NAACP: Will Use Voting Law Immediately

Job Bias Committee Will Be Dissolved

Washington, D. C. — The President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity will shut up shop within 60 to 90 days, under an executive order to be released shortly by the White House.

The high-level group, formed in 1961, has pioneered in wiping out job bias in companies doing business with the government. Behind the scenes it has nudged labor unions into taking steps to remove discrimination in apprenticeship.

Operating Head

Executive Vice-Chairman Robert Taylor, Jr., has been the committee's operating head. He also serves as President Johnson's associate counsel.

The committee has brought 308 companies with almost nine million employees into the anti-bias effort. Taylor's power to cancel contracts when companies did not comply gave him a potent weapon.

Judge Raises Jury's Award to Winston

Polk County District Judge Gibson C. Holliday has ruled that a $518.50 jury award to Blendell Winston was "inadequate" and should be increased by $500.

A request by Winston, 5315 S. E. 14th street, for a new trial was overruled by Judge Holliday on condition that the defendant, Vern J. Brown, 1333 Army Post road, pay the additional $500.

The Winston-Brown suit was the result of a collision between their cars Dec. 6, 1963, at E. Fourteenth street and Court avenue. Winston sought $15,000 for personal injuries.

In Summer Projects Throughout South

Washington—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will make immediate use of the new Voting Rights Act of 1965, declared Executive Director Roy Wilkins, Friday, Aug. 6, following signing of the measure into law by President Johnson.

Mr. Wilkins, here for the signing ceremony which took place in the "President's Room" just off the Senate Chamber on Capitol Hill, said the NAACP "will use the new law immediately in its voter registration Summer Project now under way in Alabama, Mississippi and South Carolina, and in separate voter registration drives in Maryland, Florida and Arkansas."

New Law

In his address, prior to the signing, President Johnson said he would begin enforcing the new law without delay.

The NAACP director said the new law "will open up registration and voting to scores of thousands of Negro citizens in 'hard-core' counties in some Southern states," adding that, "In many counties less than three per cent of Negro eligibles are registered."

At Home

"With the increased number of Negro voters," Wilkins predicted, "many problems now on the Federal doorstep can be handled at home."

The new voting law is the second training at IBM Customer Engineering Education Center, Rochester, Minnesota. It pays to stick to the job.

Gets "First" Urban League Award

The National Urban League presented a special citation to Hobart Taylor, Jr. (left), Executive Vice Chairman of the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity, for his "outstanding work" in expanding job opportunities for Negroes and other minorities in business and industry. The citation, first of its kind in the history of the League, was presented by Whitney Young (right), Executive Director of the NUL, at a Commerce and Industry luncheon during the League's recent convention in Miami Beach, Fla. More than 250 business executives attended the special luncheon.

Two Selected by Job Corps; 2 Teens on Advisory Group

Pam Singleton, daughter of Mrs. Betty Singleton, 1235 13th street, and Sharon Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paris Williams, 820 16th street, were sworn in on Aug. 10 to enter the Job Corps training center at Charleston, W. Va. The two left Des Moines by Jet airliner on Aug. 11. The trip is an all-expense paid journey by the government.

Left to right in picture are Karla Wilcox, Sharon Williams, Pam Singleton and Mrs. Jack Watson, retiring director of Job Corps. Miss Singleton and Miss Williams are the third Negro girls to be given the opportunity to learn a career and become better citizens through the Economics Opportunity program.

The first girl, Linda Thomas, left in June for the Job Corps training center in Los Angeles and after a few days of complete home sickness has adjusted very well to the program. The Job Corps office for women will move on Sept. 1 from the Security building at 7th and Grand avenue to the Youth Opportunity Building at 3rd and Mulberry streets.

Mrs. Edward Frazier is now the volunteer recruitment director for the Job Corps. Mrs. James McGuire and Mrs. Erma Carr are volunteer office workers and Mrs. Carr is also a liaison official through the City Association of Federated Club Women.

Office help is still needed and the program has been extended for at least six more months. For further information for volunteer workers please contact Mrs. Frazier or Mrs. Carr. . . . Photo courtesy of Des Moines Tribune.

Doric Lodge Cancels August Meeting

Doric Lodge No. 30, F. & M., will not hold its regular meeting this month.

NEWS In A Nutshell

Topeka, Kans.—Governor William Avery announced that P. G. Porter of Olathe, has been replaced as an at-large member on the Kansas Civil Rights Commission by Robert Watson of Wichita. Avery said Porter was forced to resign because of a change in the five-man Commission which was approved by the 1965 legislature. The statute required that at least one member of the commission be an attorney. Porter is not an attorney.

Kansas City, Mo.—The Peoples Finance Corporation went into voluntary bankruptcy after weeks of frantic effort to avoid so drastic a move. Deposits totalling in the neighborhood of $300,000 are reported to be missing or unaccounted for.

Swinton introduced Milligan to Mrs. Margaret Williams, manager of the finance company for the last 25 years, who was on duty when the bankruptcy order went into effect.

Chicago—Lyndon Baines Johnson has emerged as the No. 1 Negro leader in America, according to Ebony magazine, national Negro monthly.

Hawkins, Texas—Jarvis Christian college announced receipt of a $5,000 check from the estate of William and Catherine Bryce in Fort Worth. This is a nonrecurring gift which is to be used for general operating expenses of the college.

Denver—Cookie Gilchrist, controversial fullback of the Denver Broncos football team, announced last week that he was turning over an $800 fine the team had leveled at him for reporting late, to a college student.

Little Rock, Ark.—Stricken in the midst of a statewide NAACP voter registration campaign she had organized, Mrs. Daisy Bates, heroine of the 1957 Little Rock School desegregation struggle, is reported improving in the Arkansas Baptist hospital.

Washington—Raymond Crump, Jr., accused of killing a Washington artist and society woman, was freed of murder charges by a District Court jury last week after 11 hours deliberation.

Russell Named In Support Suit

A petition was filed in Polk County District Court Aug. 10 asking for delinquent child support payments from Ernest Russell, former executive director of the Des Moines Commission on Human Rights and Job Discrimination.

Russell's wife Glenda was granted a divorce Mar. 19. She was awarded $45 a week child support for the couple's two children. She lives at 3027 Amherst st. She contended Russell has not paid support since June 9.

The action was filed under the Uniform Support of Dependents law, since Russell is not in the state. He resigned his Des Moines post in June to take a position in Charlotte, N. C.

32 Die, 600 Hurt Mobs Rampage, Burn, Loot in Watts Area During 5 Days

Los Angeles, Calif.—Rioting and violence erupted last Wednesday evening in the predominantly Negro Watts area, triggered by the arrest of a 21-year-old Negro youth, grew in intensity and over a broadened area stretching out over nearly a week.

California Governor G. Edmund Brown returned from a vacation in Europe, the National Guard was called out to bolster state troopers, 32 were dead and hundreds injured including comedian Dick Gregory. In addition a severe food shortage hit the battle torn area, as millions of dollars of property was laid waste over a sealed-off 46-block area. Finally the strictly enforced curfew was lifted and food areas were set up in addition to some stores opening to serve mostly women with clerks carrying guns on their hips.

Arrest of Negro

The riot began when some 1500 persons, mostly teenagers gathered, pelted police with rock, bottles and other debris, as they protested the arrest of Marquette Frye, who was given and failed a sobriety test. Rioting grew in intensity but was finally quelled by some 100 officers.

2nd Night

On the second night an army of 700 peace officers enforced a brief calm at midnight in the barricaded area, then before dawn mobs filled the streets again in an outbreak of burning, shooting and looting. More than 7,000 Negroes were reported in the riot with a toll of 120 injured. Gregory was shot in the leg just after he had urged a throng of 500 Negroes to return to their homes. Gregory and Don Smith, chairman of the Los Angeles chapter of CORE, had spent the night trying to get rioters to go back to their homes.

National Guard

The California National Guard was called into duty in the devastated riot-torn no-man's land Friday and on Saturday the death toll had risen to 14 with more than 300 injured. By then two firemen were shot as they battled one of more than 300 major fires set by mobs of looters. More than 500 rioters were arrested.

A heavy guard was thrown around the Los Angeles Civic Center police headquarters after rioters tossing gasoline bombs started a fire only 13 blocks away. Gangs that had prowled on foot switched to cars and drove to new district to cause trouble, police said.

Fires

The Fire Department estimated that flames alone caused $10 million worth of damage. Looting loss was in the many millions but inestimable. At least 1,000 firemen were on the

Iowa NAACP Rebuffs Rioters in Los Angeles

About 30 board members of the Iowa State Conference of Branches of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, issued a statement Saturday criticizing Negro rioters in the Los Angeles area.

Statement

"The Iowa State Conference of Branches of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People does not condone under any circumstances the rioting and looting that has occurred in the Los Angeles area," the statement said. "However, the state board feels officials and leaders (of Los Angeles) should make a complete investigation of the underlying causes and take appropriate action to alleviate the conditions that exist," it concluded.

Anniversary

The state board met at the Y. M. C. A. to discuss plans for the observance of the 25th anniversary of the state NAACP and the fiftieth anniversary of the Des Moines branch.

Representatives attended from Ottumwa, Burlington, Mason City, Fort Madison, Waterloo, Sioux City, Manly, Des Moines, Keokuk and Omaha, Neb.

James Piggee Wins First Place in National Photo Modeling Contest in Detroit

A Des Moines man who has only been modeling for about three years stepped into national competition and won first place against 25,000 males from most of the states, as "Mr. Photo Model of 1965."

He is James H. Piggee, 24, of 1335 13th street, a professional model who was sponsored by W. J. Maxheim Photography Studios, and competed in the two day 7th national convention of the Little Foxes and the Hares in Detroit, Mich., at Hotel Pontchartrain on Aug. 7-8.

One Week

Maxheim submitted a series of photos to Bill Howard, president and founder of the convention. A long distance call came to Mr. Piggee about a week before the convention, informing him he had been selected to compete at the convention.

Best Dressed

Mr. Piggee also won the "Best Dressed Model of 1965." His modeling wardrobe included his own personal clothes plus others supplied by Frankel's and other other clothing stores, rented by his sponsors. Winners were selected by six judges, three Negroes and three white.

Mr. Piggee, who is the father of two children, Antonio, 8, and Rolanda, 3, revealed he entered the modeling profession through his wife, (who accompanied him to the convention), already a model, who has given me much encouragement and help."

In addition he credits Mr. and Mrs. Maxheim with helping him invaluably. "If had not been for those gracious, kind people, I would not have been in the competition. There were times when I thought I couldn't make it. But they, my wife and my friends encouraged me."

To Chicago

Mr. Piggee, who left last weekend for Chicago, Ill., for a series of conferences with magazines and to do some commercial work, is thinking of opening a modeling school for Negroes and is willing to hear from those who are interested.

A graduate of Dowling, Mr. Piggee is employed at Armstrong Tire and Rubber company. His hobbies are dreams and speeches, which he says also helps him in his profession.

"BACK TO SCHOOL"

Preserve that opportunity, it's yours

There's no short cut to preparation to become a well rounded mechanic, professional or businessman.

These youngsters have used countless hours to attain their initial success.

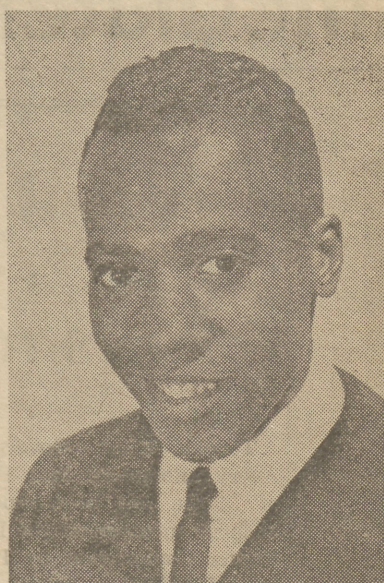

MARY LYNN DIXON

Graduated third from the top of class at Des Moines Tech in June 1964 in a class of 500. She will be a sophomore at Drake University this fall. She added to Rayburn-Webster and Elks scholarships by working part-time at Willkie House (a non-profit organization) on a student-grant-in-aid from Drake.

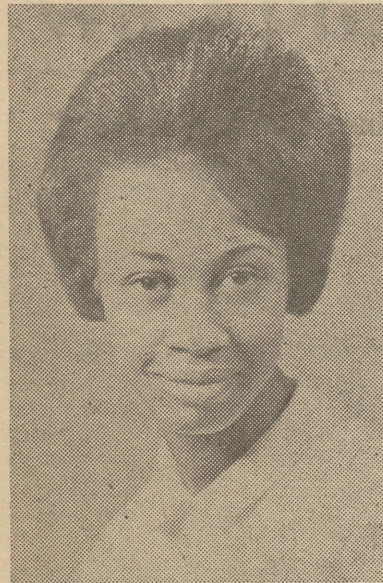

JO ELLEN SPRIGGS

A 1965 North High honor graduate, Jo Ellen Spriggs, was among three Des Moines students receiving the highest scholarship grants. She will enter Grinnell college next month on a renewable $2,100 Rockefeller foundation grant. She graduated 10th in a class of 427.

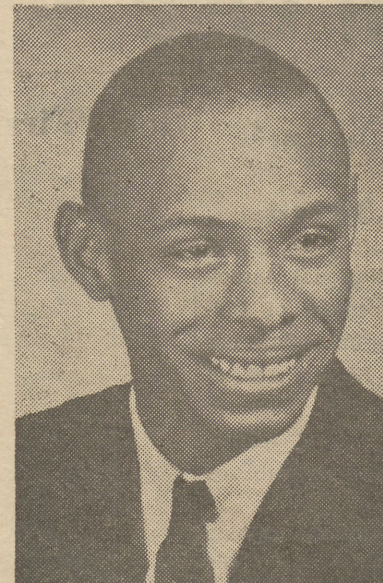

WILLIAM L. CRAWFORD

William Lee Crawford was among the first five Des Moines youths selected to go from Des Moines to participate in the Youth Job Opportunity program. He was flown to Killmer Job Corps center in New Jersey where he is taking business administration.

SALLIE BREWER

A June 1964 graduate of North high, Sallie Brewer is attending the Personnel Training Institute in Omaha, Nebr., where she is studying advanced typing, business spelling, business administration, teletyping operation, airlines reservations and personality development.

LESLIE CARTER

An honor graduate of Des Moines Tech, Leslie Carter, will enter Simpson college at Indianola, Ia., in September with the financial aid of a $870 scholarship from the school. Active in high school he was Senior class president and lettered in sports.

RUTH ANN GAINES

Recognized as one of the outstanding and all-around students to graduate from St. Joseph Academy in recent years, Ruth Ann Gaines plans to enter Clark college at Dubuque, Ia., on various scholarships totaling about $1,600 which are mostly renewable. She was president of the Student Council in her senior year.

These Iowans spent years of study and work to attain their place in life.

MARGUERITE COTHORN, Executive Secretary, Council of Social Agencies:

Abraham Lincoln said, "I will study and get ready, and perhaps my chance will come." This philosophy of preparedness and continued education has made possible new opportunities for many of us.

Preparedness includes selection of a vocation based on personal interest and ability; basic education; specialization in the chosen field; and continued study to keep abreast of new developments and techniques.

In preparation for a career in Social work, my own education has consisted of the following: A.B. degree, Drake University, 1930; M.A. Drake University, 1932; Major Sociology, Minor Psychology; 12 hours graduate study Catholic University School of Social Work, Washington, D.C. 1940, 1941; 6 hours graduate study, University of Illinois School of Social Work, 1947, 1948. M.S. University of Iowa, School of Social Work, 1954.

In addition attendance at Workshops, Conference and Institutes have been vital in keeping current with new trends in the field of Social Work. Nothing is gained without adequate preparation and continued study.

DR. H. D. HARPER, Physician and Surgeon, Ft. Madison:

I spent four years at University of Iowa, four years at Howard University Medical school and two years in post graduate work. For me those ten years were most enjoyable because I had my dreams, and dreams are the stuff that one's future is made of.

The "Drop Outs" had no dreams. Their future was already shaped, today, tomorrow and forever the same.

FRANK B. ROBINSON, SR., Assistant Superintendent, Delivery and Collections, U.S. Post Office:

University of Iowa, two years; Drake Community College, one year; completed extension work in labor-management relations, International Correspondence School, Eastern Michigan University; Postal service for twenty-five years.

WARDELL C. COYLE, Steam Fitter, Iowa Packing Company:

It took two years to learn the pipe fitters job at Iowa Packing Company. To get and keep a job like this, you must be reliable, dependable so you can be responsible for the work you do. This was twenty years ago, now and in the future it is a must to have High School for more education.

MARION WILLIAMS, druggist—owner of Williams Pharmacy:

Attended Kansas University and received his B.S. degree in pharmacy from Drake University in 1957. He worked a year as a chemist for the state agricultural department, then interned at Mercy hospital before opening his pharmacy at 1009 Center street, now located at 1103 University Ave.

Williams says, "With desire, persistence and hard work, any goal in life may be achieved."

FRANK HOLBERT, Machinist,

Iowa State University, Ames, Iowa, Physics Dept.: Kansas Vocational School, 1933-1934, studies, shoes repairing; Lane College, Jackson Tennessee, 1938-41, studies, chemistry major; Drake University, Des Moines, 1946-49, studies, pharmacy; Des Moines Tech Adult Education, 1950-51, studies, machine shop.

MRS. FRANCES CUIE, Assistant Buyer, Younkers:

Attended Lincoln University for three years and Drake University for a year and a half; before attaining present position as Assistant Buyer in the Notion Department at Younkers, I worked as a Detail Clerk for three years; Sales Clerk for four years; head of stock for four years, and took a special course offered in the store in retail operation.

STANLEY GRIFFIN, D.O., Des Moines, Iowa:

Attended Elementary and High School in Elizabeth City, N.C. and State Normal School, Fisk University, Nashville, Tennessee, 4 years, A.B. Degree; College of Osteopathic Medicine and Surgery, Des Moines, 4 years. Hospital work 2 years in Wilmington, North Carolina.

ROBERT L. WEEKS, Linotype Operator, Register and Tribune:

The International Typographical Union has a six year apprenticeship program. Perhaps I should explain that although this may prepare you in the printing trade, there are constant changes, new ideas, and many new and fascinating types of machinery. Even after 20 years in the newspaper business, there are men and women attending schools to operate new equipment, which will insure their future. I would encourage any young man and woman to acquire the most complete education available to them.

DR. JULIEN G. MASON, dentist:

Attended Nash, Washington Irving, and North High School, six years at the State University of Iowa, graduating with B.S. and D.D.S. degrees. He started his practice in 195....

JAMES B. MORRIS, JR., Attorney:

Attended Des Moines Public schools, graduated from North High, January, 1937. Bachelor of Arts degree in political science and economics from State University of Iowa, January, 1941; Master of Arts degree in political science and economics, State University of Iowa, August 1946, Juris Doctors Degree from the College of Law, State University of Iowa, February, 1949. Private practice of law since that time including one year as assistant Polk county attorney.

LOUISE MAYS, Psychiatrist Social Worker: High School Diploma—Crispus Attucks High School, Indianapolis; B.S. degree in Natural Science—Tuskegee Institute, Tuskegee, Alabama. (Incidentally, I worked my way thru college completely; these were the depression years; and graduated with honors)

Attended a Medical Technology School in Chicago for 15 months and became a Registered Medical Technologist. While working as a Supervisor of the Student Health Laboratory at the University of Chicago decided to return to graduate school. M.A. in Social Service Administration—Univ. of Chicago (2 years). A total of 20 years in school, roughly.

REV. N. R. OLFPHIN, Minister, Corinthian Baptist Church, Des Moines, Iowa:

Four years in college receiving the A.B. degree; two and a half years in Seminary; one year at Va. Union University; three years at other Seminaries in Church History, Theology, Homiletics, etc. at Bloomfield Seminary in N.J., a part of Princeton University, Andrew Newton Theological Seminary in N. Y. City. Periodic refresher courses. One at the Drake School of Religion. Altogether the number of years spent in school were more than 18½ years. In other words one never stops studying. Learning is a continuing process.

EVERETT A. MAYS, SR., Customer Service, Northwestern Bell Telephone Co.: Graduate of Newton High School, Newton, Iowa. State University of Iowa, Iowa City (dropped out prior to earning his degree in Business Administration).

DR. WARREN NASH, M.D., Waterloo, Physician: Talladega College, Talladega, Alabama, June 1948 B.A. degree in natural science; married but managed to make it to Creighton University School of Medicine; I graduated in June, 1953; one full year of internship and entered private practice in 1954; practiced medicine for eleven years; during the summer between school sessions, I worked for John Deere, Rath Packing Company, Armour Packing Company, R.K.O. Theater and several other firms; it was not easy but well worth it.

DR. EUSTACE J. WARE, D.O., Physician: Graduated from North High School in 1939; attended Iowa Barber College, and worked as an apprentice barber one year; in the Coast Guard for three years; attended radio school learning to send and receive Morse Code; enrolled in the school of Pharmacy at Drake University receiving a B.S. in Science in 1950 and embarked on a career in pharmacy; by 1955 I was back in school; a Doctor of Osteopathic Medicine degree in 1959; one year of internship; a year as a Fellow in Clinical Medicine; latest post graduate training being in anesthesiology.

JAMES E. BOWMAN, Coordinator, State and Federal Programs Des Moines Independent Community School District:

1940, graduated from North High School, Des Moines, Iowa; 1940-42 attended Iowa State University in Division of Science; 1943, worked as lab technician at Solar Aircraft Co.; 1943-45, served in U.S. Air Corps (attended Tuskegee as air cadet); 1946-47, completed A.B. degree at Drake University; 1949, completed M.S. degree at Drake University; 1952-53, additional study in Guidance at University of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, Pa.; 1959-60, attended two science institutes on NSF programs. (Drake); 1963, attended full summer NDEA Guidance Institute at SCI, Cedar Falls, Iowa; 1963-64, attended full year NDEA Guidance Institute (advanced) with a special emphasis on "disadvantaged" youth at New York University, N.Y., N.Y.

It may well be interesting to note that all of the above training was obtained under various federal programs with the exception of the first two years at ISU and the two summers at U. of PGH.

RUSSELL BELL, Pharmacist: 3 years pre-med, State College of Iowa; four and a half years at Drake University; one year apprenticeship at Broadlawn and Mercy Hospitals; fifteen years at Bell & Holbert Pharmacy.

DR. LEWIS A. JAMES, Dentist:

High School in Key Port, New Jersey; B.S. degree in Biology from Shaw University, Raleigh N. C.; College of Dentistry, University of Iowa and received D.D.S. Degree, practiced in Des Moines; public health dentist.

DR. PERCY HARRIS, Cedar Rapids, Physician:

High-school, East High, Waterloo, Iowa, 1947; Iowa State Teachers College, 1948 & 1949; Howard University, B.S., 1953; Howard University Medical School, 1957; Internship July 1, 1957 to June 30, 1957, St. Luke's Hospital, Cedar Rapids; attended Am. U., Cath. U. Now in private practice and a Linn County medical examiner.

NOLDEN GENTRY, Assistant Attorney General:

Bachelor of Science degree from the State University of Iowa in 1960 and seven semesters later received a Juris Doctor degree from the Iowa College of Law. Thereafter, I completed the Federal Bureau of Investigations fourteen week training course. In January of this year, I began work as an assistant to the Iowa Attorney General.

MALCOLM C. HOGAN, Auditor, Internal Revenue Service:

Tax examiner with the Internal Revenue Service since 1954, progress from a file clerk to his present job as a tax technician. Qualifications: Completed or expected to complete within 9 months a 4-year course leading toward a bachelor's degree; or 3 years of experience in administration, professional or other responsible work or, had equivalent combination of educational experience. The principal subjects for qualifying were accounting and economics, finance, business administration and law.

ROBERT M. JOHNSON, Surgeon:

Conscientious contemplation of a useful productive life, which embodies discharging expected and unexpected obligations, requires a lengthy and continuing educational process.

Coe College, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, 4 year, 1947; University of Iowa, 4 years, 1951; Polk County Hospital (Broadlawn) Internship, 1 year, 1952; General Practice, 3 years, 1955; Flight Surgeon (Air Force) Ia. ANG, 4 years, 1960; General Surgeon Resident at Veterans Hospital, 4 years, 1959.

Postgraduate surgical training will continue every year to maintain capabilities and knowledge commensurate with the current medical and surgical advances. For example in the preceding year one week of training and study has been continued during 5 months at American College of Surgeons, Columbia Vascular Surgery clinic, Sectional Surgical Meetings, AMA National, and Iowa University Plastic Surgery and Abdominal Surgery conference.

MEREDITH R. SAUNDERS, M.D., Ophthalmologist:

Sheilah Williams is Lovely Bride of L. Manley in Fabulous Wedding at Grace Methodist July 17

MR. AND MRS. LEONARD MANLEY

Saturday, July 17 marked the betrothal of Miss Sheilah Williams, niece of Mrs. Dora Mackay, 1062 38th street, to Leonard Manley. The wedding took place at Grace Methodist church where about 600 guests witnessed the nuptials.

Solo

The ceremony with a solo by Ramona White, daughter of Professor Andrew White, former head of the vocal department at Drake university. Then the organ music ushered in five beautifully attired bridesmaids and their escorts followed by the ring bearer, the matron and maid of honor and the flower girls. After they reached the chancel the organ rang out the traditional wedding song, and the bride escorted by her father, J. C. Williams of Kansas City, Mo., took the final steps of the young maid approaching the threshold of matrimony.

The motif of the wedding was yellow and white. The bridesmaids wore yellow full length empire gowns of chantilly lace over organza fashioned with bracelet length sleeves with matching yellow petal hats and shoes and white gloves.

Wedding Gown

The bride was radiant in white lace full length wedding gown with bracelet length sleeves, fashioned with fitted bodice and a pleated panel caught at the back with a bow, with a flowing chapel train. The neckline and hemline were scalloped. Her rose petal headpiece caught up her waist length veil of organza. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and white stephanotis.

The flower girls wore petite full yellow organza dresses with yellow petal hats and white gloves. They carried yellow petals in their baskets.

Attendants

The wedding party included Mrs. Beverly Pertest, St. Paul, Minn., matron of honor and the bride's sis-

We received the following letter earlier this summer, but held its publication back so that it would be of more interest and we hope lasting effect, at this date, since it is only a few days before the thousands of youngsters trek back to the school desks. The publication is intended to tie-in with the special page on "Back to School" published on page two of this issue. Our youngsters need the best education they can get, but most of all they need our interest and our moral support in and out of school.

The letter was written by Lacey D. Spriggs, vice principal at Washington Junior high. Mr. Spriggs has long experience in the teaching profession in Des Moines and has held his present position three years.

The letter reads:

I would like to take this opportunity to express my gratitude for your articles in the Iowa Bystander concerning the lack of parent participation in our P.T.A. programs at Washington Irving. As you are no doubt aware, I have been concerned for some time about the false impressions and rumors that have been circulated about our school. Washington Irving, according to these people, is staffed with inferior teachers, is a "Blackboard Jungle," is about ninety percent Negro, is equipped with sub-standard books and materials, is constantly being involved in police action, etc.

"It is necessary to point out that the people who are usually responsible for these statements have never visited the school. Our experience has been that in almost one hundred percent of the visits made to our school, the visitors leave being highly impressed with the school building, the staff, and most of all, with the student body. When I compare Irving with the three other Des Moines secondary schools in which I have worked, I find no difference between this faculty as compared to the others.

"Some of the people are of the opinion that we are staffed with teachers and administrators that other building don't want or are staffed with young, inexperienced teachers who can't wait to get away from Irving. This is not the case as we have at least three teachers that are asked to take cadet teachers from Drake University every year because they know that the cadets will see instruction at its best. There are seven teachers who have been in our building fifteen years or more.

"I do not wish to sound defensive about our school, but I must admit, that to some of you, I am trying to picture Irving as a perfect school. Let me add that there is no such thing as a perfect school and that we do have our share of problems. These problems are not problems peculiar to Washington Irving but are problems found in public schools throughout the city and the nation. There are certain conditions existing in and around the school that we don't like, but as I talk with other vice principals and teachers, I find that our problems are not too different either in type or number than those in most of the junior high schools in Des Moines.

"The president of the Des Moines Board of Education was guest speaker at one of our P.T.A. meetings. During her speech she spoke of the time she had visited an Irving Christmas Assembly and how impressed she was with the performance, not only of the people taking part in the program but also of the conduct of the whole student body during the assembly. As I looked over the group of parents present, I saw only two or three Negro couples. It is my opinion that the school is doing a much better job than is generally recognized, and part of the reason for the lack of recognition is the apparent lethargy on the part of the parents.

"To you parents of Washington Irving students, I would like to suggest that you have not been aggressive enough about the defense of your children's reputations. In general, you have not taken the time to be informed about what your school is doing for your children. You have not placed yourself in a position to hear people praise the accomplishments of your children. I would hope that you, as parents, would take time to become better acquainted with the school and its faculty. As you become better acquainted, you will develop confidence in the school and the program it is providing for your children."

Des Moines Residents Visit in Minneapolis

Mrs. Helen Wheeler Hubbard and children of Minneapolis, Minn., were pleasantly surprised last weekend when they were visited by Mrs. Gertrude Bibbs, her daughter Mrs. Olga Hill and son, John Bibbs and wife Betty and daughter Vickie all of Des Moines, Iowa. Mrs. Hubbard and Mrs. Bibbs are sisters. The visitors were dinner guests of Mr. Lillene Moore and family while here.

LITTLE WORK DONE TO CONSOLIDATE GAINS

Many reasons have been advanced as the cause of the riots in Los Angeles: denial of civil rights, jobs, better living conditions, better schools and a desire of some to get even for the sins which have been heaped on the Negro over the years.

Nobody with any rhyme or reason wanted the riot. The incident which triggered the whole thing was not something incapable of settlement by reasoning and the ordinary course of things. But nobody expected it. Like Gov. Hughes, who said it would not happen here, many felt the same way in California.

Surprising changes have come over the world during the last decade. Sleeping people have been awakened to new freedoms and their growing pains have made some nations miserable, at times. With the removal of one restriction after another, many Negroes awaking to what they have been missing all these years, become resentful.

Civil rights have been in the forefront in America for years. Americans have played with it, lied about it and denied it in most places. Politicians, North and South, have used it pro and con to advance their cause. But in recent years an awakening has come, serious issues have been joined, and advances made on every front.

Most people can't understand why, in the light of the great advancement by the Negro, that he would resort to the conduct such as that exhibited in Los Angeles. They have never stopped to think. And yet it's simple: he wants the same thing his white acquaintance has: civil rights, an opportunity to advance to the top, money, good homes, good schools and a chance to win if he makes the grade. And he is not getting it.

In the Los Angeles districts where the riots occurred some of these advantages were not available. Many of the people have been on relief one generation after another. Too many live on hand outs rather than by the toil of their hands or the use of their brains. Vice and political maneuvering feed a few only to be pushed further and further down the ladder.

Few people expected that the German people, the Italian, the Japanese people could be led down the road to destruction by their wild leaders. They did. Americans of good will did not expect Negroes, who in the majority of instances, have won new freedoms, would so lose their heads so as to hurt their cause. But they did. The world seems to have separated the war leaders from the people. These nations have been helped toward world citizenship. The same should be true of the rioters.

In spite of all the inequalities complained of, the riots should not have happened. They take of the very methods which have been used to intimidate and keep Negroes down. Lawlessness gets nobody anywhere. And as the Bystander has said editorially before, Negroes must consolidate their gains by displaying qualities of citizenship responsibility. Frankly, too little has been done in this direction.

BACK TO SCHOOL

Today, there is a great urge to encourage youngsters to go to school, to stay in school, and complete the training necessary to produce well rounded careers. Drop-outs are encouraged to return to school. The federal government has many programs which aid and point the way for plans for future improvement.

This week, the Bystander is publishing a "Back to School" message on page two. It overflows on page four. In it, youngsters who are moving ahead, are giving their message; Iowans who have put in hours of study and years of preparation to prepare themselves urge youngsters to follow their example. Leading business institutions and employees are sponsoring this message not only because they stand to use the services of youngsters graduating and pursuing careers and trades but also because it's just good business for them and in Iowa where they operate.

Youngsters and their parents should read and digest these messages. They are valuable.

The months of August and September can be tough on Sports fans. The baseball season really begins to heat up then and the football season is making noises like an opening and this year they have brought up a new angle. Taking advantage of the absence of baseball on some Saturdays and Sundays the football gang has moved in and now if you have two sets there are weekends when you can watch a football and a baseball game at the same time.

Twins

In the baseball end it would be hard to count the Minnesota Twins as not in but a lot could happen in September. Then the boys from up the country could become the first American League team aside from the Yankees to win a World Series in 20 years. They have the hitting and good pitching that make it rough in a short series.

Over in the National league, the best two man pitching staff in baseball may not be able to pull the Dodgers through. If they could get just one other hurler going on a hot streak.

Dodgers

But the Dodgers would be about the only National League club we would figure to beat the Twins. We would pick them because of their two-man staff. Anybody who would try to pick a winner out of that scramble in the National League is very brave or just doesn't know what he is doing.

Trying to guess football winners in the two gridiron leagues is just about as bad. We wouldn't know who to pick if we were called upon for a football choice.

Football

It will require all of our interest to see that Iowa university has a winning season. Maybe the schedule favors it. And the Hawks are about due. From the looks of things last year Coach Jerry Burns is going to put his best club out there. Come what may. If he does this the fellows can have a clear conscience and feel really good if he comes up with a six-three mark or even five-four.

Here at home we have a football team and are in a league a lot of local talent tried out, but the high school boys with a few exceptions couldn't compete with the college players. A few of the high school boys made it, but not very many. John Skipper and the Butts brothers were among those who will be there for a while. We shall see how the Warriors start the season before we commit ourselves. We would like to see them have a good season.

But Warriors or no Warriors we have to pull for Drake and Iowa State to come through. We may be in for a busy season.

job. The sky glowed orange from countless blazes. Yet there were dark patches where power had failed.

Guns

Saturday night 15,500 troops bolstered by county and city police officers struggled to enforce order as the city clamped a 8 p.m. curfew, and end four days of terror. Home-owners of all races besieged stores buying guns and ammunition. The toll of injured had risen to 592 with 20 killed. President Johnson during the day had issued a statement saying "rights aren't won by violence," and urged all to restore calm. Property damaged had zoomed to the $100 million as fires spread.

Spreading

The violence spread to Hollywood, Long Beach and San Diego, Sunday night as it continued to rage in Los Angeles, as the mobs shot and tossed fire bombs. The death toll rose to 32 as Guardsmen and officers battled snipers.

Order Restored

Order was finally restored on Monday as the sprawling area, resembling a ravaged battlefield, gathered its forces to overcome another emergency—a severe shortage of food and medicine, in the wake of store burnings.

Food Shortages

A drive to collect and distribute food and medicine to the 65,000 residents of the Watts district was spearheaded by Negro church leaders and quickly backed by officials and civic leaders—many white.

Emergency meetings were called

Loyola of New Orleans
Signs Negro Cage Ace

New Orleans—Loyola university of New Orleans has signed a Negro prep basketball star to a grant-in-aid scholarship. Loyola is the first college in the state to sign a Negro for basketball.

Signed was Charles Powell, a 6-foot-3-inch guard from McKinley high school in Baton Rouge.

Powell, an All-City and All-State AAA player, totalled 863 points the past season for a 26-point per game average. His highest game total was 40. He has shot in the upper 30's several times.

Powell was also selected All-American by Parade magazine and was the star in the Negro high school All-Star game last week.

His coach at McKinley, Carl E. Stewart, said Powell is a "phenomenal shooter" but also has the ability to lead the team.

Stewart said several northern schools also were interested in the youth. His signing at Loyola makes him the first to be signed to a Louisiana school which has had all-white basketball squads.

Tulane university has a Negro on its baseball team.

Little League Football

The third and last registration for the Little All American Football League will be held Saturday from 9 a.m. through 12:30 in the Campus Room of the Y.M.C.A.

Eligible are boys in seventh through ninth grades and weighing from 90 to 165 pounds. During the first two Saturdays, 165 boys registered.

There will be eight teams in Little All American football, four lightweight and four heavyweight. The heavyweight include all ninth graders plus all younger boys who weigh more than 130 pounds.

There is one team from each division in each quarter of the city. The season will start with a jamboree game September 12, followed by a double round robin schedule, and ending with an all-star game on Oct. 31.

All games will be played at Firestone Field just north of the Firestone plant.

New Vocational School
Slated to Open Here Oct. 1

A new vocational school for job training at federal expense for unemployed youths in Des Moines and Polk County is slated to open about Oct. 1. Applications are being taken now.

The Youth Opportunity Center, 300 Court ave., will select 300 trainees in the coming months. With few exceptions, they will be young men and women who did not finish high school.

Raymond Driver, director of the center, said youths must have an economic need for the federal training. Need will be determined individually, he said. The youths selected for training must have the ability to profit from the training, he added.

$20 Allowance

The training is limited to unemployed youths, age 16 to 22, who live in Polk County. Each trainee will receive an allowance of $20 a week; more if he has dependents.

A building will be rented soon to house the new vocational school.

A federal grant of $773,000 under the Manpower Development and Training Act has been approved to pay all costs of the new job-training school during its first year.

This includes $148,000 for trainee allowances and $625,000 for training.

The program is a joint project of the area, scarred and still smoldering from more than 2,000 fires.

Relief authorities began moving three tons of food into the district.

Ashe Out of Davis
Cup Zone Play
Against Spanish Foes

Barcelona, Spain—Frank Froehling III from Coral Gables, Fla., was named Sunday night to play the second singles spot behind Dennis Ralston for the United States in the interzone Davis Cup series against Spain.

The series began Tuesday at the fashionable Real Club de Tennis. Both Froehling and Ralston lost Tuesday.

George MacCall of Los Angeles, the U.S. captain, made the selection after Froehling beat Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., in a three-set match.

"Our reasoning was that Froehling, who grew up on this kind of surface, should have an added advantage. Furthermore, he has been playing top-flight tennis since we came to Spain," MacCall said.

Ashe, the 22-year-old Negro star from U. C. L. A. who won both his singles matches against Mexico in the American Zone, took the decision graciously.

"Froehling is playing marvelously," he said. "I think both he and Ralston will win."

Iowa GOP Plan
"Buck Night"

The Iowa Republican Party will conduct a statewide fund raising drive—called "Buck Night"—Oct. 21. Republican State Chairman Robert Ray announced today.

The drive, Ray said, will be conducted in every area of the state by local Republicans, "offering a chance for all Iowans of every political creed to contribute to the political system which produces their government. The cost of operating a political party, like everything else today, continues to mount. If we want to keep political parties in the hands of the people, then we must go to them for financial help."

Neighborhood Bible
Club Will Meet

The Neighborhood Bible club will meet on Monday, Aug. 23 at 2 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Sadie Jackson, 1222 12th street. All members are urged to attend. Mrs. Laura Dawson is president.

Forgive and Forget

"Forgive and forget, it is better
To fling an ill feeling aside,
Than allow the deep, cankered fester
Of revenge in your breast to abide;
For your step o'er life's path will be
Brighter
When the load from your bosom is cast,
And the glorious sky will seem
Brighter

And the clouds of displeasure have past.
Thou your spirits swell high with emotion,
To give back in justice again,
Sink the thought in oblivion's ocean,
For remembrance increases the pain;
Oh, why should we linger in sorrow,
When the shadows are passing away,
Or seek to encounter tomorrow,
The blasts that o'erswept us today.

Our life's stream is a varying river
And tho it may placidly glide
When the sunbeams of joy o'er it quiver,
It must foam when the storm
meets the tide;
Then stir not its current to madness
For its wrath thou wilt ever regret,
Tho the morning breaks on your sadness,
E'er the sun sets, forgive and forget."

Toney

Davenport, Ia.—Charles W. Toney, president of the Davenport Catholic Interracial Council, has been nominated to a post on the board of directors of the National Catholic Conference for Interracial Justice, local C.I.C. officials revealed today.

The N.C.C.I.J. is the parent organization of all local, state and regional Catholic interracial councils.

Included with Mr. Toney in the group of 13 nominees from 10 different states and the District of Columbia is John Howard Griffin, nationally known author and race expert, who was the first recipient of the C.I.C.'s annual Pacem in Terris Award.

Mr. Toney will head-up a delegation of local C.I.C. members who will attend the annual N.C.C.I.J. convention, in Omaha, Neb., Aug. 26-29. Secretary of Agriculture, Orville F. Freeman, will be among the notables who will address the convention.

Enroute home they visited Mrs. Daniels' sister-in-law and family in Cleveland, Ohio.

CINCINNATI NAACP PICKETS
UNION OFFICES PROTESTING
BUILDING TRADES JIM CROW

Cincinnati, Ohio — The Cincinnati Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People conducted an all-night vigil at the Vine Street offices of the AFL-CIO Central Labor Council, Tuesday, Aug. 10.

The sit-in watch was the latest in a number of moves by the NAACP in a two-year battle to break down discriminatory bars against Negroes practiced by nine of the city's building trades unions.

Membership

The unions and examples of their membership named by the NAACP included: 625 electricians, 0 Negroes; 90 glaziers, 1 Negro; 550 bricklayers, 2 Negroes; 115 asbestos workers, 0 Negroes; 200 rodmen, 0 Negroes; 500 plumbers, 0 Negroes; 2,200 carpenters, 10 Negroes; 225 millwrights, 0 Negroes; and 480 ironworkers, 0 Negroes.

Charges

Dr. Bruce H. Green, Cincinnati NAACP president, and Herbert Hill,

NAACP director for labor program, charging that the unions were remaining "adamant in refusing to admit Negroes into membership" wired President Johnson requesting an immediate investigation of violations of Executive Orders 10925 and 11114 on Friday, August 6. The presidential edicts prohibit racial discrimination in federally-financed construction projects, of which there are several in the Cincinnati metropolitan area where all the unions have men working.

Farm Exhibits To Be Feature At Iowa Fair

Products from a 5-acre or larger farm will be featured in the individual farm exhibits at the Iowa State Fair in Des Moines.

Ray Hethershaw, Des Moines, superintendent of Agricultural Hall and crops, stressed that quality is more important than quantity in these crops.

He said the display crops can be unusual or commonplace to every farm, several or a loner, elaborately or simple arranged, but they must be useful, the top of the harvest, attractive, a lesson in Iowa agriculture.

Entered from northern, central and southern districts, the displays will be judged by the same score sheet: Quality of products, 40 points; arrangement (attractiveness and decoration), 30; educational value, 20; and adaptability of products, 10.

The best maintained exhibit will rate $25, ranging down to $7, with $7.50 deducted for indifferent care.

Prizes will total $1,515, to be pro rated in each district on a basis of $175 for each qualifying display.

Competition is offered in field corn, sweet corn and pop corn, grains and seeds, sheaf grain, grass and forage. The state soil conservation committee has named four districts to present a typical scene pointing up Iowa's soil and water problems.

Agricultural Hall will be open from 9 a. m. to 7:30 p. m. daily, except closing Sunday when all is over at 6 p. m.

The horticultural and floricultural displays also are in Agricultural Hall. Winton Etchen, of West Des Moines, and Elsa Sterrett Brodersen, Des Moines, are department superintendents, respectively.

4-H Horse Entries Feature Of Annual Iowa State Fair

A horse or pony in good standing in an Iowa 4-H project can take his examinations and pass into the money at the Iowa State Fair, Aug. 20-29 in Des Moines.

The entry's 4-H mentor must have had a major role in his training and will be expected to groom and show his animal without assistance.

The contest is open to horses and ponies three years old or younger, with age based upon last Jan. 1. Stallions are ineligible.

Awards for eight halter and performance classes will total $400. The first prize in each class is $20.

Each of the Iowa 4-H championship halter classes, for ponies 52 inches and under and for western and English type light horses, is open to yearlings and to two-year-olds.

Pleasure and stock horse classes make up the 4-H championship performance group. Iowa stock horse rules prevail for the latter class.

Judging begins at 9 a. m. on Thursday, Aug. 26, in the livestock barn. Bill Haney, Clearfield will judge, using C-511-C. "A Guide for 4-H Light Horse Shows and Events in Iowa."

Awards will be given for the horse and pony showman's contest. Boys and girls who do the best job of fitting and showing their animals and who make the neatest appearance in the ring will receive purple ribbons and leather 4-H belts with special buckle. A previous winner of a showmanship belt will receive only a purple ribbon this year.

10 Big Days

The youngsters will be judged while their animals are being judged individually.

W. L. Yount, Altoona, is superintendent of the horse department and horse show manager; Marion Vande Wall, also of Altoona, and Tom Wickersham of Ames, assistant superintendents.

Children's Barnyard At
1965 State Fair

An oink-oink here and a cheep-cheep there!

That is the Iowa State Fair Children's Barnyard, filled with the wobbly, wiggly and wrinkled from Iowa farms.

Set up as a delightful and sneaky educational exhibit for small fry from suburbia and the cities, the barnyard also is a must on a fair tour for those who can see a cow in their own backyard any day.

Because the exhibits are very young babies, the mothers come along as chaperons. They also are a lesson to the youthful urbanites what the years can do.

Scheduled for the barnyard this year are calves, colts, lambs, piglets, kids, rabbits, puppies and anything else the farms have. Obliging chicks will pop out of their shells; ducklings quack and turkey gobblers strut across the pen.

Future Farmers of America (F.F.A.) in cooperation with the fair board, sponsor the showing for the ten days of the fair, Aug. 20-29. C. W. Dalbey, F.F.A. supervisor, is in charge.

No premium books are necessary for this delightful display.

Expect 500
Entries In Jewelry Design

Norman Geske, director of the University of Nebraska art gallery at Lincoln, will be the juror for the Iowa State Fair art exhibit, Condon Kuhl, Des Moines, announced here today.

Kuhl, specialist in jewelry design and silversmithing, replaces Stan Hess as exhibit chairman. Kuhl is an art instructor at Drake University here. Hess is in the east at this time.

The purchase prize for the exhibit has been increased to $300 from $250.

Kuhl said all entries are eligible to compete for this highest award. He anticipates less than half the 500 submitted entries will be hung.

The purchase award entry will become part of a permanent collection to tour Iowa schools and art museums and is to remain with the Des Moines Art Center.

Exhibit awards, open only to artists living in Iowa, will total $900 for the four following classes: Oil, tempera, mixed technique, encaustic; water color, gouache, unvarnished casein; prints and drawings; sculpture.

The first premium in the painting classes is $60 each and in sculpture, $40. Three honorable mentions of $20 each may be awarded at the jury's discretion.

The 107th state fair which opened Friday, Aug. 20, will continue through Sunday, Aug. 29.

Speeding Arabian Horses To Make Comeback At 1965 Iowa State Fair

Burnooses floating behind the speeding mounts, curly-toed slippers in the stirrups, there Iowa Arabs will be up on Arabians for renewed adventure at the Iowa State Fair this August.

Intelligent, restive Arabians are making a state fair comeback after 12 or 15 years because Iowans again are interested in the handsome animals which modeled for classical art.

W. L. Yount, Altoona, horse show manager, said what interests Iowa horsemen interests horse show officials.

Yount anticipates at least 100 head of Arabians for the show, with a $15-$20,000 price on some on some of those heads.

Registered Arabians in performance classes will be shown under English equipment — flat saddle, no horn, uncovered irons — and with riders in Arabian costume. The eight halter classes will be judged at 1:30 p. m. Saturday, Aug. 21, north of the race horse barns.

Yount has several reasons for the upturn in horseback riding and driving. Iowans have more leisuretime, are more prosperous and seek a hobby (horseback riding also is said to be a superior reducing agent).

The fair board has noted this enthusiasm, Yount said, with inclusion of Iowa-owned Hackney and harness pony classes. "We want to encourage more Iowa classes," Yount commented.

Although final figures are not available, Yount predicted a larger show than last year, one of the best.

In 1964 more than 1,900 head were entered, with possibly a third of the number Shetlands, Hackneys and Americanas.

Horse show dates are Friday night, Aug. 20, through Sunday afternoon, Aug. 29.

Yount said the big moment in the horse show from the spectator viewpoint is the 5-gaited classic. The galleries and rail birds scream, shriek, whistle and stamp their feet as the animals, bred for show ring, perform brilliantly under the rider's trained handling.

Jumpers and walking horses probably follow in popular favor.

The western show entry list is so enormous that the Iowa cowgirls and cowboys have two shows of their own, Saturday night and Sunday afternoon, Aug. 28 and 29. "We couldn't tuck 'em in with the society horse show any more," Yount said.

The Iowa Cowgirl Queen will be chosen Saturday night. Shetland pony performance classes are included in the horse show.

The horse and pony show offers $35,000 in cash prizes and trophies.

Premiums are up for Hackneys, harness ponies, walking horses, jumpers, Americanas (doubled), Palominos (nearly double), Appaloosa horses, Ponies of the Americas, Iowa draft horses and the pony team pulling contest.

Walking horse halter classes is one of several additions this year. Iowa now has five or more breeders, Americanas (Hackney on one side) get roadster and fine harness classes, as well as more premiums.

Appaloosa ponies will be judged in five halter classes. Iowa draft horse classes have been expanded. Halter classes for the sheen-bright, flashy, golden Palominos have been increased six fold; a performance class has been added.

Championship stakes with big money premiums are: 5-gaited, $2,000; 3-gaited, $1,500; fine harness, $1,000; hackney and harness ponies, $750 each; junior 5-gaited and fine harness, parade horses and ponies and walking, $500 each.

The division premiums follow: Saddle horses, $7,585; fine harness horses, $2,750; Hackney ponies, $1,800; harness ponies, $1,550; parade horses and ponies, $1,505; walking horses, $1,250; jumpers, $700; Americana, $850; western, $3,550; Palomino, $600; Appaloosa, $1,130; Appaloosa ponies, $150; Ponies of the Americas, $600; Iowa draft horses $930; American Saddle Horse Breeders Futurity, $1,600; Arabians, $500; team pulling contest, $900; pony team pulling contest, $450; Shetland ponies, $3,960.

Judges and other horse show officials are:

William J. Cunningham, Mexico, Mo., saddle, Hackneys, parade, jumpers, draft, Futurity, Arabian; Senator J. T. Kelly, Columbia, Tenn., walking horses; Buck Johnston, Geneva, Neb., Quarter horses and western; Ralph Hager, Harvey, N. D., Palominos, P. O. A. and western; Jerry Johnson, Kansas City, Kan., Appaloosa; Carter Van Nattan, Bartlett, Ill., Shetlands; Marion Vande Wall, Altoona, ringmaster; Bob Leu, Keokuk, and Stan Drier, Hubbard, announcers; Beverly Vande Wall, Altoona, ring secretary; Harry McGlothlen, Des Moines, and Ray Delbert, Sac City, stewards.

Seek Iowa Cookout King At 1965 State Fair

Iowa has it all the way here—an Iowa man or boy grilling Iowa meat or fowl on an outdoor barbecue can become Iowa Cook-Out King at the Iowa State Fair.

A dash of Iowa imagination in the way he tilts his chef's cap, sprinkles herbs, pours wine or condiments over the meat, arranges vegetables (Iowa's, naturally) flips the steak or chicken on the grill will help.

Last year Harley Peters of Charles City, won a special showmanship award for originality. He set up tents, awning, barbecue and accessories, then baked bread, roasted corn, barbecued a whole pig.

The Iowa Cookout King Contest will be on Wednesday, Aug. 25, which also is Iowa Food Day.

Winning, however, is rather more complex than standing at attention before a sizzling pork chop.

For the most part, state fair finalists are local contest winners in any of the following divisions: Beef, lamb, pork, poultry, turkey. If there is no local contest, the aspirant directly enters state fair competition.

State entrants are required to bring whatever it takes to be a Cookout King, including meat, which should be the same cut as that used in the preliminaries.

No finalist should be a dash-off this and a drop-of-that man, because the judges want the recipe used in the contest before it ever gets under way.

And a finalist can be any male 12 or over.

State and county judging scores are practically the same. The points follow:

Preparation excellence, based on taste, tenderness and appetizing appearance, 50; best use of Iowa agricultural products in meat preparation, 15; originality in selection and preparation of meat cut, 10; contestant's ability, technique, neatness, etc., 15.

The final 10 points is given for the way the amateur chef sells himself and his product—his own spotless apron and cap, arrangement of knives, forks, spoons, spatulas and bottles; menu, his savior faire making him stand out among the cooks.

The 1965 fair starts before the cookout contest, opening Friday, August 20, goes on longer, closing Sunday, August 29.

Iowa Shutter Fans Enter Work At Iowa State Fair

Color is the major interest of entrants in the Iowa State Fair Photographic Salon, J. K. Brown of Des Moines, department superintendent, said here recently.

Pony Pulling Contest Set At Iowa State Fair

Ponies no longer come to the Iowa State Fair for a sugar loaf and a pat on the nose.

They come to pull, pull, pull and to win a little money to help pay for their keep.

Pony pulling may never become a major sport, W. L. Yount of Altoona, agreed, but they have their own ever growing gallery.

Yount, superintendent of the horse department, said pulling is a prime feature of major and minor fairs east and west from Des Moines.

The two-day schedule follows:

Teams 44 inches in height or under, 9 a. m. Sunday, Aug. 29; 45 through 47 inches, 9 a. m. Saturday, Aug. 28; 48 through 50 inches, 10:30 a. m. Saturday.

All contests will be held north of the race horse barn.

Yount said the added interest in the contest is indicated by the total $450 award, against $300 last year. The first prize in each class will be $50.

The rules will be those of the Iowa Pony Pulling Association. Copies may be obtained by writing Vic Holzworth, president, Harper, Iowa.

The pulling ponies are part of the National Shetland Pony Congress, an annual feature at the state fair.

In co-operation with the American Shetland Pony Club, Lafayette, Ind., the fair offers a Class "AA" show for registered Shetlands at halter and in performance classes. All the ponies will win more than $4,400.

The judging schedule for halter said they find the state rich in color — white sails on a blue lake, autumn hills crimsoned sumac, red-haired girls and dark-eyed babies.

Color prints may be finished commercially. The entrant must do all the work on black-and-white. In any event, aspirants for prizes must have composed and exposed the pictures.

Prints must be mounted, with the mount varying from 8x10 inches to 20x24, may be horizontal, vertical or square.

Brown estimated 25 per cent of the 300 or so entered photographs will be accepted. Each person may enter 12 prints, but not more than four to a class.

Classes include:

Direct color (any subject); portraits of adults or children; human interest; scenic; Iowa lift and landscape; general. The sweepstakes is $20, the reserve $15. Top winner in direct color will get $15; others $10 each.

classes follows: Stallion, 8 a. m., Sunday, Aug. 22, livestock pavilion; mare and group classes, 8 a. m. Tuesday, Aug. 24, show ring annex.

Performance classes will be included in the Iowa State Fair horse show opening Friday night, Aug. 20, and continuing through Sunday afternoon, Aug. 29. The dates coincide with the 1965 state fair schedule.

Entries Of Best Leather Pictures Told

Seventy of the best leather pictures selected in the National Craftsmen's Magazine will be a crafts and hobbies department part of the Iowa State Fair display Aug. 20-29 in Des Moines.

The department superintendent, Preston Mayse, Des Moines, said the leather exhibit, now on tour nationally, will form a background panel for other entries. The 10x12 inch pictures cover a variety of subjects, Mayse said. Also represented at the fair will be three among the world's top five leathercrafters, Mayse added.

Scheduled are ten 10x14 inch pictures done by Al Stohlman, Hemet, Calif., a professional who is recognized, Mayse said, as the world's greatest leather designer and artist.

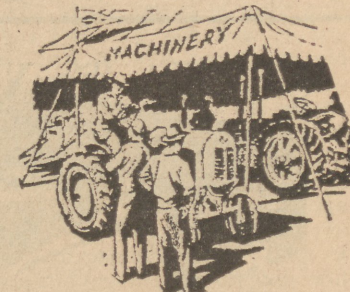

He said other additions to the exhibit will be ten pictures by Ken Griffin, also a professional who tours much of the time; and six by Christine Stanley, Santa Monica, Calif.

Awards in the crafts and hobbies division, open only to Iowans will total $230. Professional craftsmen, or those receiving more than 50 per cent of their income from the sale of leather articles, are ineligible for competition. The scoring follows: Workmanship, 50 per cent; newness and design, 25 per cent; originality, 15 per cent; usefulness, 10 per cent.

Craftsmen will give daily demonstrations from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. in leather craft, copper tooling, plastic molding and other arts.

Included in the Iowa contest are leather handbags, belts, pictures, equipment cases, clothing, mosaic tiling, liquid plastic casting metal engraving and etching, candle making, basketry, gravel and glass pictures, wood carving.

Stump Contest
Stamp Contest

A pretzel of a course. A short road with many turnings. Barrels to simulate stumps on the burned-over prairie.

Spectators scream. Riders shout at their mounts. Striped hoofs beat on the ring.

The charge of the Indian horses, the spotted Appaloosas, is on in the Camas Prairie Stump Race.

It's Friday night, Aug. 20, the first performance of the Iowa State Fair horse show and the first night of the 1965 fair.

W. L. Yount, Altoona, horse show manager and horse department superintendent, said the show really is a three-part affair: Appaloosa, Aug. 20; society show Aug. 21-27; and the rip roaring western, Aug. 28-29.

Yount estimates around 2,000 horses and ponies with an approximate value of 3 million dollars will be entered in action and halter classes.

(Certain entries in the new Arabian division are valued at $15-$20,000. Many Shetlands are costlier.)

Horse show fanciers also enjoy the trail class, Yount said.

The "outdoors" is set up to slicker and to test the animal—a bright square (probably the kitchen wrap mother uses), a small pole bridge, a swaying tree, to find out if he shies from water, has an uncertain step, is uneasy at moving shadows.

New emphasis has been placed on Iowa entries, Yount said. He cited as two examples classes for Iowa-owned Hackney and harness ponies with top award of $30 each. Entries must be shown by Iowans and must be stabled within the state.

Iowa has a new crop of Walking Horse breeders, so halter classes are included in the program. These horses are bred for easy riding, to get over the ground quickly, originally on the old plantations. Americanas, half Hackney, will be in the roadster and fine harness performance classes.

Many more Palominos are entered in the halter classes, Appaloosa ponies, weanlings to mares and stallions three and over, are in for the first year. The western show, enlivened by choice of an Iowa Cowgirl Queen (16 to 26), is bigger than ever. Halter draft classes have been expanded.

Jumpers are one of the more exciting classes, Yount said. And some of the best riders are in the junior division—and girls. Jumping is a sport for the dedicated. "They have to work at it all the time," Yount said.

English horsemanship requires a saddle horse seat (longer stirrups, rider appears closer to cantle, raised rear part of saddle, elbows close, back vertical), English saddle flat, no horn; and double reined bridle. One class is for 12 and under (the youngest entrant in the horse show was six), the other for 13 to 17.

Shetlands meet here for their annual congress and a Class "AA" show, which includes performance and halter divisions. All this fun and more than $35,000 in cash money and trophies.

4-H Beef Champ

A new registered Angus, Hereford, Shorthorn or Polled Hereford heifer will go home with the champion 4-H beef club member of each breed at the Iowa State Fair.

Winners will be selected in personal interviews at the fair. Each county is eligible to nominate for each breed award a beef club member, at least 14 last Jan. 1, who is exhibiting a baby beef or beef heifer at this year's fair.

For the $1,800 in premiums the fair board has offered $600; the American and Iowa Hereford associations, $150 each; Iowa Shorthorn Association, $300; the American and Iowa Angus associations, $150 each; and Polled Hereford Association, $300.

White calf halter will be given second and third place winners. Stanley Davidson, Ames, is superintendent of the 4-H agricultural exhibits. The 1965 fair dates are Friday, August 20 - Sunday, August 29.

Shetland Ponies
$500 Harness
Stakes Told

Fast stepping, fabulously priced Shetland ponies will fly around the Iowa State Fair horse show ring Sunday afternoon, Aug. 22, through Wednesday night, Aug. 5.

Each of the $500 harness stakes will be Wednesday night. One is for the little fellows, 43 inches and under, the other for entries 43-46 inches.

Winners of single harness events are required to enter the big stake, or lose their earlier winnings. The stakes are open only to ponies shown in a harness class.

Dashing — for speed and for color — are the two $200 roadster stakes, one for each height of pony, scheduled for Tuesday night.

The junior harness stake will be Sunday afternoon and the ladies' stake Tuesday night. Each is for $200.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Irwin of Bloomfield, are trophy committee chairmen.

The judging schedule for nearly 36 halter classes follows:

Stallions, 8 a. m., Sunday, Aug. 22, livestock pavilion, and mare and group classes, 8 a. m. Tuesday Aug. 24, show ring annex.

Premiums in the performance division total $2,460, in the halter, $1,500.

In co-operation with the American Shetland Pony Club, Inc., Lafayette, Ind., the state fair offers a Class "AA" show for registered ponies in both halter and performance classes.

Carter Van Nattan, Bartlett, Ill., will judge Shetlands.

W. L. Yount, Altoona, horse show manager, said winnings in the horse show department will total $35,000 in cash prizes and trophies.

The horse show will open Friday night, Aug. 20, first day of the 1965 fair, and close Sunday afternoon, Aug. 29, just a few hours before the fair is over for this year.

Andy Williams Returning To
Des Moines and Iowa State Fair

Andy Williams

Some years back a small lad each Saturday night trotted from the Des Moines theater where he had been playing to sing on a nearby radio station program.

Now taller, tailored and televised Andy Williams is returning to another Des Moines stage, the headline attraction for five evenings, Aug. 24-28, on the Iowa State Fair grandstand show.

Andy's the star, but twinklers in their own right are the Good Time Singers, youthful, well dressed folk singing group, and the Osmond Brothers, singers and dancers, from his own Monday night television show.

Backing up this expensive aggregation are Candy Candido, the master of ceremonies with a quip in every comment, and the Half Brothers, born into the show business world of Buenos Aires, Argentina, and jugglers since they were tots.

The Peter Palmer Orchestra, which has an amazing library of orchestral music, will furnish the music for one of the top grandstand shows here in years. The orchestra has played at college dances, in night clubs, on service bases and for "name" singers on club and concert dates.

Don Hovey, then Radio Station WHO staff organist, held Andy Williams' hand on the quick trek from theater to studio because even then listeners approved of the Williams' way and "stayed up" for the late performance. The little boy stood on a stool to reach the mike.

Hovey was Williams' organist; Bill Austin, formerly of Station WHO, was his piano accompanist. Hovey recalled Williams as a "golden-voiced soprano, with true, very beautiful tones."

For the most part his songs favored sentiment, Hovey said—ballads, mother songs, some hymns, semi-religious selections.

Williams is a native of Wall Lake, where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Williams, and four sons, Bob, Dick, Don and Andy sang in the Presbyterian church choir.

(Tuesday, Aug. 24, will be Wall Lake Day at the fair, where special plans are under way for Williams and his friends to meet.)

Mrs. H. A. Hurlbut, Williams' aunt in Des Moines, said the family came to Des Moines in the late '30s and lived on Rutland avenue and Kingman boulevard. Andy attended Elmwood Elementary and Callanan Junior high schools.

He wasn't more than seven, Mrs. Hurlbut said, when the Williams brothers had their own show on WHO. The quartet was here at least five years, she said. The brothers also appeared on the Barn Dance.

The entire family was musical, but the elder Williams was in charge of the quartet and did some of its arrangements. "The boys grew up singing all over the place, Mrs. Hurlbut said.

Hovey liked the boys. He said: "They all were gentlemen, well disciplined without harshness, not temperamental."

The Williams Brothers Quartet caught on, became the subject of high bidding from other stations. The four went from Des Moines to Station WLS in Chicago, Ill., and from there to Station WLW in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Because the boys were of school age, Williams moved his family to Los Angeles and what he considered a stay-at-home life. Williams has admitted he miscalculated.

Kay Thompson, who tutored such stars as Judy Garland, Deanna Durbin and June Allyson, formed her own act with the Williams boys. Kay, now a big show name, and the Iowans played to sensational business across this country and Europe for several years.

Andy became a single when the other three brothers left the act to go into business.

Associates say the easy going, imperturbable public Williams off-screen is a pleasant, but shrewd, single-minded tactician of his own destiny.

He took the slow road toward his twin goals: To be an entertainer and an actor.

Andy was with Steve Allen's Tonight show for two years. He sang, did comedy, danced, had a pantomime routine, ad libbed.

Years ago he and his brothers made a movie with Jane Withers. However, he turned down firm offers from major studios until he felt himself professionally "ready." Then it was "I'd Rather Be Rich" with Sandra Dee, Robert Goulet and Maurice Chevalier. He is now under contract to Universal for seven more films.

After starring as a TV summer replacement in 1959 and 1960, Andy turned down bids to be an all-the-year performer. A couple of years later his own show won him two important Emmy nominations and the sponsor doubled his last year's schedule.

Somewhere along the way Andy became the highest-selling single artist on the Columbia Records roster.

Already in mid-summer, fair officials say, tickets for the Williams show are selling phenomenally, with many orders for blocks of seats.

The fair opens before Andy and Company arrive — Friday, Aug. 20 — and closes the day after he leaves — Sunday, Aug. 29.

$10,000 Purse For "Sport of Kings"

The Iowa State Fair version of sport of kings will be held Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons, Aug. 24 and 25, on the cinder oval.

Jean M. Kleve, Humboldt, superintendent of horse races, said the total $10,000 purse is made up of $9,000 from the state fair board and $1,000 from added money. The money will be divided 45, 25, 15, 10, and 5 per cent for each of the two heats. The entry fee will be $10.

All starters must declare by 9 a. m. on day before race is scheduled. All events, with added money, must have at least six entries to qualify.

Kleve said U.S.A. rules will prevail.

The horse racing schedule and winnings follow:

Tuesday afternoon: Pace non-winner of $700 (this season), $1,150; trot non-winner of $2,000, $1,000; pace non-winner of $5,000, $1,000; free-for-all trot, $1,350.

Wednesday afternoon: Trot non-winner of $700, $1,150; pace non-winner of $2,000, $1,000; trot non-winner of $5,000, $1,000; free for all pace, $1,350.

Contest rules, entry blanks and premium books are obtainable by writing the Iowa State Fair Board office in Des Moines.

Dairy Cattle Judging

All-day judging of Ayrshires, Milking Shorthorns and Jerseys will get under way at the Iowa State Fair at 8 a. m. Friday, Aug. 27.

Brown Swiss, Guernseys and Holsteins will be up for judging Saturday, Aug. 28.

The 1965 state fair dairy cattle show is scheduled for Wednesday, Aug. 25 - Sunday, Aug. 29, following the beef show Friday, Aug. 20 - Tuesday, Aug. 24.

Howard Waters, Danville, the cattle department superintendent, estimates more than one thousand head of the finest dairy cattle in Iowa and other states will be in the show ring during the two days.

The $23,900 in premiums is a major attraction for exhibitors, he added.

The six competing breeds and premiums are: Milking Shorthorns, $4,025; Holstein, Jersey, Guernsey, Brown Swiss and Ayrshire, $3,975 each.

First place in the dairy open classes varies from $30 to $45, depending on the class.

The Iowa Special's award for each breed is $800, with top females, bulls and groups rating $8 and $10, according to class. These animals, owned by Iowa residents and kept in Iowa, are from the open classes.

A top award of $100 out of the total $275 is earmarked for each of five Iowa district herd winners, Holsteins, Jerseys, Guernseys, Brown Swiss and Ayrshires.

The herds consist of eight animals, including one bull of any age, two females two years old or over, three females under two and two other females of indeterminate years. Owners must live within a district set up by the state breed associations. Cattle must be owned by not less than three exhibitors, with no exhibitor furnishing more than a trio, and partnership animals will be counted within the three. The exhibitor and owner are one and the same person.

Owners of dairy cattle entered in the contest must have exhibited at their respective breed shows, but not necessarily these animals.

The premier breeder and the premier exhibitor in each breed will receive a banner.

The highest ranking herdsmen will receive a trophy. Judges named by Waters will score for orderliness and cleanliness of the animals and stalls; promptness in cleaning stalls; systematic and neat arrangements of traps, feed and forage; personal appearance of herdsmen and helpers; observance of rules and regulations; co-operation with officials in promoting the show and showings.

Judges are John Holland, Milton, Ia., Milking Shorthorn; Harvey Swartz, Waukesha, Wis., Holstein; Max Gordon, Lynn, Ind., Jersey; C. R. Johnston, of Springfield, Mo., Guernsey; Ed Drewitz, Faribault, Minn., Brown Swiss; James Borchering, Des Moines, Ayrshire.

Textile Department At Iowa State Fair To Feature Gown Collection

There's a new treat for every taste at the ten festive days of the Iowa State Fair, Aug. 20-29 in Des Moines.

An avant garde collection of Paris originals—evening gowns with a 12-yard perimeter around the skirt and a couple of satin inches above the waistline, wrap-around coats with collars brushing the lashes, teatime pajamas with harem trousers.

A touching buckskin wedding dress worn by an Indian princess with long, dark braids when the land was younger and belonged to her people.

Arabians, graceful and powerful enough for a bearded shiek streaking through the desert night, in the horse show.

Brisk little fog-gray Appaloosa ponies stepping it off for a judge in the outdoor ring.

Mannikin-displayed in the textile department, the imports from the famed French countries will be even more adroitly exhibited by lithe young live models, who know how to enhance a gown with makeup, posture and walk.

The buckskin dress will be included in the Indian collection in Iowa Heritage Hall, specially designed space under the west end of the grandstand.

Included in the historic review of early Indian and frontier life will be water colors and drawings made in those periods, artifacts, costumes, tepee, rocks and minerals and arts and crafts demonstrations.

Stressing the Indian heritage theme of the 1965 fair will be the village across the way from the Old Mill. State Fair Board Secretary Kenneth R. Fulk said it is as authentic as expert Indian advice can devise.

The layout includes wickiups, tepee, Indian agency and trading post, garden in full growth, small spring, creek and foot bridge, and tall totem pole. Appaloosa ponies will be tethered in this village, a memory of the early west. Sac and Fox Indians will be at the village during the fair.

With the opening of the 1965 fair, 4-H exhibits, except livestock, will be in the 4-H Exhibits Building, formerly used for poultry displays.

The former 4H area under the grandstand has been remodeled for Iowa Heritage Hall and other departments. In this group will be the Iowa Council of Churches, exhibits by state and district chapters of Future Farmers of America (FFA), Iowa Board of Health, the 100 best exhibits from the Iowa high school science fairs, with demonstrations by their exhibitors; and the Iowa Highway Patrol.

For patrons of more eclectic turn of mind, the fair has many other specialized attractions. The 40-acre Farm Machinery Plaza has been redesigned to provide more front footage and new walkways. Fulk said it will be easier to view the expanded exhibits from major manufacturers.

The world championship open steer show will begin at 2 p. m. Sunday, Aug. 22. Premiums will total $2,225, with $1,000 for the grand champion and $250 for the reserve grand champion. The entry deadline will be 8 a. m. Friday, Aug. 20.

Charolais, a French cattle, have been added to judging in the Iowa Quality Meats contest (carcass). Sheep will be there, all eight breeds in for individual breed judging.

Top qualifiers of the $1,000 Iowa production tested barrow contest and their records will be on display. For months the pigs have been living on special rations at Iowa State University, Ames, to find out possible relationship between high living, meaty chops and growth.

The new Blue Ribbon Road along the main walkway of the open class cattle barn results from the two-part beef and dairy show, beef from Aug. 20-24, dairy the remainder of the way. All breeds will be represented on the road for the duration of the fair.

The crafts and hobbies department features leather work, mosaic tiling, liquid plastic tiling, tooling and engraving, basketry, and other arts of the patient and talented. Daily demonstrations are scheduled.

Women can compare cake, rolls and pie crust made with lard against those from other shortenings in the culinary department. The sweepstakes winner in lard products also gets $25 and a ham.

Andy Williams, Iowa's television star, may not be new, but he is new "live" to the night grandstand audiences Aug. 24-28. So are the Good Time Singers and the Osmond Brothers who will be along with Andy. Wall Lake Day, honoring Andy's home town and friends, has been added to State Day, Aug. 24.

Teen town, in which the fair board and Intra-Des Moines Student Council co-operate, has a new steel roof to cover the 89-foot diameter dance floor. It was not unnecessary. More than 30,000 Iowans came there last year and the place was jumpin'. If you fail to consider a new roof earth-shaking news, you weren't at Teen Town.

$3,263 In Cash Awards For Women At Fair

Judges of women's specialties were announced here today by Mrs. W. L. Van Peursem, Mitchellville, department superintendent for the Iowa State Fair. Mrs. Ernest Thomas, Waukee, will be culinary department judge; Mrs. Junior Van Ryswyk, Des Moines, honey products; and Mrs. A. L. Jennings, Des Moines, textiles.

They will award $3,263 in cash prizes, $1,690.50 for baking, canning, preserving; $1,572.50 for home made clothing, embroidery, knitting, quilts, novelty handiwork. State fair dates are Aug. 20-29.

Fringe benefits will include cook and sewing books, a $100 U. S. savings bond for cookies, $25 and 50 pounds of flour, 24 one-pound jars of honey, $25 and a ham, hand weaving magazine subscription and a possible trip to New York, N. Y.

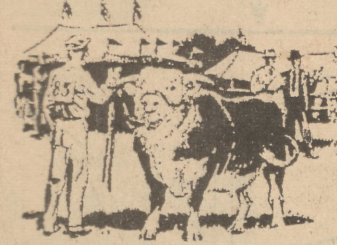

Products made from lard is a new culinary division this year, with the Porkettes, Iowa Pork Producers Association auxiliary, adding special rewards to the sweepstakes winner. Premiums will be offered for home rendered lard and for brownies, cookies, biscuits, rolls, cake and pie crust, provided lard is the only shortening.

Girls' suits and party dresses are new in the economy class, which Mrs. Van Peursem said shows amazing growth even in this prosperous era. Three classes of crewel embroidery are available this year, against one in 1964; ladies may enter knitted coats in competition; wall hangings have been added to ceramics. Novelties this season are handled under crafts and hobbies.

Mrs. Van Peursem said women having certain blue ribbon knitted entries may travel.

Crocheted or knitted afghans, sweaters or baby sets cap, jacket, booties) will be judged for the National Wool Needlework contest at the fair. Open only to non-professionals, the contest requires 100 per cent wool yarn in any ply, with label attached, garment completed since last Jan. 1 and dexterity with needles or hook.

Entries In Quality Meat Contest Closed

Entries in the Iowa Quality Meat Contests at the Iowa State Fair closed Sunday, July 25. Dr. Edwin O. Kline, Iowa State University, Ames, has announced.

Dr. Kline, department superintendent, said rules and classes may vary from year to year, but the basic purpose of the contest is unchanged: To raise farm income through improved meat production.

All entries are judged on-the-hoof and as carcasses. The 1965 Iowa fair is scheduled for Friday, Aug. 20, through Sunday, Aug. 29. The Wednesday and Thursday preceding the grand opening are Preparation days.

Beef divisions in the quality judging are Angus, Herefords, Shorthorns, Charolais, a French breed now being introduced into Iowa, and other breeds.

Lambs for the first time will be judged by breed rather than as a unit. Addition of a second show ring makes this change possible.

Only Iowa residents may enter steers and barrows for judging; the lamb contest is open to out-of-state owners.

An entry fee of $5 will be charged for each steer entered. Half of the entry fee will be paid the exhibitor of the grand champion on-the-rail (carcass); 10 per cent to the reserve grand champion; and 8 per cent to each champion on-the-rail in each of the five beef divisions.

Each exhibitor is limited to two steers, any breed, purebred, grade or crossbred, which he must have owned prior to July 25, 1965. High on the score card are heavily muscled carcasses, with uniform but not excessive fat covering; high percentage of weight in the more desirable cuts; and a flashy mixture of red meat and white fat.

Dressed steer carcasses will be ready for inspection Wednesday afternoon, Aug. 25, at the Bookey Packing Co., Des Moines.

The grand and reserve grand champions will be displayed in the fairgrounds' carcass cooler, starting Thursday, Aug. 26. The auction gets underway at 10 a. m. Thursday.

Entry fees of $5 each for barrows will be divided as follows: 60 per cent to be paid the exhibitor of the champion on-the-rail and 40 percent to the exhibitor of the reserve champion.

All contest barrows, purebred, crossbred or grade, must have been farrowed on or after last Feb. 1, with a qualifying weight of 190 to 230 pounds. They will be slaughtered Monday, Aug. 23.

A determining factor in winning will be firmness, texture and marbling of the meat.

The two top champions will be displayed at the fairgrounds on Wednesday, Aug. 25.

Sheep exhibitors are limited to two entries in an individual class and one in a pen of three, with entry fees $1 and $3, respectively. Lambs can be purebred or crossbred, but must be sired by a purebred ram.

To qualify they must weigh 75 pounds or more at judging time, and the high good or higher are headed for the packing house. They must be shorn within seven days of the contest.

Individual carcass evaluation will be by the Rath Packing Co., Waterloo, and pens by Wilson & Co., Cedar Rapids. The two grand champions, individual and pens, will be displayed in the fairgrounds' carcass cooler Wednesday, Aug. 25. The auction is scheduled for 10 a. m. Thursday, Aug. 26.

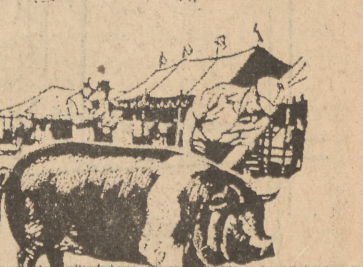

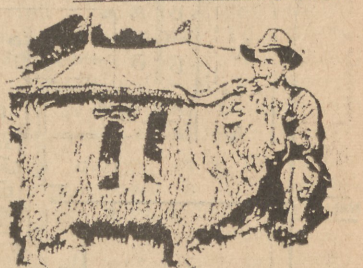

Awards in the three quality judging contest will total $7,946, another annual boost for this department. The fair board has offered $3,930; breed associations $2,386; estimated fees will total $1,630.

The judging schedule for Sunday, Aug. 22, follows: Miscellaneous beef breeds, 9 a. m.; Charolais steers on-the-hoof, 10 a. m.; and Shorthorn, Herefords and Angus, noon, auxiliary show ring, cattle barn; barrows on-foot 1 p. m., swine pavilion.

Lambs on-foot and pens of three will be judged at 11 a. m. Monday, Aug. 23, in the sheep pavilion.

The grand and reserve grand champion individual and pen-of-three carcasses will rate $100 each; the runners-up $50 each. Premiums in each group total $3,560 for beef; $2,200 for pork and $2,186 for sheep.

IOWA'S GLORIOUS INDIAN HERITAGE LIVES AGAIN

COME TO THE FAIR

The "Best of Fair," chosen from all winners at the fair, will receive a trophy. Blue ribbon winners here will compete for national honors, $1,000 and a free trip to New York, N. Y., with three days' stay for two for the grand champion. First, second and third place winners will receive cash awards.

Aug. 28, will be queen of the Iowa cowgirls.

Marjorie Vest, Vinton, did last year and will return to end her reign this year.

Any Iowa saddle club is eligible to name one of its own between 16 and 26 (married or single) to ride for honors. Iowa has about 400 clubs.

W. L. Yount, Altoona, horse show manager, said judges look for beauty and general attractiveness of the rider, horsemanship, and appropriate western costume.

In his opinion, personality counts well toward the top with the judges.

The queen will receive $100; her five attendants cash premiums.

The 1965 state fair has a ten day run, Friday, August 20, to Sunday, August 29. The two days preceding the official opening are for slicking up before the company comes.

Queen Of Cowgirls To Be Chosen

It's a wild night on the Iowa State Fair tanbark when the Iowa Cowgirl Queen is chosen at the horse show.

Every entrant has her own cheering section, with home town supporters whooping and hollering, informal claque chanting and clapping and banners waving.

The aspirant who can ride serenely through it all Saturday,
