another Negro couple whom Miss Black has not yet.

Anyway, Miss Black is teaching there and lives in a three-room apartment in a couple's home. She has been visited by most of the children's parents and many of them have invited her for social coffees, etc.

Mrs. Draffen says her daughter is most impressed by the wonderful behavior of the children. "They are so obedient," she says.

Early Deadline—Next Week

Where the days before Christmas are often the most busy for many mothers and fathers in the families, they also proved to be fraught with anticipation for small children. And it is even worse for preschoolers who have not the ability to keep track of the days left.

One Des Moines mother took her two-year-old downtown on a shopping-sightseeing tour; When her youngster saw a doll she wanted the mother tried to explain that hers was already coming for Christmas, the child cried heartbrokenly, repeating that she wanted that one 'today.' Finally the mother told her it was at home, and when she promised to show it to her when they got home the child was slightly appeased; and needless to say when she saw the doll in its box at home, she was extremely contented. She didn't take it out of its box; just sat and stared and told all comers, "See my baby."

Early Deadline—Next Week

Christmas promises to be more enjoyable for Mr. and Mrs. John Michael, of 1545 DeWolf street. Both have spent several weeks in the hospital. Mrs. Michael suffered a heart attack and spent six weeks at Methodist hospital and her husband spent four weeks in the same hospital. Both are reportedly improving very well.

There are many shoppers who join the last minute gang, hunting frantically from what's left, for the perfect gift, for a loved one or friends. Each year they vow, "Not next year! I'll get my shopping done early." But next year is the same thing. One of these shoppers is Miss Sadie B. Jones, 1342 Sampson street. She readily admits though that she likes crowds, and "they never bother me; it's lost of fun to shop then."

Mrs. Luther Smith Returns from Penna.

Mrs. Luther H. Smith, Sr., has returned after spending the Thanksgiving holidays with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Luther H. Smith, Jr., and her grandchildren, Deborah and Gordon of Villanova, Penna. She also visited friends in Pleasantville, N.J.

SUPREME COURT IS CONSISTENT IN CIVIL RIGHTS CASES

In another striking decision involving racial discrimination, the U.S. Supreme Court in its ruling Monday that Congress had ample authority under the commerce clause to pass the 1964 civil rights law, in upholding the public accommodations section.

The cases involved an Atlanta, Ga. restaurant owner who said he would close rather than serve Negroes, and one in Birmingham, Ala.

Justice Clark wrote the unanimous decision of the court which also by a 5 to 4 decision held that the charges pending against the sit-ins should be dismissed. Three justices wrote dissenting opinions on the sit-in cases, but gave different reasoning for their dissent. Interesting was Justice Clark's statement that the order of dismissal of the sit-in cases was in accordance with long-established practice of the court, while Justice Black said that such was not the practice for 200 years in the court's history.

Highly important was the statement by Justice Clark:

"Now that Congress has exercised its constitutional power in enacting the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and declared that the public policy of our country is to prohibit discrimination in public accommodations as therein defined, there is no public interest to be served in the further prosecution of the petitioners (the three Negroes)."

Some years ago, an Indian was denied burial in a cemetery in Slaus City purely because of his race. Considerable litigation followed which reached the Iowa Supreme Court grounded on the theory that such denial was against public policy. The Iowa court rejected the argument saying this was not true under Iowa law.

Such a decision would not stand the scrutiny of the U. S. Supreme Court today.

Senator Goldwater argued during the campaign that the public accommodations section of the 1964 rights bill was unconstitutional. Maybe he, along with a lot of others out of step with the modern times, will realize that he is out of step with the thinking of the times.

The court has been consistent for years in overturning any law or regulation which attempts to condemn Negroes to second-class citizenship and does not square with the U. S. Constitution.

Surely a fine Christmas present for those who have worked so long and hard to right the wrongs done Negroes under old laws.

ANOTHER CHRISTMAS EDITION

In accordance with its practice of more than 25 years, The Bystander is publishing a special Christmas issue. In addition to emphasizing the season of the year, many institutions, organizations and individuals take this opportunity to thank their customers, members or friends for their cooperation during the year and wish them a Happy New Year.

This issue offers many, who don't advertise regularly, an opportunity to lend support to the continued operation of a business which makes some contribution to the community.

NOT GOOD PRACTICE TO ABUSE FRIENDS

The membership of Asian-African bloc at United Nations has passed that point where they are a minority. The fact that its first Negro presiding officer has been chosen is some indication that the big powers wish to play ball with them.

Most human beings deplore the slaughter of innocent human beings by the Congolese rebels and since the constituted government was unable to relieve the situation, from a humanitarian standpoint (except, of course, when Russia bristles to help a riot-torn country) maybe outsiders are justified in helping at the invitation of that government.

However, it is not convincing that African delegates should heap abuse on the United States for its part in helping to lift some hostages to safety. Had the U.S.

done so without being invited, their position would be justified. It does no good to "yell from the housetop just for the sake of yelling". Such practices make enemies, not friends.

Syracuse U. Will Oppose La. State In Sugar Bowl

New Orleans—(ANPI)—The Sugar Bowl Football Association's long-standing practice of excluding any team with Negroes in its lineup from participating in the local annual grid classic went by the boards with the announcement this week that this custom would no longer be observed.

Selection of the Syracuse University eleven from New York as the opponent to Louisiana State University's team completed the fragmentation. The Syracuse squad contains eight Negro players.

Negro players will also be on view in the Rose Bowl, the Cotton Bowl and even in the Bluebonnet contest where the University of Mississippi's moleskin-clad athletes will meet Negroes on the Tulsa team. That one takes place in Houston, Texas.

Another Bout For Sugar Ray

La Spezia, Italy—Sugar Ray Robinson, former world middleweight champion, who travels the continent for fights, has booked European junior middleweight king Bruno Visintin for a match in Paris on Jan. 10.

Robinson, who is scheduled to fight Luis Folloed of Spain on Dec. 14, accepted the Visintin match when the ex-champ was in Italy where he fought a 10-round draw with Fabio Bettini on Nov. 27.

Legislator Indicted On 119 Counts in Mich.

Detroit, Mich.—A federal grand jury returned a 117-count indictment against State Representative Daniel W. West, already accused of being a masquerader, tax cheat and vote manipulator.

The indictment includes 83 charges of falsely filing income tax refund claims and 34 counts of uttering and publishing (forgery). West, a former circulation manager at the Iowa Bystander, is free on $10,500 bonds awaiting a federal examination on Jan. 6 and his trial which began Monday in state court for alleged voting fraud.

Grambling Guard Signs With Vikings

BY COLLIE J. NICHOLSON
Grambling, La.—Versatile Woodrow People of Grambling College, a mean and ornery guard who rends the turf with distinction, signed a professional contract Tuesday with the Minnesota Vikings of the NFL. A 246-pound 6-3 stalwart, People was a standout in one of the stoutest lines ever to wear Tiger livery.

The wonder of the college athletic polls never ceases. On Tuesday comes the rating for this week. The number two team has displaced the No. 1 team which lost a squeaker on a road trip. So then before the polls results hit the street the erstwhile No. 1 team knocks off the team that displaced it. And the two stories appear side by side. "Wichita No. 1; Michigan No. 2." Michigan beats Wichita. That red glow in the sky wasn't a fire or the setting sun. It was the reflection from the faces of the guys who voted Wichita No. 1.

Drake

Here at home Drake might have another good team in the making. We should know more about that come this weekend. We guess that Iowa University will probably split 50-50 winning most of the games during the second half of the season.

It does look as if the long reign of Cincinnati in the Missouri Valley league is over for a while at least. The New champ could be Wichita, Bradley or even Drake. And while we are picking possible champs the boys who profess to know are saying that U.C.L.A. is a possible title contender when the National honors are decided next spring.

Miscellaneous

We note with interest the activities of the athletes in the Chicago high school leagues. Seems as if the public schools always win the basketball championship of the city and the Catholic schools always or nearly always win the football honors. We saw one of those league games when the Phillips school team, headed by Buddy Young and Earl Banks who later played at Iowa, played the Catholic school winner for the city honors.

Chicago

We recall that the game was played on Saturday in front of a crowd of 80,000. Well, Thursday, Chicago southside was full of posters advertising a victory dance, that Saturday night after the game. Come and meet the new champions so said the posters.

The St. George high coach got one of those posters and showed it to his players. We learned that he told the boys the game isn't even played yet and those guys are celebrating their victory. Well there was a dance that night but it wasn't a victory dance. At least not for Phillips.

Negro Cagers

But that area had enough good Negro basketball talent to supply colleges' all over the midwest and does. We hear that state champs this year will likely be another of those great Negro teams out of Chicago.

Here at home we may have a possible state champion in Roosevelt. The boys are big and rangy and have played together a while. Personally we would like to see East Waterloo make it.

Last Note: We notice that East High Jim Singleton hasn't lost a wrestling match yet. And we swear we saw three more Shades on that Tech wrestling team. We also recognize a few names on the swimming team.

Boxing

We look for the bout between Cassius Clay and Sonny Liston to come off this fall, if it ever does. We think Clay learned that Liston was really ready this time and arranged that convenient operation probably to wait until Sonny loses his edge. An old trick commonly used against good boxers who are getting old.

Mississippi

in the Federal Building by U. S. Commissioner Esther Carter who is native-born and has held the job for 19 years. She is not a lawyer and conducted the case only after her attempts to persuade U. S. District Court Judge Sydney C. Mize to sit in for her had failed. Judge Mize, who originally appointed Miss Carter, felt she "could do the job properly," insisted that she sit, but sent his law clerk, a distant relative of Mississippi's segregationist Senator Stennis to sit with her, presumably to help her on legal points.

8 Rights Workers

Seventeen of the 19 men in the hearing were arrested by the FBI on a charge of conspiracy to murder the three civil rights workers—Michael Schwerner and Andrew Goodman of New York, both white, and James Chaney of Meridian, last summer, near Philadelphia, Miss. The other two were accused of "misprision of a felony—failure to report evidence of a crime."

Defense Maneuvers

In the face of defense maneuvers and after telephone consultation with Washington, Department of Justice lawyers refused to produce any additional testimony. Commissioner Carter then sustained a motion by one of the defense counsel that the charges be dropped.

Attending

Among those attending the hearing in the morning was Mrs. Fanny Lou Chaney, mother of the 19-year-old murder victim.

U. S. Commissioner Esther Carter hurried to her second-floor office to straighten things up in preparation for her departure from town for a few days vacations.

Mrs. Chaney wept.
