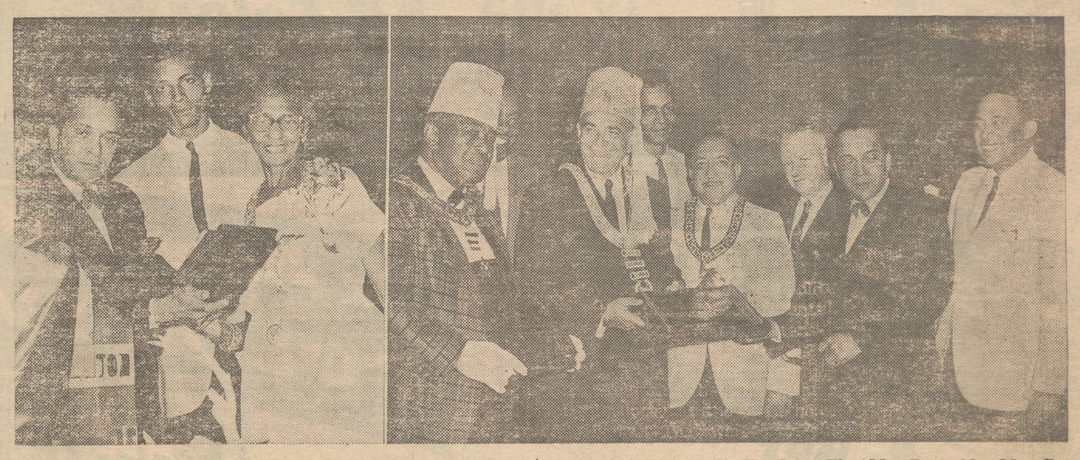
TOP LEADERS OF ELKDOM



The Honorable Hobson R. Reynolds, Philadelphia, Grand Exalted Ruler, Improved Benevolent Protective Order of Elks of the World, and three other leaders of the internationally respected fraternal order were honored by representatives of The Coca-Cola Business during the 66th annual Grand Lodge Convention held at Philadelphia. "The Grand", seen 3rd from left in center photo, and the other Elk personalities were the recipients of the first annual "Top Leadership Awards" of The Council of Marketing and Public Relations Representatives of The Coca-Cola Business.

NEWS In A Nutshell

Omaha, Nebr.—Sandra Robinson, a former resident, will be a member of the faculty at the Lady Amritbbi Daga college for women in Nagpur, India.

Chicago—U. S. crime statistics give a misleading picture of Negro crime and the much quoted criminal predominance of Negroes is more apparent than real, a Yale University sociologist said. Prof. L. C. Gould told the 60th annual meeting of the American Sociological Assn. that crime statistics are loaded against Negroes as opposed to whites; against the poor as opposed to middle-class citizens; against men as opposed to women and against young people as opposed to older adults.

Baltimore — Negro actor Robert Kya-Hill complained to the Maryland Interracial Commission recently that he couldn't even buy a drink in four Baltimore taverns, although he was entertaining Baltimoreans nightly in a presentation of "Porgy and Bess" at a suburban theater. The commission is investigating the charge under state and federal public accommodations laws.

New York—A new Negro movie company, called Munutu, was formed recently to produce documentary features of Negro interest. The corporation, backing the venture, is said to have "a long list of credits in the motion picture industry."

Philadelphia—Del Shields, one of Philadelphia's foremost disc jockeys, was fired by Radio Station WDAS recently, less than two months after he had helped lead a two-day walkout by 13 disc jockeys, announcers, and newsmen in protest to low wages and other working conditions.

Washington—Six Negro members of the House of Representatives—all Democrats—were among Congressmen signing the discharge petition on the Home Rule bill last week to bring it to the floor for a vote. They are John Conyers, Jr. (Mich.), William L. Dawson (Ill.), Charles C. Diggs, Jr. (Mich.), Augustus F. Hawkins (Calif.), Robert N. C. Nix (Pa.) and Adam Clayton Powell (N.Y.)

New York—Ace pioneer pianist Bud Powell, who has been plagued with mental and physical illnesses for a number of years, won another close battle with the Grim Reaper last week. Given "one chance in a thousand" of recovering from tuberculosis, yellow jaundice, and pneumonia, Powell left a hospital to complete recovery at the home of a friend.

Detroit—Freddy Hardy, 16, drama student at Northwestern School of Music, Dance and Drama, was awarded a trophy for the best actor role in "Fanticks," sponsored by Civic Center Theater. Hardy who played the mute, was the only Negro in the cast, and the first to earn that award.

Rare Medical Phenomenon Ends Ill-Starred Carrer 8 Days After Fall on Steps

Hollywood, Calif. — The sudden death of famed singer-actress Dorothy Dandridge, 41, was attributed to a rare medical phenomenon which started with the fracture of a tiny bone in her foot, the coroner's office said.

The beautiful actress was found dead, Wednesday, Sept. 7, sprawled on the floor of her bathroom in her swank apartment on Sunset Strip. She was found by her manager, Earl Mills. Dr. Harold Kade, coroner's pathologist, said she died as a result of bonemarrow particles entering the bloodstream and reaching her brain and lungs.

MISS DANDRIDGE

Fracture

Sheriff's Sgt. Al Sholand said Miss Dandridge slipped Sept. 2 on the stairs of a Hollywood gymnasium. She suffered an almost unnoticeable fracture of a metatarsal bone of her right foot.

Fat-like particles from the bone marrow entered the bloodstream and caused her death six days later, Dr. Kade said.

Private services for Miss Dandrigde will be at 11 a.m. today.

Miss Dandridge, 41, on stage almost as soon as she could talk, rose from band vocalist to stardom in such films as "Porgy and Bes" and "Carmen Jones." In recent years, she had suffered financial reverses although continuing to work.

Bankruptcy

In 1963, she filed for bankruptcy, claiming debts of $127,000 with previous earnings of $50,000 a year.

Her manager said he went to her apartment to admit fitters to measure her for costumes to be worn at an opening next week at Basin Street East in New York City. Finding a chain on the door, Mills broke in with a crowbar, he said. Mills found her dead, wearing a nightgown, on the bathroom floor. An hour later, her mother arrived.

Mills said Miss Dandridge had been slightly ill, but had been in good spirits. She returned from a Mexico vacation Tuesday, he said, and went to a doctor for a broken bone in her foot.

Second Husband

In 1962, Miss Dandridge was divorced from her second husband, restaurant owner John Denison. They had no children.

Miss Dandridge was born in Cleveland, the daughter of a minister. At an early age, she and her sister Vivian toured the country in a singing, dancing and tumbling act.

She was educated by an aunt-tutor in theater dressing rooms. When the act arrived in Los Angeles, the mother put the children in school. Miss Dandridge later dropped out of high school and sang in a trio with Jimmy Lunceford, a top band leader of the big band era of the 1930s.

Tours

Then she married Harold Nicholas of the dancing Nicholas Brothers and retired again, until her divorce six years later.

She went on the nightclub circuit and developed into a top money act. Her movie debut came in a Tarzan picture. "Not much of a debut for someone who wanted to be Ethel Barrymore," she commented.

Mrs. Coffey, Social Workers, Returns to Hometown, Omaha

Omaha, Nebr.—A native Omaha woman who began a career in social welfare as a caseworker in the Douglas County assistance Bureau, and then went on to further her experience in the east, has returned to the Midlands to join the professional staff of the Omaha's United Community Service.

She is Mrs. Barbara J. Coffey, until recently senior survey clerk with the United States Census Bureau in Chicago.

Her appointment as a new UCS planning assistant was announced Wednesday by Executive Director Joseph E. Klug.

Education

Mrs. Coffey a graduate of Central High School, attended the University of Omaha, and later the University of Nebraska, where she received her Bachelor of Arts degree in 1951. She holds a Masters degree in Sociology, 1953 from Fisk University, Nashville, Tenn., and has undertaken work toward a Ph.D. in sociology at the State University of Iowa, Iowa City.

Experience

In addition to experience as a public assistance case worker, Mrs. Coffey has served in such departments as research analyst with the bureau of social research, The Catholic University of America, Washington, D. C., Supervisory social worker, and later research analyst with the Department of Public Welfare, Public Assistant Division, also in Washington.

MRS. COFFEY

Mrs. Coffey is a member of the National Sociology Honorary Society and has received graduate research fellowships from Fisk University, Race relation Department, 1951 to 1953, and from the State University of Iowa, Sociology Department 1954 to 1955.

Her husband, Dr. William J. Coffey, Jr., of Council Bluffs, Iowa, is temporarily serving a traveling residency from the National Institute of health at Freedom's Hospital in Washington.

Mrs. Coffey is living with Mr. and Mrs. George Cooper. Mrs. Cooper is her mother.

James Meredith To Columbia U.

New York, N. Y.—James H. Meredith, the Negro whose enrollment at the University of Mississippi touched off racial violence on its campus, has been accepted by Columbia University Law School here.

Meredith, who will register Monday, has a $2,000 Columbia scholarship grant for tuition and books and a two-bedroom apartment. His wife Mary June and their 5½-year-old son James, Jr., will join him Sunday.

Names Carl Rowan News Commentator

The Westinghouse Broadcasting Co. announced in New York City that Carl T. Rowan, former director of the United States Information Agency, will become a news commentator on its group W radio and television stations. Rowan's broadcasts will start in November. The announcement said he also will write a syndicated column for the Chicago Daily News and articles for Reader's Digest. Westinghouse's Group W has outlets in Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne, Ind., Chicago and San Francisco.

J. Estes, Jr., One of 5 Commissioners on New Housing Agency

The creation of the Des Moines Low-Rent Housing Agency was termed "an important and historic step in our efforts to provide a better standard of living in our city," by Mayor Charles Iles, Monday.

At the council meeting five business and professional men were named to the Agency membership.

Named by the City Council were:

William F. Poorman, 4915 Country Club boulevard, retired president of Central Life Assurance Co., chairman.

Robert E. Conley, 5815 Forest avenue, attorney and former City Council member, vice-chairman.

John M. Estes, jr., 944 9th street, a funeral director.

Wendell B. Gibson, 4995 Country Club boulevard, an attorney.

Evert D. Weeks, 4111 Tonawanda drive, president of a Des Moines cosmetics firm.

Conley, Gibson and Poorman were named to two-year terms, Estes and Weeks to one-year terms.

The agency is an autonomous body, with sole responsibility for handling public housing matters for the city. The agency also has authority to hire a professional director and staff.

It was created to take advantage of a new state law that lowers the favorable vote required to engage in public housing from 60 per cent to a simple majority.

Naomi Tunley Named Nursing Instructor At Lutheran Hospital

Naomi L. Tunley of 1229 15th street has recently been employed at Iowa Lutheran hospital as medical-surgical nursing instructor. She becomes the first Negro nurse employed in that position.

She recently moved from Oklahoma City, Okla., where she was employed at Veterans Administration as nursing supervisor, the first of her race to hold this type of position.

MISS TUNLEY

She is a graduate of Dillard university where she received a bachelor of science degree in Nursing education.

Miss Tunley is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tunley, 2808 Cleveland avenue.

Elks Raise $42,000 For College Grants

Memphis, Tenn.—Through the enthusiastic support of Grand Exalted Ruler, Hobson R. Reynolds and Grand Daughter Ruler, Nettie B. Smith, the Elks Department of Education raised $42,000 for scholarships in 1965, its 40th Anniversary, according to George W. Lee, the Grand Commissioner of Education.

Largest

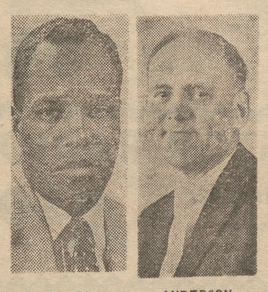
One of the largest contributions made to the effort was $1,000 given by Doctor Leroy R. Weekes of Los Angeles, California who graduated from Howard University on an Elks Scholarship in 1935; from Howard Medical College in 1939, and who is today a member of the Board of Examiners for the State of California.

States

States that led in the drive to raise $40,000 in a single year are: Alabama, Arizona, California, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Illinois & Wisconsin, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Michigan, Mississippi, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Washington, and West Virginia. To these states I say "Thanks for a job well done."

Rev. Harris Named Assistant Pastor at Forest Ave. Baptist

A veteran school teacher and commuting pastor for a Mason City, Ia., church, has been named assistant pastor at the integrated Forest Avenue Baptist church, 1016 Forest Avenue.



HARRIS ANDERSON

He is the Rev. James Harris, art teacher at Callanan Junior High school and pastor of Mt. Zion Baptist church in Mason City, where he has been commuting each Sunday since November 1961.

A call was extended to the Rev. Mr. Harris by unanimous vote at a special business meeting of the Forest Avenue congregation which has a predominantly white membership. He has resigned the Mason City pastorate to take the position at Forest Avenue church.

Community Relations

As a part-time assistant to the pastor, the Rev. John Anderson, the Rev. Mr. Harris will serve mainly in

Five Counties in Alabama Ask Court Permission To Break Federal Statute

Montgomery, Ala.—Five Alabama counties have asked a federal court to give them permission to break a federal law.

If granted, the counties could then violate at least two sections of the 1965 Voting Rights Act.

Three of the five counties have a Negro population of more than 50%, one has a Negro population of more than 75%, and four have federal registrars sent because of discrimination against Negro voting applicants.

Counties

The counties—Hale, Dallas, Wilcox, Perry and Choctaw—have asked United States District Judge Daniel H. Thomas to let them remove the names of all registered voters from registration lists and to begin reregistration under standards prohibited by federal law.

The Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) has been conducting voter registration drives in each of the counties, and has had full-time workers in Alabama's Black Belt since 1963.

Literacy Test

The counties' registration boards asked Judge Thomas to let them use a state-written literacy test, and to reject applicants if they refuse to give names and addresses of two county residents "having knowledge of their length of residence."

The 1965 Voting Rights Act makes the use of literacy tests illegal and also prohibits the use of "voucher" systems to establish voting credentials. The motion, filed by Attorney Frank Mizell, Jr. of Montgomery, also asked that applicants who fail such tests be prohibited from reapplying "until others have been given ample opportunity." Mizell is legal counsel for the State Sovereignty Commission, an official segregation watch-dog agency.

All five of the registration boards have been charged with discriminating against Negroes.

Lists Planning Committee for NAACP Anniversaries

The planning committee for the 25th anniversary celebration of the Iowa State Conference of Branches and the 50th anniversary of the Des Moines Branch of the NAACP, to be held Oct. 9 includes Mrs. Georgine C. Morris, Miss Virginia Harper, Fort Madison, Ia., Mrs. Warren Nash of Waterloo, George J. Cooper, Council Bluffs, Mrs. Hellen Burke, Waterloo, is assisting on the registration committee.

Tickets for the banquet and dance are $5.00 per person and not per couple as reported in last week's issue of the Bystander. For tickets see Mrs. J. W. Mitchell.

The co-operation of the public to make the anniversary a success is requested, both for the all day meeting and the banquet and dance.

Shift Some Negroes In Boston Schools

Boston, Mass.—For the second straight day, Negro parents used chartered buses and private cars Friday, Sept. 9 to transport their children to schools in predominantly white neighborhoods.

At Grew Elementary School, Principal Martin Feeney refused to allow some 50 Negro children to enter the building.

Vacant Seats

He told adults with the children there were only 13 vacant seats in the school. Those seats would be given, he said, to students in the group carrying tansfer permits.

The adults led the youngsters to the back of the school, where the regular pupils were lined up ready to enter. The Negro children were put into the line by the adults, but the door was closed and all the youngsters, both white and Negro, were left outside.

Later the school was opened to the regular pupils and 13 of the Negroes.

Operation Exodus

The Negro parents inaugurated a program which they call "Operation Exodus" when the public schools opened Thursday. They complain of crowded conditions in some schools in Negro neighborhoods, and are protesting the school board's refusal to use busing to relieve the situation.

Some 300 Negro children were taken to four predominately white schools, where about 200 of them were enrolled Friday. The rest must await results of a count of vacant seats.

Claims Negro Jobs Increase in FHA

Austin, Tex.—Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman reported to the President today that Negro employment in the Department's Farmers Home Administration has increased from 259 to 631 since last December.

Four years ago, he noted, there were only 80 Negroes working in FHA, mostly as clerical employees.

The Secretary also told the President that the Federal Extension Service will report shortly on Civil Rights compliance by Cooperative Extension Services in 13 Southern States, and in Maryland and Delaware. Program reviews now under way, he said, indicate that State Extension Services generally are moving rapidly to carry out the Civil Rights Act.

Monroe's Big Top Fiesta

On Aug. 28 & 29 the Monroe family observed their second homecoming celebration. About 50 relatives and friends with their children attended one or both days of the festivities. Sponsors were Mrs. Theo Monroe-Penn, Mrs. Dorothy Pruitt, her daughter, and her brothers, Mr. Marvin Monroe and Mr. Clifton Monroe. At the home of Ms. Penn, 606 Oeida and in her back yard patio, under the "Big Top" there was every type of delicious food one could imagine. Really "fod galore" on Sunday afternoon, Aug. 29. Rainy weather hampered outdoor festivities somewhat, but people were there from Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado and Iowa.

Cities in Iowa represented were Des Moines, Dubuque, Sioux City, and Ottumwa as well as Waterloo. Relatives from out of town were Mrs. Laurinda Lewis of Ottumwa, Mrs. E. S. Frazier of Kansas City, Kans., and Mrs. Cleo Givens and Mrs. Ruth Harold of Chicago. Mr. LeRoy Bird, who had helped with planning was on hand from Denver, Colo.

Mrs. Leona Jordan of Des Moines has been visiting Mrs. Theo Penn. She came to the reunion early to help get ready for the two big days.

Mrs. Naomi Walker of Denver, Colo., spent two weeks visiting Mrs. Rose Mary Pearson, 818 Linden.

The Social Improvement Club resumes meetings after summer vacation. Hostess was Mrs. Earl Lee. Guests were Mrs. LeRoy Sykes, Mrs. Willie Carter, who was visiting from Amory, Miss., and Mrs. Margaret Harvey of St. Louis, Mo. Members and guests told of trips and tours taken in the summer. Mrs. Augustine Powell assisted the hostess.

Mrs. Theo Penn spent last week end visiting her daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Pruitt, in Keokuk.

Mrs. Pruitt is managing a beauty shop there. Mrs. Verona Stevenson accompanied Mrs. Penn.

Mrs. Willie Carter of Amory, Miss. is visiting her brother Mr. LeRoy Sykes and her sons .

On Sept. 4th Miss Charlene Western and Mr. James H. Montgomery were united in marriage at Payne Memorial A.M.E. Church. Mrs. Montgomery is teacher of English at West High School.

We learn of the marriage of Mrs. Betty Hackett and Mr. James L. Page. Mr. and Mrs. Griggs Woods and Mrs. Harvey Fullilove accompanied the couple to Preston, Minn. where the marriage took place. Mrs. Page is a former "Bystander" reporter. She is employed as clerk typist with Black Hawk County Social Welfare. Mr. Page is employed at Paramount Theatre as stationary engineer.

It is now time to register for fall classes at the YWCA. A class will be starting in Candy Making as well as many old favorites such as knitting, ewing, bridge, cake decorating, swimming, etc. Call 234-7589 and enroll.

Mr. Childres Franklin of Kansas City, Kans. has been visiting his brother, Mr. Homer Franklin. He accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Homer Franklin to Detroit where they are visiting Mr. Floyd Franklin.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Franklin motored to Waterloo from Detroit to take his parents back with them.

HAROLD ICKES, JR. RIGHTS VOLUNTEER AT TALLULAH

Tallulah, La. — When Harold L. Ickes went to Washington in 1933 to join President Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal cabinet, one of his first steps was to desegregate the Department of Interior.

Today, 32 years later, his son Harold is carrying out this principle of equality for all—as a civil rights worker in the South.

Harold Ickes, Jr., a 25-year-old Columbia University law student, has the same qualities of leadership that made his late father a prominent national figure as Secretary of the Interior for 13 years. Young Ickes' work with the Negroes of Madison Parrish (county), La., has been pointed out as a model of the activity of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE).

Rights Act Appraisal Shows Faults, Few Compliances

Atlanta, Ga.—A four-week appraisal of the 1965 Voting Rights Act shows "great inadequacies and minimum compliance" in most areas where Negroes have had past difficulty in registering to vote, the Student Nonviolent Cordinating Committee (SNCC) said this week.

Problems

Enforcement of provisions outlawing literacy tests in affected states has been a continuing problem since the Act was passed, SNCC said.

The SNCC cited the refusal of an Albany, Ga. registrar to discontinue the state's literacy test a week after the bill became law, and the notification of Mississippi registrars by Attorney General Joseph Patterson that the state's literacy test was still to be applied to prospective voters.

Literacy Tests

In many Mississippi counties, SNCC said, illiterate Negroes were turned away from registration offices. In Sunflower County, home of U. S. Senator James O. Eastland, a registrar told Negroes: "You can't read or write good enough to register; come back next week." In Mississippi's Washington County, registrars used the state's voting application as a literacy test and rejected Negroes who could not fill it out and illiterate Negroes were turned away in DeSoto County. In Humphreys, Holmes, Hinds, Adams, Jackson and Marion Counties in Mississippi some literacy test was used.

Evidences

In addition to stepping up registration drives, SNCC workers in Alabama, Mississippi and Georgia are gathering evidence of violations of the Act. hoping Justice Department officials will send additional registrars into counties where discrimination is still practiced.

In Alabama, federal registrars are in Hale, Marengo, Dallas, Lowdnes, Perry and Wilcox Counties, and Negroes in Barbour and Greene Counties have organized drives to request them. From Georgia, where no federal examiners were sent, members of the Baker County Movement went to Washington to picket Attorney General Katzenbach's office to oftain federal examiners.

Examiners

There are federal voting examiners in four Mississippi counties: Leflore and Madison Counties since Aug. 10 and in Jones and Jeff Davis Counties since then. Complaints from twenty Mississippi counties have been sent to the United States Department of Justice and affadavits charging continued discrimination are being gathered in at least ten more counties.

The new act also prohibits interfering with the right to vote. SNCC said on Aug. 17, a week after the act was passed, that officials in at least five Mississippi counties had prevented Negroes from voting in a special state-wide referendum.

City Needs Protection

We must have economy in Government but not to the point of sacrificing beneficial and necessary services such as law enforcement protection, fire and rescue protection, safety and recreational facilities for adults and children as well, preventive maintenance of streets and above all a competent Health Department.

"I feel the citizens are willing to pay taxes for this type of service, but as our cities have grown and problems become more complex, the tax burden has risen and can be expected to continue unless solutions are found," he said.

"Constructive solutions can be found in housing and urban planning which will spread the base of our tax dollar by creating an industrial environment and also beautify our city. This in turn leads to more jobs thus creating taxpayers."

Prevent Duplication

Data processing can be incorporated to allow intergovernmental agencies to work together to prevent duplication. It can be also applied to system of welfare thus allowing case workers more freedom from paper work to work with civic groups, labor and management in helping recipients become self supporting.

Personally Yours

BY— Frances E. Hawthorne

Despite being practically immobilized by a broken left toe sustained in one of the silliest accidents imaginable, we managed to get by with our newspaper chores this week, aided immensely by our family. The incident happened Sunday afternoon, and we spent several hours in the Emergency section of Lutheran hospital before we were able to be returned home. We have an inkling how a bird must feel after having its wings clipped.

Had a lovely card from an old friend of ours and many Des Moines residents, Miss Charlene Wharton, former director of Willkie House. She was spending her vacation in Hawaii, touring the island, and visiting the University of Hawaii and the East-West Center among other sites of interest.

About now she is about to or has already returned to Atlanta University where she is dean of women.

Mrs. Mack Carson, 964 23rd street, told us of a lovely surprise she had recently. She and her granddaughter were sitting watching television one night when the phone rang. Because her grandson is somewhere on his way overseas, she is rather leery of long distance calls.

Her granddaughter answered the phone and sure enough it was long distance from New York City. Mrs. Carson took the phone and a feminine voice greeted her thus, "You probably don't remember me but I was one of a group of WACS you entertained at your home on Mother's day. My name is Elsie Hawkins."

Despite the admonition of the operator that time was up, Mrs. Carson said she and Miss Hawkins had a long chat. Miss Hawkins told Mrs. Carson that she had moved and had wanted to write her but had lost her address. She finally found it and decided to call and let Mrs. Carson know how much she had appreciated that long ago Mother's day dinner.

When she hung up, Mrs. Carson got an old picture and sure enough there was Miss Hawkins. On the back of the snapshot was the date, May 13, 1943.

Mrs. Carson recalls at the time her daughter, Mrs. Maxine Watkins was a USO worker at the Crocker YMCA, now since defunct.

Mrs. Carson had given Miss Hawkins a cherished recipe and she told Mrs. Carson that her father who is a chef, makes the recipe often.

As you go about the city and suddenly see young men with what looks like slim cigars in their mouths, look again! Chances they are but gimmick ball pens, complete with ivory filter tip covers. At first glance they look like the real thing.

One of our youngsters told us of a hilarious incident at school when a teacher told a youngster to bring that cigar to him. It turned out to be the ball pen.

We would like to continue a new feature, "The Youth Corner," that begins this week. Its success depends largely on you the reader. If you have news about your youngsters, or other youngsters you know, drop us a line or give us a ring.

The Sylvester Parrishes Entertain Friends

Mr .and Mrs. Sylvester Parrish, 1302 E. 17th court, invited a few friends in Monday, Sept. 6 to celebrate Mrs. Parrish's (???) birthday.

Guests sharing in the festivities were Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Hawkins, Mrs. Mamie Moore, Mrs. Ann Jackson, Mrs. Joburness Kelso, Mrs. Lillian Scott and G. W. Scott.

"We would have had a grand time watching the baseball game if we had been able to keep Mr. Scott quiet," said the reporter.

The delicious menu included roast turkey with all the trimmings, barbecued ribs, homemade rolls, sweet potatoes, green beans and all kinds of relishes and a glass of plum jelly Mrs. Parrish had made that morning.

Dessert included a luscious lemon pie, and an angel food cake filled and topped with lemon flavored whip and chill Jello.

Everyone left at a very late hour wishing Mrs. Parrish the best of the world's returns.

NEGRO HISTORY PRIMER PUBLISHED

Atlanta, Ga.—The Student Voice, Inc. has published a Negro history primer for the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC).

The 51-page book is designed to supplement American history books which have consistently ignored the attempts Negro Americans have made toward achieving their rights in this country.

Movement

Negroes in American History, written by Frank and Bobbie Cieciorka, is subtitled a Freedom Primer, which correctly suggests that the book has as its impetus the history of the Civil Rights Movement, past and present. Implicit in the book is the idea, consistently supported, that the Movement was not born in 1960 or even in 1954 with the Supreme Court ruling on the desegregation of public schools.

Chapters

The 11 chapters begin with a discussion of ideas behind the American Revolution, and the Negro's role in that revolution. Other chapters include "Reconstruction", "W.E.B. DuBois", and "Slave Revolts", the latter refuting the myth of the happy slave. While each chapter contains questions concerning the political and social role played by Negro Americans, it is only in the last chapter, "The Modern Movement", that questions designed to emphasize the broader significance of the Movement to the present are asked directly by the authors.

Begun as a coloring book, the completed fifty-one page primer contains drawings which emphasize the relationship between present events and the history of the Movement.

Copies may be obtained from the Student Voice, Inc., 360 Nelson Street, S.W., Atlanta, Georgia 30313, for $1.50; however, Negroes in American History is designed for use primarily in freedom schools and in the northern ghettoes where it will be given away free of charge.

RIGHT OF FREE SPEECH STILL PREVAILS

Dr. Martin Luther King has drawn fire from friend and foe because he has dared to express his views on international affairs at variance with some of the policies America has pursued for many years.

He feels that the war in southeast Asia should be settled by negotiation rather than guns and bullets and that the United States should cease its opposition to the admission of Red China to United Nations.

Every citizen has a right to disagree with his government. Some members of congress oppose the war. Certainly Dr. King is not alone in his opposition to the war in southeast Asia. But in view of the expressed position of some fighters in the civil rights movement advising Negroes to refuse to fight or honor their draft call, it is felt that Dr. King's position might fan the fire.

The United States has opposed the admission of Red China to United Nations ever since Nationalist China forces were driven off the mainland to Formosa. General Chiang Kai-Shek has kept alive the hope of returning to power on the mainland but the chances grow dimmer each day.

It would appear that Red China could be dealt withbetter inside rather than outside United Nations. Many nations feel that way as the opposition has grown less and less.

Dr. King has done a good job. However, he would do well to lead in civil rights and let others lead in foreign affairs.

OPPOSITION TO TOO MUCH CENTRALIZED GOVERNMENT

The voters of Cedar Rapids have turned down the council-manager form of government by a majority of two to one in a special election. Cedar Rapids has made great strides with their present systems of government. It is the second size town in Iowa. Only recently, they raised the salary of the mayor and members of the council.

Des Moines has the council-manager system which was adopted a few years ago. It started out with the idea that the council would have little work to do and thus the salaries were placed at $1,200 per year. That theory has been exploded for the work load and time consumed increases.

The Bystander supported the council-manager plan in both elections: the first election when it failed and the second where it was adopted. Negroes supported it generally with the understanding that one would be included on the slate in the first election. The powers that be reniged on that promise.

The system made it possible for a few powerful people to select and finance candidates and thus keep control of the city government in the hands of a few.

Full representation of all citizens of a community should be the goal of all governing bodies. We just can't remember when a member of the council came from southeast Des Moines or the area from 6th to 28th Street.

Congress consists of two senators from each state and representatives in the lower house based on population. The people would never condone the election of members of both houses at large. So should they reject representation on the council except by wards?

The further away the official from the people, the less democracy there exists in government.

The whole idea of government by a few is supposedly designed to take government out of politics and produce efficiency in its operation. Maybe the latter has some merit if a good administration is in charge but politics—it's with us always.

Well, the American Men's singles title in tennis has gone to Europe. We haven't had an American winner for quite sometime. And so it goes for boxing, track, and other sports that we used to consider American sports the rest of the athletes from other countries are beating us. Some people wonder why. Those people have come over here and learned our training and teaching methods and in some cases have improved on them. Then the fellows work at the games and are allowed to develop and mature into seasoned players in whatever the sport is.

Our guys don't take the game that much to heart. Before they have a chance to really blossom into their real game they retire or turn professional. Imagine a guy of 23 or 24 retiring. Fellows have been trying to say that today's youngsters mature quicker than they used to. They hit their physical peak sooner than the supposed 25 or 26. That sounds alright until one pits our 20 year old players against the seasoned veterans like the Australians who range from 25 to 28. The guy who won the American tennis singles last week is 25. Our best player at 22 is talking about retiring. Arthur Ashe who is 22 has the stuff to become a really top player if he can keep playing for a few more years. But, perhaps he too will give it up in a year or two and the Davis cup fathers will turn to some more youngsters and wonder why they can't win.

Pro-Football

Did you know the Warriors won again? They really draw some nice crowds. Now if they could win about two in a row; we are glad the team has started out in the black and we hope they keep it up all the way. We know two or three of the boys who really need the dough they are playing for. We guess that it would take a crowd of at least 3,000 for the team to break even on a game.

The high schools held the spotlight last weekend at the North-East game. Herb Cawthorne looked like a fine passer and a good quarterback. Jim Kirby made sure that he won't get too many kickoffs aimed at him from now on. Jack Johnson of East established himself as a hard runner and will gain a lot of ground before November. We would say that all of the city teams are tough this year with the city title. North will come up with some really big games as will Tech and East. But don't sell Roosevelt short.

Ashe Whips Australia's Nets Ace, Bows to Spain's Santana

Forest Hills, N. Y.—Arthur Ashe, U. S. Collegiate Tennis champion, stormed into big time tennis headlines Friday when he defeated the world's top ranking amateur player, Roy Emerson of Australia in the National tennis championships here.

The 22-year-old U.C.L.A. student thrilled a gallery of 11,000 with some of the flashiest strokes seen on the West Side Tennis Club's old center court in years and made it the brightest day for American tennis in a decade.

Spanish Ace

However, the following day, semi-finals Ashe, with the pressure of hopes of U. S. tennis fans upon his shoulders, met the Spanish ace, Manuel Santana who almost single-handedly devastated Americans bids in the Davis Cup challenge rounds last month. Ashe, was ineffective, almost a shadow of his previous-day self. Santana beat him with comparative ease, 2-6, 6-4, 6-2 and 6-4, before a capacity crowd of 13,500 Saturday. Santana went on to win the U. S. title Sunday against South Africa's Cliff Drysdale, dropping only one set.

Ashe, who lacked the experience of years of big time competition as his opponents, startled the tennis world this year when he became U. S. collegiate tennis champion. He entered the Wimbledon tennis matches but was eliminated in the quarter-finals. He again hit the headlines when he defeated Mexico's No. 1 and 2 players, Rafael Osuna and Antonio Palafox in the first round of the Davis cup zone play. However, he was not selected to play in the zone competition against Spain last month.

HEALTH FOR ALL

SLEEP IS HERE TO STAY

About four million Americans are more or less regular sleepwalkers. The rest of us are somnabulists at heart—or "token" sleepwalkers, according to Dr. Joost Meerloo, the noted psychiatrist.

"This is not to say", he pointed out recently in Medical Times magazine, "that we all get up in the middle of the night and clamber over the rooftops. More or less each of us is a sleepwalker because we all go through a subtle transition between the sleeping and waking state."

Escape Tunnel

Sleep offers an escape tunnel from boring or threatening situations. The snoozing student is a familiar feature of the landscape. Less well known is the fact that juvenile delinquents often plunge into a deep sleep the moment they are brought into police headquarters.

Positive

But sleep can also serve a more positive purpose—that of stimulating the mind's creative process. People often awaken with their minds full of new plans and projects. Just the same, Dr. Meerloo warned, the slogan, "learn while you sleep" can be misleading. "Only a certain amount of passive conditioning can take place during sleep, but no creative learning".

Complaint

Next time you head the common complaint about "slept very little last night", "tossed and turned', etc., take it with a grain of salt. Sleep research has shown that we tend to over estimate the amount of time actually spent in sleeplessness.

Dr. Meerloo pointed out that even in normal sleep "there is a continual moving about. Statistically, the average person makes 35 to 45 movements a night".

For physical as well as mental renewal, there is no substitute for adequate sleep. Your Christmas Seal association in the interest of good general health suggests sticking closely to the traditional eight hours per night for adults, 10 or more for children or adolescents.

the area of community relations, starting Oct. 3.

A graduate of East High School, the Rev. Mr. Harris holds bachelor and master's degrees in fine arts from Drake University, and has taken graduate work at Drake and Oklahoma A. and M. University. He has been teaching in public schools for 18 years, in Kansas City, Kan., and Des Moines.

Rev. Harris also has taken night school courses at the Drake Divinity school.

Family

He and his wife, also a school teacher, find time to participate in various community improvement projects such as American Friends Services Committee work camps. Both are veteran Sunday school teachers and worked faithfully in those capacities at the Mason City church.

They are parents of two boys, James, 14, and Jerald, 10. The family residence is at 4053 Plainview drive.

Paul Wilson Seeks $25,000

Paul L. Wilson, 1164 14th street, has filed a $25,000 personal injury suit in Polk County District Court as a result of a two-car collision last Feb. 23 at Day street and the Des Moines Freeway.

Named as defendants were Wheels, Inc. of Chicago, owner of the car that collided with Wilson's; American Rug & Carpet Co. of Chicago, which leased it, and Norman Van Houweling, 1406 Cutler ave., an American Rug employe who was driving it.

"Don't Stay Away From Church"

Because you are poor? There is no admission charge.
Because you are rich? The church can help you cure that.
Because it rains? You go to work in the rain.
Because it is hot? So is the golf course.
Because it is cold? Its warm and friendly inside.
Because no one invited you? People go to movies without being asked.
Because churches have emotional religion? How about the ball-game?
Because you have little children? What if you didn't any longer have them?
Because you don't like the preacher? He's human like you.
Because there are hypocrites? You associate with them daily.
Because you have company? They will admire your loyalty if you bring them along or tell them to wait until you get back.
Because you need a week-end vacation occasionally? If your soul takes a vacation from God—it's not good.
Because church standards are too high? Take a look at the Bible standards.
Because your clothes are not expensive? Church isn't supposed to be a fashion show.
Because the church always wants money? So does your grocer.
Because you have plenty of time ahead of you to get saved? Are you sure?—Author Unknown.

Laugh Lines

The self-important young applicant was being interviewed. Under "Outside Interests" the youth wrote, "My avocation is color photography."

The personnel manager studied the application carefully. "Young man," he said finally, "Presidents have avocations. Department heads have hobbies. What you're doing is fooling around."

A young mother received a ponderous term report from her daughter's nursery school. The report termed her daughter "emotionally immature."

"Why," she exclaimed, "Virginia's only three years old! If you can't be emotionally immature at three, when can you be?"

Howard U. Choir to Appear in International Choral Festival at Lincoln Center

Washington, D. C.—The Howard University choir, under the direction of Dean Warner Lawson of the College of Fine Arts, has been selected to perform in the week-long International University Choral Festival at New York City's Lincoln Center Sept. 20-26.

The Howard choir will appear in concert Saturday, Sept. 25, at 8 p.m. The 44-voice group will sing "Song of the Banner" by Schumann, "Triptych" by Hovhaness, "Song of the Open Road" by Joio, and a medley of Negro spirituals including "My Lord What a Mornin'," "Ain-a That Good News," "Done Made My Vow," and "Roll Jordan Roll."

Lincoln Center is presenting the Festival in recognition of the significant role played by universities in the advancement of choral music. It is believed to be the first world-wide gathering of university choruses.
