Vote New 45 - Member Polk Anti-Poverty Group

A new 45-member anti-poverty group to be known as the Polk County Community Action Council was voted Monday evening at a meeting of the 41-member directors committee headed by Drake University Dean Alfred Schwartz. The meeting was held at Washington Irving Junior High School.

The proposed 45-member group was voted when an earlier move to establish a larger 200-member group guided by a smaller group was defeated. At the meeting marked by some show of angry words, the by-laws committee headed by Charles Ford, reported and the by-laws that will govern the new group, were adopted. It calls for at least one-third of the membership to come from the poor.

Last week at a meeting the anti-poverty group voted to put federal allocated funds into the hands of the new group and out of the Council of Social Agencies, which received the initial $60,000 grant. The Council of Social Agencies was scheduled to meet Wednesday to make a decision whether to relinquish control of the funds, and whether to continue the 10 per cent matching funds (some $6,000) that is required by federal law.

By-laws

Ford said the bylaws without Bohe's changes would make the 45-ordinator State & Federal programs, Dept. of Education; James Bethel, Community Consultant, Glenwood State Hospital School; Dr. Warren Nixon, Principal at Callanan Jr. High School; Robert Conley, Attorney; The Rev. Donald Eagle, Executive Secretary N.C.C.J.; and Mrs. Edward Zerlin, Housewife.

Police Saturday were investigating the theft of more than $114 in appliances and furniture from the home of Mrs. Della Ferries, 913 10th street.

The theft was reported by Russell McCord, 1736 22nd street, who has been watching the Ferris home for 10 weeks while she was in Mercy Hospital. He told police that when he checked the house Saturday, he found a storm window taken off a bathroom window.

McCord reported that a television set, a radio, a chrome dinette set, and a kitchen table and chairs were missing. Police said the house was a mess with other items in boxes on the floor.

NEWS In A Nutshell

New York—Actors Equity president Frederick O'Neal last week received National Urban League's Equal Opportunity Day award for 1965, along with industrialist Joseph L. Block, Inland Steel executive. Honored for "outstanding contributions to equal opportunity," O'Neal, a distinguished actor of stage, movies and television, has contributed much to advancing the position of the Negro actor.

Minneapolis, Minn.—An apparent feud between two groups of Twin City teen-agers which apparently first erupted following a public dance at the Marigold Ballroom in Minneapolis in July erupted again early Sunday morning in Minneapolis with disastrous consequences in the wounding by gunfire of six youngsters, one a 14 year old girl. The trouble began at a dance given at Johnnie Baker Post 291 of the American Legion at 2941 Fifth Ave. S. Legion officials closed the dance early when arguments and a fight developed between a Minneapolis group which allegedly calls itself "The Importers," and a St. Paul group allegedly named the "Agents."

The Post Office offers up to 26 days a year vacation, 13 days a year sick leave, an excellent retirement plan, group insurance, and other benefits. These positions are open to males and females. Believe Faulty Furnace Caused Blaze; Organ, Guitars Among Losses

While people quietly relaxed and feasted Thanksgiving Day, the empty quiet of the Church of God in Christ, 1198 14th Street was interrupted by the snap and crackle of a ferocious fire that gutted the brick and frame structure. Damage was an estimated $15,000 to $20,000 figure. Nelson Guinn, trustee and deacon of the church, said there was fire insurance coverage of $18,000.

A neighbor turned in the fire alarm at 8:38 p.m. when he saw smoke pouring out of the building. Firemen brought the blaze under control about 9:15.

Fire Chief Lee Williams and District Chief Joe Loffredo said the fire apparently started around the gas furnace in the half-basement. It spread through the ceiling and into the wall between the main building and an addition on the west.

Intense Heat

Heat was so intense that acoustic tiles on the auditorium ceiling were "curled off," and fell to the floor smoldering.

Firemen were unable to enter the building until a special alarm brought a second rescue unit with more oxygen masks for the fire fighters.

Sunday school rooms and the kitchen and furnace room in the half-basement were flooded with about two feet of water.

Pews Charred

Studding and joists across the whole west end of the building were burned as the fire went up inside the west wall.

Pews in the auditorium were charred by the falling ceiling tiles, and the entire auditorium was damaged severely by smoke and water.

The loss included a nearly new electric organ and a piano, in addition to about $600 in electric guitars and a loudspeaker system owned by Andrew Johnson, Jr., 1168 10th Street, and Fred Robinson, 1109 14th street.

Thanksgiving Services

Firemen hauled out a medieval-type pedestal tithing box from which the Bishop Everett Tindrell, minister of the church, said the money had not been removed since the Sunday services.

Thanksgiving services had been held at the church at 6 a.m. Thursday, and Bishop Tindrell had gone to the church about an hour before the fire to pick up some papers concerning funeral arrangements to be held at the church Saturday for the Rev. Hercules McGill, assistant pastor of the church.

Bishop Tindrell said that a heating repairman had worked on the furnace's blower motor shaft Thursday afternoon, but that when he (Bishop Tindrell) left the church nothing appeared amiss.

Urges Thorough Inquiry into Bombings in North Carolina

New York—NAACP Executive Director Roy Wilkins has called on North Carolina Governor Dan Moore for a thorough investigation into the bombings that rocked the homes of four Negroes in Charlotte and for "stringent precautions (by state authorities) against a recurrence."

Governor

In a telegram to the governor on Nov. 22, Wilkins expressed the Association's confidence that the governor's office "and all recent people in North Carolina are outraged over (the) cowardly bombing in Charlotte early this morning in which the homes of Kelly Alexander, state president of NAACP, and his brother Fred, newly-elected City Councilman, were two of the targets."

Also victims of the pre-dawn attacks were the homes of Julius Chambers, an NAACP attorney and recently appointed U.S. Commissioner in Charlotte, and Dr. Reginald A. Hawkins a dentist who has been active in voter registration drives in the city and in efforts to break down the color bar in the American Dental Association.

Cannot Lose

Wilkins stated that "the NAACP cannot afford to lose or to have rendered immobile a National Board member like Kelly Alexander and North Carolina cannot afford another race hate bombing, fatal or not."

While thousands of dollars of damage was inflicted on the four houses, of which the NAACP official's was the worst hit, miraculously there were no injuries to any of the inhabitants.

The four blasts occurred within 20 minutes of each other and were obviously the work of organized professionals, according to preliminary investigations by Charlotte police.

Attempt At Murder

Terming the bombings "an attempt at murder," Kelly Alexander stated "if this had been a frame home, they would have killed my children." " . . . Anytime four blasts happen like this, it's organized. I don't know who organized it, but it was an organized force whose effort it was to kill us," he said.

Gov. Moore strongly condemned

Actress Dot Dandridge Dies With $2 in Bank; Death Cause Changed

Los Angeles — Actress Dorothy Dandridge had only $2 in her bank account when she died Sept. 8, according to her manager, Earl Mills.

At a superior court probate hearing Friday, Mills said Miss Dandridge's only other assets were furniture and expected royalties from her autobiography.

Commissioner Victor Donatelli ruled that Miss Dandridge's handwritten will, requesting that she be cremated in whatever clothing she wore in death, was invalid because it was not dated.

In the will, the 41-year-old actress-singer left everything to her mother, Ruby Dandridge.

The death of Miss Dandridge was caused by an overdose of a drug used to treat psychiatric depressive cases, the county coroner's office has reported. Coroner Theodore Curphey said Wednesday the compound, Tofranil, is a new drug. He said his office would not attempt to determine if the 41-year-old actress' death was accidental or a suicide.

Curphey's office reported last Sept. 10 that Miss Dandridge died of an embolism caused by bone marrow from a broken toe entering her bloodstream. Curphey said the first report was released early because of "lack of a complete study and pressure from news media."

Cross Burns in Yard of Hero Decorated in Viet Nam War

San Antonio, Texas—A flaming cross—symbol of bigotry and intolerance—was burned in the yard of an Air Force veteran last week only a day before he was to be decorated for gallantry in service in Vietnam.

The scene of the cross burning was the suburban home of Staff Sergeant and Mrs. Lindsey Brown in the all-white Gateway Terrace. The significance of the cross-burning, if any, was not immediately ascertainable.

The Browns have lived in Gateway Terrace since last Sept. 30. All of their neighbors are white, but there have been no problems and the neighbors are friendly. The Browns have three children, aged 14, 9 and four years old.

New Residence

Sgt. Brown returned from Vietnam last month and was assigned to Kelly Air Force Base. The new residence is close to his work.

The day after the cross-burning incident, at Kelly AFB, Brown was decorated for his service in Vietnam, receiving the first oak leaf cluster to the Air Medal and a Commendation medal.

His citation stated that he exhibited courage "in the successful accomplishment of important combat support missions under extremely hazardous conditions . . ."

of 4.5 percent. In grades GS-9 through 11 ($7,220 to $11,305) Negroes gained 945 jobs, or 11.6 percent, for a total of 9,000, while the overall increase in the work force at these levels was 2.2 percent. In grades GS-5 through 8 ($5,000 to $8,610) Negroes held 29,897 jobs, a gain of 1,593 or 5.6 percent over the previous year. The overall work force in these grades increased only 0.3 percent.

Similar gains in Negro employment were made in the upper levels of wage-board (blue-collar), postal, and other pay categories.

The survey showed that total Government employment during the year increased 0.8 percent (18,420 jobs). Negro employment rose 3.2 percent (9,511 positions) to a total of 308,675.

UNCF Distributes $500,000 to Colleges

New York, N. Y.—The United Negro College Fund today distributed $500,000 to its 33 member colleges and universities, it was announced by James W. Bryant, the Fund's executive vice-president.

The money—which comes from contributed funds obtained by the organization during the first ten months of 1965—will be used by the institutions to expand educational programs, bolster scholarship aid to more than 13,000 needy students, improve faculties, and build library holdings.

Largest

The largest portion of the half-million dollar distribution, $105,850, goes to seven colleges and universities in Georgia. Six institutions in North Carolina will receive $83,209; four in Alabama, $70,018; and three in Virginia, $60,757. The remainder goes to 13 colleges and universities in Arkansas, Florida, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina, Tennessee and Texas.

Negro Jobs in Federal Upper Grades Increase

Washington, D. C.—The number of Negroes and other minority Americans holding Federal Government jobs in the middle and upper grades has increased substantially for the fourth straight year, Chairman John W. Macy, Jr., of the U. S. Civil Service Commission announced today.

A study of the Federal employment situation by CSC at the end of June 1965 shows that opportunities for minority-group employees have continued to improve at all levels.

Significant

The study showed a significant increase in Negro employment in Classification Act (white-collar) jobs during the past year. Negroes gained 3,759 jobs, a 3.7 percent increase as compared with a 1.3 percent overall increase in employment in these jobs.

Main Gains

The principal gains for Negroes were in middle and upper-level jobs. In grades GS-12 through 18 ($10,250 to $24,500) Negroes served in 2,818 positions, an increase of 481 positions or 20.6 percent, compared with the total work force gain in these grades

Church of God in Christ To Install Publishing House

Memphis—The General Assembly of the Church of God in Christ, Inc., which closed its 58th annual Holy Convocation here recently, approved the plans to purchase machinery and equipment for the denomination's publishing house.

Scene of what was described as one of the largest and most successful meetings of the Church of God in Christ was Mason's Temple, international headquarters of the denomination, which is named for the late and revered COGIC founder, Bishop Charles H. Mason. Over 10,000 delegates were on hand for the inspiring convocation.

There was some discussion on the degree of authority that should be exercised by some boards and individuals in the church.

Authority

It was agreed that the position of the Executive Board had previously been re-affirmed as the lawful authoritative governing power of the Church, subject only to the general assembly. This authority was also re-affirmed by the Elder's Council with its membership of over 5,000 pastors.

The bishops pointed out, however, that "nothing could take from Bishop O. T. Jones, Sr., his honor as Senior Bishop," Bishop Jones, of Philadelphia, is a member of the 12-man Executive Board.

HEALTH FOR ALL

OF HEALTH AND JOBS

Next time you hear someone utter that mouth-filling phrase, "technological unemployment", better not leap to any hasty conclusions. Don't, in particular, assume that every job not requiring an engineer's degree has become obsolete. You'd be surprised.

Duties

There's the TB investigator. Oh, you thought the disease itself had been abolished, let alone the job? A nice idea, but so far still a rosy dream. In the meantime, the job of TB investigator is a going thing, and it seems there is plenty to investigate.

In one midwestern state alone, ten full-time investigators are on active duty. Their business is to check up on the finding and treatment, as well as the after-treatment history, of people who are suffering from or threatened by tuberculosis. This procedure covers a lot of ground, including (a) looking up the families and all other recent contacts of persons with newly reported cases of active TB; (b) seeing that all those people are examined to find out whether they have become infected; (c) checking on sufferers from active

TB who are hospital outpatients to see that they are taking their prescribed drugs and other treatments. Outpatients who neglect to take their drugs increase their danger of relapsing into sickness and becoming "carries" again.

Control

Those are just some of the functions of the TB investigator. His work, and how well he performs it, can have a lot to do with determining whether the highly infectious disease of tuberculosis is kept properly under control in the areas where he operates.

For other timely information about the still pressing problem of tuberculosis, ask your Christmas Seal organization for a free copy of "Facts About TB and Other Respiratory Diseases", published by the National Tuberculosis Association.

PAULINE B. HUMPHREY, Manager

Hope that you and yours enjoyed a wonderful Thanksgiving holiday weekend. From reports we have had it seems that most of you enjoyed a traditional day with the holiday feast and the gathering of families and friends.

At our house we took advantage of the long holiday weekend to do a little recuperating from illness that has been hampering us over the past several weeks. We too enjoyed the holiday feast aided greatly by our children and husband. We had been invited out to several social functions around town over the weekend, but in accordance with our plans for restful recuperating, we regretfully declined.

Just prior to the holiday season Mrs. Albee Spates, Wichita Falls, Tex., mother of Mr. Rufus Spates, Des Moines musician, had sent shelled pecan halves to her son and family in Des Moines and other relatives here as well as her other children and families scattered around the United States.

Mrs. A. Spates reportedly had shelled 25 pounds of pecan meats and black walnuts (the weight is after they were shelled) and mailed various shoe boxes full.

Mrs. Rufus Spates, immediately made up a batch of fudge filled with chopped pecan meats, which her daughter, Peggy Marie, dearly loves. Earlier this week she brought us by a sample and also some pecan meats.

We would like to extend our congratulations to Mrs. Jessie Newsome, illustrious Commandress of Zeid Court No. 50, Daughter of Isis, for her signal honor she recently received. We understand that wherever she travels for Daughter of Isis, her round-trip transportation will be paid and she will be seated on the platform with other guests of honor at any court official functions in the United States.

My husband and I were recently her guests at a Shriners dancing party at the Hotel Savary. We were quite impressed with both her wonderful personality and her hostess abilities.

We regret that during the past several weeks that the news contents of the Bystander has been such that several news items have had to be held over until the following week. We thank you for your understanding and forbearance, in this connection. We also want to thank those of you who remembered the early deadline last week and reported your news on time. It helped us more than we can explain.

Earlier this week we talked to Mrs. Alta Herndon, 723 28th street, and she informed us she had resigned her position as bookkeeper for the Des Moines school board some three weeks ago, at the urging of her family doctor and husband. She had held the position 14 years and was the first of her race hired at the school board office.

Charles Lewis, freshman at Iowa State University and son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Lewis, 1710 Carpenter street, brought some glad news to his family. Recently he went to Kansas City, Mo., where he

ANTI-POVERTY PROGRAM
GENERATES LITTLE STEAM

The anti-poverty program is having rough sledding in Iowa. Unfortunately, politics has been a big factor in trying to get it started; much due to the fact that the job was gotten underway so hurriedly that few guidelines had been laid down for its operation. And thus quibbling has crept up in most communities.

Undoubtedly, the organization is too loose. It has too much money to spend but doesn't know how to spend it. This has alienated support of a lot of people.

Frankly, the undertaking is not an anti-poverty program, for the definition of a participant includes people who are gainfully employed, good citizens in the community, purchasing their homes and educating their children.

The government requires that the managing body of any project be composed of one-third of the people subject to or eligible for the program. (The new set up in Polk County has done just that.) This is not unreasonable for it gives people who heretofore have had no experience in community planning to participate in such affairs thus creating more interest with broader representation.

But in an effort to let the public make their own projects, the program is mired down by those who didn't want it in the first place and by those who want it to go on but have no way to force action.

CHARLOTTE, N.C. CITIZENS
DISPLAY GOOD SENSE

Last week, Charlotte, N.C. was the scene of the bombing of the homes of four Negroes. All were prominent citizens, active in civil rights affairs. Fortunately, no one was injured.

As usual, the criminals did their dirty work in the still of the night. They chose to jeopardize the lives of people who are trying to better themselves and their race and thus the whole community.

Charlotte has maintained relatively good race relations. And yet it must be reckoned that there are troublemakers in every community.

But out of these dastardly incidents come forth men and women who disapprove such conduct and have the courage to do something about it. Led by the mayor, the crime has been soundly denounced, rewards offered for capture and conviction of the culprits and funds raised to help pay for the damage to the homes.

Negroes planned a march to the city hall in protest but were dissuaded by the mayor. He advised against the march saying that it would serve no useful purpose. The march was called off.

Thus, both races have used good sense in their effort to clear up a bad situation and yet maintain a level headed citizenry which wishes the matter handled in an ordinary fashion. The people of the community deserve praise for their level headedness.

ADVICE THAT SHOULD HAVE COME EARLIER

This week, Des Moines has been host to a convention of women whose organizations have shown an interest in traffic safety. Apparently their main function is to help secure better driver education for the youngsters and support measures designed to make driving safer.

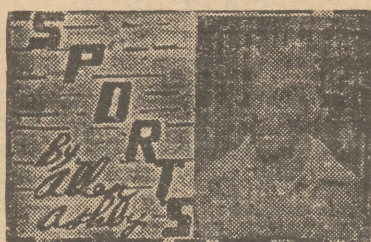

The principal speaker was the chairman of the President's committee on safe driving. He complimented the women on their program and work enumerating other projects which would include lobbying for legislation requiring periodic testing of cars.

The suggestion is a good one only somewhat belated for just a few weeks ago the Des Moines city council abolished its testing station. The Bystander said at the time that the decision was wrong and still says so.

The city just can't provide enough police officers to watch for defective cars.

Des Moines NAACP
Will Meet Dec. 21

Because of the Christmas holidays the Des Moines branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will meet on the third Tuesday, Dec. 21 at 7:30 p.m. at Willkie House, 900 17th street. All annual reports should be given by committee chairmen in writing.

The few days before Thanksgiving the big news was the firing of Coach Jerry Burns of Iowa University, the win of Michigan State over Notre Dame and the Cassius Clay-Floyd Patterson fight.

Well, Burns just had to go. We thought the board could have waited until the end of the season to make the announcement. But they probably figured the play was so obvious, there wasn't anything to be gained by delaying the story. Perhaps, another coach might juggle the players around more and come up with a better record. Once the season started Burns was committed to his players in spots and there wasn't time between games to change.

The Michigan State-Notre Dame game was just about the hardest hitting college game we ever saw in our 42 years of watching college football. It was also the first time we ever saw a team that didn't make one mistake all afternoon. That is why State won. Their defense was perfect and their offense was adequate.

Boxing

We were hoping Patterson would beat Clay but we just couldn't see how he was going to do it. Whether you like him or not that Clay fellow can fight and will be likely be champ for some time to come. The next heavyweight champion may be working in some obscure job right now. How long will Clay last? Five years? Ten? We don't think 10. Some guy will come along and give the crowd what it wants. Seeing Cassius get his lumps. But it won't happen tomorrow; nor the day after.

The college football season has about had it for all practical purposes. About all that really remains are the bowl games and the all-star teams. There were about eight Negroes on the team picked by Look magazine. And there are still more teams to come. Of course it does look odd when a lot of these all-Americans don't make the pro-teams or aren't even considered by the big fellows.

Sometimes the fellow who starred in college just doesn't have the "don't give a darn" spirit that a rookie must have if he is to make a pro team. Sometimes a slight injury suffered in college slows down the guy just enough. The pro-scouts watch their men for everything and health, meaning freedom from old injuries that could become chronic, is important. There are a lot of other reasons why the top stars don't always make the grade. We recall that Cal Jones of Iowa wasn't sought too eagerly by the National League because of a hand injury. He would have been given a chance and events later proved that he would have made it. But the boys just weren't sure.

Tennis star Arthur Ashe, recently retained as Youth Market Consultant for The Coca-Cola Company, confers with Charles W. Adams, Vice President, while visiting the Atlanta-based soft drink firm. The 22-year-old Virginian, who is the first negro ever to play on the U.S. Davis Cup Team, will advise on the merchandising of the Company's products in the youth market. Ashe is currently working for his degree in marketing at UCLA in Los Angeles.

We read an interesting article the other day about all-American teams being a joke. Most of the teams for magazines are picked before the season is half over and many a budding star is out maybe because of injuries. But they could wind up all-Americans because of a hot first half of a season.

Reminds us of the time we selected as a member of the Negro college All-American board. We got a list of schools and players and a fine letter telling us how much our selection meant to the board. Oh, yes we think there was a fine certificate stating that we were a member of that august body. Now, we hadn't seen a Negro college game for 25 years. So we declined telling the folks who picked us that we were sure they could pick someone better qualified. We sent back their stuff and never did hear from them again. So maybe, the writer of the article had a well taken point.

ASHFORD, FIRST NEGRO BIG LEAGUE
UMPIRE NAMED MGR. BY PARTY TYME

New York—Emmett Ashford, the first Negro umpire in major league baseball history, who begins his duties with the American League this season, has been named brand manager of Party Tyme Products, Inc., New York, which makes a line of non-alcoholic cocktail mixes to which the consumer adds his own liquor.

Assistant

Ashford, 47, is being brought up from the Pacific Coast League where he has been an umpire for the past 12 years and umpire-in-chief for the past three. He was also the first Negro to umpire in this league. During the past season he was assistant to the League's president Dewey Soriano.

An all-around athlete in high school in his native Los Angeles and at Chapman College there where he played second base and center field, Ashford played semi-pro ball but never made it in organized baseball as a player.

Education

Following his graduation from College in 1942 as a journalism major, Ashford went to work as a postal clerk in Los Angeles working in the payroll and finance department. He served in the Navy from 1944 to 1946. By the time he left the postal service in 1952 to become an umpire in the Arizona-Texas League, he had the responsibility of making up the payroll for 10,000 post office employees in Los Angeles.

Series of Firsts

Later that year he was named an umpire in the Southwest International League, moving the next year to the Western International. He joined the Pacific Coast League's umpiring staff in 1954.

Ashford's life has been a series of "firsts". He was the first Negro to serve as the president of Jefferson High School in Los Angeles and the first to edit a high school paper in that city. He was also the first of his race to be a cashier in a neighborhood supermarket, and when he started out as an umpire, he was the first Negro to hold that job in baseball.

MY PRAYER
TOWARD PEACE

To give the world the very best I can,
To keep my faith in God and fellow man,
To pass along the joy-light of a smile,
To count the smallest courtesies worth while;
To keep control of heart and mind, and know
That my own selfishness is my worst foe;
To grow a little kinder every day,
To do with cheer each task that comes my way;
To keep my sympathies alive and warm,
To be a rock for others in a storm;

To trust, and bid all strain and worry cease;
In this way shall I do my part toward peace.

Seven Negro Stars
Named to 22-Man
Look All American

New York—Seven Negro college football stars have been named to the 1965 Look Magazine All America team.

They are interior lineman Dick Arrington, Notre Dame; end Aaron Brown, Minnesota, and Freeman White, Nebraska; defensive halfback Johnny Roland, Missouri; backs Mike Garrett, Southern California, Floyd Little, Syracuse, and Clinton Jones, Michigan State.

The 22-man All America squad, picked by the Football Writers Association of America, is announced in the current issue of Look.

Arrington, a two-way player in a season of one-way specialists, worked at offensive guard and defensive tackle for the Fighting Irish, the magazine noted.

Injury

Brown, who also played both ways, broke his jaw on the kickoff against Washington State, finished the game with a compound fracture, sat out the next two Saturdays, and then came back on both offense and defense with the jaw wired in place, said Look.

White, who set new Nebraska pass-catching records, "is one reason why Coach Devaney's Cornhuskers stand near the top of the football rating heap," the magazine declared.

Roland, Missouri's star defensive halfback, "broke many quarterback hearts" as he made pass interceptions his particular specialty, Look

Best Back

Garrett "finds daylight almost everywhere he runs" and "if it's not there, he jimmies the opening himself," the magazine observed. His coach, John McKay, calls him "the best football player I've ever seen, and I didn't say the best back."

Little, a repeater from last year's All America team, set a Syracuse punt return record of 85 yards, then broke it the following week with a 95-yard runback, Look noted.

Jones, a fine pass receiver, averaged five yards a carry on the ground and "ran for All America honors with four touchdowns against Iowa," said the magazine.
