President Tells Congress, Nation- 'We Must Act Now; No....Pride in Selma, Ala'

Washington, D.C.—The nation's chief executive met head on the mounting racial crisis symbolized by Selma, Ala., violence and unrest as he demanded Congress and the nation to "act now" on granting human rights to all men. President Johnson made his eloquent, hard-hitting appeal in a televised speech Monday night.

President Johnson's speech was made after a personal meeting with

Gov. George Wallace of Alabama and after some 4,000 ministers gathered in Washington, D.C. demanding executive action. It preceded his outlined proposed legislation to Congress.

President Johnson's speech said in part:

I speak tonight for the dignity of man and the destiny of democracy.

I urge members of both parties—Americans of all religions and colors—from every section—to join me in that cause.

No Pride in Selma

There is no cause for pride in what happened in Selma.

There is no cause for self satisfaction in the long denial of equal rights of millions of Americans.

There is no Negro problem. There is no Southern problem or Northern problem, there is only an American problem.

And we are met as Americans to solve it.

Time of Justice

Many of the issues of civil rights are complex and difficult. But about this there can be no argument. Every American citizen must have an equal right to vote. There is no reason which can excuse the denial of that right. There is no duty which weighs more heavily on us than the duty to insure that right.

The time of justice has now come. No force can hold it back. It is right—in the eyes of man and God—that it should come. And when it does, that day will brighten the lives of every American.

Real Hero

The real hero of this struggle is the American Negro. His actions and protests—his courage to risk safety and even life—have awakened the conscience of the nation. His demonstrations have been designed to call attention to injustice, to provoke change and stir reform. He has called upon us to make good the promise of America. And who among us can say we would have made the same progress were it not for his persistent bravery, and his faith in American democracy.

Open Hope

The bill I am presenting will be known as a civil rights bill. But in a larger sense, most of the program I am recommending is a civil rights program. Its object is to open the city of hope to all our people.

All Americans must have the right to vote. And we are going to give them that right.

All Americans must have the privilege of equal housing.

ment leaders, as President Johnson made his joint speech to Congress and to the nation, asking for prompt action on voting rights legislation to insure Negro rights.

Praise for Speech

Montgomery, Ala.—Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., Nobel Peace Prize winner who has personally led much of the voter drive demonstrations in Selma and other Alabama cities, had high praise for President Johnson's speech calling it "one of the most eloquent, unequivocal and passionate pleas for human rights ever made by a president of the United States."

Day by Day Review

Alabama Unrest, Violence Continues as Nation Protests

The death of the Rev. James J. Reeb after he was attacked in Selma, Ala., the continued attempts for a demonstration for a march on the Alabama state capitol, the mounting outraged protest over the nation and the hardhitting speech demanding voting rights for "for all now" by President Johnson, dominated the headlines over the past week.

The following include flashback highlights of a day by day accounts of racial unrest and violence in the United States over the past week.

Clergy, Church Leaders Raise Voices in Protest

National Council Of Churches Appeal

New York, N. Y.—Bishop Reuben H. Mueller, President of the National Council of Churches, called on the heads of the Council's 30 member denominations to rally church members behind intensive efforts "for the realization of the right to vote."

In a "statement of conscience," he further urged church members to support adequate Federal legislation guaranteeing the right to vote and to urge the Federal Government to use every means to guarantee the voting right "as well as the safety and security of people in its exercise."

The Council Monday issued an appeal to clergy and laity to join in the voter registration demonstration in Selma, Alabama, today. With less than one day's notice, he said, between 500 and 600 clergymen and church members reached Selma from all parts of the country to participate.

Presbyterians Urged

New York—The nation's 3.3 million United Presbyterians were urged last night to press for Presidential and Congressional action on behalf of Negroes in Selma, Ala.

The General Council of the denomination's General Assembly adopted a resolution calling upon church members "to petition the President of the United States, the Attorney General, and their representatives in the Congress to act promptly under the powers of the Federal Government to establish law and order in Alabama and in any other state where local government fails to protect the exercise of the constitutional rights of all U.S. citizens."

Iowans Express Sympathy Demonstrations for Negroes, Memorializes Boston Pastor

Burlington Rite

Burlington, Ia.—About 150 persons attended a memorial service Sunday for the Rev. James Reeb of Boston, Unitarian minister fatally beaten last week in racial strife at Selma, Ala.

Corinthian Observes Rights Demonstration

A prayer and freedom demonstration were observed last Sunday morning at the close of the 11 a.m. service. The pastor, Rev. N. R. Olphin had Mrs. Doris Wade and Mrs. Clara Bayles to lead in the singing of Freedom songs.

The congregation joined hands in front and sang. The demonstration effected a duplication of the "spirit" present in Selma, Ala., last week, as those who attempted to march were hit and beaten, and yet, continued to sing and pray and march," said the Rev. Mr. Olphin.

A prayer was offered for the family of the Rev. James J. Reeb, of Boston, Mass., who was fatally beaten in Selma. A sum of $95.00 was collected to help feed visitors to Selma.

300 Attend Protest, Memorial Services At First Baptist

About 300 persons of all denominations attended a witness and prayer service at First Baptist church, 8th and High streets, on Sunday afternoon. The service was sponsored by the Des Moines Ministerial Association.

One of the speakers, the Rev. Louis Valbricht, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, told the participants that "whether we like it or not, we are involved."

Speaking of the civil rights crisis in Selma, Ala., he said, "All the state troopers and posses needed was the swastika on their arms." He added, "It can happen here if we are silent."

Other Speakers

Other speakers included Dr. James Lenhart, pastor of Plymouth Congregational Church; Ernest Russell, speaking for Mayor Charles Iles; Municipal Court Judge Luther T. Glanton, Jr., Robert E. Mannheimer; the Rev. Kenneth McNeil, pastor of Burns Methodist Church; and the Rev. Donald Eagle, regional director of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Memorial

Services were led by the Rev. John Parrott, president of the Des Moines Ministerial Association, and the Rev. C. Dendy Garrett, pastor of Wesley Methodist Church, who delivered a memorial to the Rev. James Reeb of Boston, Mass., who died of a beating received in Selma.

Sioux City Protests Alabama Violence

Sioux City—Singing and prayers echoed in the busy streets of downtown Sioux City at 5 p.m. Friday, Mar. 12 as some 200 persons gathered to "sympathize with the people in Alabama" during a human rights demonstration.

The entire City Council was there as Louis Garland, Iowa state president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, led the orderly demonstration on the steps of City Hall.

The meeting, attended by many Sioux City Negroes, clergymen and passersby, was called to protest the "regrettable conditions" in the South during recent voter registration drives.

Negroes Will Strike Back, Wilkins Warns

New York—Negroes will not continue to endure what was put upon them in Selma on Sunday, March 7, Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive director, angrily asserted at a news conference here, Monday, March 8, following a meeting of the Executive Committee of the NAACP Board of Directors.

After reading from a statement issued by the Executive Committee calling for Federal intervention, including troops, in Alabama, Mr. Wilkins warned that Negroes "would be forced to defend themselves in the absence of Federal protection."

No Change

Asked by a newsman if this indicated a change in NAACP policy, Mr. Wilkins said "No," and recalled that the Association has always asserted the right to self-defense.

He cited cases, dating back to 1919, in which the NAACP had defended in court, and won freedom for, Negroes accused of killing white persons who attacked them.

"It can be anticipated," he said, "that Negroes will strike back with whatever weapons they have available. The brutality of the bloody Sunday assault is more than they can be expected to take."

Legislature

Ray urged the Iowa Legislature to establish a Human Rights Commission in the state. "The time certainly has come for this session to pass legislation to set up a commission that would be fair to all the people in Iowa," he said.

John B. Russwurm, First Negro Publisher, Fought Prejudice

When seventy-five publishers and top editors of Negro newspapers met in New York last week, they gathered not only to observe the 138th anniversary of the Negro press, but also to honor the first Negro publisher, John Russwurm who used his writing eloquence to crusade against racial prejudice and to contend for immediate emancipation for the Negro.

Jamaican

Born in Jamaica, West Indies, in October 1799, Russwurm was the son of a white American father and a Jamaican mother. When the senior Russwurm moved to the United States, he sent his son to Canada and, to conceal their relationship, renamed the boy—symbolically—John Brown. Later, when the boy's father remarried, his white wife insisted

Formal Education

Russwurm received his formal education in Canada. In 1826, graduating from Bowdoin College, he became the first Negro college graduate in the United States.

that the youngster be taken into the family circle.

In March, 1827, in New York City, Russwurm published the first U. S. Negro newspaper which he called "Freedom's Journal," later re-naming it—in March, 1828—"Rights of All."

Prominent

Swiftly, Russwurm became one of the most prominent and persuasive advocates of freedom for the Negro. Both colored and white people who were fighting against slavery found his newspaper an instrument in which to voice their views. Russwurm's newspaper fought valiantly against the American Colonization Society and others who wanted to send the Negro away from America. Although Russwurm, in 1830, made a direct about face to embrace colonization, as a result of which he lost the loyalties of Negroes, his contribution in bringing about the creation of the first Negro newspaper cannot be denied.

UNCF Passes Annual Goal

New York, N. Y.—For the first time in its 21-year history, the United Negro College Fund surpassed its annual goal, Carl M. Anderson, the Fund's national chairman reported in the organization's year-end report. In 1964 the Fund received $3,072,764, exceeding its goal by $72,764.

The Fund also reported that gifts from corporations amounted to $1,268,127, from foundations $437,878. The communities near member colleges contributed $300,564. Students at the Fund's member colleges gave $61,301. Students from 84 other colleges contributed more than $16,000.

Federated Clubwomen Will Initiate Anti-Poverty Plans

Washington, D. C.—The National Association of Colored Women's Clubs, Inc., an organization of 100,000 women and girls, joins the more than 30 national groups in drafting plans to strike a blow at poverty in the nation.

Mrs. Mamie B. Reese of Albany, Ga., National President, has announced Association plans to give full implementation to the recently adopted biennial theme of the organization—"The Role of Federated Clubwomen in the Design for a Great Society". The program calls for the enlargement of present projects and the initiation of additional ones. The Economic Opportunity Act, as related to President Johnson's proposals to wipe out poverty, offers direction to the efforts of these clubwomen. Mrs. Reese formerly lived in Des Moines.

Recruit Trainees

With organized club groups in forty states, the National Association has the structure for surveying the physical needs and locating additional community centers for training. This organizational structure (diagram attached) represents national, regional state and local departments, committees, and commissions which offer educational, economic and cultural programs for girls (ages 10-18); young adults (ages 18-25); a junior woman's division (ages 25-35) and a senior woman's division (over 35). Each department is designed to guide every woman and girl toward her full potential. (Boys are included in all of the youth activities).

First Hand

Working first hand with these individuals and groups makes it easy to relate the activities to the needs of the groups. Present plans of the Association call for enlarging the projects now in operation in the south particularly, and establishing a National Cultural Center at the

Headquarters building in Washington, D. C.

Southern States

The mass enrollment of Federated clubwomen and girls in the Southern states is consistent with the populous Negro areas. The possibility for the recruitment of volunteer instructors and the opportunity for trainees give reason for continuing the groundwork in these programs. There are numerous qualified and experienced counselors, home economics, art, music and other subject matter area teachers available for services in such centers.

The NACWC was organized in 1896 in Washington, D. C. with Dr. Mary Church Terrell as first president. The purpose was to marshal the forces of Negro women to life the standards of home life, and to have the nation become aware of the hopes and undeveloped talents of this large segment of America's population. Mrs. Mamie B. Reese is the Association's 17th president.

Around the nation over the weekend, memorial services, picketing, sit-in and other protest demonstrations held in sympathy of the brave Negro efforts in Selma, Ala., and for the white Boston minister who laid down his life for the cause, dominated the headlines. For those who acted out of the depth of their convictions, we have only admiration and encouragement. Regardless of how nonchalant and secure they seem on the surface, there are moments, though secondary of importance, when they are assailed by the dangers. It has often been said that the bravest of the brave, act courageously despite their fears and misgivings. That kind of bravery common in war and moments of stress, today is becoming common, even in these days of surface peace.

But the past week also had its lighter side. Mrs. George Clinton, of 725 S.E. 25th street received a letter from her daughter, Carolyn, who is a sophomore at the University of Iowa. She happily reported the news that she has been promoted to secretary for Mr. Tippet in the Physiology department at the University. The job means increase in pay to help her parents with her expenses.

Mrs. Ralph Parker, 1326 DeWolf street, was battling a fluctuating case of laryngitis this week. We encountered her late last week in the yard goods section of S. & L. department store. It was such a crush of humanity, housewives who had come when the doors opened to take advantage of specials and seek out good buys on yard goods. Like us who is planning to sew a school wardrobe for our youngest who will enter kindergarten next fall and re-

In addition the Bowser backyard in Wichita has always had a basketball court where many past stars of Wichita university, such as Dave Stallworth and Kelly Pete, have gathered for workouts. Colleen began playing basketball in the Biddy league of the YW and also played with the Salvation Army teams.

Mrs. Bowser, who has a gracious, generous smile and soft voice, spent a few anxious moments during the first few minutes of the game and at intervals, because "her (Colleen) hook isn't working tonight."

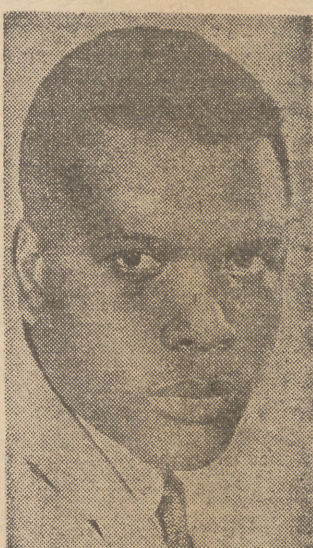

We also learned that Mrs. Bowser was a charter member of the Wichita chapter of Jack and Jill of America, Inc., but after her daughter left, she became inactive.

Colleen, who doesn't limit her sports activities to basketball, has about 30 trophies which adorned the Bowser home in Wichita.

It was pleasant to see Mrs. Bill Boyd, the former Delores Brown of Ankeny, receive a trophy and be inducted into the Iowa Hall of Fame. She was very smart in her fur topped suit on TV Saturday night. She and her husband, came for the occasion from their home in Seaside, Calif.

PRESIDENT'S SPEECH
CLEARS THE AIR

When Congress passed the 13th, 14th and 15th amendments to the Constitution, it attempted to place the legal status of Negroes on the same basis of that of white people. This is fully emphasized by the following portion of the 14th Amendment "nor shall any state . . . deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws."

Many people in America, as well as foreign countries find it difficult to understand why the federal government cannot protect the rights of its citizens against unequal enforcement of the law when the Constitution specifically provides for it.

In his speech Monday night, President Johnson cleared the air when he told those states which are denying Negroes the equal protection of the law that the federal government would step in and do the job. He made it clear that he would go the limit to accomplish that end.

David Lawrence and others who argue against the proposals of President Johnson's bill seem to get the idea the equal protection of the law applies to criminal laws only when it actually applies to human conduct of men in America in all walks of life.

At the time the 15th Amendment was passed, Congress provided that should citizens of a state be deprived of their right to vote, that state's representation in Congress should be cut proportionately. This has been the law of the land for a hundred years and still Negroes have been counted in determining representation in Congress but the congressional strength has not been cut proportionately.

Negroes have complained of this for years, but through the connivance with northern and southern members of Congress, nothing has been done. This fraud continues to be perpetuated upon the Negroes even in these enlightened times.

The agitation brought on by racial unrest in Selma and other places has stepped up the protest of Negroes and their friends in behalf of equal rights. They no longer remain idly by and see their rights bartered away by seeming politicians. The demand for action is for now.

President Johnson's appeal indicated that his mind had been tuned to that of oppressed Negroes. Congress will pass the legislation the president requested. Unwilling states will eventually fall in line.

DISORDERLY CONDUCT IS NOT CIVIL RIGHTS

The Bystander has received a letter from a lady who stated that on March 4 about 20 Negro boys at 28th and Center Street threw snow balls at her car and when she stopped and got out to inspect the damage they converged on the scene and abuse her furiously.

Such acts are cowardly, mean and an indication of disrespect for others whether done by whites or Negroes.

It is fun for boys to throw snow balls, but not at individuals other than those with whom they are associated. Certainly conduct of this kind is not to be condoned for it denotes ill manners of people generally.

The unrest of groups today has a tendency to encourage people to take the law in their own hands and treat other people as they see fit. This has been true of some labor strikes, some protest for civil rights, some protest by students in colleges. It is well and good for a man to stand up for his rights, but when that stand infringes upon the rights of someone else, it is time to call a halt.

Some brave Negroes have made a heroic fight to ensure every citizen his rights. They are being joined more and more by white people who realize that to deny one citizen his rights may be the cause to deny those of another person.

Some youngsters seem to think that the civil rights movement is designed to help them get even with someone else. Nothing is further from the truth.

This government is based on law and order. We must preserve it. We must work for it. Our social and religious organizations have a great responsibility to

Valley Finishes 2nd in Girls Cage Meet;
C. Bowser Named to All-Tournament Team

The valiant, first rate Tigerettes of the Valley High school made history by going all the way to the Girls state finals last week but were forced to bow to a better team, South Hamilton of Jewel in the title game before a packed crowd of 15,000 at Veteran's Auditorium last Saturday night.

Colleen Bowser, a transfer student from Wichita, Kans., showed the fans a quality of offensive and defensive moves rarely seen in girl's basketball. Her superb ball handling, passing, lay-up shots, hooks, rebounding ability and occasion terrific saves, thrilled the basketball spectator, who delight in true athletic achievements. Fans who packed the auditorium to the rafters on Friday and Saturday night saw why she had figured so importantly, along with Anita Sankey, in Valley's drive to the tournament.

However, good the Valley forwards were, they were equaled and on occasion surpassed by the guard court, one of whose member, Mary Jo Gregory, made the all-tournament team, along with Bowser and Sankey.

Scoring Derby
In the tournament scoring derby Sankey had 99 points and Bowser had 78 in the four-game series. In the audience to watch their daughter during the tournament were Miss Bowser's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Bowser, and son, who motored from Wichita, last Wednesday. The Tigerettes who entered the tournament on a 22-0 skein, began their first game against Twin Rivers of Bode a little nervously, but forged back in the first period to roll to an easy 79-64. Star forwards Anita Sankey garnered 28 points, Colleen Bowser, 23, and Jean Brabben, 24.

Downs No. 2
The next night, Thursday, Valley High had another comparatively easy game against highly rated No. 2 Mediapolis, one of the speediest teams in the tournament. The score was 76-61. Sankey, rated as one of the best outshooters in recent years, hit for 29 points, and Bowser for 26.

Valley went on their winning ways in the semi-finals, which turned out to be a cliff-hanger between ball-control-conscious West Liberty and the Tigerettes. The West Liberty girls led all the way, displaying almost faultless defense throughout the game until the final two minutes, when Valley trailing by 39-36, took advantage of a wild cross court pass, and jumped in the lead on the strength of Sankey's hot shooting. She made 20 points, making seven in the last one-and-a-half minutes.

South Hamilton
And so the Valley High Tigerettes gathered for the title game, facing South Hamilton, who last year had to settle for second place. They were not to be denied this year, and they weren't. The score was 61-47, but until the final period, the game has been close although Valley was never to take the lead.

Few Times
Valley set something of another mark for a losing team. Under the remarkable coaching of Chuck Neubauer, the girls did little crying or indulging in bitter self-reproach. Their composure was admirable, when three of their members came out for the all-tournament team, and later when the entire team came out for pictures.

Evelu Hurd
The second team, which frequently came out for the final minute of play, includes Evelu Hurd, second Negro on the team. She is diminutive in physical stature, but her scappy play in the guard court, has great promise for the future.

Mays Will Listen
To Players' Woes

Casa Grande, Ariz.—There's no doubt that Willie Mays, baseball's highest paid player, will have more problems this season.

But they won't be his. Under the new regime of Manager Herman Franks, the $105,000 center fielder figures to qualify for an oak-leaf cluster to go with his captain's rating by acting as liaison between the manager and the San Francisco players.

"I can only get so close to the players," said Franks in explaining his decision to tap Mays for the new job. "He can get closer."

"Some players feel they can't go to the manager with their problems," said Mays. "They're embarrassed and can talk about their problems with a player easier. Then I'll take the matter up with the manager and get his advice."

Did the new job mean that Mays is thinking of a coaching or managing career when his playing days are over?

"No," he said quickly and firmly. "When you start thinking about managing and coaching you have to think about limiting your playing and I don't want to do that yet."

DEAR EDITOR:

I enclose a copy of "The Tribute to Rev. James Reeb." Kindly find a place for it in your paper. I will be most appreciative.

A condolence was sent by the Negro people of Fort Dodge to the widow and family, feeling this was the Christian way.

A TRIBUTE TO
REV. JAMES REEB

We understand his irrevocable destiny
When the Macedonian Call was heard
His brothers in Christ were tortured and abused
He could not recant the bitter test he faced
A righteous cause was sought
Togetherness his aim
Threats or promises could not efface him
Many are inspired by his example
A shining light with good works
Meekness and humbleness to behold
He knew that this was a blessed and beautiful step
Nearer to God
His precious Crown of Glory is gained.

Selma. The statement continued that "The best mind of our nation is now being expressed in demonstrations, prayer vigils, contributions, physical presence, and other ways . . ."

"The plain truth is that Selma is not simply one place on the map. It is a symptom and symbol of racial hatred wherever it occurs. That is why we join hearts and hands with students and all others who believe in and support the non-violent approach to problems of race relations everywhere."

Bishop Thomas was in North Carolina and unable to attend the demonstration.

Gentleness. Give me a word, a touch to fill the Lonely life, faith for the ill,
And courage to keep hearts up though
My own is feeling just as low.
When men have bitter things to meet

And quail and would accept defeat
Then let me lift their eyes to see the vision of Thy victory.
Then let me lift their eyes to see the vision of Thy victory.
Help me to help; help me to give
The wisdom and the will to live!

About 'Free Riding'

The Toronto Newspaper Guild offers this bit of philosophy regarding the "free riders."

Longfellow could take a worthless piece of paper, write a poem on it, and make it worth $5000 . . . THAT'S GENIUS.

There are a few men who can write a few words on a piece of paper and make it worth a million dollars . . . THAT'S CAPITAL.

A mechanic can take material worth $5 and make it into watch springs worth $30,000 . . . THAT'S SKILL.

A painter can take a 50-cent piece of canvas, paint a picture on it and make it worth $1,000 . . . THAT'S ART.

A man can take an item worth 75 cents and sell it to another for a dollar . . . THAT'S BUSINESS.

The author of this article could write a check for $9,000, but it wouldn't be worth a cent . . .

THAT'S ROUGH.

I know a man who works in an organized plant, has regular working hours, paid vacations and numerous other union-negotiated benefits and still won't join the union . . . THAT'S CHEATING.
