Negro Architect Brothers Named to Design Building For U.S. Embassy in Africa

Washington—William J. Crockett, Deputy Under Secretary of State for Administration, has announced the selection of the Cleveland architectural firm of Madison, Madison, and Madisan for the design of the new American chancery (embassy office building) in Dakar, Senegal. The firm will also design a residence for the Deputy Chief of Mission and a staff apartment building in Dakar.

First

The first Negro architectural firm to be given such an assignment, Madison, Madison, and Madisan is a partnership of three brothers, two of whom are architects and the third a civil engineer, Robert P. Madison,

A.I.A., and Julian C. Madison are currently in Dakar for discussions with the American Embassy concerning the designs. Construction is scheduled for 1966-67.

Civic Affairs

The Madisons have participated widely in community affairs in Cleveland, and their firm has been commissioned to execute some forty projects totaling approximately $3,000,000. The design of schools and churches has constituted a major share of their practice. A special citation for the design of a medical center was awarded to the firm in 1957 by the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce.

2 Consultants Relate Ideas On Fund Raising Techniques

About 70 persons from all over Iowa and Nebraska attended a one-day fund-raising training session here Saturday hosted by the Des Moines branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Conducting the sessions were Leonard Carter, executive director of Region IV, Kansas City, Mo., who gave a report on the new re-organization of the NAACP work. He was assisted by Miss Aletha Simmons of the New York City national office, who gave valuable information on membership campaigns and fund raising. Both instructors explained that every branch should carry a civil rights program and all branch executive board members should work on the membership campaign, opening the drive with their own memberships.

A question and answer period followed. The singing of freedom songs closed the sessions, with Kenneth Parkey, Jr., at the piano.

Representatives from Fort Madison, Burlington, Sioux City, Davenport, Ottumwa, Cedar Rapids, Ia., and Omaha, Nebr., attended.

Job Bias Ban By Louisville

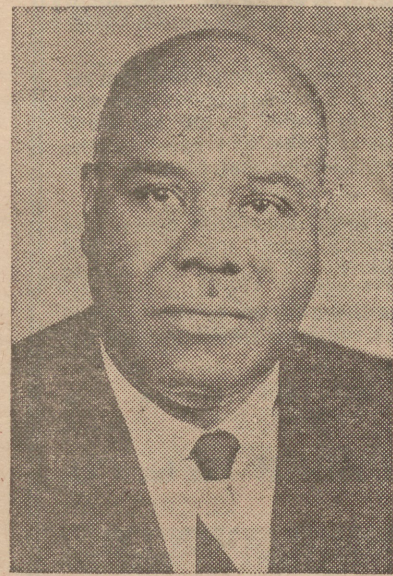

Louisville, Ky.—An ordinance banning racial discrimination in employment practices was unanimously passed Tuesday night by the Louisville Board of Aldermen.

Officials of the Louisville Human Relations Commission, which submitted the proposal, said that as far as they know it is the first fair-employment law enacted by a city in the south.

The ordinance is essentially the same as the employment section of the federal Civil Rights Act. It authorizes the commission to serve as an enforcement agency for the federal law and provides for complaint and mediation procedures and penalty fines of up to $100.

One Hurt as Car, Fire Truck Crash

Mrs. Shirley Whiteside, 40, of 1416 E. 18th street, suffered minor injuries Saturday night when her car was struck by a fire engine.

The engine, from Station 15 at 917 University ave., and driven by Fireman Robert Fettes, 35, was responding to a call at 19th and University avenue. Firemen said the call proved unnecessary.

Police Accident Investigator Jack Ness said that as the engine attempted to pass Mrs. Whiteside's car, she pulled in front of the engine and tried to make a left turn onto Goode drive.

Mrs. Whiteside was treated at Iowa Methodist Hospital. She was charged with failing to yield to an emergency vehicle.

Des Moines NAACP Will Meet Tuesday

The Des Moines branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, will meet on Tuesday, Feb. 23 at 8:30 p.m. at Willkie House, 900 17th street. An executive board meeting will precede at 7:30 p.m. Atty. Robert A. Wright is president.

New Book Published

On Jan. 28, Grosset & Dunlap's Universal Library published Race, Class, and Party: A History of Negro Suffrage and White Politics in the South, by Paul Lewinson. This pioneering work in the field of Southern politics describes the interaction between the race question and white class and party politics from Reconstruction to the Period of the New Deal.

NEWS In A Nutshell

Jonesboro, La.—James Potts, a member of Bethany Baptist church which was burned to the ground on Jan. 17, has succeeded in gaining admission to all-white Louisiana Polytechnic Institute.

Detroit, Mich.—For the first time in the history of the state of Michigan a Negro minister will serve as chaplain to the House of Representatives. He is the Rev. E. R. Neal, pastor of Mt. Olive Baptist church.

Minneapolis, Minn.—Harvey Winston, the first Negro ambulance driver here also added another first to his list. He was elected union steward of the Municipal Drivers and Helpers Local 664 Teamster Union.

Detroit, Mich.—Dearborn, Mich. Mayor Orville L. Hubbard was indicted by a Federal grand jury last week on two counts of failing and refusing to use his authority to order police protection in 1963 for a man whose home was being attacked by a mob. The home in an all-white neighborhood was stoned and pelted with eggs and other debris, when a rumor circulated that Negroes were moving in. Actually a white couple, who were moving in, had hired Negro workers to move their furniture.

Hollywood, Calif.—Pearl Bailey, 46-year-old singer, was in the intensive care unit at Mt. Sinai hospital last week undergoing "study and tests for severe heart strain as a result of overwork." She was scheduled to be released this week.

Detroit, Mich.—Oldest co-ed at Wayne State university is 72-year-old Mrs. Anna M. Farrison who received her B.S. degree in art two years ago. She liked it so well she decided to return. She began her college education in 1928.

Indianapolis, Ind.—Legislation approving interracial marriages within the state of Indiana received House approval here last week and is now before the senate for further action.

Chicago, Ill.—Norman A. Simon of Markham, Ill., was recently elected an assistant vice president of the Exchange National Bank of Chicago, one of the city's leading financial institutions, located in the Loop.

U.S. Senator Hugh Scott (left) congratulates Dr. Andrew F. Brimmer, noted economist and author, on his nomination to be U.S. Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Economic Affairs. Dr. Brimmer, on leave from the Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania, will appear before the Senate Commerce Committee where Senator Scott will start proceedings toward confirmation by the full Senate of Dr. Brimmer's nomination.

Talented Singer Rose from Obscurity to Fame; Died 2 Weeks after His Father

Santa Monica, Calif.—Nat King Cole died early Monday morning of lung cancer. His death was called a great loss to the music world. Last rites were held at 11 a.m. this morning (Thursday) at St. James Episcopal Church on Wilshire boulevard in Los Angeles.

The famed singer, who had undergone surgery for a removal of one lung and cobalt treatment on the other, had been hospitalized since Dec. 8. He was believed to be on the way to recovery but his condition became grave Sunday night and he died shortly after dawn Monday.

2 Weeks After Father

Cole, who came to California in 1937 as a combo pianist, died just two weeks after the death of his Baptist preacher father, the Rev. Edward Cole. The latter died at the age of 75 in Waukegan, Ill., where he had pastored at First Baptist church of North Chicago for 29 years.

The satin voice singer was born Nathaniel Adams Coles in Alabama, and his musical-inclination, inherited from his mother, became apparent at the age of four when he began picking out tunes on his parents piano. He was reared in Chicago where his father pastored.

TV Show

Always an impeccable dresser and gentleman, Cole was the only Negro entertainer to have a weekly televised show of his own. It ran for 64 weeks, and despite good ratings, finally was dropped because of a lack of advertising sponsorships.

Bright Piano

Cole began as a pianist, for $5 a night but his bright style, and later his singing career, which began at the urging of a surly nightclub patron, netted him over $500,000 annually. Before his rise to fame, he and his combo were performing one night, when a patron jammed a paper crown on his head and said, "King Cole," and the name stuck.

Recordings

Cole's recordings of such hits, many of them gold records, such as "Mona Lisa," "Nature Boy," "Rambling Rose," "Christmas Song," "Too Young," "Ballerina," "Unforgettable," and many others made him a favorite of thousands of fans, the young and old alike.

Late in 1937, Cole organized the King Cole Swingsters—with Nat at the piano, Oscar Moore on guitar and Wesley Prince on string bass.

Later, at the urgings of jazz fans, Nat took on the vocal duties.

Capitol Records

In 1943 the singer-pianist contracted with Capitol Records (then Liberty records) for "Straighten Up and Fly Right," which he had written years before for $50 to pay the rent. The recording was a smash hit and Cole's entertainment career went up fast. Besides recordings he headlined many of the plush nightclub spots around the nation and guested on top television shows and concerts.

What Is An American?

by HAROLD W. RUOPP

AN AMERICAN is one who believes in the right of men and women of whatever creed, class, color or ancestry, to live as human beings with the dignity becoming the children of God.

AN AMERICAN is one who believes in the right to be free; free not only from crushing coercions and dictatorships and regimentation, but free for that way of life where men may think and speak as they choose and worship God as they see fit.

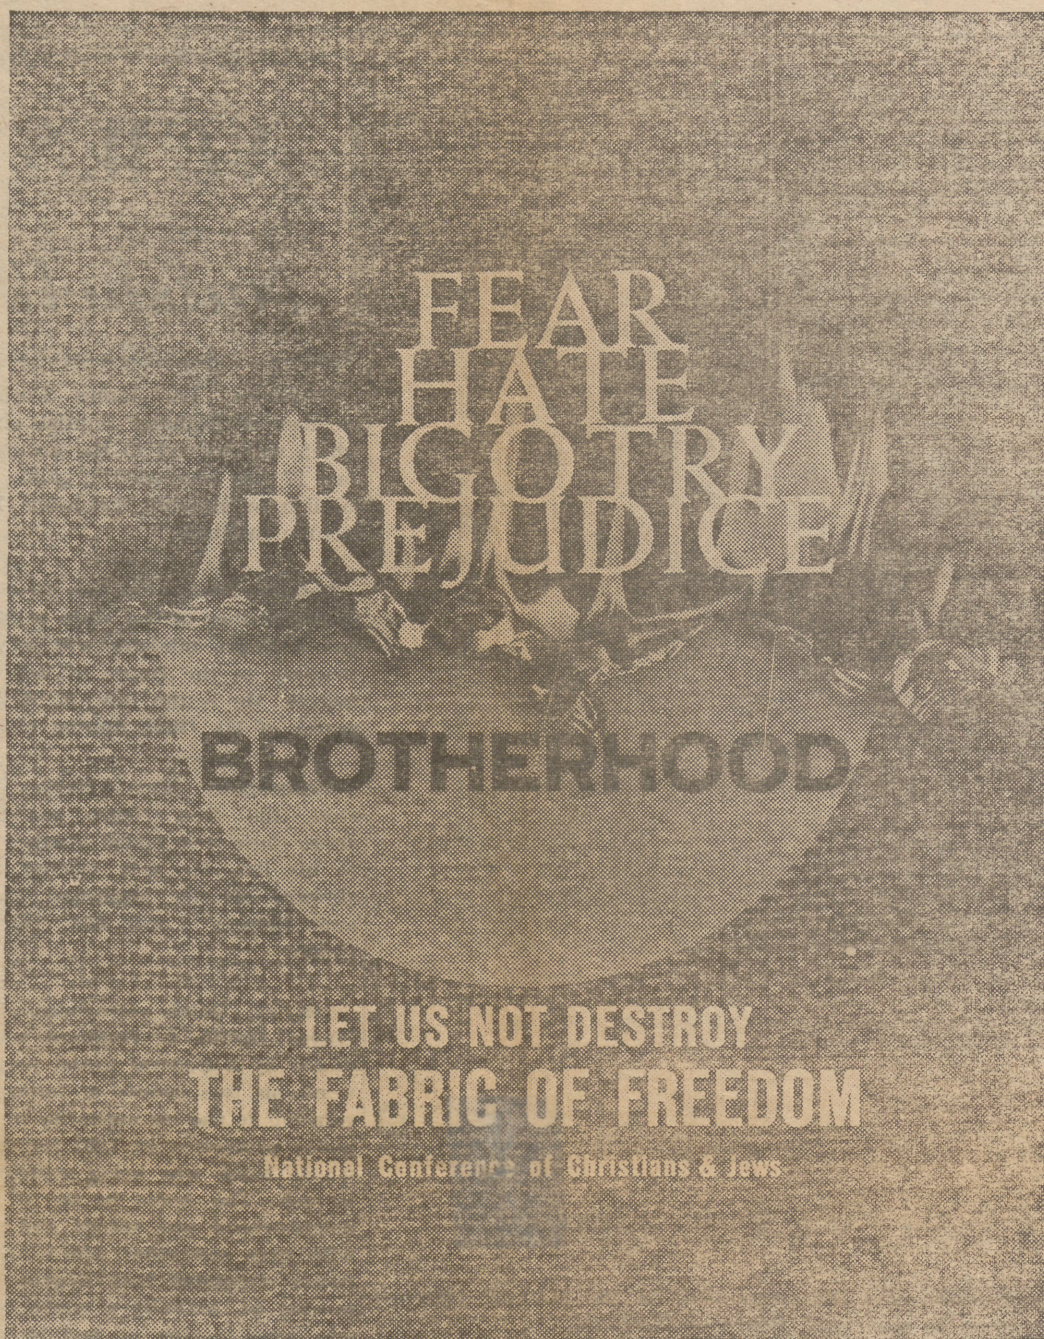

AN AMERICAN is one who believes in the right to vote, the right to work, the right to learn, the right to live, and—what is equally important—in the right to be different; for he knows that if we ever lose the right to be different we lose the right to be free.

AN AMERICAN is one who believes in democracy, not only for himself but for all his fellow-Americans. By democracy he means not simply the rule of the majority but the rights of minorities; and those minorities have rights, not because they are minorities, but because they are human beings.

AN AMERICAN is one who believes in the responsibility of privilege. What he asks for himself, he is willing to grant to others; what he demands from others, he is willing to give himself. His creed is not alone, "Live and let live," but "Live and help live."

AN AMERICAN is one who acts from faith in others, not fear of others; from understanding, not prejudice; from good will, not hatred. To bigotry he gives no sanction; to intolerance no support.

The only question THE TRUE AMERICAN ever asks is not, Are you a Protestant or Catholic, Gentile or Jew, white or colored, but, Are you an American? If you are, then give me your hand, for I am an American too.

1965 Brotherhood Statements

The national observance of Brotherhood Week, sponsored annually by the National Conference of Christians and Jews is one very brief week in an entire year, in which all Americans are called on to renew their religious commitments and rededicate their lives to our democratic heritage of freedom and equality for all.

This limitation must not, however, conceal the fact that both brotherhood and democracy are continuing practices. They only have validity when carried on throughout every week in every year.

It is for this reason that the theme for Brotherhood Week 1965 is: "BROTHERHOOD—DEMOCRACY AT WORK." It suggests a twin idea: that brotherhood in action equals democracy; and democracy in action means brotherhood.

Nationally and internationally, Americans are faced in greater or lesser degree with the problem of diversity; people of different racial, religious and cultural backgrounds who must learn to live together in peace and justice. Continuing "Action" and "Work" toward the accomplishment of these goals is the only fulfillment of both universal brotherhood and democracy.

—LEWIS WEBSTER JONES
President, National Conference of Christians & Jews

Brotherhood Week this year has particular significance. Freed of sentimental overtones, the idea of brotherhood is plainly necessary if this nation is not to split into factions—many opposed to progress in human rights.

Brotherhood Week has been a peculiarly American idea. We are so many diverse peoples that we might well have become a divided society. But America's diversity has been America's strength. And both the diversity and the strength must be encouraged.

Unfortunately, diversity brings its own dangers. We tend to shun away from different people, different attitudes. We must realize that those different people and different attitudes have a place, especially in America.

If we can be aware that America's strength has come out of differences, then we might realize that we ourselves are in many ways, and for the better, different from those Americans who years before made this nation strong.

Brotherhood Week—this Brotherhood Week (February 21-28)—should make us all aware—aware, at least, of our responsibility to be aware, and to be concerned.

—MITCH MILLER
1965 National Brotherhood Week Chairman

THE GOAL:

Brotherhood Week is more than a one week proposition.

In 1934, at the suggestion of Father Hugh McMenamin, pastor of the Catholic Cathedral in Denver, Colorado, the National Conference of Christians and Jews inaugurated its first Brotherhood observance as a single day of recognition to draw national attention to the vital need for better human relations and the NCCJ year-round educational activities aimed at achieving these goals.

Within five years, by 1939, a single day could no longer encompass the vast variety of civic and religious activities which came to be associated with this annual event. Brotherhood Day became Brotherhood Week and the year-round NCCJ educational activities grew more imperative with every passing day.

Where The Responsibility Finally Rests

Some United States Presidents Underscore The Need For Brotherhood

HARRY TRUMAN: "... Brotherhood is the source of the unity within our nation which will make us powerful in example and strong in moral purpose so that we may give to our world the leadership worthy of our heritage."

DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER: "... As Americans, as fellow human beings, we share a common brotherhood. This does not make life easy, but it provides the basis for a strong and productive national life. In our land and around the world such a spirit can advance the highest hopes of the family of man."

JOHN F. KENNEDY: "... Human brotherhood is not just a goal. It is a condition on which our way of life depends. The question for our time is not whether all men are brothers. That question has been answered by the God who placed us on this earth together. The question is whether we have the strength and the will to make the brotherhood of man the guiding principle of our daily lives. Can we match our actions to our words?"

LYNDON B. JOHNSON: "... No better time exists for a searching of our hearts and mind than the National Observance of Brotherhood. Democracy cannot live in hate and fear. Prejudice and bigotry are the advance guard of failure. So long as any among us must live in fear, none of us can enjoy the fullness of freedom. Let us search our hearts; let us rekindle the faith of our forebears; let us listen again to the inspired hopes of our national conscience and let the words of our religions shine through the deeds of our daily lives."

125 Guests Attend Resplendent Reception of Parliamentary Club at Hotel Savery Sunday

More than 125 guests enjoyed the beauty and fellowship of the 20th anniversary tea of the Parliamentary Law and Culture club on Sunday afternoon in the Terrace room of the Hotel Savery.

The tea table resplendent in tiered white satin, gleaming silver service and candleabra, was centered with a gorgeous bouquet of flowers in lavender and gold (the club colors) in a handsome silver urn.

Receiving Line

The receiving line was headed by Mrs. Clyde Morris, club president, and Mrs. Luther T. Glanton, Jr., guest of honor. Others in the line were Mesdames Oradell Henry, vice president; Marshall Smith, past president; Wilmer Johnson, recording secretary; Albert Rhodes, treasurer; Mrs. Edward Frazier, member and immediate past president of the Iowa Association of Club Women, with which the club is affiliated; representing the IACW in the receiving line were the first vice president and second vice president, Mesdames George Turner of Cedar Rapids and Etta Grider of Sioux City, Ia., respectively.

Hostesses

Mrs. Mayme Moore, served as hostess on the mezzanine floor. Mesdames Henry Robinson and Joseph Wimberly were hostesses at the entrance to the Terrace Room and introduced guests to Mrs. Morris.

Mesdames Gertrude Harris, Sadie Peters, Marshall Smith and William son at the Robinson home, 1228 3rd street.

Guests sharing the occasion were Messrs. and Mesdames Gordon Brown, Sidney Hawkins, Arthur Tolson, Robert Elliston, Mat Gilbert, Homer McCurn, James Wilson, Albert Durden, George Shade, Andy Potter, Theodore Frith and the Robinson children.

Also Mesdames Mildred Miller, Ruth Davis, Martha Wills, Bina Williams, Goldie Lighon, Ruby Warren, Willa Mae Bell and Messrs. Seth Singleton and Marvin Dix. Out-of-town guest was Mrs. Addie Flowers of Waterloo, Ia.

The honoree received many lovely gifts. Games were played.

MRS. GRIDER

Robinson presided at the tea tables. Other members served as hostesses during the event.

Service

During the years many club members have served with distinction in the IACW. Five have been state presidents—the late Mrs. Sarah E. Jett and Atty. Gertrude Rush; and Mesdames Wilmer Johnson, Joseph Wimberly and Edward Frazier. Mrs. Marshall Smith served many years as parliamentary, and Mrs. William Robinson as state organizer.

The idea of the clubhouse project was presented in 1959 by Mrs. Joseph Wimberly who is still serving as chairman. In 1964 the goal was changed to a residence for senior citizens.

Centerpiece

Following the tea the centerpiece was presented to Mrs. A. A. Alexander, who is confined at home because of recent illness. The president was accompanied by Mesdames William Robinson, Etta Grider, Mr. and Mrs. George Turner and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wimberly.

The club has long recognized and is highly appreciative of the inestimable services Mrs. Alexander has rendered during her years as a federated club woman.

Des Moines took on an international atmosphere over the past weekend as some 1,000 foreign students from over 100 countries converged on the city for the annual Foreign Student weekend. Serving as hostesses and hosts to the students who are enrolled at the more than a dozen Iowa colleges and universities were various residents of all races. They shared their home, their time, interests and hospitality, and perhaps parted, with persons on all sides having a little more understanding of the other.

Among the dozens of colorful booths of countries represented set up at the Veterans Auditorium, was one sponsored by Phi chapter of Delta Sigma Theta sorority, who make this an annual project. The Winthrop club, who have sponsored booths for the event for years, bowed out this year.

We are not claiming this to be a definite fact, but just about the youngest celebrity for the foreign student weekend was a nine-month tyke, Ambrose Woterson, Jr., son of Ambrose Woterson, a medical student from Nigeria and Mrs. Marva Woterson, health and recreation director at the YWCA. They, naturally are living in Des Moines, now, but the little one will eventually see his father's homeland, to which they plan to return one day.

Mr. Woterson is a student at the Still College of Osteopathy and ture taking session. She had taken a group from the YWCA on a skiing trip to Chestnut Hills over the weekend.

This year three Negro students will be among Des Moines students who will represent their schools at the United Nations in New York City. They are Kynn Reeves and Herbert Cawthorne of North High and Robert Wright, Jr., of Lincoln high. The trip will be made during the week-long spring vacation of Des Moines public schools.

Kenneth Parkey, Jr., represented North high last year. All four are members of the Des Moines chapter of Jack and Jill of America, Inc.

Mrs. Barbara James, wife of Des Moines dentist, Dr. L. A. James, is convalescing at home, 678 26th street, after undergoing surgery recently.

When we went to distribute Valentine cards designed and created by the 11-13 age group of Jack and Jill, on Saturday afternoon at nursing we met Mrs. Bertha Dunn, who is a patient at Lawn Haven Nursing home, 1330 9th street.

We had a brief chat about her granddaughter and family in Denver, Colo., and her son in Des Moines.

BROTHERHOOD—A YEAR
ROUND ACTIVITY

Following World War I, which ostensibly was fought to make the world safe for democracy, there appeared a rash of prejudice against Catholics and Jews. This, added to the traditional prejudice against Negroes, rose to a great resurgence of the Ku Klux Klan in the north against those upon whom they visited their hatred.

The situation became so alarming that the clergy and leading laymen of the churches decided to do something about it. YMCA and YWCA's conducted religious life emphasis weeks; a department of race relations of the council of churches was formed which while limited in scope provided leadership for groups which had the courage to tackle the problem of racial and religious prejudice.

The emphasis of these groups emphasized the need for greater participation by the laity in a movement which would function the year round, preaching and teaching brotherhood year round out of which came the National Conference of Churches and Jews.

Composed of leading citizens in most communities, the organization moved slowly confining its efforts to education and teaching peaceful penetration rather than contesting inequities in the courts and legislative halls. Generally speaking, its leaders were cautious in moving into controversial campaigns.

Fortunately, the peaceful and militant organization have moved ahead. They complement each other. And by so doing they have aroused the political and business leadership of the country to the point where they are all doing something as well as talking about human rights. Much has been accomplished.

February, the birth month of President Lincoln has long been observed as brotherhood month; the week nearest his birthday brotherhood week. And while special projects are conducted during this week, they emphasize that brotherhood is not just a month, week or day to be observed but that it is a 365-day a year continuous campaign against those evil faces who oppose and hate their neighbor because of the accident of race, religion or origin.

In view of the fact that evil forces are at work in the dark prying upon the minds of the ignorant, weak and frustrated, we believe the time has come when the National Conference of Christians and Jews, which has assumed greater leadership in the field of human rights, should move ahead with a more direct positive program which reaches more people. The civil rights activities in recent years have brought forth a lot of people who stand ready to help in a tangible way to aid our country to practice as well as preach democracy.

RECOGNIZING LEADERSHIP
AMONG NEGROES

Emilin Tunnell, former football star at Iowa University and as a member of the New York Giants football team, has been hired as a coach on the Giants squad.

John L. Grant, Athletic director at Lincoln (Mo.) University has been named as director for the 1965 Drake Relays.

Judge Luther T. Glanton has been named chairman of brotherhood week in Iowa.

These three incidents have but one relation: that those in charge recognize the worth of Negroes placed in the higher echelons of our daily chores and are using them as leaders in their field.

The old notion that the public will not accept such thing fades more and more each day.

PICKETS URGE REMOVAL OF
WHO CALLED NEGROES
"INFERIOR"

Riverside, Calif. — Members of CORE and two other civil rights groups wanted to address the most recent meeting of the county board of education and personally express their demand for the resignation of Dr. W. Edwin Gardner.

But when the board president, John Roberts, denied them this rights, they decided to picket the board meeting instead. One of the picket signs said: "Mississippi Needs 'Pop' Gardner."

At a board meeting on December 18, Gardner had asserted that Negroes are "genetically inferior."

If you saw the re-run of the fight between Floyd Patterson and George Chuvalo, on the sports network last Sunday, you saw what was probably the best heavyweight fight in years. Critics said neither man had a punch. But the fact remains that whatever they had for punches they, the two fellows, used them all evening. The two punchless fighters were busy throwing the punches they didn't have and every now and then one or the other's knees would buckle or he would be forced to try to clear his head after a few of those feather duster blows.

But the fellows were busy the whole twelve rounds and even after a couple of rounds they swapped the punches they didn't have after the bell had rung.

There wasn't any doubt as to the winner and we didn't think it was as close as Referee Jack Clayton said it was. But we guessed he was leaning over backwards to avoid a possible cry of favoritism. If we were to criticize Negro officials in mixed sports events of any kind we would say that too many of them unconsciously lean back to avoid that same favoritism. But we think they should be called as one sees them regardless of who is competing.

We thought Patterson was a real sport and a gentleman in victory. We always thought he was too fine a sportsman to be in the brutal kill or be killed game of boxing.

And yet the guy didn't back up from those punch exchanges after the bell. We were amused at Cassius Clay's comments. He does recognize good boxing when he sees it and didn't make any bones about who was the greatest.

We can't see where except for his talking the champ is a detriment to boxing. Nobody ever talked more and said less than Max Baer when he was champion. Baer's training habits left plenty to be desired. Clay doesn't drink, smoke or gamble we are told. Is that a bad example for any sport? His political and religious beliefs should be his private property and his utterances on those things should be treated as such. But back to the business at hand.

We thought Patterson planned to fight the rest of his battles as he fought this one and we also think he will get better as he fights often in this manner.

There was so much news in the air last week that it was hard to get around to it on a weekend basis. There was the signing of Willie Mays as baseball's highest paid performer. Then of course, there was the big fight. Then the Trotters were in town with their big show. Those guys can play enough basketball so they don't have to carry their own team opponents and still their's is a full evening of entertainment, which is all they really sell.

We would like to see East Waterloo and Dan Ross make it to the state high school basketball finals and maybe win the meet. The best team those guys ever had could have won the thing that year if their best player didn't get hurt and couldn't play in the final game. Maybe this club will have better luck.

"CAZZIE RUSSELL GOOD ENOUGH TO BUILD TEAM AROUND," SAYS OFFICIAL

New York—"Cazzie Russell is the one player in college today that you can build a new pro franchise around," says a veteran National Basketball Association official in the current issue of SPORT magazine.

Cazzie, a six-foot five and one-half inch, 225-pounder from the University of Michigan, has the size, the shots, the agility, and the uncanny passing ability to turn a group of journeyman pros into an exciting and cohesive unit. Russell compares favorably in style and ability with Oscar Robertson of the Cincinnati Royals, regarded by many as the outstanding player of all time. Only a junior, the Wolverine All-American still has a year to develop his game before joining pro ranks.

Clyde Duncan's
Track Team Wins

New York, N. Y.—Former North Des Moines prep Clyde Duncan ran a 49-second quarter-mile to help Texas Southern to the mile relay title in the New York Athletic Club games at Madison Square Garden Thursday night.

Texas Southern won the event with a 3-minute 17.2-second clocking.

Duncan's time was the third best on the team, Ray Saddler anchored the victory in 48 seconds while Artis Barrett ran his leg in 48.8.

Loyola Seeking
First Negro

New Orleans, La.—Loyola of New Orleans is making an effort to recruit its first Negro athlete.

Loyola is trying to sign Isaiah King, a 6-foot 5½-inch center with St. Augustine High, a Negro school, in New Orleans.

Has First Negro

Lake Placid, N.Y.—Thirteen-year-old Atoy Wilson, Jr., of Los Angeles becomes the first Negro Wednesday to compete in the United States figure skating championships.

The 5-foot 5-inch, 115-pound Wilson is entered in novice men's singles, the opening event of the four-day competition at the Olympic Arena.

"It's just wonderful to be here," Wilson said after a Tuesday night practice session.

Although this is his first trip to the national meet, Wilson has been on the amateur figure skating scene for several years.

He won the juvenile title in the Southwest Pacific regional in 1963 and placed second in the novice division in the Pacific Coast sectional in 1964.

Lincoln U. Coach
Drake Relays Referee

Jefferson City, Mo.—Dwight Reed, veteran track coach at Lincoln (Mo.) University, was selected Saturday as referee in college division for Drake Relays Apr. 23-24. Reed, also football coach and athletic director, has won six conference titles in track and five in football.

Fined $200 on Driving Charge

Ernest Samuel Redd III, 20, of 5109 S. W. 18th street, pleaded guilty Feb. 9 of driving while his license was suspended and was fined $200 or 20 days in jail by Municipal Judge Luther T. Glanton, Jr.

He was given until Apr. 30 to pay his fine. Redd was charged Nov. 29 after police stopped him on 9th street near the Des Moines Freeway.

Struck by Auto,
Leg Is Broken

Charles R. Houston, 71, of 1169 9th street, suffered a broken left leg, possible internal injuries and cuts and bruises Wednesday when he was struck by an auto on University avenue near Seventh street.

He was walking across University, 29 feet east of the Seventh street cross-walk, according to Patrolmen Phillip Lord and Gary L. Clark.

Clarence King, 64, of 1311 13th street, who was driving east on University, told the policemen he did not see the pedestrian until his left front fender struck Houston. King said he was going about 15 miles an hour. He left about 10 feet of skid marks, Lord and Clark said.

No charge was filed.

Claims Alcindor Could Play in NBA Now

New York—"We could use Lew Alcindor right now, even though he's only a high school kid," says general manager Eddie Donovan of the New York Knickerbockers in the current issue of SPORT magazine.

Donovan calls the seven-foot one inch senior from Power Memorial in New York City "the best high school player I've ever seen." Experts agree that Alcindor is the top high school player in the country and has the potential to become a superstar in professional ranks.

The fact that he's 7-1 would make Alcindor a prime college and professional prospect even if he had very little natural athletic ability, but the fact is that he exhibits extraordinary mobility and leaping ability on the court. "I am very impressed with his coordination," says Philadelphia 76er ace Wilt Chamberlain, the man to whom the youngster is constantly being compared.

Bob Hayes Top
Track Athlete

Los Altos, Calif.—(FAMU)—Bob Hayes of Florida A&M University was picked by the "Track and Field News" as the top track athlete in the United States in '64.

The Jacksonville senior set world marks in the 60, 70, and 100 yard dashes. He won the 100-meter dash in the '64 Olympic Games in Tokyo, Japan, last October in a world and Olympic-tying time of 10 seconds flat. He also anchored the U.S. 400-meter relay quartet to a world mark of 39 seconds flat.

Pete Brown Is Acclaimed As First
Truly Gifted Golfer

Oakland, Calif.—A noted West Coast sports columnist has labeled 29-year-old Pete Brown as the "first truly gifted Negro golfer," rating him substantially over cigar-smoking Charlie Sifford, first Negro to crash the big money tournaments.

Oakland Tribune columnist Ray Haywood said: "Brown is a better (and longer) driver, just as straight, equal with the irons and a better putter under pressure" than Sifford. Brown, who finished "out of the money" in the recent Bing Crosby Tournament at Pebble Beach, Calif., earned $28,000 last year in tournament play. Sifford finished the tourney in the money.

HEALTH FOR ALL

THIEF OF GOOD HEALTH

Call it the "sneaky Pete" of health hazards. It does its work quietly, gradually, imperceptibly. Often it's invisible, inaudible, impalpable to the touch, tasteless, sometimes even odorless. Its name is Air Pollution.

Why is it a hazard? Because even at best it can cause inflamed eyes, irritated noses and throats, soiled and damaged clothing, marred buildings, spoiled crops, blighted trees and flowers.

Uncomfortable

At worst it can make healthy people uncomfortable, sick people sicker. It can, and has, filled hospitals. And though it's too insidious an operator to leave sure evidence of murder, it may have caused multiple deaths on more than one occasion.

Is there a cure? Most likely, but it's a long, complex, and difficult business. In earlier days, "dirty air" could be substantially improved just by getting factories to convert from soft to hard coal. Today the manufacture of new chemicals, plastics, other new products releases fumes which, acted upon by sunlight or atmosphere, can turn into noxious pollutants. Wastes from burning automotive fuel are another major factor in the over-all problem.

Progress

Yet some progress can be, and has been, made. To reduce auto crankcase fumes, all new American-made cars are now being equipped with control devices. One State—California—also requires that exhaust control apparatus be installed as soon as feasible. Many states have enacted air pollution control laws. Some industries are studying the problem. Large federal, state, and private research projects are under way.

Facts

You, the private citizen, can help, too. An up-to-date leaflet telling how has been issued by the National Tuberculosis Association. It's called, "Air Pollution—The Facts." Copies are available free from your County TB & Health Association or the Iowa TB and Health Association, 1818 High Street, Des Moines, Iowa, 50309.

acute ulcers. Surgeons removed half of his stomach. From then on he organized his life carefully and was able to spend more leisure time with his family—his pretty wife, the former Mary Ellington, (also a vocalist) and their five children, Carol, 19, Natalie, 14, twins, Casey and Timolin, 3 and an adopted son, Nat Kelly.

Wife Knew

At his bedside when he died was his wife, who had taken him on his last drive the afternoon before. She had been told two days before by the doctors that there was no hope, that his life was ebbing away. She kept this knowledge a secret from her husband and from the world. For it was on the same day Friday that he had granted an interview, his first, since he had been stricken two months before.

Interview

Speaking through his wife he had said: "so-called big things become small things; and you find the so-called small things are really the most important things. I have faith, and placed myself in the hands of God."

Burial

Before last rites today the body lay in a sealed casket in the St. James Episcopal Church from 3 to 10 p.m. Wednesday to permit his fans to pay their last respects. Entombment was in Forest Lawn Memorial Park in nearby Glendale.

Surviving besides his wife and children, are his mother, Mrs. Corabelle Cole of Waukegan; a sister, Evelyn, and three brothers, Eddie, Isaac and Fred.
