Sen. Miller Talks with Cpl. Paul Wilson in Viet Tour

Iowa's Republican Senator Jack Miller recently visited nearly 350 Iowans on a Far East trip that took him to the front lines, to hospitals and military bases.

Among the soldiers in the Fourth Marine Regiment who visited with Miller was Cpl. Paul Wilson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wilson, of 1164 14th street.

Of his meeting with Cpl. Wilson Senator Miller said:

"Cpl. Wilson was in the group of Iowa Marines I saw at Chu-Lai. He told me that he had worked at the state capital with our mutual friend from Des Moines, Gil Randle, during the days that I served in the state legislature. He was sporting a crop of whiskers because of a skin irritation which bothers a number of our men in that particular climate, but outside of this he seemed hail and hardy.

"The weather was quite warm and I told him that it was around zero in his home town of Des Moines. Notwithstanding the difference in temperature I am quite sure he would rather have been home.

"I told him that we appreciated what he was doing and that if there was ever anything that he thought a United States Senator could be helpful with I wanted him to write to me."

Senator Miller also visited Marine Cpl. Richard A. Grant of Britt, one of the Viet Nam wounded in the base hospital at Nha Trang with a severe head wound. Grant is now home on a 30-day leave.

Des Moines NAACP Backs Rights Commission Anti-Poverty Setup

At its meeting Tuesday evening the Des Moines branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People voted to back the Des Moines Commission on Human Rights for minority-group representation on the Polk County anti-poverty organization.

9-6 Vote

The voting for the Rights Commission went out over the proposal for the Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance by 9 to 6. Two other seats for minority representation on the anti-poverty council were voted without disagreement for the NAACP and the League of United Latin American Citizens.

Representative

The branch's action was in the form of instructions to John Estes, Jr., NAACP representative on the Polk County Community Action Council, the 45-member group in charge of anti-poverty programs in the Des Moines area.

Membership Good

Under present by-laws of the council, the Human Rights Commission has power to select three minority-group representatives on the council. The commission would rather not be in the position of having to select the three. A change in the selection system is under study.

In addition the Des Moines branch also adopted a 1966 membership goal of 1,000 members and a goal of $1,000 for local contributions to the NAACP's Fighting Fund for Freedom.

Randle is a Republican. The Iowa State Executive Council, which hires

Randle, 58, started as a mail clerk in the Statehouse in 1945. He was the Republican nominee for Polk County clerk of the district court in an unsuccessful race in the 1964 election.

Antioch Baptist church. Farmer will officially sever his relationship with the civil rights organization on Mar. 1 to become director of the Center for Community Action Education.

Denver, Colo.—Denver's "war on poverty" officials, who have had their troubles with Washington, were faced with trouble from a new source last week. Denver Negroes don't think they have played a large enough part in the anti-poverty. About 80 persons jammed a meeting to protest the demolition of Dick Clark, a Negro, from the post as assistant director of Denver's War on Poverty, accusing the Denver poverty group head of bias.

Kansas City — City Councilman Bruce R. Watkins has filed his candidacy for the county-wide post of circuit clerk of Jackson County.

St. Louis—Top officials of Steamfitters Local 562 announced last week that 10 Negroes were hired at journeyman's wages to participate in an on-the-job training program. William L. Clay, Democratic Committeeman of the 26th ward, has been employed as consultant-coordinator for the Pipefitters union.

Official headquarters for the festivities during pageant week of June 6-10 will be the Statler Hilton Hotel in Dallas.

In Tennessee Assault Case; Three Given Life and Two Other Youths Acquitted

Memphis, Tenn.—Five Negro men were sentenced to die in the electric chair last Thursday in connection with the rape of two teenage white girls. Three received 99-year prison sentences and two others who stood trial with them were acquitted.

Recommended

The eight were convicted by a jury of 10 white and two Negro men. They recommended the punishment after some 20 hours of deliberation and four weeks of trial. Criminal Court Judge Preston Battle sentenced the defendants after the verdict was announced.

The death penalty was given Charles Hunter, 26, Franklin Wright, 18, U. L. Harris, 21, Earl Foster, 18, and Garfield Houston, 27.

Elester Benton, 20, Edward Williams, Jr., 20, and Andrew Lee Pearson, 17, were sentenced to 99 years.

Acquitted

Acquitted were Johnny Green, 17, and Amos Lee Marshall, 24.

Assistant District Attorney General Jewett Miller did not demand the death penalty for all 10 defendants but told the jury it would be a "grave miscarriage" of justice if Wright and Hunter were not sentenced to die in the electric chair. He fingered them as the ringleaders of the crime.

Raped Repeatedly

The girls, then 14 and 16, testified they were raped repeatedly on the night of Nov. 14, 1964, after they had parked on a lonely Shelby County road with their dates. They said a carload of Negroes broke the windows out of their parked car and held their escorts at bay with a knife and bayonet while the girls were attacked.

All of the defendants were named in twin indictments. Thursday's verdict involved only the rape of the younger girl. The second indictment is still pending and possibly could result in another trial.

Medicare Alert Workers Begin in Walnut Hill Area; Sponsor Garbage Can Sale

A block captain and five aides in the Medicare Alert program are working in the Walnut Hill Improvement area to explain the medicare program to residents in a 20-block area, President Paul Wilson reported at a meeting of the anti-poverty group last week.

Area Covered

Medicare Alert workers covered approximately a fourth of the area included in the Walnut Hill section, working from the east side of 12th street to 6th avenue, from University avenue to the Des Moines Freeway and also contacting several persons south of the Freeway, he said. Workers will continue contacting residents to explain provisions of the Medicare bill, Wilson said.

About 30 persons attended the group's meeting at the Philadelphia Seventh Day Adventist church, 1150 13th street last Thursday. The next meeting is to be held there at 7:30 p.m. Mar. 17.

Barbage Cans

Members of the Walnut Hill group are taking orders for garbage cans which are to be sold in the area at a reduced rate in an effort to encourage residents to keep their yards neat.

The group reported block captains have circulated questionnaires which ask what services are needed in the neighborhood, how many persons live in each home and their ages.

3 A.M. Fire Routs Family, Causes $6,000 in Damages

A 3 a.m. fire which caused $6,000 damage to their home and furnishings, routed the William Clark family from their home at 1259 10th street last Thursday, Feb. 17.

The fire was discovered in the basement area around the furnace by Clark's son, Conrad, who said the smell of smoke woke him up. He said he then awakened his wife and tried to call a telephone company operator to get the number of the Fire Department but got only a busy signal. He said he then ran to a neighbor's house and again tried to call the operator, but still got only a busy signal.

Meanwhile, his wife ran about two blocks to Fire Station No. 15 at 917 University avenue to turn in the alarm.

"If she'd have had to run another two blocks the whole house would have burned," said Clark.

Damage

He said the door of the furnace had "blown off" once Wednesday night, but he was unable to get a repair service to check it at the time.

He added a fourth furnace repair service was to have come out Thursday morning. Clark said the furnace recently had been inspected.

Spread

The fire apparently spread up

Orders Prison Desegregation

Jacksonville, Fla.—The City of Jacksonville has been ordered to quit using distinctions of race or color in handling or confining prisoners.

U. S. District Judge William A. McRae, Jr., issued the injunction Wednesday, Feb. 16. It was sought by Earl M. Johnson, an attorney for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, on behalf of Frank Jackson, a Negro inmate of the city prison farm last year.

The judgment gives the city six months to complete desegregation of the facilities.

Negro Woman Named to Miami Governing Body

Miami, Fla.—A widowed mother of four who narrowly was defeated for a four-year term to the Miami City Commission, on Friday was named to fill the unexpired term of a commissioner who resigned. She is Mrs. Athalie Range, civil rights worker, who becomes the first Negro to serve on Miami's governing body.

Statement

"I desire to serve the entire citizenry. I am incidentally a Negro, but proud to be so. Certainly we can serve as representatives of all the people. I don't feel that as a Negro I have been named to serve any given segment of the public."

Mrs. Range, said she has never walked a picket line, but did take part in a sympathy march here several years ago after four Alabama girls were killed.

First in South

Mrs. Range said Miami was one of the first cities south of the Mason-

Dixon line to integrate buses, hotels and restaurants and that it has never been torn by a major racial disturbance.

"Every day some improvement has come," she said. "It is a continued upward drive. Good relations between the races have possibly not moved as rapidly as some feel they should, but even before the 1954 Supreme Court mandate, the situation was improving rapidly."

Crank Letters

As a candidate in November, she said she received crank letters and calls.

"They were so few and quite insignificant, they did not disturb me or members of my family," she said.

When her husband died five years ago, Mrs. Range, now 47, enrolled in a mortician school, got an embalmer's license and took over his funeral home. She is also president of a savings and loan association.

HEALTH FOR ALL

IT LEAVES YOU BREATHLESS

Most people who suffer from this ailment have been heavy smokers for years. Yet many heavy smokers—the majority in fact—don't suffer from it at all.

It's a pretty puzzle, and a lot of high level medical and health specialists got together to talk about it and problems related to it. The event, organized by the National Tuberculosis Association, was called a Seminar on Emphysema—the latter word signifying the serious lung disease that provides the puzzlement.

Sneaky

Emphysema is a sneaky disorder. It comes on gradually, attacks and breaks down the numerous little air sacs and tiny blood vessels of the lungs. Eventually the lungs lose their elasticity, and the victim has trouble moving air in and out. In advanced cases, breathing can become a constant laborious effort.

There are lots of mysteries about emphysema. Why does it attack many times more men than women? Why does it rank second among diseases for which total disability benefits are granted under Social Security? And another mystery: emphysema is known to be "associated" with cigarette smoking and aggravated by air pollution, but so far it hasn't been shown that either factor is an actual cause of the disease.

Helpful Drug

However, a good deal about the disease is already known. There are helpful drugs, reliable tests, exercises and mechanical aids through which many victims acquire new techniques of breathing even though handicapped by damaged lungs.

Emphysema is one of the many serious forms of Respiratory Disease (RD) that can "take your breath away". Common symptoms of RD are chronic cough and shortness of breath; if you have either of these symptoms you should see a physician without delay. An informative leaflet on this subject, called, "Is This Your Problem?", is available free from the local Christmas Seal Association.

5 Negroes Shot in Birmingham Outside Store; Suspect Held

Birmingham, Ala.—Five Negroes were shot Monday night in front of a supermarket recently the object of racial picketing and a white man was taken into custody in connection with the shooting.

The victims however, were reported not seriously injured. Treated at the University hospital were Douglas Murray, 15; Willie Andrews, 32; William James Maxwell, 32, Albert Tate, 56 and Simon Armstrong, 70.

City Detective E. A. Painter said Murray and Andrews were the more seriously hurt.

Cassius Clay's Cousin In Movie Epic

Universal City, Calif.—Marcello (Mark) Clay, cousin of the world boxing champ, has been set by producer Walter Seltzer to portray a legionnaire in the French Foreign Legion epic, "Beau Geste," starring Telly Savalas, Guy Stockwell and Doug McClure.

Clay received wide acclaim two years ago when he became the first Negro to work as a stand-in for a white star. Jack Palance selected the young actor to be his stand-in on the popular TV series, "The Greatest Show on Earth" and Clay remained with the show for a year before becoming an actor himself. Since then he's appeared on "Hawaiian Eye," "Once A Thief" and a TV pilot film with Robert Taylor.

The 23-year-old thespian studied acting with Hollywood's Reuben Plaskov, who coached the inimitable Marilyn Monroe. Clay also served as a director with the Los Angeles Players' Company.

Davenport Youth Enters Interracial Benedictine Order

Davenport—Booker T. Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Walker, Sr., 706 E. 10th Street, Davenport, has entered the Order of St. Benedict. A 1965 graduate of Assumption High School, received the religious habit in a ceremony at St. Maur's Priory, South Union, Ky. on Jan. 12. He will be known in religious life as Brother Ambrose.

St. Maur's Priory is an interracial community that was founded in 1949 specifically to bear witness to the Christian answer to racism in the South. The Prior, Father Bernadine, is a Negro. The principal of the high school at the priory is Negro, as well as several members of the seminary faculty. More than half of the priests there are Negro, while about 1/3 of the brothers are colored.

Founded

The religious community was founded at a time when racial violence was erupting throughout the country. It represents the Christian answer to race hatred and prejudice. St. Maur's is largely the brainchild of Fr. Alexander Korte, OSB, who was shocked to find in 1940 that there were 47 diocesan seminaries and 289 religious congregations of nuns where Negro candidates were not welcome. Father Korte wished to establish a community that would exemplify the principles of the Mystical Body of Christ, and underscore St. Paul's and St. Benedict's teaching that, "There is neither Jew nor Greek; slave nor freeman; for you are all one in Christ Jesus."

Mr. Booker is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Walker, 706 E. 10th street. His mother attended the ceremony for her son on Jan. 12.

A 1965 graduate of Assumption High school he received the religious habit in ceremony at St. Mauri Priory, at South Union, Ky. He will be known in religious life as Brother Ambrose.

Hot Spiced Tea and Sportsmen

Always welcome to a group of winter sports enthusiasts is a hot cup of tea, especially Hot Spiced Tea, "solid" sandwiches and an assortment of cakes or cookies.

If you know anything about the reactions of outdoor sportsfolks, you know that once they're home, and relaxed, fatigue is likely to take over. So, just in case you've a few chores in mind for them to do, have plenty of that Hot Spiced Tea around. Why? Simply because tea supplies a quick pick-up followed by a steady "lift" without any let down. At the same time, in its own mysterious fashion, tea relaxes nerve tensions. Here's the recipe for the Hot Spiced Tea. If you learn to make this right, you'll automatically learn the basic rules for making a good pot of everyday tea.

HOT SPICED AFTERNOON TEA

4 quarts water
1 teaspoon whole cloves
1 stick cinnamon
1/2 cup loose tea or 15 teabags
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup orange juice
1/4 cup fresh lemon juice

Add spices to water. Bring water to full rolling boil. Remove from heat. Immediately add tea. Brew 4 minutes. Stir and strain. Add sugar; stir till dissolved. Add fruit juices. To reheat for serving place over low heat. Do not boil. Makes 25-30 servings.

CRUNCHY FRUIT SQUARES

(Makes 48 squares)

1 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup brown sugar
2 teaspoons vanilla
1 cup chopped filberts
1 cup candied fruits, chopped
1 cup dates, chopped
cereal, crumbled

Sift flour, measure and sift again with baking powder and salt. Beat eggs until they start to thicken. Continue beating and add sugar gradually, then vanilla. Stir in dry ingredients. Fold in filberts, candied fruits, and dates. Bake in an 8 x 8-inch lined and greased pan in a 350° F. oven for 40 minutes. Cool. Cut into squares and remove from pan.

FILBERT MACAROONS

(Makes about 2 dozen)

1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg, well beaten
1 cup chopped filberts
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon salt
2-1/2 cups ready-to-serve flake cereal, crumbled

Cream shortening. Add sugar gradually. Beat in egg, and add chopped filberts, vanilla, salt and cereal. Mix thoroughly; press mixture into rounded bowl of tablespoon. Drop on greased baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven 350° F. for 10 minutes.

We slipped up a little when we forgot that George Washington's Birthday, a legal holiday for government workers, fell on Tuesday. If we had we would have emphasized the necessity for mailing news in time to be received at the Bystander office on Monday. But there was not too much harm done. We managed to get most of your news in, we hope.

We were talking to Mrs. Pinkie Goode, cashier at S. & L. Department store, late last week and she was telling us that she had had to be rushed to the hospital the week before to have a fish bone removed from her throat. Mrs. Goode laughingly explained that she had purchased her favorite fish, bass, after leaving work one afternoon and gone home and prepared a fish dinner which nearly ended in disaster. She vows she will never buy bass again!

Conversation around one of the tables at the recent Youth NAACP banquet at the Hotel Kirkwood, got around to what happens to left over restaurant dinners—that are ordered by a group and there are more ordered than tickets sold.

One young mother who formerly worked at Veterans auditorium says that the extra dinners, which have been paid for, are taken back to the kitchen where they are eaten by the maids, janitors, and other hotel employees who want to eat them. In any event she emphasized, "The members of the groups buying the dinners are not given seconds!"

Then the conversation worked around to telling of mishaps or little accidents that had occurred to several who had worked in food service. The same mother told of trying to get around a diner at a political shindig, who was moving back and forth in his chair. At the moment that she thought she had succeeded, the diner heaved backwards, jolting her arm with the coffee pot and much of the liquid poured down his white shirt front.

Bracing herself for a stiff rebuke, she was surprised when the diner, turning with a smile, while rubbing his shirt, said, "That's all right, that's all right."

The young lady who has the job of secretary-receptionist at the Iowa Human Rights Commission office at the Statehouse is Miss Darlene Cooper, of Des Moines. We talked to her briefly during the press conference when the photographers were busy taking pictures, but it was not as long as we would like.

Driving along the downtown streets Saturday we were startled to see two young boys looking no more than 9 or 10 but were probably a small 12 or 13, walking along the streets, nonchalantly smoking cigarettes. They were puffing away as if they were veterans.

THE WRONG WAY TO MAKE FRIENDS

Heavyweight Champion Cassius Clay, like most people who talk too much, managed to say the wrong thing when his draft board reclassified him changing his status so as to make him eligible for military service.

It has always mystified many people how draft boards often reject a man for military service who then proceeds to participate in activities which try the strength and will of any man. Of course, standards are set and must be met.

Clay felt that he had been singled out unduly and blew off about the right of the U.S. rather than his religious sect to call him to service.

We look with disfavor upon any man who tries to duck his responsibility to serve his country in time of need. Clay might take a lesson from Joe Lewis who took his turn without flinching and endeared himself more fully in the hearts of the American people.

OAKRIDGE PROJECT STILL DANGLING IN THE AIR

The Housing and Development department has notified Des Moines through Representative Neal Smith of the Fifth Iowa district that the request for approval of the Oakridge improvement here had been approved and 4½ million dollars allocated for the project. This represents about 90 per cent of the cost of the development; the city pays 10 per cent.

Peculiar to say the department has not officially notified the city of its action. Neither has a contract been sent for approval by the city council.

The Oakridge project has been a source of a great deal of dissatisfaction upon the part of the people in the area because they have been left dangling in the air uncertain what, if anything, to do with their property or what move to make. The city took entirely too long to make up its mind and now that the application for approval has been made, we find more delay and uncertainty.

If the officials in Washington mean what they say why not get on with the project. Too much time has been wasted already.

TEMPORARY AMISH SETTLEMENT POSES
DANGEROUS PRECEDENT

Gov. Hughes announced Tuesday a temporary settlement of the Amish School dispute. The controversy arose over the failure of a few Amish people to permit their children to attend public schools; that their religious belief is that an eighth grade education is sufficient for children; and that they could not afford to pay for a certified teacher to come in and teach higher grades.

The settlement agreement is that a private foundation in St. Louis is to pay $15,000 for qualified teachers to teach in the two one room schools until 1967; that no religious subjects are to be taught and the German language is to be taught two hours each week.

Unfortunately this controversy has arisen over whether a law is to be enforced and of course the law cannot be arbitrated.

Laws that permit a lot of exceptions are hard to enforce.

The tough question here is whether a small group, whose living habits conflict with those of the general public, can justify their position on religious grounds.

At the height of the integration struggle in New Orleans, strong Catholics, and no doubt Protestants as well, argued that segregation was a part of God's law and quoted the Bible, as many people are prone to do, to prove their point. Some permitted themselves to be excommunicated rather than abide by the law.

While this Amish settlement quiets the problem for awhile, it is bound to stir a lot of controversy. If exceptions are made in this instance other segments of the population are bound to be clamoring for permission to be exempted from the general rule.

The Amish people, while clinging to some of their old ways of life, are abiding by others. When life, and abiding by others. When with that of the general public, the latter must prevail.

Negro athletes are beginning to break into print by writing the stories of their careers. First there was Jackie Robinson, then Satchel Paige; Jim Brown made it in football as an author-player. Bill Russell came out with a book, and now Willie Mays has added his name to the list of writers. Now all that remains is for Cassius Clay to come out with his story. Might be interesting at that.

But in most of those stories one gets an insight on the things Negroes have to endure to make the big time. One must have a tremendous amount of ability, an unlimited supply of guts and a ton of luck. He can't be short on any one of those things if he would make it big. White boys can make it with two of the three assets. But not a Negro. Of course, while the road is no primrose path the trail gets easier each year and the rewards are worthy of the struggle.

Boxing

Now we turn to other things. We were talking to an old timer the other night and he was telling us about Negroes in boxing. The subject was brought up because someone mentioned how fast Clay was. The old fellow said yes, that there were very few better boxers than the current heavyweight boss. He said that one time there were quite a few really clever boxers around in all divisions. But very few of them were Negroes. Fight fans always think two Negroes should stage a slam bang toe to toe slugfest with no science or skill. The minute one of them shows boxing ability he is booed or told to fight.

Then as the guy talked we thought of the host of fighters around here who were in the same category. There were at least two boxers who couldn't knock one's hat off. But they were hailed as great boxers and fought main events to packed houses. Then there was a Negro named Kid Lawson who was as clever as any of them. Lawson beat some of the best punchers around but since the decisions were usually made by the ringside writers, Lawson rarely won. There was a Greek fighter around named Louie Mays. Mays had a terrific left hook and scored countless kayos with it. Well, he fought Lawson at least four times; never did land the left hook and came out looking like a guy who fell down in a bar room brawl. Lawson wouldn't have a mark on him but the ropers always gave Mays the decision.

Yes, the old guy was right in that Negroes were or not even now supposed to be clever boxers. Maybe he was right about Clay being possibly the best of them all.

Hawkeyes Bomb Michigan in 91-82 Upset Attack at Home

Iowa City, Ia.—YOU—might say the Iowa Hawkeyes did the impossible Monday night. But the Hawkeyes would be the first to remind you nothing is impossible, as long as you have a sophomore kid on your team like Ben McGilmer.

McGilmer, 6-foot 6-inch, set the Hawkeyes afire and the Iowa fans almost literally warmed themselves around the "flaming bonfire" as they saw their favorites beat the Michigan team with the great Cazzie Russell in a huge Big Ten basketball upset.

When you think back it seemed like the impossible was accomplished. Three of Coach Ralph Miller's fireballs, Chris Pervall, Gary Olson and George Peoples fouled out with five minutes left in the game that had a 8 point lead for the Iowans.

In addition, the great Cazzie Russell, did not have a bad night; in fact he had his usual whirlwind participation, 31 points which pushed him into the club of the basketball elite—with four other Big Ten players who have ever scored more than 1,000 points. Russell's feat Monday night gave him 1025.

But the difference was McGilmer, who scored 20 of his 26 points in the second half.

Pervall Takes Over

Peoples, second only to McGilmer in helping gain a 37-28 rebounding edge, carried the early load with 10 points towards a 17-13 lead. Iowa was ahead to stay, although barely at times.

Pervall, owner of 20 points at game's end, took over when Peoples became becalmed.

At the half Iowa led 44 to 39 and the game ended with 91 to 82. Iowa shot a 58 per cent and Michigan, a 59.3 per cent.

Tennis Star Ashe Sits Tight;
Clay Fights Back Verbally
At Draft Reclassification

Salisbury, Md.—"I'm sitting tight... whatever they decide is all right with me," said Arthur Ashe, tennis ace from Richmond, Va., as others contemplate his future—the Davis Cup or Viet Nam.

Ashe, who recently was honored in his hometown with red carpet treatment currently is 1-S in the draft. He is returning to U.C.L.A. to complete studies for graduation in June. Then he becomes, like other young men of his age, rather for the draft.

Bit Different

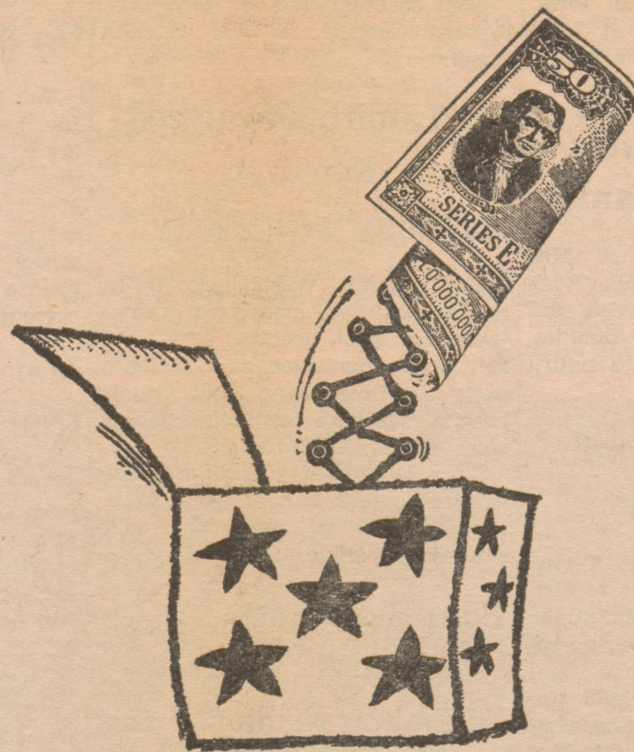

Ashe's case is a bit different. As an R. O. T. C. student, he is entitled to a lieutenant's commission in the Army upon graduation and is committed to two years immediate service.

As the nation's second best tennis player he also is one of the main hopes of recapturing the Davis Cup from Australia in December.

Draft

Louisville, Ky. — The Selective Service board delivered a stunning blow to Cassius Clay's peace of mind when they reclassified him 1-A and the heavyweight champion countered with a verbal blast of his own.

Late last week the Selective Service board, without re-examination, announced Clay's reclassifying, sending him and his boxing handlers to wondering if he would be called into the service before his Mar. 29 title fight with Ernie Terrell in Chicago, Ill. Clay previously, after failing two tests, had been classified as mentally deficient for military service.

MAN'S DESTINY

By Bert Lamkay

Along life's arduous road, the trails unfold
A pattern for each mortal to behold.

And men are either meant for destiny,
Or fate's frail toys, like pebbles in the sea.

Some live in history's pages for all time—
Their deeds are writ in words of blood and grime.

But, are they not great too, though less renowned,
Who built a better world than they had found?

One answers by the things one knows and sees,
The ebb and flow of one's own memories.

And in the wake of change and customs new,
There is one truth that holds forever true:

The man who hopes to leave some sign on earth,

On hearing the news Clay released a bombast criticizing the Louisville draft board and announcing that he would appeal.

However, Clay is awaiting notice of his draft call which will be next month. As a single man two years just over the minimum draft call age, he is near the top of the list. Clay will have 10 days from the time he receives his induction notice to appeal.

In a verbal tirade Clay declared "I'm fighting for the government everyday, risking my life fighting in the ring, paying taxes and the salaries of 50,000 soldiers."

"Why should I be called?" he ranted. "Of all the basketball and football players, why should they take me?"

Who hopes to be remembered for his worth,
Need not be king, if, in the interim,
He loved someone, and someone cherished him.

the weapon."

The teacher was telling some jokes to the class. Everyone laughed aloud except one boy. "What's the matter?" the teacher inquired.

"Haven't you got a sense of humor?" "I don't have to laugh," he replied, "I'm being transferred to another school Friday."

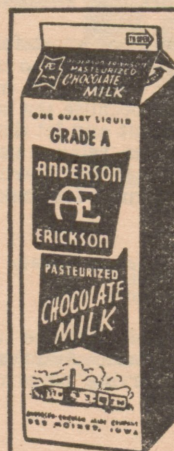

Bert: Did you hear about the bee that married the doorbell?"

Tom: No, I didn't.

Bert: Their first child was a hum-dinger.
