Morris & Morris Law Firm, Bystander Move to New Site

The Morris and Morris Law offices and the Bystander Newspaper offices have moved to a newly-remodeled location at 221 Locust street.

As all such projects do, the moving necessitated a few inconveniences for clients, visitors and others who have dropped in the new offices. For these the management apologizes.

In addition the new first-floor quarters will be a large increase in convenience for clientele for both the law firm and Bystander, since they no longer will have to climb the stairs as in the previous location, where both firms were located for a number of years.

Dr. King Remained in Alabama Jail Wednesday; Mass Arrests In Vote Drive Campaign

Selma, Ala.—Hundreds were arrested, including Nobel Peace Prize winner, Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., as the voter registration drive, intensified, moving into its third consecutive week.

Dr. King, who was arrested Monday along with 770 other marchers, remained in jail Wednesday. However, he reported that the demonstrations would continue. Among the hundreds taken into custody, booked and jailed were 500 youths who had boycotted public schools on Monday and again on Tuesday. They were taken to juvenile court where they were charged. The mass arrests moved into its third day Wednesday.

Released

About 500 of those arrested were juveniles who stayed out of school and picketed the Dallas County Court House where registration was under way.

Sheriff James G. Clark arrested 37 Negroes for contempt of court, and the others were hauled away in school buses and turned over to the county juvenile judge for truancy proceedings.

Addresses Rally

"If Negroes could vote," King told a rally shortly before the march, "there would be no Jim Clarks, there would be no oppressive poverty directed against Negroes, our children would not be crippled by segregated schools, and the whole community might live together in harmony."

"This is our intention," he said, "to declare war on the evils of demagoguery. The entire community will join in this protest and we will not relent until there is a change in the voting process and the establishment of democracy."

Charges

Meanwhile, John Love, director of the Student Non-violent Co-ordinating Committee in Selma, met with the students in a second church and organized small groups of pickets. Clark let them march in front of the courthouse carrying "one man, one vote" placards for awhile.

Sheriff Clark, backed up by 15 armed men, later led the pickets, still singing, into the second-floor courtroom. Judge James A. Hare found them in contempt and sentenced them to five days in jail and a $50 fine.

Names

Clark stopped 20 others whom he declared to be non-students and took them before the judge. They were convicted of contempt and given the same sentence.

The other demonstrators were moved to an old armory and turned over to Juvenile Judge B. A. Reynolds, who lectured them and asked them to sign slips giving their names and addresses.

1500 Pay Tribute to Dr. King at Atlanta Banquet

Atlanta, Ga.—More than 1500 Atlantans, about one-half of them whites, paid a special tribute to Nobel Peace Prize winner Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., at a civic banquet here on Jan. 27.

Highlight of the $650-a-plate dinner which was held at the Dinkler Plaza hotel, having desegregated last summer, was the presentation to Dr. King of a special Stueben glass bowl. Many brief speeches of praise were given by various civic, fraternal and religious leaders.

Mayor Ivan Allen, Jr., in his tribute to the 36-year-old Negro integrationist, said:

"Under Dr. King's leadership the philosophy of the non-violent movement is being proved. His deep and complete dedication and devotion to this method of social revolution has won him recognition by the Nobel committee."

Pursuit of Peace

"He has been acclaimed for his leadership, his willingness to risk his life, his courage and despairing moments, and the persistence in the pursuit of peace."

"I take great pride in honoring this citizen of Atlanta who is willing to turn the other cheek in his quest for full citizenship for all Americans."

King replied that the future of the civil rights movement and the South's progress depended on white southerners "whose voices are yet unheard, whose course is yet unclear."

He added, however, that Wednesday night was "quite a contrast to what I face almost every day." He praised Atlanta's political leadership for "the great strides that we have made over the last few years." The audience applauded this.

Bowl

King appeared not to hear him as he went inside.

The glass bowl given to King contained a representation of a dogwood flower and the inscription: "To Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., citizen of Atlanta, recipient of the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize, with respect and admiration, Jan. 27, 1965."

Atlanta has long been known as the "Dogwood City."

The Dinkler Plaza Hotel desegregated last summer.

Of the 102 sponsors of the banquet, about 75 were whites. They included the presidents of Emory and Oglethorpe universities and Agnes Scott and Morehouse colleges; leading lawyers, real estate men, executives, architects, political leaders, directors of Atlanta-based human relations groups, newspaper people and ministers.

With the Movie Stars

Negro actor Jon Chevron, who has been living in Europe for the past three years, has returned to Hollywood, and signed with the Lil Cumber Attractions Agency for representation in all fields.

Actress Mittie Lawrence portrays the role of Mrs. Anna Murray Douglas on a "Profiles In Courage" episode to be shown January 31st over Channel 4 at 6:30 p.m. (PST).

Dodger baseball star John Roseboro, who has been studying drama under veteran actress Lillian Randolph, makes his acting debut in a Kraft Suspense Theatre stanza entitled "Fearful Moment", which will be shown February 25th.

New York—Negroes will be elected mayors "and will occupy other important posts" in the administration of this nation's large cities, declared an editorial appearing in the January issue of The Crisis Magazine, 55-year old official organ of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The publication, sporting a colorful new layout as it came off the presses this week completely redesigned in accordance with a reorganization plan adopted by the NAACP Board of Directors, based its prediction upon the political history which Negroes made in 1964.

The new NAACP magazine also contains several highly informative articles interpreting some recent events important to the civil rights movement. Among them, the anti-poverty crusade, the Rochester, N. Y., riot, and the 1964 Negro vote.

Portrait

Featuring a portrait of Alex Quai-son-Sackey, the first black African and youngest man to become president of the United Nations General Assembly, on the blue-bordered cover, the revised publication continues its regular departments such as a

COLLEGE SCHOLARSHIPS FOR NEGRO STUDENTS ESTABLISHED BY COMPANIES

New York—National Distillers and Chemical Corporation has established two four year college scholarships for outstanding Negro students, it was announced today. The grants, called the National Distillers Achievement Scholarships, are worth a maximum of $6,000 each. They will be awarded this spring to students who will enter college in the fall.

Winners may select any course of study in the liberal arts and sciences curriculum and may attend any accredited college of their choice.

Schools selected by the students will also receive an annual grant. The scholarships will be awarded through the National Achievement Scholarship Program, a new project administered by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation of Evanston, Ill., a non-profit institution.

The National Achievement program, which gets underway this year, was created by a grant from the Ford Foundation. The National Distillers awards will be in addition to the scholarships provided by Ford.

TWO NEW TOP OFFICIALS NAMED BY NAACP LEGAL DEFENSE FUND

New York City—In unanimous agreement, the NAACP Legal Defense Fund Board of Directors announced that the Honorable Francis E. Rivers, former New York City Civil Court Judge has been chosen to succeed Dr. Allan K. Chalmers as President of the Legal Defense Fund.

The Board reported, also, that Legal Defense Board member William T. Coleman, Jr., has been selected as Vice-President, the office formerly held by Judge Rivers.

The shift was made necessary by the announced intention to resign of Dr. Chalmers, taking effect in April.

Judge Rivers, Yale Phi Beta Kappa and Columbia Law School graduate, is presently Special Mediator for New York State Board of Mediation, and Hearing Officer for New York Waterfront Commission.

He has served on the Legal Defense Fund Board of Directors since 1950.

In 1963, Judge Rivers, a Negro, was appointed Chairman of the Special Committee on Civil Rights Under Law of the Bar Association of New York City, a committee created to study federal laws relating to the enforcement of civil rights and to propose revisions for their modernization.

Jackson Negroes Protest Shooting Of 18-Year-Old

More than one hundred twenty-five persons attended All Sports Banquet sponsored by senior Youth choir of Payne A.M.E. Church on Sunday afternoon. East High seniors who were members of the varsity team were invited and each presented a gift. Allen Jones had been voted by East High, the most valuable player. Coach Howie Vernon of East was guest speaker. Following dinner Beverly Sallis and Caroline Green led the cheering section and school pep songs were sung. Queens of Harmony sang several numbers. Mrs. Cuba Tredwell and Mrs. James Tyson are supervisors of Senior youth choir. Assisting them was Mrs. Ruth Stinson, Mrs. Delores Lee and Mrs. Betty Hackett.

The N.A.A.C.P. family potluck held at Grant School Saturday evening was a success after having been postponed one week because of bad road conditions. Following dinner some business of the Branch was transacted, and committee appointments confirmed.

At the Museum of History and Science can be seen photographs accompanied by biographies of Negroes in Black Hawk County who are some of the trailblazers. At present we learn that Mr. Herb Cox is a veteran radio announcer with KXEL; Miss Onice Black is IBM operator at Peoples Bank and Trust Co.; Dr. Robert S. Harvey a practicing dentist; Miss Charlene Western, English teacher at West High; Betty Lee Smith is in the business office at Northwestern Bell Telephone Co.; Mrs. Ruth McKinnis is director of Social Welfare in Black Hawk County and George Washington is a metallurgist at John Deere Tractor Works. We hope that these seven will be followed by others.

Miss Sandra Tredwell is home from Chicago for a visit with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Cuba Tredwell.

NORTH CAROLINA SCHOOL INTEGRATION IS PRESSED BY LEGAL DEFENSE FUND

Charlotte, N. C.—The NAACP Legal Defense Fund moved last week to end segregation in North Carolina's largest school district.

A complaint has been filed for 25 Negro children asking the United States District Court to enjoin the Charlotte-Mecklenburg Board of Education from continuing its policy of discriminating against Negroes.

An estimated 73,123 pupils are enrolled in this district, 20,035 of which are Negroes.

Legal Defense Fund Attorney J. LeVonne Chambers of Charlotte, refuses to carry Negro passengers. pointed out that a desegregation plan presently followed by the Board has resulted in over 800 Negroes being assigned to white schools. However, the plan permits white children in such desegregated schools to obtain transfers.

Naming the Board of Education as defendant, the NAACP Legal Defense Fund complaint contends that:

- That the "defendant maintain school zone lines . . . which have been drawn on a racial basis . . . limiting racial mixing of students."
- That the defendant permits "those students who reside in an integrated school district to transfer . . . where only students of their color reside . . . in clear violation of the Constitution."
- That the Board of Education "makes assignment of principals, teachers and other professional personnel on the basis of race and color." Negroes "are assigned to schools reserved for Negro students" and whites "to schools reserved for white students."

Biased Cabs To Lose License At New Orleans Airport

New Orleans—The charge by Negro AFL football players that taxicabs at International Airport refused to bring them into the city, 10 miles away, has bestirred the board of the airport to action.

Fresh Cranberries Make A Gay Valentine Dessert

Gay red and white hearts, made with budget-buy fresh cranberries and cottage cheese, are a pretty Valentine dessert. You'll be pleased with the new flavor combination, enjoy the color contrast, and appreciate a party dessert that goes easy on the budget. After molding dessert, edge heart shaped baskets or forms with doily frill and fill with flowers for centerpiece.

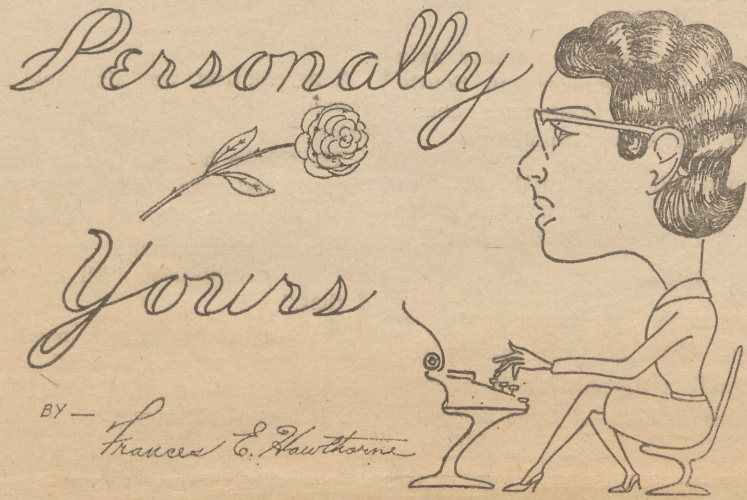

CRANBERRY DESSERT HEARTS

2 cups sugar
1 1/2 cups cornstarch
1 1/2 cups water
3 cups fresh cranberries
1 envelope plain gelatin

Mix sugar and cornstarch. Combine with water in saucepan and cook 4-5 minutes. Add cranberries and continue cooking until berries pop and sauce is slightly thickened. Cool. Soften gelatin in orange juice, then dissolve over boiling water. Stir into cottage cheese. Combine and add remaining ingredients. Mix until thoroughly blended.

Juice 1 large orange
2 8-oz. containers cottage cheese
3-4 tablespoons superfine sugar
1/2 cup heavy sour cream
1 tablespoon grated orange rind

Have heart baskets, or molds, ready for mixture. If baskets are used, line with kitchen foil. Spread small amount cooled cranberry mixture in bottom of form. Lightly spoon cheese mixture over cranberry layer to fill basket, or mold, to desired depth. Chill until firm, or over night. Turn out on platter and serve with additional sauce. Makes 4-5 servings depending on size basket, or mold, used.

For thousands of students around the nation last week served as a semester break for those who had completed mid-year exams and were waiting for registration. And locally the early part of the week proved to be very chilly indeed for those who had to stand in line to register for the second semester. Lynda Walker, sophomore at Drake university, reported the lines extended so long outside that they seemed to be "almost down to Katz." The husband of another student also reported that many had to stand outside in near zero weather several hours before finally being able to accomplish their purpose.

February, the party and birthday month has arrived. And from all reports Old Man Groundhog who emerged from his place of hibernation on Tuesday, saw his shadow, beat a hasty retreat to his warm winter nest, to enjoy six more weeks of warm snugness. According to mythical thinking, there will be at least six more weeks of winter.

The Bystander has now moved to roomier, more convenient quarters in the same block on the first floor location at 221 Locust street. As it did formerly, it will share office space with the Morris and Morris Law firm. The redecorating is not complete due to time allowance for such large-scale moving, but the staff does apologize for any inconveniences the move may have caused anyone during the helter-skelter days until everything is settled.

After last Thursday's massive breakdown in electrical power throughout several midwest we had a bracing reminder of how dependent we are on the inventions of Thomas Edison. Supposing for instance that the breakdown had snowballed into an extended emergency, we human creatures would have been hard put to test our own ingenuity. For instance, not only would we have had to devise some manner of keeping warm in nearly zero temperatures, but we would have been cut off, almost completely from the outside world; At least of most of us unless we had battery-powered radios and of course, there would have been a newspaper blackout.

But, many of us, looking to anticipate alleviating trouble, we built a roaring fire in the fireplace to offset declining temperatures and for those who had electric stoves, prepared to use the facilities of a gas-stove using kindly neighbor, or retired to the basement to cook the family dinner on the ancient gas stove that normally take up room there.

We were quite amused by the story of the youngster, who seeing a Tiffany (on fifth avenue in New York) advertisement for a $176,000 necklace for a special gift, wrote in and wanted to know if he could make a deal to buy the necklace for his mother and pay for it out of his weekly allowance. The idea is not too far-fetched when you think how youngsters have been born into and live into a conditioned atmosphere of installment buying.

During the Christmas holidays Herbert Brewer, a former student at Drake university, who after graduation returned with his wife and baby to his home land, Liberia, Africa, was among the visitors to Des Moines. Of course, he is now Liberian delegate to the United Nations and was in the city to visit old friends.

While here he visited with Mrs. Iva Mae Hayes, 1142 8th street. To her surprise she learned that he knew her daughter and son-in-law, James and Betty June Dixon, and daughter, who are in Liberia where Mr. Dixon is serving with the YMCA. Mr. Brewer, a law graduate of Drake in 1959, told her he had often visited with them in Liberia.

Mrs. Hayes held a little get-together in his honor.

POOR EXAMPLES FOR A DEMOCRATIC NATION

Led by Dr. Martin Luther King, Negroes in Selma, Ala. have been conducting a voter-registration campaign. In spite of the fact that Negroes constitute a great share of the population, very few are registered to vote.

Two methods are being used to keep Negroes from voting: one is the education test which not only is difficult to pass but also whites are allowed to get by easily; and second is the use of force and fear to keep them away from the polls.

Full publicity throughout the world is being given the drama produced in the streets of Selma, Ala., when the sheriff and director of public safety, use force and arrest against these people simply because they wanted to register and vote. It is difficult to imagine the crude efforts that public officials are using to keep these people from exercising one of their most precious rights—one that is the very essence of democracy.

As America attempts to spread democracy in southeast Asia and Africa, it is easy to see how some of the natives receiving aid from this country are fearful that it is given as an excuse to cover up the inhuman acts committed here. And while the pattern of race relations displayed in Alabama is not followed by the majority of the American people, the rabble makes so much noise that a stranger thinks that it speaks for the whole nation.

We can take courage that many border and southern states have come a long way in the fulfillment of first-class citizenship for all people. It will come in Alabama as more Negroes get to vote. President Johnson said that given the vote the Negro can solve most of his own problems. With this, we fully agree for if Negroes in Alabama voted they could unseat the sheriff in Selma and this is what the shameful cowardly conduct being carried on is all about.

BINGO BILL IS POOR LEGISLATION

A constitutional amendment has been introduced in the Iowa legislature which would legalize bingo but limit those who could run games to churches, lodges and veterans organizations which are chartered by Congress.

It does seem that the legislature has before it many important matters which should be dealt with promptly rather than spend time on a bingo bill which means little to the general welfare of the state.

The bill is wrong from the beginning. If bingo is so desired why restrict the operators of the game to a few organizations. If it is good for the churches and lodges, it is good for any social group or business; if it is good for one veteran's organization, it is good for another.

Laws requiring too many exceptions are difficult of enforcement. Certainly, an attempt to place an amendment in the constitution with excessive exceptions is a good reason why it should not be there.

UNFORTUNATE

Several cadets at the U.S. Air Force Academy have resigned rather than be dismissed for their involvement in a cheating scandal in examination questions.

When cadets are admitted to the academy, they take an oath not to cheat and to report others who do. It is not easy to squeal on an associate; it seems that more and more, people are trying to keep out of other's business even though it may be carried on in an illegal manner or is illegal.

Actually, few cadets participated in the cheating. Most of them simply knew of what was going on and would not report it as required by their oath. As one father said, it is a shame that boys should be kicked out for refusing to report the scandal, but they took the oath to do so and this could not be excused when they dishonored this oath.

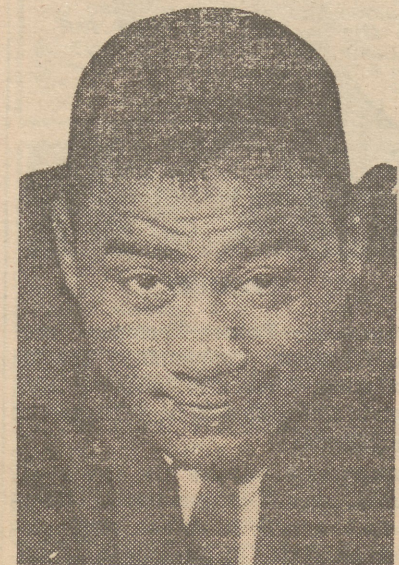

As in every such difficulty, some people attribute the cheating to the excessive time required in the participation of athletics which detracts from study. This is an old cry from those who dislike athletics. First thing most of those dropped did not play on varsity teams and

Floyd Patterson Wins Over Chuvalo, Takes
Giant Step on Comeback Trail

New York, N.Y.—Former world heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson took a giant step on the comeback trail Monday night when he beat George Chuvalo of Toronto, Canada, in a 12-round leather throwing before a sell-out non-title bout, at Madison Square Garden.

There were no knockdowns but Patterson once again proved the experts wrong, as he slugged out a unanimous defeat over Chuvalo.

Patterson, jubilant over the outcome of the fight, said, "Now I deserve a chance at the title." However, he did not pass up the opportunity to remind reporters who mostly had been stingily critical of his fighting abilities since his fall from boxing grace.

He accused sports writers: "You called me a China champ . . . You questioned my courage . . . You said I could not take a punch . . . You wrote I had no business in the ring . . ."

"In my next fight—and I feel it should be for the championship—I'm going to do more boxing if I am to beat Cassius Clay."

Welcome New Rule
In Football

Tallahassee, Fla. — (FAMU) — Coach Jake Gaither of the Florida A&M University Rattlers welcomed the new football rule which coaches feel will restore two-platoon football.

"I'm perfectly satisfied with the new rule," he said. "I am for platoon football and anything that will enhance the chances of more boys playing. We (the American Football Coaches Association Rules Committee) recommended a rule that would permit free and unlimited substitution and an alternate. They approved the alternate and it's all right with me."

The NCAA Rules Committee passed the new ruling Sunday after a three-day debate in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. The AFCA Rules Committee on which Coach Gaither has served three terms recommended the changes. The NCAA is the policy-making body for the colleges.

The Rattlers have employed a three-team system for several seasons. They have been named after a wartime quotation of England's Sir Winston Churchill: "Blood, Sweat, and Tears."

second hundreds of boys in colleges have been forced to work jobs as well as play on teams and still did well in their studies.

Crimes among the high and the low occur every day. Some are worse at one time than another. This is not the first time students have been involved in cheating scandals. They are in a great minority and while unfortunate, may only serve to help faculties see that such things do not occur in the schools.

DR. HANCHAR

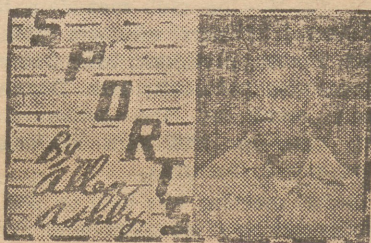

Dr. Virgil Hancher, former president of the University of Iowa, died last week in India where he had been serving as education consultant for the Ford Foundation.

Born in Iowa and educated at the State University, Dr. Hancher was a Rhodes scholar. He was engaged in the practice of law in Chicago at the time he was chosen to head of the school. Iowa made great strides under his administration in the academic field, its physical plant and the general attitude towards human relations.

While a new president has already succeeded him, he had expressed his desire to return later as somewhat of an elder statesman. Dr. Hancher's work speaks for itself, for he lived a valuable life.

Al Jackson, pitching star of the New York Mets baseball team, warms up for the fourth annual Base/Bowl Tournament scheduled at AMF-equipped East Gate Lanes, Tampa, Florida, March 30th. Last year, the nationally televised event (NBC-TV) attracted such diamond stars as Frank Robinson and Vada Pinson of the Cincinnati Reds, George Altman of the Mets, Chuck Hinton, now with Cleveland, and Floyd Robinson of the Chicago White Sox.

We were glad to see former heavyweight boxing Champion Floyd Patterson take another step towards regaining his title for the second time by beating the tough Canadian Chavalo. We had feared that if Sonny Liston could not beat that Denver rap, the string pullers might manipulate the Canadian into a title shot as the best available drawing card. But, when the jury acquitted Liston, then we thought the wind got out to let them go and may the best man win. For these big time sporting events aren't staged so fans can merely enjoy themselves. The main and only object is making money and if it takes a few strings pulled or hauled around to get the desired result then the strings are pulled. We all know that the five ancient sport of professional wrestling has degenerated into merely a show and everyone concerned makes money. So is boxing about to join the class of wrestling, what with various reasons, the world's title. And different organizations taking away and bestowing titles as they see fit.

Colleges

One wonders how much baseball, and football come under the scuffle for money. Maybe it will be so that the baseball and football seasons will be cut to weekend shows over a period of weeks instead of being dragged out for nearly half a year.

The thing reaches down into our schools. College athletes no longer play for dear old alma mater. Now they play with one eye on a big fat pro-contract and the things all that money will buy. Schedules are arranged to draw the most people and the school has to have a winning team. Somebody has to pay for all those new improvements around the campus. Not to mention the fine locker rooms and uniforms for the band. People won't carve out to see a losing team. If the attendance in a stadium seating 60,000 falls off to 40,000 that is a cool hundred grand. And with five home games the loss could run over a half million bucks. So if the team loses too many games fire the coach.

High School

Enough of that. High school kids don't go around wearing their school colors proudly. Now the play with an eye on him many college offers they get. The whole business of sports isn't fun anymore. Simply a chase for dollars for everyone concerned.

We don't want to appear in Sonny Liston's corner where there is so much smoke there must be some fire. But the fact that a jury found him not guilty of a drunken driving charge makes a fellow wonder how many of these arrests as the fault of the former champ and how many are the fault of over zealous policemen where he is concerned. Is the man to be forever the ex-con or is he to be just another guy where the law is concerned?

THE STRUGGLE

Two presidents died for the same cause
How many more God in Heaven knows

You just can't eliminate a race
The scripture has been written, you can't erase.

The rolling clouds above Gideon
And the blazing sun below

We are a descendent tribe of Midion
Will guide us to grow and grow

Those fools think of eliminating a race
We'll fight on even at slow pace

The hills aged with gray
And below the yellow fading sod

Now let us kneel and pray
To our almighty God.

By David Griger

TOLERANCE

Tolerance is not a matter of the action we take so much as it is an equable mind which seeks out truth with scales instead of scolds. A few sentences, whose author is unknown, summarize the intolerant viewpoint:

"When the other fellow acts that way, he is ugly; when you do it, it is nerves."

"When the other fellow is set in his ways, he's obstinate; when you are, it's firmness."

"When the other fellow doesn't like your friends, he's prejudiced; when you don't like his, you are simply showing that you are a good judge of human nature."

"When the other fellow treats someone especially well, he's to-adying; when you try the same game, you are using tact."

"When the other fellow takes time to do things, he is dead slow; when you do it, you are deliberate."

"When the other fellow picks flaws in things, he's cranky; when you do, you are discriminating."

"When the other fellow runs great risks in business, he's fool-hardy; when you do, you are a great financier."

"When the other fellow says what he thinks, he's spiteful; when you do, you are frank."

"When the other fellow won't get caught in a new scheme, he's back-woods; when you don't, you're conservative."

We might add the adage that only fools are positive—the more ignorant a man is, the more likely he is to be dogmatic. It is hard to give a working rule for tolerant conduct, but we offer as a starting suggestion a "hands-off" policy in matters that do not personally or remotely affect us, refraining the proffer of advice until asked for it, and letting the other fellow do generally what he likes—if he doesn't owe us money.—Shell Happytime.

Laugh Lines

A psychiatrist was listening to a woman describing her husband's delusion.

"He thinks he's a steam radiator, Doctor, and sits under the living room window all day."

"Bring him around tomorrow," said the psychiatrist. "I'll cure him of that."

"No, no, Doctor, we need the heat!" the woman blurted. "Just take the pounding out of him." Catholic Digest—February.
