Clarence L. Townes, Jr., First Club to Get 100% Des Moines NAACP Membership
Named Special Assist.
To Chairman Bliss

Washington, D. C.—On the unanimous recommendation of the Republican Negro Advisory Committee, Republican National Chairman Ray C. Bliss today appointed Clarence Lee Townes, Jr., 38, of Richmond, Va., as Special Assistant to the Chairman.

Townes was selected from a group of prominent Negroes whose names had been placed before the Advisory Committee. All 12 members of the group pledged their full support to Townes and his program. They said his appointment as Special Assistant to the Chairman represents a new and constructive approach to the important job of bringing Negro voters into the Republican Party.

The appointment culminates several months of consultation between the 12-member Advisory Committee and Chairman Bliss on a program of full integration of the staff at Republican National Headquarters. Since becoming National Chairman, Bliss has been developing plans for a rebuilding of the Republican Party's image among Negro voters. Bliss said Townes' appointment is the step in this new program.

Girl Stabbed by Youth in Hallway Of Waterloo East

Waterloo, Ia.—A 15-year-old girl, a sophomore student at East High School here, was stabbed five times in the chest, back and hand in a hallway at the school Monday morning.

Police Chief Robert S. Wright identified the injured girl as Ethel Marie Ward, 15.

By late afternoon, police issued a warrant for the arrest of Robert Taylor, 17, on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder.

They said Taylor had been identified by witnesses as the youth who stabbed Miss Ward and then ran from the building.

Miss Ward was taken to St. Francis Hospital where she was reported in good condition.

The girl's stepfather, Eldridge Hickey, said Miss Ward and her stepmother, Mrs. Hickey, came here from Chicago last fall.

He said the Taylor youth had attempted to date the Ward girl but that she did not like him and had repelled his attention.

The attack occurred just before the start of first-period classes, the chief said. He said it was not known immediately what weapon was used other than it was "a sharp-pointed instrument of some kind." Other sources, however, said it was an ice pick.

Members of the Rosa L. Gragg club shown above were the first club to get 100 per cent membership in the Des Moines branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, during its current membership drive.

As an added incentive to organizations to get full NAACP membership, the Des Moines branch will take the picture of any club with 100 per cent membership and have it published in the Bystander, at no cost to the organization or club.

Mississippi College Launches $30 Million Expansion Plan; Inaugurates New President

Jackson, Miss.—The only privately supported predominantly Negro college in Mississippi accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, today officially launched a ten-year, $30 million master plan to enable "our graduates to realize their potential and compete on equal terms with their contemporaries in an integrated society."

97 Years

The 97-year-old liberal arts college which has an enrollment of 600 students, mostly rural Negroes, also is receiving academic support from Brown University. The Rhode Island ivy league school has instituted a cooperative program to help upgrade Tougaloo as an academic institution.

Dramatic Plan

Owens unveiled the dramatic plan for the new campus, designed by Gunnar Birkets & Associates, architects of Birmingham, Mich. It consists of a cluster of connecting buildings with living facilities stacked above teaching areas. By closely mixing academic and activity space with housing for students and faculty, the plan aims to promote the kind of close social contacts associated with urban life, a new experience for the mostly rural student body.

Investigative Groups 'Build Fire' Under D.M. Unions who Claim 'Will Hire Anyone'

Various civil rights organizations and leaders in Iowa "built a fire" under building and craft unions who are accused of discrimination in hiring and apprentice programs.

Shortly after the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, at the request of the Des Moines branch, urged federal investigation into the filling of two bricklayers training programs, various organizations have begun their individual investigations into the procedures.

Building Spokesmen

Among organizations pledging a probe into the affair were the Des Moines Commission on Human Rights and the Iowa State Human Rights Commission.

Meanwhile the spokesman for the Master Builders of Iowa, Kenneth Lewis, manager, said that the building industry said "Negroes can test our sincerity by sending us somebody" qualified for and interested in becoming an apprentice bricklayer.

State Rights

James Thomas, state civil rights director, said Friday: "We are going to actively look into the entire program . . ."

State officials said they planned to look into just when the 32 candidates in the Des Moines program were chosen.

Thomas said the federal government announced in early March that the Des Moines program had received funds.

However, he and Edward B. Jakubauskas, director of the Iowa Manpower Development Council, said they were informed by union and contractors' representatives at a Feb. 28 meeting that the program was "already filled."

GSA Team

Federal officials were in Des Moines Tuesday to begin a study of hiring practices involved in the construction of the $8-million Federal Office Building at 2nd and Walnut streets.

A team from the General Services Administration, the agency that hired the contractor, Sheehy Construction Co. of St. Paul, Minn., will meet today with spokesmen for the

SPINGARN ABROAD

New York—Arthur B. Spingarn, honorary president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, is spending his annual vacation in England. The former NAACP president left New York City on April 18 aboard the Holland-America liner Nieuw Amsterdam. He is expected to return about June 1.

Public Relations Firm Names Woman Exec.

New York, N. Y.—D. Parke Gibson Associates, Inc., New York public relations firm has named Elsie Archer to head the firm's Women's Interest Bureau, a new service, according to D. Parke Gibson, president.

The New York-based national public relations firm provides counsel to corporate clients on matters involving the Negro National Community.

In announcing the appointment, Gibson stated that Mrs. Archer will conduct fashion and product merchandising programs among Negro women's groups in key cities throughout the U.S.

NAACP President On Tour

New York—Kivie Kaplan, president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, is making a tour which covers five cities. Beginning in Jackson, Miss., on April 11, Mr. Kaplan is proceeding to Memphis, April 22; Raleigh, N.C., May 1; Philadelphia, May 10; and Chicago, May 11.

contractor, subcontractors and labor unions.

Reviewed Statistics

The study was ordered after a review of the project's "employment statistics" by the GSA, said Robert Harlan of Washington, D.C., a member of the agency's civil rights policy staff.

There has been no complaint of discrimination, said Harlan. Members of the team held a closed meeting Tuesday morning with state and city civil rights officials in the Argonne Armory.

Las Vegas, Nev.—Francis X. McLaughlin, a Washington attorney who specializes in tax cases filed suit here against ex-heavyweight champion, Charles Sonny Liston in attempt to college $21,372 in fees due him.

St. Louis, Mo.—C. W. Gates was appointed to the St. Louis Board of Police Commissioners by Governor Warren E. Hearnes last week.

Birmingham, Ala.—The eyes of the nation will be watching the citizenry of the State of Alabama in their Democratic primary on May 3, to discover whether Alabama's future will be one of progressive militancy or status-quo moderation. More importantly, the "new" Negro electorate's political maturity in this election—the first for thousands—is the pendulum that could swing either way.

Minneapolis, Minn. — Representatives of the nation's school boards Monday backed away from a policy that they should join other community leaders "in eliminating the evils of segregation." The amendment was offered by Wesley S. Williams, Negro board member from Washington, D. C. His amendment gained a majority vote of 59-40 but failed by seven votes of reaching the needed two thirds majority.

New York—Entry of Negroes into the predominantly Italian Park Slope area of Brooklyn resulted in clashes between Negro and white youngsters at Public School 51. Horace Gates, a 28-year-old Negro hospital technician, was to appear in criminal court after being arrested in a fight with three white youths in the area. Gates charged that a policeman held him while the youths beat him.

Roanoke, Va.—A Negro member of the Roanoke Valley's Total Action against Poverty Board of Directors, A. Byron Smith, has resigned after charging that the area's war on poverty organization is being taken out of the hands of the poor. Smith attacked new bylaws which restrict the poor to 25 per cent of the board.

Charleston, W. Va. — Thirty-five members of the Charleston NAACP Youth Council picketed the town's only skating rink for two days after being denied admission. The picketing was the first in a series of projects by the youth council to protest discrimination.

Posthumous Award to Father of Hero Who Fell On Grenade; Saved Buddies

Washington, D. C.—Last Thursday a Negro P.F.C. who gave his life in Viet Nam to save three other buddies, was awarded the highest medal of the land commemorating war heroes. He is Milton Lee Olive II, 18, who was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor. He was from Chicago.

Last Oct. 22, young Olive threw himself on a Viet Cong grenade, saving the lives of four fellow paratroopers.

Young Olive possibly gave his own reason for his brave act.

"Man, you've got to care," he told a buddy shortly before he died. "Believe it or not, you got to care."

"I wish he knew how proud we are of him now," said his father, Milton L. Olive, Jr., of 9414 S. Vernon.

Award by President

Thursday noon the father accepted posthumously for his son the nation's highest military award, given by President Johnson. It was the third time a serviceman has been so honored for Viet Nam heroism.

"It's not easy to be a hero's father," Olive said.

Best Thing

"The best thing about this is that it may help clear up some mistaken ideas about bravery of Negro soldiers. Some pretty bad things were said about them during World War II."

Olive is a warehouseman for the General Motors Corp. Electro-Motive Division in McCook, a Chicago suburb, and a free-lance photographer. His son shared his hobby.

He and his wife Antoinette live in a comfortable three-bedroom brick bungalow in a middle-class Negro neighborhood.

The rooms are filled with photographs of Milton III, or "Skipper," as the family calls him.

"He was an ordinary boy, just a regular boy," said his father.

List Qualification Standards For Apprenticeship Openings

Listed below are some of the factors which are considered by the Union's selection committees and the maximum number of points given each factor.

school diploma or certificate of Equivalency)

References and conduct record—10.

Interview—25. (personal impression of interest, sincerity and adaptability to the trade)

Previous working experience—25. (related and unrelated)

The interview covers such factors as the applicant's educational record, attitude towards work and apprenticeship, sense of responsibility, previous work experience whether related or unrelated to the trade, reasons for interest in the trade, hobbies, and physical factors.

First Complete Guidebook to Negro History Materials Ready to Come Off the Press

Chicago, Ill.—The first comprehensive guidebook to Negro history materials ranging from reference books and film strips to phonograph records and films has been compiled in a new book, "A Layman's Guide To Negro History," by Erwin A. Salk, a Chicago mortgage banker whose sparetime hobby is Negro history.

Fullest

The volume, which will be published by Quadrangle Books on May 20, lists not only the fullest bibliography ever compiled on Negro history volumes and teaching aids but also has an encyclopedic year-by-year listing of the most important dates in the history of U.S. Negroes. A compilation of all of the top names in the Negro's past in the U.S. is also a feature of "A Layman's Guide To Negro History."

Reference

An excellent reference book not only for teachers and librarians but also "every American interested in every 10th American."

Significant

Outstanding author, poet and playwright Langston Hughes described the book as "containing information and listings not found elsewhere in so compact and convenient a form for instant reference. It fills a very definite need and should have wide distribution at home and abroad."

HEALTH FOR ALL

CHILD CONVULSIONS

An attack of convulsions in a child can have any one of a variety of causes. It can result from heat stroke or from the familiar childhood trick of holding the breath until unconscious. It can signify a serious disease such as epilepsy, or an acute infectious ailment. Lead poisoning, a concussion, or lack of oxygen due to a breathing obstruction also can cause convulsions.

Over Quickly

Most convulsive attacks are over quickly, and leave the victim no worse off than before. But an inexperienced parent can have an ugly scare.

Things to do immediately: Place the youngster on a wide bed or a large soft rug. If he is on a bed, look sharp to see that he doesn't fling himself off. Loosen all his clothing. Wedge his jaws apart with a non-metallic object to avoid injury to the tongue or teeth. Bring the tongue forward to insure against its rolling back into the throat and interfering with air intake. If the child starts to throw up, place him on his side or with his head overhanging the bed to facilitate clearance.

Call Doctor

While you're busy with these emergency measures, get somebody to call a doctor. If no one else is present, make the call as soon as you can.

If convulsions don't subside, and no doctor can be found, a sedative effect can be achieved with crushed aspirin tablets in a small amount of water. Give it as an enema with a bulb syringe, using twice the amount of aspirin the child normally takes by mouth.

Your Christmas Seal association, active in the fight for general health as well as against TB and other Respiratory Diseases, suggests these general rules of action: If your child has convulsions don't get panicky; don't delay simple relief measures; do call a doctor.

vancement of Colored People, said the federal officials are concerned with "a surprising lack of Negroes" working on the new 10-story office building.

"There are six unskilled Negro laborers among several hundred skilled and unskilled workers on the project," said Morris.

Participants

Local participants in Tuesday's meeting, in addition to Morris, were James Thomas, state Human Rights Commission director; Perry Hooks, Des Moines Human Rights Commission director; John Mapp, director of Willkie House; and Robert Wright and Robert A. Jackson of the N.A.A.C.P.

The federal officials also met with Russell G. Pounds, manpower specialist with Gov. Harold Hughes' Manpower Development Council.

Public Nursing Services Extended

Public Health Nursing Services are being extended into rural Polk County, under a project which will eventually staff seven nurses for in-the-home nursing, physical therapy, well-baby clinics and other services.

The program extension was announced this week by Dr. Julius C. Conner, Director, Des Moines-Polk County Health Department and Mrs. Grace Plude, Director, Public Health Nursing Association.

The Public Health Nursing services are offered to people of all ages. Bedside services include the changing of dressings, injections, supervising diets for heart or diabetic patients, giving bed baths and physical therapy, and other personal care.

Where a member of the family can assist with the patient, the nurse will teach that person the skills needed.

Fee collections apply only to bedside care and rehabilitation. Families able to pay for the nursing services will do so. However, fees involving families unable to pay will often be offset by one of the several welfare programs. After July 1, for instance, Medicare will pay the cost of nursing calls for patients over 65. Interested health agencies, such as the Cancer Society, will pay the fees in some cases. And some health insurance policies cover such nursing care.

Wendell Franklin On "Gambit"

Universal City, Calif.—Wendell Franklin, Hollywood's first Negro assistant director, has been set to assist director Ronald Neame on Universal's "Gambit," starring Shirley MacLaine and Michael Caine. In addition, Franklin, whose talents are much in demand, has already been set to work on Universal's upcoming Technicolor film, "Munster, Go Home," starring Fred Gwynne, Yvonne de Carlo and Al Lewis of Universal's TV's "The Munsters."

Franklin's unprecedented entry into motion picture work, a feat comparable to that of Jackie Robinson's break-through in the baseball world, is the result of acknowledged ability, as reflected by the calibre of stars he has worked with: Sandra Dee, James Garner, Charlton Heston, James Stewart, Rock Hudson, and many others.

Speakers for Howard

Washington, D. C.—U.S. Solicitor General Thurgood Marshall, Equal Employment Opportunities Commission Chairman Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., and Associate Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas will be among the featured speakers during the annual Law Week at Howard University Apr. 26-29.

"Like cures like" . . . This casual remark uttered by Hippocrates over two thousand years ago was to create entire schools of medical practices.

Today research on Antibiosis is based on the theory that germs can be controlled to act to the detriment of other germs. However, in the past this theory had taken curious by-paths. For example, bats, noted for their longevity, were served in stews so as to insure long life . . . lion-heart was eaten to instill bravery . . . concoctions of dog-hair and honey forced down victims of dog bites . . . and even today there are those who hold on to the belief that the only real cure for a hangover is another snootful the morning after.

How's about one for the road? . . . We're not encouraging "elbow bending", merely suggesting that, when shopping in the area, you make ONE STOP at WILLIAMS PHARMACY. Your first and every visit will be a pleasant experience at WILLIAMS PHARMACY, 1103 University Avenue, or PHONE: 243-1253.

Flavorful Biscuits Make Luxury Shortcake

Biscuits made with margarine add a luxury touch to Strawberry Shortcake

Strawberry shortcake is only as good as the biscuits that are its foundation. Light, fluffy, tender, they absorb the delicious berry juice. When they are made with margarine, they make the berries taste extra good.

Biscuits for shortcake are best when they are a little richer than when they are served as hot bread. A hint of sugar gives them just enough sweetness to blend with the sweetness of the sugared berries. Both the margarine and the sugar help the biscuits brown lightly to give added attractiveness.

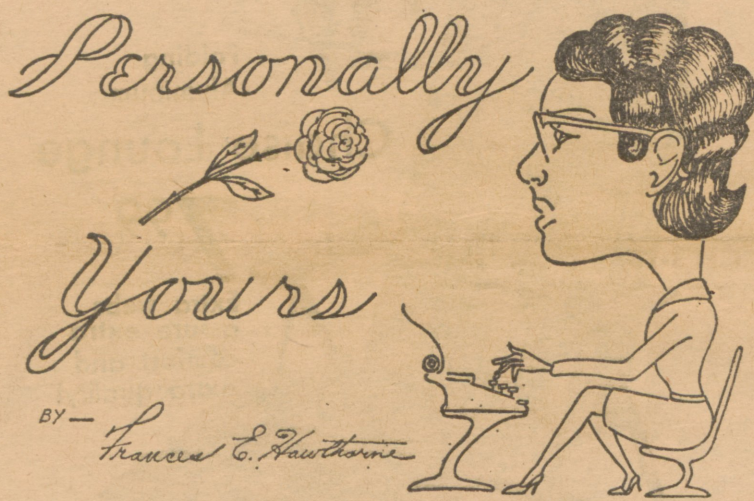

For an extra touch of flavor and luxury, split the biscuits as soon as they come from the oven. Spread them generously with soft margarine. Then heap sweetened berries and whipped cream on them and serve.

STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE (6 servings)

2 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt

6 tablespoons margarine
1 cup milk
1 quart strawberries
½ pint whipping cream

Sift together into bowl the flour, baking powder, sugar and salt. Cut in margarine until mixture is like coarse corn meal. Add milk and stir until flour is just moistened. Turn dough out on lightly floured board or pastry cloth. Knead lightly five or six times. Roll out dough one-half inch thick. Cut into rounds with 4-inch biscuit or cookie cutter. Bake biscuits on ungreased baking sheet in hot oven (450°F.) 12 to 15 minutes. When slightly cooled, spread biscuits with soft margarine. While biscuits bake, wash and hull berries. If berries are large, cut some in halves. Sprinkle a little sugar over berries. About ½ cup sugar to 1 quart of berries is a good proportion. Cover and set into refrigerator until ready to serve. When ready to serve, whip cream. If desired, add 1 teaspoon powdered sugar to whipped cream. Place one biscuit on each dessert plate. Cover with cleaned sweetened strawberries and a generous spoonful of whipped cream. Cover with a second biscuit, more whipped cream and berries.

If you are like us you probably look a little blurry-eyed and feel cheated of that extra hour's sleep that daylight savings time snatched from you Saturday night, and you won't feel comfortably about until sometime next Christmas. The longer daylight evenings have their compensations, we think, but they also have their drawbacks as do many things in life. We think one of the main ones is the gripe from families with small children. The children constantly protest, "It's too early to go to bed yet; It's not dark outside." But the longer evenings do provide for many pleasurable hours in the state and city parks or for cool drives through the green countryside.

though prevalent for a number of years, that has reached its climax. The trend is a reluctance to take responsibility, particularly in the top position, presidency or other key positions in organizations. We have talked to many people, representative of civic organizations, P.T.A., group auxiliaries, church groups and other organizations. And the complaint is the same. People don't mind assisting or helping. But they don't want the top job, because it's too much work and responsibility. Ask people to take the lead and you get more no's than you can count.

Perhaps that's the price we must pay in our accelerated active society. Jabberwock Julia Mayer Center

PROPER RECOGNITION IN HIGH POSITIONS

William (Bill) Russell, an outstanding player on the Boston Celtic basketball team, has been named coach of the team succeeding Red Auerbach, the present coach and manager.

Russell has been a star player on the team which has been the national basketball champions for several consecutive years. His salary is said to be $100,000.

President Johnson has appointed Dr. James M. Nabrit, Jr., on leave as president of Howard University, Washington, D.C., as deputy permanent representative at United Nations. It is a high place in diplomatic circles—one which Negroes have not held before.

It is quite evident that sports and government are leading business and industry in recognizing the worth among Negroes of ability and are affording them the opportunities they deserve.

GOP NATIONAL COMMITTEE ADDS NEGRO ASSISTANT

Chas. L. Townes, Jr., of Virginia has been appointed an assistant to Republican National Committee Chairman Bliss. His selection came upon the recommendation of the Negro advisory group which had met with the chairman and discussed ways and means of a better approach to the Negro voter.

Townes was a special assistant to the chairman of the Virginia state chairman and is said to have done a good job in that post.

During the Goldwater campaign in 1964 and to some degree in 1960, Negroes had practically no recognition at national headquarters. Val Washington served in that capacity during the 1952 and 1956 campaigns.

Campaign managers in 1960 and 1964 operated under the illusion that they could win a substantial electoral vote in the South by jabbing the Democrat party for some of its favorable policies toward Negroes and pushing them away from anything which looked like official recognition as Republican leaders.

Of course the whole program backfired with disastrous results at the polls.

For many years, Bliss was successful chairman in Ohio and was able to draw support from most groups. He knows that no such deals as occurred in 1960 and 1964 can return any Negroes to the party.

We hope Townes will succeed in spearheading intelligent co-operation by the committee with the group about which he was called to advise.

THE DRAKE RELAYS; SUPPORT THEM

This weekend marks the 57th annual Drake Relays in Des Moines. Officials have received an unusual array of entries with athletes poised to break several records.

These relays have brought outstanding university, college and high school athletes from many parts of the country. Some have made records in events that stand today.

While the schools represented bring some supporters, the people of Des Moines owe it to themselves to give the relays wholehearted support. No towns can retain sporting events when its citizens don't support it. Here is a wholesome event which may be enjoyed by young and older people where men and boys participate in events for which they have done much training.

Des Moines should be proud of this annual event. Its citizens can show it by attending.

Des Moines Set for 43rd Drake Relays

This weekend we will be seeing our 43rd Drake Relays show. Seems as if we have been watching them for a lifetime. We missed a few here and there in the early 20s and during a couple of years during World War II.

Outstanding

We recall how we used to have big stories about the prospective Negro athletes who would be here. There have always been outstanding Negro athletes in the thing and they were worth seeing. When we started this column in 1932 or was it 1933, One could count the Negroes as they came in. In fact a friend of ours used to make a Saturday morning tour of the hotels and get interviews on the fellows.

Well, now it would take a guy a week to do that even if he didn't have to wade through a battalion of other newsmen to get to the athletes.

Small Schools

Now as we watch and read about Southern university, Texas Southern, featuring Claude Duncan, Prairie View and the host of other Negro schools will be here and literally view over all opposition trying to beat each other we have to think back.

DUNCAN

The mere presence of a Negro school was news and we remember that the first Negro College to come here didn't do very well. They were way out in every race but the crowd gave them polite applause because they wanted to be nice to the fellows. That made us mad but we didn't say anything.

But now, by golly, the applause isn't polite. It comes from the crowd that begins to get excited when these Negroes line up for the starters. Everybody anticipates a great race and each year they have been some jim dandies.

When our late brother Bill and I started to cover this event as a syndicated story we used to focus our attention on the entire field at the finish line. We didn't care if a Negro in a race finished forty second we would cut him out from the crowd, print the picture and it sold. Just try that now. Negroes have always been outstanding at Drake. We recall a big rangy quarter miler from Chicago University who literally pulled his team up from last to first as the anchor man in a mile relay. That was way back when there was Sol Butler, De Hard Hubbard of Michigan and Anthel Roberts of Iowa. Gordon Kitchen of Grinnell and then there were the line of Negro sprinters. Eddie Tolan, Ralph Metcalf, Gene Outrey, Mozelle Ellerbee of Tuskegee, Box Car Bailey of Ohio who ran like a box car rolls. In fact we thought Negroes owned the sprints and jumps out then and they did for a number of years.

But now we can sit back and watch our Negro Colleges, a long time arriving, take their places in the best track show in the west and it makes one proud to know that they play leading parts. We don't have to wish this so and so race was over. Be seeing you out there.
