Airman Gets Cold Welcome to Des Moines

Claims Mobile Home Parks Discriminated Against Him, Family

A career air force sergeant who was transferred from Texas to the air force section of the Iowa National Guard, received a cold welcome to Des Moines when he was unable to find a place to park his huge mobile home.

Search

S/Sgt. Wallace Mims, arrived with his wife and three children a little over three weeks ago and was turned down at Grayson Army Post Trailer Park at 1601 Army Post Road where he thought he had a reservation. After searching for a week he drove his family 1,000 miles to Gulfport, Miss., to stay with relatives and returned to Des Moines to continue his search. After his story received widespread public notice, and with the help of several local persons he located a lot and rented it at 1433 Fremont street. Earlier this week he was making preparations to move his 56-foot trailer to the spot.

Denied Admittance

Sgt. Mims who is assigned to the air police of the Iowa National Guard which is based at the Municipal airport had parked the huge trailer home temporarily at the airport while he searched. He said he believes he was denied admittance to some parks because he is a Negro.

At other parks, he related, he either actually found no vacancies or was told his huge, 56-foot-long trailer was too large to be accommodated. Some trailer courts also would not accept children, he said. Mims, who has been in the Air Force 12 years, told this story of his futile effort to find a place here for the trailer.

Transfer

After 22 months duty at Perrin Air Force Base near Sherman, Tex., he was transferred this spring to Des Moines.

In May, he contacted the Grayson Army Post Trailer Park at 1601 Army Post Road here and got what he thought was a confirming letter from the owners, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Grayson, that a space was available for his mobile home.

Mims said he sent the Graysons a $10 deposit as a down payment.

The Sergeant and his family arrived in Des Moines June 3 and their mobile home, towed by truck, got here the next day.

"No Vacancy"

Mims said it was on June 4 when Grayson told him he had no vacancy. Grayson, a deputy Polk County auditor, denied any racial discrimination was involved, saying that all 10 of his 60-foot spaces that could have accommodated Mims' large trailer were rented when the airman arrived.

Of the situation, Mims said: "Naturally, I was disappointed, but I felt we could find a location for the trailer at another park."

Mims and his family, aided by several Des Moines people, then began checking other trailer parks, some even beyond the immediate Des Moines area.

Expenses

After a week without success, Mims found living in a motel, and eating out "were getting expensive."

Albert Garrison, First Negro Named State Tax Agent

Albert Garrison, formerly of Waterloo, Ia., has become the first Negro field tax agent to be named by the Iowa State Tax Commission. The appointment was announced by state tax commissioner, Lynn Potter, and became effective June 16.

Garrison formerly served with the Internal Revenue in Iowa and also as a government contract representative with the Department of Defense. He returned to Iowa Jan. 1 and since has been employed as an accountant and office manager with J. C. White, Inc. He will continue in that position. His wife is employed in the Polk County Auditor's office.

Garrison's new job with the state tax commission was made possible by the last legislature which voted the state withholding tax which becomes effective January 1966. He also was the subject of a Bystander "Who's Who in Iowa," series several years ago.

Garrison, who has a number of years of government service behind him, will audit tax reports around the state.

When he first left Iowa he was sent as a contract agent to South Dakota. He left there and for the past four years he has been employed as a supervisor with Ford Motor company in Detroit, Mich.

Garrison, his wife, and five children will reside in their new Des Moines home at 1510 Linden Lane.

NEA, Rights Groups Join Forces to Block Firing of Negro Teachers in Integration

Atlanta—Officials of 12 civil rights and educational organizations, including the National Education Association, have joined forces in an attempt to block further dismissals of Negro teachers when southern school districts integrate.

According to K.B.M. Crooks, an official of the National Urban League's Southern Regional Office and coordinator for the agencies, "We are going to fight this injustice all the way, locally, at the State level and in Washington. We are not going to let qualified Negro teachers down."

Protest

Crooks said that the group, which met Friday in Atlanta, will protest to Washington the firing or threatened firings of Negro teachers in Arkansas, Florida, Texas, and North Carolina "for a starter." Reports from Georgia and Alabama also are being probed, he said.

5,500 Teachers

Reportedly, some 5,500 southern Negro teachers face the loss of their jobs as all-Negro schools are closed and Negro pupils shifted to white schools. Crooks said the organizations will insist that Federal aid be cut off to offending districts.

Agencies

Other participating agencies include the NAACP, American Friends Service Committee, American Teachers Assn., Florida State Teachers Assn., Southern Regional Council, Teachers State Assn. of Texas, Arkansas Teachers Assn., Alabama

Youth Job Center Officially Opens Here

The Des Moines Youth Opportunity Center, 300 Court avenue, which will assist youths 16 through 21 years with employment problems, was officially open for business here Monday. The center is backed by State Employment Service and the federal anti-poverty forces.

Ceremonies

The center was christened last Thursday with a daylong open house, starting with Mayor Charles F. Iles presenting the keys to the building to employment officials.

Youth Opportunity Centers such as the one here, are being established primarily for high school dropouts and other young people who have difficulty getting and keeping jobs.

All Programs

Established as a branch of the State Employment Service, the center will take over all of the service's programs for the 16-through-21 age group, said Raymond Driver, director of the center.

The 1960 census showed 22,500 Des Moines youths in that age bracket. An estimated 1,700 are out of school and unemployed.

Driver said the center is financed by federal funds administered by the employment service.

"Three Fronts"

"The center will concentrate its efforts on three major fronts: vocational help to prepare for jobs; development of job opportunities; placement on suitable jobs and follow-through on job adjustment," he said.

Driver said the center will have a full-time staff of 13.

Girl Burned in Cooker Explosion

A 10-year-old Des Moines girl was reported in "fairly good" condition at Mercy Hospital Monday after being burned Sunday afternoon by hot water and steam from a pressure cooker.

Linda Marie Green suffered second-and-third-degree burns on her back and first-and-second-degree burns on her arm when a faulty valve blew off the cooker and the kitchen was sprayed with water and steam, her mother, Mrs. David J. Green of 1311 E. 15th street, said Monday.

Mrs. Green said Linda was washing dishes with her back to the cooker when the accident occurred.

The convention, which is expected to draw approximately 1,500 delegates, will also focus on the challenge presented by President Johnson in his address at Howard University, "To Fulfill These Rights," school desegregation, political action, employment and housing.

Speakers

Several major addresses are scheduled for the six-day convention which will meet at the Denver Hilton Hotel. The keynote address on Monday night, June 28, will be delivered by NAACP Executive Director Roy Wilkins.

Other speakers will include Wiley A. Branton, executive secretary of the President's Council on Equal Opportunity; Bishop Stephen G. Spottswood, chairman of the NAACP Board of Directors; Mrs. Patricia Roberts Harris, U. S. Ambassador to Luxembourg; Mal Goode, ABC-TV news correspondent; and Dr. Buell Gallagher, president of the College of the City of New York and a member of the NAACP Board of Directors.

New features of this year's convention will include a branch problem clinic to be held daily for delegates with special organizational problems, a Leadership Development Institute to train branch leaders and a labor and industry seminar to be conducted by Prof. Eric Pollar of the New York School of Industrial and Labor Relations, Cornell University.

On Tuesday, June 29, concurrent workshops will be held on school segregation in the North and West, life membership, labor and political action. On Wednesday, June 30, workshops will be devoted to membership promotion, community action and housing.

A special Freedom Day march will be held on Wednesday, ending in an open air rally in honor of delegates from Alabama, Mississippi and South Carolina. Friday's program will feature workshops on anti-poverty and school desegregation in the South, including discussion of the Education Act and Title VI of the Civil Rights Act.

Awards

The Youth Freedom Fund Banquet will be held on Thursday evening, July 1. Mr. Wilkins will present the annual NAACP youth awards at the banquet. On Friday evening the Freedom Fund Report Dinner will be held, at which time various awards will be presented to NAACP units throughout the country.

Insurance Graduates

New Orleans—Thirty-eight graduates of the National Insurance Association's Ninth Institute in Agency Management received certificates of completion Thursday, at the end of the two week session at Dillard University here.

The men were chosen from field sales forces of 17 life insurance companies belonging to the association. Each was personally congratulated by Benjamin J. Johnson, NIA president, and Charles A. Davis, executive director, during ceremonies at the Jung Hotel.

Federal Aid

According to Samuel B. Ethridge, assistant field secretary of the National Education Association, Washington, D. C., "We believe that the U. S. Supreme Court decision of 1954 applies to the integration of faculties as well as pupils. Federal aid therefore could be cut off to districts guilty of firing Negro teachers."

Silence

And Dr. Gilbert Porter, executive secretary of the Florida State Teachers Assn., added: "The fear of reprisals has forced hundreds of Negro teachers into silence. Moreover, Negro leaders often have been reluctant to seek integration because school boards have threatened to fire Negro teachers."

Complaints

"We have three teachers in Texas and 82 in North Carolina who have signed formal complaints to their state teacher's organizations," Ethridge said.

The officials, who met at the National Urban League's southern regional headquarters at 78 Marietta St., N.W., Atlanta, summarized the plight of southern Negro teachers this way:

(1) Some counties are dismissing all Negro teachers outright.
(2) Some integrating systems, to prevent Negro teachers from teaching white pupils, are retaining them as librarians, attendance officers, custodians, or counselors for Negro pupils and in other "non-contact" jobs.

Consultants

(3) Some ex-supervisors of Negro districts are being retained but as roving "consultants" who spend an hour or two a day at each integrated school. "Some systems are reporting they have an 'integrated' staff of 10 schools by counting the consultants 10 times," Ethridge said.

Administrators

(4) Able Negro administrators are being dropped by integrating systems and replaced by white officials of a lesser caliber. This is done to prevent Negroes from obtaining good-paying jobs and having authority over schools containing white pupils.

"Recommendations"

(5) Some counties are firing one Negro teacher for every 30 pupils moved into a white school under so-called "freedom of choice" plans, thus pressuring Negro leaders and parents to soft-pedal demands for pupil integration.

(6) Some Negro teachers have been asked to submit their resigna-

18 Mississippi Students Helped in Unique Iowa City Project

Eighteen students from Rust College in Holly Springs, Miss., are being helped through a unique project being sponsored by a dedicated group in Iowa City, Ia., for six weeks this summer. The students are all taking special instruction at the University of Iowa and have been helped by many people in the community including Dick Landsay (right), manager of the Hawkeye Book Store. He is selling the books to these students for 20 per cent below cost.

The students include these five girls, from left: Mary Joann Norris, 19, Vardaman, Miss.; Lugene Bailey, 21, Memphis, Tenn.; Dorothy Pennington, 19, Greenwood, Miss.; Minnie Montgomery, 19, Lexington, Miss., and Mattie Anthony, 20, Batesville, Miss. The project for teaching these students is being financed by private contributions without federal government or state help.

Fifteen faculty members volunteered to teach the students, who arrived here last Sunday. Summer "parents" were found. Money was raised for bus fares, noon lunches and spending money. A book store sold the students books at below cost. (You can contribute by sending money to Mississippi Support Program, Box 808, Iowa City. The cost has been figured at $160 per student.)

The 18 all plan to return to their homes in the South. Many want to be teachers.

ASK U.S. SUPREME COURT TO END EXCLUSION OF POOR FROM JURIES

Washington—The U. S. Supreme Court was asked today to end exclusion of the poor from the nation's jury rolls by attorneys of the NAACP Legal Defense Fund.

"Exclusion of poor persons as a class, because of their inability to serve without pay on state criminal juries, is a violation of the 14th Amendment," Fund attorneys asserted.

Review Case

The Supreme Court was asked to review this issue in connection with the case of Bruce Barksdale, 27-year-old Negro indicted for the crime of aggravated rape of a white woman by a New Orleans grand jury in 1962.

The Louisiana Supreme Court maintained that a large portion of the New Orleans' poor are Negro; and, since jury service is not compensated, Negro jurors are few.

Poor Represented

Fund attorneys countered saying that the poor must be represented on juries if juries are to represent a cross section of the community.

"A jury system," they argued, "which excludes the poor denies equal protection because a distinct class of jurymen is denied representation for no other reason than poverty."

New Orleans is the only city in the nation with a population between one half and one million citizens (there are 16 other cities that size) which does not pay citizens for serving on criminal juries.

"The 1964 Civil Rights Act is the law of the land and we support its implementation," the plank reads. "In addition, we support legislation which will insure that every eligible American has the right to vote."

The Mims bought their mobile home in 1963 and were the first Negro family to move into an all-white trailer park at Sherman, Tex., he recalled.

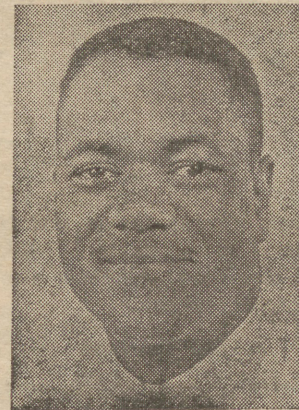

Five other Negro families were living in that park when he left, he added.

The Mims' three children are sons, William, 11, and Ronald 6, and daughter, Ladean, 9.

Spingarn Returns From 6-Week Tour of Europe

New York—NAACP President Arthur B. Spingarn returned to New York City on June 9 after a six-week stay in Europe. Mr. Spingarn left for his annual trip on April 28 on the S.S. Queen Mary of the Cunard Line. He spent most of his stay in England, with a visit to Denmark.

Discussions

While in England, he participated, along with writers Langston Hughes and Paule Marshall, in State Department-sponsored discussions on race and the problems of race. He likewise explained the role of the NAACP in the current civil rights struggle. He was interviewed by the British press at news conferences. In Copenhagen, Denmark, he participated in similar State Department discussions.

Negro Collection

As usual, Mr. Spingarn continued his collection of books by Negro authors in both countries and visited with old friends. His collection is probably the world's largest collection of books by Negro authors. The main collection is housed at Howard University, Washington, with 3,000 duplicate volumes housed at the University of California in Berkeley. He still retains a large personal collection in his New York home.

HEALTH FOR ALL

THE TRAGIC SYNDROME

They keep coming into hospitals, welfare department, public and private social agencies, in a steady trickle that sometimes becomes a stream. Children with deep bruises or burns, children with broken limbs or internal injuries, children grossly malnourished or suffering from neglected diseases.

Pinpointed

It's a medical problem, a social problem, a mental health problem rolled into one: the "battered child syndrome". Pinpointed by doctors and social workers a few years ago, it has by now been thoroughly mulled over by experts and interesting bystanders. But the kids keep getting hurt just as much.

Severe Abuse

About 10,000 children in the United States each year suffer severe physical abuse by parents or others in charge of them. As to how many die, there is no way of knowing; many such deaths are reported as "accidents".

What to do? It's one of society's toughest problems. According to Dr. Fredric Wertham, noted psychiatrist, the chief culprit is society itself.

"People aren't sufficiently concerned," he said. "Some of these cases are horrible beyond belief. The real gravity of the problem has yet to be understood".

Not Just Emotional

He rejected a widespread view that it's merely a question of emotional disorder on the parents' part, subject to cure by judicious counseling. "It goes much deeper than that. Many of these abusive parents are 'normal' persons by most modern standards. The young parent of today has grown up in an atmosphere pervaded by violence. Not only in the books, news reports, entertainments they absorb, but in the dealings of individuals and nations with one another".

Solution

He had no ready solution to offer. Would a simmering-down of general violence help? There is no scientific certainty of it, the psychiatrist believes; but he indicated that in an atmosphere where violence tends to be regarded as a solution to problems, any change in public attitude could only be for the better.

Presentation of the life membership plaque was made to Mr. Quaison-Sackey by U. S. Ambassador Franklin H. Williams on behalf of the New York State Conference of NAACP Branches at a luncheon in the delegates dining room at the United Nations, June 14.

Identity of Interest

The diplomat, the first black African to preside over sessions of the UN General Assembly, was recently appointed Foreign Minister of Ghana. In accepting the $500 NAACP membership, Mr. Quaison-Sackey said he recognized the identity of racial interests and aspirations between Africans and American Negroes.

140 Ways To Keep Cool

What's better than a refreshing glass of iced tea to cool you off these hot summer days? Answer: 140 glasses of iced tea! And that's exactly how many you see surrounding this lovely miss who has just made up the entire batch from a single giant size 3-oz. jar of Nestlé's instant tea. No wonder she's cool! Modern instant tea is one of those homemaker hot weather boons that puts joy into summer beverage preparation.

You can make iced tea by the glass, by the quart — just as much as you need for family or guests. Simply add one rounded teaspoon of Nestlé's instant tea to each glass of cold tap water. Sweeten to taste and drop in a few iced cubes. For a real "cool" garnish, use lemon or orange slices, or a fresh strawberry pushed end-down onto the rim of the glass. If fresh mint is in season, a sprig of it will enhance the glasses. Then insert a straw — and your 140 glasses of iced tea will win praises all-around.

Summer is off to a shimmering bang and various outdoor activities of sun worshippers are keeping pace. Many vacationers are completing last minute plans to go hither and thither over this land while others plan a more leisurely vacation around the state or an even quieter and relaxing one at home.

Among the latter are Mrs. Rufus Spates of 1244 13th street, who is having a vacation at home while her husband and daughter visit his parents and relatives in Wichita Falls, Tex. . . . Mrs. William Wells, 680 26th street, just completed a 'just at home week' of rest after spending the weekend before in Oklahoma City at the Jack and Jill regional convention. Last week she spent several days with about 8 members of the Des Moines Jack and Jillers who are taking the tennis lessons sponsored by the city's recreation commission at Birdland court. One day after registration, when no classes were planned, she took the group to a bicycle rental shop, rented tandem bikes for all, and they spent a carefree hour riding around Union park before going to a nearby drive-in for snacks.

Jack and Jillers taking lessons include Tony and Joyce Morrow, Steven Wells, Victor and Vance Hawthorne, Vanderlyrie Watkins, Lewis James, Jr., Debra Lewis, Justine Morton and Pamela Wallace. Mothers of those participating are taking care of chaperoning chores.

HERE AND THERE: A recent issue of the Chicago published Jet Magazine featured pictures of Judge and Mrs. Luther T. Glanton, Jr. and several other dignitaries who attended the recent white tie dinner at the White House. . . . Mrs. Eleanor Archer, teacher at Amos-Hiatt junior high school, is in charge of the nursery at Willkie House this summer. . . . Charmayne Wright, enthusiastic swimming daughter of Atty. and Mrs. Robert Wright, will be a Red Cross swimming instructor at both Good park and Birdland pools this summer. . . . It has been an exhausting but spiritually uplifting year for Bishop James Thomas, Iowa Methodist leader and his family. They completed the South Iowa conference last week only to go to Waterloo where they are now participating in the activities of the North Iowa conference. Afterwards they are looking forward to a vacation with relatives and friends in the south. . . . The Ernest Watkins are planning a motor vacation to Washington, D. C. and down through Virginia. . . . Mrs. Lillian Scales, 721 Boyd street, is vacationing in California with her son and wife who are expecting. . . .

While perusing this week's issue don't forget to turn to the Letter to the Editor section for two communications to that department this week.

While dining out to Bishop's Buffet in Wakonda Village where we had our husband on Father's day we saw Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Graves, 1054 16th street, come in for dinner also. Many restaurants probably played host to various couples and families on that day.

We arrived home from a drive around the city later to investigate a noise under the car and discovered that a young pigeon perched firmly on an axle, having ridden there for miles it seems. Repeated efforts by our offsprings soon dislodged him.

Entre Nous Club Sponsors "Hawaiian Luncheon at YWCA"

The reorganized Entre Nous Service club came up with a unique and lovely idea for contributing to a worthwhile project, the Des Moines Children's Zoo, now under construction in southwest Des Moines and scheduled to be opened Aug. 1.

The club members sponsored a Hawaiian Luncheon and style show at the YWCA on Saturday noon to let their friends help them in donating $100 to the Zoo fund, and they were successful.

Modeling

The tables were prettily arranged with a fruit centerpiece and the tasty menu included Hawaiian tuna salad on lettuce greens, Hawaiian punch, small sandwich breads and white frosted cake on a pink doily.

As guests ate members of the club modeled pretty summer cottons from their personal wardrobe, featuring house coats and lounge wear, patio attire, grocery shopping, downtown attire and dressy occasion. Mrs. James Morrow described the modeling clothing in a sparkling commentary.

Members

Members who modeled were Mesdames Elizabeth Thomas and Grace Wade, who dressed in bright flowered shifts and leis, greeted arrivals at the door, Marie Kaiser, chairman of the committee, Ruth Moore, president of the club, Lydia Merritt, Joan Jackson, Deloris Bailey, M. POOR TACTICS
USED HERE

In spite of all the education and organization to deal with human rights, there continues to arise situations with which we are not prepared to deal.

Des Moines was terribly embarrassed and the outside public shocked when it came to light that an army air force sergeant, assigned to the air force base here was unable to find a location for his trailer even though he had a reservation and the owner received and cashed his check. Some other trailer camp operators attributed the denial to lack of space, rather than to his race.

The situation was complicated by the length of the trailer (the city regulates the zoning location, but not the size of a trailer) and the fact that the family includes several children. Many trailer courts won't rent to families with children.

It is reported that an effort was made to transfer the sergeant to Waverly where the problem had been met previously. This was a foolish idea for the superior officers attempted to duck their responsibility. Locally the problem is bound to arise again so why not meet it head on.

But waving aside all the excuses and hedging, it is utterly ridiculous that such a thing should be allowed to come to this stage. The sergeant had been in Des Moines since June 1, it is doubtful that present civil rights laws cover the situation, forces generally friendly to the cause of human rights should have been sought out for aid which finally came when the situation became known.

The real estate agents in Des Moines refuse to sell property to Negroes in so called white neighborhoods, but the fact remains that many white individuals in such neighborhoods have sold to Negroes and, in most cases, with little complaint by the neighbors. The same situation would have applied here.

This whole thing is a blot on city officials and another example of ducking a responsibility rather than meeting it head on.

REP. POWELL HAS

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell of New York, chairman of the house committee on Labor and Education, has drawn strong criticism from his colleagues because he refused for a time to permit a bill which would amend section 14B of the Taft Hartley labor law to get out of committee. Powell felt that the committee should also recommend a labor law which would strengthen the Fair Employment section of the civil rights law, thus giving Negroes more protection against discrimination in employment by labor and management at the same time.

Powell finally relented and allowed the bill to pass the committee. Political cronies and the NAACP criticized him that while they favored strengthening the civil rights law, they did not wish them to be companion bills.

Of course, this opposition was generated by the labor unions which don't want the right to work law nor equal treatment for Negroes in the labor movement.

Judging from accomplishments that have been attained, the fair employment practices measures have done little toward integrating Negroes into the skilled labor market. Apparently the approach is from the wrong end.

Excellent examples of this may be found at the construction site of the new federal building and other large buildings in Des Moines. Practically all the work is done by skilled labor and machinery. And yet if a call was sent out for five skilled Negro workers in the metal, electrical, or cement trades, they could not be found. We have none. And why? These trades are learned by a system of apprenticeships. We have had no apprentices in these trades and thus no journeymen. There are no apprentices now.

There has been lots of talk about apprenticeship training in the schools and on the jobs. But for some reason Negro boys are not participating. In many cases, jobs have been open to Negroes, but few were found to take them simply because, over the years, the system of training to become journeymen has kept them out. In the organized field they are not available because education and preparation could not be had at a moments notice but require years.

Powell is crazy about many things, but he has sense enough to know that the fellow who wants the repeal of the right to work law does not want Negroes in his union.

Obtain Rights Truce
In Chicago Marching

Chicago, Ill.—A "peace mission" of leading clergymen Tuesday obtained a conditional moratorium on the massive civil rights demonstrations that have resulted in the arrest of at least 530 protestors in Chicago since last Thursday.

Tuesday, 89 were arrested when they broke through police lines and sat down in the street at the intersection of State and Madison streets, the "world's busiest corner" in the Loop.

Art Ashe Wins National Collegiate Tennis Title

We would say that perhaps the best kept sports secret of the week was the winning of the National Collegiate tennis titles by Arthur Ashe, of U.C.L.A. This guy became the first Negro to ever win this title and then he teamed up with his partner. Now, Mr. Ashe hopes to gain a regular berth on the Davis Cup team. With Chuck McKinley playing only now and then the fellow just might make it.

We can't think of the names of the Negro tennis players who might make it in big time if they had the backing. Backing or sponsoring as it is called is important in the high tennis circles. In some countries sporting goods companies pay the player a living wage and then some to promote their products. Sometimes the government sees that a promising athlete doesn't have to worry about money.

But over here we do it differently. Our amateurs are put on a limited expense account and if they exceed it by one dollar they are barred as pros. But they somehow manage to make the tennis circuit playing in all of the big meets staying in the best hotels and clubhouses and yet do all this without money. There is where your sponsors come in. Those fellows pick-up the slack in a promising player's expense account.

One fellow who was making the great leap for the first time talked with us. Among other things he said his expense account was 22 per day. That was in 1962 and this guy hadn't arrived yet; was just breaking into the thing. So you many imagine what the top bracket of players have for expense accounts. The fellow finally quit because he said he couldn't see any future in it.

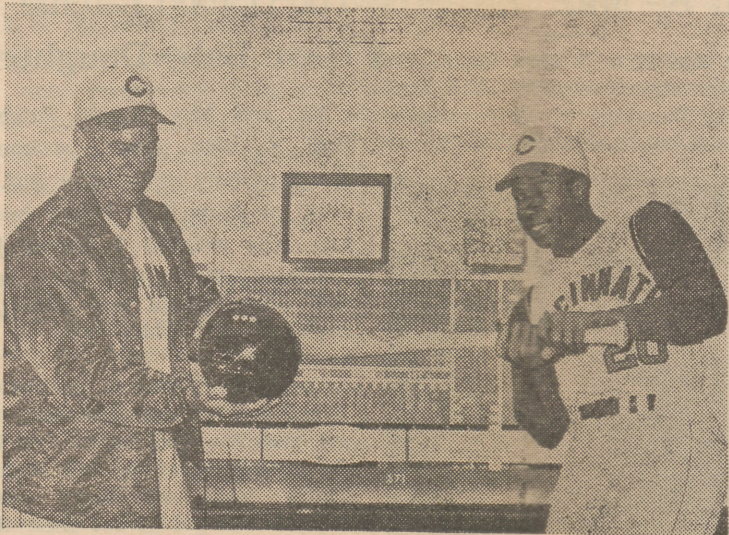

Actually, there isn't unless you get good enough so the pros want you. And even that field isn't so lucrative as it used to be. Of course, the pros kept American out of the Davis Cup picture for years because as soon as a fellow won the cup he'd have to be crazy to refuse. We believe baseball took its cue on bonuses from tennis.

Well, now a fellow may well play out his tennis career as an amateur. Maybe Ashe will, but the prospect of a Negro pro tennis player might revive the big gates again if the fellow were really good. Now what brought all this on? Just a news story about a tennis match that we thought should not have been lost in an obscure corner of the sports page.

And we still can't see any promising young tennis players around here who like the game enough to work at it.

Baseball

The pennant races are getting rougher. The Yanks get their crimples back and are still having a tough time. Now, if the Dodgers can hold on til their crimples get back.

FRANK ROBINSON, slugging outfielder for the Cincinnati Reds, hits the baseball these days as if it were as big as the new 3-dot Classic ball he was awarded at Shea Stadium recently. He demonstrates the idea to Reds manager Dick Sisler above. Frank won the Fourth Annual AMF Major League Base/Bowl Tournament in Tampa last spring with a 212 score against contender Roy Sievers.

The church leaders, who had conferred several times with the mayor and tried to intercept a march on City Hall, told demonstration leaders the mayor would agree to negotiate directly with the protestors and to permit a march on the City Hall on two traffic lanes in the street.

DEAR EDITOR

Thanks a lot for the fine writeup given me. Sorry Dorothy and I didn't have time to stop and say hello. I had to be back to push a Negro candidate for state representative, Albert Thompson. He won today by some 500 votes over his white opponent and is the first since reconstruction. He had a 'good' committee working for him.

The Alumni Merit award for service from Grinnell college was presented to me on Saturday, June 5 in special services. It is truly a personal honor to me but I sincerely feel that people like you had a whole lot to do with it.

The certificate of award is fine but it is just a symbol of what my friends think of me and my small efforts of service to our community. This to me means infinitely more than "another thing" to hang on the wall. It says to me that there are still tasks to be done—dreams to be dreamed and realized and strong bridges to be built—and there are still walls of misunderstanding to be leveled. I know, that hand-in-hand and heart-in-heart, we can and shall do these things.

WELCOME GUEST

Winter had been my stern guest overlong—

Outstayed his welcome by a month or so;

He brought me ermine robes and sparkling gems,
But I was more than glad to see him go.

Then March appeared to tidy up the place,

Wielding with urgent hands his windy broom;

April splashed bucketsful of rain about;

May hung gay flower prints in every room.

When June arrived, with roses in her hands,

She found the welcome mat spread at my door;

She seemed, to one whose hearth so long was cold,

More lovely than she ever was before.
