High Court Will Rule on 1965 Voting Rights Act

Arguments to Begin in Jan. in Unusual Case Filed by S. Carolina

Washington, D. C.—The Supreme Court agreed Friday to rule on the constitutionality of the 1965 Voting Rights Act with arguments scheduled to begin on Jan. 17. The case is one brought directly to the court by South Carolina.

At the same time, the justices turned down the Justice Department's request to bring Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana directly before the court to test orders recently handed down by courts of those states. The state court orders, obtained by officials of the three states, have blocked the activities of federal examiners appointed under the act.

The Supreme Court action was announced after the justices had held their customary Friday conference.

The announcement did not say how many of the nine justices favored accepting the suit. But it noted that three did not—Associate Justices Hugo L. Black, John M. Harlan and Potter Stewart.

The court invited any state to file a brief as friend of the court on or before Dec. 20, and said any state that wished to participate in the oral argument would be free to do so.

The voting rights law is an attempt to break down obstacles to Negroes' voting in the deep south.

Literacy Tests

It abolishes literacy tests where less than 50 per cent of the voting age population registered in the 1964 election. And, in these areas it provides for federal registrars to take over the process of registering voters.

So far federal registrars have been set to 32 counties in four southern states—South Carolina, Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama.

South Carolina filed its unusual request for a direct Supreme Court test of the Voting Rights Act on Sept. 29.

Freedom of Residence Exec. Committee Holds Meeting

The Iowa Executive council of the National Foundation of Freedom of Residence met in Des Moines Saturday morning in the World Service room at the YMCA, 1st and Locust streets.

The meeting which focused on discussions of working tools to eliminate discrimination in all housing, was a followup on an initial meeting held in Waterloo last spring.

Guest speaker was Donald S. Frey, chairman of the United Citizens Committee for Freedom of Residence. Serving as chairman was Eddie Denton, Waterloo, chairman of the civil rights committee for the U.A.-W. Packinghouse workers local. The Waterloo and Des Moines packinghouse workers have been the chief backers of the Freedom of Residence movement in Iowa so far.

Among others attending were Eugene Weems, Annie Mae Weems, who served as acting secretary and is also one of the national trustees of FOR, Monroe Stevens, Willie O'Neil and Fred Nolting, also a FOR trustee all of Waterloo and Robert Jones and Kenneth Knutson, of UPWA in Des Moines. Knutson was appointed chairman for the Des Moines committee.

Following a speech by Frey, a ten-

Ebony Magazine Celebrates 20th Year

Chicago, Ill.—Ebony Magazine—the most successful Negro publication in history and the first to succeed after 30 similar ventures had failed—celebrates its 20th anniversary with its November issue.

Its 20-year growth, traced in the anniversary issue, has not only chronicled the progress of the American Negro since 1945, but, itself, has played a major role in that progress, ever since Ebony was launched by Chicago publisher John H. Johnson.

Circulation of the Negro monthly magazine has now reached 900,000—a new high announced for the first time in the 20th anniversary issue—and the magazine averages 169 pages per issue.

Malcolm X's Widow Has Twin Girls

New York—Twins born to the widow of slain Black Nationalist leader Malcolm X brings a total of six girls for Mrs. Betty Shabazz. Pregnant when her husband was slain last February as he addressed a meeting of his followers, Mrs. Shabazz commented: "I'm glad it is over. It has been a very long pregnancy."

One of the twins born to the attractive 30-year-old widow will be named Mallik, taking part of her husband's first name. Mrs. Shabazz said she would wait before naming the second child. They are not identical twins.

Neither Mrs. Shabazz nor her doctor realized she was going to have twins until about an hour before she entered Brookdale hospital.

Declares Urban Renewal Project Vitally Necessary For All Minority Groups

In a letter to the City Council Monday the Des Moines Commission on Human Rights and Jobs Discrimination urged that the city officials act promptly to go-ahead with the Oakridge urban renewal project.

Calling the project "vitally necessary for minority groups," the letter noted that "slums and ghettos are the natural by-products of restricted housing. Segregated housing means segregated schools, churches, shopping areas, etc."

Combination Project

Oakridge which is a predominantly Negro area, is a combination clearance-rehabilitation project for the area and has been under consideration for several years. But the council has not adopted the project yet. The area lies northwest of the central business district. Federal approval is expected this year and the council will then have 30 days to approve or reject.

"Very Critical"

The letter, signed by the commission chairman, Mrs. Jack Cleveland, said:

"A very critical area affecting good human relations in our city is housing available to minority group citizens."

Urban renewal studies show "a segregated area constitutes a drain on city finances," the letter said.

Housing Scarce

Despite the adoption last year of a fair housing ordinance, there remains a "critical shortage of good, safe and decent housing for a large segment of our minority people," it continued.

Commission members recently toured the Oakridge area. The recommendation to the council was made at the commission's Oct. 6 meeting, but was not transmitted to the council until this week.

Ask Decision

Residents of the area, in neighborhood meetings, have called upon the council to make a decision.

The portion of the project slated for earliest action lies southwest of Keosauqua way from University avenue on the north to Woodland avenue on the south. Estimated cost is $5.3 million, with the city's share to be $1.1 million.

Included in the commission's letter was a recommendation that the Animal Rescue League, now located at 919 Fourteenth st., be moved out of Oakridge.

The council unanimously voted to receive the recommendation and referred it to the city manager for study.

Members Touring

Commission members who made the tour of Oakridge were Mrs. Cleveland, Father Edward Kelly, chairman of the housing committee, Sol Davidson, Harry L. Graham, member of the housing committee, Richard Sirfus and A. P. Trotter.

Natchez Boycott Continues Despite Threats of Reprisal, NAACP Records Are Stolen

Natchez, Miss. — Undismayed by the threat of economic reprisals, Negro citizens of this old Mississippi river-front city, have agreed to continue their effective boycott of downtown merchants until their demands are met.

The increasing effectiveness of the NAACP-sponsored boycott prompted a group of white businessmen to discharge all of their Negro employees unless the boycott were called off. They also said they would call upon housewives to fire Negro domestic help.

Large Scale

Charles Evers, NAACP field director for Mississippi who has been leading the demonstrations and boycott in Natchez, pointed out that the large-scale employers of Negro men in the city were Armstrong Tire and Rubber Company and the International Paper Company. Both of these national companies have government contracts and both have collective bargaining agreements with unions, he said. He did not know whether they were among the group sponsoring the economic reprisal program.

Special NAACP Board Meeting Slated Tues.

A special executive board meeting of the Des Moines branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will be held on Tuesday, Nov. 16 at 7:30 p.m. at Willkie House, 900 17th street.

Plans must be made for the fall membership campaign to meet the branch quota by Dec. 14. Robert A. Wright is president.

Hospital

Another large employer, Evers said, is a hospital built with the aid of Federal funds, and accordingly, subject to the anti-discrimination provisions of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Aaron Henry, NAACP state president, said a week-end convention of the state organization would consider plans to back the Natchez boycott.

Thefts and harassment mark the continuing NAACP boycott here as the Ku Klux Klan seeks to retaliate for the NAACP activity which has been almost 100 per cent effective.

Two weeks ago, the NAACP branch office was ransacked and important books and records stolen, including the branch membership list.

In an area where NAACP membership is a serious offense in the eyes of the white community, the theft of the membership list assumes a disturbing importance. With the names of the NAACP branch members known, Klansmen and other racists could take action against the individual members.

It is not known whether the theft was Klan-inspired or whether it was by someone seeking to sell the information to hostile whites.

More recently, the driver of a car containing six persons who were returning from an NAACP meeting in Clarksdale was arrested by police on various charges. With the help of federally-assigned lawyers, he was released the following day on $200 cash bail.

Robert Hyde III in Merit Scholarship Semi-Final

Minneapolis, Minn. — Robert N. Hyde III, senior at Blake High school, for exceptional students in Hopkins, Minn., is one of the Twin Cities area semi-finalists for the Merit Scholarships.

More than 500 of the top ranking seniors in the upper midwest were named last week as semi-finalists in the National Merit Scholarship competition. Of the 352 Minnesota students selected, 171 came from the Twin Cities area. Although they must take a second test most of the semi-finalists will be finalists in the National competition for four-year scholarships.

Winners of the scholarships, ranging from $400 to $6,000, dependent on the student needs, will be announced next spring. Schools of the Minnesota area are from Minneapolis, St. Paul suburban and Blake's school at Hopkins.

Repeat Warning on 'No Schools' for U.S. Civil Service Tests

St. Louis, Mo.—A. H. Sonntag, Director of the St. Louis Civil Service Region reports an increase in complaints from persons being asked to sign contracts for training to pass Civil Service Tests.

Despite efforts to warn people about so-called "Civil Service Schools," people continue to sign contracts for correspondence courses costing up to $200.00 or more. Frequently the schools make exaggerated claims about getting government jobs for persons who take the course.

Sonntag pointed out that these schools are not operated by the Government. They have no endorsement from any Federal agency, including the Civil Service Commission, and their courses are not necessary for getting a Government job. Sonntag stated no school can guarantee Federal employment.

He strongly recommends that people get the facts about Federal employment from the Civil Service Commission. The nearest post office can usually tell where Civil Service information can be obtained or persons can contact the Civil Service Regional Office, 1520 Market Street, St. Louis, Mo. 63103.

HEALTH FOR ALL

THE INITIALS ARE IH

Autumn, bringing such pleasant fringe benefits as technicolor trees and long-looping kickoffs, may also bring an unpleasant guest called infectious hepatitis—an ailment caused by a diminutive monster known as the IH virus.

Infectious hepatitis is an inflammatory disease of the liver with seemingly endless resources for making its victims miserable. It can strike at any time, but is most active in the fall. It attacks all kinds of people, but shows a preference for children and young adults. It sometimes breaks out in epidemic proportions in schools or institutions for the young.

Carriers

IH virus is passed on by carriers through the contamination of food, water, or milk. When the virus starts to wreck his havoc, Junior may exhibit a loss of appetite, feel chilly, suffer from nausea, vomiting, pain in the eyes, perhaps diarrhea, a general grippie feeling. After a few days he feels better, but only for a day or two. Then it all starts over again, only much worse.

Jaundice

By this time Junior feels pretty weak and tired. In another few days, as if he needed more trouble, the deep orange yellow hue that announces jaundice may appear in his skin. Then his liver may increase noticeably in size and become very tender to the touch. Jaundice doesn't always, but does frequently, appear.

Recovery is gradual, often taking several weeks. Many victims relapse, and the encore frequently proves much worse than the original performance.

Symptoms

Needless to say, any child or adult showing symptoms of IH should be put to bed and a doctor summoned. Hospitalization in such cases is axiomatic. Preventive treatment? Gamma globulin is given for temporary protection where exposure is feared. For other preventive measures, your Christmas Seal organization advises maximum attention to cleanliness of surroundings and hygienic standards for personnel where food is being handled.

Quincy Jones Scores Movie—"Mirage"

Hollywood, Calif.—Quincy Jones, one of this country's top arrangers and composers, recently added another credit to his many plaudits when he wrote the musical score for Universal's "Mirage." Gregory Peck and Diane Baker starred.

Though only in his 30s, Quincy has already compiled an enviable list of credits including scores for "The Pawnbroker" and "Boy In A Tree." A many-faceted musician, he's also vice president of Mercury Records in New York.

In addition to the 18 albums he's done under his own name, Jones has recorded countless others with such noted musicians as Ray Charles, Andy Williams, Ella Fitzgerald and Sara Vaughn.

After finishing chores on "Mirage," Quincy will go to Paramount Pictures to score "The Slender Thread," starring Sidney Poitier and Ann Bancroft.

New Number for Phone Company "Time Machine"

The telephone number that Des Moines telephone users dial to get the correct time will change on Nov. 10, according to J. E. Trabert, phone company district manager.

The present number for "Time of Day"—844-5611—will change its first numeral and become 244-5611. This new number will be shown on the first page of Des Moines' listing section in the new telephone directory to be delivered soon.

Time Service

"Regarding the phone company's time service," Trabert said, "there is an old story about a factory foreman who called the telephone company manager."

"I'd like to know what time it is," he said, "we always blow our factory whistle by your clock."

"That's terrible," replied the dismayed manager, "we have been setting our clock by your whistle."

Today, phone company supervisors call another time machine in the Chicago telephone building and check the Des Moines machine time setting with the Chicago machine.

Calls Chicago

"Although this sounds like another 'factory whistle' story," Trabert explained, "we call the Chicago machine every few days for a very good reason. The Chicago machine has a direct connection to the National Bureau of Standards time equipment in Washington, D. C. This Washington equipment is so accurate that it neither gains or loses one second of time in 300 years. The Chicago equipment is adjusted constantly and automatically to agree with it."

Schedule Meeting On Sex Bias

The Des Moines Commission on Human Rights and Job Discrimination decided Wednesday night to sponsor a meeting here to familiarize employers with the sex discrimination provisions of federal civil rights legislation.

Commission member Sol M. Davidson said the meeting would be for "employers who want to do the right thing but don't know how to do it."

The Des Moines human rights commission has no power to investigate complaints of sex discrimination. Davidson said the meeting would be sponsored only as a service, part of the commission's educational program.

Perry Hooks, executive director of the commission, has made tentative arrangements for a federal official to come to Des Moines next month. He asked employers interested in the program to contact him so that arrangements can be made.

Cleveland Mayor Runnerup in Strongest City Political Bid

Cleveland—The Cleveland Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People this week celebrated the history-making near victory of one of its most active members in his bid to become the city's first Negro mayor.

2,000 Margin

The member, State Representative Carl B. Stokes, lost to incumbent Mayor Ralph S. Locher by the thin margin of only 2,341 votes. Running as an Independent Democrat, Rep. Stokes polled 85,230 votes to Mayor Locher's 87,561. The incumbent had the backing of the regular Democratic organization. There were two other candidates who trailed Mr. Stokes—one Republican and the other an Independent Democrat.

Strongest

Political observers said this was the strongest bid ever made by a Negro candidate for mayor of a major United States city.

A long-time active NAACP member, Rep. Stokes has served the Cleveland Branch as chairman of the membership committee, the 1964 Freedom Fund Dinner committee, and the 1960 state convention committee. Also, he was chairman of the 1963 membership campaign, a member of the legal redress committee and of the executive committee since 1957.

Sesame Puffs Go With Frozen Fruit Salad

Fragrant, warm Sesame Puffs with margarine give appeal to frozen fruit salad.

A frozen fruit salad is at its cool best when a hot bread is served with it.

Bread and margarine are an excellent foundation for summer eating. One leading nutritionist says that menus planned around bread and spread, citrus and milk are tops nutritionally. And, says he, the idea that bread and margarine are fattening is old hat. It might have been true in the days when bread was not enriched and when margarine did not contain vitamin A. But nowadays, with their fine food values, these basic foods ought to be included in every meal, even in the diets of those seeking to lose weight.

To go with a frozen fruit salad and to make the menu a complete meal, it would be hard to find a bread more delicious than Sesame Puffs. They are easy to make and they keep well for several days. Any left over can easily be reheated in the top of a double boiler, or foil-wrapped in the oven.

Sesame Puffs are made from a yeast-leavened batter. It need not be kneaded, only stirred and perhaps beaten a bit to make it extra good. Since the batter contains milk and eggs along with margarine and enriched flour, the puffs are practically a meal in themselves. To make them extra easy to mix, the recipe calls for dry milk. This means there is no bothersome scalding of milk and that extra pan to wash.

If any of the men in the family belong to the "no salad for me" brigade, these cloud-light hot little rolls may help them change their minds.

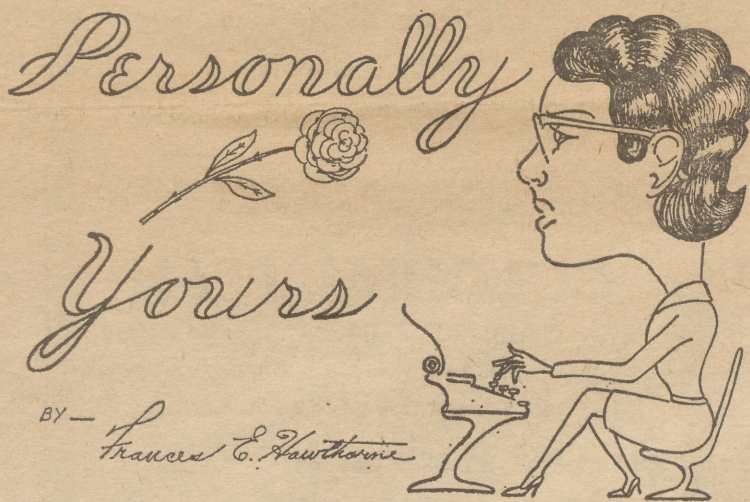

SESAME PUFFS

(about 30 2 1/2-inch puffs)

1 1/2 cup warm water
1 package yeast
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt

3/4 cups sifted flour
4 tablespoons dry milk solids
1/2 cup melted margarine
3 eggs
1/2 cup sesame seeds

Measure warm water (100°F.) into 3-quart bowl, or into large bowl of electric mixer. Sprinkle yeast over water and let stand 5 minutes. Add sugar, salt, 2 cups flour and dry milk solids. Mix smooth. Stir in melted and cooled margarine. Add eggs and beat until smooth and shiny. Add remaining flour and mix well. (Batter should look glossy.) Cover and set in warm place to rise until doubled (about 1 hour). Stir down and drop by tablespoonfuls into well-margarined muffin pans. Fill each muffin cup half full. Sprinkle a teaspoon of sesame seed over batter in each cup. Let rise until doubled (about 45 minutes). Bake in moderately hot oven (400°F.) 20 to 25 minutes, until golden brown. Remove from pans at once. Serve warm or cold with margarine.

The Harvest season is fast upon us and the Big Day of the Harvest Feast, celebrated since the days of the Pilgrim is only a matter of days hence. And when you dare to think about it, it is only a matter of weeks before 1965 will say Auld Lang Syne to all. Simultaneously with the harvest season, the hunting days are ushered in as hunters tramp the fields while giving fleeting thoughts perhaps to their favorite sports teams.

Also it is that time of year when we hear on all sides criticism of the stores, and they increase each year, who dare to bring out all their Christmas decorations, and sales goods. Many grumble that it spoils Thanksgiving, which we heartily agree, and say "What a shame to get Christmas things out so early." However, if there was enough concerted effort to ignore and not buy (be extra early shoppers, that is) we are quite sure the stores would soon stop the practice. They keep closely attuned to customer demands and desires; you can believe it.

This weekend hundreds of beauticians will flock to the city from around the midwest to attend the two-day clinic sponsored annually by the Iowa beauticians. Last week the right date but the wrong day was reported to the Bystander for the Style Show and Dance. It will be held on Monday night, Nov. 15, at the Hotel Savery. Don't forget! Your favorite beautician is looking for your support.

It was reported in last week's issue that the Lincoln Auxiliary was having a bake sale when it should have been a barbecue dinner and other good eats. The Auxiliary which boasts some very good cooks have never had a bake sale, preferring to go for the whole delicious dinner.

While sitting in the doctor's office with oldest son who suffered the broken arm, we got into conversation with another lady, about newspaper stories. She was sharply critical of news stories that are based on rumors and speculation. She especially mentioned the story about the President's daughter and her alleged fiancée and the stories about Coach Jerry Burns resigning from the Iowa Hawkeyes. In this lady's opinion reporters and newspapers who print, what isn't sure fact, ought to be sued for libel. She said, "They didn't use to print such stuff. People don't know what to believe. It's just like printing neighborhood gossip; nobody ever knows who start the stories but before long they are all over the neighborhood." What did we say? A resounding "Amen." Almost literally, too!

Service is as important as the product you buy.

Save money by making sure... before you buy... that reliable repair service is available locally.

Six rules of buying a product that will need maintenance or repair:

1. Expect good sales service. If you don't get it you're likely to have trouble when you need repairs.

2. A guarantee is only as good as the organization behind it. Read it carefully.

3. Think of the product in terms of need for maintenance and availability of parts and service.

4. A good product name is essential but not enough if facilities for service are lacking.

5. Utility companies may be able to tell you where to obtain good service.

6. A dealer with adequate service facilities may have to charge a slightly higher price for the product.

You save in the long run with those who have facilities for good service.

CLARK, ALABAMA SHERIFF, ATTEMPTS TO FOOL PUBLIC

James Clark, the Alabama sheriff who won fame by his brutality to civil rights workers last year, was in Des Moines this week to attend the Iowa Sheriff's Association meeting.

He boasted of his friends in Iowa stating that they don't agree with him about some things but with upholding the law they did agree.

Naturally, Iowans agree with him on this but they don't agree on the one-sided enforcement of the law which has one measure of justice for whites and another measure for Negroes.

James Clark is president of the National Sheriff's Association. He succeeded to the post by a series of succession which governs the organization.

It is pretty difficult to deny a fellow his turn under the rules and yet here we have an organization of men sworn to uphold the law and at the same time headed by one of the greatest violators of the oath he takes to uphold the law.

USING THE CONSTITUTION TO DENY RIGHTS

The U.S. Supreme Court has agreed to hear an appeal directly from the state courts testing the constitutionality of the 1965 voting rights bill. South Carolina made the request for hearing in order to keep federal voter registrars out of their areas. It has been joined by other states.

This case presents a serious constitutional issue in that generally speaking, rules for the qualifications of voters have been left to the states. And those states which wished to bar Negroes from voting have made laws ostensibly to create an enlightened electorate, yet they themselves have made the greatest contribution to the inability of some voters to qualify.

Then, too, these education tests have been illegally administered by clerks and judges of election as a secret weapon to keep Negroes from voting. Here is an instance where the constitution has been used for years to defeat rather than protect the rights of citizens.

Denying that its literacy test was used to discriminate against Negroes, the state said it sued "to prevent the debasement and dilution of the vote of her constitutional and literate electorate by the illegal injection of the votes of illiterates, and thus incompetents in the field of government."

Every reasonable person knows this is a lie. The sponsors of these measures and methods fear the Negro vote, fear that future elections cannot be manipulated without fear that law enforcement officials will not be accountable to the people they labor so hard to keep down. The law permits the invasion of no registrars if local officials perform their duty.

NOVEMBER 11, A DAY FOR SERIOUS THOUGHT

November 11 was established as Armistice day following World War I, the day when the central powers and the allied nations ceased fighting in 1918. On this day, like Memorial day in previous years, patriotic and civic organizations paraded, held meetings and otherwise honored those who gave their lives in defense of peace, expounding the slogan, "make the world safe for democracy."

Following World War II, instead of designating a day in memory of its dead, Armistice day was changed wisely to Veterans' day. And even though World War II was more devastating, enthusiasm for November 11 has not been great.

Today, America is in another war. It is not a popular war. And since the country is ripe with protests over other issues, groups opposed to this war are making known in no uncertain terms that they oppose it. That opposition not only tends to weaken our cause but tends to give force and comfort to the enemy.

The great masses of the people are behind the government. Many organizations and groups plan demonstrations Thursday in support of the war. The effort is worthy and should be supported, for while the noise of battle is far from our shores, America is in for a long costly war against an enemy which is smarter than most people thought and are determined to inflict all damage possible on our forces.

There wasn't much to be said about the reasons why Iowa lost again last week. There was too much football talent going against the Hawks. We don't believe there has been so many big mobile men on one college team. Especially on defense. Those giants didn't even bother to hand fight the blockers. Simply ran over them and sometimes even ran over the unlucky Iowa ball carrier.

The Iowa backs would have been justified in drawing straws to see who had to carry the ball. It was like sending the Christians out to the lions. The lions ate 'em alive, and so did Michigan State. But at that the Hawks didn't play badly. In fact, if they had played as well in at least four of the other games they lost as they played against the Spartans, Iowa's Hawkeyes would have a respectable win and lost average probably a 5-2 mark instead of 1-6.

First Scores

The Jerry Burns luck figured in the first two scores. The best kick of the year, an 80-yard punt rolled out of bounds on the Michigan State 8 or 9 yard line. Yep, a holding penalty called the thing back and the next one was nearly blocked and went almost straight up to give the green clad boys the ball inside the Iowa 30. So they scored and that was that. Then on third down with yardage the State quarterback heaved the ball from here to yonder. This big guy Washington out jumps two shorter Iowa defenders and makes a great catch to place the apple on the Iowa 19. They scored again. The rest of the scores were earned the hard way. We think a good passing team could give the Spartans trouble if the thrower could get time to throw.

Maybe we will get Ohio State next week.

Drake and Iowa State both dropped their games but will end their season on a winning second. Neither team has played a dull game and win or lose you get your money's worth when you go to see them play.

We can't recall a year when the officiating in grid games has been so heavily criticized. This runs from high school games to the pro teams. We don't know; there is a lot of action out there but it would seem that there are enough people placed around in spots to be able to see what goes on. Maybe there ought to be a general review of the rules regarding goal line stands ball possession and such, since most of the calls seem to center around these things. Then there is a very fine line on pass defense contact that seems clear enough but sometimes we wonder if the receiver wasn't hit just a split second too soon. Oh yes, it really looks like a merry session at the rules committee meeting.

And now with football just about out basketball is waiting in the wings. People expect great things of Iowa University this season. Drake could be a sleeper and maybe could Iowa State. Might be a real season at that.

New York—One of the world's foremost pocket billiards stars, Cicero Murphy of Brooklyn, is being featured with other pool sharps in the $15,000 National Invitation Professional Pocket Billiards championships, which got under way recently at the Rivera Terrace. The tournament is expected to be the first of a projected 25 to be played throughout the nation, for a minimum of $250,000 in prize money. Boring Thin Material AMERICAN BUILDER, leading magazine for builders, recently disclosed a fool-proof method of boring holes in thin material. Simply place a block of wood on each side, holding the blocks together with a "C" clamp and then boring through the blocks. This method provides a clean, smooth cut with no ravel or splinters.

IN PEACE

By Ruth Ann Staple

The lone soldier stands silhouetted against the setting sun.

All alone on the hill, as the plaintive notes of Taps re-echo throughout the dusk.

To pull on the heartstrings of the people below.

The grave is filled in now and the fire will burn forever.

In a lasting tribute to one who gave his life

That we might live in peace.

And so we go on living as we did before.

Stopping sometimes to listen for the voice that will never sound again.

For a step that is stilled forever.

Yet, even though he is dead, he lives on in the hearts of all.

He is gone, and we must live on trying to reconstruct what broke apart that Black November day.

His widow, outwardly calm and serene, inwardly cries for the man she loved and needed, but he is not more.

Someday we will understand and on that day we will weep no more, but will learn to live as he wanted. In peace.

CHOICE BITS

A great opportunity will only make you ridiculous unless you are prepared for it.

Being ahead of time may waste a minute; being behind time may waste a day.

If you always live with those who are lame, you will yourself learn to limp.

—Latin proverb.

No man's vote is lost which is cast for the right.

Nothing of worth or weight can be achieved with a half mind, with a faint heart, and with a lame endeavor.

One great cause of failure of young men in business is the lack of concentration.

—Carnegie.

Laugh Lines

The spoiled little boy had rarely left his mother's side in all his five years. When he came home to lunch after his first session in kindergarten, his mother hugged him to her bosom. "Tell me," she asked, "did you cry at school today?"

"No," the little terror leered, "but the teacher did!"
