Iowa Rights Group Open Offices at Statehouse

Names Investigator, 10 Cases Being Probed

The new Iowa Civil Rights Commission opened offices last week on the ground floor of the Statehouse with a fulltime staff member.

The commission appointed Donald W. Burger, 26, of Waukegan, as its investigator. He will also serve as acting director until a director is appointed. A secretary will be appointed also.

The commission which was appointed by Gov. Harold Hughes to implement the Iowa Civil Rights Law passed by the legislature this year, has only one Negro member, Dr. Harry D. Haper, medical physician at Fort Madison, Ia.

Other members are The Rev. Phillip C. Hamilton of Dubuque, chairman; Mrs. David Kruidenier, Des Moines, vice-chairman; Lawrence S. Slotsky, Sioux City; Mrs. Elliott Full, Iowa City; Mrs. Max Goldman, Forest City, and Donald Boles, Ames.

Law Aim

The new state civil rights law is aimed at eliminating racial discrimination in employment and in use of public accommodations. Burger, a graduate of Drake university in political science, will investigate complaints of discriminations, assist in conducting hearings when necessary and help develop programs to reduce tensions and develop good will in the civil rights area. He is to work in co-operation with local civil rights commissions in the state.

Father Hamilton said the commission has about 10 cases under investigation as a result of complaints of discrimination prohibited by Iowa law.

He emphasized that all information about each case is confidential, including names of both the person who complains and the person complained against, unless conciliation fails and the case requires a public hearing or court action.

"We are collecting evidence and working out conciliation," in the cases received so far, Father Hamilton said. "We are highly pleased with the level of effective conciliation."

Life's Savings Gone As Robbers Break in, Pry Open Bedroom Closet Door

Fate bathed Iowans in one of its most sunny, balmy days last Sunday but it cast a dark shadow over the lives of an elderly Des Moines couple as they lost $7,000—their life's savings—when their home was burglarized.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Johnson of 1140 9th street, had left their home for "about an hour." When they returned about 5:45 p.m. they discovered robbers had entered their home, pried open the locked door on their bedroom closet and taken more than $7,000.

$5,000 in Bills

Johnson, 72, told police that more than $5,000 in $100, $50, $20 and $10 bills, which had been in a suitcase was taken. A large bag and a gallon-jar containing more than $2,000 in coins also were taken, police were told. The prowler left three jars of pennies which also were in the closet.

"We—my wife (Jo Ann, 67) and I—have been saving the money for years," Johnson said Monday.

"Part of the money was from the sale of our former home, taken over by the city in an urban renewal project, but most had been saved during the time I worked as a janitor," said Johnson, who retired in 1959.

Savings

"I receive a veteran's pension and social security and, whenever I get any change from a purchase, I drop the change in the jars," he explained.

"I don't have anything against banks," he said. "We just wanted the money handy if we needed some."

He told police that he and his wife were away from their home "about an hour" Sunday, returning about 5:45 p.m.

Door Pried Open

"When we got home, we discovered someone had pried open the locked closet door and had taken the money," Johnson said.

Police said the house either had been left unlocked or was entered with a key.

Judge Reduces Claims Against Bob. Wright, Final Arguments Wed.

A $200,000 fraud, conspiracy and negligence lawsuit which evolved from a 1961 real estate "swapping" deal was reduced to $60,000 after Polk County District Judge Ray C. Fountain Tuesday morning sustained direct motions by the defense attorney.

The case involves a suit brought by Mrs. Gertrude I. Hall, now of 1108 7th street, against Des Moines Attorney Robert A. Wright, John L. Haskins of 2031 Forest avenue and the Grandquist Construction Company, 2801 30th street.

Attorneys were expected to make their summation arguments before the jury on Wednesday afternoon with the jury to begin deliberations sometime that same day.

Charges

Four years ago Mrs. Hall traded her home at 1308 Keosauqua Way (now the site of the Basin Street West tavern) to Haskins for a residence at 1223 15th place. Mrs. Hall claims Haskins who formerly owned the 15th place property, had deeded the property to Grandquist before the trade was effected. Wright was Mrs. Hall's attorney when she deeded her Keo property to Haskins and in subsequent dealings.

Direct Verdicts

After the plaintiff rested her case Tuesday morning the defense moved for direct verdicts to remove (1) Grandquist Construction company entirely from the lawsuit and (2) dismiss Mrs. Hall's allegation that Wright, Haskins and Grandquist conspired against her and (3) Mrs. Hall's allegation that Wright was negligent as her attorney. The court sustained the motions.

Limitation Statute

Judge Fountain said that he directed a verdict in favor of Wright on this point because of the statute of limitations, in that alleged negligence, if there was any, occurred

Why Billy King Is Here

(The following article was submitted to the Iowa Bystander by Billy King.)

"The traditional approach to the problems of an economically deprived area ignores the basic right of people to have a voice in the decisions which affect them. In this approach officials and agencies plan and administer programs for slum areas which preclude participation by the inhabitants of the areas. The exclusion of those who are directly affected from the working of the program may bring about many serious problems. First, the approach often fails to ascertain either the needs of the people or the type of program which will work most effectively in the area. Too many times what may in theory start as a beneficial program misunderstands or actually exploits the area to be helped.

Co-operation

"Secondly, the community for which the program is intended may refuse to support, co-operate with or even accept the program. Because the community has not been given a part in the original formation of the program, it resents or distrusts the purposes of those who are trying to start the program.

"Thirdly, this approach is not able to attack the root of the slum problem. It may attack results rather than causes, or one aspect rather than the whole basis of that which causes a slum.

Another

"Another approach, started in the last few years by a series of different groups ranging from Students for a Democratic Society to inter-city church groups is "community-self-organization." In this approach full-time organizers living in the area work to draw people together into a community group. The organizers are simply catalyst forces. Their ultimate objective is to start a working group which will provide continuing leadership for the area by the community people themselves, thus abolishing the need for a community organizer.

Difference

"The difference between the community-self-organization and the traditional approach is that the former brings about a basic change in the economically deprived area both politically and psychologically. The slum usually has very few days open to it for helping itself due to the lack of political experience and influence found there. It is, therefore, dependent for its problem-solving on people or agencies outside the community. The community organization, by establishing the machinery and knowledge for problem-solving by the people themselves, modifies this dependency.

Psychological

"More important is the psychological effect of the community organization. People who are ordinarily excluded from the process of decision making are given no alternative but to lapse into an apathy and feeling of helplessness which pervades all aspects of their lives. The community organization provides the means of self help and communication with other communities and groups which is so desperately needed in these areas.

Other Cities

The work which other community organizations have done in other cities includes improving streets and getting recreation equipment, centers, repairing homes, welfare, and helping the unemployed.

The community organizing approach is the one which the Des Moines Study Group hopes will be put into effect in the Oakridge area of Des Moines. The program will combine three working groups. The first, a full time organizer financially supported by eastern and central Iowa colleges. The person who is now working in this capacity is Billy King, who is living at 718 Laurel street (phone 244-3053) near the Oakridge area and doing research on the problems of community organizing there for one month. He has previously been a community organizer in Philadelphia and Newark, N. J. for two years.

Secondly, Mr. King will co-operate with Youth for Freedom, a prospective community organization in the area and any other organization or agencies in Des Moines and else-

WESTCHESTER SCHOOL HIRS FIRST NEGRO TEACHER

White Plains, N. Y.—The first day of the 1965-66 school year was a red star day for second grade teacher, Bonita Williams, and the Pocantico Hill, New York school system. For Mrs. Williams it was her first day on an exciting new job. For Pocantico Hills, it marked the first time a Negro teacher had ever conducted a class in this small, predominantly white school district in Westchester County, one of the best-known suburbs of New York City.

Mrs. Williams is one of thirty Negro teachers who found their jobs in seventeen Westchester school districts this year through the Teacher Registry of the Urban League of Westchester.

Georgia School Board Ordered to Integrate

Augusta, Ga.—A three-judge federal court here this week ordered the State Board of Education to resolve the school desegregation issue that has resulted in days of demonstrations in Crawfordsville, Ga.

The Tallapoosa County School system, brought before the court by the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, was picked in receivership, and the State Board of Education named receiver.

Oddity

The receivership or bankruptcy action, an oddity in cases of this type, places responsibility for directing the school system in the hands of the state board under the court's supervision.

In New York, Jack Greenberg, Legal Defense Fund director-counsel, said the court's action "should be a signal to the country."

Towensism

"Tokenism and evasion in school desegregation are top items on the agenda of the Negro community," he said.

"If school boards and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, which must approve their plans, acquiesce in paper compliance, the Negro man in the street is going to protest loudly and vigorously and the courts are going to protect him and back him up in that protest."

"The only way to conclude the school desegregation problem is to conclude it swiftly and conclude it right," Greenberg added.

Charged in Oct. 1 Store Robbery

Edward Charles Allison, 6, was charged Wednesday with the armed robbery Oct. 1 of Hiram's Country Store at 2825 Easton blvd.

Allison, who gave his address as 123 11th street, West Des Moines, pleaded innocent before Municipal Judge Ray Harrison on a charge of robbery with aggravation.

Harrison ordered Allison held in jail in lieu of $15,000 bond pending a hearing Oct. 29.

Police said that witnesses of the holdup identified Allison. Two armed bandits entered the store about 9 p.m. and took approximately $1,500.

NAACP Calls on Democrats To Oust Southern Racists

Washington—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has strongly urged the Democratic National Committee "to oust those (Southern) officials who hold their positions because of trickery and restriction of the voting rights of colored citizens."

In testimony before the Special Equal Rights Committee of the Democratic National Committee, Clarence Mitchell, director of the NAACP Washington Bureau, stated here Oct. 6 that the party "must take a firm position that no one can hold office in its structure if he willingly defies the law of the United States, especially if his acts prevent his fellow citizens from registering and voting."

Desertion

Failure to do this, Mitchell warned, would result in the desertion of Negro Democratic voters in the North and West if the party "continues to let its southern foundation rest in the hands of racial segregation."

The NAACP official reminded Democratic party leaders that "there is no way to separate the Democratic party as a political organization and the administration which is running the country."

Party Affairs

"If the Department of Justice does not enforce the voting rights law in Alabama, Mississippi and South Carolina, the party affairs will still be dominated by the advocates of racial segregation at the precinct, the county, the state and national levels," he said.

Mr. Mitchell stressed that "the task of assuring that colored citizens are given the right to register and vote is the key to the solution of the Democratic party's racial problems."

Attention

"In 1964," he pointed out, "colored citizens who sought an opportunity to run for precinct offices were prevented from doing so by trickery and various forms of deception. Thus, even in the areas where they were voters, they were unable to participate in the state party conventions because they did not complete the first step of successfully participating in the precinct elections."

Mitchell called attention to the NAACP Summer Voter Registration Project which was successful in registering over 50,000 new voters in Mississippi, Alabama and South Carolina.

Greet The Spooks On Their Own Terms

There's no better way to satisfy the "spirits" that roam on Halloween than with a piece of Devil's Food Cake. A family favorite it is, but one that prankish pumpkin faces can quickly transform into a spook's delight. In its dark, rich chocolate depths lie powers of witchcraft to tempt young and old alike.

HALLOWEEN DEVIL'S FOOD CAKE

2 cups sifted cake flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
*With butter, margarine, or lard, use 1 cup milk. With vegetable or any other shortening, use 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons milk.

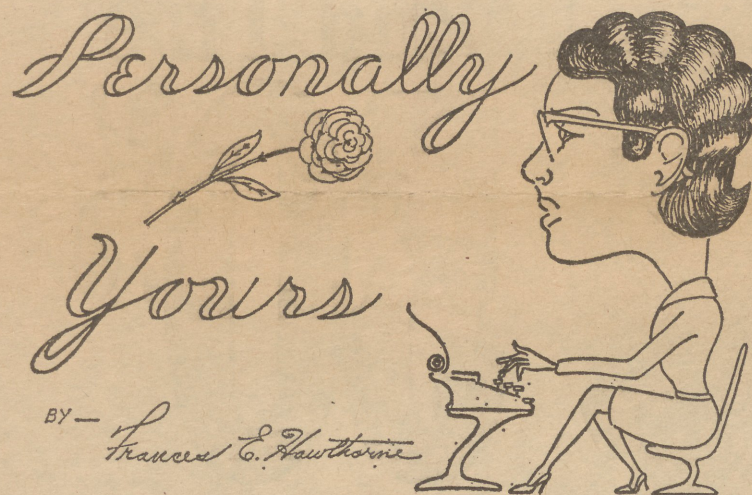

Sift flour once, measure, add soda and salt, and sift together three times. Cream shortening, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each. Add chocolate and blend. Then add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla; blend.

Fluffy Butter Cream Frosting

9 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
Cream together butter, salt, and vanilla. Add sugar, alternately with egg whites, beating well.

Pour into three 8-inch layer pans, which have been lined on bottoms with paper. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) about 30 minutes, or until done.
Decorating: Spread Fluffy Butter Cream Frosting between layers and on top and sides of cake. Outline pumpkin faces on top of cake with a toothpick dipped in melted unsweetened chocolate.

2 eggs, unbeaten
3 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
1/2 cup milk (see below for amount)
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
3 egg whites, unbeaten
1/2 cups milk (about)
1/2 cups milk (about)
after each addition. Add milk and beat well. Makes 3 1/2 cups frosting.

Des Moines and some parts of Iowa continued to be blessed with the beautiful sunny Indian summer days, but the rains came down in a deluge to further dampen the spirits of hopeful fans who trekked to the Hawkeye stadium to root their favorites to a possible first Big Ten victory, but all in vain. It was a lazy weekend for many who sat around and lolled in shorts and shirtsleeves on their porches as they did at the height of summer. Possibly the main drawback is the abundance of mosquitoes who are getting their fill, attacking the more vulnerable residents of the city and state.

However, Sunday night was not so pleasant for Mr. John Bell of 908 14th place. He became very ill at his stomach and had to be rushed in an ambulance to Broadlawn Polk County hospital. Doctors were suspicious that his attack possibly was brought on by something he ate. He was treated and released.

He stayed in bed all day Monday but Tuesday, he was up and impatient to "go to vote."

At the recent NAACP state convention at Hotel Savary we were particularly struck by the quiet decorum of two little cut youngsters, who had to be pre-schoolers or just beginning school at most. We particularly noticed that they (a boy and girl) were about the only ones sitting in the front row seats and they sat so quietly, no squirming around during the entire morning session. Once they got up and walked very quietly out and returned likewise.

As we left the morning session we saw the youngsters with a lady whom they closely resembled. We went up to her, introduced ourselves and learned she was the wife of Dr. Warren Nash, president of the Waterloo, Ia., branch and veterinarian there.

Mrs. Norma Jackson and children, Anthony and Colette, are back from Los Angeles, Calif., where they visited most of the summer. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jackson of 1216 10th street and all the little neighborhood friends greeted the youngsters enthusiastically.

For those who are looking for ideas to perk up P.T.A. programs and attendance, it seems that getting a speaker in the field of civil rights is drawing a "larger than usual" crowd. At least that has been the case at Nash P.T.A., according to its president, Mrs. William Pickett. She said over 50 persons attended to hear Donald Eagle, regional director of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

"We had to keep bringing in chairs as people arrived," she said.

While on the subject of P.T.A.'s Callanan is having an unusual type of program as reported in a story called in by Mrs. Everett Heininger.

Mrs. Heininger said, "We are one of the best integrated schools in the city and we want to make it integrated in every way. We want as many to participate in our program as possible."

PROTESTS FOREIGN POLICY ILL ADVISED

Americans have become a marching nation — to protest grievances. The constitution guarantees the right the protest but does not describe the method to be used.

The latest outbreak of marches—to protest—is that of students, young people and a few oldsters who over the weekend marched to various centers, which would lend importance to their cause, in opposition to U.S. policies and the war in Viet Nam. One young man took upon himself to burn his draft card displaying utter disrespect for the selective service administration and what it proposes to do.

Some charge the protests are communist inspired; some accuse the participants of being cowards fearing to perform their duty to defend the country in time of peril.

Whatever the reason, the By-stander charges that they are misguided, unwilling to carry their responsibility as citizens and in their effort to embarrass their government, create a morale problem among the armed forces.

Historically, some Americans of all parties have disagreed with the president on issues that arose and have expressed that disagreement in no uncertain terms. But once the president adopted a foreign policy which involved the use of the armed forces, all loyal Americans have joined in the common cause against the enemy.

As long as these protesters are orderly and violate no law, they should be permitted to continue their activities. However, those who get out of line (such as the one who burned his draft card) should be dealt with promptly, fairly and sternly. To do otherwise would simply encourage others to do likewise.

HEARING BARES
GLARING KLAN METHODS

The house un-American activities committee of congress is holding hearing on the Ku Klux Klan in order to determine whether legislation is needed to correct the evils that are bound to develop.

Historically, the Klan is a low brow organization formed during reconstruction days to intimidate Negroes in the enjoyment of their freedom. In later years, the organization spread their hate on Jews, Catholics, and the foreign. And later, in an attempt to add respectability to the organization, vowed to fight Communism.

Any organization which operates in the dark does so because its acts will not stand the light. And while it is well to put their activities on official record, everybody knows that their history has been one of murder, bombings, whipping, cross burning and other methods of intimidation.

Their methods have been to take unto themselves the functions of the courts determining who "violates" the law and meter out the punishment.

Time after time, Kluxers have been caught dead right in the commission of crimes but often have not been arrested or if arrested and tried they have not been convicted. Like the communist, they have infiltrated into strategic spots which have helped keep them clear of the law.

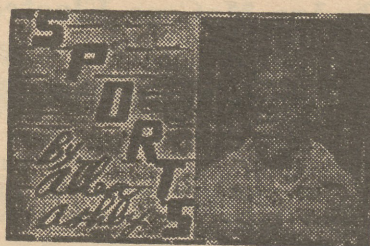

America has a dangerous group in the Klan in that it divides the people, intimidates the people and flaunts law and order.

The By-stander hopes that means can be devised to curb these bigots thus removing fear, intimidation and the depredations which so far the law seems powerless to stop.

Florida Licenses First
Negro Civil Engineer

Miami—Charley Mitchell, 31, has become the first Negro civil engineer in Miami and the first to be licensed by the state.

A product of Howard university, Washington, D. C., he is the son of a school teacher and a sundries store owner. His mother, Mrs. Lemmie Mitchell, holds a master's degree and teaches social science and psychology at Northwestern High school.

This was a weekend of news "sports fans". We all know Iowa university lost again and all over the state people are asking what is wrong. No one really knows certainly not the coaches who would correct it if they knew. So we heard the sideline coaches and pool hall quarterbacks tell each other just what Coach Jerry Burns ought to do and wouldn't he like to know! Then there is another school of thought that probably dates back to the old 15th century off with his head days. They would fire the coach and that would solve all the problems. The Minnesota game was won by two quick thrusts that could have happened to any team. It seems that when a team in any sport is in a losing streak, it can find more ways of losing than good winners can find to win. That seems to be Iowa's dilemma. We would have to blame the booing of the Iowa quarterback on the present trend of football writers.

They make it seem that the quarterback is the whole team. He must be a good passer and ball handler. Wonder, what would happen if say a halfback or fullback or even a lineman called the plays in the huddle and all the quarterback did was pass.

But the writers and sportscasters have come up with the idea that the quarterback is the whole team. The other backs are just some guys named Joe. For instance on a play that calls for a split end to go a little wider, the announcer will say Quarterback brings his team out of the huddle. He sends his right end out wide and brings his left end in. "Well it used to be, "The team lines up with so and so wide and the other guy close. But that was too simple, so now if a guy like Gayle Sayers runs over those guys, breaks away from a couple of others and runs 40 yards on their momentum and personal effort the quarterback is given more praise for calling the play that could have been a big loss than they the guy who made it work.

So while we don't like the boos, we think they are a product of the present day methods of reporting and broadcasting games. Look at Saturday morning's daily paper headlines and you will see what we mean.

We weren't surprised at the Iowa athletic boards refusal to play Iowa State anything not even marbles. The reasons they gave might have been good 20 years ago. We recall that in 1920 the Ames captain and Duke Slater got into a fist fight argument that ended with the Iowa State captain on his back. That broke up the series then. Then we were present at that 1933 game in which a fired up Cyclone team literally ran over Iowa. Ozzie Simmons was on that Iowa team and took quite a beating that day. Now, we can't be sure of this, but as we recall it the Iowa State band played "Bye-Bye Blackbird" as Ozzie left the game in the fourth quarter. Those things couldn't happen today because Iowa State has as many Negro athletes in all sports as Iowa University does. The Cyclones may have more Negro football players than the Hawkeyes do. So there certainly could be no racial incidents now and that was all they were then.

We also recall that the Iowa avid promoters of an all star game here asked permission to use "Slater" against the all-star team. How times have changed.

A few weeks ago Tech just about ran Roosevelt out of the Drake Stadium. That was a small story. Well, last week the Riders squeezed by North while East was really whumping Fort Dodge. You guessed it, the Riders' victims were headlined. Even the Tech win was inside page news.

Sandy Koufax First
Two-Time Winner of Sport Mag Award

New York—Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers has become the first player in baseball history to win SPORT magazine's Corvette award as the outstanding player in the World Series for a second time.

Koufax, who allowed just one earned run in three appearances against the Minnesota Twins in the 1965 Series, received the award for pitching consecutive shutouts in the fifth and seventh games of the Series, thus bringing the championship to Los Angeles. He previously received the award as the outstanding player in the 1963 World Series for beating the Yankees in the first and fourth games of the Dodger four-game sweep of the American League champions.

Koufax will receive his award, a 1966 Corvette, at a luncheon at Cavanaugh's Restaurant, 260 West 23rd Street, New York.

Little League Football

Going into the sixth and final weekend of play in the Little All-American Football League, the West team in the lightweight division remains undefeated and the South and West teams share the lead in the heavyweight division.

In lightweight contests this past weekend, the West 49'ers rolled over the South Rams 32-6 and the North Colts defeated the East Giants 12-0. In the heavyweight division on Sunday afternoon, the South Bears surprised the West Packers 24-13 in the first game, and the East Lions defeated the North Cardinals in the second game 21-18.

The schedule for games this weekend on Saturday morning will find the West 49'ers playing the North Colts at 9 a.m. and the South Rams vs. the East Giants at 10:30 a.m. The heavyweights play on Sunday afternoon with the West Packers meeting the North Cardinals 1:30 p.m. and at 3:00 p.m. the South Bears will meet the East Lions.

All games are played at the Firestone Field just north of the Firestone plant. The public is invited, and no admission is charged.

Councilman Jens Grothe has consistently voted against items dealing with Oakridge recently, saying the River Hills project should be completed before the city begins another renewal effort.

Unlike River Hills, which was a total clearance area, Oakridge is proposed as a combination of clearance and rehabilitation.

Most clearance would take place in an area south of the freeway and east of Fifteenth street. Estimated cost of the first part of the Oakridge project is about $5.3 million. The city's share of the costs is estimated at about $1.1 million.

Sues A.&P. Store
In Wilmington, N.C.

Wilmington, N. C.—Attorneys of the NAACP Legal Defense Fund, Inc. today filed the first suit under Title VII, the Fair Employment section of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Defendant in the cast is the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company.

Plaintiff

The suit was filed in U. S. District Court in Wilmington on behalf of Miss Annie M. Brinkley, a Negro resident of Wilmington.

It alleges discriminatory hiring practices by A & P stores in Wilmington.

Legal Defense Fund attorneys are asking for a preliminary and permanent injunction restraining the defendant "from maintaining a policy, practice, custom and usage of withholding, denying, attempting to withhold or deny and depriving or attempting to deprive, and otherwise interfering with the rights of plaintiff and others similarly situated to equal employment opportunity at markets and/or stores owned and operated by the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, Incorporated, without discrimination on the ground of race or color."

Summer Work

This suit grew out of the work of summer field staff hired to educate and inform local Negro leadership in ten southern states, of their rights under Title VII, which went into effect July 2, 1965—one year after passage of the historic law.

The summer workers worked with NAACP branches and other civil rights and community groups. They worked in close cooperation with Herbert Hill, labor secretary of the NAACP.

Mr. Hill has appeared before the Equal Economic Opportunity Commission in Washington on numerous occasions to present about 700 complaints of employment discrimination.

Sunset On A
Dreamy Dusk

As the sky began to close its one bright eye
A vision stole up softly;
The sunset sitting on the sill of iron green window
I sat there quietly like a meditating fly,
Bothering none.
Thinker of the Universe
I said, and it flicked a rose-flecked lid at me

An owl's spirit perching there in solitude
It laddered down the window blinds, as an old man
Easing down the courthouse steps. I watched it sedate on my iron green ledge
And reflected for a moment Of its character, its traited humbleness, As I began
To give it human habits—
It was gone.

at Dubuque and Burlington and the number of switchboards in Iowa towns increased rapidly. By 1883 there were 18 Bell licensees in Iowa, the largest in Burlington which had grown to 250 telephones. Ten years later, there were an estimated 10,000 telephones in all Iowa with about 60 exchanges. Des Moines—which today has some 163,000 telephones—had fewer than 900. Cedar Rapids and Ottumwa had less than 300 each.

The riots of the 1930s in Harlem and the crusades of the first freedom riders, the savagery of the Spanish Civil War and the fate of the still unsung heroes of the guerilla fighting in World War II, the great betrayal of Stalin and the cowardice of men when heroes were called for, form the backdrop of "Favor The Runner".

D. Parke Gibson Associates, considered one of the nation's leading Negro public relations firms, counsels clients in communications, tobacco, petroleum, proprietary medicines, motion pictures, and publishes a monthly newsletter.
