Negro Marchers Attacked in Miss.

King Led Memorial Demonstrations for Three in Neshoba Co.

Philadelphia, Miss. — Amidst reports that a white man had been shot in a Negro section of this Miss. led by civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

Mobs Roamed

NBC said the man was wounded during an exchange of gunfire as a white mob roamed the Negro sections. Sporadic bursts of gunfire were heard in the Negro areas later in the night.

Earlier Tuesday, a white mob attacked a line of Negro marchers led by the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., half a block from the Neshoba County Courthouse.

Dr. King was not harmed. Others in the march escaped with superficial injuries.

Fell Back

Several Negroes fell back. First fighting raged furiously for two or three minutes. Then the police halted the white attack momentarily and Negro march marshals persuaded the Negroes to rejoin the moving column and return to the Negro community.

Some of the whites' surged after the march and attacked again with bottles and stones a block from the courthouse. A white nurse and a Negro man who suffered what the nurse called an epileptic seizure at that point barely escaped the mob. Two television cameras were smashed and the cameramen were manhandled.

Reign of Terror

King said as he led the angry, frightened Negroes back to the Negro community, "This is a terrible town. The worst I've seen. There is a complete reign of terror here."

Only one Mississippi highway patrol car was on the scene. Philadelphia's 10 policemen, including two Negroes, and a group of Neshoba County sheriff's deputies watched most of the violence without moving to stop it.

At least two Justice Department lawyers and an undetermined number of FBI agents were on the scene as observers.

D. Evans, Arizona, Crowned Miss Tan America for 1966-67

Dallas, Tex. — The week long activities of the 1966 Miss Tan America Pageant were completed with the selection of 18 year old Dolores Evans of Tucson, Ariz., as "Miss Tan America 1966-67," on Friday night, June 10th, at the Dallas Memorial Auditorium in Dallas, Texas.

Miss Evans won the title in competition with 25 other local Miss Tan pageant winners from throughout the nation. She was crowned by Willie Mae Johnson, of Washington, D.C., "Miss Tan America 1965-66."

Miss Evans was one of eight contestants who compiled the highest total number of points in the three semi-finals competitions — Evening Gown, Swim Suit, and Talent. These eight contestants were the finalists who competed for the "Miss Tan America" title at the Coronation Pageant on June 10th.

Dolores competed in the national pageant as "Miss Tan Tucson," and did a dramatic monologue, which she had written, as her talent performance. Her ambition is to be a professional entertainer — both as an actress and dancer. She has had extensive training — 11 years of dancing, 6 years of dramatics, and 5 years of music.

Dolores is a Sophomore majoring in Dramatics at the University of Arizona. She graduated from Tucson High School in 1965, where she was a member of two dance clubs, a member of the Thespians, and received the award as the school's best dancer.

U.S. Supreme Court Rules Rights Case Transfer on Limited Basis to Higher Court

Washington, D.C. — In a 5-4 decision Monday the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that civil rights prosecutions may by-pass state courts or be removed to federal courts only in limited circumstances.

In the majority opinion Justice Potter Stewart said to rule otherwise would "work a wholesale dislocation of the historic relationships between state and federal courts in the administration of criminal law."

In the case in which Stewart spoke, the court said 29 persons arrested on various local charges in 1964 in Leflore County, Mississippi, can not have their trials transferred from state to federal court.

Watts Landlord Reveals High Profits

New York — In an article entitled "A White Slumlord Confesses," a Watts property owner reveals how profitable real estate is in that area of Los Angeles.

Writing in the July issue of Esquire Magazine published today, landlord Barding Dahl shows how owners of small multi-dwelling buildings can realize profits of 50 percent yearly.

Original Outlay

Starting with an original outlay of $2500, a person can buy a four-family frame flat and clear $50 a month in cash and $60 off the mortgage.

On a yearly average a landlord clears $600 and $720, respectively — or a 50 percent return rate. This is after deducting payments, utilities, repairs and furniture replacement.

In eight or ten years, a landlord can own a string of buildings on an initial outlay of $10,000 that will net him from $1000 to $1500 a month, counting both cash and equities.

In the magazine, author Dahl is photographed standing in the back yard of his Watts house.

The caption under the title of the article reads as follows:

"He owns a house in Watts. He wants to do the right thing. He keeps a gun."

NEWS In A Nutshell

St. Louis — Three prominent St. Louis community and business leaders have announced the formation of the Victory Broadcasting Company. C. W. Gates, Dr. Sydney Smith and James B. Harding, head up the group of local Negro business men who have applied for the KWVK radio broadcasting frequency of 1380 KC.

Minneapolis — Mayor Thomas Byrnes appointment of St. Paul attorney Paul H. Ray to the Metropolitan Transit Study commission was confirmed by the St. Paul city council last week. Mr. Ray is a native of St. Paul and has law offices in the New York Building.

Oakland, Calif.—Federal Highway Administrator Rex M. Whitton recently announced the appointment of Charles R. Jaymes of San Francisco as Regional Equal Opportunity Officer for the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads' Region 7.

New York—New York State Education Commissioner James E. Allen, Jr., has scheduled a compliance hearing to determine to what extent the Malverne, L.I., Board of Education has complied with its school integration order of June 17, 1963. NAACP counsel will represent the Negro petitioners in Albany. Malverne voters recently approved a school budget which eliminates $25,000 for relocatable classrooms which are needed to desegregate the district's kindergartens.

Oklahoma City, Okla.—Almost 200 NAACP Youth Council marchers have started on a one-hundred mile protest march from the State Capitol to the Doe-Doe Amusement Park in Lawton, Okla. Led at a brisk pace by State Senator E. Melvin Porter, Mark Rosenman, assistant director for youth program for the NAACP National Office, and Mrs. Clara Luper, local NAACP youth advisor, the demonstrators covered almost 18 miles in the first five hours of their trek.

New York—In a telegram to John W. Gardner, Secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Roy Wilkins, NAACP Executive Director, urged "that Medicare certification be withheld from Atlanta hospital until they are clearly and unequivocally in compliance with Federal law." At present, he said in his telegram, dated June 16, "no hospital in Atlanta qualifies as non-discriminatory, and the bitter experience of the recent past demonstrates that assurances of reform offered by hospitals are not sufficient basis for judging them eligible for Federal funds."

Grambling Instructor Is Visiting Fellow At Carnegie Institute

Washington, June 20 (Special)—President Lyndon B. Johnson Saturday named scientist, Dr. Samuel M. Nabrit, to the Atomic Energy Commission.

Dr. Nabrit, who is the brother of Ambassador James Nabrit, was appointed by the President to succeed Mrs. Mary I. Bunting, for a term expiring June 30, 1970.

Dr. Nabrit is regarded as uniquely qualified for the Atomic Energy post because in addition to being a scientist he is a veteran administrator. His school, Texas Southern in Houston, has an integrated faculty and student body.

Ph.D. in Biology

Dr. Nabrit received his M.S. degree and Ph.D. in biology in 1932 from Brown University, and has done post-doctoral work at Columbia University and the University of Brussels.

of Biology at Morsehouse College, Progressor and Chairman of the Department of Biology at Atlanta University, and Dean of the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, Atlanta University.

Member National Science Board

Dr. Nabrit was appointed as a member of the National Science Board by President Eisenhower in 1956 and served until 1962; from 1960 to 1961 he was President of the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools; and in 1961 he served as a member of the Board of Directors of the American Council on Education.

Dr. Nabrit resides with his family at 3806 Tierwester Street, Houston, Texas.

Coons Rapids High School Teacher, Coach Assigned To Polk Juvenile Dept.

Derry C. Henry, who made news several years ago when he was named a junior high school teacher in Coon Rapids, Ia., last week was appointed a probation officer of Polk County Juvenile Court.

Born in Hawkins, Tex., Mr. Henry received his bachelor of arts degree from Jarvis Christian College there and has taken summer graduate work at Texas Southern university at Houston and at Drake university here.

He has taught school at Hawkins and, since 1962, has been teaching at Coon Rapids where he also coached all school sports and was in charge of the city's summer recreation program for two years. He was president of the Carroll County Teachers Association during the 1965-66 year.

Henry also has been employed in Des Moines as a substitute teacher and as a supervisor of winter activities sponsored by the city recreation department.

Federal Government Enters Builders Bias Situation Here Urges Complete Investigation

Pushed by representatives of two federal agencies, a full scale investigation into the Des Moines Building trades unions is being conducted by state officials.

At its meeting Monday night the Iowa Civil Rights Commission directed its director, James Thomas, to determine whether unions have discriminated against Negroes in choosing applicants for apprentice training programs.

Hearing

Members of the state unit said that if local union officials are not willing to meet with them, the commission will call a hearing into the matter, and subpoena union representatives and records.

Thomas said he will first try to meet with officials of Local 33 of the Plumbers Union here, which he said has refused to allow a number of Negroes and at least one white youth to apply for an apprenticeship training program to be conducted later this summer.

"But we're going to look at all the building trades unions" said Thomas, who asserted there currently are "few if any" Negroes in these unions in the Des Moines area, with the exception of the Carpenters Union.

Federal Reform

Thomas and officials of the State Employment Security Commission, which is conducting a separate inquiry into union apprenticeship policies, acknowledge that their efforts are a result of prodding from the U. S. General Services Administration (GSA) and the U. S. Labor Department.

The GSA, which is responsible for construction of the new Federal Office Building here, has directed contractors on the job to hire skilled Negro craftsmen.

Rights Law Needed to Curb Racial Violence---Wilkins

Washington — Defeat or emasculation of the pending civil rights bill may well win converts for "the preachers of violent retaliatory action," Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, warned in testimony before a subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee here, June 16.

Outraged

Speaking on behalf of the NAACP and of the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights of which he is a chairman, Wilkins told the committee members that Negroes throughout the country "are shocked and outraged over the James Meredith ambush" and "feel strongly that a law is needed at once which will authorize Federal action against this kind of a crime, a law which will operate from the outset, through trial and verdict, in a Federal court."

Present Mood

He cited the Negro's present mood of "slow-burning anger," which, except in "an exceedingly active and explosive minority," has not yet reached "the riot mood of quick, retaliatory, and destructive anger."

The Meredith shooting and the other acts of racial violence, together with the growing feeling among Negroes that the law is not now "helping them where they hurt most," makes it "most urgent that there be prompt and favorable action by the Congress on the pending civil rights bill," Mr. Wilkins said.

Assaults

He reminded the Senators that "the deadly assaults upon Negroes and upon advocates of their cause during the past years have been savage ones upon the person. Most of these have gone unpunished, some without even the initial formality of an arrest."

The NAACP leader called for enactment of all titles of the pending bill including the ban on discrimination in the rental or sale of housing. He also asked for strengthening amendments providing financial compensation for victims of racial violence or for their survivors, and for fair employment practices in local governmental agencies including the administration of justice.

There are excellent opportunities for careers in 60 different occupations. Salaries start at $5181 or $6269 a year with rapid promotions for proven ability.

Rights Case

Justices William Brennan and Abe Fortas.

Douglas quoted from James Madison and Chief Justice John Marshall to support his argument that since the Republic was established "the federal regime was designed . . . to afford some protection against local passions and prejudices by the important pretrial federal remedy of removal."

Joining in Stewart's opinion were Justices Hugo L. Black, Tom Clark, John Marshall Harlan and Byron White.

The ruling reversed the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans. The Circuit Court had called for a hearing in U.S. District Court in Greenville, Miss., on the defendant's claim that they were entitled to removal under the 1964 federal Civil Rights Act.

Lists Remedies

Stewart said that if the 29 civil rights workers were prosecuted solely because of their race, "then there has been an outrageous denial of their federal rights, and the federal courts are far from powerless to redress the wrongs done to them."

"Phenomenal Increase"

In the year of the law's passage, 43 criminal cases across the nation were removed to federal court, Stewart said.

fact is that home accidents have increased to the proportions of a "major epidemic" in countries here and there around the world, according to a recent study by the World Health Organization. And the USA is far from occupying the low spot on that tragic totem pole.

One big reason is the increase in use of complicated home appliances, some so elaborate that many people can't cope with them. Injuries are inflicted by the machine itself, by electric shock, or by fires resulting from short circuits.

Gadgets

And the problem grows worse, says the international health body, because familiarity with gadgets around the place seems to breed contempt for safety rules.

But the old-fashioned hazards remain the core of the problem, says WHO — the boobytraps set by unsafe cooking and heating equipment, the threats to life and limb caused by unsound floors and stairs. Not to mention just plain everyday carelessness. Accidental falls in fact cause more accidents than anything else; and elderly women are their chief victims.

Your Christmas Seal association, concerned with general health as well as the control of tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases, recommends a home safety inventory. Better to be safe than accidentally banged, bumped or blistered.

Information Service of Polk County Tuberculosis Association

art said. In 1965, he said, in the New Orleans federal circuit alone there were 1,079 such removals.

"This phenomenal increase is no more than a drop in the bucket of what could reasonably be expected in the future" if the 29 persons in the Mississippi case were right in their interpretation of the 1964 act, he said.

Stewart said if the 29 had prevailed Monday, everything from a $5 misdemeanor to a first-degree murder could be removed to federal court on a claim that prosecution was based on race, that the defendant was innocent and that he would be unable to obtain a fair trial in a state court.

that the craft unions here have few Negro members.

"Reform"

The GSA has informed contractors that "affirmative action" on their part toward integrating their work forces would satisfy the federal government.

This "affirmative action," includes acceptance of Negroes in the apprenticeship training programs operated jointly by the craft unions and contractors.

Wilkins Leads Evers Memorial Ceremonies

New York—More than 100 local units of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People throughout the country observed the third anniversary of the assassination of Medgar Evers, protested the shooting of James Meredith, and called for enactment of pending civil rights legislation in a series of rallies and marches on Sunday, June 12.

Most impressive of the rallies was held in Jackson, Miss., where, three years ago, Evers was gunned down from ambush as he returned to his home following an NAACP meeting. Principal speaker at the rally held in the Masonic Temple was NAACP Executive Director Roy Wilkins who spoke at the funeral services in the same auditorium in June, 1963.

Dr. Lillie M. Jackson Honored in Baltimore

Baltimore—Dr. Lillie M. Jackson, for 31 years president of the Baltimore Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, was honored at a testimonial held at the Sharpe Street Methodist Church here on her 77th birthday.

A thousand friends gathered to pay tribute to her leadership in building the branch into one of the largest and most effective NAACP units in the country. President Johnson sent a wire of congratulations. Gov. J. Millard Tawes and Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin presented awards to the honoree. Dr. W. Montague Cobb, represented the NAACP Board of Directors of which Dr. Jackson is a longtime member.

Calls School Officials to War on Education Race Bias

Washington, D.C. — U.S. Education Commissioner Harold Howe II called upon school officials to abandon their "well-intentioned timidity" and create a "third front for racial equality."

Howe said gradualists and activists have failed, and that the nation's schools are "almost as segregated today" as when the Supreme Court outlawed segregation in 1954.

The "third front," he said, would be somewhere between the gradualists at one end of the civil rights movement and the activists at the other end including "those weary and desperate Americans who have come to feel that violence is the only way to get anything done."

Educators, he said, either must prove their leadership on the issue of desegregation or "demonstrate that we are merely trying to keep things quiet until we receive our gold watches for a lifetime devoted to the status quo," he said.

Unless educators accept a positive role of leadership at the risk of embarrassing the white power structure and being forced to resign, Howe warned they must admit they "are no longer prepared to be the prime movers in American education."

He said a "revolution is brewing under our feet" and the schools will largely determine whether the "energies of the revolution can be converted into a new and vigorous source of American progress, or whether their explosion will rip this nation into two societies."

Rites Held Today For Mrs. Elliot

Services for Mrs. Lessie Elliot, 64, of 127 9th street, West Des Moines, will be at 1:30 p.m. Thursday at Mount Hebron Baptist Church, West Des Moines, with burial at Glendale Cemetery.

Mrs. Elliot was dead on arrival Sunday at Broadlawn Polk County Hospital of a heart attack.

Mrs. Elliot was born in Emmis, Texas, and lived in Des Moines for 31 years. She was a member of the New Jerusalem Church of God in Christ.

Surviving are her husband, Ambrose; four daughters, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Yvonne Crumb and Mrs. Doratha Townsell, all of Des Moines; and Mrs. Theresa Baker of Davenport; four sons, Ben, Russell, and Ambrose, Jr., all of Des Moines, and Dallas, in the Navy in Virginia; a brother, Theopolis Calvin of Los Angeles, Calif., and 33 grandchildren.

Electricity is a box of frozen treats . . . It's a whole supermarket at your fingertips. Electricity is your favorite television program. It's freshly washed clothes. Electricity is probably 30 to 40 household servants right in your own home . . . five or six times as many as you had just a generation ago. With electricity doing so many useful things for you, it stands to reason that your bill is higher today. But the actual cost per kilowatt-hour of electricity is a full 30% lower than it was a generation ago.

Yes, electricity is many everyday wonders. At today's low rates, it's your biggest household bargain. Faithfully yours, from

Ebony Publisher Named Spingarn Medal Winner

New York — The Spingarn Medal, awarded annually by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to a Negro American for distinguished achievement, will be presented this year to John H. Johnson, president of Johnson Publishing Company of Chicago. He is the publisher and editor of Ebony, Jet, Negro Digest and Tan magazines.

Self-Image

In announcing the award, June 16, NAACP Executive Director Roy Wilkins cited Johnson's outstanding achievement as journalist and businessman; his enhancement of the Negro's self-image through his publications; and his commitment to the attainment of "full and equal treatment of all Negroes."

Presentation of the award to Johnson, the 51st Spingarn medalist, will be made at a dinner meeting during the 57th annual NAACP convention in Los Angeles, July 5-9.

Empire Started

Johnson started his publishing "empire" with a $500 loan in November, 1942, and the idea of creating the publication Negro Digest with articles of particular interest to Negro readers. As circulation increased, Johnson conceived of a picture magazine to reflect the brighter side of the Negro's life. This is the present Ebony which now has a circulation of over 900,000 monthly. Tan, a magazine for women, followed soon after, and in 1951 came Jet, the first weekly Negro magazine in the country, which now sells over 400,000 copies a week.

2nd Publishers

Johnson became the second publisher to receive the coveted award. In 1955 it was presented to Carl Murphy, publisher of the Afro-American chain of newspapers based in Baltimore.

Those Cavities! . . .

"DENTAL CARIES" (tooth decay) remains a puzzling disease of our times! . . . Of two teeth—standing side by side in your mouth, receiving the same care and diet—one will decay, the other will not!

If you believe that either brushing or flossing or a change of climate is the answer, a peek into the past will change your mind!

Early American Indians neither drank milk nor brushed their teeth . . . Eskimos eluded the sun and lived on fish and meat, while certain Asian tribes thrived on sunshine and were vegetarians . . . Among these races, dental decay was almost unknown. This is attested by finding of skulls, centuries old, with uncommonly good teeth.

The causes of tooth decay are complex and no one health rule is preventive. Only regular visits with your dentist can provide proper care for your needs.

Incidentally it takes only One Visit to WILLIAMS PHARMACY to prove to yourself that for an EXTRA measure of value, it'll pay you to come to WILLIAMS PHARMACY 1103 University Ave, Phone 243-1253.

Federated Clubwomen Plan National Meet

Washington, D.C. — The 35th biennial and 70th anniversary session of the National Association of Colored Women's Clubs, Inc., will be held July 23-30, 1966 at the Sheraton Oklahoma Hotel, Kansas City. Mrs. Mamie E. Reese of Albany, Ga., National President, will preside over the full week session which will be centered on the theme "The Role of the Federated Clubwoman in the Design for a Great Society."

More than 1500 delegates and visitors from 40 affiliated states, including Alaska, will be in attendance at the historic session. Tribute will be paid to the founders of NACWC and to the late Dr. Mary Church Terrell who became the first President at the 19th Street Baptist Church in July, 1896 in Washington, D.C.

Meeting jointly with the adult group will be 200 girls, of the affiliated National Association of Girls Clubs, who will be participants in the 3rd biennial Career Orientation Conference at Central State College, Edmond, Okla., in the greater Oklahoma City area. Top career analysts will conduct workshops on the current aspects of the changing world of work.

Do hope that all you fathers out there had a wonderful Father's Day. It was a beautiful day and one which was ideal for just about any kind of activity or special occasion. In our house as in most of the Jack and Jill households, we spent the afternoon at Birdland park at the annual picnic. From the looks of the fathers attending, we feel confident in saying that they really enjoyed themselves as we all did.

We would like to devote the remainder of the column to three young Iowans who have done quite a bit themselves, (with a lot of loving guidance from their fathers and mothers). The first is a young lady from Waterloo, Ia., who wrote a poem, that she composed. The thought therein is so worthy that we wanted to pass it on to you, young and old.

"YOU CAN BE GREAT"

Two arms, two hands, two legs, two eyes
A head to use if you'd only be wise.
With this equipment they all begin,
So start from the bottom, be patient, and you can.

You can be triumphant and become of great skill,
You can be famous if you only will.
You're well supplied for the goal you choose.

You have arms, hands, legs, and a head to use.

God has given you a life, but He Lets you decide what you want to be.

You must have the desire to begin,
So figure it out for yourself my friend,
The famous had no more than you to win.

You have the ability, with your future at stake,
With all these, "YOU CAN BE GREAT."

La June Wright
327 Almond Street
Waterloo, Iowa

La June is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Wright and is 14 years of age, a ninth grade student at Logan Junior High.

She is a student of piano with Mrs. Harvey Fulloive, and her organ instructor is Mr. Horace Daggett of Daggett Music Co. Each Sunday she is at her place as organist of Payne Memorial A.M.E. Church.

Our other young lady is from Des Moines. She is Stanlie James, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Lewis A. James, 678 26th street, who will be a senior at Roosevelt high school next fall. We learned that she had accomplished quite a bit this past year at Roosevelt. She went on the U.N. trip from Roosevelt during spring vacation. She made the Riders, ettes, a drill unit that performs with the band and is a member of MIMES, a pantomime group. At the Student Council recognition dinner she received an award as the outstanding committee chairman of the past year. She was Red Cross chairman for the council.

The Riders' club held an award dinner and presented her a certificate of achievement and merit. At the Senior baccalaureate she received a Register and Tribune yearbook in her senior year. In addition she was on the Human Rights committee at her school, and taught swimming at Roosevelt during her free period. She has her Junior life saving certificate.

She took the Pupil Scholarship Aptitude Test and qualified to be considered for a scholarship later. She was also recommended as an outstanding Negro scholar at Roosevelt.

This weekend she will go with three other teenagers to Oklahoma City, Okla., to attend the Teenage regional convention of Jack and Jill of America, Inc. Stanlie was recently elected secretary of JAJOA, the Des Moines teenage group.

Our third young Iowan is also from Des Moines. He is Neal Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Williams of 912 16th street. He was an honor graduate of Des Moines Tech and through an oversight on our part was not placed on the front page with other honor graduates.

We learned that in the annual picture taking of honor graduates who appear in the daily paper, if there is a scholastic grade tie between two students, the one with the closest alphabet gets the nod.

Thus Carter, for example, would come before Durham. We also understand there were two instances of ties like this at Tech this year. Wonder what they do if two students with the same alphabet starting their names, should tie?

Flavorful Biscuits Make Luxury Shortcake

Biscuits made with margarine add a luxury touch to Strawberry Shortcake

Strawberry shortcake is only as good as the biscuits that are its foundation. Light, fluffy, tender, they absorb the delicious berry juice. When they are made with margarine, they make the berries taste extra good.

Biscuits for shortcake are best when they are a little richer than when they are served as hot bread. A hint of sugar gives them just enough sweetness to blend with the sweetness of the sugared berries. Both the margarine and the sugar help the biscuits brown lightly to give added attractiveness.

For an extra touch of flavor and luxury, split the biscuits as soon as they come from the oven. Spread them generously with soft margarine. Then heap sweetened berries and whipped cream on them and serve.

STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE (6 servings)

2 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt

6 tablespoons margarine
1 cup milk
1 quart strawberries
1/2 pint whipping cream

Sift together into bowl the flour, baking powder, sugar and salt. Cut in margarine until mixture is like coarse corn meal. Add milk and stir until flour is just moistened. Turn dough out on lightly floured board or pastry cloth. Knead lightly five or six times. Roll out dough one-half inch thick. Cut into rounds with 4-inch biscuit or cookie cutter. Bake biscuits on ungreased baking sheet in hot oven (450°F.) 12 to 15 minutes. When slightly cooled, spread biscuits with soft margarine. While biscuits bake, wash and hull berries. If berries are large, cut some in halves. Sprinkle a little sugar over berries. About 1/2 cup sugar to 1 quart of berries is a good proportion. Cover and set into refrigerator until ready to serve. When ready to serve, whip cream. If desired, add 1 teaspoon powdered sugar to whipped cream. Place one biscuit on each dessert plate. Cover with cleaned sweetened strawberries and a generous spoonful of whipped cream. Cover with a second biscuit, more whipped cream and berries.

DANGEROUS ADVICE
WILL GO UNHEEDED

The civil rights march from Memphis to Jackson, Mississippi is progressing without much opposition greatly because officers are offering the marchers closer protection since James Meredith was shot.

The march was started by James Meredith, not as a parade but simply for a few people designed to prove that Negroes could press their rights—to put backbone in the prospective votes.

The temporary absence of Meredith has brought forth a dangerous spokesman who threatens to do harm to the march as well as the whole civil rights movement. Stokely Carmichael, head of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee stated in an interview on meet the press that Negroes should violate the law to secure their rights if peaceful methods did not work; that Negro soldiers should not fight to secure the vote in Viet Nam when they were denied the vote in some places in America.

Both suggestions are dangerous and impractical. It is foolish to talk about a race war even though Carmichael will not be fighting it. And he does not understand that America is fighting in Viet Nam to prevent the take over by Red China and thus stop the spread of Communism in southeast Asia—and the world for that matter.

Of course, few Negroes are going to follow his advice knowing full well that to do so would be disastrous, lose support for the cause and give opponents of civil rights advocates valid grounds to tab them dangerous citizens.

SUPREME COURT DECISION NOT SO QUESTIONABLE

Last week the U.S. Supreme Court, by a 5 to 4 decision, has further restricted the use of confessions in criminal cases. The decision brought criticism from many sources some arguing that it would open the doors of prisons to murders, rapists, and robbers who might establish that their arrest, investigation and/or trial did not conform to the constitutional observance of the rights of the defendants.

Monday, the court held that the ruling did not apply to cases which had been tried prior to the date of the decision. This took much of the wind out of the sails of the critics.

Objectors to the decision complain that it will make it difficult for officers to solve many crimes particularly those committed by professional criminals who know what not to say while being questioned. The court reiterated that a person is entitled to the benefit of counsel not only during trial but also from the time of his arrest.

Too many people know or are unwilling to admit that all kinds of punishment has been used against persons charged with crimes in order to wring confessions from them. Its degree of use varies in different communities often depending upon intelligence and importance of the accused.

The court said the accused is entitled to a lawyer during the questioning and that it must be made definitely clear that he understands what his constitutional rights governing the procedure are. This should not be hard to do and as long as the state is paying attorney fees for persons without funds, there is no excuse for violating the rules.

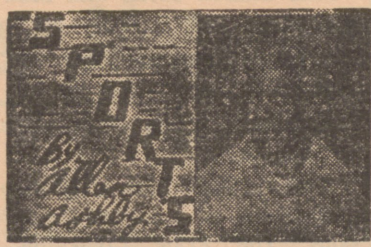

DON' SLACKEN
PARTY PARTICIPATION

Both major political parties in Iowa have held their state conventions. Both seemed fairly successful; both contained fairly good statements on civil rights. However, what they do rather than what they say counts.

The Bystander noted a lack of the usual number of Negro delegates in each convention. This is not a good sign.

Interest and influence in party politics begin at the precinct level with representation and participation all along the line. When Negroes had less there were more delegates. Here too is a responsibility that some citizens must assume and carry out. People in some other communities would welcome the chance.

Last week's column never got out of our hip pocket. Among the things we discussed were the merger of the two football leagues and the possibility of a 30 game winning pitcher in the major baseball leagues.

We figured that the football merger meant the end of big bonuses just for signing a contract. It had to build up a feeling of resentment among the players. If I were a six-year veteran and had been all of my six years put together.

Well that won't be all. There probably won't be any more no cut contracts in which a player can ride the bench and keep some fellows out who might help the team.

30-Game Winners

As for winning baseball pitchers 30 games winners are scarce as 10 dollar gold pieces. It is hard for a pitcher now because where a fellow would often struggle through to a big score win and go all the way. Now he is jerked if the other team even gets too many men on base. Then there is a lot of juggling playing percentage as it is called. Such as bringing in a left hand pitcher to face a left hand batter or the other way round with a right hand batter and pitcher. It works both ways. But have you ever seen Sandy Koufax or Juan Mariachal lifted because they were facing an opposite hand batter? or have you seen or heard of Willie Mays or Hank Aaron being changed because the wrong pitcher was throwing?

Boxing

The next big fight involving the World Boxing Association title between Emil Terrell, the WBA champ and Doug Jones, who claims he whipped Cassius Clay. And was robbed. Maybe the winner will have a go at Clay if the latter isn't in the Army by then and we will have a real champion.

The U.S. Army just took the country out of the Davis Cup picture. When they took Arthur Ashe into the Armed Forces. This could have one year and Ashe could have been the boy to do it and really make history. Oh well.

Deadline Set For State Fair Cooks

Iowa women aiming to win 1966 Iowa State Fair culinary department premiums need do some preliminary summer home work in the old cook book.

Batter bread, date pinwheels and peanut butter fudge are in; honey flavored Swedish ring is out, so are vanilla wafers.

Mrs. W. L. Van Peursem, Mitchellville, culinary department superintendent and a top cook on her own, said she overhauled the schedule to keep her show the sweetest pop art on the fairgrounds.

She also cast out certain duplicate classes.

Deadline

Women residents of Iowa have until Monday, Aug. 8, to get in their entries. Girls, 10-14, inclusive, are eligible for beginners' specials.

Awards will total $1,719, with any number of fringe benefits for women talented in the art of combining sugar 'n spice 'n everything nice.

Wendell Oliver Scott, Negro Stock Car
Driver is Winning an Uphill Race

Detroit, Mich. — The year was 1947. The great war was over. Jackie Robinson was making headlines as the first Negro to play on a major league baseball team.

While Robinson's crash through the color barrier was being spotlighted a wiry little Negro from Danville, Va., was moving, without fanfare, into one of the toughest sports of all. And he was doing it in the Southland — where some said it would never be done.

Life-Long Goal

Wendell Oliver Scott had just returned from Army service in Europe and was ready to pursue a life-long goal and become a race driver. The road was rocky and trouble waited on every turn of the track at first. Then the competitors began to realize that Wendell Scott was not only a good race driver but a good sport as well.

Through hard work and dedication to the sport he was "accepted"

Sweepstakes and reserve sweepstakes are offered in all divisions except decorated cakes and cookies and beginners' specials.

Cookies

(Is there still a fresh, grape-stained jelly bag in a modern kitchen, a cherry pitter that clacked through a basket of fruit, a big brown chopping bowl for apples?)

Mrs. Van Peursem listed some department changes as follows:

Prune bread and oatmeal cookies have been added to products made with lard, a division sponsored by Porkettes, Iowa Pork Producers Association auxiliary.

Others

Rolled sugar cookies replace the vanilla wafers; the date pinwheels are listed in place of the chocolate pastry; butterscotch cookies are new.

In place of white bread made with honey, butter bread (quick yeast bread) is scheduled and round filled coffee bread rather than Swedish ring.

The state fair will open Friday, Aug. 19, and continue through Sunday, Aug. 28. Entry blanks, premium books and other information may be obtained by writing the State Fair Board office in Des Moines.

in racing.

Cheered by Fans

Today Scott, the only Negro in stock car racing, is cheered by the thousands of fans who attend races at Daytona Beach, Florida; Darlington, S.C.; Atlanta, Georgia; Charlotte, N.C.; Riverside, Calif.; and other points across the nation.

He hasn't realized his main goal — to win a 500-mile race. However, he still possesses the determination that enabled him to carry on in racing through some pretty trying times. As long as his physical strength holds up he will keep trying.

Color No Handicap

Scott feels his color is no longer a handicap. But like the great Satchel Paige, who was accepted by baseball after he passed his prime, the quiet, soft-speaking Wendell is feeling the years. At 45 he's one of the oldest drivers in racing.

Scott leaned against the fender of his light blue, 1965 Ford racer in the pit area at the Columbia, S.C. speedway recently and talked about his career. He had just turned off the exhaust blasts after qualifying for a 100-mile race. The crowd was still cheering his speed. It had not always been that way.

First Big Taste

Scott's first big taste of racing glory was in 1959 when he won the sportsman championship at Southside Speedway in Richmond, Va. He was also NASCAR's Virginia State sportsman champion that year.

He turned to Grand National racing in 1961, competing in his first late-model race at Spartanburg, S.C. Fairgrounds.

Won Big One

He has won only one Grand National race, a 100-mile at Jacksonville, Florida, on Dec. 1, 1963. "That was my biggest thrill," Wendell said. "I have come close many times but that was my first and only big win."

Each year Scott has improved in the Grand National joint standings. In 1965 he entered 52 races, finished in the top five four times and in the

The Measure of a Man

BY JONATHAN VOYLE

His ideals he forms while rather young,
Examples he found that satisfied mom.

top 10 on 25 occasions. He was 11th in the point standings and won $16,230.

Better Record

He looks for an even better record this year. He is campaigning a 1965 Ford, the same car Fred Lorenzen wrecked in the Riverside 500. "They let me have the car and I worked night and day fixing it up to race," Wendell explained.

Hard Knocks

Racing has been nothing but a life of hard knocks for Scott. No national organizations have come to his aid in his battle for recognition. He has never had a sponsor. He puts his prize money back into his racing operation — an operation which consists of his old race care, an old Cadillac limousine used as a tow car, and the tools in his Danville garage.

Dream

He has six children ranging in age from 11 to 22. And he wants more. His dream, beyond winning a 500-mile race, is to own a home for orphans in Jacksonville, Fla.

If he should win that big one he will no doubt put part of the prize money toward that goal. Meanwhile Wendell Scott goes about his business, quietly. The odds are stacked against him because his equipment is not the best. But times are changing. They notice him now. They respect his driving. The cheers get louder.

To start the measures of a Man.
By prayer he seeks to guide his way,
Thru life with its ups and downs.
And read God's word, to find,
Religion

For comfort when castles fall.
Seeking the measure of a Man.
He does not trample his fellow men,
To gain the things he wants
But lives to understand their ways
And lend a helping hand to find the Measure of a Man.

He loves for courage, his compassion shows,
He smiles, he weeps, because he knows,

One does not succeed alone.
In rising to the Measure of a Man.
He gets a slap, a knock or two
He turns the other side
And seeks forgiveness for his errors,
Humility he practices thru and thru.
In becoming the Measure of a Man.
He sees the fellow who did not plan,
Or that misfortune kicked around
He gives his time, his talents too,
His charity knows no bounds
In displaying the Measure of a Man.
His works then recorded in books of time

And hopes that what he's done
Benefits man a hundred fold.
In being a Measure of a Man.
