NEWS In A Nutshell

Austin, Texas — M. J. (Andy) Anderson, prominent Capitol City real estate broker, became the first Negro in the Southwest to be elected to the Austin Real Estate board. President Bob Bailey in a luncheon ceremony at the Driskill hotel administered the realtor's pledge to Anderson, along with two white realtors.

Atlanta — The Atlanta Police department has abolished its all-Negro 6 p.m. watch. Chief Herbert Jenkins has issued an order scattering the 81 Negro officers in the watch among three watches within three divisions.

Amarillo, Tex. — Almost half of the student body of all-Negro Carver High School has asked to be transferred to this city's predominantly white schools. A registered letter containing 103 names was sent to the public school administration asking for transfers. A student group called Students' Mass Application for Transfers was said to have sparked the request.

St. Petersburg, Fla. — Florida will eliminate its public junior colleges for Negroes by July 1, it has been announced. Negro students at Ocala, Panama City, Marianna and Madison will be transferred to previously all-white colleges.

Fort Worth, Texas — The Tarrant County Democratic organization, voting almost solidly for Gov. Connally to hold the party reins at the September state convention, selected 17 Negroes as delegates to the state confab.

Birmingham, Ala. — Nearly three-fourths of the eligible voters in five counties with heavy Negro registration cast ballots in the May 31 Alabama Democratic party runoff. In five counties with an estimated 39,288 registered voters more than 28,000 persons voted.

In Germany

Ames, Ia. — Major G. V. Shipp, son of Mrs. John Shipp, 118 Sherman Ave., is serving with the U. S. Army in Germany. He will be assigned to a U. S.

MAJOR G. V. SHIPP

Army unit stationed in France in June.

He is married to the former Anna Parson, a nurse from Dayton, Ohio. They have two children, Volneraye, 8, and Medina, 3.

Citizens Charge Brutality, Demand Investigations; Holds Up Burial of Victim

Waterloo, Ia. — A 23-year-old Waterloo man arrested on an intoxication charge was found hanging in his jail cell here June 1. The incident touched off charges of "police brutality" and mass demonstrations as well as a 12-point demand for civil rights grievances that lasted over the weekend.

The victim was Eddie Sallis, who had been arrested along with Howard Sanders, 23. Waterloo citizenry immediately demanded an investigation into Sallis' death and into the charge of police brutality.

Sallis Rites

Rites for Mr. Sallis were held at 1 p.m. at Cityview Temple Church with burial at Fairview Cemetery. He is survived by his wife, mother and a sister. Burial was held up at the request of the family attorney.

Donald S. Frey of Evanston, Ill., the attorney, said he had asked that the body of Eddie Sallis, 23, be held at a funeral home until he has a chance to look into what he called the "very, very unusual" case.

Sallis was found hanging in his jail cell Wednesday, and authorities ruled he hanged himself with his trousers while intoxicated.

Several civic and official groups, including the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, agreed there was no police brutality.

Several Incidents

But many Waterloo Negroes still contend Sallis was beaten by police, and his death touched off a series of beatings and rock throwing incidents plus two marches on City Hall.

An estimated 250 persons, mostly Negroes, attended the Sallis funeral at Cityview Temple Church.

"There is no evidence the police hung him, and I certainly hope this is not the case," said Frey. "But on the other hand, we don't know yet what would trigger the man to take his own life."

No Consultation

Frey said Sallis' body was embalmed without consulting the victim's wife, and he contended the entire case was handled in a way "simply not in accordance with good police practice."

James Meredith Ambushed During Mississippi March

Hernando, Miss. — James H. Meredith, the first Negro to integrate the University of Mississippi, while under heavy federal protection, Monday was shot from ambush shortly after he crossed the Tennessee-Mississippi state line on his self-appointed march across the die-hard segregated state in an effort to show Mississippi that they had nothing to fear.

As he walked along the highway accompanied by a small following of newsmen and friends, a sniper fired three shots from a shotgun at him, hitting him in the back, legs, shoulder and head. Meredith fell, crawled to safety to a nearby car, and later was rushed to a hospital in Memphis, Tenn., where doctors listed his condition as satisfactory.

Mindful of the effect of the ambush on his wife, he called her and asked her in New York to carry on her life "in your usual quiet way."

News wires erroneously listed Meredith as being killed by the sniper. Shortly after the shooting, officers took into custody a white man, identified as Aubrey James Norvell, an unemployed Memphis hardware clerk. He was formally charged Tuesday "with assault and battery with intent to kill and murder James Meredith."

Tuesday, Meredith reiterated an earlier statement that the march would continue across Mississippi to the state's capital. Meanwhile, various friends and civil rights enthusiasts, including Chicago comedian Dick Gregory, stated they will pick up the march at the spot where Meredith was felled.

LDE Attorneys Argue 11 Cases In 10 Days

New York — NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund attorneys this week mopped their brows as they completed a hectic 10 days that included Memorial Day court appearances while most of the rest of the country was enjoying the holiday.

Eleven cases that could have far reaching effects on Negroes throughout the country were argued in a 10-day period beginning May 24.

In Washington Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach, told senators that Meredith, is in good condition and "no surgery will be necessary." He said Meredith was shot by 75 shotgun pellets.

D.M. Delegates Attend D.C. Rights Confab

President Makes Surprise Appearance; Wilkins Closes Meet

Washington — The immediate task of the 2,600 civil rights activists attending the White House Conference "To Fulfill These Rights" is to mobilize support for the pending civil rights bill (H.R. 14765) now before Congress, Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said at the closing dinner session of the conference here, June 2.

"The new four-part civil rights bill of 1966," he said, "offers a chance for immediate action this summer, not next winter, on aspects of three topics of this conference."

Carry Message

The only speaker at the final session of the two-day conference, Wilkins stressed the need for the participants to "carry the message, the call to community action on the local level" to the people back home with emphasis on building support for the new bill.

"Each Congressman and Senator should be impressed, in this election year, with the need for enactment of this legislation . . . Here in this pending legislation is a task that can be undertaken in the next 24 hours," the NAACP leader said.

"In fact, urgency is the key word not only with respect to this conference, but also with respect to the whole deadly infection of racism in our national life."

Authority

The bill enlarges the authority of the Attorney General to initiate school desegregation actions, reforms the jury selection process in both Federal and state courts, provides for Federal court trial of persons accused of violence against civil rights workers in the exercise of their constitutional rights, and bans discrimination in the sale or rental of housing.

The conference was first proposed by President Johnson in an address at the Howard University commencement on June 4, 1965. A planning session was held in Washington last November.

President

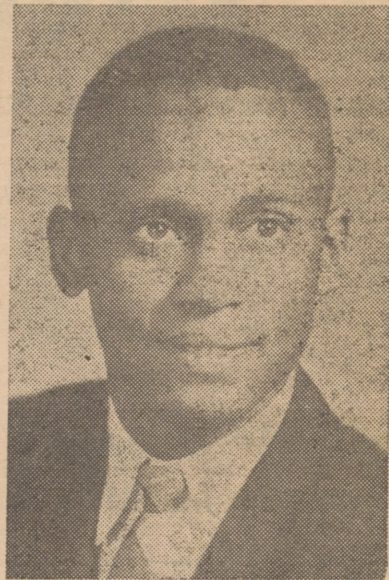

The highlight of the conference was an unannounced and stirring address by President Johnson. Vice President Hubert Humphrey, Solicitor General Thurgood Marshall, A. Philip Randolph, honorary chairman of the conference, and Ben W. Heineman, conference chairman, also addressed plenary sessions of the conference. Marshall was introduced by the President.

NAACP personnel attending the sessions included Kivie Kaplan, president; Bishop Stephen G.

MRS. GLANTON

Attending the massive two-day civil rights conference in Washington, D.C., last week from Des Moines were Atty. Willie S. Glanton, former state representative and now a federal attorney; Perry Hooks, executive director of the Des Moines

THOMAS

Commission on Human Rights; and James Thomas, executive director of the Iowa Commission on Human Rights.

Hooks and Thomas cut short their stay in Washington, to return to Iowa because of the racial demonstrations in Waterloo precipitated by the Eddie Sallis case.

PERRY W. HOOKS

Mrs. Glanton remained in D.C. and was among a selective group of conferees who were invited to the White House after the main conference, for a further discussion with President Johnson.

A FRIEND

I'd like to be the sort of friend that you have been to me;

I'd like to be the help that you are always glad to be

I'd like to mean as much to you each minute of the day

As you have meant, Good Friend of Mine, to me along the way.

I'm wishing at this special time that I could but repay

A portion of the gladness that you've strewn along my way;

If I could Have but just one wish, this only would it be:

I'd like to be the sort of friend that you have been to me."

What's In A Name . . .

The very sound of the names "GERM", "VIRUS", "BACTERIA" awakens a feeling of fear in most people! Because of the harm that some of these tiny organisms cause mankind; few people assign to them their true position.

Without these one-celled-entities there could be no life — the soil would cease to be fertile — our bodies could not absorb our present diets . . . For each germ that causes disease, there are scores of others that should be numbered among man's best friends.

Disease-germs have their own health problems too! . . . brought about by attacks of other germs that make their destruction possible. So depending on emphasis the names "Germs", "Virus", "Bacteria", may be a source of fear for some people and a blessing in disguise for others.

TO LIVE

To live from the Inside Out
Rather than from the Outside In.
To see God through my problems
Rather than just ask God to solve my problems.
To look upon all things, not as ends in themselves —
But as Windows
Through which I can know and see God.

From "Spiritual Sparkplugs," compiled by Rabbi Ernest R. Trattner.

YOUR ATTITUDE

(Dedicated to Graduates)

There is no failure, no defeat,
Except what we ourselves admit.
No barriers can hold us back
Through what we have or what we lack;
For lo, the opportunity
Within us lies, to do or be!
There is no burden however great,
But we can rise from 'neath its weight;
No obstacle but overthrown,
Will serve us as a stepping-stone
To far off heights of mastery.
What we determine we can be!
No seeming ill can stay the flow
Of good to us when we but know
That with its Source our souls are one.
That in its course our course is run.
God-given opportunity —
What we determine we can be!

Ella Weaver, Woman Behind President Johnson's Newest Cabinet Officer

BY MRS. A. LOUISE GLASS

A few weeks ago Time magazine carried an interesting article about Dr. Robert Weaver, and his wife dealing mostly with the Housing Authority himself. The May 13 issue of The Christian Science Monitor carried an article highlighting Mrs. Weaver's work.

Background

Born in Greensboro, N.C., she was the daughter of a very successful Negro businessman. When she was only three months old, her father died. Her mother began teaching school — a career she continued for 45 years. As soon as little Ella Haith could walk her mother took her to school with her. (Today this may seem very strange. But it used to be common for toddlers to go to school with older children — especially if there was no one home to care for them). So Baby Ella got a head start to a brilliant education.

After finishing high school in Winston-Salem she earned a degree in drama at Carnegie Tech in Pittsburgh. Then on to Michigan university to study linguistics, later earned a doctorate degree at Northwestern in speech correction.

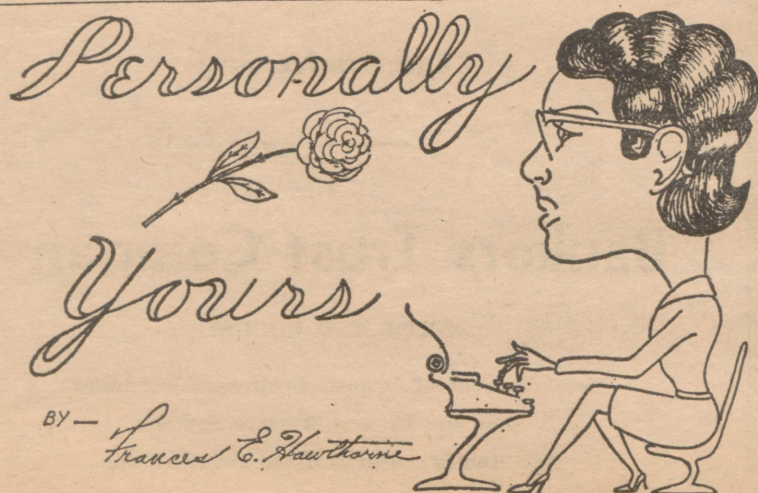

Articulation

Having taught at Howard university and Brooklyn college she is now working in the Job Corps where remedial speech is badly needed. It is well known among Negro educators that inarticulate speech is a serious handicap to Negroes. Even some students who have outstanding talent and have high academic ranking in college — both north and south — cannot always speak in an acceptable manner. Those whose schooling has been extremely limited are often so conscious of their defect they do not look at the teacher when they speak. Mrs. Weaver says that sometimes it is a mark of progress when a girl can look straight at her and say, "Lemme axe you dis." (For those who may not know this jargon the girl is saying, "Let me ask you this.")

Ancestry

Mrs. Weaver's appearance does not suggest her Negro ancestry. Being so very cultured she could easily have taken a position among any cultured people but she has chosen to work with the less fortunate especially young Negroes.

She expresses deep appreciation for the help her mother gave her early in life.

This week the Bystander is celebrating its 72nd year of continuous publication. With 52 weeks in a year, this issue marks the 3,744th edition of the newspaper that has been publishing in Iowa chiefly for the Negro citizenry. Many others have come into being but fell by the wayside, victims of the financial and physical problems that have always beset the newspaper publishing business, and particular small Negro papers who must compete with larger publications for the advertising and subscription dollars, of its reading public. Despite many lean years the Bystander has remained steadfast and is only three years away from celebrating its Diamond anniversary.

The weekend marked the end of school and several social events. The Philomathean Debs presented their 3rd annual Debutante Banquet and Ball at the Hotel Fort Des Moines and it was a beautiful event. Last year two members took their brochures of the event to one of their teachers, Mrs. Joan Middleton of Des Moines Tech. She was so delighted that she promised them and herself that she would come in person to see the event.

Just as the banquet was beginning its program festivities she walked in and remained until the girls took their bows to society initiating the ball festivities.

During the banquet we sat at a table with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Reeves and her mother, Mrs. Florence White, who were witnessing their daughter and granddaughter who was one of the graduation honorees, a Senior Deb. Also at the same table were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Proppes.

Though we have been on the Bystander some 8 years we still come across some people we have written about or talked to over the phone but never met in person. Mrs. White is one of them.

Mrs. Proppes also revealed that her eldest son, Victor, who is living in California, has taken a bride. The couple plan to be in Des Moines in August.

We learned that Jerome Clinton, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Clinton, 1530 Maple street, graduated from Amos-Hiatt junior high in the top 10 of his class and will enter East high next fall.

In our family, our youngest son, Vance Derek, received the top 7th grade scholastic award in assembly at Washington Irving junior high. He also received a citation for perfect attendance during the past school year. His grades for the past year included all 1's and one 2.

Our oldest, Victor Duane was cited for his work in the office and for writing on the school paper. He also was on the honor roll all year, excepting the first two months.

Last Friday Mrs. Floyd Bowman of the Dilettante club, called to inform Victor that he was among three Irving students selected by the club on the recommendation of the school's art teacher, LeRoy Mitchell, to attend art classes at the Des Moines Art Center this summer.

Last Thursday through Saturday my husband attended the Mid-west Labor Press Association conference in Iowa City, Iowa. The conference was held at the school's fabulous Memorial Union Hall. He was sent with all expenses paid by the Local 44, United Federation of Postal Clerks. He reported a very educational and interesting conference.

Before I close I would like to inform all of you, my intention to leave the Bystander as news editor-reporter in August. My health and a dire necessity for a long rest from a regular outside job has prompted me to take this reluctant action. I have been with the Bystander eight years and I have enjoyed my relationship with you and I cannot thank my employer enough for giving me this opportunity to work and gain experience in my professional field. We are announcing this now, because we nostalgically are working on the last (for me) anniversary edition, which we take so much pride in.

Dilettante Club Will Meet June 14

The Dilettante will meet on Thursday, June 14 with Mrs. Theodore Martin, 1305 Ascension street. Theme will be "Flags of Many Countries."

LITTLE TO BE GAINED IN MEREDITH MARCH

The south often urges outsiders to let them handle the race problem as their way of life knows better how to deal with it. Prior to the intensive drive for civil rights, mobs lynched Negroes openly. In recent years, these murderers have gone underground or operate at night. As a result, many civil rights workers have lost lives under mysterious circumstances.

James Meredith, the first Negro to graduate from the University of Mississippi, found himself a victim of that "way of life" when he was ambushed and shot. Meredith was in the early stages of a march from Memphis to Jackson, Mississippi, where he hoped to help Negroes vote in the primaries Tuesday.

This was unfortunate for it further demonstrates that citizens are not safe as they move on the highways. This is a very important right. Certainly peaceful citizens should not be forced to move about in fear of being ambushed by disgruntled people.

On the other hand, we rather question the value of Meredith's trip. After all, we are still fighting a battle for rights of minorities. It is just not smart to make a target for the cowards when we know that sharp shooters are perched in points of advantage ready to strike their low blows at every opportunity.

OUR SEVENTY-SECOND YEAR OF SERVICE

This week marks the seventy-second anniversary of the Iowa Bystander. Founded in 1894, it has been published continually since.

The founders were all men with other jobs. They recognized the need for a Negro newspaper in the community because other newspapers did not report news about Negroes freely (except crime); it provided some employment for youngsters; and added a bit of extra income.

Located far from the thickly populated areas, the founders soon learned that they must depend upon whites and Negroes for business; that their knowledge of newspaper publishing was meager and many mistakes were made; that the job was bigger than they thought, often being required to supplement its income with private funds.

Like weeklies in small towns, the Bystander concentrated its news columns toward social items, civil rights and the general improvement of the Negro not only in Iowa but elsewhere. And while the going has not been easy during much of the time, it has survived while many other similar papers folded up.

The Bystander has somehow made a lot of friends. It has many substantial supporters in both races as may be ascertained by the ads appearing in this issue. Competition gets greater every year; costs are higher. For this reason it needs more of those who subscribe for and pay for the paper; those who advertise their goods and services in it because they want our subscribers' business.

Today, other newspapers are printing more news for and about Negroes. But it remains for the publications run to improve the lot of a particular group to cover the ground necessary to make their position in local, state and world affairs better known.

The Bystander is ever mindful of those who have been the backbone of its tenure and is especially thankful for those who help make these special editions a success.

GRIEVANCES SHOULD BE TACKLED EARLY

It is often said that racial violence may break out anywhere. Most citizens feel that their home town is an exception. Citizens of Waterloo, Iowa, did not expect their town to fall victims of racial conflict, but it did.

The death of Eddie Wallace Sallis in the jail by hanging, touched off a series of marches to the city hall demanding that the city fathers agree to eliminate certain conditions that have grown up over the years.

Police brutality is one of the grievances. They claim Sallis was mistreated. The coroner has ruled the death a suicide and so does the county attorney.

We heard two things over the weekend that sort of struck us as odd. One was a remark by former middleweight champion Ray Robinson. In answer to a query about the days when he ran a bar and was champ, Sugar said that he had never had the experience of a man trying to take a poke at him out of the ring. We thought that was odd because most of the time some cheap glory hunter is apt to do just that. They did it at Joe Louis. We can recall one instance in which the guy couldn't have hit Joe with a sawed off shotgun. But Joe just laughed it off.

Then the other remark was made by Eddie Dooley, former all-American quarterback and now chairman of the New York Boxing commission. Dooley was asked if Cassius Clay could fight in New York. Now that Dooley was head man. Well, sir the fellow had a list of people as long as Clay is tall that ought to apologize to including the press who got into his difficulties by getting him to spout off. Then after having apologize for two days if Clay turned into a good American citizen, we imagine, quit the Black Muslims, he could be given a chance to fight in the Empire State. From what we have seen and heard of the champion in interviews we don't think he is going to do much apologizing and we don't think he is about to quit the Black Muslims. So maybe he won't fight in New York.

So much for that. We were not disappointed but we felt our tennis program over the years has just about had it. There are so few Negroes in these meets around here. The ones who do play tennis use it for a fun game, whenever the mood strikes them. But we don't think there is any young Negro who really wants to play the game as badly as we wanted to. The kids can start earlier and get better coaching now and find plenty of competition, but they can't get into the games. That seems to go for a lot of sports around here. Take away the old vets and there isn't anything left.

And, oh yes, this comes a bit late. We recall two years ago that Moses Woods was telling us he could play golf. He said he wasn't really good, but leaving aside who is right in this, most complaints by the Negro citizens are simple matters of justice that everyone has a right to enjoy. They have been made before but given little attention only to allow them to snowball into troublesome eruptions.

Unfortunately, proper contacts between the races are so meager that one group has little idea what is going on or whether what goes on may have an unfavorable ending should a slight percussion be touched off.

Invariably, those marches provide an excuse for some irresponsible people to move outside of their good objectives, and commit crimes against innocent citizens. Some of such have gone on which hurt the cause and lose a lot of support.

Drake Player Indicted
In Airlines Case

Raymond Brown, Jr., of Milwaukee, Wis., a Drake university football player was indicted by a Federal Grand Jury here on charges of using the mails in a scheme to defraud United Air Lines. At a hearing June 2 before Federal Judge Roy L. Stephenson, Brown was allowed to sign his own $1,000 bond and was not required to post security.

The two-count indictment against Brown charges that he used a false name, B.T. Cross, to obtain two airline tickets. The tickets were mailed to Brown.

Robert A. Wright, attorney for Brown, said Brown used a $115 ticket to fly to California to investigate a job opportunity. Wright said Brown turned in the other ticket.

Wright said that since making the trip, Brown has repaid $50 of the cost of the ticket he used. The indictment stated the two tickets were obtained on Jan. 19 and Feb. 28 at Des Moines.

Wright called the incident a "stupid prank" and said officials became aware of it after Drake's head football coach, Jack Wallace, learned of it and urged Brown to get things straightened out.

but he thought he could play with the fellows around here. So he won the Valley golf meet last week end. That was the meet we didn't know too much about last week.

Now that is news. We still pick the White Sox and Dodgers. They seem to be moving now.

ATHLETIC BIAS

Atlanta — Racial discrimination in universities' athletic programs has been charged by Charles Morgan, Jr., southern regional director, American Civil Liberties Union. Morgan noted that no Negroes are to be found among football players at Louisiana State university and the University of Georgia, and called on the U.S. Commissioner of Education to investigate.

SONNY LISTON

Copenhagen, Denmark — Former world heavyweight champion Sonny Liston has been barred from boxing in Denmark, the Copenhagen newspaper Aktuelt said Saturday. The newspaper did not specify why Liston had been barred. It noted, however, that Erik Lassen, president of Denmark's professional boxing union, had opposed a match Liston had scheduled in Denmark.
