ABC Newscaster Challenges Each to Do His Bit

Dynamic Speaker Says We Must Work Together for Rights

BY FRANCES E. HAWTHORNE
"I challenge each of you to do your bit—one small bit, in one small place, in one small city!"

Malvin R. Goode, ABC newscaster and the first major network newsman on the air with a bulletin back during the Cuban crisis, voiced his civil rights call to arms in a dynamic, hard hitting speech before 250 persons attending the banquet Saturday night commemorating the 50th anniversary of the Des Moines NAACP and the 25th anniversary of the Iowa Conference of Branches.

Not Insoluble

Speaking from the theme, "Signs of Great Leadership," Goode stated, "Des Moines may have its problems but they are not insoluble. I hope the NAACP and its friends will all join hands together to help wipe out the racial problems so there will be no need for an anniversary 25 years from now; no need for a NAACP."

Old and New

Contrasting the old and new by using his own background and experience, Goode pointed out that during the depression years he had no promotion at a steel company in the 12 years he had worked for it and when he traveled south on a train a curtain was drawn across him to hide him from the view of white passengers.

"Three years ago I drove to Roanoke, Va., and could find no decent place to go in and eat and when finally I stopped for a sandwich I had to go in the back door, bring it out and eat it along the way as I drove.

Norfolk

"But, one week ago tonight, a fancy suite was reserved for me at the largest hotel in downtown Norfolk, Va., where Negroes 28 years ago were not allowed to walk along the street. That same night I addressed a packed crowd of 600 people.

"We are growing up, we're going to join hands and win this battle together.

Build Together

Turning to the local scene, Goode said, "Whatever the race problems, they can be settled together if you want to build a program together.

"From the looks of this audience, and I refer to the fact that so many of your white neighbors are present, Des Moines long ago must have taken the first step.

Watts

Goode cited the Governor of California as the first step.

Re-elect Louis Garland President of Ia. NAACP

L. A. Garland, Jr., of Sioux City was re-elected president for the third consecutive year of the Iowa Conference of Branches of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Saturday at Hotel Savery.

Also elected were Robert A. Wright of Des Moines, first vice-president;

GARLAND

Mrs. Clifford L. Bayles of Des Moines, second vice-president; D. Edwin White of Burlington, third vice-president; Mrs. Warren Nash of Waterloo, recording secretary; Mrs. Lee Crayton of Ottumwa, corresponding secretary, and William L. Bell of Des Moines, treasurer.

Resolutions

The delegates also approved a resolution condemning the John Birch Society for its attacks on the civil rights movement and for "propagating hate literature."

They also passed a resolution calling for Gov. Harold Hughes to appoint a staff for the state Human Rights Commission.

The organization will hold its 26th annual convention in Ft. Madison, Ia. in 1966.

Secretary Goes to American Embassy in India

Washington, D. C.—Miss Shirley Ann Robinson, former secretary to Congressman John Conyers, Jr. (D-Mich.) left Washington recently to report to a position with the American Embassy in New Delhi, India.

Miss Robinson is joining the Embassy staff as personal secretary to Mr. James S. Lanigan, Commercial Attache. "I am looking forward to my new job because I have always wanted to work in a foreign country," said Miss Robinson.

She was the only secretary to accompany the 15 Congressmen who went to Selma, Alabama in February to investigate the racial crisis during which Nobel Peace Prize winner Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. was jailed. "Shirley's skill as a court reporter was invaluable to us in recording the racial bigotry and discrimination suffered by Negro Americans in Selma," stated Cong. Conyers.

Files Suit on Behalf of 4,000 Watts Rioters; Accused of No Crime--But Negligence

Los Angeles—The NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund today filed suit in California's Supreme Court in behalf of more than 4,000 persons arrested during the recent Watts riots.

The suit names three Los Angeles courts—the Municipal, Juvenile, and the Superior Courts, along with 21 Los Angeles judges.

Neglect

All are charged with neglecting their responsibility to inform the Negroes of the charges against them, to inquire as to whether they could afford legal counsel and to appoint counsel when needed.

Negro petitioners named in this suit, and others interviewed, asserted that they had no legal representation at their initial arraignments and the District Attorney argued that bail be set at three times the regular $1,000.

No Crime

Meanwhile, in New York City, Jack Greenberg, director counsel of the Legal Defense Fund explained that "this suit does not seek to represent people guilty of crime.

But, "there is no doubt that an indeterminate number of Watts defendants are innocent of charges placed against them, and will not receive the kind of representation which the U. S. Constitution guarantees to all defendants, rich or poor, Negro or white, innocent or guilty."

Petitioners

Two Negro petitioners, both young mothers (one of four, the other of six) remained in jail until their preliminary hearings, although neither had prior convictions.

The civil rights attorneys argue that if the courts had inquired as to the background of these women, both would have been released on their own recognizance, as they later were after their preliminary hearings.

An Overflow Crowd Shares Joy, Success of Banquet

BY FRANCES E. HAWTHORNE
In a way, one might say, it was HER night!

But she was the first to point out that it was you—you and YOU who came; it was your night!

"Aren't you glad you came?" she asked.

And the audience applauded, chuckled in hearty approval.

SHE was Mrs. James B. Morris, Sr., "Mrs. NAACP" herself. It was highly fitting that she should be anniversary chairman on the occasion commemorating the 50th year of the Des Moines branch and the 25th year of "her baby" the Iowa Conference of Branches.

Planning

Months of planning had gone into the event. She and her committees had spent weeks checking and double checking speakers, workshop participants, selling tickets, arranging the beautiful gold covered souvenir programs and the banquet settings. Now the time—Saturday night—was at hand. It was a resounding success! You and you had come to make it an overflow crowd of 250 in the Terrace room of the Hotel Savery.

All Glad

They all were glad but Mrs. Morris showed it most. Happiness radiated from her face, glowed in her smile, vibrated in her voice. She kept repeating "I'm overcome." And the audience nodded indulgently. They smiled understandingly as she introduced guests at the gold skirted speakers tables, momentarily forgetting a name overlooking a face, then graciously correcting herself.

Charter Member

She pointed out longtime NAACP friends who had traveled from out-of-state to share in the momentous occasion. She had comradely words for Mrs. Florence White, the only surviving charter member of the Des Moines branch, and for past presidents and other untiring NAACP workers. She reeled off names of Des Moines businesses who had representatives in the audience and announced bundles of telegrams had been received.

Centerpieces

She revealed that the two massive centerpieces of golden mums tied with huge golden bows had been presented in memory of two staunch NAACP members, now deceased. One was presented by Mrs. A. A. Alexander in memory of her husband; the other had been given in memory of the late Ike Smalls.

Appreciation

That night some tried to demonstrate their appreciation of her consistent dedication and their affection for her, and also citing her 75th birthday and her 53rd year in NAACP. Mrs. Bessye Greene on behalf of the NAACP presented her a beautifully wrapped gift. She accepted gracefully, promising "You will hear more—much more—from me later." And they did.

"I have received much more than I have given," she emphasized, "because I have all of you and you have only me."

Gift

The gift was for her 75th birthday celebrated a few days before. Someone began singing, "Happy Birthday to you . . ." and the audience joined in. She wore a rare orchid corsage, given by an anonymous admirer, perhaps by someone who had been inspired by her.

She proudly displayed a stole, resplendent in gold and white, brought Delegates of Mt. Zion Church that attended The Eastern District Association on Oct. 12-14 were Rev. and Mrs. Percy W. Burt, Mrs. Eula McDonald, Mrs. Eva Smith, Dist. Board member, and Mrs. Julian Carlton. Mrs. Percy Burt is president of the Women's Auxiliary.

His primary concern was unsafe wiring and plumbing that has plagued renter occupied and multiple dwellings.

Pearce stated that all housing units in the city can and must meet minimum standards of the housing code to provide safe, decent and sanitary housing.

He stated that blighted neighborhoods and slums breed crime, disease and broken homes.

old Larry Jones, 21, of 1711 Lyon streets, Richard Arnold Carr, 25, of 1310 10th street, Dennis S. Ashby, 19, of 1230 10th street and Alfred Hickman of 1428 Dixon street.

The four were sentenced by District Judge H. J. Kettelman of Creston after they entered guilty pleas.

Sheriff Elbert Strange said the four were arrested by Missouri authorities at a road block near Stanberry, 25 miles south of the Iowa line after he broadcast an alert to officers of two states. They were held in the Gentry County jail at Albany overnight.

Version

The sheriff gave this version of the robbery:

He said Bob Smith, owner-manager of the Fina gas station at the junction of Highways 169 and 2 west of Mount Ayr was closing the place

Carolyn Rhem Bride of Charles La France In Wedding at St. John Baptist in Mason City

Mason City, Ia.—St. John Baptist church was the scene of wedding ceremonies when Carolyn Rhem became the bride of Charles La France on Oct. 2.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Rhem of Mason City, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles La France of Fort Dodge, Ia.

Attendants

The altar was decorated with fall flowers. Miss Ruth Haddix was maid of honor and wore a corsage of pink roses and white carnations. Ralph Coty was best man. John and Joe Brown of New Jersey, were ushers. Bridesmaid was Barbara Woolery, niece of the groom, Kelly Johnson, flower girl. Miss Woolery wore a blue lace dress and Kelly wore a pink lace dress.

The bride was lovely in a white floorlength gown with the bodice trimmed in gold lace with matching gold shoes. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and white carnations. Her shoulder length veil was fashioned with seed pearls.

The bride was given in marriage by Olive Jackman. The Rev. Robert Giles, pastor of St. John Baptist, officiated.

The mother of the bride wore a two-piece beige suit with brown accessories and a yellow rose and carnation corsage. The mother of the groom wore a rose lace dress with black accessories, and a corsage of pink roses and white carnations.

A reception followed the ceremonies in the church parlors. Mrs. C. Duncan, Mrs. McGruder, Mrs. Lewis Kipper helped with refreshments. Mrs. Willie Turner poured coffee, and Miss Ruth Haddix served punch. Also Mrs. Willis Haddix and Mrs. Earl Davis were in charge of gifts. Mrs. Ruby Allen in charge of the guest book. Mrs. Robert Giles and Mrs. Morgan Walker were hostesses.

Attending from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Parker of Chicago, Ill., Mrs. Elnora Brown of Lansing, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. Leon Barnett of Minneapolis, Minn., Staff

Sgt. Raymond E. Dunn of Goose Bay, Labrador.

The couple will be at home in Manly, Ia.

The La Demoiselles College and Career club met Sunday, Oct. 3 with Janice Bayles, 1606 16th street. Plans were completed for the club to attend the Iowa State university homecoming, Oct. 30 in Ames, Ia.

The club has three new members, June Robinson a student at Grand View College, Carolyn Clinton, and Estella Mills, a Drake sophomore from Indianapolis, Ind.

The club will sponsor an "Oldie But Goodie" and Soul Music dance on Saturday, Oct. 16 at the Brotherhood from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. All high school and college students are invited to attend.

The club is in search of an advisor who is very sociable and full of good ideas. They would have to attend every meeting, only when called upon. Anyone interest may call the vice president, Leslie A. Johnson at CH 4-9715 or secretary, Nina McKee, AM 2-6560.

Next meeting will be Sunday, Oct. 17 with Bobette Brown, 1501 University avenue. All members are urged to attend for election of officers.

Defendants in the action are the YMCA of Raleigh Inc. and C. Lynn Brown, president of the corporation's executive committee.

The Negro plaintiff, Samuel E. NeSmith, alleges he was denied services and accommodations at the YMCA in August.

A separate YMCA branch is maintained in Raleigh for Negroes.

The suit asks the court to permanently enjoin the YMCA from maintaining a policy of racial segregation.

You couldn't have asked for a more beautiful weekend. Or a more hectic one, either. Most of our hours Saturday were spent at the state convention of the Iowa NAACP, covering the various workshops and banquet for this week's newspaper. It was one of the best sessions we have had opportunity to attend although it had plenty of competition of other activities in the city and around the state.

For instance many who had already purchased tickets to the Iowa Hawkeye homecoming game with Purdue, journeyed to Iowa City to see their favorite almost accomplish the unpredictable. In addition there was the lure of other televised games as well as autumn perennial World Series!

But, despite all this the convention was a decided success. We were rather surprised to see the larger than expected gathering at the early morning session. Almost half of them were youths, representing all the 11 chapters in the state, and representative of all races.

The workshop sessions took up most of the minutes so there was little time to talk with delegates and officers but we did spend a minute with Mrs. Valetta Fields, Waterloo news correspondent. As far as we know there were at least three news-papwomen represented at the session that morning. Besides Mrs. Fields and yours truly there was Miss Althea Simmons, NAACP consultant from New York City who is a former newspaperwoman with the Dallas (Tex.) Star Post.

It was rather unfortunate that John Estes, Jr., commissioner on the Low Rent Housing committee, did not get to speak at the afternoon workshop. The length of other panelists plus stimulating questions from the audience, took the workshop past the allotted schedule before it was his turn and he graciously declined had plenty of competition of other to take up any more of the time. It was a shame because Mr. Estes, being a local man, could have brought some interesting points and information.

There was a delay in getting started at the banquet and it generated a little good-humored grumbling, but after Malvin Goode, ABC-TV newscaster got started, no one, I would daresay, was aware of the passage of the minute hands around their watches.

The delay was caused chiefly by Mr. Goode who was grounded in Detroit, Mich. He arrived shortly before the banquet guests finished dining and thus, the master of ceremonies was relieved from having the unwelcome duty of telling his hearers why there was no guest speaker.

Mr. Goode also missed a fabulous cocktail party given by Mr. and Mrs. James Wallace at their home. Mr. Wallace is president of Pioneer Hybrid Seed company. The party proceeded without the guest of honor.

We want to express our appreciation to Mrs. Bessye Greene, publicity chairman for the NAACP event for her warm consideration and helpfulness. Where we were unable to cover, she gladly gave us the facts or information we needed.

Finding Dodge baseball fans in Des Moines this year is like looking for a needle in a haystack, but there are some besides yours truly. Among those few is Mrs. A. C. Crawford, 1200 13th street, who has rooted for the west coast team back when they were the pride of Brooklyn and were the first major league team to open the doors to Negro players.

You can hardly beat the striking colors of Iowa's countryside and parks these days. For added attraction make a trip to the Capitol grounds to see the mum display where nearly 10,000 blooms are in their full glory.

SOUND ADVICE TO A RIGHTS AUDIENCE

Malvin Goode of New York, newscaster for ABC, spoke at the banquet celebrating the 50th anniversary of the Des Moines Branch, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the 25th anniversary of the State Conference, NAACP.

He delivered a masterful address emphasizing that along with civil rights went full responsibility as American citizens; that those of the Negro group, who had been fortunate enough to rise above the masses, should give of their time and money to help others less fortunate.

All too often, some fortunate people boast that it was they themselves who got a job or position or some other break when, as a matter of fact, others made great contribution to their success.

The Bystander has said on many occasions that a good citizen is a responsible citizen; that now that segregation and discrimination no longer exist as a matter of law, to implement them requires responsible citizenship.

Maybe these things have not been talked about enough for altogether too many irresponsible things have been done in recent months in the name of the exercise of civil rights when, as a matter of fact, they simply hurt the cause.

REPUBLICANS HOPE TO START IN TIME

Last year, moderate Republicans sat by and allowed the right wing conservatives to gain control bringing down the worst defeat ever suffered by the GOP.

Recognizing that an early start must be made to head off another debacle in 1966, the Republican Reserves is an organization formed to help the party save itself.

The group met in Des Moines last week with a surprising unanimity of thinking that the party must re-adjust its position on civil rights and labor in order to throw off the tab of being anti-Negro and anti-labor. The Democrats have formidable opposition to both groups in their ranks but they are not the spokesmen of their party.

The group further recognized that the party faces the situation where Republicans are being elected to office on anti-civil rights platforms. This means that if the party wishes to regain any Negro votes, these Republicans must come in the party not on their terms but on that of full civil rights and their enforcement everywhere in the land.

This was best illustrated by the platform drafters in San Francisco last year as they attempted to shave words and phrases to be palatable to the southern Republicans but in the end lost most of the South and the Negro vote too.

No cause, however liberal, will bring a large number of Negro voters at once but in time they will recognize more and more the necessity of two strong political parties as the best guarantee that neither will stray too far away from good government.

VOTE IN THE CITY ELECTION TUESDAY

Tuesday, the voters of Des Moines go to the polls to nominate six candidates for the city council to be voted on in the election in November.

This has been a quiet campaign even though there are fourteen candidates in the field. The issues are being discussed publicly and covered in the press but nobody gets excited about them. The old rough and tumble campaigns of years gone by seem passe, the candidates substituting what the old politician called the "gum shoe" campaign.

The late methods don't stir interest; neither do they bring voters to the polls on election day.

Some able candidates are in the field; some otherwise. Certainly no one should be nominated.

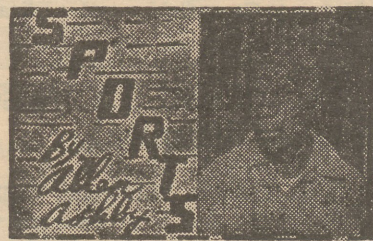

Who does not have the respect and confidence of the community?

Who believes the present shortsighted policy with respect to employment of Negroes by the city should continue; Who does not believe that immediate attention should be given the Oakridge urban renewal project in order for residents to secure a reasonable price for their property;

Who believes the city should be exempt from the operation of the Human Rights Commission.

Get out and vote Tuesday.

Well, the headlines were the same again. Iowa loses. But the headlines didn't tell you that it was probably not the best played game but certainly the most exciting game of the year. That was perhaps the first time we had ever seen a crowd just yell itself out. They were emotionally drained and left the stadium not even talking much. We know the Hawks always play a good game against Purdue and last week was no exception. There were no particular instances or turning points that might have led to an Iowa victory. Some guys say they could have won the football game. Maybe they could have with a good break or two. They didn't get many bad breaks. Just didn't get any good ones.

"Quarterbacking"

We sat with a fellow we didn't know but who had obviously played some football. We tried to call the plays before they were run and it was surprising how many times we made some call as the quarterback for the two teams. But once when Iowa was in Purdue territory with third and two we turned to our friend and said "Now what?" The guy began to mumble something in Japanese we think. "Quick now, you have only 25 seconds. Boom! the play was a halfback stunt that didn't work." "I wouldn't have called that one," said the guy. "But if you hadn't you would have got penalized five yards for delaying the game." The fellow grinned and said he was glad he was in the stands.

Drake

But we still think those Hawks are going to beat someone. But now they can lose just one more game and have another losing year.

Drake must be getting awfully tough. They seem headed for one of their better seasons. This new Mr. Five-by-Five who plays fullback for the Bulldogs must really be something. He might make a tough running guard in pro-football.

Iowa State finally got a conference win and may get one or two more. The Cyclones are gradually increasing the number of Negroes on their club. Each week they slip in one or two more.

Local

Our high schools had quite a weekend. The East boys insist they were robbed at Mason City. We would guess that it was a case of the same officials working all home games. They don't really cheat, but just don't see everything except through the eyes of the home crowd. In games like the various high school conferences, someone should assign the referees and other officials for each game and rotate them. Maybe they do this now. The East boys remind us of our old semi-pro football days when a visiting team had to score suddenly and from way out to make it count. It wasn't anything to score three or four touchdowns and get beat seven to nothing. What happened to North and Tech?

Our Warriors are drawing some nice crowds. Hope they can keep on going because if they can keep on going maybe next year they won't be last.

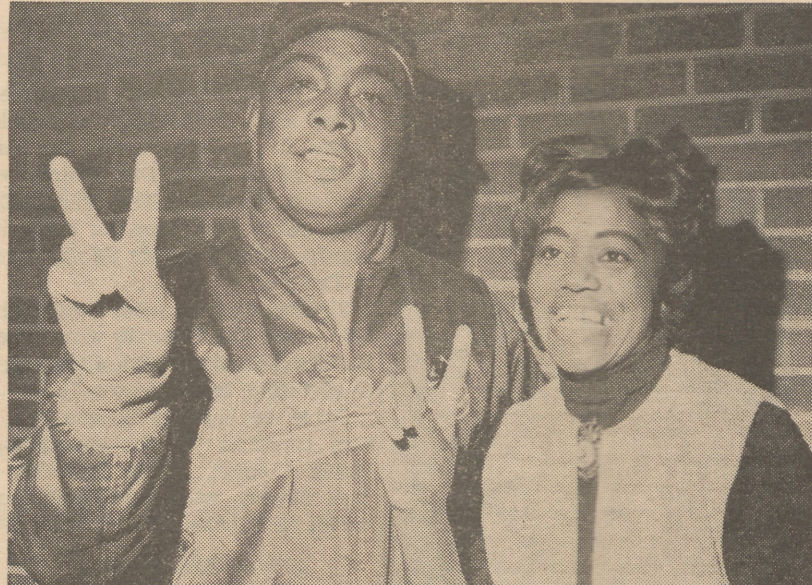

Baseball

Did the Series go to suit you? Whoever the new champs are we guess they deserve the honor.

Branch Presidents Attending Conference

NAACP branch presidents attending the Iowa Conference of Branches convention were Dr. Percy Harris, Cedar Rapids; George Cooper, Council Bluffs; D. Edwin White, Burlington; Mrs. Norma B. Woods, Fort Madison; Mrs. Ruth B. Toomes, Keokuk; W. C. Cribbs, Davenport; Willis Haddix, Mason City-Manly; Wilmer Johnson, Marshalltown; Leahy Crayton, Ottumwa; Lewis A. Garland, Jr., Sioux City; Dr. Warren Nash, Waterloo and Atty. Robert A. Wright, Des Moines.

Anna Marie Weems and Earl Battey of the Twins

Taken last week as guest in the dug-out of the Twins in Bloomington, Minn. Anna is wishing him "V" for victory for the series and he's wishing her "V" for victory for she's a candidate for 4th ward city councilman in Waterloo, Iowa, the first Negro woman to run. She's endorsed by the Voter's League of Waterloo, made up of mostly all the Negro business and professional persons plus outstanding leaders in the community. Presently she's Director of Youth Achievement League and Trustee for The Foundation for Freedom and Democracy in Community Life. Mrs. Weems operates Waterloo's only Teen Center, is co-owner and manager of Spotless Cleaners, Waterloo, active in Labor organization and past NAACP president.

The election is Nov. 2. The fourth ward is over one-half Negroes.

Mal Goode

fornia appointing a Watts study committee after the recent disastrous riots there, stated "Just think how much anguish, not to mention the loss in property and lives, might have been avoided if that committee had been named just six months ago."

Goode chided members of his race with "being enamored with the status symbol."

"Many of us like to say, 'I'm the only one' or 'let me tell you about me'. Let me tell you they all got their good jobs because of organizations like the NAACP and CORE."

Responsibility

"Yet they don't want to have anything to do with civil rights. They go around saying, 'I made my way.' They all got help."

"We should help one another. We have a responsibility to help others. If you haven't reached down to lift someone else up to your standards it would be better if you had not been born."

Following the thunderous applause, Goode continued, "I don't want to be a special Negro. I am of no consequence until my brothers and sisters in Virginia, Georgia, or anywhere else can be of consequence."

Whites

Referring to white people Goode cited the "agonizing inch by inch progress of civil rights in this country. 'Let's be frank. How about Des Moines or Iowa? Have you been weighed in the balance and found wanting?"

Goode pointed out that 64 per cent of Negro labor force is in the household services and laborers. Citing tokenism in hiring practices he stated "In my travels around the country before groups like the Rotary clubs, it never fails. They are so quick to tell me 'we have a nice, clean colored girl in our office.'"

He stated that of the 872 public school principals in New York City only three are Negroes.

Little League Football

After four weeks of play in the Little All-American Football League the West 49'ers in the lightweight division and the West Packers in the heavyweight division remain unbeaten.

In games played this past weekend, the North Colts defeated the South Rams and the West 49'ers whipped the East Giants in lightweight competition. In the heavyweight division, the South Bears defeated the North Cardinals and the West Packers shocked the East Lions.

Schedule

The schedule for games this Saturday morning in the lightweight division is as follows: at 9:00 a.m. the South Rams will play the West 49'ers and at 10:30 a.m. the North Colts will meet the East Giants. In heavyweight games on Sunday afternoon the South Bears will play the West Packers at 1:30 p.m. and the North Cardinals will meet the East Lions at 3:00 p.m.

All games are played at Firestone Field just north of the Firestone plant. The public is invited, there is no admission charged.

New York

"There are 300 police captains and only five of them are Negroes, and in two of them, the white policemen refused to take orders from them because they are Negroes and of the 539 judges only 29 of them are Negroes. Of that 29, 19 are only police magistrates."

"Let's convert the avenues of despair into avenues of hopes," he emphasized.

Introductions

Goode was introduced by Claire E. Grant, General manager of KCBC, as "a successful father and newsman." Welcome greetings came from Paul F. Franzenberg, treasurer of Iowa, who represented Governor Harold Hughes, Robert A. Wright, Des Moines branch president, responded. George Whitmer, city councilman brought welcome greetings earlier in the day.

SUNSET VIEW AT 82

At dusk I saw God paint the sky
With glowing colors fair
In awe I stood with reverence
My God to worship there.
Having followed my Lord
For over three-score years and ten
My heart is filled with gratitude
For blessings I have seen.
When a child of ten I came
For Baptism as Christ bade,
I trembled with joy to know
A child of God I was made.

There followed years of study
And service for my Lord
Of Christian fellowship and learning
To use the Spirit's sword.
And now in sunset years
As I review my pilgrim way
His mercies have been new
Day after blessed day.
This thought came to my mind
As I mused in the sunset glow
Will there be some to love my memory?
Will I too leave an afterglow?

TO WALK SOFTLY

To walk so softly through this day
That only kindly words I say,
Gracious words that heal and bless
Another's hurt or loneliness—
Help me, Lord, I pray.
To walk so softly through this day
That I will keep me in Thy way,
To follow where Thy Spirit leads,
And only do the generous deeds—
Help me, Lord, I pray.

Banquet

from Chicago, Ill., by a lifelong friend, Dr. L. A. Whitfield.

Trophy

A handsome gold and white trophy sat on the table but the night's events climaxed by the dynamic impassioned main speaker, overwhelmed her and she almost forgot about it. Near the banquet's end she arose and presented the trophy given each year to the Iowa NAACP branch which shows the most overall progress. It was initiated she said, by another hardworking NAACP worker, the late Ike Smalls.

Saturday night she presented it to Waterloo "who almost faded out but now has come back." Dr. Warren Nash, Waterloo president accepted it.

Dr. Whitfield

And then her cup ran over. Dr. Whitfield stood up, began his dramatic announcement, "At the risk of being anti-climatic I want to pay tribute to a great lady, Mrs. Morris. For years she has been after me to join the NAACP . . ."

He ended by presenting a check for $500 for a life membership. Momentarily, overwhelmed, she waved the check aloft, "Isn't this delicious?" And the audience answered in resounding applause.

Yes, it was her night. She had been and is one of the candles in Iowa—whose NAACP flame has glowed steadily in the dark lean years of yesterday, in the challenging hours of today and in the promise of tomorrow. She was the organizer of the State Conference of Branches, the mainstay of other Iowa NAACP branches who always had had an encouraging word or hand when they had faltered. It was HER night to bask in the glory of the Iowa organization's most momentous event.

Rep. Ford to Address Iowa Young GOPs

Rep. Gerald Ford, Republican leader in the U. S. House of Representatives, will speak to the University of Iowa Young Republicans, Tuesday evening, Oct. 19 at Iowa City. Lyle Krewson of VanHorne, Chairman of the group, said that Ford will make a public speech at the Iowa Memorial Union following a dinner meeting there.
