Two Injured in Crash On D. M. Freeway

Two persons miraculously escaped death when the car in which they were riding struck a bridge abutment early Monday on the Des Moines Freeway.

Critically injured were Clark J. Yeager, 40, of 1140 Ascension street, driver of the car and a woman passenger, Mary Jane Jones, 28, of 554 19th street who was hurt less seriously. Both were taken to Broadlawn Polk County hospital where they were reported in "fair" condition. Yeager suffered facial and internal injuries when he was thrown from the car. Miss Jones suffered a fracture of the right leg. She was pinned in the car several minutes before police and ambulance attendants could free her.

The accident took place at the 5th avenue exit of the Freeway about 2:30 a.m. Monday.

Straddled

Patrolman Richard Mould said Yeager, driving east on the Freeway, continued to travel straight ahead when he reached a point where traffic leaving the Freeway turns right and traffic proceeding turns left.

The car straddled the island that divides the two lanes knocked down a steel signpost struck the bridge abutment, then bounced into the traveled part of the Freeway, Mould said.

The car was demolished, he said.

4-H CONFERENCE HIGHLIGHT

An address by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and the presentation of a 4-H desk set to him were highlights of the 35th National 4-H Conference here in Washington recently. Elizabeth Covington, standing with the Secretary, introduced him and presented him the gift. Like Secretary Freeman, she is from Minneapolis, Minn. Looking on are Harriette Lewis, 4-H delegate of

Beatrice Carson, Recruiter for State Dept., Seeks Stenos, Clerks for Foreign Service

BY FRANCES E. HAWTHORNE
"Either they don't have a sense of adventure or they don't know about it," said Miss Beatrice E. Carson, recruiter for the U.S. State Department, as she speculated why more Negroes have not entered the Foreign service field.

Pioneered

Miss Carson, who has been a pioneering secretary all her life in helping to break the color barrier in many government agencies, was in Des Moines for 10 days to open offices at the Iowa State Employment Office, 5th and Grand avenue, to recruit clerical and secretarial personnel for embassies and consulates overseas. She is the only Negro of four women holding the position. She was appointed to the job last December, her first state side government position in 14 years.

"We have some 300 offices in 100 countries, and wherever the State Department has an office, there are secretaries and the other office workers," she said.

Jobs

"Right now we need secretaries, and clerk stenographers, clerk typists for the Washington, D.C. offices as well as for overseas. These can be men or women. They must be single, have no dependents and be willing to serve anywhere in the world.

"For overseas assignments secretaries must pass a qualification test administered by the Iowa State Employment Service, which covers typing, shorthand, verbal ability and spelling. For appointment to the D. C. office, they must of course, pass the federal civil service test.

Communications

"We have a dire need for communications clerk. We are looking for applicants with teletype or cryptograph training in the military and they must have at least 18 months of operational experience. These mostly are men, since few women have this training. They may be married or single. They also must pass the state employment test. Then they are put through our huge communications school in Washington.

State NAACP Will Hold Board June 5

The Iowa State Conference of Branches of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will hold its spring board meeting on Saturday, June 5 at 1 p.m. at the YMCA, 101 Locust street in the Iowa room. L. A. Garland, Sioux City, is president.

Predict Appointment Of First Negro Woman Ambassador

New York—President Johnson will soon name 41-year-old Mrs. Patricia Harris to the post of Ambassador to Luxembourg, The Insider's Newsletter said today.

Mrs. Harris, associate professor of constitutional law at Howard University, will be the first Negro woman Ambassador to any country.

A longtime supporter and campaigner for President Johnson, Mrs. Harris is currently a member of the Commission on the Status of Puerto Rico.

The late President Kennedy appointed her co-chairman of the National Women's Committee for Civil Rights.

4 Companions Attempted to Help Victim Swim But He Panicked in the Reservoir

Iowa City, Ia.—Tragedy struck the University of Iowa and its football team Monday when Ivory McDowell, Jr., regular defensive halfback drowned in the Coralville Reservoir.

Four other students with McDowell on a hiking trip at the reservoir were helping the 21-year-old junior athlete from St. Louis, Mo., when he panicked and went under. They searched in vain to find him in the water.

Not Good Swimmer

The students told police McDowell was not a good swimmer. They were on a hiking jaunt at the reservoir, about six miles north of Iowa City, when they decided to swim across an inlet.

The drowning was reported at 4:30 p.m. and the body was recovered by U. S. Coast Guard reserves and Johnson County rescue units about two hours later.

35 Feet of Water

Dr. George Callahan, Johnson County medical examiner, said McDowell drowned in about 35 feet of water.

The other students with McDowell were another football player, Karl Ryan, junior from Amityville, N. Y.; John Burgermeister, sophomore from Arlington Heights, Ill.; Wilbur Devine, junior from Beaver Falls, Pa., and Andy Weber, graduate student from Flushing, N. Y.

Personal Loss

Coach Jerry Burns called the death "a personal loss to myself, the coaching staff and the team. Ivory was a fine kid in every respect and a wonderful young man to have associated with the football team."

He was the third Hawkeye to be killed since Burns became head coach in 1961. The others were Richard (Skip) Carle and Jim Helgens both killed in auto accidents.

Letters

McDowell played halfback as a freshman and lettered as an end in 1963 before moving to the defensive halfback position last season. He also had won two letters on the fencing team.

The 6-foot 4-inch, 186-pound speedster led Iowa last season in pass interceptions with four and had a 26-yard average on kickoff returns, best on the team.

He was majoring in geography with a minor in physical education.

Spell Out Guidelines for Public School Desegregation Under '64 Civil Rights Act

Washington, D. C.—Guidelines for public school desegregation plans under the Civil Rights Act of 1964 have been issued by the Office of Education, U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. They set forth standards which include:

Target Date

★ A target date of the fall of 1967 for desegregation of all grades of a school system as a qualification for Federal financial assistance to education programs.

★ A "substantial good faith" start beginning with the 1965-66 school year with desegregation of at least four grades. The grades should include the first grade, the first and last high school grades, and the lowest grade of junior high.

Plans Required

Francis Keppel, Commissioner of Education, said he will be governed by the standards in determining the adequacy of desegregation plans. The standards were prepared in the light of recent court decisions calling for an accelerated rate of desegregation. Desegregation plans are required under Title VI of the Civil Rights Act from school districts which operate dual or segregated systems before they may qualify for Federal funds.

Mailed

The guidelines are being mailed to July 2, the date on which the employment section of the Civil Rights Bill becomes effective.

The change in the hiring policies of the financial institutions was brought about through negotiations with the Memphis NAACP Branch's Bank Employment Committee, which is headed by Vasco A. Smith, Jr. The NAACP has also been conducting protest demonstrations for the past several months. Jesse Turner is president of the branch.

Responsibility

In a letter to school authorities sent with the guidelines, Keppel said the responsibility for carrying out a desegregation plan "must inevitably rest with local officials. The enclosed standards, however, should help school officials develop desegregation plans that are adequate for the purpose of Title VI."

Title VI

Title VI of the Civil Rights Act provides that "no person . . . shall on the ground of race, color, or national origin, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance.

Regulations

"I realize the great difficulty that many school districts face in adopting a plan for desegregation," Keppel wrote. "Nevertheless, the law and the regulations (HEW regulations governing Title VI) require school authorities to take the necessary action to end the dual system of schools for white and Negro students as quickly as possible if the district is to participate in federally assisted program. The plan must be sufficient to achieve this result."

He pointed out that the Civil Rights Act prohibits Federal support of programs that discriminate. He said he could see no reason why

In Alabama Black Belt

White Citizen's Council Is More Dreaded and Powerful Than the KKK Ever Was

EDITOR—Many people throughout the country are calling for an investigation of the Ku Klux Klan. The Klan is well known for the type of activity that they engage in. An even more powerful group is active in the South. They work quietly and behind the scenes. They have controlled state governments and in Alabama, in the City of Selma they have untold power. This is the story of the White Citizens' Council.

Selma, Ala.—The National Guard Armory was full of 1500 white citizens in their Sunday best eating barbecue chicken at $1.50 a person. By their looks the audience was made up of middle class business people, professionals and well to do farmers, with their wives and children. It could have been a Monday night church dinner anywhere in the United States. But this dinner wasn't just anywhere; it was in Selma, Ala., and the people were there to hear Ross Barnett.

Main Attraction

"Thank God that I am an American, a Southerner, a Mississippian and a charter member of the Mississippi White Citizens' Council," yelled Barnett. The former Mississippi governor was the main attraction at the Dallas County White Citizens' Council annual membership dinner and rally.

Barnett told them that, "The secret purpose of our enemies is to diffuse our blood, confuse our minds and degrade our character, that we may not be able to stand against the wiles of the devil."

Negroes Meet

While he was speaking an equal number of Negroes were meeting across town in two churches listening to John Lewis, chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) and Dr. Martin Luther King of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC). King told the crowd, "Nothing will turn us back now."

The SNCC and SCLC voter registration drive had, on that Feb. 22, gone into its sixth week with over 3500 people seeing the jails of Selma and Marion in nearby Perry County.

Black Belt

Dallas County, population 57,000, is located in the heart of Black Belt Alabama. Selma is its county seat. It is a county where 87% of all Negro families make less than $3,000 and where 67% of the Negroes have less than a high school education. It is a county that boasts that it has the first, largest and most active chapters of Alabama's Association of Citizens Councils.

Program

The announced program of the Dallas County White Citizens' Council is "to maintain states rights, segregation and racial integrity." The Council states that it is "leading the resistance movement against race mixers, and keeping advocates of racial strife out of many communities." It says that, "It is preserving our social and economic order by acting quietly and without fanfare . . . to prevent racial strife."

Control

The Council's definition of "racial strife" was brought out in an ad in the Selma TIMES-JOURNAL, June 2, 1963. It asked, "Is it worth four dollars (membership) to you to prevent sit-ins, mob marches and wholesale Negro Voter registration efforts in Selma?"

In order to "prevent" Negro activity the Council must maintain control over the whole community. This means not only keeping Negroes "in line" but also whites who do not follow its program.

2 Means

The white group maintains its control through two means: organization and infiltration. It organizes the white leadership of the community to effect its program, because in order to be effective the Council must eliminate all dissent from whites.

Most whites in the community are members, but not all by choice. "There is great social and economic pressure to join. Not to join would be socially lowering and economically damaging," a local white woman said.

Pressure

The Council has many means to pressure those who do not join. In May, 1959, the Dallas Council dealt with uncooperative whites by publishing a list of all business and professional people who were not members.

Prevention

An example of the way the Council and its members "prevent" Negro registration is an incident involving Charlie Dunn, a reported Citizens' Council member and owner of Dunn's Rest Home: (A number of local whites and Negroes report, essentially, the same story.) In the summer of 1964, workers for SNCC sponsored a "Freedom Day" in which local Negroes line up at the courthouse to attempt to register. On that day Dunn went to the courthouse to check if any of "his Negroes" were on the registration line. He saw one; and the next day when the Negro woman appeared for work, Dunn told her that she was fired. Before she left, Dunn also assaulted her, which led to the rest of his 40 Negro employees walking off their jobs.

The unemployed Negroes found it impossible to find new jobs. A local white woman explained, "Dunn and/or the Citizens' Council had circulated a 'blacklist' of the names of the people who had left."

Will Address NNPA Convention Banquet

New York—Carl T. Rowan, Director of the U. S. Information Agency and former U. S. Ambassador to Finland, will address the NNPA Silver Anniversary Awards Banquet June 17 in Louisville, Ky. Rowan, a former reporter on a Negro oriented newspaper, The Baltimore Afro-American, has won many journalistic honors.

ROWAN

Rowan is the author of: "South of Freedom, 1953;" "The Pitiful and the Proud," 1956; "Go South to Sorrow," 1957; and "Wait Till Next Year," 1960.

A native of Ravenscroft, Tenn., Rowan earned Degrees, from Oberlin College (AB) and the University of Minnesota (MA). He has been the recipient of eight honorary doctorates.

Diplomat Rowan, the highest ranking Negro in Federal Government has covered many of the major news events of the world during the past decade.

together and attempted to get jobs for the Negroes. They contacted whites who needed maids, but the white women were afraid to hire them. They called the management of the newly-opened Holiday Inn, who reportedly told them that he had been given a list of Negroes who had tried to register or who were "agitators" and that he couldn't buck Dunn and the Council.

Supplies

A restaurant owner attempted to employ one of the fired women. A white man told the reporter that "Dunn threatened to have his supplies cut off and institute a boycott." He fired the lady.

LBJ Appoints Two To New Equality Opporunity Group

Washington, D. C.—President Lyndon B. Johnson's appointment Monday of the new five-man Equal Employment Opportunity Commission with Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., as Chairman and including two Negro members was hailed by civil rights leaders across the nation.

The two Negro appointees, Mrs. Aileen Hernandez of San Francisco, Calif. and Samuel Jackson of Topeka, Kans., have been active for many years in the civil rights field. The Commissioners will serve full time at a salary of $26,000 a year and the Chairman will receive $27,000.

Roosevelts

The nomination of Roosevelt to the chairmanship is regarded as a link with history, highlighting the Executive Order 8802 creating the first federal Fair Employment Practices Commission which was done by his father, the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt. As a former congressman and a government administrator, young Roosevelt has followed in the liberal tradition of his father and is considered to be most knowledgeable in the field of civil rights.

Background

Mrs. Hernandez is Assistant Chief of the State Fair Employment Practices Commission. She is a former staff member of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union. A native of New York, Mrs. Hernandez holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from Howard University in Washington, D. C. and a Master's degree in government from Los Angeles State College. She will serve a five-year term.

Samuel Jackson, a lawyer for the State Department of Public Welfare, is a graduate of Washburn University and a past president of the Topeka branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. His term is three years.

Institute

New York—A new feature of the NAACP annual convention, to be held this year in Denver, Colo., June 28-July 3, will be a Leadership Development Institute.

The institute, which will be held in three sessions, is designed to increase the effectiveness of NAACP branch leaders in dealing with members and other people.

The sessions will be under the direction of Miss Althea T. L. Simmons, NAACP secretary for training.

Approximately 100 branches will be represented at the institute which will cover problems involved in administration, conferences and discussion leadership and communications.

Techniques

According to Miss Simmons, emphasis will be placed on learning through action. Such group involvement techniques as role playing, case problems, sensitivity training, etc., will be used.

One training method, known as the "in-basket" technique, is designed to teach the branch leaders how to make decisions by letting them practice in different kinds of situations.

and Southeast Asia." The two educators are Dr. Stanley Spector of St. Louis, Mo.; and Dr. William Murray of Ames.

Iowa's Senator Jack Miller will support the present U.S. action in Viet Nam at the Institute and Senator Ernest Gruening of Alaska will oppose it.

"Postage Due" On Tiny Infant Found In Mail Box

Chicago—Mrs. Judith M. Hick, 31, heard the cries of a baby—seemingly coming from a mail-box—as she waited on a street corner in the suburb of Chicago Heights.

"I knew I couldn't be wrong, because I'm a mother of six children," she remarked later.

Investigating further, she detected distinct cries of a baby coming

Approximately seven persons, both staff and branch leaders with experience in conference leadership, will assist Miss Simmons in the three-day institute.

from the box, and sent a passing boy to a police station half a block away.

Officer James Kelly arrived on the scene shortly and agreed that there was a baby in the box.

He telephoned the Chicago Heights Post Office and had some trouble convincing postal employees that he wasn't "pulling their legs."

However, after some time, a postman arrived to unlock the box and find a screaming infant.

Taken to St. James hospital, doctors said the child was a girl and appeared to be about four days old—and very hungry.

The vocal tot—possibly saved by her cries—was taken to a Chicago orphanage by Officer Kelly.

The season of orange blossoms and mortar board caps is just a step around the corner. Many graduates will combine wedding bells and commencement marches.

Which reminds us, high school and college graduates who will be in June classes are asked to participate in the 71st Anniversary page by sending in their pictures and write-ups (as brief as possible) accompanied by a $2.00 check or money order. The charge is necessary because the Bystander has no engraving services. Formerly letters were sent out but with the increase in number of graduates that procedure is no longer feasible since the letters always had to be followed up by phone calls. Most graduates will be contacted by phone. We say most because none of the schools in Des Moines classify students by race anymore, and we do not know everyone, so consequently we may miss someone. We advise you to send in your information before the deadline of May 29.

The Episcopalians of Iowa held a convention in Des Moines last week and in one of the pictures published in the local dailies, Lewis James, Jr., was one of the lead choirboys in the procession for clergy. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Lewis A. James, 678 26th street.

Here and There: Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Pearl of Gary, Ind., were in Des Moines over the weekend on business. . . Mrs. Robert (Laura) Carson, 1181 10th street, celebrated her birthday, we won't say which one, last Friday. . . As we take up our tennis game again this season, we note with a little surprise the rash of tennis enthusiasts. Never saw so many, youngsters and older ones, with tennis racquets in their hands. . . Mrs. Mozelle Perry and son arrived in Des Moines from Boston, Mass., and came to the Bystander to seek assistance in getting a nice apartment, after she registered with Kelly Girls for secretarial work. She was referred to Mrs. Sarah Ward, 1131 11th street. . . Newest receptionist-secretary at the Bystander is quiet-voiced efficient Mrs. Catherine Humphrey.

On Friday, May 7 David Clinton, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Clinton, 1190 10th street, accidentally stuck a pencil in his hand while at Moulton school. His father took him to Blank hospital for a tetanus shot, x-ray and examination. His mother, Mrs. Ellaree Clinton, had flown to Toronto, Canada, three days before to attend the Midwest Association for Education of Young Children, representing the Iowa Children's Home Society, where she is employed.

Over that weekend his hand had become swollen slightly and on Monday, Mrs. Clinton, who arrived back home on Sunday night, and her husband arranged for the family doctor to see him, but he suggested waiting until after school.

Meanwhile David's hand became larger and when the doctor saw him, put him in the Blank hospital, where he remained all last week. He ran a high fever about mid week but was much better the latter part of the week. His hand still has to be examined by a hand specialist, who won't be in the city before June 1.

Mrs. Woodrow (Dorothy) Lewis, 1710 Carpenter avenue, accompanied her son, Charles, graduating from North high in June, to Ames, Ia., several weekends ago to help him secure lodging on or near the campus where he has been accepted as a freshman at Iowa State university next fall. His acceptance from the university came too late for him to get a room in the dormitory. Ward came earlier this week that he had been accepted as a resident at the YMCA.

It was nearly curtain time for the children's program at Moulton school and the youngsters, under the meticulous demands of the physical education and health teacher had prepared a variety of tumbling, and dancing skills to show. One youngster peeked around the curtain which shrouded the stage, and asked in a loud whisper, "Where is our audience." Only a half dozen mothers and the familiar faces of a dozen teachers and the principal were seated in the vast auditorium.

A similar scene was played at Irving Junior high recently when the students presented the program. Only a hand full of parents attended.

Which brings us to wonder if we as parents are shirking our responsibilities to our children. This does not include the parents who hold down a fulltime job or those who might have been ill or retained at home because of an ill youngster.

We dress our children beautifully, give them plenty of spending money, loan them the car or drive them where they want or need to go, give them every toy manufacturers can dream up. And yet many of will send or drive our children, but will not stay with them for an event. In addition we fail to impress upon them over and over again, that good manners, a soft voice and courteous speech, are just as much a part of good dress as the dress or slacks.

One mother told us of accompanying her children to the parks, and while she stood near the water fountain, several youngsters, from 8 to 10 years old, used unprintable language as if she was not there.

We not only need to assume moral responsibilities with our children, but also set the living example before them. For children are keen observers and imitators. What they often see us do, they do.

BAD EXAMPLES FOR PUBLIC OFFICIALS

Teachers in South Bend, Ind., public schools have been on strike paralyzing the school system for several days. The day has come when unions are invading most activities of our daily life.

It would appear that teachers and school boards should be intelligent and reasonable enough to settle their differences peaceably without the inevitable bad blood which strikes engender. The BYSTANDER has never subscribed to strikes by teachers or other public officials. And while they have been productive of victories for the strikers, they never win in the end just as is the case in war.

On the other hand, they help create disrespect for law and order. And most public officials hesitate to punish strikers for misdeeds when they get out of hand.

If teachers are justified in striking, we may well extend the privilege to ministers, doctors, nurses and other semi-public officials.

EMPLOYMENT MARKET
FLOODED WITH PUPILS

Hundreds of thousands of students will be out of school within a few days. A large number will have nothing to do but idle away their time. This, of course, is bad.

Crime among young people has increased rapidly in recent years. Much of this is due to a lack of something to occupy their minds; much because of the shows seen on the television; much because the "scientific" coddling by juvenile courts and social organizations causing many youngsters to believe they are not required to account for the crimes they commit.

Recently, many parts of the country have been plagued with floods which caused millions of dollars in damages; many areas in our cities and towns are eye sores and should be cleaned up and beautified; parks and recreational projects in many areas are in need of attention.

Thousands of these youngsters could be employed in these projects providing some family income and utilizing their time profitably and in a constructive manner. True, YMCAs, YWCAs, churches and other social agencies provide some recreational camps during the summer months. They are valuable as far as they go, but they don't meet the whole problem. What these youngsters need is more work and less play.

Idleness is the devil's work shop.

Atty. General Warns
Of Racial Violence in
U.S. This Summer

New York—U. S. Attorney General Nicholas Katzenbach warned today that racial violence could flare up "in any one or more of 25 or 30 cities this summer."

In an interview appearing in the current issue of Look Magazine, Katzenbach said that such violence would probably occur unless communities "face up to their slums," try to solve their school problems and attempt to find jobs for unemployed young people.

Not Different

With civil-rights groups due in Mississippi again this summer, Katzenbach said that things "will not be tremendously different than last summer." He commented:

"There will be phony arrests and violence—blowing up a church, beating up a guy. All this can happen. It depends on the pressure we and state authorities can put on Klan-type groups."

Militancy

Katzenbach said he is worried about increasing militancy in the civil-rights movement. "One danger of too much militancy is that it would alienate liberal white support, without which we can't do what we are doing," he declared.

In the interview, Katzenbach aimed criticism at clergymen who rush to join Southern freedom marches but do little for Negroes in their own home parishes. He commented in Look:

As we looked at the 1965 edition of the Iowa Hawkeyes football machine we thought just one thing. It will take more than one touchdown to beat those guys. They will score on just about anybody they play. But how many times the other fellows will score is something else. In our opinion the defense wasn't really tested as it will be next fall. But the boys have some good potential defenders who may make it possible for a lot of men who had to play two ways last year to be on just one unit this time.

We heard a lot of rumors about Coach Burns during the last two years but we think the man intends to field his best team at all times. The tragic loss of Ivory McDowell who had been counted on to be a fullback, recalls that in each year of Burns tenure, a fellow be depended on has been injured or killed. Maybe some put the curse on Coach Burns.

Drake

Here at home Drake looks to have a better team coming up than a lot of people think. The Bulldogs have several transfers from schools that have dropped football and they seem to blend nicely with the rest of the squad. The Bulldogs could be awfully tough.

And now we were surprised to hear that Clyde Duncan has been banned by the A.A.U. because he ran at Drake. The A.A.U. and the colleges are having what is just about the silliest hassle of the decade. No one, not even those involved can, come up with a clear picture of what the battle is all about. But at a time when most of the world's Olympics contender countries are working to catch the U. S. track talent and catching us here and where the two leading sources of our Olympics talent have to engage in a silly feud, that could wreck our athletic program. Oh, Well!!

Baseball

The majors are having attendance problems; seems that the game is played as well as it used to be but the big crowds drawers aren't drawing any more. Then it seems that the mighty Yankees have fallen by the wayside. But don't sell those fellows short. Wait until they get their crimples back in action and then see how they fare. We saw a picture of the two team captains of the Dodgers and Giants handing in their lineups to the umpires for the big game between the two teams. The captains were Willie Mays for the Giants and Maury Wills for the Dodgers. That never happened before and 20 years ago nobody thought it would happen.

Added Footnote

Our Des Moines football team hasn't even met yet and the boys are already squabbling over the money they expect to make next fall if they have a team and if they make some money.

These ministers who are quick to fly to Selma are less quick to see the problem back home. They had better do something about it. If they don't, the problems are going to get worse."

A.A.U. Suspends C. Duncan
Formerly Ia. Prep Sprinter, for Running in Drake Relays

Former North High sprinting star, Clyde Duncan, now a freshman at Texas Southern university, is under suspension by the National Amateur Athletic Union, for running an exhibition 100-yard dash in the Drake Relays here last month.

Letter

The announcement came Monday after Jimmy Lyle, North track coach who is credited with developing the talented speedster, and chairman of the Iowa A.A.U.'s registration committee, was notified of the suspension in a letter from Stephen M. Archer of New York, a member of the National A.A.U. subcommittee on registration.

"In any track and field competition, unattached athletes must be considered 'open athletes' and the event in which they run must be sanctioned by the Amateur Athletic Union," Archer wrote in a letter sent to all district A.A.U. registration chairmen.

Not Sanctioned

"The Drake Relays was not sanctioned by the A.A.U. (the Relays were staged under the United States Track and Field Federation, currently at war with the A.A.U.).

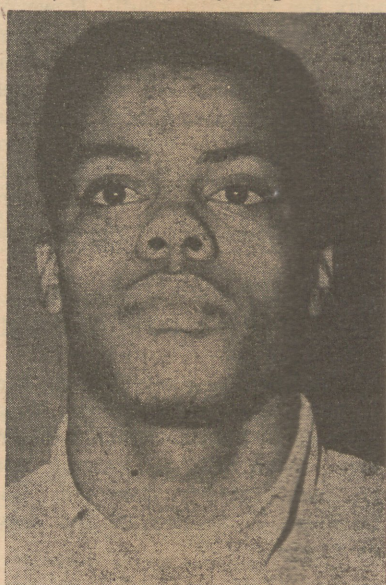

"By running in an 'open event,' a competition not sanctioned by the A.A.U., these men have suspended themselves from further competition sanctioned by the A.A.U.," the letter said.

Not "Open"

According to Drake Relays Director Bob Karnes, the 100-yard dash "was erroneously referred to in the program as an 'open' event, whereas in reality, the runners actually ran as representatives of their schools in an exhibition."

Runners who placed behind Duncan in the 100 were Albert Wheatfall of Lincoln (Mo.) University; Charles Allen, Missouri; Ray Zirpolo of Coe

College and Gary Osborn of Drake.

Clerical Error

Duncan was listed as a member of the Wheeler Street Athletic Club at Houston and the rest as unattached, due to a clerical error in the summaries. Clyde had the same listing in the 220, which included Norm Johnson and Herbert Perkins, of Iowa State; Jerry Krumiesch of Northeast, (Mo.) Teachers; Dan Traivaille of Morningside College and Doyle McGee of North Texas State.

Archer requested registration chairman to check records "to see if any of these athletes (those in the 100) are registered in your district association."

"WILLIE MAYS ANXIOUS TO MANAGE",
SAYS EX-TEAMMATE MONTE IRVIN

New York—"Willie Mays would like to manage in the major leagues," says his former teammate Monte Irvin in a national magazine.

Writing in the current issue of SPORT magazine, Irvin reveals that Mays has confided to him that he definitely wants a chance to prove himself in a managerial post when his playing days are over.

Qualified

Says Irvin, "Willie is fully qualified to lead a major league ballclub and it would be a shame if he doesn't get his chance."

"There are several other Negro ballplayers who could do a first-rate job," continues the former Giant star. "There are George Crowe, Bill White of the Cardinals, Elston Howard of the Yankees, and Junior Gilliam of the Dodgers. And at the risk of being immodest, I think I could do the job, too."

Super-Star

"But, as a super-star, perhaps Willie has the best opportunity to make the break-through," says Irvin. "He feels that his captaincy of the Giants has given him added stature, dignity, and responsibility. He thinks it has made him a leader. And someday, among the things he wants most, Willie Mays would like to apply his leadership skill to the challenge of managing in the major leagues."

It is planned to offer these same classes at a later date at Jewish Community Center, Salvation Army Community Center, and Y.W.C.A.

SLEEPING AND

ELIZABETH LANDEWEER

Where do I go when I go to sleep?
Home where the Shepherd counts

His sheep,
Back to the fold where the flocks abide,

Snug as a lamb at its mother's side.

Where do I drift while I die and dream?

Over cloud pastures as white as cream,

Down to still waters, cool and sweet,

Stars at my head and at my feet—

Down to the secret mossy springs,

Down to the very roots of things.

Where do I come from when I wake?

Up from the lillies of the lake,

Up from the arms of the mother sea,

Filled with peace and serenity.

What was I given while at rest,
Rocked and cradled upon a breast
That held me safe from all alarms
Lulled in the everlasting arms?
A pearl within a shining shell,
A small song like a silver bell,
A flask of dew, the rose of dawn,
And God's command to carry on—
Cast off the covers of the night,
And climb new mountaintops of light!

Presbyterians Will Convene in Ohio

New York—Sargent Shriver Jr., director of the Office of Economic Opportunity, will be one of the many national leaders addressing the 177th General Assembly of The United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., when it meets in Columbus, Ohio this month.

Shriver, who is also director of the Peace Corps, will speak Tuesday morning, May 25, about the Church's role in the national war on poverty.

Also speaking that morning will be Edward Lindaman, program director of the Apollo Moon Shot Program of North American Aviation. Lindaman is an elder of First Presbyterian Church, Fullerton, Cal.

The General Assembly will be in session in Columbus' Veterans Auditorium May 20-26. Preceding it will be two days of conferences on evangelism and stewardship and mission.

Also slated for appearances before the Assembly are four civil rights leaders: Mrs. Martin Luther King, Jr.; Jackie Robinson; Dr. Aaron Henry, and the Rev. Robert W. Spike.

THIS SUMMER . . .

Here are four good reasons to keep your pilot light burning this summer:

1. Keeps furnace dry—helps prevent rust formation. (Avoids repair bills!)
2. Reduces moisture in the basement—helps to prevent mustiness, mildew.
3. Heat will come on automatically when needed—no need to remember relighting.
4. Cost is hardly noticeable—actually costs less than shut-off and relighting—because gas is the cheapest automatic fuel.
