Samuel C. Jackson, one of five members of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, Washington, D.C., will be in Des Moines Friday to address a luncheon meeting at the Hotel Savery and that afternoon conduct a workshop to explain the federal ban against discrimination in hiring and firing.

Businessmen, union and employment representatives have been invited to learn how they can live up to the spirit as well as the letter of the law.

Reservations

Plans for the meeting were announced Friday by Perry W. Hooks, executive director of the local rights group, who said more than 600 invitations have been sent out.

Hooks said reservations should be made by calling the Human Rights Commission office in the Municipal Armory. The cost, including the luncheon, is $2.80 a person.

Title VII

Hooks said the meeting will provide "an opportunity for the business and labor community to better familiarize itself with the operation of Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964."

Title VII, which took effect last July, prohibits an employer from discrimination on the basis of race, religion or sex in his hiring, firing and promoting.

The section applies to employers of 100 or more persons and to unions with 100 or more members. Later this year, the figure drops to 75, then to 50 and 25 in succeeding years.

Presiding

Presiding at the luncheon will be Commissioner Sol Davidson. Rev. Norman R. Olphin of Corinthian Baptist church will give the invocation.

Negro Applications Rejected for Iowa Highway Patrol Will Be Reviewed by Commissioner

State Safety Commissioner Gene Needles promised he will personally review the case of Negro applicants who are rejected for the Iowa Highway patrol. He made the statement during a meeting with Robert Wright, president of the Des Moines branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (N.A.A.C.P.); Perry Hooks, executive secretary of the Des Moines Human Rights Commission, and Russell Pounds, a state manpower specialist.

Needles also said that patrol representatives are willing to speak before Negro groups to explain job opportunities. He stated he believes Negroes in the past have been given equal opportunity for jobs with the patrol and he wants to insure that this continues.

The patrol currently is seeking about 70 trainees for a recruit school in April.

None on Patrol

The patrol has not had a Negro member since it was founded in 1935. Patrol officials said that the few Negroes who have applied in the past have not met qualifications.

Wright said he asked for the meeting with Needles to discuss opportunities for Negroes in the patrol and to review patrol recruitment procedures.

He said that an effort will be made to encourage Negro applicants.

Jackie Robinson Named As Governor Rockefeller Aide

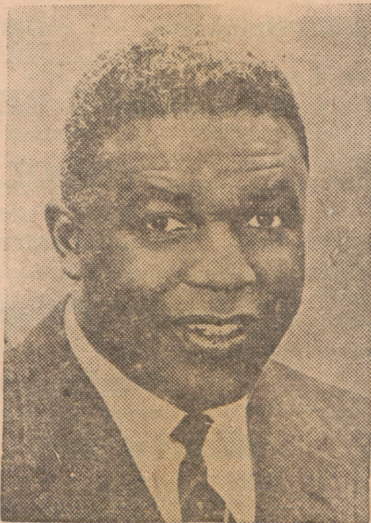

New York, N.Y.—Jackie Robinson, former Brooklyn Dodger baseball star and member of the Hall of Fame, was appointed Monday to Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's staff.

Rockefeller said Robinson would be special assistant on community affairs, and will be on the governor's personal payroll.

"Specifically, my work will deal with urban affairs," Robinson said, "with no emphasis on civil rights or on any one particular aspect."

"We will look at the different proposals that the state will subsidize and we will try to give advice to the governor."

Robinson, first Negro to play in the major leagues, has been allied closely with Rockefeller for several years. He headed a committee that worked for Rockefeller's election in 1962 and supported his unsuccessful bid for the Republican presidential nomination in 1964.

ROBINSON

Robinson, who is president of a bank in Harlem, also is expected to play a campaign role in Rockefeller's bid for a third term as governor later this year.

Former East Honor Grad Leaves U.S. Justice Dept. Position to Return Home

BY FRANCES E. HAWTHORNE

Jim Thomas, a young man who graduated No. 1 in his class at East high school less than 10 years ago, last week was named executive director of the Iowa Commission on Human Rights.

The Yale law school graduate began his job as director on Jan. 31. His new position was announced at a press conference held last Thursday where he fielded newsmen and TV reporters questions with the aplomb of a veteran.

In returning to Iowa and his hometown, Mr. Thomas, 26, left what might be regarded as a glamorous position as attorney in the Civil Rights Division of the U. S. Justice Department which he had held since college graduation and acceptance into the Iowa Bar Association.

Thomas said, he "feels strongly" about his new job and thinks that his being a native Iowan will help him immensely.

Reasons

Answering why he returned to Iowa after the nation's capitol, Mr. Thomas said, "I am a member of the Iowa Bar Association; Des Moines is my home and one of the problems we have in Iowa is young people developing their abilities here and then leaving their home community."

"Washington is an amazing pool of young talent," he continued. "Which is also a tragedy in terms of the community they have left."

Mr. Thomas, who will have a salary of $8,400, emphasized, "As you know I am still single, so it was not the salary that brought me back to Iowa."

Immediate Concern

He explained that the immediate concern of the Commission will be to "ascertain who and where are the groups who have problems and then help them solve them before they become problems."

"We hope for a positive program with the commission; there have been some 80 matters come before the commission. We don't have many now but we anticipate more," he explained.

Focus

He emphasized that the focus of the commission's work will be looking to possible suggestions for housing legislation, employment and public accommodations discrimination, job training and education through public information.

Mixed Emotions

Mr. Thomas who said he left Washington, "with mixed emotions," hated to leave but is looking forward to the opportunity with the commission, "did quite a bit of traveling as an attorney with the Justice department."

Justice Department

His region was mainly Alabama, but he did some traveling in South Carolina, Mississippi, and Louisiana, all in connection with civil rights cases he was handling or investigating.

"I was not working on the case but I happened to be in Alabama at the time that the grand jury brought in its verdict against the three klansmen," he said.

Veteran in Experience

Though young in years chronologically, Mr. Thomas is "old" in experience in human relations which used for scholarships, reading centers, books and library equipment, faculty salaries, and new program.

THOMAS

in his case has international scope. His meteoric career in the field began before he graduated from high school when he represented the Des Moines YMCA at the 1955 Centennial Celebration of the Founding of the World's Alliance of YMCAs in Paris, France, traveling in eight European countries.

Education

He received his B.A. degree in June 1961 from Wesleyan university, Middletown, Conn., graduating with honors. During the summer of 1961 he traveled to Africa as a member of Operation Crossroads, Africa, working and studying with American and African young people in Sierra Leone, Senegal, Guinea and Liberia.

In 1964 he received his LL.B. degree from Yale Law School in New Haven, Conn. While studying for his law degree he worked as a legal research assistant for two summers with the Civil Rights division of the Department of Justice in Washington, D. C.

Last August he received a diploma from the U. S. Army Security Agency Training school at Fort Devens, Mass.

Commissioners

Present at the press conference were all seven commissioners, Rev. Philip A. Hamilton, Dubuque, Chairman; Mrs. Elizabeth S. Kruidenier, vice-chairman, Des Moines; Donald E. Boles, Ames, Ia.; Mrs. Merle E. Full, Iowa City, Ia.; Mrs. June Parker Goldman, Forest City; Dr. Harry D. Harper, Fort Madison and Lawrence S. Slotsky, Sioux City.

Fortunate

Rev. Hamilton said that his group has been searching for a director more than six months and "we feel fortunate to have obtained a man of Mr. Thomas' caliber."

The Commissioners also announced that they plan to bring Negro high school students from city slums to live for a year with Iowa families in smaller towns.

Referring to the plan as a "sort of Peace Corps in reverse," said the program has "real possibilities" and could benefit the Iowa communities as well as the "young Negro visitors."

Wilson, Bound Over in Gun Death, Released on His Bond

Following a hearing Monday Douglas McArthur Wilson, 21, of 1549 18th street, was bound over to the Polk County Grand jury on a charge of murder. After taking testimony from character witnesses for Wilson, Judge Luther T. Glanton, Jr., ordered that the youth be released on his own bond pending action by the Grand Jury.

Judge Glanton told Wilson he is the first person he has ever released on his own recognizance on a murder charge. Witnesses for Wilson said he had a good record in the community and had never been in trouble before.

Accused

He is accused in the shooting of Harold Holt, 25, of 1040 16th street, in a gun fight in front of 1138 10th street early New Year's Day. Wilson was shot in the knee and the leg in the dispute.

Holt, who suffered wounds in the liver, diaphragm and lung, died Jan. 17.

Dr. Leo Luka, Polk County medical examiner, testified that Holt died of complications from a "perforatory wound" in a lung.

Assault Charge

Another man, Herman Mure, 21, of 815 Crocker st., was charged with assault with intent to murder in connection with the same incident, but Judge Glanton dismissed that charge after a hearing Jan. 21.

Judge Glanton recommended that the county attorney wait for disposition of the murder case against Wilson and then present facts in the Mure case to the Polk County Grand Jury.

HEALTH FOR ALL

DOLEFUL DUO: POVERTY AND DISEASE

Regardless of individual tastes or preferences, there's one thing about the current antipoverty program on which just about everybody would have to agree. As the result of activities in various parts of the country, a lot of people are going to be richer in health than they were before.

And that seems quite natural when you remember the age-old affinity between poverty and sickness. Moving against the former evil, you automatically strike a blow at the latter.

Another Reason

There's another reason why anti-poverty measures are bound to yield public health dividends. That reason has to do with the nature of voluntary health organizations in our country.

The antituberculosis movement, for example, has volunteer groups in some 1900 communities with organizational machinery and knowhow ready to carry out programs for the public benefit. And so, when a flourishing southwestern city was found in need of sium rehabilitation, the state TB association tackled a part of the job related to community health, with the aid of a corps of youths hired through the VISTA program.

High Rate

In a midwest metropolis with neighborhoods showing a high rate of tuberculosis, the TB association was provided with extra personnel by antipoverty authorities to help educate the public in the importance of chest X-rays as a weapon against tuberculosis. And in many sections of the country young children by the thousands have been given tuberculin skin tests with the aid of the local TB association as part of the Head Start program—another antipoverty project.

Such activities bring double-features: jobs for the jobless and health benefits for those that need them. With the help of the Christmas Seal associations and other community service groups around the country, the war on poverty has opened up some new fronts in the war against disease.

Dr. King Given Chicago Guard; Threat Reported

Chicago, Ill.—The report of a death threat against Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., resulted Thursday night in a heavy police guard when he visited a south side church for a community improvement conference.

Policemen accompanied the civil rights leader to and from the Kenwood Ellis Community Church and barred visitors from entering while he was in the building. Detectives stood indoors during the meeting of about 100 neighborhood residents.

L.A. Rams Sign H. Dyer for $200,000

BY COLLIE J. NICHOLSON

Los Angeles, Calif. (Special)—The Los Angeles Rams shocked traditionalists and caused a stir in professional football circles Thursday when they announced the signing of full-back Henry Dyer of Grambling College for a reported $200,000.

Ram officials sternly shrugged off disclosing terms of the three-year pact, but it is believed to be the best ever executed for a small-college player.

One West Coast source estimated the figure at $225,000.

"As far as I know, the expenditure for Dyer is approximately $50,000 more than the pros have shelled out previously for a small-college palyer," a National Football League official said.

A. Lincoln

• The Emancipator • Sixteenth President of the U.S.

During Lincoln's early manhood, he made a trip down the Mississippi river on a flat bottom boat where he gained his first contact with slavery. So incensed over what he saw that in one of his memorable statements he said "If I ever get a chance to hit that thing, I will hit it hard."

The upsurge for civil rights and equality of opportunity in every corner of the nation is a fulfillment of the admonition Lincoln gave at Gettysburg that the living should finish the work started by the dead.

Rugs and carpets probably take more of a beating than any of your other home furnishings. However, there are several things you can do to make your carpets stay beautiful and last years longer—and save yourself the money it would cost to replace them.

Use an inexpensive carpet sweeper every day to pick up lint, crumbs and dirt from the surface of your carpet. A few minutes a day will keep dirt from being ground deeply into the carpet. Use a vacuum cleaner once a week.

A good vacuum cleaner removes deep-down dirt, as well as surface material. When the carpet begins to look dull, use a rug shampoo to get rid of dirt that your vacuum cleaner can't get to. Modern rug shampoos require little work and are well worth the effort to keep your rugs and carpets beautiful. Once a year is the minimum for shampooing every carpet in the house.

ADC Mother of 3 Seeks College Degree

MRS. MYRTLE MYERS GATHERS HER CHILDREN AROUND HER; FROM LEFT, DWAYNE, 5, GEORGE, 2, AND DARRYL, 3.

A mother of three children on the public assistance for needy pay-roll who wants a college education received unexpected aid last week when a $78 check was given to Drake university as a scholarship grant for her.

The mother, Mrs. Myrtle Myers, 25, of 732 28th street, started taking one night course in social work this semester which began Monday.

Knows Problems

"With a little schooling," Mrs.

Myers says, "I think I can help people more than someone who might have more training. I've lived with the problems."

Mrs. Myers said she has asked about social work positions in settlement houses before, "but they always say you need some college."

Mrs. Myers said she investigated the available scholarships at Drake, and found that almost all were for students just coming out of high school with A or near A averages.

Money From Simpson

Finally, Donald R. McKenzie, director of the Polk County Community Action Council, introduced her to Dorothy Barker, who was in Des Moines last week to recruit for VISTA (Volunteers in Service to America).

Mrs. Barker called Dr. Lee Kleiss, an assistant professor of chemistry at Simpson College, who agreed to advance the $78. Dr. Kleiss said two Simpson students have volunteered to try to collect enough money on the campus to reimburse her. They will either solicit $1 apiece from 78 fellow students or hold a cookie sale.

Afraid

Mrs. Myers said she was afraid to ask A. D. C. officials for the tuition. "When I separated from my husband in July," she says, "I was in beauty school. I wanted to continue. But A. D. C. said 'if you can get money for school, you don't need A. D. C.'"

Arthur Downing, director of the state's Department of Social Welfare, confirms Mrs. Myers' idea of A. D. C. policy on that point.

Direct to Drake

Says Downing: "It's ridiculous for us to say we'll provide for your needs so that you can go on to college. We assume a person with a high school education has some potential for employment."

To make certain Mrs. Myers' payments are not reduced from her present $136 a month, Dr. Kleiss sent the money directly to Drake. Drake will give Mrs. Myers a scholarship grant. — Photo courtesy of Des Moines Register.

Onanas Club Met With Mrs. Camille Bradley

The Onanas met Sunday, Feb. 6, at the home of Mrs. Camille Bradley. The 1966 Social Calendar was presented by the social committee. The members will entertain their husbands and guests at a Valentine Party.

Next meeting will be Sunday, Feb. 20 at 7:00 at the home of Mrs. Annette Ashmore. The president urges the attendance of all members.

As you already know, that sage prophet of winter's breakup, Old Man Groundhog, peeped up out of his hibernating den, saw his shadow and scurried hurriedly back to his warm nook. That ageless action is supposed to predict six more weeks of winter weather. As most Iowans know, March is not only unpredictable but unusually capricious in this state, so regardless of what the Groundhog does, we still brace ourselves for almost eight more weeks of winter.

The day after the Ground Hog saw his likeness in the snow, we attended the press conference at the statehouse for James Thomas, attorney and former civil rights legal aide with the U.S. Justice Department, when it was formally announced that he has been named director of the Iowa Commission on Human Rights. All of the seven commissioners were there including Dr. Harry D. Harper of Fort Madison, whom we met for the first time. Mr. Thomas looks and is young enough to be the son of any of the commissioners, and this is no reflection on either.

But Mr. Thomas handles himself like a veteran, fielding the questions from newsmen and TV reporters with ease. But when you remember all the background in human relations that he has had in the last 10 years, much of its international, you can understand why he has such natural and unassuming confidence. For our story on the press conference and our interview with Mr. Thomas, turn to page one.

There was only one criticism we had and that was the outside noise which was unavoidable. The Iowa Commission on Human Rights office is located on the lower floor of the Capitol and to get to it, you must climb the outside steps, go down the same number of steps after you get inside and go through the cafeteria area if you approach from the east as we did; chances are a western approach is more feasible; we did not inquire.

There is no central circulation (ventilation) down there yet and the offices were very warm so consequently the doors were left open to try and get circulation of air as well as a bit of cooler air. Along with it came the noise of cafeteria activity which at times drowned out Mr. Thomas' voice which is firm but soft.

We recall shortly after coming on the Bystander and looking through the files came upon a story and picture of Thomas when he graduated No. 1 in his senior class at East High.

There are weeks when news pours in from all directions and this was one of those weeks. We were really snowed under but we didn't mind too much as long as our typing and writing fingers held out.

There is still some misunderstanding ing about paying for news. Some will still call or write in news and then say how much will that cost or send the bill to me. There is no charge or ever has been for news. There are charges for ads, classifieds, Cards of thanks, and pictures. So keep your news coming, won't you?

Homemade Peach Conserve is Ideal Gift

Each time you make a batch of this rich-flavored, quick-cooking peach and pineapple conserve, pack part of it in some interesting way for gift use.

For a bridal shower, for example, fill a measuring cup with the conserve and tie the recipe onto the handle. Or fill a couple of tall drinking glasses and give them, complete, with straw jackets or coasters.

For a hostess gift any time, or for Christmas giving (yes, Christmas is coming sooner than you think) pack a cute breakfast jam jar with the delectable spread.

Peach Conserve Tropical
Dice coarsely enough ripe peaches to make 6 cups (It will take about 4 lbs., or 8 to 10 medium-size peaches.) Mix with ¾ cup canned crushed pineapple (not drained) in large Kettle and cook 3 or 4 minutes, to soften the peaches slightly. Then add 4 cups C and H Pure Cane Granulated Sugar and 1 tablespoon lemon juice. And also, if you like, 1 or 2 tablespoons finely chopped candied ginger. Boil hard, stirring about 20 minutes, or until as thick as you like it. (Test by cooling a spoonful quickly on a cold saucer.) Let conserve cool in kettle, or pour into a shallow bowl. Stir occasionally while cooling, so fruit will absorb syrup, and won't float. Pack cold in small jars or glasses. Cover with thin coat of melted paraffin. Put on lids; label and date jars. Store in cool, dry, dark place. Makes 5 or 6 glasses.

WHY CAJOLE ANY CIVIL RIGHTS VIOLATORS

The Bystander is a consistent supporter of the NAACP and its aims. This does not mean, however, that it agrees with all the proposals and pronouncements of the organization.

Last week, Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the NAACP sent telegrams to Senators Dirksen and Mansfield urging the repeal of section 14B of the Taft-Hartley law which permits any state to maintain right to work laws.

Labor has long demanded the repeal of section 14B and has supported the Democrat party partly in return for which the section should be repealed. The late President Kennedy and President Johnson made such deals.

Frankly speaking, and we know what goes on in Iowa, it would make little difference either way as far as securing jobs through the union is concerned. As a matter of fact, the same is true in states which don't have the right to work law.

Recently W. C. Buice retired after fifty years of railway service ending with the Rock Island as a steam fitter. Willie Duncan, retired several months ago from the job as hostler with the Great Western Railway. Both are skilled jobs which paid good salaries. Of course, unions and management saw that their successors were not Negroes.

The civil rights act of 1964 provides for action against labor unions which practice racial discrimination. Hundreds of suits are pending against local unions throughout the country seeking compliance for in spite of the great lip-service support for civil rights by Meaney and Reuther given Roy Wilkins and others, their efforts have meant practically nothing down in the union halls. And it appears that it will take court action against the unions to get consideration for the average worker just as it took court action to pretty well change from segregated to desegregated schools.

These labor leaders have too long cajoled some Negroes into believing the unions supported their cause, but the Bystander suggests that anyone looking at the new federal building or the Central National Bank building or any of the big construction jobs and may be he will find a laborer who has worked out of the labor halls as hard carriers for twenty five years, and got no further: or practically in any other project where machinists are employed.

There are some few unions where Negroes do well with skilled trades where the CIO wing is the bargaining agent—rubber and packing house workers. Printing and linotype unions do a token job. But to the great masses of Negroes seeking union membership—NO.

It becomes pretty tiresome to read the labor papers and hear Meaney and Reuther pledge full support of Negro workers only to find unions tightening the ropes at every opportunity and garnering our support with their sweet talk.

LINCOLN DID WELL

CONSIDERING THE TIMES

Saturday, we celebrate the 167th anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln. He lived in times of great upheaval. We are doing likewise today.

Some months ago, an article appeared in one of our great magazines where the author attempted to prove which had done most for the Negro, Abraham Lincoln or John F. Kennedy. He concluded that the honors went to the latter.

Of course, comparison was ridiculous for each lived in entirely different periods of our history. Lincoln lived in an area where few people dared speak out for the rights of the Negro; when dated abolitionists, many of whom mobs, north and south, intimidated for their lives. Lincoln's vow when he was a young man to fight slavery and his campaign speeches for the senate and house from Illinois shored up his mind well as a believer in human rights.

Of course, Kennedy did a lot in his short life after becoming President but his record on civil rights before 1960 was simply that of a voter in Congress for human rights.

Nobody knows exactly how each would have stood had their life span been reversed. Suffice it to say that one must admire a fellow who is willing to step out in front of a righteous cause even when it is not popular to do so.

Lincoln did just that and his memory is revered after all these years.

The fellows who profess to know say league championships are won by winning road games. They argue that a good club will always win a lot of games at home and the difference is in what that club does on the road. If that is so, then Iowa Hawkeyes can kiss the Big Ten basketball title goodbye for this year. The Hawks have yet to win a conference road game and with the real tough ones coming up we think they will likely wind up with about an even 500 in the conference chase.

Drake

They could get hot and make us wrong and that wouldn't make us angry. By the same yardstick Drake just could pull the Missouri Valley crown out. The Bulldogs have lost more games than a titlewinner should but with the closeness of the race four losses could stand up.

But don't bet on it. It seems that the loss of the big man for the Bulldogs made them a better team because each man seems determined to pick up some of the slack.

Iowa State

Iowa State seems headed for a really good year and could finish high in the Big Eight. What with all the talk about Negro basketballers being physical oddities how come Duke university doesn't have a single Negro and yet rates as either the first or second best team in the country? Must have a bunch of deformed white boys.

Boxing

Golden Glovers time is getting near. We see the promoters are desperately trying to get enough boys in a preliminary meet here. We have to think about the days when Golden Gloves bouts were held in Cedar Rapids, Burlington, Sioux City and sometimes Clinton or Dubuque, as well as Des Moines. And they all sent teams to Chicago. Now this will be a state-wide affair and there still won't be too many entrants. We must have to recall the many cities. Mostly newspapers that sponsored teams and hoped for the best. We wonder if Louisville went for the Golden Gloves bouts as Chicagoans do?

Now comes the big one. Cassius Clay has agreed to fight the N.B.A. champion, Ernie Terrell in order to get a real champion. We can't see Terrell winning. But then the British couldn't see Valley Forge coming either. We would guess the challenger will likely have a fair chance and come through. But we can't go for Terrell.

Wisconsin Seeks Negro Coach

Madison, Wis.—The University of Wisconsin said Tuesday it has offered an assistant football coaching job to a Negro Texas high school coach.

Athletic Director Ivan B. Williamson said the offer was made to Les Ritcherson, 39, who has been the head football coach at Moore High School in Waco for 16 years.

Ritcherson's teams have compiled a record of 125 victories against 35 losses and, three ties.

Williamson said he expected Ritcherson's decision next week.

Tennis Ace, Ashe, Comes Home A Hero

Richmond, Va. — Arthur Ashe, American tennis ace flew home to his snow-covered native city to a warm welcome. The 22-year-old tennis star who has been winning every tournament in Australia, but one, joined eight other top amateur players in the Fidelity Bankers Invitational Indoor tournament last weekend. Ashe was seeded No. 1.

Red Carpet

Richmond rolled out the red carpet. Friday was Arthur Ashe day and the city honored him with a special testimonial dinner that night.

In Australia, Ashe won four major titles and beat and Aussies' Roy Emerson, the world's No. 1 amateur, for the second and third straight time before losing to him Monday in the Australian National championship final.

Thrilled Fans

He has thrilled tennis fans in this southern city, prompting the usually unemotional city council to adopt a glowing resolution praising Ashe's talents and good sportsmanship, and welcoming him home.

Newspaper editorials added praise—and regret that segregation here during his youth kept him from playing on public courts. Commenting on the council resolution, the Richmond News Leader said:

Resolution

"The resolution probably would have meant more to the Davis Cup star if it had contained at least an implied regret that while he was growing up, the inherited mores of most of us prohibited him from playing at Byrd Park."

Out of This Life

Out of this life I shall never take Things of silver and gold I make. All that I cherish and hoard away, After I leave, on earth must stay. Though I call it mine and I boast its worth,

I must give it up when I quit the earth.

All that I gather and all that I keep I must leave behind when I fall asleep.

And I wonder often, just what I shall own, In that other life when I pass alone, What shall He find and what shall He see,

In the soul that answers the call for me?

Shall the great Judge learn when my task is through

That my soul had gathered some riches too?

Or shall at the last, it be mine to find.

That all I had worked for, I had left behind,
